7, 8, 11 p.m.
adm. $1.00

The Loves of Isadora

starring
VANESSA REDGRAVE
in the role of Isadora Duncan

Sunday, March 6, 1977
CCA 7, 9:30
$1.00

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS.

IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!

SILVER STREAK

GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK
PATRICK McGOOHAN

PG ① Fri.: 4:45, 7:00, 9:15; Twi-liter 4:15-4:45. Sat.: 2:00, 4:45, 7:00; 9:15, Twi-liter 4:15-4:45. Sun.: 2:00, 5:45, 8:00; Twi-liter 5:15-5:45.

CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER

② R Fri.: 5:00, 7:15, 9:30; Twi-liter 4:30-5:00. Sat.: 2:15, 5:00, 7:15, 9:30; Twi-liter 4:30-5:00. Sun.: 2:15, 6:00, 8:15; Twi-liter 5:30-6:00.

2 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!

Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud

THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION

From the #1 Best-Selling Novel

ALAN ARKIN · VANESSA REDGRAVE · ROBERT DUVALL
and NICOL WILLIAMSON

③ Fri.: 4:45, 7:00, 9:15; Twi-liter 4:15-4:45. Sat.: 2:00, 4:45, 7:00, 9:15; Twi-liter 4:15-4:45. Sun.: 2:00, 5:45, 8:00; Twi-liter 5:15-5:45.

The Newest. Pinkest Panther of All!

THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE

PETER SELLERS in

BLAKE EDWARDS
THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES

PG ④ Fri.: 5:00, 7:15, 9:30; Twi-liter 4:30-5:00. Sat.: 2:15, 5:00, 7:15, 9:30; Twi-liter 4:30-5:00. Sun.: 2:15, 6:00, 8:15; Twi-liter 5:30-6:00.

REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS . LIMITED TO SEATING

Notices

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

There will be a meeting Tues., March 8, at 7 p.m. in Rm 106 Engineering East. Ben Ricci from the Dept. of Engineering Science will be the guest speaker. All are welcome.

ATTENTION POLOISTS

Official practice begins Tues., March 8 and will be on Tues., Thurs., and Fri. for now. Team meeting Tues., March 15 to talk about the schedule. The 15th is the last day to pay dues, you will not play if you don't pay the dues.

BAHA'I CLUB

There will be a meeting for all members of the UMass Baha'i on Sunday night at 8 p.m. in Butterfield Dorm lounge. Please come!

BELCHERTOWN VOLUNTEERS

The bus to the State School will leave tomorrow at 12:30 from Whitmore (Haigis Hall). Everyone is welcome to come. 1 credit is available. Any questions, call Bill, 546-6782 or Mary Jane, Rm 316, 545-2302.

COLLOQ.

Tae Kwan Do colloq in NE area will meet on Tues. and Thurs. at NOPE Rm 101, 8:30-10 p.m.

DISCO IS BACK!!

Don't miss our disco party tonight from 9-1 on the 10th floor of the Campus Center. Food will abound and there will be a cash bar. Admission is only $1. If you're one of the many who misses disco on campus, this is for you!!!

FOOD SCIENCE & NUTRITION

Ken Norton from Friendly's to talk on Quality Control of Ice Cream. Free sundaes after 6:30 p.m., March 10.

FOUND

I found a Texas Instruments calculator in the Cape Cod Lounge, SU, Tues. night around 10. Call 6-4664 or come to 415 Thatcher to identify and claim.

FOUND

One sneaker at North P.E. call 6-5133.

FRISBEE FACTS

Some engineers from RPI (Rennsaeler Polytechnic Institute) have come to throw with us. UMass and RPI will be playing Ultimate and freestyling tonight at midnight in the Bubble at Hampshire College. All welcome to watch, play or party.

HIST 151 GRIFFITH'S CLASS

Midterm exam is Wed. March 9. Syllabus has a misprint.

HSMA MEETING

There will be a meeting on Tues., March 8 on the 9th floor CC at 7:30 p.m. The guest speaker is Dave Troy, V.P. of SDales, North American Sheratons. He is one of the top speakers in the area. Elections will be held for next year.

INTERNATIONAL FOLKDANCING

Folkdancing will be held from 8-midnight tonight in the Campus Center Rm 101, not in the Cape Cod Lounge. We will be teaching Bruil de la Fagaras and reviewing Kreuz Konig tonight, plus other dances, so come early. Teaching from 8 to 10.

A LENTEN DISCIPLINE

Is important. Make regular worship a part of yours. Holy Communion & Penetential Offices Sundays at 6 p.m., followed by dinner-Wednesdays at 8 p.m. At the Ark (Episcopal Church at UMass), 758 N. Pleasant St. (across from NOPE).

LOST

Gold medallion with inscription. Priceless sentimental value. Please call 549-6877 if found.

LOST

Panasonic tape player. Either on the 23rd floor of the library, in Music Library or Mor. 203. $20 fi found. Call 253-5355.

MEDICAL SCHOOL ADMISSIONS

Dr. John O'Connor of Boston University School of Medicine will speak on admissions this Tues., March 8 at 7 in Hasbrouck 113. Dr. O'Connor's talk will be the only one on admissions this semester. Jrs. and Snrs. take special note. As director of Pediatric Radiology at Boston City Hospital, Dr. O'Connor will also address that topic. All are welcome.

SENIOR PORTRAIT PROGRAM

Seniors! Get your portrait taken! Call 545-2874 or go to the lobby of the 9th floor of the Campus Center between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. soon to make your appointment. All pictures will be included in the 1977 INDEX.

SHABBAT SERVICES

Shabbat Services tonight at 7 p.m. in CC 168-70. No torah reading this afternoon.

PRACTICAL ORCHARD SKILLS

A one-credit colloquium that will mainly involve working in the Orchard. If you want to help revive the Orchard the last day to sign up is Monday, March 7, Butterfield Main Lounge at 7 p.m.

SHAB

Important meeting of the Student Health Advisory Board next Tues., March 8, will be reviewing the budget and other stimulating topics. Please attend this meeting.

STUDENTS OF OBJECTIVISM

There will be a meeting Thurs., March 10, 8:30 p.m. in CC 917 for the study and discussion of the philosophy of Ayn ran-. For further information call Drew Crane, 549-0360.

UNION STEREO CO-OP

Next monthly business meeting will be Mon. March 7 at 7:30 p.m. in Rm 166 CC. All members are welcome to attend.

THE WILDLIFE SOCIETY

Mr. John Green, technician from the US Forest Service will give a slide show on "Wildlife" in the Florida Everglades" in Rm 203 Holdsworth Hall on Wed., March 9 at 8 p.m.

WORK WITH RUSSIAN JEWS

Important meeting Sunday March 6 at Rm 811 CC, 3:20 p.m. Everyone involved and anyone interested must attend.

Writer to lecture at Mount Holyoke

Professor Leslie Fiedler, writer and critic on the faculty of the State University of New York at Buffalo, will lecture on "The Deaths and Rebirths of the American Novel" Sunday at 8 p.m. in Gamble Auditorium, Mount Holyoke College. He is the author of Love and Death in the American Novel, An End to Innocence, The Stranger in Skakespeare, The Art of the Essay, and numerous essays, novels, short stories and poems.

LITTLE BIG MAN

DUSTIN HOFFMAN

Date: Fri., Mar. 4 Place: CCA
Admission $1.00 Time: 7:30 & 10:00

university of massachusetts arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

International Women's Week PRESENTS

Ticket information - call 545-3600

BETTY CARTER

with John Hicks on piano
Cliff Barbaro on drums
Dennis Irwin on bass

Admission $2.00

8p.m.

FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
UNIVERSITY OF MASS.

SUN. MARCH 6, 1977

Everbody's Market Place
CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00 - 10:30.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

Boots — Galibier Super Guide, men's 6 - $40; Molitor Eisboot, men's 6½, $65. Good deals. 256-0183.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Yamaha FG-180, Guitar $125 or B.O. Call Daniel 3-7 p.m. 253-3887.

FOR SALE

Nishiki Men's 10 speed bike, silver finish — excellent condition. $125. 584-5668.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

Furniture — sofa - convert $75; easy chair $35; end tables, lamps, kitchen set, etc. Exc. cond., moving. 253-2740.

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

Guitar: Rickenbacker, semi-hollow body, six or twelve string electric, natural finish. Exc. cond. Asking $200.00. Call 467-3679.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Volvo, 2 wheels w-tires. $30. 586-1962.

Pr. Frye bts, sz. 8½. $25. Mike 253-9034.

AUTO FOR SALE

'70 Torino Wagon, motor strong, body shows some rust. $550 or best offer - 253-7098.

'73 Datsun 240Z. Clean, air-cond. New: exhaust, Michelins, bat., alt., clutch & more. $3500. 256-8448.

'75 Datsun B210 Hatchback. 33,000 mi. Garaged, spotless. Michelins, AM-FM, rustproofing. $2800. 549-4451 eves.

'74 Vega, AT, AM-FM 8 trk. Eve. 5-2152. Sharon.

1972 Dodge Maxivan, pop-top camper conv, P.s., p.b., a.t., a.c., sink, furnace, stove, refrig., portapotti. Asking $4,800. Call 467-3679.

AUTO FOR SALE

1970 Dodge Polara, new exhaust, pwr br., pwr str. Good cond. 253-9441.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

Triumph Daytona 500 '73 custom. Low miles, good cond. Call 247-9235.

'74 TR5MX Triumph 500, on-off road $550. 247-9235.

HELP WANTED

Dorm reps needed to take orders at 9 p.m.-no soliciting. 549-6979. Pat

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Overseas Jobs — Summer—year-round. Europe, S. America, Australia, Asia, etc. All fields. $500-$1200 monthly. Expenses paid, sightseeing, free info: write — International Job Center, Dept. MC, Box 4490, Berkeley, CA. 94704.

Guitarist needed for band. 546-4831.

COLORADO - WYOMING MONTANA. Summertime employees for dude ranches, nat'l. parks, & U.S. Forest Service. For info. & directory send $3 to Outdoor Services, Box 349, Cody, Wyoming 82414.

WANTED

Old wooden ice box refrigerator or similar type cabinet. Call Mel 665-3921.

Fall '77, 4-5 bedroom house. 5-10 miles from UMass. Call Gary 6-9079; Bud 6-9081.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

For Rent: 3 bedroom apartment, wall to wall carpeting, dishwasher, air conditioning. On UMass bus route — five minutes from campus. Will rent for months of June, July, August, with option for following semester. Call 256-6205, evenings.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

1 rm. N. Hampton. $70. 584-8241 after 6 p.m.

2 rms. in fine country home, kitchen privileges. 247-5527. Hatfield.

1 bdrm. in hse. Sublt. $70+. Furn. 256-6224.

One month free rent, 3 bdrm. apt. walking distance from camp. Jun. - Aug. option to renew Sept. 549-5654.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B-3 Cliffside. Leave name and number - 584-9669.

For three bedrm. apt.-thru May. S. Amherst. 256-6782.

Roommate — own room. $95 rent, utils. included, on bus route. Call 256-0294.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Till Aug. 1 bed., dishwsh, air cond., cable, disposal, pets, bus, lndry. Nick 256-8294.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning — 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

For Bwana (3-3-73 — 2-28-77): All of us who knew and loved you will miss you dearly. Gus.

Ellen — The bet's on. I'm going strong. You lose no booze. Here's one for you. Guess Who.

Could the woman that I met briefly in the Food Stamp office around 4:00 p.m., Fri. 2-25, with short blonde hair, glasses & pretty embroidered shirt, please get in touch with me? Jay 256-6784.

AUDIO

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student-sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student-sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

Disco Dance tonite, 10th fl. Campus Center, from 9 to 1 a.m.. $1 donation cash bar. Free shacks.

TYPING

Theses typed — Call Melanie 256-6174.

INSTRUCTION

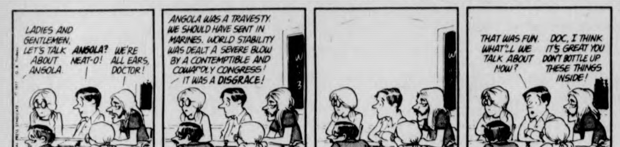
Guitar lessons. Experienced, reliable teacher. Theory included if desired. Student rates available. 665-3024.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

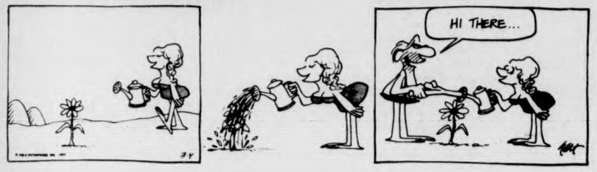
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

by Garry Trudeau
sponsored by:
Valley typing
29 S. Pleasant St
call 256-6736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, LET'S TALK ABOUT ANGOLA.
ANGOLA? NEAT-O!
WE'RE ALL EARS, DOCTOR!
ANGOLA WAS A TRAVESTY. WE SHOULD HAVE SENT IN MARINES. WORLD STABILITY WAS DEALT A SEVERE BLOW BY A CONTEMPTIBLE AND COWARDLY CONGRESS! IT WAS A DISGRACE!
THAT WAS FUN. WHAT'LL WE TALK ABOUT NOW?
DOC, I THINK IT'S GREAT YOU DON'T BOTTLE UP THESE THINGS INSIDE!
3-4
G.B. Trudeau

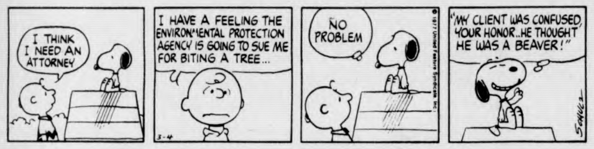
B.C. by Johnny Hart



3-4
HI THERE...
hart

Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

sponsored by:
STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549-5610



I THINK I NEED AN ATTORNEY
I HAVE A FEELING THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY IS GOING TO SUE ME FOR BITING A TREE...
NO PROBLEM
"MY CLIENT WAS CONFUSED, YOUR HONOR..HE THOUGHT HE WAS A BEAVER!" 3-4
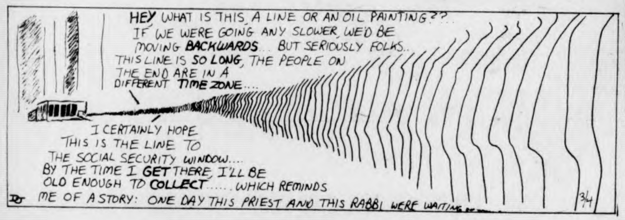
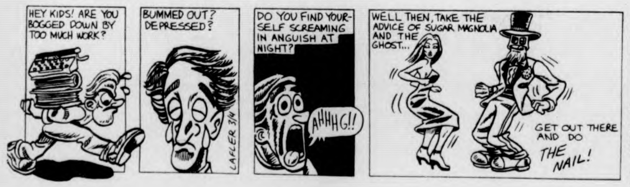
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
SCHULZ

What Next? by Dick Janssen



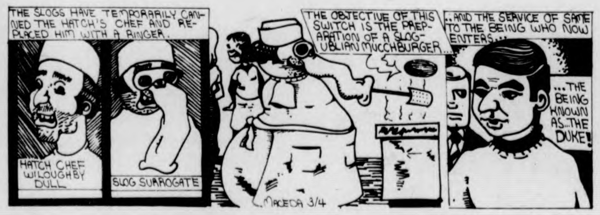
HEY WHAT IS THIS, A LINE OR AN OIL PAINTING??
IF WE WERE GOING ANY SLOWER, WE'D BE MOVING BACKWARDS... BUT SERIOUSLY FOLKS..
THIS LINE IS SO LONG, THE PEOPLE ON THE END ARE IN A DIFFERENT TIME ZONE....
I CERTAINLY HOPE THIS IS THE LINE TO THE SOCIAL SECURITY WINDOW.... BY THE TIME I GET THERE, I'LL BE OLD ENOUGH TO COLLECT...... WHICH REMINDS ME OF A STORY: ONE DAY THIS PRIEST AND THIS RABBI WERE WAITING
DJ
3/4

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



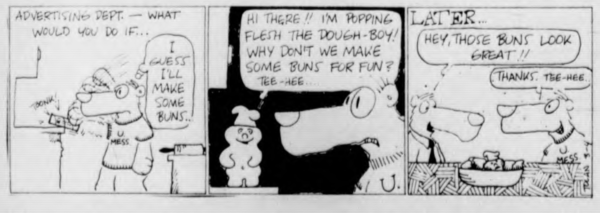
HEY KIDS! ARE YOU BOGGED DOWN BY TOO MUCH WORK?
BUMMED OUT? DEPRESSED?
LAFLER 3/4
DO YOU FIND YOURSELF SCREAMING IN ANGUISH AT NIGHT?
AHHHG!!
WELL THEN, TAKE THE ADVICE OF SUGAR MAGNOLIA AND THE GHOST...
GET OUT THERE AND DO THE NAIL!

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



THE SLOGS HAVE TEMPORARILY CANNED THE HATCH'S CHEF AND REPLACED HIM WITH A RINGER.
HATCH CHEF WILOUGHBY DULL
SLOG SURROGATE
THE OBJECTIVE OF THIS SWITCH IS THE PREPARATION OF A SLOGUBLIAN MUCCHBURGER...
..AND THE SERVICE OF SAME TO THE BEING WHO NOW ENTERS...
...THE BEING KNOWN AS...THE DUKE!
MACEDA 3/4

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



ADVERTISING DEPT. — WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF...
I GUESS I'LL MAKE SOME BUNS..
TOONK!
U. MESS
HI THERE!! I'M POPPING FLESH THE DOUGH-BOY! WHY DON'T WE MAKE SOME BUNS FOR FUN? TEE-HEE...
U.
LATER...
HEY, THOSE BUNS LOOK GREAT!!
THANKS. TEE-HEE.
U. MESS
TOLAN 3-4

Local Television

7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
18 FESTIVAL OF FAITH
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "The Corruptor"
30 CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 PARTRIDGE FAMILY
57 JACQUES COUSTEAU
7:30 3 MATCH GAME
8 ACTION NEWSMAKERS
22 ST. PATRICK'S DAY BALL
24 CONNECTICUT
30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 THE MUPPET SHOW
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 CODE R
8 40 THE DONNY AND MARIE OSMOND SHOW
22 30 SANFORD AND SON "The Lucky Streak"
24 57 WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW
27 MOVIE "Drums in the Deep South"
38 IRONSIDE "Over the Hill Blues"
56 THE COMMANDERS
8:30 22 30 CHICO AND THE MAN
24 57 WALL STREET WEEK
9:00 3 THE SONNY AND CHER SHOW
8 40 THE BRADY BUNCH HOUR
18 ATHANSON'S FORUM
22 30 THE MAN FROM ATLANTIS
24 57 AGRONSKY AT LARGE
38 MOVIE "Sound and the Fury"
56 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL
9:30 18 THE PTL CLUB
24 57 DOCUMENTARY SHOWCASE "The World's Worse Aircrash"
10:00 3 HUNTER
8 40 ABC NEWS CLOSE-UP "Cuba — The Castro Generation"
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
10:45 27 JEANNE PALMER—FINANCE
11:00 3 8 22 24 30 40 NEWS
27 MOVIE "The Purple Gang"
56 DARK SHADOWS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 FRIDAY SPECTACULAR MOVIE
8 40 THE WINTER THAT WAS — THE ENERGY THAT WASN'T
18 DR. SCOTT ON HEBREW
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
38 MOVIE "Counter Spy"
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:37 40 DRAGNET
1:00 8 40 NEWS
18 THE 700 CLUB
22 30 THE MIDNIGHT SPECIAL
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:30 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Friday, March 4 — Born today, you are a combination of materialist and idealist. There are times when you are content to believe that everything is reducible to tangible items, items that can not have a monetary value set on them. But there are other times, times of stress and strain, when you are certain that the most important things in life are things of the spirit, things of the mind. You are one who cultivates beauty — beauty in nature, beauty of thought, art, literature, and perhaps most of all, music. With training and study, you could make music your career and satisfy your pocketbook and your soul at the same time. Only your desire for perfection will keep you from becoming a performing artist without such training, though your talent and desire to contribute beauty incline you toward performing.

You have a great interest in politics and education; indeed, you possess a genuine talent for dealing with the two aspects of society in combination. Your head for business is such that it would be present little difficulty for you to commercialize your art were you so inclined. That you are not so inclined, however, may mean that this particular talent of yours will lie fallow. You take great joy out of discussion, even when it deteriorates into argument. You have little love of talk for its own sake — but when it expresses the convolutions of inventive logic, you know real joy.

A leader by nature, you nevertheless must be persuaded into positions of leadership — not because you have no confidence in your own ability, but because you are interested in so many things that the opportunity to maneuver or influence people finds a place in the back of your mind and at the end of your list of activities.

* * *

Saturday, March 5

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Unless you learn to take direction quickly — and well — you might as well forget about making progress today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You stand an excellent chance to improve your position on the employment scene. Impress higher-ups with your honesty as well as your talent.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Unsettled conditions on the home front make it necessary for you to take a new tack. Children bring further confusion at evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — This is a favorable day for contracts and agreements of all sorts. An interesting morning makes up for much that is dull at day's end.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Conflicting interests and desires may it difficult for you to progress in any area today. You would do well to rest on your laurels at this time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — It will be much more difficult to oppose an idea today than to support it. If you possibly can, lend a hand, actually or figuratively.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Listen carefully to younger family members this evening. They may well have ideas that can extricate you from present difficulties.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Be more cautious than usual with money, particularly should it belong to someone else. Make yourself necessary to a co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Reconsider a question of property. You may be playing with fire if you continue to support present propositions. Community centers require aid.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — It is important to your future success that you catch up on correspondence. Consider the debts you owe at this time; arrange for payment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Though they may conflict with the wishes of the majority of family members, your present desires for your own future gain support at evening.

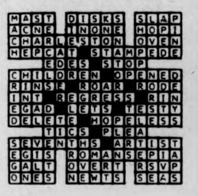
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Seek a companion who understands your present position on the employment scene. Someone to talk to is essential to happiness today.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

Wednesday Puzzle Solved



MAST DISKS SLAP
ACNE INONE HOPI
CHARLESTON OVEN
HEPCAT STAMPEDE
EDES STOP
CHILDREN OPENED
RINSE ROAR RODE
INT REGRESS RIN
EGAD LETS TESTY
DELETE HOPELESS
TICS PLEA
SEVENTHS ARTIST
EGIS ROMANSEPIA
GALT OVERT RSVP
ONES NEWTS SEAS

ACROSS

1 Carnelian's relative
5 Louis ---- Metis leader
9 Separates
14 In surplus
15 Advantage
16 Nearly 17 Solitary
18 Act of strength
19 Mideast Arab 20 Michigander's neighbor
22 Less refined
23 Plant
24 Lose one's balance
25 Rescind
28 Some singers
32 Outstanding people: Slang
33 Kind of peach
34 By means of 35 Ash receptacles
36 Start an engine
37 Chums
38 Small child
39 Separate
40 Teams
41 With noisy violence
43 Wayne and Shuster's forte
44 Gaelic language
45 Actress ---- May Whitty
46 40 winks
49 Mad
53 Mountain nymph
54 Pageantry
55 Report
56 Combine
57 Fiber source
58 Used in the mouth
59 Removes by shaving
60 Serve
61 Of sound mind

DOWN

1 Card game
2 English valley
3 Tear
4 Visionaries
5 Second cup of coffee
6 Good example
7 Actor Richard ---
8 Allow
9 Grouping in twos
10 Precipitous
11 Street
12 Agreement in pitch
13 Incite
21 Creeks
22 Metallic noise
24 Emit light
25 Defeats badly
26 Put on record
27 Numerical prefix
28 Cause to ring loudly
29 Avoid fulfilling
30 Made angry
31 Impertinent: Informal
33 Witch
36 Clutch
37 Olive stuffings
39 Wears away
40 Approximately 42 Household
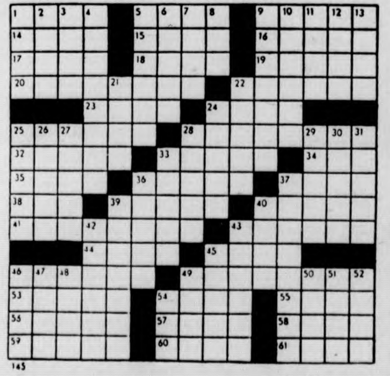
43 Lived outdoors
45 Unclean spirit
46 Business firm: Abbr
47 Square footage
48 Yukon or Guam: Abbr.
49 Deal out
50 Scarlett O'Hara's home
51 Impetuosity
52 Omit
54 Butter quantity



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9 10
11 12
13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26 30 31
32 35
38
41
46
47
51
52
53
55
57

145

FRYE
BOOTS
SALE

Fantastic SAVINGS on discontinued models

Up to 50% OFF
on many jacket styles

Over 50 Styles In Stock

Heartfelt Leather
103 N. PLEASANT ST
AMHERST
10:00-6:00 MON.-SAT.
253-5135

Sports Calendar

TODAY

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Duquesne at Spectrum 7:00
WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Bridgewater State at Bentley 6:00
MEN'S VARSITY SWIMMING — New Englands at Springfield College
MEN'S SKIING — NEISC Championships at Maine

TOMORROW

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — ECBL Tournament at Spectrum
WOMEN'S VARSITY GYMNASTICS — Towson St.-Clarion St. Home 7:00
MEN'S VARSITY WRESTLING — NE Championships at B.U.
MEN'S SKIING — NEISC at Maine
WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — MAIAWs at Bentley

dvp

dvp presents, in celebration of

International Women's Week:

MON., MARCH 7: 8 p.m. S.U.B.
THE HONORABLE BELLA ABZUG
"Women in Politics"

TUES., MARCH 8: 8 p.m. S.U.B.
BARBARA SIZEMORE
"Education of Black Children"

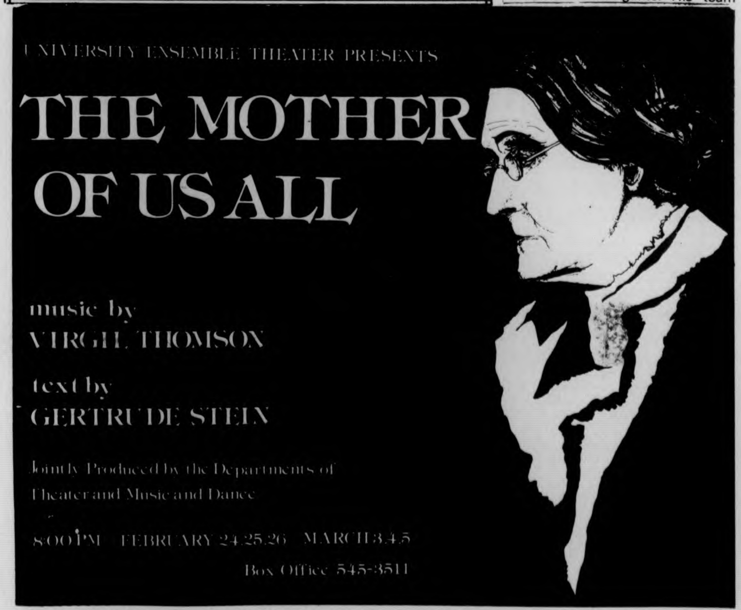
HELEN RODRIGUEZ
"Sterilization Abuse"

MADONNA GILBERT
"Native American Women"

THURS., MARCH 10: 1 p.m. CC 917
ARLENE EISEN
"Women in Vietnam"

4 p.m. S.U.B.
GRACE LEE BOGGS
"Men's Underdevelopment AND Women's Underdevelopment: 2 sides of one question"

FRI., MARCH 11: 11 a.m. C.C. 174-176
Helen van denoot Rosen
"Health Care in China & Cuba"



UNIVERSITY ENSEMBLE THEATER PRESENTS
THE MOTHER OF US ALL music by VIRGIL THOMSON
text by
GERTRUDE STEIN
Jointly Produced by the Departments of Theater and Music and Dance
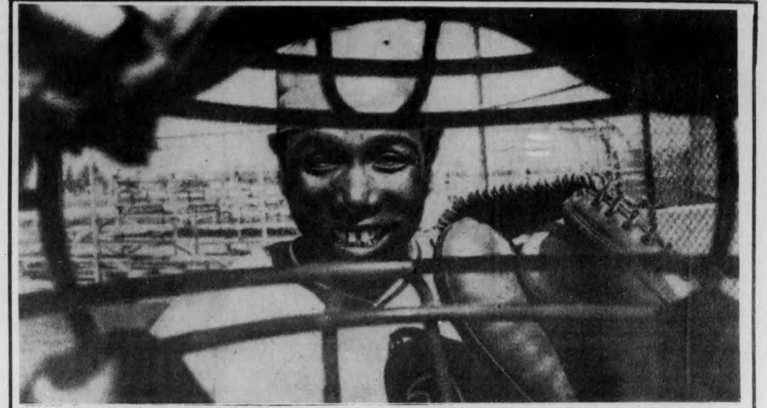
8:00 PM FEBRUARY 24-25-26 MARCH 3-4-5
Box Office 545-3511



Oakland A's catcher Manny Sanguillen sees what it's like from the other side of the mask. (UPI)

Whalers' Raeder highlights frustrating season with shutout

By FRAN SYPEK
Collegian Staff

HARTFORD — A professional athlete can do two things when he is demoted to the minor leagues. He can feel sorry for himself and not give his best effort, or work his tail off and try to improve his skills so he can return to the big leagues as soon as possible. It's a good thing for the New England Whalers that goalie Cap Raeder chose the latter.

"I was a little upset at the way things were going," said the former University of New Hampshire All-American. "I wanted to play my way and they (Whaler management) wanted me to do things differently. I got into a situation where I was scared to death of making a mistake."

Raeder was sent to the Whaler's Providence (AHL) farm club, where former Bruins goalie Ross Brooks had just taken over the coaching duties. It turned out to be a good break for Raeder.

"Ross and I talked a lot," said the 22-year-old native of Needham. "We didn't talk so much on fundamentals, but sort of on the psychological aspect of goaltending. I found this to be helpful."

On Wednesday, Raeder made his first start since being recalled and stopped 29 San Diego Mariner shots in a 2-0 Whaler win. Raeder's stellar goaltending kept the Whalers in the game. His teammates who fired 42 shots on net couldn't score until Mike Antonovich put a rebound past Ernie Wakley at 13:30 of the third period. "I enjoy playing in that kind of game," said Raeder. "It felt good to get that first shutout. I don't get many."

The shutout was Raeder's third in his brief WHA career. The 5'11", 170 pound netminder recorded two whitewashes against Indianapolis in last year's playoffs.

"Cap's had a frustrating year," said Whaler mentor Harry Neale. "He played superbly tonight. It was his first game in quite a while. It's good for his confidence."

Raeder hopes to play more consistently in the future. If anything, the 1976-77 season has been quite a learning experience for him.

Raeder's season began in August when he reported to Team USA training camp in Providence. The only action he saw however, was in an exhibition game against Team Canada. The Whalers weren't pleased with his work in training camp and sent Raeder to the minors.

Recalled in December, Raeder had what he calls his "biggest thrill in pro hockey" when he was in goal for the Whalers' 5-2 win over the Soviet Union All-Stars. Neale said that Raeder was instrumental in the team's December surge, but he decided to send him back to Providence when Raeder began playing inconsistently.

"He had a little trouble playing a steady game," Neale said. "I really feel for goalies," Neale added. "It's a unique position and unless you've played it, you don't really know how to handle goalies."

Neale would like nothing better than to have Raeder regain the form he displayed when he was pressed into emergency service in last year's WHA playoffs. It was a Cinderella story when Raeder stepped in for the injured Bruce Landon and went on to post a brilliant 2.27 goals-against-average in 14 playoff games, after only seeing actiin in two regular season contests. After beating Indianapolis, the Whalers battled heavily-favored Houston to seven games in the semi-finals.

"Cap Raeder's play in the Houston playoff series was a virtuoso performance befitting the greats of the sport. He played like a Plante or a Dryden, not a 22-year-old kid who had spent most of the season in places like Cape Cod and Binghamton," said Houston Post sportswriter Dale Robertson after the series.

"Nobody's ever played better than Cap did in that series," added Neale.

A teammate of Robbie Ftorek at Needham High School, Raeder entered UNH in 1972 and went on to post a 3.27 goals-against-average in 69 ECAC games. Raeder faced UMass once during his freshman year in 5-4 Wildcat win.

Raeder turned pro in 1975 after being drafted by both the Whalers and the Canadiens. He split his season between Cape Cod and Binghamton of the NAHL, before being recalled by the Whalers just before the playoffs.

"The biggest adjustments I've found coming into the pro's from college hockey," said Raeder, "was there are a lot more games, better shooters and that you have to play more consistently because you face good teams all the time."

PERU
Summer — 1977

Trek the ancient Inca trails & see Malhu Picchu, the most spectacular archaeological site in the world.

Write or phone for brochure
For this and other unique tours
OONAGH CHAMBERS

New England Representative
Hanns Ebensten Travel, Inc
Branford, Conn. 06405
(203) 488-6433

Crossroads Travel
Old Lyme, Conn.

Fenton aims for fourth

By BOB HASKELL
Collegian Staff

Minuteman star Dennis Fenton will attempt to win an amazing fourth straight New England title this weekend, as the UMass wrestling team travels to Boston University to participate in the fifth annual New England collegiate wrestling championships.

Last Tuesday the grapplers finished the regular season on a positive note, by defeating a talented Harvard team, 21-17 at Boyden Gym, raising their record to 7-13. Hopefully, that momentum can be carried into the New Englands, where the Minutemen are a decided underdog.

"The University of Rhode Island won last year in a runaway," explained UMass assistant coach Ron Pelligra, "and they are expected to do the same this year, but I think we're gonna surprise some people."

The N.E. matches are scheduled to be held this Saturday, 2:00 p.m., at BU's Case Center, with Sunday's finals slated to begin at 5:00 p.m. in the same facility.

The Minuteman lineup will be as follows: Pete Sachon (118 lbs.) Larry Pontbriant (126 lbs.), Larry Otsuka (134 lbs.), Steve Jabaut (142 lbs.), Kevin Griffin (150 lbs.), Tim Fallon (158 lbs.), Dana Cormier (167 lbs.), Bob Spaulding (177 lbs.), Mike Riley (190 lbs.), and Fenton.

Team captain Fenton will be trying to duplicate a feat accomplished only once before when Scott Puccino of URI won four consecutive N.E. titles at 126 lbs., between 1973-1976. Scott's brother Frank is now a junior at Rhode Island and will be defending his N.E. championship at 142 lbs.

Fenton is undefeated this year; his record is 20-0. His chief rival for the heavyweight title is URI's John Staulo. Last Friday, Fenton bested Staulo, 4-1, in a regular season encounter. That match may have been a preview of the N.E. heavyweight final.

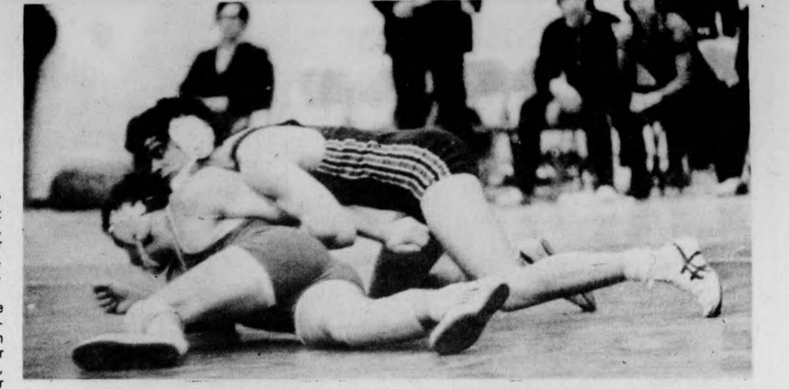
According to head coach Dave Amato, the prospects look better than they have all season.

"We have everybody healthy and ready to go this weekend." said Amato during yesterday's practice, "Steve Jabaut should give Puccino some real competition, and Kevin Griffin could surprise (Lee) Spiegel of URI. There will be some great match-ups."

There will be a junior varsity version of the New Englands held at the same time, also at Case Center.

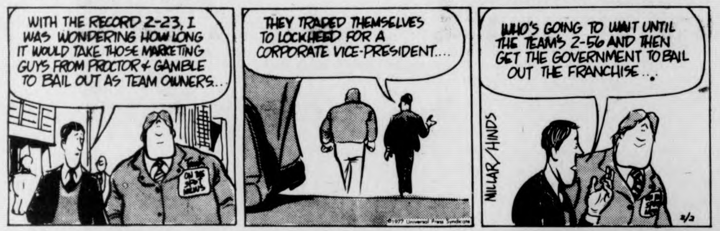
"This gives our guys a chance to get some experience in this type of competition," said JV coach Ron Pelligra, "something that could pay off in a couple of years. But for now, we're just gonna go there and have some fun."

This will be the last chance to see Dennis Fenton in action before he fades into legend. Maybe that fact will spur the Minutemen on to an upset finish this weekend.



UMass wrestler Kevin Griffin, seen here in action against UConn, will be one of the grapplers at BU this weekend for the New England Championships. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

TANK McNAMARA by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



WITH THE RECORD 2-23, I WAS WONDERING HOW LONG IT WOULD TAKE THOSE MARKETING GUYS FROM PROCTOR & GAMBLE TO BAIL OUT AS TEAM OWNERS...
THEY TRADED THEMSELVES TO LOCKHEED FOR A CORPORATE VICE-PRESIDENT....
WHO'S GOING TO WAIT UNTIL THE TEAM'S 2-56 AND THEN GET THE GOVERNMENT TO BAIL OUT THE FRANCHISE...
©1977 Universal Press Syndicate
MILLAR/HINDS
2/2

Sports notices

INTRAMURALS — Softball meetings on Thursday, March 10, Monday, March 14 and Wednesday, March 16 at 7 p.m. Applicants, officials and supervisors must attend one meeting.

Swimming trials and finals for men and women are Monday, March 7; diving at 5:45, swimming at 6:30. Both events will be held at Boyden Pool.

Badminton doubles, tennis singles, co-rec softball, and co-rec horseshoes entries are due Wednesday, March 9.

WOMEN'S TENNIS — Anyone interested in a Spring season, there will be an important meeting on Thursday, March 10 at 4:15 p.m. in 249 Boyden. If you have any questions, call 549-4789.

WMUA will broadcast a basketball doubleheader tonight beginning at 5:50 p.m. with Charlie Holmes, Rick Heideman and A.J. Quittadamo broadcasting the Minutewomen-Bridgewater game from Bentley College. At 6:50 they will switch to Dave Strader and Bob Paquette at the Spectrum in Philadelphia for the UMass-Duquesne game.

B's given right to court Howe

DETROIT [UPI] — The Detroit Red Wings Thursday announced a "mutual consent" agreement with the Boston Bruins that will enable both teams to bargain for former Red Wing star Gordie Howe and his two sons.

The move was seen as a step to avoid a bidding war between the two National Hockey League clubs for the Howe clan.

Howe and his sons, Mark and Marty, are the only remaining players still receiving paychecks from the Houston Aeros of the World Hockey Association. But they are expected to become free agents within the next week.

The Red Wings acquired the NHL draft rights to Marty last Friday from the Montreal Canadiens and General Manager Alex Delvecchio immediately began efforts to bring the entire family back to the town where Gordie is known as "Mr. Hockey."

However, the Bruins hold draft rights to Mark Howe and indicated an initial unwillingness to relinquish them.

Colleen Howe, matriarch of the clan, has said on repeated occasions she wants the family to stick together in its next endeavor. She has been promised a position in the Red Wing organization if the Howes return to Detroit.

Howe, now 49, retired as a player after 25 star-studded years with the Red Wings only to return to the ice in an aero uniform following a stint in Red Wing management that was unsatisfactory to all parties involved.

Just the other night, he scored the 900th goal of his playing career, making him the highest scorer in pro hockey history.

Thurs. March 3.
Larry Tomei Jr.
Fri. & Sat. March 4 & 5
Kirby Farrell
Sun. March 6
Peter Boynton
25' Drafts M-F 6-8 p.m.
RAHAR'S
FOOD DRINK LODGING
OPEN 11-1 DAILY • 12-1 SUNDAYS
VISIT OUR GAME ROOM
7 Old South St. • Northampton
ACROSS FROM Peter Pan Bus Terminal

Spirit Liquor Store Haus
Open Daily till 11 p.m.
Amherst's Largest Full Service Liquor Store
THIS WEEK'S SPECIALS
Tuborg Gold Beer 12 oz. cans $5.69 a case
Falstaff $5.25 a case
Old Milwaukee Beer 12 oz. cans $5.59 case
Early Times Bourbon $5.99 qt.
Imported Beer of the Week
New Castle Brown Ale $3.99 six
OVER STOCK WINES
Mateuse $3.39 fifth
Lake Niagara $2.19 fifth
Nectar Rose $2.39 fifth
Paul Masson Sangria $1.29 fifth
Moselblumchen $1.99 fifth
Opici Lambrusco $1.49 fifth
Broli Classico Chianti $2.49 leter
Korbel's Pinot Noir Cabenet Sauvignon $2.89 fifth
Wine Browsers Welcome
Large assortment of kegs.
We have over 90 brands of imported beer
(Mix your own variety six pack)
We Buy Silver Coins
338 College St. Rt. 9 Amherst 253-5384
Not responsible for typographical errors.

Appearing
TONITE & SAT.
THE RHINESTONES
At
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

MIKE'S WESTVIEW
Appearing Saturday Nite March 5
Andy May
and the
Texas Tabby Crabb Band
Country Western Style Music
If you like the name, you'll love the music no admission charge
no cover

Rimwomen battle Bears in MAIAW tournament

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

The most successful regular season ever is now over for the UMass women's basketball team, but the fun has just begun.

Because it's that time that sends palpitations to the heart, sees nails bitten to the quick, and has been known to unravel many a fine season's worth of work.

It's post-season playoff time.

And the Minutewomen this weekend will participate in the first of their after-hours tournaments. UMass travels to Bentley College in Waltham to compete in the Massachusetts Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (MAIAW) tournament.

The top-seeded Minutewomen face fourth-seeded Bridgewater State today at 6 p.m. as the four-team Division I field holds its semifinals. At 4 p.m., second-seed Springfield College taps off against third-seed Northeastern in the other first round game.

UMass defeated the Bears earlier this season, 87-77, in the only meeting between the two teams.

"It was a super ballgame. We had a great team effort," UMass coach Mary Ann Ozdarski said of her team's win.

In the game, Nancy O'Neil went absolutely bananas for the Minutewomen. She scored a season-high 33 points and also hit the boards effectively.

UMass played most of the contest without the Lu-Ann Fletcher. The center was suffering from a sprained ankle at the time, and could only play a little less than half of the game while scoring seven points.

Bridgewater, which finished its season with a 6-4 record, is led by 5'6" guard Denise Bereszniewicz. She scored 21 points in her team's loss to the Minutewomen.

"We're going to have to stop her if we want to be effective," Ozdarski said.

Joan Howard, a 5'9" forward, also hit in double figures for the Bears in that game.

Bridgewater's starting center is 5'11" Judy Blinstrab. The other two Bear regulars are 5'8" forward Sue Walas and 5'4" guard Karen Baptista. The bench is headed up by 6'2" sophomore center Mary Swiatek.

Ozdarski indicated that Bridgewater uses a set-up offensive attack, but "runs when they have the chance." She added that the Bears use their bench fairly often, as evidenced by the fact that all 12 players saw action against the Minutewomen in their February game.

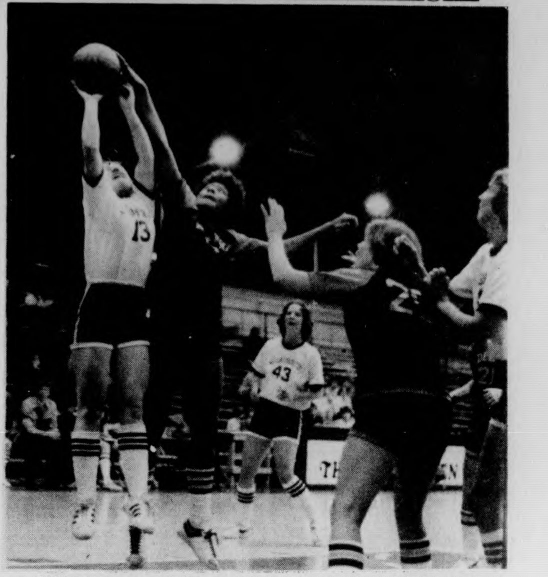
UMass will go with its usual starting five of Fletcher, O'Neil, Chris Basile, Sue Peters, and Sue Henry. The 15-4 Minutewomen also are injury-free going into the tournament.

Should UMass win its opening round game, it will meet either 7-4 Springfield or 8-7 Northeastern in the 6 p.m. Saturday championship game. The Minutewomen defeated both those teams handily during the regular campaign.

UMass is hoping to avenge a 68-66 loss to Bridgewater in the final game of the state tourney last year.

"Bridgewater's going to be up for us," Ozdarski said. "There's no question we're the best Division I team in the state, but we'll have to prove it now that the season's all over with."

"Now it's down to the marbles where everything counts. There isn't any tomorrow," she concluded.



UMass supersub Cheryl Carey in action. (Staff photo by Nancy Bernitich)

Ovalteams in big meets

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

Rather than go into a situation with "do or die" goals, two UMass relay units will make the trip to Princeton, New Jersey this weekend "just trying to run up to potential" in the IC4A meet at Princeton University's Jadwin Gymnasium track facility.

"If we achieve the national qualifying times, fine," said coach Ken O'Brien. "But we mainly want to just run up to potential. We've run well enough individually, but we've never gotten four good times on any one given day."

The distance medley quartet will have Francis O'Keefe leading off in the 880. Joe Martens will be running the 440, Frank Carroll the three quarter mile, and Chris Farmer the mile. So far this season, the Minutemen have run 10:00. The national qualifying time is 9:53. O'Keefe has run 1:55, Martens :47.4, Carroll 3:01, and Farmer 4:09.5 in their respective distances. This puts them just below the qualifying time, but they'll have to put those times together not once, but twice — in Saturday's trials and Sunday's finals.

Likewise with the two mile relay team. Mark Healy, Jeff King, Jim Hunt, and Steve MacDougall will have two races to run in the space of 24 hours. With a best of 7:41, they could reach the national standard of 7:33 with four good times.

"They're definitely capable of doing around 7:35," said O'Brien, "and if too few teams make 7:33, the NCAA might raise their limits to include some teams who got close to that time."

So it will be a test against the best in the East on a fast track that will hopefully bring out the best in all eight of the UMass trackmen.

"After all," said O'Brien, "Championship meets are supposed to do that."

While the men are in New Jersey, the women's track team will run through its final warm-ups before the Eastern Championships when it travels to Storrs, Connecticut on Sunday to participate in a six team meet with UConn, Springfield, Yale, Wesleyan, and Amherst.

The women will be looking to duplicate their effort of two weeks ago, when they downed UConn in a dual meet, 69-37. Despite the fact that this is the first indoor season for women at UMass, the women have looked good in previous meets.

Last spring the UMass women were number one in New England, and according to coach Gary King they are much improved this year.

As usual, the distance events will be well stocked for the Minutewomen. In the 880, Bonnie Bukowski, who led a sweep of the first three places in the UConn meet, will be joined by Karen Zimmerman and Laurie Wolfe.

In the mile, Julie Lafreniere will battle Amherst's Marina Buckley in a race which may see the first sub-five minute mile ever run by a UMass woman. Also running the mile will be Johara Chapman, Maggie Crowley, and Barbara Callanan.

Sue Swartz, who ran a personal best 11:39 in winning the two mile in the UConn meet, will be running that event on Sunday, along with Anne Bradshaw, who was runner-up in the last meet.

In the 60-yard dash, Nancy Kominoli will try for another winning performance, as well as trying to beat Chris Perron in the hurdles. In the UConn meet Perron and Kominoli tied for first in the 60 yard hurdles. Perron will also run the 440 along with Cindy Martin. The versatile Perron will also run a leg on the mile relay.

Other events will be the long jump, shot put, high jump, 220, and two mile relay.

Although the indoor season at UMass is just a time to sharpen up for the outdoor spring season, it won't stop the women from coming up with some top-notch performances.

Get Ready to Make the Change Over for Spring!
BASEBALL SHOES
HYDE SPOT BILT
BROOKS
PUMA
SOCCER SHOES
PUMAS and ADDIAS
WESTERN AUTO
32 Main St. Northampton 584-3620

CHEQUERS
SATURDAY NIGHT
and
ALL DAY SUNDAY
Prime Ribs of Beef
(Full Cut)
w/baked potato, vegetable roll & butter
$4.95
UNIVERSITY DRIVE AMHERST 549-5861

sport'shoes opens
March 1
FIRST QUALITY SHOES AT DISCOUNT PRICES
Nike • Tiger • New Balance • Patrick • Lydiard • Tretorn • Bata • Pro Keds and Burlington Socks
10-5 Monday - Saturday
1008 Main St., Springfield
(corner of Union & Main)
Free Parking In Rear

Leaman steals show

Minutemen meet Dukes

By BOB HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA — This has not been a very satisfying season for the UMass basketball team.

"We were probably the unhappiest 17-9 team in the country," said captain Mark Donoghue yesterday.

So now, with a shocking 78-74 upset of tournament favorite Rutgers in the opening round of the Eastern Collegiate Basketball League playoffs Wednesday night, the Minutemen can go home from this city happy, right?

Not quite.

"We won't be happy unless we win this whole thing," said Donoghue. "We're getting a little hungry — I can't wait to play again."

Donoghue and his mates will get that chance tonight when they meet Duquesne in the Spectrum at 7:00 to decide who will go to Saturday night's finals. West Virginia and Villanova will go at it at 9:00 to decide the other finalist.

Duquesne, 12-14 in the regular season and 3-7 in the ECBL, downed Penn State 65-55 in the quarterfinals to advance to the semis. UMass whipped the Dukes in a wild one at the Springfield Civic Center back in January, 110-97.

The Minutemen, and in particular coach Jack Leaman, were still smiling broadly yesterday about Wednesday's win. Leaman, usually serious, was the life of the party at a press conference with the other three winning coaches yesterday morning.

But he got serious when it came time to discuss tonight's game. "Duquesne is a very fine team, and (Duquesne guard) Norm Nixon is as good as player as anyone around."

Indeed, any discussion of the Dukes begins and ends with Nixon. The 6-2 senior guard averaged 21.9 points per game this season, and hit for 28 against UMass. He led the Dukes in the scoring column in all but two contests.

The duty of trying to stop Nixon will fall on Alex Eldridge. "Nixon's good — he's real good," said Eldridge yesterday. "He's a better shooter than Ed Jordan (Eldridge's assignment in the Rutgers game)."

Nixon teams with Lonnie McClain in the backcourt to give Duquesne a "guard-oriented offense," according to Donoghue. Thus, it is on the inside where the Minutemen can pick up an advantage.

"We're not as strong inside as I'd like to be," said Duquesne coach John Cinicola yesterday. "I'm concerned about their (UMass') physical strength. We've got to get the job done inside without fouling."

Cinicola's fear of fouling is not unfounded. The Minutemen hit a whopping 44 of 53 foul shots back in January against the Dukes. Donoghue scored 35 points in that game (15 from the foul line) while Derick Claiborne hit 16 of 17 from the line and scored 28 points.

But UMass' inside game will be at less than 100 per cent, as leading rebounder Jim Town still suffers from some bruised ribs. Despite the days rest Town has had, Leaman reported, "he's still gonna have some pain."

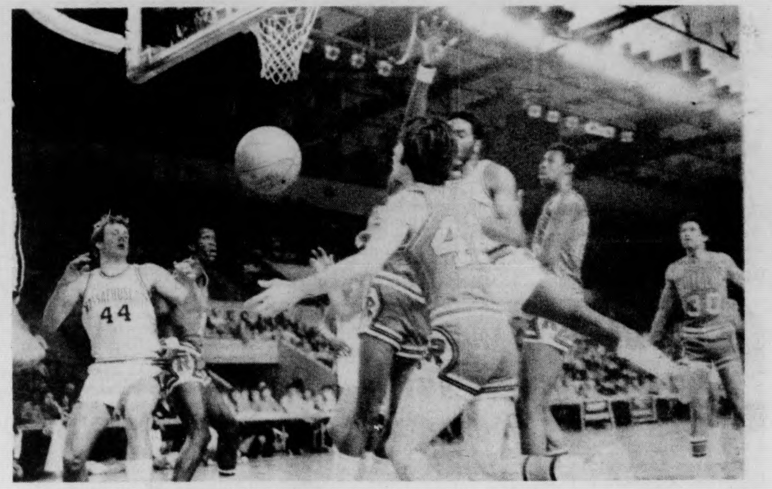
Despite the pain Town grabbed nine rebounds and scored 14 points against Rutgers. "He grabbed some critical rebounds — we're very proud of him," said Leaman.

The Minutemen will try the same strategy against Duquesne that worked against the Scarlet Knights. "We've got to control the tempo — we can't try to run with them; we've got to slow the pace down," said Leaman.

"We'd like to try and run if we can," said Cincola at the press conference yesterday. "If we are forced to play their kind of game, we're in trouble."

"It's a great contrast in style," said Leaman, who then echoed Cincola's words saying, "they're going to have to try and make us play their kind of game."

The idea of the running game concerns Leaman, but it is not due to a fear of fatigue. Leaman went with just six players against Rutgers (the sixth, Len Kohlass, played just 11 minutes), but said yesterday, "Fatigue is mental. You don't get tired in the semi-finals and finals. You get tired in the consolation game."



Alex Eldridge passes off to Jim Town. The Minutemen, who will be relying on their inside game to beat Duquesne, face the Dukes tonight in the semifinals of the ECBL tourney. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Town honored

PHILADELPHIA — The Eastern Collegiate Basketball League announced its all-league team earlier this week, and UMass forward Jim Town was named to the second team.

Town, a 6-7 senior, finished third in rebounding in league play with a 10.4 per game average. He led the Minutemen in both rebounding and scoring (15.7 points per game) during the regular season.

Named to the all-ECBL first team were: Norm Nixon of Duquesne, John Holloran of George Washington, Keith Herron of Villanova, Tony Robertson of West Virginia, and James Bailey of Rutgers.

Joining Town on the second squad were Ed Jordan of Rutgers, Larry Harris of Pittsburgh, Maurice Robinson from West Virginia, and Chris Erichsen of Penn State.

Holloran finished as the league's leading scorer with a 25.9 average in league games. He was followed by Herron (24.0 average), Bailey (22.5), and Nixon (22.2).

Bailey led all rebounders with a 12.8 average, followed by Robinson (11.5) and Town.

Rollie Massimino of Villanova was named ECBL coach - of - the - year.

Collegian Sports

Susan Cantwell and her gymwomen teammates face their toughest test of the season this weekend against Clarion State. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

NCAA champions meet gymwomen in Cage finale

By LAURA BASSETT
Collegian Staff

Save the best for the last, that's how the old line goes. For the UMass women's gymnastics team the best also means the toughest competition of the season.

On Saturday, in their last home meet of the season, the gymwomen will meet nationally ranked Clarion State and Eastern ranked Towson State at 7 p.m. in the Cage.

Clarion, the defending national gymnastics champs, recently regained its top national ranking by defeating number two ranked Penn State by a .3 margin.

What kind of chance do the Minutewomen have of capturing their sixth straight win? "We have to be good," said coach Virginia Evans. "We definitely have the talent but we're really going to have to hit."

Assistant coach John Calabria views this tri-meet as "an excellent warm up and prelude to the Easterns" championships to be held next weekend.

"The women really have to establish a good attitude and the experience will be valuable at Easterns," he added.

UMass, ranked third in the East and sixth in the nation, has been building towards this meet and the Easterns all season. Junior Stephanie Jones has steadily recovered from an early season foot injury and has performed more solidly with every meet. Junior Susan Cantwell continues to build with each meet. Against Springfield College, the most recent competition for the gymwomen, Cantwell recorded a season high of 35.35 in the all-around event.

Captain Jill Heggie has been the team's most consistent performer this season and is expected to come through again. Tomorrow's meet could possibly mark the return of freshman Karen Hemberger to the all-around lineup. Hemberger sustained an ankle injury in the second meet of the season and has been bothered by it since. In the Penn State meet, Hemberger recorded an all-around total of 35.85 so her return would be opportune at this time.

In addition, the specializing gymnasts, who fill in the six-women squads, have been battling for the remaining positions. Cheryl Morrier, Barbara Burmeister, and Julie Myers have all increased the difficulty levels of their routines and are hoping to earn spots on the beam or floor squads.

"They're all working harder and looking really good," Evans commented.

Jean Anderson and Morrier will definitely work the bars while Burmeister and Morrier have locked up the remaining vaulting positions.

The Clarion secret weapon is, quite simply, depth. It has five all-around gymnasts who have all been scoring 35 point totals or better all season long. Names worth dropping include Carrie Englert, a member of the 1976 Olympic team and Connie Jo Israel, the defending national champion. Clarion has amassed point totals of 148 already this season to help it maintain its top ranking.

Towson has been steadily improving all season. It had its best meet of the season against Springfield College when it totaled 135.15 to 136 for Springfield. The UMass gymnasts defeated Springfield, 143.55 — 139.65, earlier this season.

As another preparatory measure for the Easterns, the meet will be run on a team rotation basis rather than individual alternation rotation. Each team will completely work an event and then move on instead of alternating individual school performances. Events will be worked simultaneously so there will be continuous action.

This is a classic showdown for any sport. Not often do the first, third and fifth ranked teams meet to compete together.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 99 MONDAY, MARCH 7, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Decision tomorrow on school food tax

By PATTI KELLEHER
Collegian Staff

A public hearing to be held tomorrow at the State House will virtually determine whether or not students in state and private schools will be paying an eight per cent excise tax on their meal plans.

House Bill no. 1728 will be on the floor before the Committee of Taxation sometime between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in room 235. Citizens of the Commonwealth may come in person or submit written testimony to voice their opinions about the proposed legislation.

Present law, passed in 1975, states that students must pay an excise tax on their meal plans. However, it has not been an equally administered law.

UMass-Amherst was billed for the tax last year, but has not paid it. The University administration has not believed the school is liable. Attorneys have been working on proving the University's non-liability.

Other schools, such as Lowell University, have paid the tax.

Bill no. 1728 would eliminate the tax altogether. Its' future, however, lies in the recommendation of the approximate dozen Committee members at tomorrow's hearing.

Within a week or so after the public hearing, the Committee will vote to favorably or unfavorably recommend the passage of the bill. The recommendation given is generally accepted by the House of Representatives members when they vote.

State Representative Barbara Gray, D-Framingham who is sponsoring the Food Tax bill, was contacted for comment. She urged UMass students to "register their support". Gray said the best way to do that is to contact their own State Reps. NOW, and ask them to write a letter to the Committee of Taxation endorsing bill no 1728. All such letters, whether they advocate or oppose, will be read aloud at tomorrow's hearing. Such endorsement will carry more weight with the Committee than would endorsements from non-colleagues.

A spokesperson from the Gray office said that the State Department of Taxation "really plans to clamp down on all the residence cafeterias at UMass" and collect the tax, if the bill does not pass.

Proponents of the Food Tax bill cite the present law as unfair. They say it is an excise tax we pay without choice, whereas with other excise taxes (those on alcohol and cigarettes), people have a choice to buy or not to buy them.

At schools, it is usually the case that students are required to purchase a meal plan, or if not, are not provided with adequate facilities to prepare their own meals.

The Gray office say that although they are "ever-optimistic", the chances of the bill being passed "don't look all that good."

Booklet details SATF tax

By CAROLE BRENNAN
Collegian Staff

A forty page booklet, "Where Your Buck Stops," briefly describing all the organizations funded by the Undergraduate Student Senate, is being made available for students this week.

The booklet explains how the Senate spends the Student Activities Tax Fee (SATF), which amounts to $1.1 million for the academic year 1976-77. Every fulltime undergraduate student at the University pays an annual $57 SATF.

The SATF, which was first approved by the Universtiy Trustees in 1967-68, has grown larger since then but has remained at $57 since 1974.

"Where Your Buck Stops" includes a location and phone number in its description of each of the 56 groups, people, and organizations it lists. Also included in many of the descriptions is the annual amount of money each individual organization receives from the SATF to maintain their service.

The booklet begins with a list of student co-ops and ends with a run down of Recognized Student Organization (RSO).

"Where Your Buck Stops" states "the resources available at the RSO-Student Activities office, funded at $216,000 allow groups of students to offer an incredible variety of service, education and entertainment."

The booklet shows RSO as having the largest funding by the SATF.

The Student Senate Transit Service is allocated just over one-half, $110,240, of what the RSO is given to maintain a student bus service.

Of the $57 that each student contributes to the activities fee, $1.50 goes to the Distinguished Visitors Program (DVP).

The Student Government Association Office of Communications says they are hoping the booklet will contribute to a rise in student involvement in the various organizations it lists.

Filing deadline tomorrow

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

The filing deadline for Town Meeting nomination papers is Tuesday, March 8th. Each candidate should be aware that the term of office to be served will be contingent on the number of votes received on April 5th. Candidates who receive the top third of votes cast will serve for three years, while middle third recipients will receive a two year term, and lower third vote holders will serve for one year.

The legislative branch of Amherst town government is comprised of 240 elected members, and 15 ex officio members, which includes Selectpeople, Town Manager and Finance Committee. This largely representative body is vested with the responsibilities of law passage, monies appropriations and the making of rules and regulations.

The Amherst Tenants Association, ATA, is supporting and encouraging people to run for meeting membership. While half of Amherst's population consists of tenants, there are few tenant members.

A state law enacted this year, requires representation by population rather than the number of registered voters. Amherst has been redistricted from seven to eight voting districts. Precinct III covers Orchard Hill, Sylvan and Central areas, excluding Butterfield Dormitory which comes under Precinct II jurisdiction. Precinct IV includes all of the Southwest Dormitory area.

All prospective candidates should pick up nomination papers from the Town Clerk's office. Papers are required to have signatures from at least 10 registered voters. Nomination papers are to be returned to Town Hall by 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

INSIDE

Earth quakes hit Southern Europe. See Page 8.

Carter's talk show has successful debut. See Page 7.

Mayor White undecided about running another term. See Page 8.

Coal miner rescued. See Page 6.

Amin asks U.S. to reopen Kampala embassy. See Page 7.

WEATHER

Partly cloudy,
So let's get rowdy.

Before a near capacity audience, Betty Carter kicks off International Women's Week with many other events to come. (Staff photo by Patrick L. Buben)

Betty Carter sings in concert at FAC

By JACK CAHILL
Below the Salt Staff

In the most auspicious way imaginable, vocalist Betty Carter and her trio initiated International Women's Week last night with a concert that left a near full house at the Fine Arts Center totally flabbergasted, numb with amazement at the totality of her talent.

A presentation and poetry reading by four women involved in the organization of the week long series of events led into a taut and powerful workout on Charles Tolliver's gripping "Impact" by the trio: pianist John Hicks, bassist Clint Houston and drummer Clifford Barbaro. In the midst of a thunderous ovation for the trio, in swept the irresistable force, Betty Carter, and the audience was lost in awe for the rest of the evening.

One is immediately caught up in the vitality and expressiveness of Betty Carter. She is like no one else with her huge face, lithe figure and matchless vocal technique that has been a force in jazz since the late forties. She crept in with a sinuous version of "I Was Telling Him About You" that injected the lyrics with sincerity and sadness and exemplified her magic way with a song, any song.

Her advice to women was pulled from Cole Porter's "Gentlemen Don't Like Love (They just want to kick it around)," the message given with happy sass and snappy emphasis. Betty's interpretation of the American Popular Song takes great liberties with the melody but allows her to charge it with her personal thunder. She is the incarnation of the song she sings, an improvisional composer of the highest degree.

Working up through a cooking "Please Do Something," Betty segued a fragile "Alone Together" into a long, loose "Every Time We Say Goodbye", both from her 1961 album with Ray Charles. "I haven't had many records," she said with a beautiful grin, "I've always had people. People do it for me." Her sometime theme "I Can't Help It (That's the Way I Am)" says much of her style and her career. Unwillingness to compromise her pioneering technique for commercial success has led to a lot of scuffling for the former Betty Bebop, but has only affirmed her self-belief. Her presence is a joy, a pure joy.

"Musid Maestro Please" with John Hicks' honky stride piano roared into "Swing Brother Swing" at a wild tempo that Betty handled easily while spitting the lyrics in machine gun cadences. A masterful medley of standards and a perfect version of the menacing Monk masterpiece "Round Midnite" were but a few of the numerous excellences of Betty's second set.

Betty whispered "This Is Always", roared "My Favorite Things" and leaped into a stunning vocalese jam that left the audience gasping and demanding more. Her encore was a half accompanied, half solo version of "Body and Soul" that left the crowd limp; a perfect end to a perfect concert. Like the Roland Kirk concert, this was a performance that changed people and served as a thrilling reminder that the voice is still the ultimate musical instrument. Betty Carter's voice, that is.

During the busy day many students drop by the Hatch between classes to relax, talk, and grab a bite to eat. (Staff photo by Patrick Dobbs)

Hatch provides culture, company and costly coffee

By MARSHA KAZARIAN
Collegian Staff

It's Wednesday afternoon at 12:05. Just about the time for the changing of the guard at the Hatch; the social and cultural center of the UMass campus.

One might ask what kind of a hold does the Hatch have on the countless numbers of people that congregate here at the slightest excuse? Is it the coffee? (Which, as a matter of fact is five cents more than the Worcester or Whitmore snack bars.)

Is it the music? The juke box blares continuously, providing a solid background to the steady hum of the student's voices. It's the people that put the Hatch where it is today; the UMass students.

"Once you get in here, you never get out." One might assume that quote is a desperate admonition from a seasoned jailbird, but according to Dale Young, Senior Public Health Major, it's also true of the Hatch.

"There's no way to escape seeing ten or twenty people you know walking through," says Cynthia Conlon, former student working in the School of Education. "I could just sit for hours and watch people. I never want to leave."

Everyone seems to agree that the atmosphere at the Hatch is definitely not conducive to discipline or academia.

Mary Ann Shea states, "It's a great place to waste time. Something always distracts you, but it's a friendly place. When you're off campus, you need some place to spend time and it's better than the library. Besides, I like the music."

It's the best place around to sit with a cup of coffee, smoke a butt, do the crossword puzzle, and, as one person pointed out, "stare at everyone else."

Most students can't agree whether or not they like the music. It seems like they hear the same songs day after day. Last year it was "Games People Play", this year it's "The Year of the Cat."

Dale Young and Linda Goldstein laugh about it. "We always ask each other, 'Didn't we just hear this song'?"

I heard a lot of complaints such as "The decor is lacking", "They should change the songs on the box," "I hate this place, the hamburgers are soggy", but that doesn't seem to stop anyone from coming back.

The best part of the day is the changing of the guard. This is the time between classes when the Hatch parade treks on through from one end of the Hatch to the other.

This is a parade of glassy-eyed students, dazed from their last class, trying to conjure up an excuse for missing their next class.

One part of the Hatch that is a refreshing change is the Commuter Lounge. This part of the Hatch is often not even recognized as a true section of the Hatch. It's relatively quiet, people can't smoke, and the patronage is decidedly more studious.

In the Commuter Lounge, the music isn't as loud, and one doesn't have to battle through the perpetual flow of students running from class to class. The pace is slower and more relaxed.

Apparently there are two types of students at UMass. There are the students that will attempt the Hatch, and there are those that won't. The Hatch avoiders tend to stick with the Coffee Shop.

Although the Hatch and Coffee Shop are both run by Saga Caterers, the Coffee Shop isn't comparable to the Hatch.

"The Coffee Shop has class", notes one anonymous Coffee Shop devotee. "I wouldn't go near the Hatch if you paid me. The music is obnoxious, and it's a jungle in there."

Some people might think that the Hatch and the Coffee Shop are the only snack bar alternatives near the Campus Center. However, Worcester, Whitmore and Hamden also have their own snack bars. These are run by Food Services, headed by Mr. Arthur Warren.

Frances Grasso, patron of both the Hatch and the Worcester Snack Bar makes an interesting comparison. "The Hatch is a fun place to go, meet friends, waste time, and eat on the run, but the Worcester Snack Bar is different. It's quieter and the workers have more time to be friendly. The Hatch is too rushed."

Alice Lisewski, manager of the Worcester Snack bar says, "Even the people that work in the Campus Center come here to eat. The atmosphere is quiet, clean and pleasant, and the food is appetizing."

Even Ginny, a cashier at the Hatch admits that the Hatch was once a much cleaner, nicer cafeteria. "We used to serve 200-300 hot meals a day. The best time was on Sunday mornings when everyone would come in all dressed up for church."

In those days the Hatch was the only place to eat in the Campus Center. They even had the formal Military Ball there.

Although she's worked here for fourteen years, Ginny still recognizes people that have been gone for four or five years. The Hatch cashiers may not have the time to show it, but they're friendly as well as efficient.

But, as Ginny points out, there is one misgiving to working at the Hatch. "It's that juke box! I just can't stand the music!"

UMass bus service hit with premium increase

By BRAD GOVERMAN
Collegian Staff

The major upshot of the UMass bus insurance dilemma which saw the bus service discontinued for intersession is a phenomenal increase of $60,000 in this year's premium for the liability insurance coverage.

The bus service was shut down during the January intersession because of the administration's tardiness in negotiating a bid for 1977 bus insurance with any of the dozen insurance companies contacted. Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery decided to pull the fleet off the roads on Jan. 1 1977 because the extent of the then existing coverage was too minimal.

Bromery's decision to deactivate the bus service inconvenienced many Amherst residents. Hundreds of would-be bus riders were forced to hitch to their destination while at least one person had to drop her intersession course because she could not get to campus.

Kerrins is still very dissatisfied with the way the administration obtained this year's liability insurance.

"I think it's a pity that sound business practices couldn't have been instituted to avoid the astronomical increase in the premium," Kerrins said.

Kerrins maintains that an early settlement with an insurance agent, which would have avoided the dilemma, was bungled because the University sent out bids for the insurance too late.

The bids were sent out November 24, 1976, after several of the insurance companies contended they needed more time to prepare a bid.

No bid was received from any of the dozen insurance companies contacted which resulted in the University being placed into an assigned risk pool.

According to Kerrins, being placed in the assigned risk pool resulted in the University being put into a position where they were manipulated by the insurance companies causing the tremendous skyrocketing of the premium price.

"The assigned risk pool and skyrocketing premium are direct results of blatant negligence on the part of the administration for not pursuing a bid sooner," said Kerrins.

Donald Madsen of the University Treasurer's Office said the integrity of his office was upheld in all actions concerning the insurance matter and "No stone was as left unturned in the pursuit of insurance coverage.".

He said the phenomenal raise in the premium price was due to an overall bad climate in the insurance industry, especially toward buses.

A settlement was finally reached by the Treasurer's Office on Jan. 21, 1977, two days before classes began for the spring semester. Prior to the settlement Gerald J. Grady, director of public relations, for the University, said the major roadblock in negotiations with insurance companies was the extent of coverage requested by the University, but the extent of coverage settled on was the same as the previous years, $1 million to $2 million, and the insurance company that quoted the commercial union bid had originally refused to quote on the same bid before the University was placed in the pool.

Kerrins was quite perturbed by the University's lackluster, lethargic, and often unorganized manner in which the insurance business was handled.

"The failure of the University to issue a complete explanation and the failure to release related information made the issue clouded and unexact," said Kerrins. "And we have yet to see what steps have been taken to avoid this ever happening again," he added.

But according to Jack Littlefield, director of planning at the University, steps have been taken to avoid future predicaments in obtaining insurance.

Plans are in the making to shift insurance business from the normal calendar to a fiscal calendar. Instead of getting coverage from Jan. 1 - Dec. 31 as was done in the past, the proposed plan will have coverage from July 1 - June 30. This will avoid any fluctuations in rates which are usually set by the summer.

Kerrins views the plan as "good business policy" and feels it should be a policy that pertains to all University insurance business. Donald Madsen quoted the plan as "One hell of a good idea!"

But Kerrins is irritated at the lack of communication with him concerning the changing calendar plan. He said he feels the proposal is an admittance of error and since the issue has died the proposal may be "swept under the rug and forgotten."

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Peter Wallace
Assistant Issue Editor Betsy Grose
Day Staff Stacey Belkind
Photo Phlunkies Patrick L. Buben Pat Dobbs John Sideropoulos
Ad Layout Albert Calvert

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

New major merges two fields

By MARY ANN MAYNARD
Collegian Staff

In September a group of UMass students will be able to have the best of two worlds.

Forty students will be chosen for a new major, Leisure Studies and Resources. The major will merge the Park Administration major (P.A.) with the Leisure Studies and Services major (L.S. and S.).

This program will combine the study of natural resources formerly done in the P.A. major and human recreation formerly done in the L.S. and S. major, giving the student both the environmental and humanistic view of recreational planning.

Accordng to Dr. Walter H. Bumgardner, director of the program, "job opportunities are definitely on the increase." But, he said, anyone interested in this field must be willing to travel because the job market in Massachusetts is not good.

All majors will be required to take seven core courses. Once these courses are taken the student will branch off into one of two concentrations, Outdoor Recreation Resources and Park Administration, or Leisure Services. After this the major must choose one more field of concentration to specialize in.

Candidates for the new major will have to write an essay about their career goals, as well as submit to an interview and counselling process which will help screen out those who aren't sure what they're getting into. The final selection will be by grade point averages, according to Bumgardner.

The department will have a staff of five full time and three part-time persons.

"It would appear likely that the percentage of those employed with bachelor's or master's degrees in recreation and parks will continue to increase, since approximately half of all agency executives (771 of 1,525) have such a degree and may be likely to hire those with similar qualifications," according to a recent Manpower Study.

The first meeting for interested students, either from other university majors or from the Stockbridge School, will be on March 15, 7:30 p.m., CC 917.

Hampshire presents symposium

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

ALL SLEEPING WOMEN NOW AWAKE AND MOVE

Ed. note: This weekend Hampshire College hosted a Socialist-Feminist Symposium. Friday brought Deirdre English to Mt. Holyoke to speak on "A Masculinist Critique of Feminism," and Saturday and Sunday featured a series of workshops and speakers on the history of socialism and feminism, lesbianism, social change, etc. Below is an account of two workshops held Saturday afternoon.

Dorothy Allison, author of Wordwitch and Shadowwoman, and an editor of Quest spoke at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 4, Lesbianism and Class Analysis at Hampshire College. As theoretical and academic as the title seemed, Allison brought her discussion to an everyday level; her talk was simultaneously a personal and a political message. She spoke softly (due to a disease she called the "Tallahassee Crud"), and related to an audience of 100 women her experiences in high school, college, in Tallahassee, Florida, and her jobs with the Social Security Agency and the Feminist Federal Credit Union in Washington, D.C. Although she punctuated her speech with sarcasm and wit, her message was a serious one: what relationship do lesbian women, particularly working class lesbians, have to the women's movement? How can lesbian women and working class women deal with their invisibility in society and in the women's movement? How should women go about changing their positions?

Allison outlined many of the special oppressive institutions with which lesbian women must deal. Lesbians, she said, must be strong, or "you will go crazy or be shuffled off." Lesbians often lose their jobs, their homes, and their families because they are different. This difference, particularly their sexuality, said Allison is threatening to men.

Allison emphasized several times that class and race are the easiest things to forget in the women's movement. She noted that the audience was predominantly white and well-educated: the women's movement is mostly thought of as a white middle class movement. However, she said, there are many working class women who were making important contributions to the movement.

To survive in a patriarchal society, in which women are defined by their men (particularly their fathers) Allison cited two alternatives for women. They can develop their "hustle" and become part of the institutions that now undercut the strength of minority groups. Of the women who take this approach, Allison said, "They don't know what it is to be an outlaw. They've seen poor people — waiting at the bus stops. They never had anything they cared enough about to go to jail."

Women's other alternative is to "get political." She suggested that women concern themselves with organizing around day-to-day economic issues. She cited the 9 per cent scholarship rate at Hampshire College, and encouraged Hampshire College women to organize to achieve a higher scholarship rate and more work-study programs. "Education is important," she said, "not for itself, but for what we do with it."

She also advised us to make changes in the jobs that we took after college. "Oppressive institutions are oppressive no matter who staffs them. It is our responsibility not to play the game as expected; not to get burned out or too tired and give up. As Charlotte Bunch has said, 'We are in it for the duration.' "

The next group to speak, five members from the Black Feminist Collective from Boston, spoke on Racism and the Women's Movement. Reading from autobiographical pieces, or drawing from personal experiences within and without the Collective, they addressed themselves to the failure of the women's movement to deal with racism, how that might be overcome, and the special needs of black lesbians and black feminists.

The panel first discussed the difference in oppression between black and white women. "For the black woman, a gynocological exam is more than humiliating; it is life-threatening because black women also face the threat of forced sterilization."

The panel suggested that for white women to wallow in guilt would not accomplish anything and offered as a solution self-help, such as sharing information, developing skills to help Third World women, and reading literature by Third World women. White women should also ask themselves the questions, "what does it mean to be white? What are my relationships with black people, if I have any relationship at all? How do black people I know fit in with my expectations?"

"Don't call in a black woman to be your authority," one member added. "Racism is an issue that white women ultimately must deal with within themselves."

The panel also discussed the issues of black feminist separatism, describing their efforts to establish a Third World night at a feminist bar in Boston. This project ultimately failed, they said because white women continually tried to enter. The white women accused the black women of "reverse racism" or asked questions like, "What are they doihg back there?"

The panel expressed hope that the audience would give some serious thought to the issues presented during the lecture. They said, "Racism is as American as Converse gym shoes or as American as McDonalds. It is something that you must be continually aware of, from the time you get up, until you go to bed. You must examine everything you say and everything you think."

Amherst to consider special hitchhiking areas

By LAURY ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

"Hitchhiking is here to stay, and to believe that it can be effectively eliminated in Amherst is unrealistic. A hitchhiking safety program that relies on educating the public is doomed to failure... an administrative solution would be unworkable, inefficient, and burdensome."

These and other frank observations were included in recommendations of the Hitchhiking Committee established by the Amherst Town Meeting of 1974. The committee, formed to review hitchhiking in Amherst, presented its conclusions to the town meeting in 1975. Included was a proposal to create a pull-off area at the corners of South Pleasant Street and Route 9 to accommodate hitchers.

Tonight the public will have its last opportunity to provide feedback to Amherst selectmen and members of the State Department of Public Works concerning the proposed pull-off sites. This final hearing on the matter will be held at Town Hall.

The number of proposed pull-offs increased over one site recommended by the Hitchhiking Committee as a result of a study presented by Wendy Lindquist and Amherst Town Planner, Jim Cope. Prepared during 1975 and submitted to the town as the Report on Hitchhiking Safety Improvements, Office of Town Planner 1976, the study outlined construction of eight pull-offs, which could also be used as bus stops, in such areas as South and North Pleasant Streets, Northampton Road, West Street and Main Street.

The report said there could be problems in terms of the state allowing construction of pull-offs on state roads. The report also notes that John Callahan, Jr. of the Development Office of Amherst College, had proposed pull-offs and shelters at Northampton Road and South Pleasant Street. Callahan suggested that the pick-up areas be established away from intersections to alleviate the congestion created by hitchhikers at bus corners.

However, the Amherst Town Planners report said: "It is recommended that these proposals not be implemented because they are inconvenient for hitchhikers and they pose numerous safety hazards."

It is inevitable, that hitchhiking in Amherst will be more regulated and formalized in the name of safety. And, it's ironic, because hitchhiking is technically illegal in Amherst. The town adopted a local option state law prohibiting hitchhiking in 1963.

According to Amherst Chief of Police, Don Maia, ticket books were printed up, but only one hitchhiking citation has been issued in almost 15 years.

"In Amherst the width of the roads is not conducive for cars to pull over. Hitchhiking can obstruct traffic, but we've been soft on enforcement of pedestrian laws because citizens haven't complained," Maia says.

No one denies the danger involved for hitchhikers and for motorists who pick them up. "We've had instances of girls being victimized as a result of being picked up or picking someone up," Maia says, "but not an overwhelming number is reported."

According to Ruth Fessenden of the Rape Task Force at UMass, many women who are referred to the task force have been raped as a result of a hitchhiking situation. Fessenden reminded women not to hitch alone, and check the license plate,

State Representative, Jim Collins of Amherst recently submitted a bill which would have established a special commission to study the economic, safety, social and beneficial aspects of hitchhiking.

"Rather than having the state police and hitchhikers avoiding each other, like on the Mass Pike, we could construct pull-off areas," Collins says. He added that he supports the concept of pull-offs in Amherst, although he wants to check the specifics of the plan. He also advocates ID cards, distributed by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, for hitchhikers and motorists who pick them up.

Unfortunately, the House Public Safety Committee threw out Collins' bill last week along with punitive legislation proposed by Barbara Gray of Framingham. Her bills would have allowed police to arrest and hold hitchhikers who refuse to identify him-herself or continue to hitch after being told not to.

Collins plans to pursue the issue in the next session of the legislature. "Because a lot of hitchhiking is on state road, the subject should be studied on the state level," he says.

Snack bar workers urge better relations

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

A proposal to form a committee that will establish communications between the workers of the Subway snack bar and the area government was the main topic of discussion at last night's Sylvan Area Government meeting held in Cashin.

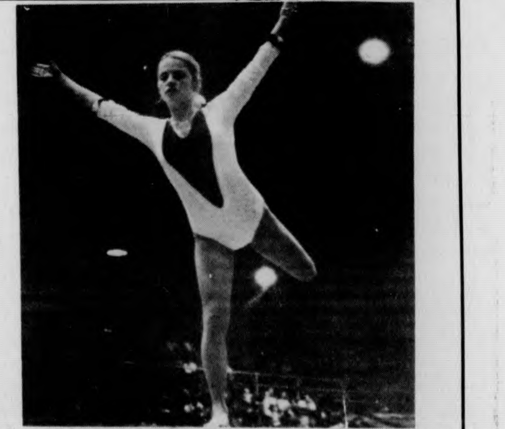
The issue was brought up by Bonnie Campbell, a Subway worker, in the wake of the recent resignation of Ava Lamoreaux, Subway manager which will take effect next Sunday.

Reading from a prepared text, Campbell urged the re-establishment of the student liaison to the Subway so steady inter-communications and "mutual understanding" can begin.

A two-member policy committee was set up to inform the people interested in working on the revival of the Parchment, the area's newsletter. The committee is to draw up guidelines that the area government considers appropriate for an effective communications source in the area.

A motion was carried to endorse Richard Scire, of Hamlin House, who is running for a seat in the Amherst Town Meeting this April, but it was made clear that the area representatives may also endorse others who seek their backing.

Another motion allocating $50 was passed to enable the Sylvan Craft Shop to be able to open its doors and buy needed supplies. The remainder of the $292 allocation was tabled until the financial outcome of the "Big Bad Boogie" is determined. The dance, featuring "Orphan Annie" will be held this Friday at 9 p.m. at the Barracks section of Worcester Dining Commons.



Susan Cantwell performs on the balance beam in Saturday's meet. (Staff photo John Sideropoulos)

OHAG backs SATF hike

By LAWRENCE HIRSHBERG
Collegian Staff

Orchard Hill Area Government endorsed a $7 increase in the Student Activities Tax Fund (SATF) tax last night. The vote was unopposed, with two abstentions. The endorsement came after Student Senate Speaker Brian DeLima urged OHAG reps to maintain some control over the fund.

"The SATF is the only fund controlled by students," DeLima said. According to DeLima, the additional $7 per semester would be equivalent to "one-half a beer or one hit of gold" a week per student. DeLima continued, "The SATF is not a tax, but an investment" and "I know there is a need for it." DeLima also said that UMass is second only to USC and Berkley in student services offered. The SATF increase will be on a student referendum March 15th-16th.

SGA presidential candidate John Foley spoke to OHAG members in an effort to make clear his position on key issues. Foley stressed that as president he and co-candidate Herb Tyson would set themselves up in "an adversary role" with the administration. Foley also talked about setting up a student liquor co-op, a student run check cashing service to replace the soon to be defunct Campus Center check-cashing in the Student Union, and student unionization.

OHAG president Gary Shuster announced that on Wednesday, March 2nd, he attended a meeting with Dean of Students William Field, Amherst Police Chief Joyce, and Bill Taylor, from MacIntire house, to discuss the University liquor policy. Shuster said that the meeting served to clear up some misunderstandings about the liquor policy.

Black Affairs

Black Marines released from camp

WASHINGTON, D.C.] — Eight Black, Camp Pendleton, California, Marines, falsely charged with conspiracy and assault after an alleged attack on a group of white Marines, were ordered released from their unjust pretrial confinement last week by a U.S. Military Court of Appeals.

The eight Black Marines, who had been jailed for over three months, are among the 14 Black servicemen who have been accused of attacking a beer party which was believed to be the scene of a Ku Klux Klan meeting. Two Marines have been found guilty, two have been acquitted and the charges dropped against one other Black soldier.

Major General Walter Flato, the Camp Pendleton magistrate, ordered the soldiers jailed after their preliminary hearings. The Marine Corps refused to release the men, claiming that the Black Marines might attempt to flee to escape prosecution.

The eight men were represented at a two-hour hearing before the U.S. Court of Military Appeals by American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) lawyer Mark Rosenbaum. Rosenbaum told the three-judge panel that there was no reason to keep the men confined since none of them had attempted to escape during the two weeks after the November 13, 1976, incident while the Marine Corps investigated the alleged attack.

"Persons were giving statements," said the ACLU lawyer. "People were being picked up. If there was a time and place to flee, that was the time and place."

Rosenbaum, citing several irregularities in the proceedings, also charged that Flato was biased against the Black Marines during the preliminary hearings that led to his clients' confinement, reports the Los Angeles Times. Already, defense lawyers have requested that the case be removed from the jurisdiction of the Marine Corps, stating their belief that the service will attempt to cover up its tacit support of rampant Klan violence against Blacks on the huge Camp Pendleton base.

Released

Those who were released following last week's proceedings are Sgt. Herman Fletcher, Pvt. Eddie Page, Corp. Clarence Capers, Jr., Lance Corp. Anthony T. Matthews, Corp. Curtis Jones, Jr., Pvt. First Class Donald R. Hunter, Lance Corp. Ricky Carl McGilvery and Lance Corp. Gregory A. Coffee. All of these men are facing possible dishonorable discharges and up to 74 years in jail.

Reprinted by courtesy of "The Black Panther"

Some of the participants of the Male-Female workshop at Malcolm X Center last Saturday. (Photo by Kenneth Robinson)

Workshop—a needed 'shot in the arm'

By CHARISSE WILLIAMS

Part two of the Black Male-Female workshop was given March 5 at the Malcolm X Center in Southwest. The purpose of this workshop was to continue to discuss the issues that were brought out at the last workshop and more importantly to begin to work on the solutions, which will bring brothers and sisters closer together.

The afternoon was opened by the film "Black Women". The film was made in the late sixties, it shows black women trying to realistically look at and define their role as women in the struggle. After the film the 40 men and women separated into two mixed groups. These groups tried to deal with the problems black men and women faced on campus. The atmosphere within the groups was quite relaxed and enabled an easy flow of discussion. After an informal lunch which allowed both groups to mix and discuss the various points brought up they reconvened into one large group. Here the various points were summarized. The basic point which arose in both groups was the lack of communication that exists between black people. It was suggested that they should become more involved in black organizations and continue with these workshops at alternating residential areas. I was a participant and wholeheartedly agree that the workshop was a positive thing where everyone was able to reach out and touch one another.

NAACP checks Amherst area

AMHERST — The NAACP came quietly to Amherst last spring.

It came not as an organization solely devoted to racial problems, as its title — National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — suggests. But it came as a watchdog of the civil rights of all people in the community, President Arthur Hilson said in a recent interview.

Hilson speaks cautiously now when describing his group's function in the community. Although the NAACP is known for its nonviolent activism on behalf of black Americans, Hilson is taking care that the group's existence is not interpreted as a threat to the community.

Wants no 'fear'

"People may think 'There's no racial problem in Amherst. Why do we need a civil rights movement?' " The president said. "some may envision the group as a threat. So we must work closely with the community to make sure that our goals are understood and that there is no fear of the unknown."

In a town filled with well-educated academics, "it is easy to lose sight of what is happening in the real world," Hilson said. One of the Amherst chapter's functions will be to keep abreast of and support the activities of the national organization, Hilson said.

But it will also address what he describes as the "subtle" problems that exist in Amherst; "There is no blatant racism here." But the poor, black and white, find their civil rights threatened here in "covert" ways, he said, in areas such as education, housing, employment and the judicial process. "Amherst is the kind of town where people tend to put their heads in the sand and not see what is happening," Hilson said.

Concern over what was believed to be violations of the judicial process in the arrest and conviction of two black University of Massachusetts students charged with armed robbery spurred a group of community residents to begin discussing the formation of a human rights group in 1975, Hilson said. It was decided that it would best to affiliate with the NAACP. The group here became chartered by the national organization in April.

Stresses need

The president stresses the need for the group, which now claims 125 members, to work with a broad cross-section of the community in dealing with problems with which poor people here are confronted.

"We can't address all the ills of society, but we can zero in on those closest to us and work across the color line to find solutions," Hilson said. He went on to say that the officers recently installed for the Amherst chapter of the NAACP are white, black, young, old, male and female.

Hilson also hopes the organization will serve to bridge the gap between the "university blacks" and the "Community blacks" in Amherst.

One of the new chapter's first public activities was a well-attended testimonial held recently for Amherst's oldest black couple, "Ma" and "Pa" Jenkins. The dinner not only brought together university and community blacks, but white, young and old people as well.

One problem that Hilson sees in Amherst is the lack of black teachers in the Amherst school system. He says there is one black teacher in the junior and senior high schools. "Third World students need models," Hilson said.

89 black students

Asst. Supt. of schools Ronald Bell said there are three black teachers in the junior high and one black guidance counselor, but no black teachers in the high school.

Reprinted by Courtesy of Daily Hampshire Gazette

With everything and nothing

With everything and nothing came up with something Pure and Cool like sweet dew in the morning light and dry in the evening

Effervescent milk nothing sweeter to tongue or stomach for heart or brain
the latter filled with nothing and everything
Nothing exceeds the greatness of feeling everything and saying nothing
Perfection is the next in line
Everything freed from nothing is sweet nothing that has rested with everything for awhile double refreshes
Everything and nothing that mounts to brain "blossoms"
Now that I am full of everything and nothing as I make for my bed I burp and cry out
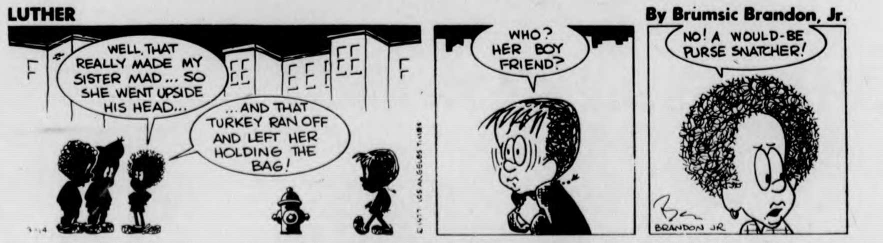
"Great am I" for everything is nothing
Endurance is cool
The only sacrifice sure to be accepted
Is by the owner of everything and nothing
Ain't it something

(Courtesy of Nummo News)

Thoughts

THE STAFF OF BLACK AFFAIRS PAYS TRIBUTE TO ALL WOMEN DURING THIS INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S WEEK.

LUTHER



WELL, THAT REALLY MADE MY SISTER MAD ... SO SHE WENT UPSIDE HIS HEAD...
... AND THAT TURKEY RAN OFF AND LEFT HER HOLDING THE BAG!
WHO? HER BOY FRIEND?
NO! A WOULD-BE PURSE SNATCHER!
BRANDON JR.

By Brumsic Brandon, Jr.

Look for Idi Amin's letter to President Carter and response to the American media in today's edition of Nummo News.

Attention

ALL GRADUATING SENIORS, PLEASE CONTACT NASSER EGA AT THE COLLEGIAN (5-3500) OR (6-9178)

---

dvp presents, in celebration of International Women's Week:

MON., MARCH 7: 8 p.m. S.U.B.
THE HONORABLE BELLA ABZUG
"Women in Politics"

TUES., MARCH 8: 8 p.m. S.U.B.
BARBARA SIZEMORE
"Education of Black Children"
HELEN RODRIGUEZ
"Sterilization Abuse"
MADONNA GILBERT
"Native American Women"

THURS., MARCH 10: 1 p.m. CC 917
ARLENE EISEN
"Women in Vietnam"
4 p.m. S.U.B.
GRACE LEE BOGGS
"Men's Underdevelopment AND Women's Underdevelopment: 2 sides of one question"

FRI., MARCH 11: 11 a.m. C.C. 174-176
Helen van denoot Rosen
"Health Care in China & Cuba"

Black Affairs Announcements

Men's workshop

The relationship between Third World women and Third World men is a key link in promoting unity and collectivity in struggle. Third World men will hold a workshop to discuss their attitudes, images, and feelings toward Third World women and to explore alternative ways of "Relating" which would further unity. There will be short presentations made on the historical relationship between men and women among the Black, Latin, and Asian cultures. All Third World men are encouraged to attend.

The workshop will be held on Saturday, March 12, 11:30-2:30 p.m. in the Second Floor Lounge of New Africa House.

Women's Week events

Monday, March 7th:
8:00 p.m.: China night: Cultural Events
9:00 p.m.: Disco: Bring your sisters and party! Room 1009 Campus Center, Tuesday, March 8th:
11:00 a.m.-7 p.m.: Workshops (Campus Center)
Panel Discussion: "Personal and political perspectives of Third World Women concerning Feminism" (Room 101 Campus Center)
8:00 p.m.: Featured Speakers, S.U.B. — Barbara Sizemore (a Black Woman in Education.)
Helen Rodriguez (a Puerto Rican Woman in Health Care)
Madonna Gilbert (a Native American Political Activist)

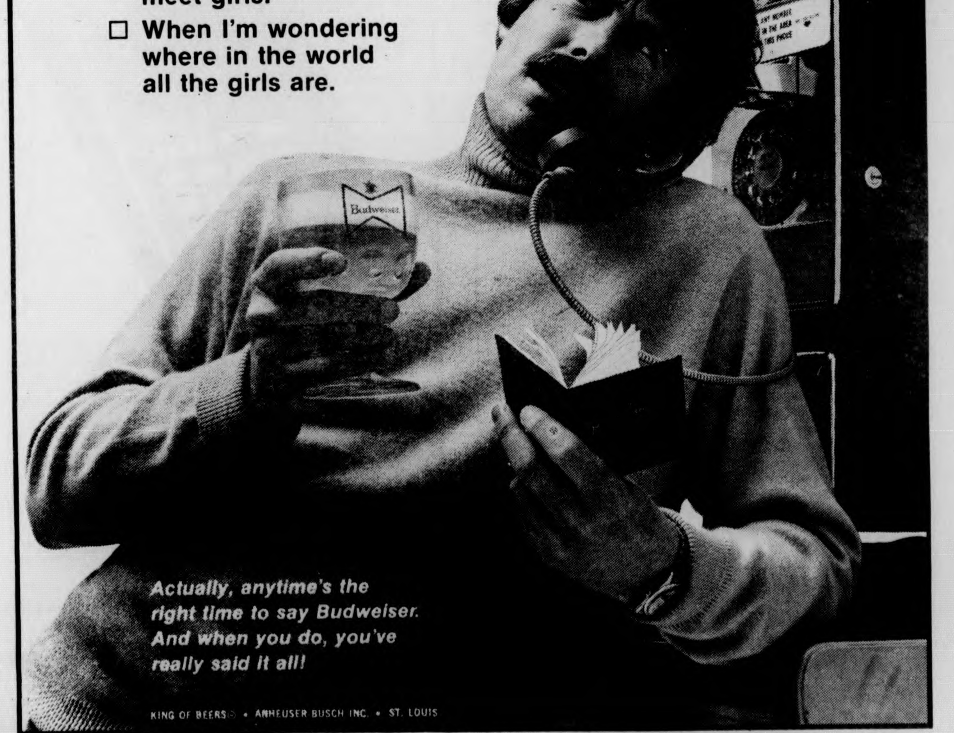
Cole at Sylvan

In celebration of International Women's Week, the Sylvan Cultural Society will be presenting guest speaker, Professor Johnetta Cole. She will be speaking on what it means to "be a black woman in America. The talk will be centered around the life of Billie Holiday. It will take the form of discussion, talk, slides and recordings. This will take place on Monday, March 7th at 8:00 p.m. in the Main Lounge - McNamara.

FREE SKI WEEK
at Sugarloaf. Me. Lifts. Lodging. Meals
$120 -Value Door Prize at Tuesday Night's Ski Club Meeting. You must be a Ski Club Member to be eligible.
Also we are taking deposits for Spring Break trips to Sugarloaf. Me. or Sugarbush. Vt. Mar. 8 .8pm .Thom. 104

When do you say Budweiser.®?

☐ When I'm thinking about girls.
☐ When I'm trying to meet girls.
☐ When I'm wondering where in the world all the girls are.



Actually, anytime's the right time to say Budweiser. And when you do, you've really said it all!
KING OF BEERS® • ANHEUSER BUSCH INC. • ST. LOUIS university of massachusetts arts council presents

NIKOLAIS
Dance Theatre
FRI. & SAT.
MARCH 11, 12
8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $6, 5, 4. UM—A students — half price, senior citizens and other studnets $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE
545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

WORK—STUDY OPENINGS AT TOWARD TOMORROW FAIR

We're looking for people with energy, an interest in the future, and a good sense of organization to work on various aspects of the Toward Tomorrow Fair to be held in June. We especially need 1) an accountant, and 2) an office manager to handle routine correspondence, inquiries, and some typing. HURRY — we need you now! Call 5-0474 or come by 105 Hills North.

POTTSVILLE, Pa.: An exhausted Ronald Adley is carried into the local hospital after being freed from a cave-in which trapped him for five days. Two more bodies were recovered by rescuers. (UPI)

Coal miner rescued

TOWER CITY, Pa. [AP] — Ronald Adley, a feisty coal miner trapped deep inside a mountain for the longest five days of his life, squirmed to freedom yesterday and was taken to a hopsital in good health.

Several hours later the bodies of two more coal miners were located, bringing to four the number killed by the underground flood that trapped Adley last Tuesday.

Five more miners remained missing. Efforts to locate them continued but no new signs of life were reported.

"Pass the jackhammer over to me," Adley commanded as his rescuers burst through the last inches of a 50-foot wall of coal and quartz that had served as his prison door.

Then the 37-year-old miner put the finishing touches on a shoulder-wide escape tunnel and wiggled his five-foot-seven frame through. He thanked his rescuers with slaps on the back and a few jokes.

It had taken them 108 hours to reach him. He cut some of the boredom by chewing tobacco passed to him by rescuers. But when he had asked for whiskey, they gave him only orange juice.

Turning down an offer to ride on a stretcher the mile to the mine's mouth, Adley barked:

"Hell no. I want to walk."

When he reached the sunlight he turned down an offer of sunglasses to cut the sudden glare.

"Adley is mentally alert and physically in good shape. He has several small abrasions of his forehead, legs and arms," said James Kirk, administrator of Pottsville Hospital where the miner was examined and admitted for observation.

"They found my daddy, he's alive," said Justina, his 11-year-old daughter. His wife, Anna Mae, hugged him all the way to the hospital.

"I couldn't stop them," said ambulance attendant Robert Zerbe. "She just came in. They were a little emotional for a while. He sat up and they were hugging one another and kissing. He was pretty well black.

"I couldn't take his blood pressure because he was too emotional. It wouldn't have been any good."

Adley and other miners were trapped midday Tuesday beneath 400-foot-high Big Lick Mountain when a wall of ice-cold water crashed through a shaft ceiling, battering support timbers and triggering rock slides. Two bodies were found by late Wednesday. Three miners who escaped were injured.

"It's a miracle, a miracle from God above," said Adley's sister-in-law, tears streaming down her face, when Adley came up. "And I pray the rest of the men down there will be following right behind him."

But Walter J. Vicinelly, state commissioner of deep mine safety, said there were no signs of other life in the 10-foot-wide, 10-foot high chamber where Adley and the two bodies found yesterday had been.

Two teams of four men each continued to search the area, which penetrates an unknown distance into a black hole. But it was only one of several sealed-off chutes in which other miners might be.

ITT faces suit

HARTFORD [AP] — The settlement of six stockholder suits involving the merger of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and Hartford Fire Insurance Co. has cleared the way for a decision on a larger class-action suit in federal court.

The settlement Friday in state Supreme Court in New York ended suits against 22 present and former directors of ITT and five other defendants, including ITT Chairman Harold S. Geneen. The defendants were ordered to pay $3.2 million to ITT.

Now ITT itself faces a federal suit in Hartford brought on behalf of all 16,000 former stockholders of Hartford Fire. The suit claims ITT misled the Internal Revenue Service and that Hartford Fire stockholders lost money by taking ITT stock for their own in the 1970 merger, described then as the largest in U.S. history.

ITT last year offered to settle the suit before U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld by paying $1.25 in ITT common stock for each Hartford Fire share exchanged in the merger. Another alternative offered was reimbursement with interest for any additional tax paid as a result of the merger.

WMUA

Station Meeting

tonite 8:30 p.m. CC 804

All members must attend to ratify constitution

Work-Study Job

The SGA Office of Communications needs two people to help publicize the up-coming SGA presidential election and the Student Activities Tax Fund (SATF) referendum. Writing and Graphic skills desirable.

Call 5-0341 or stop by room 420 of the Student Union Building.

The SGA is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer.

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: "a tract of land left dry by receding water" or "a person no longer able to support himself."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

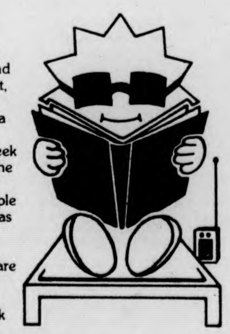
Yesterday's word:

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

SUMMER

Do what interests you most: folk dance, work at an archaeological dig, study at a university, live on kibbutz. And at the same time, have a short, in-depth Israel experience. Summer programs offer you a number of extra curricular activities: you can spend a week in Sinai, visit a settlement in the Golan Heights, tour big cities and historical sites. Meet people and gain awareness of Israel as a social, economic, cultural, religious and political reality. Have a good time while you are doing it. Contact the Israel Program Center and inquire about five-through-nine-week summer programs.

American Zionist Youth Foundation,
Israel Program Center
515 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10022,
(212) 751-6070



36

For information, please send to the above address.

Name ____ Age ____
Address ____
City ____ State ____ Zip ____
University ____
(USD)

Texas Instruments
programmable slide-rule calculator
SR-52

Only
$199.95

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
SR-52
COMPOUND INTEREST

SR-52 Free Software Library Offer
P.O. Box 1210
Richardson, Texas 75080

B

Name ____
Address ____
City ____ State ____ Zip ____
SR-52 Serial No. ____ (from back of calculator)

☐ Math ☐ Statistics ☐ Finance ☐ EE

Texas Instruments reserves the right to substitute software libraries of equal value, based upon availability. Please allow 30 days for delivery.

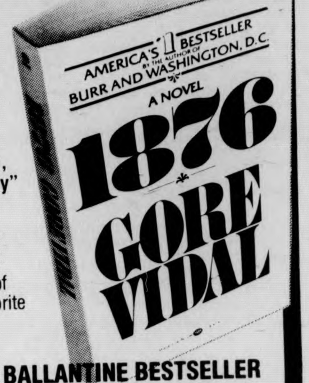
Offer void where prohibited by law. Good in Continental U.S. only.

All the T.I. calculators at THE calculator store

the University Store
Campus Center
UMass.

GORE VIDAL'S
#1 fiction bestseller
—now in paperback!

Read all about the tumultuous centennial year that was in this "wickedly wise, savagely funny" (The Atlantic), "scandalous, entertaining" (Chicago Tribune) novel by one of America's favorite authors.



BB A NEW BALLANTINE BESTSELLER
$2.25 wherever paperbacks are sold

Carter's talk show praised

WASHINGTON [AP] — President Carter basked in mostly rave reviews yesterday about his first radio talk show and figured on having another talkathon with the American people — but perhaps using a different format for variety.

There was scattered grumbling but the praise was instant and lavish. It came from aides, the Senate majority leader, people who talked with Carter on the phone, and people who didn't.

The President interrupted his thoughts about more talk shows Sunday with two hours of church. Carter, his wife Rosalyn, and daughter Amy attended Sunday school and a communion at the First Baptist Church.

They and other members of the congregation pledged to "seek by divine aid to live circumspectly in the world, practicing and advocating temperance, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts."

Later in the day, the President and Mrs. Carter set aside time to help dedicate Children's Hospital National Medical Center.

Carter heard comments and answered questions Saturday from 42 persons in 26 states on a two-hour radio talk show carried by CBS. Their calls to the Oval Office were selected for geographical balance from an estimated 9.5 million attempts to reach him.

"I liked it," Carter said at the end of the two-hour session. "The questions... are the kind you never get in a press conference. It is very good for me to understand from the American people what they're interested in.

"My inclination is to do this again in the future... The two hours passed very quickly and I learned a lot from it."

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell told reporters the President received a call after the show from Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia who told him it was a success.

"Certainly the experience here from our point of view was successful," Powell said. "If subsequent offers are made of a similar nature or if someone has a different idea for it we would certainly consider it."

Mrs. John Ritchey of Georgetown, Ky., one of the President's callers, said after the show went off the air: "It was a thrill. It was something I didn't think would ever happen. He's given the presidency to me a whole new look."

Another caller, Esther Thomas, 58, of Villanova, Pa., said her talk with the President was the realization of a dream.

"We're middle-class people with no political clout," she said. "I'm just so down-deep glad that we have a President that we can talk to."

But Doris Lawton, 53, a Braintree, Mass., housewife, said she didn't try to reach Carter because it didn't seem worth the effort. "He'll do just as he pleases no matter what we say," she said.

Carter had no idea in advance what any of his callers would say or ask. A seven-second delay was inserted between the time words were spoken and the time they were broadcast so any abusive or obscene callers could be interrupted.

Powell said it was never necessary to push the interrupt button.

Amin asks US to reopen embassy in Kampala

KAMPALA, Uganda [AP] — Uganda's President Idi Amin said yesterday he would like the United States to reopen its embassy in Kampala and he predicted that one day President Carter will be "one of my best friends."

In his first interview with U.S. correspondents since the war of nerves over the 240-person American community in this East African nation, Amin asserted it never had been his intention to hold the Americans hostage.

The Ugandan leader met with correspondents from The Associated Press, CBS and NBC at the presidential lodge.

He wore a blue track suit top and white shorts after an afternoon of basketball in which his hand-picked team trounced another from the armed forces and civil service. Amin, 6-feet-4, dwarfed the other and scored most of his team's baskets.

Amin said fears raised for the safety of the Americans after he issued orders to them Feb. 25 not to leave the country until he met with them was a misunderstanding. He said it stemmed partly from what he called Carter's lack of knowledge about Africa.

The crisis was defused after Amin cancelled a meeting with the American community and lifted his travel ban.

The president stressed that he wants good relations with the United States and said he would like to see the U.S. Embassy in Kampala reopened as well as more Americans working in Uganda. The embassy was closed in 1973 in a dispute over its Marine guards, but the United States has not broken diplomatic relations with Kampala.

Despite his conciliatory attitude toward the United States, Amin repeated his charge that some 2,600 mercenaries, working in cooperation with the U.S. Navy's Indian Ocean fleet and the Kenyan regular army, are "coming towards Uganda's borders."

He said that although Uganda wants good relations with all its neighbors, "it is still capable of defending itself."

Among other points made by Amin were:

—That reports of 3,000 Palestinians and "several thousand Cuban troops" being in the country were untrue. Such reports, he said, have "degraded the Western press."

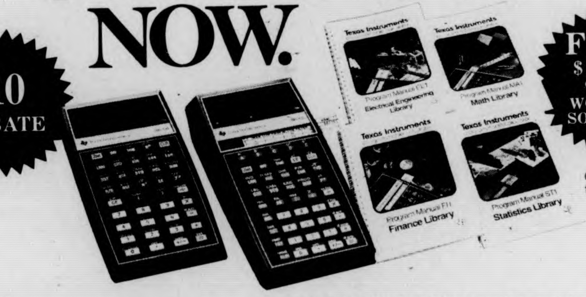
—That reports of mass killings of Ugandan army were also incorrect. But, referring to a plot he recently said he uncovered to overthrow him, Amin also said that anyone, whether Christian, Moslem or pagan, must pay the price of plotting against Uganda.

Save $10.00 to $59.90 if you act now.

If you've been thinking about getting a programmable, Texas Instruments has a special offer for you NOW.

$10 REBATE

FREE $59.90* WORTH OF SOFTWARE



Choose two

SR-56 $109.95*

If you want an incredible slide rule calculator that's also programmable, then this is the one for you.

There're 74 preprogrammed functions and operations. And it has AOS, TI's unique algebraic operating system, the underlying reason an SR-56 is so powerful. It'll let you handle problems with as many as 9 sets of parentheses. Talk about memory. An SR-56 has 10 (11 if you count the T-register.). And you can do arithmetic with all of them.

Chances are you'll soon discover how really easy it is to program. An SR-56 has 100 steps. Six logical decision functions. Four levels of subroutines. Decrement and skip on zero. Compare a test register with the display to make a conditional branch. And this is just the beginning.

Think about it. Can you really afford to put off getting your SR-56, now?

SR-52 $249.95* (New low price)

If you want the computer-like power of a card programmable then choose this one.

Techniques like optimization, iteration, data reduction, what-if matrices, mathematical modeling, need not tie up your mind—or your time.

But learning to use it is a hassle, you say. Not true. Prerecorded programs are gathered into software libraries: Electrical Engineering. Math. Statistics. Finance. All you need do is load a mag card, press a few keys and you'll get answers that previously required a computer.

You can make your own programs just as easily. In just a couple of hours you'll begin to prove what a powerful asset you have—right at your fingertips.

And there's not a better time to get an SR-52 than right now.

C2

Texas Instruments will rebate $10.00 of your original SR-56 purchase price when you: (1) return this completed coupon including serial number (2) along with your completed SR-56 customer information card (packed in box) and (3) a dated copy of proof of your purchase, verifying purchase between Jan. 1 and March 31, 1977.

SR-56 Rebate Offer
P. O. Box 1210
Richardson, Texas 75080

Name ____
Address ____
City ____ State ____ Zip ____
SR-56 Serial No. ____ (from back of calculator)
Please allow 30 days for rebate.

C2

Electrical Engineering. Statistics. Math. Finance. Choose any two and (1) return this completed coupon including serial number along with (2) your completed SR-52 serialized customer information card (packed in box) and (3) a dated copy of proof of your purchase, verifying purchase between Jan. 20 and March 31, 1977.

SR-52 Free Software Library Offer
P. O. Box 1210
Richardson, Texas 75080

Name ____
Address ____
City ____ State ____ Zip ____
SR-52 Serial No. ____ (from back of calculator)
____ Math ____ Statistics ____ Finance ____ EE
Texas Instruments reserves the right to substitute software libraries of equal value, based upon availability. Please allow 30 days for delivery.

Offer void where prohibited by law. Good in Continental U.S. only.
*Suggested retail price

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
INCORPORATED

© 1977 Texas Instruments Incorporated

65582

News in Brief

White skeptical about next term

BOSTON (AP) — Mayor Kevin H. White has told the Boston Herald American he plans to reappoint Police Commissioner Joseph Jordan to a new term but is undecided whether to seek another term for himself.

In its copyrighted article yesterday, the Herald American reported White, whose mayoral term expires in 1979, expressed mixed feelings about his future.

"As for being mayor," White said, "I would like to get out with dignity. I'm 47, which is young. But do you want to stay in a job until you are licked? I'm not being coy, but I don't know.

Rabin visits Washington

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin flew to Washington yesterday to discuss Middle East peace moves and to seek a reversal of President Carter's veto on a $150 million sale of Israeli jets to Ecuador.

"The central aim of Israel was and remains the achievement of peace, a real peace, one that will give security to Israel and the whole area," Rabin said before leaving.

The prime minister also will press for a reversal of Carter's veto on the U.S. sale of deadly concussion bombs to Israel and the sale by Israel of 24 Kfir C2 jets to Ecuador.

"I shall deal with the subject, but I do not want to create a high level of expectations," he said. The U.S. veto is based on the Kfirs' use of an American-made General Electric engine.

Legislators gain faculty jobs

BOSTON (AP) — The continuing expansion of public higher education in Massachusetts has created new faculty opportunities, often parttime, for many past and present legislators.

The link between the legislature and academia has raised questions among groups trying to get the legislators to curb spending at the several colleges and universities.

A new Democratic whip in the Senate, Sen. Allan R. McKinnon of Weymouth, is teaching a night course this semester at the University of Massachusetts, Boston. McKinnon, who taught for years at the high school level before entering politics, is lecturing on urban affairs and government, according to a brochure from the school's Community Services Department.

Communists to win in France

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The Communist party will move into the city council of one of France's best managed and most attractive communities in nationwide municipal elections next Sunday without having to gather a single new vote.

Communists have never before been elected to public office in Grenoble, a city of about 200,000 on the edge of the Alps, and their special success here will be symbolic of a situation in an estimated 2,000 municipalities in France where party members are expected to enter local government for the first time.

Pakistanis elect Prime Minister

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — The voters of Pakistan decide today whether to re-elect Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's regime or a nine-party coalition that blames Bhutto for a 25 per cent-a-year inflation rate.

The frequently bloody campaign for the 200 seats in the National Assembly ended by law at midnight last night. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. today with first results expected late in the evening.

Bhutto, seeking a second five-year term as head of this nation of 75 million persons, capped his campaign Saturday with a large, noisy parade in Lahore, 175 miles southeast of the capital. As happened frequently in the campaign, an opposition rally in Lahore drew at least as big a crowd.

Quakes hit Europe

BUCHAREST, Romania [AP] — At least 600 deaths were reported yesterday in shattered Bucharest and areas of Romania and Bulgaria hit by the latest of a series of deadly earthquakes in southern Europe.

The government said Friday night's massive quake was known to have killed 580 people in Romania, including 508 in Bucharest alone, and injured 3,214.

The Communist party newspaper Scinteia said the toll was likely to be higher. Western diplomats said American medical students helping in hospitals estimated as many as 3,000 might have been killed in the disaster, which rocked Europe from Rome to Moscow Friday night.

To the south in neighboring Bulgaria, 20 were reported dead and 165 injured, most in Danube Valley towns along the Romanian border. Yugoslavia, Romania's southwestern neighbor, reported one man killed and 100 injured. about 120 miles south of the Friday quake's epicenter in the Transylvanian Alps and was apparently the scene of the heaviest damage.

The earthquake struck about 9:30 p.m. Friday night and its force was measured at 7.2 on the Richter scale, making it one of the strongest ever recorded in Europe.

Agerpress, the state news agency, said 2,900 apartments had been evacuated as workers continued to search debris for victims.

President Nicolae Ceausescu inspected ruins in Bucharest and, after he found that a new computer center and 16 wrecked apartment houses had been poorly built, demanded an investigation "for the guilty to be most severely held responsible," Agerpress said.

It came less than four months after a quake killed some 3,000 people and destroyed 109 villages in eastern Turkey. The Turkish quake struck Nov. 25 in an area around the Anatolian Fault, a seismologically sensitive area where tremors had killed 8,000 in the 10 previous years.

About 1,000 people were killed and 70,000 left homeless in a series of earthquakes that struck northeastern Italy beginning May 6. By the time the quakes subsided, there had been more than 240 of them.

The Turkish and Italian earthquakes and earlier Guatemalan quakes that killed 23,000 made 1976 the most deadly quake year since 1970, when 67,000 people died. Tens of thousands more were believed to have died last year in Chinese earthquakes, but no official death toll was ever released.

Damage in Bucharest was concentrated in the center of the city. The city's grand avenue, Magheru Boulevard, was closed and most of its buildings were felt too unsafe to be occupied.

"Tomorrow,
and tomorrow,
and tomorrow."
— Macbeth

Prepare for it. The earlier you begin a life insurance program, the less you pay. Find out about the College Master plan.

Call the Fidelity Union College Master
Field Associate in your area:

Ronald J. Nathan Agency
747 Main St., Amherst
256-8351

CollegeMaster.

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

MARINE OFFICER SELECTION TEAM

CAMPUS VISIT

HAMPSHIRE HOUSE
MARCH 8th and 9th, 1977
10am until 2pm

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

THE DEAN OF BEER'S
FINAL EXAM.
(Or, was yeast really responsible for the fall of the Roman Empire?)

As your Dean of Beer, it is my scholarly opinion that just knowing the one word for beer is not enough. You must also know the reasons why. Because only then will I, Siglinda Steinfüller, be satisfied that you have graduated from Remedial Beer Drinking.

QUESTIONS:
Q: 1. The best water for beer comes from:
a) Big Duck Mountain.
b) Underground from Tijuana.
c) A small store in Macon, Ga.
d) None of the above
A: (d) No matter what you hear about "naturally pure" waters, virtually all brewers filter and further purify their water. But Schlitz doesn't stop there. They filter their water and then filter it again. So when they're through, it's purer than the purest springwater.

Q: 2. Klages and Firlbeck III are:
a) Composers of famous beer drinking songs like "I Left My Shoes in Heidelberg."
b) Owners of the world's largest unknown brewery.
c) Serving time in Sonoma, Calif., for impersonating Arnold the Wonder Seal.
d) More expensive barleys.
A: (d) Schlitz blends Klages and Firlbeck III barleys with the standard variety most brewers use because they believe it gives their beer superior flavor.

THE DEAN OF BEER
SCHLITZ

Siglinda Steinfüller
Dean of Beer

Q: 3. Hops are notorious for:
a) Their lack of intelligence.
b) Always getting to work late.
c) Losing their keys.
d) Being difficult to keep fresh.
A: (d) The freshest hops make the best beer. That's why Schlitz vacuum-packs and refrigerates their hops. So they're as fresh at brewing time as they are at harvest time.

Q: 4. The best adjunct to beer is:
a) Rice.
b) Corn.
c) Either rice or corn.
d) What's an adjunct?
A: (c) Every American brewer uses rice or corn to lighten the flavor of their beer. This is called an adjunct. But Schlitz knows how to use either grain interchangeably. So they're never at the mercy of an unfavorable crop. And neither is the taste of their beer.

Q: 5. The biggest misconception about yeast is:
a) Carrying some in your pocket is good luck.
b) It is good for hernias.
c) It was responsible for the fall of the Roman Empire.
d) To ferment beer, all you have to do is drop it in the vat.
A: (d) To make beer taste right consistently, Schlitz believes the yeast has to be evenly distributed during fermentation. That's why Schlitz gently stirs in their yeast. It's part of their Balanced Fermentation process. And they're the only American brewer who does it.

Q: 6. Chill-Lagering is:
a) A popular German country and western singer.
b) A Scandinavian winter sport played without clothes.
c) A new ethnic TV comedy about the owner of an ice cube factory.
d) The right way to age beer.
A: (d) When Schlitz ages beer, they age it cold—very cold—down to 29.5 degrees. It's called Chill-Lagering. And it's what makes Schlitz crisp, clean and bright.

Q: 7. A mini-brewery is:
a) Hidden in a basement somewhere in Greektown.
b) The result of trying to make Broken Toe, Idaho, the beer capital of the world.
c) The right way to pretest beer ingredients.
d) Both (a) and (c)
A: (c) Schlitz has a mini-brewery where they test-brew the quality of the ingredients that go into Schlitz—before they go into Schlitz.

SPECIAL BONUS QUESTION:
Q: True or false, the one word for beer is Duffelbrau.
A: False. There is no beer called Duffelbrau. Just as there is no beer like Schlitz. If you answered this question true, perhaps you should look into turkey ranching.

THERE'S JUST ONE WORD FOR BEER.
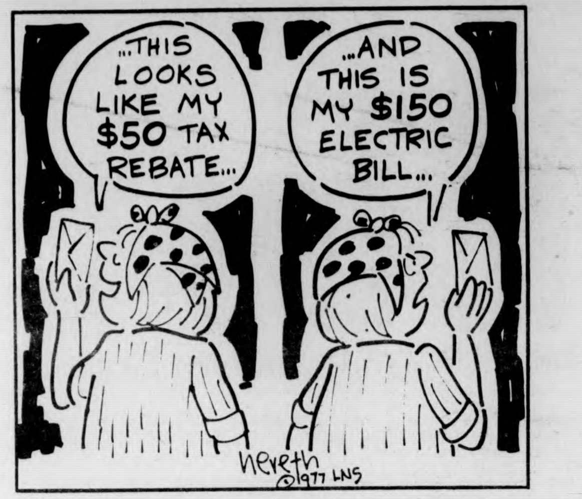
SCHLITZ
AND YOU KNOW IT.

©1977 JOS. SCHLITZ BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS.



...THIS LOOKS LIKE MY $50 TAX REBATE...
...AND THIS IS MY $150 ELECTRIC BILL... nereth ©1977 LNS

bill sundstrom

Women and survival

The intellectual history of the world is filled with doomsday prophets who predicted that the final catastrophe was upon them, and who were also largely ignored. But it is a good time for those prophets. Nuclear weapons are growing and spreading, the world economic situation is becoming ever more chaotic, poverty and population are increasing exponentially, the ozone layer is giving way to the smog layer, nuclear wastes threaten our water and air, technology is proliferating seemingly without limit. Many of us want to say, "Stop."

But the people with power in this country insist that technology and growth can solve all the problems they may create. From where they derive their faith is beyond my comprehension. Perhaps faith comes with money.

At any rate, the conclusion we must draw is that a radical change is in order. Never before has there existed the potential to destroy all of humanity so quickly, or to so vastly alter the environment — negatively. We must retool our thinking and substitute for our faith in technology a faith in ourselves — plain old people.

Men created this mess. They control the profits, they design the machines, they run the governments, they declare the wars. It is the man's heritage to be ruthless, unemotional, powerful, rational, forever pressing forward. I'm not ashamed to be male, just as I am not ashamed to be white. But white men, it is time for us to relinquish our grip on the situation and learn a little from those who have watched us push humanity to the verge of extinction.

In the women's and Third World movements are the key to human survival. Their causes go far beyond gaining equality to reorganizing society around new non-Western, non-male values. Without their participation, or even leadership, no real liberation can be achieved.

This is why it is so important that women and minorities not be co-opted in their struggle, thus becoming convinced that the battle has been won just because they are equal to white men in a white man's world. I do not mean to condemn successful businesswomen — but their achievement merely serves to perpetuate a system that is headed for self-destruction.

The strength of the women's movement lies in the fact that women have traditionally been kept outside of the system. Their exposure to monopoly capitalist values has been restricted by their lack of power. Their sheer numbers and relatively common position in society makes them a viable force for change.

Men created this mess.
They control the profits, they design the machines, they run the governments, they declare the wars.

We can all hope that if a revolution or major crisis is in America's future, it will result in a social system based on human compassion rather than mechanical irrationality. It makes sense that the half of the population best known for its sensitivity to human needs should have a major role in shaping the "new world."

International Women's Week is an opportunity for all of us to recognize and celebrate the marvelous diversity — and at the same time solidarity — of women here and throughout the world. It is also a time to reflect upon sexist oppression, past and present, and upon how we can change that tradition. Maybe that's a lot to think about...but then again, there's a lot at stake.

Bill Sundstrom is Executive Editor of the Collegian.

commentary

Third World organizing

By CAIN ABRAHAM

In recent weeks, UMass has seen a lot of activity around the issues of student empowerment and student unionization. Specifically, we are all faced with the proposed budget cuts, the deteriorating quality of education, larger classes, and increases in rents and fees. The tasks of the Student Organizing Project are first towards the formation of department councils and subsequently, the formation of a student union, composed of these student run councils. Such a student union is the most effective vehicle for impacting change throughout the entire University. It is a vehicle to insure self-determination regarding our education, our future careers and our lives at UMass.

The Third World community has been consistently active in working towards improving the form and content of our education. It is crucial to all Third World students that curriculum be stimulating, but most importantly, relevant to our lives once we leave the college environment. Practical skills must be obtained, along with sufficient theory that enables us to precisely analyze the oppressive conditions that affect all Third World people. The name itself, "Third World", describes an economically exploited and politically oppressed group of people; it is the reality which Latino, Black, Asian, Native American and Chicano students must be educated to change.

From this perspective, it becomes clear that organizing goals and strategies among Third World students are markedly different from those of the general student body.

In addition to a distinct overall organizing approach, the situation of Third World students as an isolated population in Western Massachusetts presents constant pressure in terms of racial conflict. Presently, the most critical example of racist oppression is the case of Earl Brown and Craemen Gethers, two Black students who have been unjustly imprisoned for a crime they did not commit. On the campus itself, we have a unionized faculty of 1300 members, only 25 of whom are Third World people. The cumbersome 'core' requirements weigh heavily on every student, yet, with the recent budget cutbacks, Black, Latin, Asian, Native American and Chicano students can expect an immediate reduction of educational and programming services offered the Third World community.

The struggles of Black students in the late '60's were a turning point for the direction of higher education in the United States. At UMass, numerous agencies and programs were instituted in the wake of that massive struggle: the W.E.B. BuBois department of Afro-American studies, the New Africa House Cultural Center, the CCEBS program, Drum magazine, Nummo News, Ahora, Black Mass Communications Project, the Third World Women's organization, the African-American Students Association, Che Lumumba School for Truth, the Malcolm X Center, the New World Center and a Third World Caucus within the Student Senate. All of these academic, cultural and political organizations must be maintained. Every student at UMass should recognize that without these resources, not only the Third World community suffers but the entire campus becomes an institution that consciously reproduces racism.

A vital aspect of Third World organizing is the use of culture as a political tool. Historically, the culture of non-white peoples has been systematically suppressed and or exploited. In re-evaluating our cultural heritage, we realize the revolutionary significance of our music, dance, literature, and graphic arts, which provide inspiration for our continuing struggle. With this in mind, Third World organizing includes generating support for progressive cultural events as a way to broaden the perspectives of the community as a whole.

Cain Abraham is a Collegian Commentator and a member of the Student Organizing Project.

letters

Idi Amin's dictatorship

To the Editor:

Idi Amin Dada is a bloodthirsty, power crazed dictator with a second-grade education that has 'disgusted the civilized world' in the words of Jimmy Carter, by his moralless actions as self-proclaimed ruler of Uganda.

he is not an example of what Black Africans will do when governing themselves. He is an example of what potent weapons fear and terrorism can be when matched together.

There is no one with an ounce of moral consciousness that would condone Amin's actions. I feel it absurd that issues other than humanistic ones be considered when considering Amin and his dictatorship.

Kathe Sandler in her 'viewpoint' article of Friday March 4 noted that AP, UPI, The New York Times and other 'co-conspirators' [such as the Collegian, I assume] have suceeded in projecting Idi Amin Dada as a 'lunatic, powerthirsty, Black African ruler'. Who, I ask, could see Amin as otherwise given the eyewitness reports, the photo documentation and the pleas of the families of the over 300,000 who have experienced Amin's wrath and have paid dearly for it?

Amin SHOULD come to to Student Senate meeting so that he could be 'nabbed' as Paul Yanowitch suggested in his commentary of March 1. But chances are he would never make it. Without his loyal troops he probably would be assassinated the minute he stepped into our country, or as soon as he left Uganda, for that matter.

If you lived in one of the countries bordering Uganda, how would you feel about Idi Amin?

Charles O'Connor

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

commentary

More Nuke risks

By PAUL LOGUE, JR.

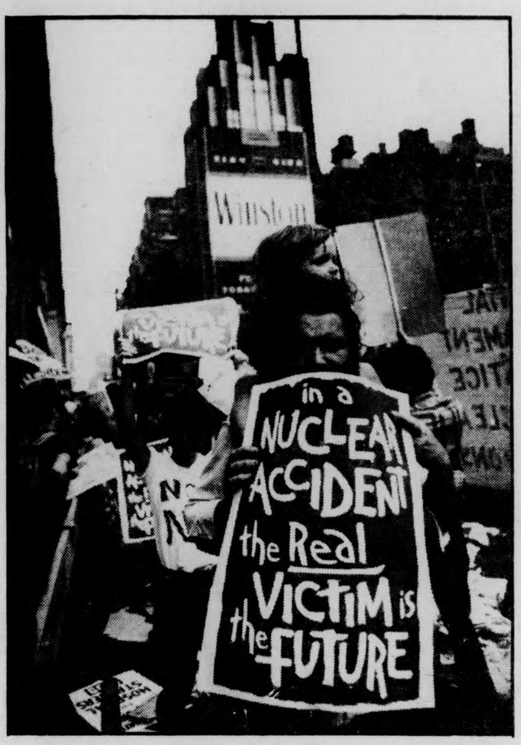
"Nuclear Power and its waste, will condemn the world in foolish haste"

The extreme cold of this past winter may send a chill to environmentalists, while fueling the fire for nuclear advocates. Energy is becoming scarce in our society and the rush is on to accommodate the needs of future years. Will the severity of the winter be enough to turn the tide of opinion towards nuclear power?

The resident of California voted two to one defeating a moratorium on nuclear power on a statewide referendum in June, 1976. Nuclear power advocates saw this as a national mandate, 'Voted for by the People', and gave the green light to further expansion.

According to the Energy and Research and Development Administration (ERDA) expectations, the number of nuclear power plants will reach 600 by the year 2000. At present there are 60 plants operational, 93 under construction and 85 planned. If the plan proceeds unchanged, then nuclear power will become the largest single producer of electricity — and thus, we as a nation will be ultimately dependent on it. Energy alternatives have not been given enough funding to compete with the Nuclear power plants. In the long run, alternatives will be cheaper because the main ingredient is either the sun or the wind. With nuclear power, the plants' life expectancy is about twenty years and uranium prices are rising constantly.

But this is not the only problem. The Waste. It is worse than we know. This substance will not be forgotten when it is dumped. It must be guarded under strict security for the next 20,000 years. It will be our gift to our children's children's children. No history book will be able to cover up that smear. The storage facilities for the radioactive refuse must be placed in very strategic areas, away from any water table (in case of a leak), earthquake fault, inhabitant, easily accessable target area for an enemy attack and hundreds of other variables. There are no real "safe places" because the chance of something happening within the next 20,000 years to the facility is very real and has disasterous implications. If the waste was stolen or bribed away, it could be used to assemble an atomic device which could become a blackmail lever against us.



in a NUCLEAR ACCIDENT the Real VICTIM is the FUTURE

This is one issue which is clearly in the hands of this generation. We have studied history and seen the mistakes of our ancestors. Our ideals as youngsters were to straighten out this world we live in. Has the ideal fallen to comfort? We have the opportunity to change the destiny for the next 20,000 years. But it is a great struggle.

Grassroots, at the ground floor, the peoples' voice. If it is in unison, it grows loud and nothing can stop the vibration it sends to the heart. The nuclear power issue is in its decisive stage. People are using civil disobedience to try and arouse public opinion. There is a plan for a plant in Montague, 12 miles to our North, and another under contruction at Seabrook, N.H., which is a major vacation spot for ocean lovers. A protest rally (remember them?) will be held on April 30, 1977 in Seabrook.

Three nuclear engineers left the General Electric Company in Feb., 76 because they found unacceptable risks involved with the nuclear power program. Some of these include:

—Low level radiation can cause cancer and long term genetic effects;

—the presently operating plants are not performing at expected levels;

—the possibility of a meltdown and the escape of radiation into the surrounding area;

—insufficient disaster warning and evacuation plans for residents within the 50 mile radius of a nuclear accident.

Many of the deeper facts concerning the safety of nuclear power plants are not available under the guise of Nat'l Security. Will the Truth only come out after a major accident or in some other equally undesirable way?

Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, author of the Gulag Archipelago, said, "If the first tiny droplet of Truth has exploded like a psychological bomb, what will happen in our country when waterfalls of Truth come crashing down?"

It may be time to read the current information available and question the authorities of the nuclear power industry through the courts. I think the Beatles summed it up nicely, "And in the end, the love you take, is equal to the Love, you make..."

Shalom,

Paul Logue Jr. is a Collegian Commentator.

— mills commentary new mexico

Spring comes at Taos

EDITOR'S NOTE: William A. Mills, a UMass junior, is interning at the Taos Pueblo Day School in Taos, New Mexico. He is a contributing columnist to the Collegian. His columns are an account of his experience in Taos.

TAOS, New Mexico — The trees are motionless this afternoon. The sagebrush is withered and twisted from the heavy snows of this cold winter.

The flat lands that spread to the bases of the spectacular mountains are dotted with patches of old snow not yet melted by New Mexico's hot afternoon sun.

The Cedar and Juniper trees with split trunks have gathered a season's worth of decayed leaves — leaves that once flourished in autumn beauty to spangle Taos' foliage season.

The soft, rich mud from winter's runoff is traced in many roads and sidewalks and tracked into many winter-tired homes. Mud here has replaced the three-seasonal green valley.

Unraked fallen leaves canvas the grounds everywhere. Twigs that crackle from one's weight are strewn about the land from the few windy nights that Taos experiences annually.

The hot springs, sprouting forth from mountains' pressure, are murky and sedimentary from tumbling layers of silt that roll down the wind-ravaged hills.

The smell of burning pinon which heats many adobe homes here fills the air in bittersweet uniformity.

No signs of spring yet. But it won't be too long now.

Sounds of water trickling down from the mountains through natural crevices and ravines to the nearest waterhole fill one's ears.

Gilded Flickers, Killdeer, Magpies, and great Hawks swoop and glide with the air currents and sing in hopeful anticipation of spring.

Soon the sagebrush will spring back, heal its injured appendages, and radiate its life-giving exhaust in rejuvenation.

The tree groves will soon wave their fruit in spring's calm winds.

The wind will spring clean the land and whisk the dirt and dust sediments away from this paradise.

The old patches of unwanted snow will succumb to the sun's rays and recede into the earth, enriching the land and strengthening the dormant roots of spring plants.

Soon the ugly mud will harden and make for easier treking and cleaner floors.

Fallen leaves and broken twigs will diminish and, like the old snow, sink into the land to make it healthier and richer. As a female bird incubates its young, the dead leaves and twigs will nourish new life, develop new life until it springs forth in birth.

Spring rains and rushing river waters will clean out sedimentary hot springs.

Yes, just as countless housekeepers clean house in spring, nature cleans its wares.

Soon the scent of blooming flowers and greening grass will pervade the clean, spring air. Chopped pinon pine will be stacked aside until next winter.

And soon the sun's brighter and hotter spring rays will color the canyon walls a deep red. And the old Indian ruins and cave dwellings will shine in that light once again. To me, ruins symbolize spring because the symbol of life still stands. That life, Indian culture, is not forgotten today in the Taos Pueblo, just as the hibernating bear, the dormant vegetation is not forgotten every winter.

I look forward to spring.

William A. Mills is a Collegian Columnist.

commentary

Tricky Dick recalled

By GEORGE SOMMERS

Very recently, a group of Southwest students got the inspiration from watching re-runs of Dark Shadows to hold a seance. Their idea was to bring back some figure from the past who could whip their emotions into a frenzy and thus restore some of the color and excitement they missed out on by being college students of the apathetic seventies rather than the radical sixties.Like Johannes Faustus, though, they were unprepared to deal with the supernatural and they found themselves facing a force more potently malevolent than they had ever dared to dream they would bargain for.

At midnight, the ceremony began. The foursome, two guys and two girls, sat down at a small round table and clasped hands. A flickering candle provided the only light in the room. . The self-appointed medium, a long blonde-haired sophomore named Cindy, began to moan a low voice.

"Spirits of the dead, I beseech you to guide us. We seek to become more knowledgeable in the ways of our predecessors. We want to relive as students of the sixties; you know, long hair, protest marches, Beatles, dropping acid, and all that."

An unnatural hush fell throughout Southwest. The four participants in the unholy ceremony shuddered and stared straight ahead in reverent silence. A howling wind, more fierce than any that has ever torn through the halls of the towers of Southwest, kicked up. The candle flickered violently, then died. Lightning and thunder appeared in the moonless night sky.

Cindy mustered up the intestinal fortitude to speak again. "Spirits, if you're with us, give us a sign." A large, black figure in the form of a five o'clock shadow materialized before them. Cindy, temporarily crazed by the eery scene, began to scream, "Talk to us, oh spirit!"

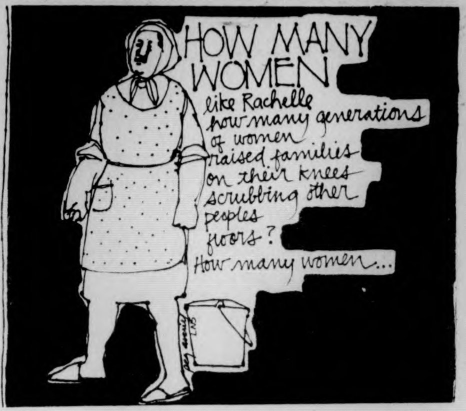
A low, muttering voice was heard. "Let me make myself perfectly clear." Suddenly, he or it appeared before them in sharp detail: a ghost from the past so awesome and so familiar to them that the jaws of all four of the seance participants dropped simultaneously. Standing before them was former president Richard Milhous Nixon.

"Tricky!" shouted the other girl, Martha, in perplexed amazement.

"My fellow Americans," the phantom replied as a bead of sweat formed on his upper lip. "You seem surprised to see me. You oughta know by now you can't keep old Dick Nixon down. I've had my downfalls before, but I've always come back to haunt my public. Sure, there was the Checkers flap. I came back after that, didn't I? And how about when Pat Brown beat me in California? Kennedy beat me in '60, but I didn't let that stop me. I showed 'em. I showed 'em all and I'll do it again. A little thing like Watergate and the attempted subversion of American democracy is easily forgotten. Yeah, I'll start out small, guest appearances on talk shows with David Frost, Merv Griffin, Johnny Carson and all those (expletive deleted) network newsmen. Then, I'll become a prominent spokesman for the Republican party and make no mistake about that. After that, ambassador and maybe even...even the presidency of the United States. Friends, I have plans and I must leave. Take heart my fellow Americans, soon you will have Dick Nixon to kick around again."

The demon faded like mist into the night air and "normalcy" was restored — for the time being, anyway.

George Sommers is a Collegian Commentator.



International Women's Day

This week, March 6-12, is International Women's Week, an opportunity for us to "celebrate our diversity, our unity, our common past and future." Many speakers artists, workshops, and performers have been planned, covering a vast range of subject material: health, sexuality, international issues and cultures, work and politics, and living and learning.

Tuesday, March 8, is International Woman's Day. In 1857, women garment workers marched on the Lower East Side of New York City in protest of their working conditions. Marching through a more affluent area than their own, they demanded a raise in pay, a ten-hour work day, and equality for all women in work. In March, 1860, these women founded their own union.

In March 1908, thousands of women needle trades workers marched again on the lower East Side of New York, commemorating the first march in 1857 and proclaimed March 8 as International Women's Day. The International Socialist Conference of 1910 in Denmark officially designated March 8 as International Women's Day in honor of the New York women.

Since 1910, International Women's Day has been celebrated by a variety of women around the world in different ways. There have been marches in Australia, Italy and Germany, and strikes in Russia. In 1955, 500,000 Indonesian women met to celebrate and demonstrate for women's rights.

This week's events began yesterday with a slide show on Images of Third World Women and the concert by Betty Carter, jazz improvisational singer. Events will be listed daily on the Collegian pages, and many events are free.

Women alcoholics more numerous

By MARY BETH ALLEN
Collegian Staff

Very few alcoholics in the United States are the slobbering, staggering derelicts that one is likely to encounter on big city street corners on a Saturday night. An alcoholic is just as likely to be the housewife next door, the business woman who works across the street, or the UMass woman who lives down the dorm hall.

It is estimated that half of the alcoholics in the United States are women, and UMass has several agencies that are equipped to help female victims.

"It's become easier for women to admit they have an alcohol problem," said Lise Gordon, a trainer-supervisor at Room to Move, the student-run counseling center located in the Student Union.

"For a long time women were closet alcoholics," continued Gordon. "It wasn't acceptable for women to be seen hanging out in a bar, so they drank at home." She said that men also have a tendency to protect and take care of their wives and girlfriends, so that women do not have to confront their drinking problem as soon as they might if they were more independent.

Room to Move has an alcohol group that meets once a week. A woman with a drinking problem would join the group and could also receive private counseling if she felt it was necessary. "We seem to do more of that (alcohol counseling) than any other thing," said Gordon.

There are many reasons why a woman might develop a drinking problem, according to Gordon. "Drinking is one way of dealing with sex roles," she said. The "inability to express anger" is another reason women drink, as well as to escape from problems.

"Different things fall apart for them (women)," said Gordon. "Some succeed in controlling and stopping their drinking," and often the problem that prompted the drinking can be dealt with after the drinking problem is conquered.

Evelyn Dustin, who is on the Alcohol Education Project, maintains that alcohol is "a problem for you if it affects you negatively is any of three ways: physically, socially, or economically. If you act like a jerk when you're drunk and lose a friend, then it's a problem. If you don't study when you have two beers with dinner, then it's a problem. If you fall down and sprain you ankle when you're drunk, then it's a problem."

Dustin continued, "A lot of those problems are small, but they can be turned around." She stressed that "just the amount of alcohol you drink isn't an indication of whether or not you have a problem." One can drink a relatively small amount of alcohol, but if it causes strain or conflict in any area of ones life, then it could be considered a problem.

"Historically women are not supposed to drink," said Dustin. "A woman drunk is much more disgusting than a man drunk," and thus they are less likely to admit their alcohol problem and seek help. "The women problem drinker is more likely to hide," Dustin pointed out.

The Alcohol Education Project has posters all over campus to inform students about the realities of drinking. The Project is sponsoring a workshop on Women and Alcohol today at 1 p.m. in cooperation with International Women's Week. Any person who is interested in learning more about the special problems the female alcoholic encounters is welcome to the workshop.

Women seeking help for alcohol problems should contact either Room to Move, Everywomen's Center, or the Alcohol Education Project for assistance and referrals.

Today's events

Workshops on health: 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Children's workshops: 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m.

Bella Abzug Lecture: DVP; Student Union Ballroom — Free; 8 p.m.

China Night: FAC; 8 p.m. $2.00 and $3.00

Women's Disco: CC 1009; 9 p.m.

Workshop Schedule:

9 a.m. Vaginal Ecology Barbara Estabrook CC 176

Rape: You Have a Right Not to Be Lisa Gordon CC 165

10 a.m. Alternative Forms of Protein Helene Yasso CC 174

Rape: Part II: What to Do if it Happens to You Lisa Gordon CC 165

Dyke tactics: Politics of Direction Action (Lesbian only) CC 176

11 a.m. Our Relationships with Men-Sexual Assumptions (Women only) Marcia Cormack CC 163

Women as Health Consumers Jane Zapka CC 162

12 noon Human Aspects of Contraception Ann Gross CC 803

1 p.m. Abortion Information Hampden Gyn. CC 165

Women and Alcohol Alcohol Ed. Project CC 174-6

2 p.m. Women in the Garment Industry — Organizing the Unorganized Valerie Maxwell CC 804-808

Our Right to Health Health Right CC 803

3 p.m. Self Help (Women Only) Laura Punnett CC 162-175

Women in Politics Bella Abzug CC 163-4

Lesbian Sexuality CC 176

5 p.m. Herbal Healing and Health Nutrition Turning Point CC 165

6 p.m. Natural Birth Control Bernadine LaRinsky Everywomen's Center CC 811-815

Children's Workshops Schedule CC 168

9-11 a.m. Dance-exercise-music

10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Art and Bldg. housing

1:30-4:30 p.m. The Children and Ways of Appalachia-Famous Women

4:30-7:30 p.m. Children's Crafts-plant-animal workshop.

Is it sick to love a pen?

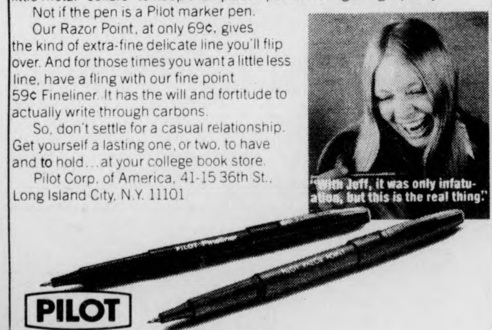
Is it crazy to love marker pens that give you the smoothest, thinnest line in town...and feel so right in your hand? Is it mad to worship pens with clever little metal "collars" to keep their plastic points from getting squishy?

Not if the pen is a Pilot marker pen.

Our Razor Point, at only 69¢, gives the kind of extra-fine delicate line you'll flip over. And for those times you want a little less line, have a fling with our fine point 59¢ Fineliner. It has the will and fortitude to actually write through carbons.

So, don't settle for a casual relationship. Get yourself a lasting one, or two, to have and to hold...at your college book store.

Pilot Corp. of America, 41-15 36th St., Long Island City, N.Y. 11101



"With Jeff, it was only infatuation, but this is the real thing."

PILOT
fineline marker pens
They'll never leave you flat

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

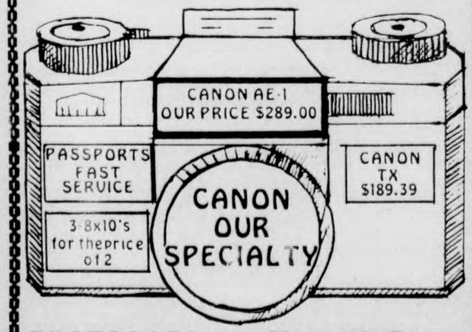


PHOTO LAB I
584-4403

Mountain Farms
Mall

UNIVERSITY PIZZA

LAST WEEK

WE MADE YOU A PIZZA
YOU COULDN'T REFUSE!
NOBODY DID REFUSE
THE SPECIAL WENT SO WELL, WE WILL REPEAT IT
THIS WEEK
ORDER OUR
NEW 16" PIZZA
and get a free quart of Coke, Tab,
Root Beer or Sprite on us!
(Offer good until March 10th)
Call 549-5592
Across from Southwest Dorms.
HOME OF THE STEAK &
CHEESE SUB!

THURSDAY DINNER
SPECIAL $5.95
T.O.C. BUFFET
Featuring:

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT

Succulent Steamship
Roast of Beef
Home Baked Popovers
T.O.C. Famous Soup and Salad Bar and much more

Join us won't you?

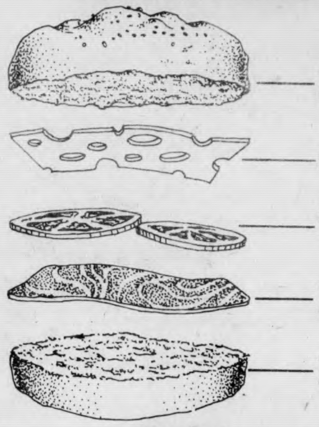
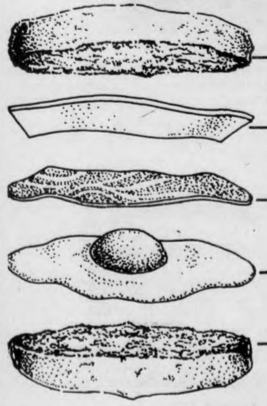
Thursday Evening
5:30 - 9:00

at the COFFEE SHOP
POER BOY
Heated Sandwich



95¢ PLUS TAX

at the HATCH
HAM & EGG
ROUND-UP



75¢ Plus Tax

New in Coffee Shop
& Hatch

NEW ASSORTMENT OF BAGELS
Starting Monday

Notices

ALPHA PHI OMEGA ANNOUNCES MEETING

Alpa Phi Omega will hold its weekly meeting in 7:30 in the SBA lobby. There will be a special meeting for Conclave Chairpeople at 6:30 and a meeting for all pledges at 7:00. These will also be in the SBA lobby, too. All are wlcome at 7:30.

ALL HRTA MAJORS

FSEA welcomes Fred Sonnerschmidt from the Culinary Inst who will be putting on a demonstration on garnishes at Chenoweth room 219 at 7 p.m. tonight. Don't miss it! Refreshments will be served.

ANTHROLOGY UNDERGRADS

There is an important meeting tonight at 7:15 in Machmer E-25. Come and hear what is going on in your major and dept.

CONCERNED MEN

Are invited to a discussion of gay issues at 7 p.m. tonight in SU 422 or call UCF at 545-2789.

DANCE WRITERS!

Important meeting on March 10 at 7:30 ! Attendance is very important for our upcoming issue!

FOUND

Woman's hat, blue-green, at the end of the Whitmore ramp. Turned in to Campus Center Asst. desk.

FRISBEE NEWSLETTER

The newsletter of the UMass Frisbee Club can be picked up by members in Mailbox 417 in the Student Senate Council Chambers. Please pick it up, the info is important.

FREE BEAUTY CONSULTATION

Interested in looking your very best? Make an appt. for a FREE beauty consultation and make-up lesson. Call Lori 546-5468 or Joseph 546-7107.

HELP WANTED

Enthusiasts wanted to help organize "Tall Peoples'" dance. Call Linda 546-1411.

HSMA MEETING

There will be a meeting on Tuesday on CC 9 at 7:00 p.m. The speaker is Dave Troy of Sales, North American Sheratons. He is one of the area's top speakers. Elections will be held for next year.

GAMMA SIGMA SIGMA

Monday night's meeting will be in the office in the S.U. at 6:45. A pledge ceremony and a convention meeting are scheduled. All sisters and pledges please attend.

HEALTH CARE

A workshop and demonstration of women's health care and birth control. 7 p.m. 323 Hills North.

INTERNATIONAL FOLKDANCING

Once again we're having Monday night folkdancing, from 8-11 in CC 163-175. There will be some teaching and lots of request dancing. Please come early so we can start on time.

ISRAELI FOLK DANCE TROUPE

We will be having an important rehearsal tonight at 6:45 in Cape Cod. Continuance of the group will depend on tonight's turnout.

JAZZ WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the FAC concert hall the UMass Jass Workshop will play a free concert.

LOST

Mittens — multicolored with blue cuff, vicinity of Sylvan — Worcester Dining Common. Kathy 6-5860.

LOST

Cat — gray calico with yellow eyes and no collar. Five-years-old and doesn't answer to the name of "Little Dog". Brandy Wine area. Call Steve at 549-0852.

LOST

Tan wallet on March 2 (11 p.m.) Concourse level of the CC. If found drop off at info desk in CC. No questions asked. Thanks.

LOST

Panasonic Tape player. Either on 23rd floor of library, in Music library or in Mon. 203. March 2. $30 if found. Call 253-5385.

OUTING CLUB

Tonight at 7:00 in CC 165 there will be a movie about the French expedition up "Anapurna". ALL ARE INVITED.

PRACTICAL ORCHARD SKILLS

A one credit colloq that will mainly involve working on restoring and reviving the orchard. The last chance to sign up is tonight, 7 p.m. in Butterfield main lounge.

RESOURCES JUDGICA

Lior Yaron is speaking on "The Affect of Continuous War On Society in Israel," tonight at 8:30 in CC 803. It is open for discussion and should prove to be quite informative. Be there.

SOVIET JEWRY LECTURE

Ronya Schwaab will speak on Jewish Emigration from Russia. She has been instrumental is bringing many Soviet Jews to America. The lecture is Tues., March 8, at 4:30 p.m. in CC 904-908.

STOLEN

Attention!!! Drum set stolen — Ludwig — pink champagne sparkle w-four cymbols. Very much monetary and sentimental value. Would appreciate any information. No questions asked. Call Bob at 546-9617.

UNIVERSITY PHOTO CO-OP

We finally have regular hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Mon. thru Fri. Film, paper, equipment, chemicals, and a processing service are now offered. So all are invited to come up to our balcony store in the SU, rm. 409.

LOOK FOR THE FINAST LABEL...
Good as the best...Even better in price. Your quality guarantee
Finast SUPERMARKETS
Finast Corn Whole Kernel or Cream Style 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Mixed Vegetables Finast 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Sauerkraut ..... 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Potatoes White Whole or Sliced .. 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Whole Beets .... 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Sweet Peas ..... 3 17 oz cans 99¢
Finast Carrots Sliced ...... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Peaches Sliced or Halves .... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Pears .... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Peanut Butter .... 18 oz jar 69¢
Finast Grape Jelly or Apple Jelly ... 18 oz jar 59¢
Finast Tomato Juice 46 oz can 39¢
Chicken Noodle Soup Finast 7 10½ oz cans $1
Richmond Ice Cream half gal 77¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 6-12, 1977 H-709 FN
Purex Bleach gal jug 44¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 6-12, 1977 H-708 FN
MEAT STREET, U.S.A. ... GUARANTEED VALUE!
Boneless Chuck Roast Tender, Flavorful Pot Roast 98¢ lb
Beef Loin Sirloin Steak Bone-In Formerly N.Y. Sirloin USDA CHOICE 1.38 lb Boneless Top Loin Steak 1.78 lb
Nepco Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut (thin cuts lb 1.18) 98¢ lb
Fresh Maine Roasting Chickens 68¢ lb
Ground Fresh Many times Daily Fresh Ground Beef 4 lbs or more 79¢ lb
Underblade USDA Choice Beef Boneless Chuck Steak 1.18 lb
Boneless USDA Choice Beef Boneless Shoulder For London Broil 1.28 lb
Fresh all White Meat Boneless Chicken Breast 1.58 lb
Corned Beef Brisket all Thin Cuts . lb 1.28
Corned Beef Rounds. . . . lb 1.18
Smoked Shoulders Neco Special Trim lb 79¢
Frierich Smoked Butts . . lb 1.39
Boneless Ham Portions . lb 1.79
Boneless Ham Steaks . . lb 1.99
Mr. Deli Favorites! Baked Ham Virginia Style Freshly Sliced to Order 1.99 lb
Swiss Cheese Imported ..... lb 1.99
German Bologna ...... lb 1.29
Turkey Breast Weaver all White Meat .... half lb 1.19
Hillshire Farm Kielbasa lb 1.39
Hard Salami B/C .... lb 1.79
Italian Hot Ham........ half lb 1.35
Cheddar Cheese Vermont Sharp . . lb 1.99
Pumpernickle or Rye Bread Golden Hearth ... 1 lb loaf 59¢
Beef for Stew Boneless . . . lb 1.18
Nepco Franks Extra Mild or All Beef . . lb 89¢
Chicken Hot Dogs Weaver lb 89¢
Natalina Pizza Do It Yourself . . . . ea 1.99
Italian Sausage Perris all Natural . lb 1.49
Hot Dogs Kirschner Natural Casing ..... lb 1.49
Knockwurst Kirschner Natural Casing . . lb 1.49
Polish Sausage Kirschner . lb 1.49
Swifts Pepperoni . . . . lb 1.79
Swifts Dried Beef . . . . 3 oz pkg 99¢
Breakfast Links Jones Minute . . 8 oz pkg 79¢
Dinner Sausage Jones . . lb 1.59
Braunschweiger Jones Sliced . . 8 oz pkg 69¢
LARGE ECONOMY PACKS Whole Boneless Beef Shoulder Combination USDA CHOICE cut into Steaks, Roast, Kabobs 1.38 lb
Boneless Beef Top Blade Steak or Cube Steaks Lesser Amounts 1.48 lb 4 lbs or more 1.38 lb
Seafood Favorites! Frozen Center Cut Cod Steaks 1.09 lb
Red Snapper Fillet Frozen . . lb 1.39
Haddock Fillet Frozen ..... lb 1.39
Colossal Shrimp Frozen Peeled & Deveined lb 7.39
Finast Pot Pies Beef Turkey Chicken or Macaroni & Cheese 5 8 oz pkgs $1
Finast Frozen Food Values! Finast Dinners Fried Chicken, Veal or Turkey 11 oz pkg 59¢
Boil in Bag Meat Entrees Finast .... 4 5 oz pkgs 1.00
Finast Cheese Pizza ... 15 oz pkg 99¢
Finast French Fries . . . 2 16 oz pkgs 69¢
Coronet Ice Cream All Natural . half gal 1.59
fresh from baker street at Finast
Big Round Top White Bread Finast Fresh 3 20 oz lvs $1
California Navel Oranges 72 size 9 for $1
"SALAD BAR" Red or Green Leaf (Salad Bowl) Lettuce 39¢ hd
Red Radishes .... 1 lb cello 29¢
Scallions (Green Onions) .... bu 19¢
Anjou Pears Western . . . . 10 for 79¢
Avocados Fresh California ..... 3 for 1.00
Celery Hearts .... pkg 69¢
Green Squash .... lb 39¢
Sunrise fresh Dairy Values! Soft Margarine Finast pkg of 2 8 oz cups 1 lb pkg 49¢
Amer. Cheese Finast Individually Wrapped Slices 16 oz pkg 1.29
Buttermilk Biscuits Finast . 8 8 oz ctns 1.00
Cottage Cheese Finast ..... 2 lb ctn 1.19
Orange Juice Richmond .... half gal 67¢
Temptee Whipped Cream Cheese . . . 8 oz ctn 79¢
Frosted Shakes Bordens . . . 3 7½ oz cans 89¢
BEER & WINE SHOPPE! Millers Beer case 24 12 oz cans 5.99
Bock Beer Pabst Blue Ribbon While supply lasts . cs 24 12 oz NR btl 5.99
LaSalle Rose' Wine. . . 24 oz btl 1.99
Liebfraumilch Rose Garden . . . . 24 oz btl 1.99
Sherry Paul Masson, Pale Dry Medium Dry, Cream . . . magnum 3.79
Alberini Lambrusco. . . 24 oz btl 1.49
Paul Masson Rose' Chablis . . . . magnum 3.69
Prices effective March 6 thru 12, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Sex discrimination hearing held Tues.

In compliance with Federal Regulations (Title IX), an open hearing regarding sex discrimination for the Operations and Planning services of the University will be held tomorrow from 12-2 p.m. rm. 904 of the Campus Center, and Wednesday from 5-7 p.m. rm. 904 for second shift personnel.

Both internal departmental conditions and campus wide policies and practices as they relate to Parking and Transportation, the Physical Plant, and the Planning Office will be discussed. To obtain further information or to submit written testimony, contact Susan Campbell in the Parking Office or Paul Mead in the Planning Office, Munson Building.

Chinese Club to hold China Night

The Chinese Student Club is presenting its annual program of China Night tonight in the Fine Arts Council Concert Hall. It is a cultural, educational and entertaining program designed to create a better cultural understanding and communication among the communities. The program includes Lion Dance, Kung Fu Demonstration, Chinese Folk dance, Chinese Folk and popular songs. Everyone is welcome. The program starts at 8:00 p.m. and admission is $2 for students and $3 for nonstudents.

Seminar held on women and the arts

"Women and the Arts" is the title of a day-long seminar to be presented Saturday, March 12th by the Arts Extension Service of Continuing Education at UMass. The seminar is to be presented in conjunction with the Amherst College Women's Group, the Hampshire College Women's Group, and the UMass Herter Gallery and the Central Area Women's Center. Cooperative funding from these groups has made it possible to offer this program to the public free of charge.

The seminar will be held at Amherst College, beginning with 9 a.m. registration at the Merrill Science Center. The morning sessions will consist of women's video, film, and visual art presentations, as well as poetry readings and a workshop on funding the artist. "Women and the Arts" will break at noon for lunch. Lunch will be available on campus at $2.25 per person for those who preregister.

After lunch, a panel of women speakers will talk about their personal involvement in the arts and opportunities for women in the arts, today.

The Arts Extension Service can be contacted for further information or for preregistration at 545-2013.

Discussion group to talk about diabetes

A new diabetes learning and discussion group will hold its first meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Clinic 1 of the University Health Services. A series has been planned whereby professionals and other people who have had experiences with diabetes will come to speak on various aspects of living as a diabetic. Topics will include diet, alcohol and diabetes, exercise, contraception, and family planning. Diabetics and anyone else who has a personal interest in diabetes is urged to come, listen, ask questions, and exchange ideas for future meetings. The first speaker will be Helene Yass, a nutritionist from the University Health Services, to speak about the diabetic diet.

Honors program still has a few openings

The UMass Honors Program still has several openings for qualified undergraduate applicants Honors students. Given the opportunity to pursue more in-depth research in their major field, students are to follow a rigorous program of university study through Honors course requirements, and to commit themselves to their major department's Honors Program. Prerequisits for Program entrance are as follow: 1) Maintenance of at least a 3.2 cumulative average; 2) Evaluation of classroom performance in an Honors section taken prior to Program application; 3) Complete updated transcript; 4) Indication of future academic program.

In all major departments, including the Honors Program, the highest degree of honors which may be conferred without participation in a Departmental Honors Program is cum laude.

Deadline for Honors Program application this semester is April 6. If you are interested contact the Honors Program Office in Machmer E-23 and talk with one of the counselors on duty.

Credit Union now sells food stamps

The UMass student Federal Credit Union would like to remind all authorized Food Stamp recipients that we sell food stamps for the U.S. Government.

To accommodate the increasing demand of food stamps, we have designated for your convenience the first teller window inside our front door for food stamp transactions. Hours of distribution are Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Dept. chairman to speak on racism

John Bracy, Chairman of the Afro-American studies department at UMass will be speaking on "Racism and Higher Education," tonight at 8:00 in the main lounge of MacKimmie Humanity House. The event is free and open to the public.

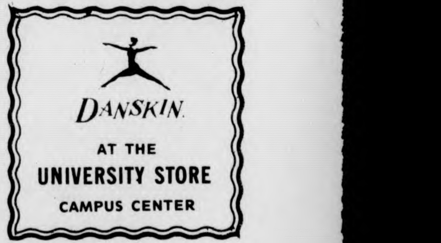
Sr. portraits will be taken until March 18

The deadline for SENIOR PORTRAITS is quickly approaching and appointment times are limited. We will be taking pictures only until March 18. Make your appointment now by calling 545-2874 or going to the Campus Center 9th floor. Make yourself a part of your yearbook.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9 - HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR SILVER STREAK PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG 1 Mon. 5:45, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY THE ENFORCER
2 R Mon. 6:00, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
2 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION From the #1 Best Selling Novel
ALAN ARKIN VANESSA REDGRAVE ROBERT DUVALL and NICOL WILLIAMSON
3 Mon. 5:45, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL! THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN BLAKE EDWARDS
PG 4 Mon. 6:00, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING

CLOG Headquarters
the SHOE-BIN
"OPEN FRIDAY NITES"
AMHERST, MASS.

CAMPUS PIZZA
Rte. 9, Hadley 206 Russell St.
Sun.-Thur. 11 a.m.-1 a.m. Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m.-2 a.m.
Come In! OUR PIZZA IS THE BEST!
LUNCH SPECIAL! 11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Small Mozzarella 99¢
Spaghetti w/meat sauce 99¢
Mon.-Thurs. GRINDERS SPAGHETTI BBQ CHICKEN A1 ROAST BEEF LASAGNA
Before Leaving Home Call 586-3880



DANSKIN
AT THE UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m and 3:45p.m Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are:
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue, 256-8641 evenings 7:00 10:30.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

FOR SALE

Nishiki Men's 10 speed bike, silver finish — excellent condition. $125. 584-5668.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

3cu. ft. refrig. for sale. $50. Call 6-6941.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Yamaha FG-180, Guitar $125 or B.O. Call Daniel 3-7 p.m. 253-3887.

AUTO FOR SALE

'73 Datsun 240Z. Clean, air cond. New: exhaust, Michelins, bat., alt., clutch & more. $3500. 256-8448.

'75 Datsun B210 Hatchback. 33,000 mi. Garaged, spotless. Michelins, AM-FM, rustproofing. $2800. 549-4451 eves.

'69 VW Bug: $150; 96,000 mi., body rot, new rear tires, good radio, runs well but needs tune up and muffler work. My liabilities are greater than assets, so I need to raise cash. Steve: 549 3672.

'72 Vega GT, 5 speed, 46,000 miles, AM-FM. Must sell leaving country. $600. New exhaust system. Call after 5:30, 549-2818.

1972 Fiat 128. Runs well, low mileage. Best offer. 256 8530

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 Honda 350CB. $500. Call 549-1055.

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

Triumph Daytona 500 '73 custom. Low miles, good cond. Call 247-9235.

'74 TR5MX Triumph 500, on-off road $550. 247-9235.

HELP WANTED

Dorm reps needed to take orders at 9 p.m.-no soliciting. 549-6979. Pat

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Overseas Jobs — Summer—year-round. Europe, S. America, Australia, Asia, etc. All fields. $500-$1200 monthly. Expenses paid, sightseeing, free info: write — International Job Center, Dept. MC, Box 4490, Berkeley, CA. 94704.

Guitarist needed for band. 546-4831.

COLORADO WYOMING MONTANA. Summertime employees for dude ranches, nat'l. parks, & U.S. Forest Service. For info. & directory send $3 to Outdoor Services, Box 349, Cody, Wyoming 82414.

WANTED

Old wooden ice box refrigerator or similar type cabinet. Call Mel 665 3921.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

1 bdrm. in hse. Sublt. $70+. Furn. 256-6224.

One month free rent. 3 bdrm. apt. walking distance from camp. Jun.-Aug. option to renew Sept. 549-5654.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B 3 Cliffside. Leave name and number. 584 9669.

Roommate - own room. $95 rent, utils. included, on bus route. Call 256 0294.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd.,w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Till Aug. 1 bed., dishwsh, air cond., cable, disposal, pets, bus, lndry. Nick 256-8294.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall to wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

For Bwana (3-3-73 — 2-28-77): All of us who knew and loved you will miss you dearly. Gus.

AUDIO

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student-sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665 2920.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

INSTRUCTION

Guitar lessons. Experienced, reliable teacher. Theory included if desired. Student rates available 665 3024

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

Come to the fourth annual Big Bad Boogie, beginning at 9:00 p.m., Friday, March 11 at Worcester Dining Commons, featuring the band, Orphan Annie! Sponsored by Sylvan Area Govt.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR 52 $199.95; SR 56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR 40 $24.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549 1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Intramural hoop playoffs begin in earnest this week

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

By the time the sun comes over the horizon tomorrow, and those early bird students rise for their 8 a.m. class, intramural basketball's regular season play will have ended and the playoffs will officially be underway.

The single elimination post-season tourney will continue for the next couple weeks, slowly siphoning out the good teams from the bad. And on St. Patrick's Day eve, the best team on campus (naturally excluding the Minutemen) will be crowned.

A scouting of some one hundred teams has lead to the following rating of the top ten men's teams here, at our own University of Amherst campus.

Now who, you ask, is the best team — who is number one? I'll give you a clue: It's a fraternity, and they run the best 'Patrick's Day party around.

Theta Chi. With a record of 4-1, they are tied with Beta Kappa Phi in the Athenian League. The two teams will play a tie-breaker Tuesday night, with the winner to continue on in the playoffs, and the loser will return to their house to contemplate the heart-breaker. The Chi'ers won the first meeting between the two, 32-30, and it should be just as close this time around, and if they can keep the fighting to a minimum it'll be a decent game.

TC is consistent; a steady standup defense followed with an offense keyed on percentage shots. Depending if they can do it to BKP again, which is no easy task, and their ensuing opponents, they could win it all. Remember, though, that an upset is not out of the realm of possibility either.

Right behind the TC-men in the ratings is Spiritual Unity. "We're mainly a fast-break, run and gun team," said SU's team manager Robert Goodman. "We can apply good defense pressure too. Full court, half court, zone, anything. Four of our players are over 6'0"."

I asked him about the reffing in IM basketball. "The refs are just students like us. Sure they can make mistakes but they're only amateurs They do the best they can."

Spot number three is held by the Gorman Pines. Coach Bill Price commented on his undefeated squad.

"Our forwards, Joe Harrington, John Olthoff and Dave Tewhill run the offense. We've got a couple good guards in Al Dobbs and Ed O'Brien and a strong bench that could start on any team in intramurals. If we have to play someone big like Beta Kappa Phi we might have to apply full court pressure and try to wear them down. We should do good against residence hall teams," he said.

Beta Kappa Phi turns up in the fourth place spot, and if they can get even with Theta Chi and turn the tables on them, this fraternity could be hard to stop.

The Van Meter Alcoholics, fifth rated, have an interesting story. Last week they lost to Free, which handed the A's their first loss in five games. It also gave Free a 4-1 mark. To complicate matters even more the Wild Bunch, another team in the same league, also has a 4-1 record. So the A's will play the Wild Bunch, with the winner meeting Free, the winner of that matchup advancing to the playoffs (you got that?).

"Our defense is super, giving up about 30 points a game. If we can get our offense to run smoothly with the nine guys we have we'll win a few games. We've got some good players, good talent," pointed out Alcoholics mentor John Kearney.

Filling out the final five in sequential order are: (6) Dr. J's Flying Circus, (7) Field Flyers, (8) Kennedy Roachclips (appropriate for a team from Southwest, or for that matter, on campus), (9) Schupters and 10, (tie) the Bunts and Express.

Honorable mention should go out to those teams unfortunate not to make the playoffs due to a rough league schedule: The Players, who competed in the same league as the Pines, who they lost to last week in overtime, canceling any playoff hopes; and Dickie Duggan and his Sea-I team, whose hustling squad exemplified true intramural spirit.

And how about the Brandywino's. Led by the Ware combination dual of Ab Cates and Ed Wozniak, followed by Paul and Rich Murphy, not to mention Spencer-ite Gary Cole, the 'Wino's are on their way to their first 1-4 season (play the Express tonight), an improvement over past seasons of 0-5. Hopedale's own Jim Bresciani threw in a basket with one second left in OT to give the off-campus squad its only victory. Way to go Wino's.....

ENGINEERING & COMPUTER STUDENTS
AIR FORCE VS. CIVILIAN PAY

A RECENT REPORT OF THE U.S. SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE PEGS THE TOTAL COMPENSATION OF THE NEW OFFICER AT $13,600 ANNUALLY TO START WHEN PAY AND BENEFITS ARE CALCULATED. THAT FIGURE SURGES TO $24,100 IN 4 SHORT YEARS.

COMPARE:
· AIR FORCE VS. CIVILIAN PAY

CHECK OUT:
· EXCELLENT ON-CAMPUS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM
· MASTER'S DEGREES AT AIR FORCE EXPENSE
· $100.00 A MONTH SUBSISTENCE ALLOWANCE

CONTACT
· MAJOR RICHARDSON 5-2437

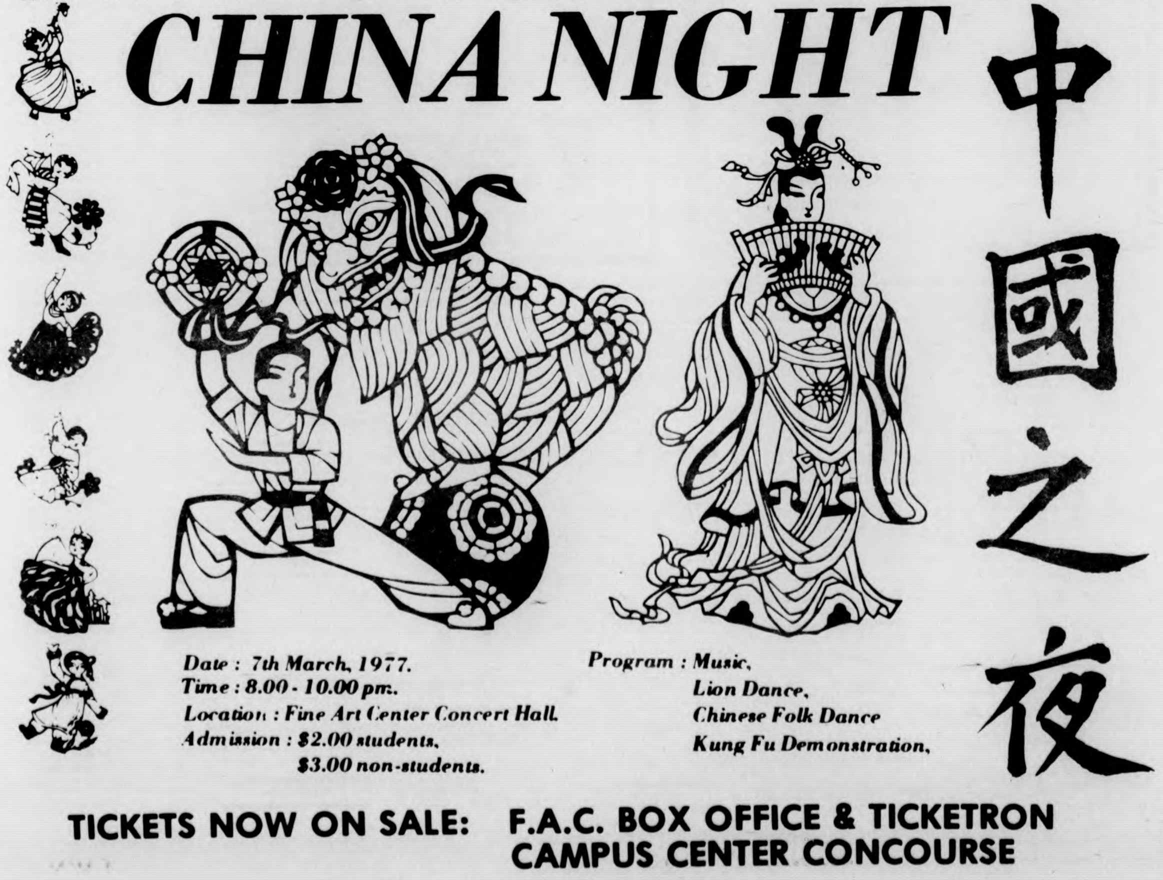
SGA

Presidential Debate

Tuesday March 8

8:00 pm

Engineering East Auditorium



CHINA NIGHT

中國之夜

Date : 7th March, 1977.
Time : 8.00 - 10.00 pm.
Location : Fine Art Center Concert Hall.
Admission : $2.00 students,
$3.00 non-students.

Program : Music,
Lion Dance,
Chinese Folk Dance
Kung Fu Demonstration,

TICKETS NOW ON SALE: F.A.C. BOX OFFICE & TICKETRON CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE

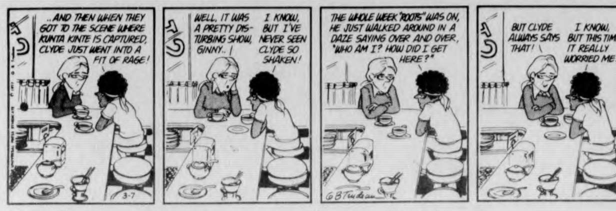
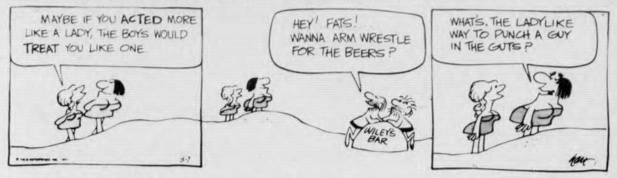
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

by Garry Trudeau
sponsored by
Valley
29 S. Pleasant St
Call 256-6736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



..AND THEN WHEN THEY GOT TO THE SCENE WHERE KUNTA KINTE IS CAPTURED, CLYDE JUST WENT INTO A FIT OF RAGE!
WELL, IT WAS A PRETTY DISTURBING SHOW, GINNY..
I KNOW, BUT I'VE NEVER SEEN CLYDE SO SHAKEN!
THE WHOLE WEEK "ROOTS" WAS ON, HE JUST WALKED AROUND IN A DAZE SAYING OVER AND OVER, "WHO AM I? HOW DID I GET HERE?"
BUT CLYDE ALWAYS SAYS THAT!
I KNOW, BUT THIS TIME IT REALLY WORRIED ME..
3-7
GBTrudeau

B.C. by Johnny Hart



MAYBE IF YOU ACTED MORE LIKE A LADY, THE BOYS WOULD TREAT YOU LIKE ONE HEY! FATS! WANNA ARM WRESTLE FOR THE BEERS?
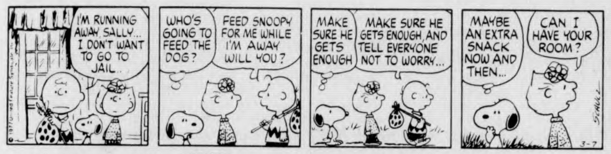
WILEY'S BAR
WHAT'S THE LADYLIKE WAY TO PUNCH A GUY IN THE GUTS?
3-7
hart

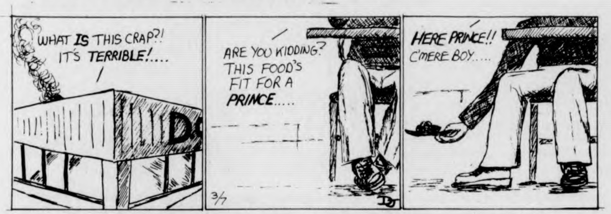
Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

sponsored by:
STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



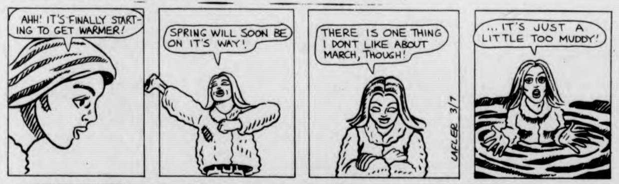
I'M RUNNING AWAY, SALLY... I DON'T WANT TO GO TO JAIL..
WHO'S GOING TO FEED THE DOG?
FEED SNOOPY FOR ME WHILE I'M AWAY WILL YOU?
MAKE SURE HE GETS ENOUGH
MAKE SURE HE GETS ENOUGH, AND TELL EVERYONE NOT TO WORRY...
MAYBE AN EXTRA SNACK NOW AND THEN...
CAN I HAVE YOUR ROOM?
SCHULZ
3-7

What Next? by Dick Janssen



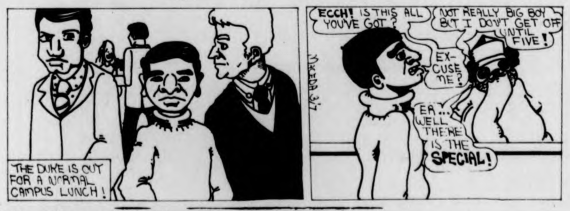
WHAT IS THIS CRAP?! IT'S TERRIBLE!....
ARE YOU KIDDING? THIS FOOD'S FIT FOR A PRINCE.....
HERE PRINCE!! C'MERE BOY.....
3/7
DJ

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



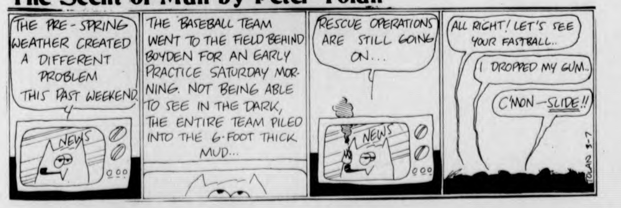
AHH! IT'S FINALLY STARTING TO GET WARMER!
SPRING WILL SOON BE ON IT'S WAY!
THERE IS ONE THING I DONT LIKE ABOUT MARCH, THOUGH!
LAFLER 3/7
... IT'S JUST A LITTLE TOO MUDDY!

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



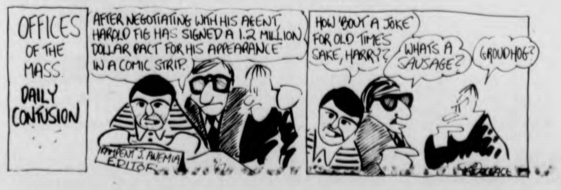
THE DUKE IS OUT FOR A NORMAL CAMPUS LUNCH!
MACEDA 3/7
ECCH! IS THIS ALL YOU'VE GOT?
NOT REALLY BIG BOY BUT I DON'T GET OFF UNTIL FIVE!
EX-CUSE ME?
ER... WELL THERE IS THE SPECIAL!

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



THE PRE-SPRING WEATHER CREATED A DIFFERENT PROBLEM THIS PAST WEEKEND
NEWS
THE BASEBALL TEAM WENT TO THE FIELD BEHIND BOYDEN FOR AN EARLY PRACTICE SATURDAY MORNING. NOT BEING ABLE TO SEE IN THE DARK, THE ENTIRE TEAM PILED INTO THE 6-FOOT THICK MUD...
RESCUE OPERATIONS ARE STILL GOING ON...
NEWS
ALL RIGHT! LET'S SEE YOUR FASTBALL..
I DROPPED MY GUM..
C'MON—SLIDE!!
TOLAN 3-7

Harry Fig by Peter Wallace



OFFICES OF THE MASS. DAILY CONFUSION
AFTER NEGOTIATING WITH HIS AGENT, HAROLD FIG HAS SIGNED A 1.2 MILLION DOLLAR PACT FOR HIS APPEARANCE IN A COMIC STRIP.
RAMPENT J. ANEMIA EDITOR
HOW 'BOUT A JOKE FOR OLD TIMES SAKE, HARRY?
WHATS A SAUSAGE?
GROUDHOG?

Local Television

7:00 2 ZOOM
3 7 CBS NEWS
4 NBC NEWS
5 ABC NEWS
6 UNDERSEA WORLD
7:30 2 ONCE UPON A CLASSIC "David Copperfield" Part IX
3 PRICE IS RIGHT
4 ANDY WILLIAMS
5 SURVIVAL BOSTON
7 CELEBRITY SWEEPSTAKES
9 LET'S GO TO THE RACES
10 TREASURE HUNT
12 TO TELL THE TRUTH
38 DICK VAN DYKE
8:00 2 MICROBES AND MEN "Men of Little Faith"
3 7 THE JEFFERSONS
4 10 LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE
5 6 9 CAPTAIN AND TENNILLE
12 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
27 MOVIE "Few Dollars for a Gypsy"
38 HOCKEY Toronto vs. Philadelphia
56 MOVIE "The Nanny"
8:30 3 7 BUSTING LOOSE
9:00 2 CHILDHOOD "Easter Tells Such Dreadful Lies"
3 7 12 MAUDE
4 10 NBC MOVIE "The Wind and the Lion"
5 6 9 MOST WANTED
9:30 3 7 12 ALL'S FAIR
27 YOUTH IN CONFLICT
10:00 2 27 NEWS WEATHER
3 7 12 ANDROS TARGETS Part I of II-part series
5 6 9 FEATHER AND FATHER GANG
56 LOVE AMERICAN STYLE
10:30 27 MACNEIL-LEHRER RPT. 2 JOURNEY TO ADVENTURE
10:45 38 HONEYMOONERS
11:00 2 MOVIE "Pygmalion"
3 5 6 7 9 12 NEWS WEATHER
27 MOVIE "Jubilee Trail"
56 DARK SHADOWS
11:15 4 10 NEWS WEATHER
38 BOLD ONES
11:30 3 7 12 CBS MOVIES "Kojak"
5 MARY HARTMAN
STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO
6 9 DAN AUGUST
56 NIGHT GALLERY
11:45 4 10 TONIGHT Stevel Allen hosts
12:00 5 STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO: DAN AUGUST
1:15 4 10 TOMORROW
2:00 7 NEWSMAKERS
2:15 5 NEWS
2:25 5 NIGHTSHIFT
2:55 5 AQUI

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Monday, March 7— Born today, you are one to whom friendship is perhaps the most important thing in life. You would give up a great deal of a material nature in order to maintain an old friendship in love and loyalty; you would sacrifice much in order to establish a friendship with one to whom you feel akin by virtue of a similarity of interests, aims and general attitudes. Your joy in the presence of others cannot be overestimated; just as your misery at the loss of a soulmate cannot be stated too strongly. On the other hand, you are able, once you express your joy or misery, to pick up the normal threads of your life and go on with business as usual.

A highly active person socially, you are somewhat inclined to take a backseat to others in business or professional matters. It is not that you are particularly shy; rather, you are reluctant to put yourself forward in situations that, successfully met, carry with them financial rewards. You would rather have a reputation for giving each person in a given group his or her chance to make good. The fact that, with little effort, you could always lead the way toward where the rewards are are stored, figuratively speaking, only makes it more noteworthy that you generally hang back, allowing yourself to be led.

You have good control over your emotions -- when you wish to. In the main, however, you have no qualms about letting the world know precisely how you feel about things. Where other people are concerned, you make no bones about liking -- or disliking -- any given individual; nor do you fuffer inwardly when others express their feelings about you openly. Indeed, hearing adverse comments about yourself only spurs you on.

* * *

Tuesday, March 8

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Your influence over another should serve to energize both of you today. Make every moment hurs. count, especially during morning

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You should be able to achieve new goals today without a great deal of effort. Be sure to let friends know where you're headed.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Business affairs take off with a mighty roar early in the day. Take care, however, not to become overly confident. Shift gears in PM.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — This is not an especially good day for asking favors. Make every effort to accomplish your aims on your own.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — An attitude of calm – regardless of your inner feelings – is essential if you intend to persuade others to assist you with new projects.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Laughter occasioned by the truly funny is one thing; laughter at another's expense is another. Know the difference!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — A disagreement may lead to a disrupting argument on the employment scene. Take another's age into account. Be willing to concede minor points.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — A financial involvement with friends may backfire before the day is out. Don't be surprised to find yourself in conflict with a loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Finances prove more of a burden than a pleasure at this time. Don't anticipate difficulties -- but be prepared for them should they occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Keep to your usual daily routine. Otherwise, you may find yourself in a state of mental confusion and physical fatigue by day's end.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Community activity takes your time in the morning. Children of friends make a genuine contribution to your well-being.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Take care not to travel beyond the limits of your experience. Take in nothing new at this time; reaquaint yourself with scenes from the past.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Meat cut
5 Lariat: Var.
10 Stuff
14 "Whatever ---- Wants"
15 Eroded
16 Hindu princess
17 - --- of roses
18 Meals
20 Printing plates of a sort
22 Part of the body
23 Narrow wood strip
24 Keep from falling
25 Not extreme
28 Colorful birds
32 Former Bruin star
33 Usage
35 Crafty man
36 Two mated animals
38 Shrub
40 Forceful closing sound
41 Fairies
43 -----plexus: Pit of the stomach
45 Greek letter
46 Nautical rope interlacement
48 Small hollow
50 Reclined
51 Lift upright
52 Decadent
55 Large sailing ships
59 Hairdo: 2 words
61 Narrow opening
62 Imitation: Abbr.
63 Takes pleasure in 64 Record the duration
65 Rents
66 Jesse -----: U.S. athlete
67 Bathroom item

DOWN
1 Talon
2 Vagrant
3 Oil: Prefix
4 Punish by spanking
5 Refutation by opposing proof
6 Planet
7 Roscoe ----: Comedian of old
8 Asian shrub
9 City in Turkey
10 Grappling irons
11 Carpenter's tool
12 Against: Prefix
13 Fine shower
19 Feminine garment
21 Convert into money
24 Flower feature
25 Sorrowful person
26 Church vestment
27 Campaign
28 Airline employee
29 Gibraltar's ancient name
30 Kilo-ampere-hours: abbr.
31 Short trailers
34 N. Amer. animal
37 Thinks back
39 Sloppy
42 Marine fish
44 ---- estate
47 Black metallic alloy
49 Tufts
51 "Quoth the ----- ..."
52 Biographer ---- Ludwig
53 Eminence
54 Partially fused material
55 Contributed
56 Mixture
57 Ulceration
58 Footprint
60 Interjection of wonder

Friday's Puzzle Solved:

SARD RIEL PARTS
OVER EDGE ABOUT
LONE FEAT IRANI
ONTARIAN CRUDER
MILL SLIP REPEAL CHANTERS
ONERS CLING VIA URNS CRANK PALS
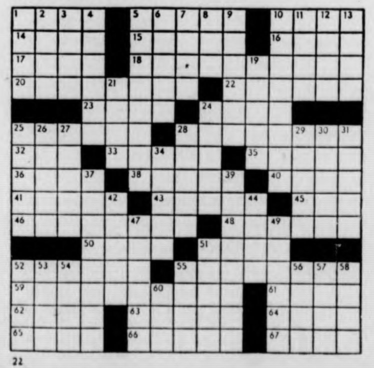
TOT ALONE SIDES
SLAMBANG COMEDY
ERSE DAME
CATNAP DEMENTED
OREAD POMP TALE
MERGE ALOE ORAL
PARES TEND SANE



22

57 TONIGHT

7:30 PM.
THE MACNEIL/ LEHRER REPORT
"AN ELECTRONIC OP-ED PAGE"

8:00 PM.
MICROBES AND MEN
MEN OF LITTLE FAITH

9:00 PM.
THE PALLISERS
LONDONERS ARE RIOTING OVER THEIR RIGHT TO VOTE

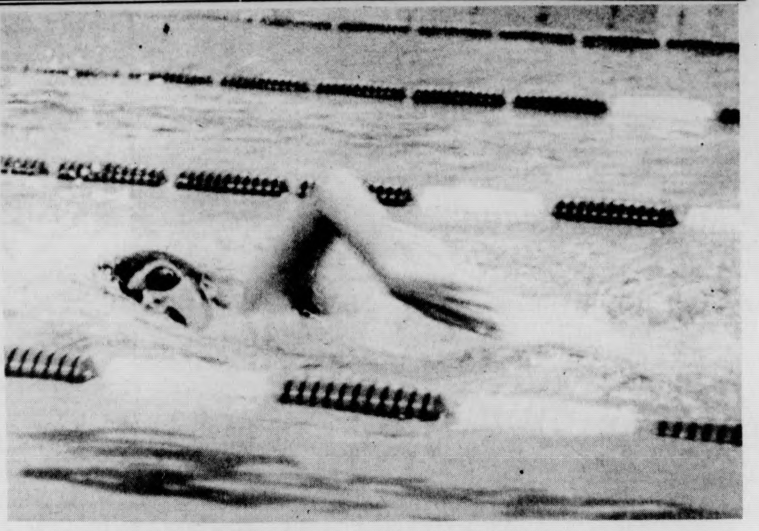
10:00 PM.
ALL-STAR SWING
SWING AND JAZZ PERFORMED BY THE BEST

11:00 PM.
MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
MARY'S INSIGHTS AREN'T ALL PROFESSIONAL

11:30 PM.
CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS

PBS

Swimmen close season in NE's



The UMass men's swim team finished 13th out of a field of 30 in the New England championships. (Staff photo by Dale Griswold)

By MARK MARCHAND
Collegian Staff

In a three-day program that ended on Saturday night, the UMass men's swim team finished 13th out of 30 teams in the New England Swimming Championships held at the Art Linkletter Natatorium on the campus of Springfield College.

Leading the way for the Minutemen was junior Russ Yarworth, who finished second in the 400-yard individual medley with a time of 4:25.6 and in the 200-yard individual medley at a 2:01.0 clip. His performance in the 400 IM was particularly impressive since it was the first time that Yarworth had swam that event in competition. Also, his efforts set two new UMass records.

Yarworth also swam the 100-yard freestyle, but his time of 49.7 was not good enough to get him into the finals.

"That was not my best time in the 100," said Yarworth. "I was too excited and swam too muscular of a race".

The meet also marked the end of collegiate swimming careers for UMass seniors Dave Boucher and Ben Crooker. Boucher, who plans to continue swimming on the AAU level, was a major contributor to the UMass effort as he placed fourth in the 200-yard breaststroke with a time of 2:16.9 and finished 10th in the 100-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 1:03.1.

"I'm pleased, but I could have done better," said Boucher. "Those times are not my best and my old records from last year are still standing."

Crooker, whose main desire was to help the team during the regular season, had a somewhat disappointing meet as he didn't qualify for the finals in any of his four events.

"My mind really isn't on swimming right now," he said. "It's something that I think happens to a lot of seniors; they're looking to the future and find it a little harder to get psyched for meets like this."

Crooker also stated that he was "sort of" happy now that swimming was over but said that he will probably miss it next fall.

UMass coach Bei Melamed said after the meet that he didn't receive any negative surprises but that the performances of both Yarworth and Boucher were positive ones.

"I knew what to expect and was glad that Russ Yarworth performed well when he was given the tough job," said Melamed. He added that he is looking forward to some greater performances from his younger swimmers next season after this year's experience.

Other swimmers in the tournament for UMass were junior Dennis Buss, who won his heat in the 200-yard freestyle with a 2:05.0 time and freshman Harry Fulford, who swam four events including the 100-yard breaststroke in which he turned in an excellent time of 1:08.0.

Also, sophomore Dave Hoffman swam four events including the grueling 1,650-yard freestyle at a 18:28.1 pace and freshman Tom Bondaruk, who turned in his best time ever in the 100-yard freestyle with a 51.4 clocking as a part of the UMass 400-yard freestyle relay quartet.

Another UMass senior who ended his career here was diver Jim Antonino, who along with freshman Dan Conley failed to qualify for the diving finals.

Winning the overall championship in the tournament was Springfield College, which edged the University of Maine by six points in the final tally. Also, William Krumm of Southen Connecticut State was chosen as Senior Swimmer of the Year.

Minutemen did themselves proud in ECBL tournament

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA — Now that all is said and done about this week's ECBL tournament, it is now understood among the press in Pennsylvania and New York that UMass, although finishing third in the tourney, was a team to be reckoned with.

By beating Rutgers 78-74 in the quarterfinals and defeating West Virginia 93-83 in the consolation game Saturday night, UMass has gained national prominence.

With Duquesne upsetting Villanova, 57-54, the tournament proved that the eight teams can on any night play even with any other team-providing for first class Division I College basketball.

"This week's play proved that the ECBL tournament is a first class organization with first class competition. I am very happy and I know the UMass athletic department is happy that we are in the league," said UMass coach Jack Leaman.

Leaman was asked after the Rutgers win which was sweeter: coaching Julius Erving or beating Rutgers twice in a season.

"That's a tough question," said Leaman. "But I would have to say that beating Rutgers which is a nationally known basketball team twice in a year will be something I will never forget. I am very proud of my team during this whole tournament."

In a tournament of this quality, obviously to survive the four days and win the entire championship takes a great deal of talent in every player in the starting five.

But this tournament proved that emotion, psychology, and the desire to win were the ultimate factors Duquesne, with a season record of 3-7 in the ECBL, withstood the role of the underdog against UMass and Villanova because they came to play mentally.

The competition also proved that team who controls the rebounds controls the game. In each of the games, the team which outrebounded its opponent won the game.

The Duquesne loss can be summed up as a lack of spark or emotion which was a vital factor in Wednesday night's wild win over Rutgers.

Duquesne on Friday night stayed even for the entire game with UMass and only got behind by five with 15 minutes to go.

"It was the same old dumb thing," said tournament team all-star Jim Town. "We make the same mistake of thinking we can walk some on the court and automatically win."

"We weren't mentally prepared. Maybe we were too confident after beating Rutgers. Duquesne was ready for us," said senior center Mark Donoghue.

Track team's fortunes vary

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

The UMass men's and women's track teams experienced sharply contrasting fortunes in meets held over the weekend. The women downed Springfield and UConn in a meet held at the Storrs Fieldhouse, totaling 68½ points to 35 for Springfield and 22½ for host UConn.

The men's team traveled to Princeton, N.J. for the IC4A championships. Both the two mile and distance medley relay teams failed to qualify for Sunday's finals.

In the sprints, Chris Perron and Nancy Kominoli took turns beating each other. In the 60 yard dash, Kominoli ran a personal best 7.2 to nip Perron's 7.3. The tables were turned in the 60-yard hurdles, as Perron ran 8.3 for 1st, with Kominoli second in 8.6.

Moving up to the middle distances, he Minutewomen swept the first four places in the 440, with Cindi Martin running 61.8. She was followed by Bonnie Bukowski, Ginger Bulman, and Andrea Vivert.

The 880 was won by Julie Lafreniere, who clocked a 2:20.8. Finishing second was Springfield's other threat for the Eastern's, Sue North. She was followed by Bukowski, Sue Mulligan, and Sue Kibling, who competed in five events as a warmup for the Eastern pentathlon competition.

Maggie Crowley ran a career best 5:15 in the mile to hold off a fast finishing North. Johara Chapman was third. In the two mile, Jane Welzel ran 11:24 to lead a sweep of the top five places. Sue Swartz was second with a personal best of 11:33. Barb Callanan ran 11:33 in her first shot at the two mile for 3rd. Anne Bradshaw and Debbie Farmer, who was also running her first two mile were fourth and fifth.

This week will be a time to work on technique in the field events and practice baton passes for Saturday's Easterns.

This will be the first indoor Easterns for women, just as last year marked the first outdoor women's Easterns. UMass finished fifth in that meet last spring, and with most of the top teams still around, coach Ken O'Brien is looking for "a good team showing — hopefully in the top five places."

Princeton's Jadwin Gymnasium track saw a school record set by the two mile relay team, which was little consolation for its 6th place heat finish. Apparently several teams stacked the event, as Adelphi won in 7:35.3. Four other teams finished within eight tenths of a second of that time.

Combining for the record time of 7:38.4, which broke the old mark of 7:41, were Jim Hunt (1:56), Steve MacDougall (1:54.3), Mark Healy (1:54.5), and Jeff King (1:53.4). King's time was over a second faster than his best, as the team finally put four fast times together. The Minutemen had a chance to qualify, as they were in good position midway through the race in third. However, Bucknell and Villanova's Anchor runners, both ranked in the top five nationally kicked by into fourth and fifth.

The distance medley "didn't look good" as its time of 10:20 was well below its potential. The only bright spot in that race was Joe Martens' 49-second 440 which brought the Minutemen back after a slow first 880 leg. However, the last two legs faded badly and UMass finished a distant last in its heat.

Sports Calendar

FRIDAY'S RESULTS

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — Duquesne 89 UMass 82

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — UMass 73 Bridgewater State 63

SATURDAY'S RESULTS

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — UMass 93 West Virginia 83

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — UMass 86 Springfield 64

WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS — Clarion State 144 UMass 142.85 Towson State 131.70

MEN'S VARSITY SWIMMING — 13th in New Englands

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

VARSITY WRESTLING — Third in New Englands

WOMEN'S TRACK — UMass 68.5 Springfield 35 UConn 22.5

Sports notices

INTRAMURALS — Softball meetings on Thursday, March 10, Monday, March 14, and Wednesday, March 16 at 7 p.m. Applicants, officials and supervisors must attend one meeting.

Swimming trials and finals for men and women are today. Diving is set for 5:45, swimming at 6:30. Both events will be held at Boyden Pool.

Badminton doubles, tennis singles, co-rec softball, and co-rec horseshoes entries are due Wednesday.

WOMEN'S TENNIS — Anyone interested in a spring season, there will be an important meeting on Thursday at 4:15 in 249 Boyden. If you have any questions, call 549-4789.

Get your Kawasaki ready for the "Good Times" this Spring.

Valley Motorsports Inc.

348 King St.
Northampton
584-7303

We have EVERY SIZE COLOR LENGTH and GENDER

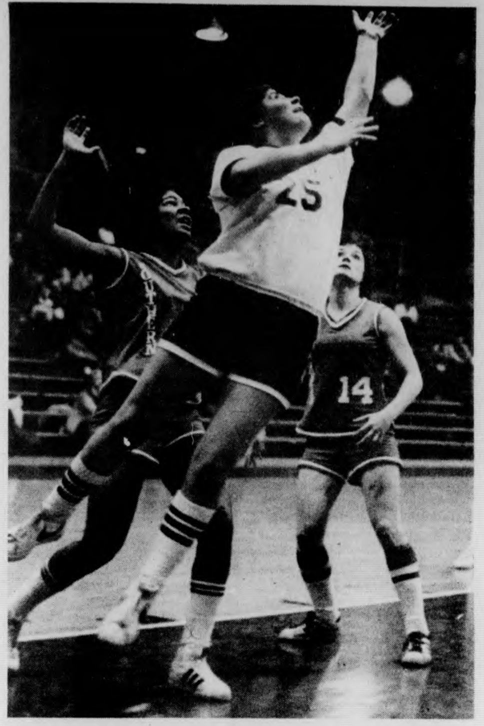
LEVI'S JEANS

10% OFF NEXT PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD*

OFFER EXPIRES: 3/12/77
*EXCLUDES SALE ITEMS

the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st. amherst
Fairfield Mall chicopee

Hoopwomen take State championship



Sue Henry, shown here in action during a regular season game, was named MVP in the state tournament as UMass took first place. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

WALTHAM — It was simply a case of the cream rising to the top.

It was all done so efficiently, so easily, and so commandingly that there is no doubt remaining that the UMass women's basketball team is, indeed, the class of the state.

For it was here this past weekend that the Minutewomen asserted their superiority over a couple of outmanned opponents and claimed the title of Massachusetts State Champions, 1977.

UMass defeated Bridgewater State, 73-63, Friday night in the semifinals of the Massachusetts Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (MAIAW) tournament, and then toyed with Springfield College, 86-64, in the finals Saturday afternoon to win the Division I crown.

"This team rose to the occasion," UMass coach Mary Ann Ozdarski said. "It seems the stronger the team we play, the better we play. Most teams fold under the competition, but when the chips are down, we play hard."

Indeed, playing two games within 24 hours of each other could prove to be an enervating experience, but UMass looked as fresh as could be while disposing of Springfield after a hard-fought game against Bridgewater.

Strong team efforts were the keynotes of both games, but three players definitely stuck out for the Minutewomen in the two-day tourney.

Leading the way was tournament Most Valuable Player Sue Henry. The freshman guard directed the UMass attack in both games. She scored just six points in Friday's win, but had a team-high nine assists.

Saturday, Henry sizzled with a six-for-eight shooting performance to end the game with 12 points, and again led the Minutewomen with six assists.

"The whole team played real well, and we're really psyched for the Easterns now," Henry said afterwards.

Another all-tournament team pick was Lu-Ann Fletcher. The center had 21 points in the Bridgewater game, including 14 in the first nine minutes of the game to help spring UMass to a lead it never lost. She also grabbed nine rebounds in the contest.

Fletcher came back with a 17 point, eight rebound performance in the Springfield game. She also made her presence felt defensively in both games as she blocked a number of opposition shots.

Reason number three for the Minutewomen triumphs was Sue Peters. Although not an all-star pick, the freshman guard was an offensive mainstay as she scored 23 points (21 in the second half) against Bridgewater and contributed 24 in the Springfield title game. Her point totals were tournament highs.

The results of both games were never really in doubt. After a sloppily-played half against Bridgewater resulted in a 30-24 UMass midway lead, the Minutewomen ran off a 13-2 spurt at the start of the second half to grab a commanding 43-26 lead with 14 minutes left.

The Bears did close the gap somewhat, and with three minutes left trailed by eight (67-59). But a free throw by Peters and another by Nancy O'Neil brought the lead back up to 10.

Bridgewater came within six with a minute left, but four clutch Peters foul shots in the closing seconds iced the UMass win.

The Springfield game was a runaway. With Henry hot from the perimeter and Fletcher and O'Neil controlling the inside game, the Minutewomen raced to a 45-31 halftime lead. From there on in, UMass coasted to its first state title ever.

The Minutewomen shot a tidy 52 per cent against the Chiefs and also forced 29 turnovers to help earn the win. Against Bridgewater, UMass was the beneficiary of 38 Bear giveaways.

Besides Fletcher and O'Neil, who has 22 points and 12 rebounds in the two games, Maura Supinski collected 15 caroms in the tourney. Her aggressive play helped spark the team in both contests.

However, one sad note came off this fine weekend of basketball.

Backup center Ginny Peebles sprained her ankle in the Championship game as she came down hard on a Springfield player's foot. It is not known if she will be okay for the Easterns, which begin Thursday at UConn.

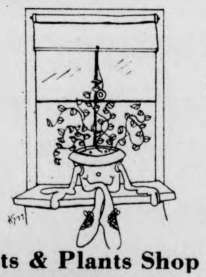
So the first hurdle has been jumped with aplomb in the UMass women's basketball team's post-season adventures. Tune in Thursday to see if the Minutewomen can be just as successful in the Easterns.

UMASS (73) — McHugh 1-0-2, Carey 1-2-4, Fletcher 10-1-21, Peters 8-7-23, Henry 3-0-6, Supinski 2-4-8, O'Neil 3-1-7, Peebles 1-0-2, Basile 0-0-0. TOTALS: 29-15-73.

BRIDGEWATER STATE (63) — Bereseniewicz 2-2-6, Muello 3-3-9, Griffin 4-0-8, Baptista 1-0-2, Walas 0-2-2, Parker 2-0-4, Sullivan 1-1-3, Swiate'- 2-0-4, Howard 7-5-19, Blinstrub 1-0-2. TOTALS: 25-13-63.

UMass (86) — Fletcher 7-3-17, Peters 10-4-24, O'Neil 5-5-15, Henry 5-0-12, Basile 1-0-2, Supinski 1-2-4, McHugh 1-0-2, Carey 2-0-4, Peebles 0-2-2, Hutchinson 1-0-2, Martinelli 0-0-0. TOTALS: 34-16-84.

SPRINGFIELD (64) — Regan 5-2-12, Sanborn 4-1-9, Smith 9-1-19, Clark 2-2-6, Wood 2-1-5, Fuller 0-1-1, Molodec 1-0-2, Hill 0-0-0, Anderson 1-0-2, Lapointe 3-0-6, Quinlan 1-0-2. TOTALS: 28-8-64.



25% OFF ALL HANDCRAFTED POTTERY
(W-this ad) thru Sat., Mar. 12

	Reg.	Sale
Mugs	$3.50	$2.60
Casserole	$15.00	$11.25
Plates	$5.00	$3.75
Planters
6"	$6.00	$4.50
8"	$8.00	$6.00

The Pots & Plants Shop
274 N. Pleasant 253-9360
Basement Shop near Earth Shoe Bldg.

Women gymnasts edged by Clarion St. in tri-meet

By PAT MCGRATH
Collegian Staff

The standing-room-only Saturday night crowd at the Cage waited silently. When the total scores were finally announced, the initial disappointment was soon replaced with pride.

In the UMass women's gymnastics team's regular season finale, defending AIAW champion Clarion State University held on to defeat the gymwomen, 144.00 - 142.85. The third competitor in the tri-meet, Towson St., finished with 131.70 points. It was a tough battle to the finish, with Clarion making up the difference on the balance beam.

Despite the loss, the gymwomen displayed a fine team effort to end their regular season at 5-2. Assistant coach John Calabria commented: "I'm very proud of this team. We're going to be really strong in the Easterns. We're going to surprise everyone."

Donna Johnson of Clarion St. captured top honors in the all-around competition with a total score of 36.65. She outclassed everyone on the beam with a 9.45, and never scored lower than an 8.95 in each of the three other events.

The standout in the meet for the Minutewomen was junior Stephanie Jones. She placed second in the all-around with many fine performances, particularly on the uneven parellel bars where her routine earned her a 9.3. Jones' trouble on the balance beam was characteristic of the UMass team, and her 8.75 on that apparatus was her lowest score. She had a fine 8.9 in vaulting for her new move, the Tsukahara, and finished with an excellent floor routine that earned her a 9.0. Her total was 35.95.

UMass captain Jill Heggie finished fourth with a total of 35.55, just .5 points behind Karen Brezack of Clarion, the third place finisher. Heggie started and finished strongly by nailing firsts in both the vaulting and floor exercise with identical scores of 9.4. The usually consistent captain had some trouble in the middle two events, however. Her 8.55 routine on the unevens was marred by a slip, and on the beam, a fall dipped her score to 8.2. Coach Virginia Evans explained that Heggie was off of her rhythm in warm-ups, and couldn't recover during her beam exercise.

The other UMass all-around competitors, Karen Hemberger and Susan Cantwell, finished fifth and sixth respectively. Hemberger was competing in her first all-around since the first meet of the season, due to an ankle injury that has kept her out of the lineup.

Freshman Hemberger nabbed first on the unevens where her crowd-pleasing performance earned her a 9.35. She had a strong 8.7 on the beam, and had an 8.75 and 8.7 in vaulting and on the floor respectively, for a 35.50 total.

Junior Susan Cantwell rounded out the UMass all-around scoring with a total of 35.15. Her 9.0 performance on the beam was the best score in that event for the gymwomen. She had a strong 8.9 in vaulting, an 8.7 on the floor, and an 8.55 on the unevens.

Other competitors for the Minutewomen included: Cheryl Morrier in vaulting, bars, and beam where she scored 9.0 (third place), 7.6, and 8.15 respectively. Barbara Burmeister scored an 8.45 in vaulting and a 7.9 on the beam. Jean Anderson had a strong 8.7 on her specialty, the bars. Julie Myers and Diane Laurenson competed in the floor exercise, where their fine performances earned them scores of 8.85 and 8.95.

Evans feels that her team must "get their rhythm back on the beam and get it into their heads that they've got it," to prepare for the Easterns next weekend.

Jill Heggie summed up the team's feelings this way: "We're going to work really hard all week. I think we'll do well; if not first, second. I think that the team is really psyched!"

THE HUNGRY-U
WE DELIVER
SUBS & PIZZA

50¢ OFF ANY LARGE PIZZA
Mon. 3-7, Wed. 3-9

25¢ OFF ANY SMALL PIZZA
Wed. 3-9 to Sun. 3-13

DELIVERIES ONLY!
103 NO. PLEASANT ST
Amherst Mass.
TEL. 256-0473
(across from Louie's)

The rusty nail Inn

Tonite-Wed.
HANDPICKED
WED. NITE
EARL SCRUGGS
and the
EARL SCRUGGS
REVIEW
with HANDPICKED
at
Rt. [illegible]
Sunderland
665-4937

Collegian Sports

Trackwomen take meet, p. 18
Hoopwomen win states, p. 19

Hoopmen cop third spot

Exhibiting his usual cool control of the basketball, Mike Pyatt heads skyward in his quest for two points. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

By BOB HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

PHILADELPHIA — By now, we've come to expect the unexpected from the UMass basketball team. When the Minutemen are expected to win, they lose. And just when you're sure they're going to lose, they win.

The Minutemen pulled more of the unexpected this past weekend in the Eastern Collegiate Basketball tournament at the Spectrum. An upset win over tournament favorite Rutgers, a semi-final round loss to a Duquesne team that was 13-14 at the time, and a consolation game win over West Virginia, a team the Minutemen lost to twice during the regular season, were all typical of this squad's showing all season long.

Duquesne, the team which shocked the Minutemen in the semis, went on to upset Villanova in the finals, 57-54, to advance to the NCAA tournament. The Dukes will face Virginia Military Institute next Saturday at Raleigh, N.C.

The man who led Duquesne past both Villanova and UMass was tournament Most Valuable Player, Norm Nixon. The amazing Duke guard scored 20 points against UMass, and then shot 13 for 17 from the floor for 27 points against Villanova.

For UMass, it was one of the toughest losses in an ignominious history of tournament defeats. After an emotional win over Rutgers, the Dukes were seen as a relatively simple step into the finals.

But Duquesne played a strong game, relying on Nixon and backcourt mate Lonnie McClain to carry the scoring load. But it was the much-maligned Duquesne front line which grabbed a lot of important rebounds and kept the Dukes in the game.

Actually, the contest was very even throughout. The Dukes opened up an early 11-4 lead, but the Minutemen tied it soon after that, and neither team led by more than five until the Dukes pulled away at the end.

With the score tied at 73 with 5:19 remaining, Nixon and McClain went to work. The Dukes ran off a 10-3 spurt, with McClain scoring six of those 10, to lead 83-67 with just 2:07 left. In all, Nixon and McClain scored all but four of the Dukes' last 16 points.

Jim Town, still in pain from some bruised ribs, hit for 27 points in the game, 21 in the second half. Mike Pyatt, who joined Town on the all-tournament team, scored 22 while Mark Donoghue had 21. Significantly, guards Alex Eldridge and Derick Claiborne scored just four points apiece.

Equally significant was the foul shooting situation. Each team shot 36 for 70 from the floor (51 per cent), but Duquesne was 17 of 23 from the line, while UMass was 10 for 14.

"Our kids played very hard," said UMass coach Jack Leaman after the game. "I don't think we played as well as we did against Rutgers, but I think we played just as hard."

"In no way do I feel bad about this," continued Leaman. "Massachusetts didn't lose this game — Duquesne was just good enough tonight to win it."

The emotional letdown from the loss figured to hurt the Minutemen in the consolation game. The general feeling after the Duquesne game was that nobody really cared about the consolation game. In fact, there had been a pre-tourney attempt by the coaches to eliminate the consolation game.

But somehow, UMass came out and put together a very strong performance against the Mountaineers. The Minutemen jumped out to a 24-12 lead midway through the first half and maintained it at around 12, before the Mountaineers cut it to eight (50-42) at the half.

West Virginia scored the first three hoops of the second half, and cut the lead to one point before the Minutemen regrouped and outscored WVU 10-2 over the next four minutes. From there, the Mountaineers never cut the lead below five as they fell to 18-11.

Pyatt poured in 20 points to lead UMass, Donoghue added 18, and Town hit for 17. The Minutemen shot an impressive 57 per cent from the floor in the contest. Russell Chapman led WVU with 19 points, followed by Tony Robertson (18) and Maurice Robinson (16).

UMASS — Town 13 2-2 27; Pyatt 10 2-2 22; Donoghue 9 3-4 21; Claiborne 2 0-0 4; Eldridge 1 2-4 4; Johnson 1 0-0 2; Kohlhaas 0 2-2 2; Totals 36 10-14 82.

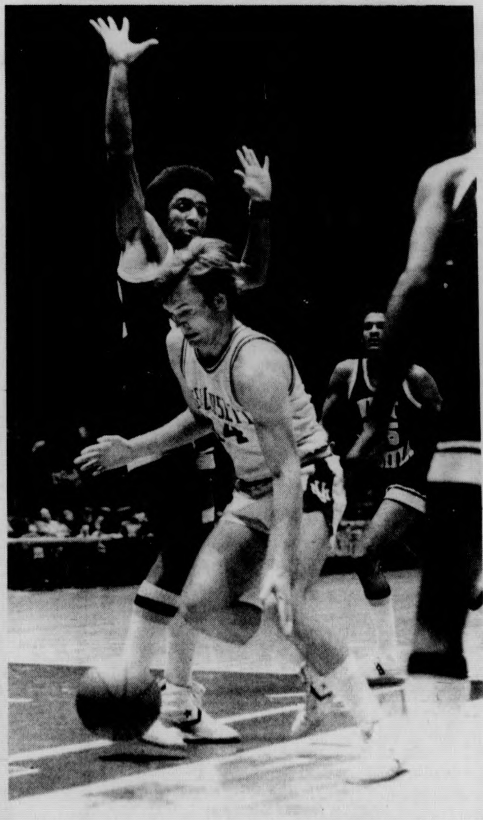
DUQUESNE — Nixon 9 2-5 20; McClain 6 6-6 18; Maser 7 0-0 14; Cotten 4 3-4 11; Gambridge 4 2-2 10; Baldwin 3 2-2 8; Hubbard 2 1-2 5; Thomas 1 1-2 3; Totals 36 17-23 89.

HALFTIME — 41-40, UMass

UMASS — Pyatt 10 0-0 20; Donoghue 9 0-0 18; Town 8 1-2 17; Claiborne 3 7-7 13; Eldridge 6 1-1 13; Johnson 2 2-2 6; Morrison 2 0-0 2; Kohlhaas 1 0-0 2; Totals 41 11-12 93.

WEST VIRGINIA — Chapman 9 1-1 19; Robertson 7 4-4 18; Robinson 7 2-2 16; Bostick 4 4-4 12; Huggins 6 0-0 12; Moore 1 0-0 2; Perno 1 0-0 2; Lewis 0 2-2 2; Totals 35 13-13 83.

HALFTIME — 50-42, UMass



Jim Town drives past Russell Chapman of West Virginia in Saturday's consolation game. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

UMass in NIT

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

Although the UMass basketball team won't be going to the NCAA tournament as the ECBL representative, the season isn't over yet.

Coach Jack Leaman received word last night that the Minutemen have been selected as one of the 16 teams to participate in the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) this year.

"I'm really happy that the team will have the opportunity to prolong their season," Leaman said in a telephone interview last night".

UMass will play Seton Hall Thursday night at 7:30 in the Springfield Civic Center in its opening round game.

Unlike past seasons, when all of the games in the NIT were held at Madison Square Garden, only the quarterfinals on will take place there this year. NIT officials had expressed their intention to hold all first-round games at neutral sites, but several participants will be playing on their home courts.

Schools to be playing on their campuses are Creighton, Houston, Virginia Tech, Oral Roberts, and Old Dominion. Along with UMass, other schools to be playing near their homes include Alabama and Rutgers.

Seton Hall, which lost to St. John's in the finals of the ECAC Metropolitan playoffs, is led by Glenn Mosley, the second highest rebounder in the country in Division I. He averages 16.3 rebounds a game. In addition, guard Greg Tynes is among the top 25 scorers in the country with a 22.4 points per game average.

The quarterfinals of the NIT are set to be played at the Garden on March 14-15. The semifinals are scheduled for March 17 with the championship game slated for the afternoon of Sunday, March 20.

"I'm hoping that the team can win their first round game and go down to New York," Leaman said.

ECBL: TV-bound

PHILADELPHIA — The UMass basketball program will finally get the television coverage it has sought for so long, as the Eastern Collegiate Basketball League has signed an agreement that will provide game-of-the-week coverage of selected 1977-78 ECBL regular season games and tournament coverage.

The agreement was reached with Total Communications Systems (TCS), a Pittsburgh-based radio and television syndicate which will also help develop related television, radio, and promotional projects, according to league president Leland Byrd.

"I believe these projects will give our young league excellent media exposure and place us on a comparable level with the nation's elite conferences in this category," said Byrd, the athletic director at West Virginia Univeristy.

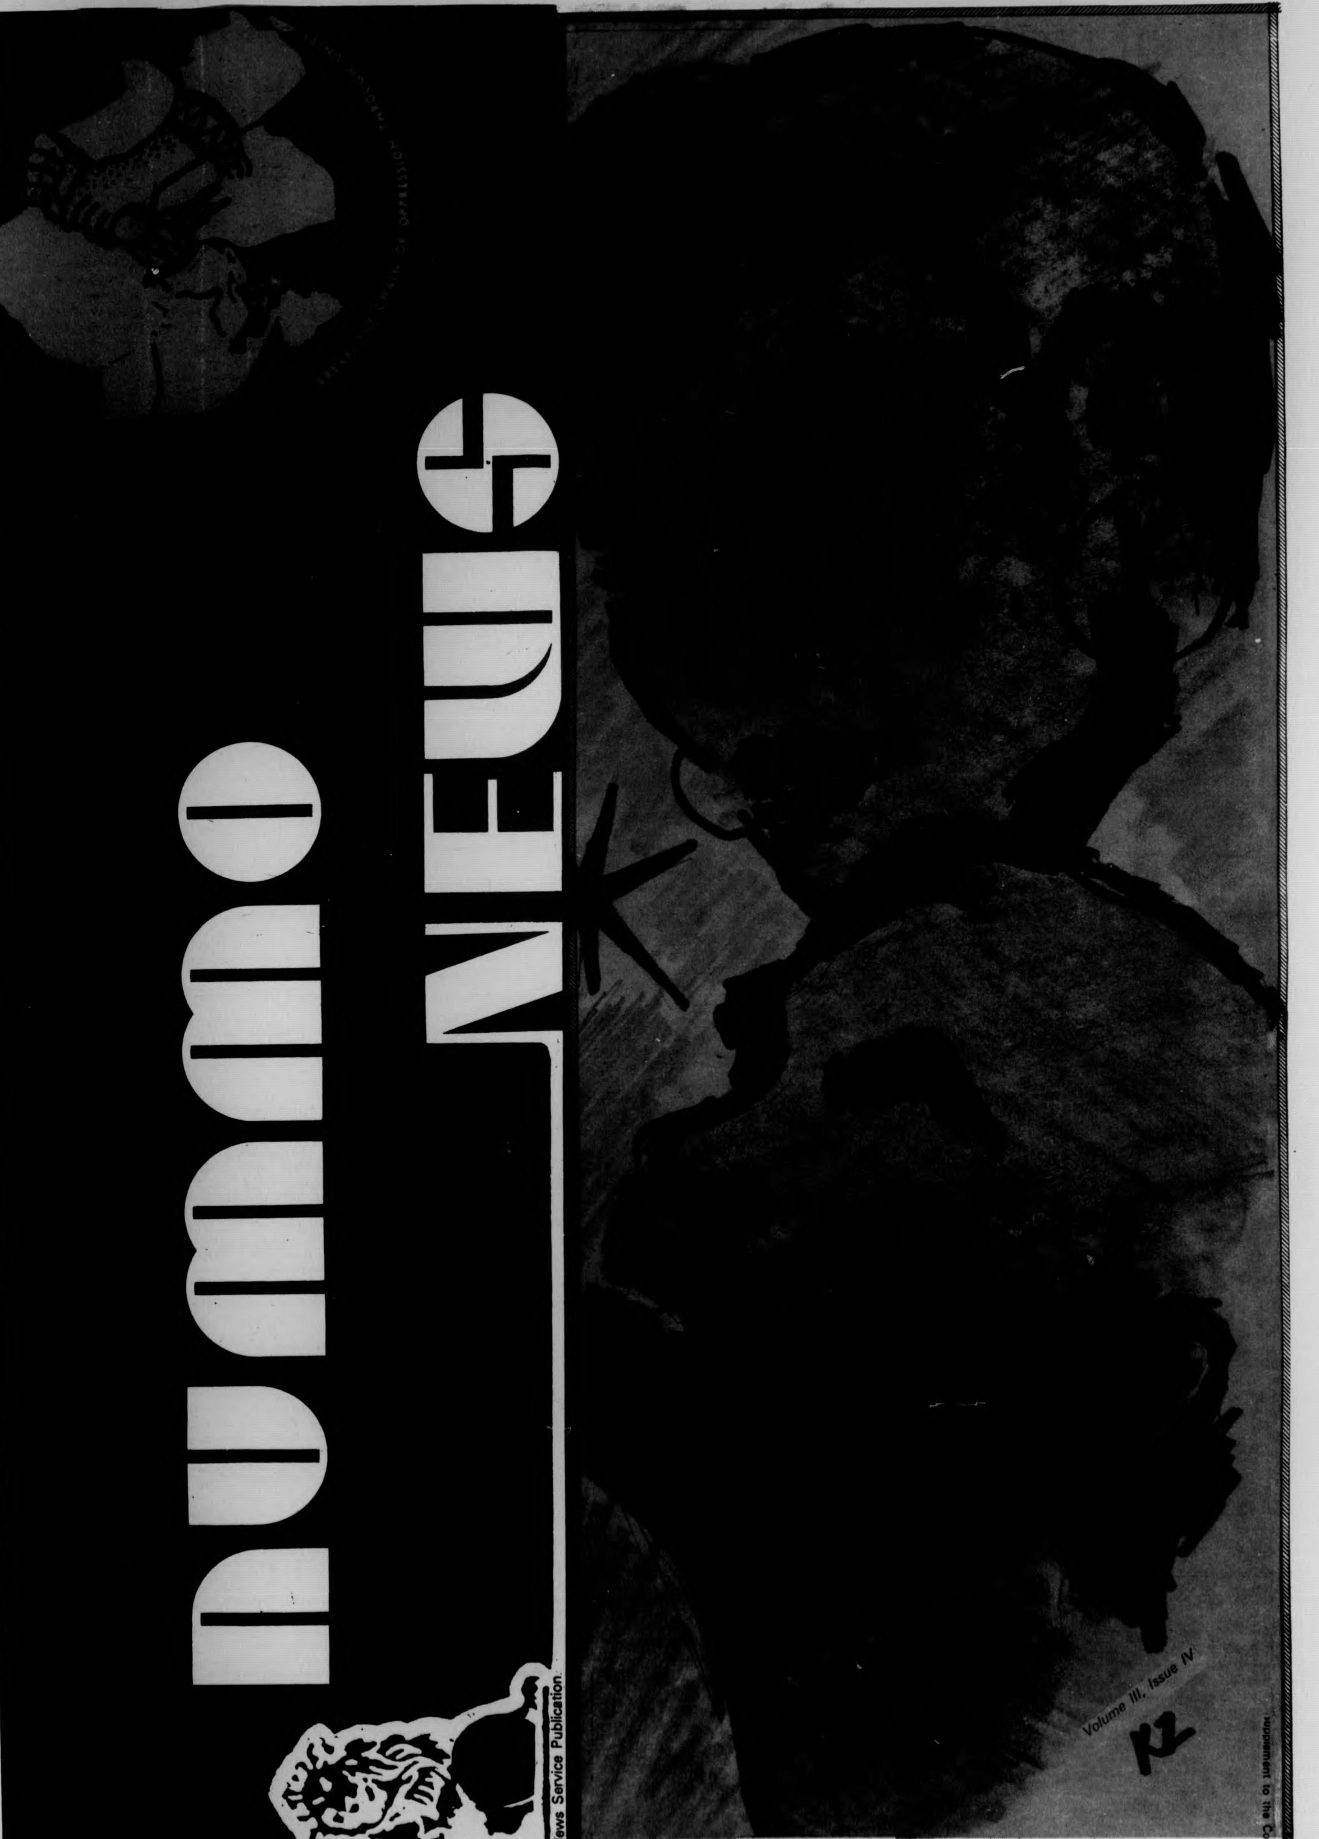
A complete schedule of the game-of-the-week telecasts will be announced in mid-May when the league directors meet. Several games are also expected to be broadcast from next year's ECBL tournament which is scheduled for Pittsburgh's Civic Arena March 2-4.

All-Stars

PHILADELPHIA — UMass dominated the Eastern Collegiate Basketball League's All-Tournament team announced after Saturday night's finale, as both Jim Town and Mike Pyatt were named to the squad.

Pyatt topped the 20-point barrier in all three UMass contests, averaging 22.7 points per game. Town, who was also named to the all-ECBL second team last week, averaged 19.3 per game.

NUMMO NEWS



A Black News Service Publication

Volume III, Issue IV

K2

Supplement to the Collegian

NUMMO is the power of the spoken and
The Black News Service strongly believes that our will speak the truths of the protractive struggle of black people.

Dissatisfaction Brings About A Change

Dissatisfaction Brings About A Change

Balance is the natural order of all things, and creation is constantly in motion or changing, lest it will destroy itself.

Anything that does not move in some manner is not alive, by the term "move" I mean growth, either a progression or a retrogression. It is an obvious unanimous agreement amongst those who can see the naturalness in this ideology, that life is motion and vice versa. Examples of this are in daily occurrences, such as...a newborn infant is not classified as living until it moves in some way...and the opposite extreme...a human being is not considered dead until his brain cease to function.

All of these very real factors have been drawn together to direct themselves towards one specific theme: that time is motion, which brings about constant changes.

The positive and the negative occurrences in the world merely bear witness to the fact that the earth is very much alive. The most powerful motivation for change in people, is dissatisfaction. The more dissatisfied a people are, the more disturbance they will create; thus, you have constant friction and motion.

I'm merely saying that dissatisfaction is a very good thing, if its needs and demands are met. It merely shows that the person or people are alive and fighting to remain alive. If, however, the needs and demands of dissatisfaction are not met, the cry of being unfulfilled will get stronger and stronger until it eventually destroys that being.

If a man feels one of his many appetites crying for a need to be fed, such as hunger pains,...the longer he neglects or ignores that cry the louder it gets. Eventually he will either continue ignoring that cry and die from starvation or he will be taken under control by that desire and probably forced to steal or kill someone for food. Either way dissatisfied needs unmet have destroyed him. In the second example, he was not destroyed physically, but being forced to kill another man, under pressure, which in his balanced state of mind he would not have done, he was destroyed mentally.

Man becomes disenchanted quite easily, but is reluctant to do something to change his situation. In other words, modern man is more of a lip professor than an executer. The causes of many of our negative moods could be eradicated with little effort, if not individually, then through unity. However, no one problem is insolvable. Obstacles are placed in your path to test and grow you as an individual. If one is never tried, how will he ever find out the strength of his foundation and if he can survive.

The growth of man revolves around change, caused by dissatisfaction. If you are totally satisfied with everything you are not in heaven; you are on the road to death. Total satisfaction eradicates challenges, it erases surprises and new found curiousities. So, what reason does the totally satisfied person have to continue living for. For him, life has nothing else to offer. Stagnation is a definite sign of death.

Challenges, burdens, problems and misfortunes are not necessarily something you should look forward to; however, man should not live to avoid them. They are mere credits to you if you seek to meet and overcome them. Hard times are difficult, but they mold and shape the character of a person. But after hard times,...comes good times.

by Karien Zachery

The Class And Racial Bias Of IQ Testing

By JUAN ROSARIO

The misinterpretation of what IQ tests can and cannot do has caused denial of equal opportunity in education and jobs. Children have been subjected to grave injustices for several generations as a direct result of the applications of these tests. Children have been psychologically damaged and condemned to inferior status in their social relations with others because of the labeling brought about by group testing. IQ tests have consistently failed to take into consideration factors of migration, socio-economic status, speed in taking tests, dominant language of children, etc., in making predictions about the probable success or failure of school children.

There is an established conviction that the performance of poor black, Puerto Rican, Chicano or just poverty stricken examinees on these tests will be relatively poor; that because of this poor performance, inferences will be made as to the ability of these examinees, which inferences will lead to treatment either in school or on jobs that will in effect constitute a denial of opportunity.

"The most immediate support for the IQ theory of social stratification," according to Bowles and Gintis (1974), "flows from the strong association of IQ and economic success." However, Bowles and Gintis assert that "the corresponding probabilities of economic success given number of years of schooling and level of economic background show that (he) statistical support for IQ is surely misleading; even stronger associations appear between years of schooling and economic success, as well as between social background and economic success." What this means is that knowledge of our socio-economic status or years of schooling is as good in predicting potential success as, and perhaps better than, knowledge of ones performance on IQ tests. And given the potential harm of these instruments (e.g., by discouraging continuation of schooling), it is better not to use them.

The IQ argument does not stop here. Ross Evans (1974) a black psychologist, points out that American psychology is thoroughly permeated by an inferiority assumption. Intelligence test, he says, "were initially constructed, pretested, and standardized with native-born white reference population." The tests referred to are the Standford-Binet Intelligence Test and the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children. The Wechsler Scale was constructed in 1955 and has never been revised. The Stanford-Binet, which has been revised twice — the latest in 1960 — has not removed this source of invalidity. Ross observes that "non-white and foreign-born children were excluded from item selection and standardization samples on the assumption that their inclusion would make the standardization norms unduly low and non-predictive for children from the majority culture." It is these same tests which are used to justify the placement of minority and other working class children to classes for the mentally retarded or to the lowest educational tracks in the public schools.

This week, the Education Committee of the Massachusetts legislature is considering the prohibition of IQ testing in the schools of the state. Such a bill (H1013) should receive the full support of the Third World community on campus since it is our brothers and sisters who, to a large extent, are the victims of the misuse of IQ testing.

Man And His Enviorment

by Melvin Cobb

To understand the political social and economic future of (the black) man, one first must examine the physical aspects and limitations that allow him distinctive types of existence.

Mans physical environment is correlated to his conditions of existence. Take a look at the shapes of states and nations of Africa, many of the boarders follow major physical features of the land. This is not nearly for convenience. The boarders were and are being selected for economic and political reasons.

The resources that man has discovered, as you all know, are extremely important. Our ability to use what we have in intelligent, environmentally safe methods is of utmost importance. How are we to be free if we have to ask how to survive?

All people must examine their distribution policies, from raw energies to sharing knowledge. The ways in which we share our resources are affected by our most basic philosophies. If I believe in obtaining all I can at any expense, thats what I'll do. I'll kill, ravish and steal. If I believe in sharing thats what I'll do.

Sharing not only means dividing my resources so X number of people won't starve, it also exemplifies contribution of time, love and most important knowledge. These three abstract entities of man are important so that he can raise himself above the existence of animals, raise himself to a level that so many governmental and religious institutions preach and sometimes practice.

Remembering that our physical environment, the air we breath, the very soil and rocks we walk on and the waters we drink and sail on, allow us to be the way we are, we must know what they are, what they do, and how they react when we use them.

There are struggles going on all over the world. Close to heart is the one waging in South Africa. Many of us, including myself, only know that various companies seek resources that are vital for productions, profits and emotional entertainment. The most serious mistake we can make is not to know what they are after, in what quantities, where they are and the processes use to excavate them. We should have a comprehensive understanding of the earth, its offerings, and how they affect daily existence.

Do you know how many trees it took to construct the very structure that protects you from the cold? Can you fathom how much energy and what types it takes to put one bowl of soup on the table?

We must all make an effect to comprehend these things, for if we use up the good trees what will our daughters and sons sleep under.

The problem in South Africa is simple, its one people fighting for a land that is theirs and another people using it to produce pleasures and comforts that are not needed. These comforts are at the expense of thousands of lives.

For the benefit of readers and those interested in problems of Africa books concerning physical aspects of the continent have been provided. But you must realize and remember that Africa is one continent on a world of many it coexist with Asia, North America, etc and cannot be analyzed separately. What effect Africa could and many times does affect the various other continents.

AFRICAN ECOLOGY and HUMAN EVOLUTION
QE
757
A 1
H 68

AFRICAN NATURE NOTES AND REMINISCES
SK
251
S 44

THE AFRICAN EXPERIENCE
QH
195
E22
M 3

AFRICAN FIELD RESEARCH AND METHODOLOGY IN GEOGRAPHY
G
70
T 5

White On The Outside

White On The Outside

The New Africa House is the central location of almost all of the black professors on campus. Their offices are located there and they all teach classes in the MAH or in some other cultural center in one of the five colleges. There definitely should be more black professors teaching in the "outer" university.

When I say "outer" university I mean that part of the campus, which is outside the four walls of the New Africa House. The university is virtually "white" in this respect. Black students have classes out there all the time, and the possibility of acquiring a black professor is almost nonexistent.

To move an Afro-Am class from the New Africa House to Herter or Bartlett Hall is not enough. The professors should be teaching Sociology, English, Psychology or some other course. A course that more than just black students will take.

If a black student sees a black professor lecturing a class of eighty students and ninety-five per cent of the students are white, it can give him a much needed psychological lift. The opposite effect of what he now probably feels.

Imagine a black student majoring in Mathematics or Sociology. He goes through four years of school without ever having a black professor. Sometime within those four years, a feeling of despair and doubt will enter his mind. He will begin to doubt whether he can ever become a Soc. or Math professor because he has never seen, or had a professor of Sociology or Mathematics that was black.

How can the student talk to a white professor about how to go about getting a job? The white professor will be talking from his own perspective. What good will that do a black student? A black professor would be much more equipped to talk to the student because he would have been through much of what the student may encounter. The two would be able to speak to each other freely and easily. Black professors are missed in the "outer" university. It's time for them to come to where they are wanted and needed by black students. It's a shame that in order for a black student to be tought by a black professor, he must come to the MAH and take an Afro-Am course.

Terrell Evans

Look For Black Affairs

In Today's Collegian

Everywoman's Center

Everywoman's Center and the Psychological Services Center are co-sponsoring a support-work group for Third World women over 25 years of age. The group, coordinated by Vickie Mays, a Black woman, will share and deal with many of the day to day survival issues such as how race, age and sex affect Third World women in dealing with each other and with men and women of all races.

This group will meet once a week for two hours and will begin the first week of March. Anyone who is interested in joining or getting more information can contact Vickie Mays at the Psychological Services Center in Tobin Hall at the University of Massachusetts, telephone number 545-0041. Calls will be accepted throughout the month of February.

Upcoming Events Concerning International Women's Week

This dynamic week will bring events that will raise all kinds of consciousness to all women and I sincerely hope that all women will check it out. There are a few events that directly deal with Black and Third World Women:

Sunday March 6¶ Images of Third World Women: reading and slide show especially for women — New Africa House. 4:00 p.m.

This 'poetry' reading features some of the work of the women in the Valley. Please check it out.

BETTY CARTER CONCERT: is one of the most.....incredible jazz singers today. This event will be historic for the Valley — FAC Concert Hall 2:00 admission. She is Priceless.

SATURDAY MARCH 12: Poetry and Politics of Black Women — New Africa House 1-5 p.m.

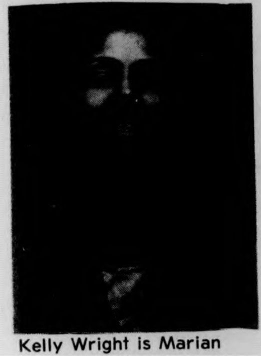
LUCECITA BENITEZ CONCERT — CCA 8 p.m. Free. sponsored by AHORA — a beloved singer for the Puerto Rican People.

ALL WEEK: CAROLE BYARD: STUDENT UNION ART GALLERY. Carole Byard is a black Artist from New York, currently gathering reputation. I have seen a few of her prints and they are very energized and expressive. Hey, Women, come check out YOURSELF!

FOR MORE DETAILED INFORMATION, PICK OUT A BROCHURE IN INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S WEEK!!!

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE

—Meet The Cast

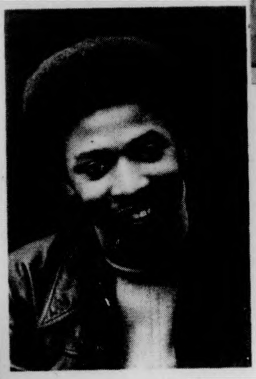


Kelly Wright is Marian Welles

Twelve actors from the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir will join forces on March 15, 16 and 17 in Bowker Auditorium to present the musical play, TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE. Dealing with the struggles of a black New York family during the sixties, the play, written by Thurman W. Stanback, has been augmented by sixteen songs composed by Semenya McCord. The company of actors bringing the play to life includes some well-known singers from the valley, as well as a number of new comers to our area who will be making their first local appearance in the musical.

Beareather Reddy is Dee-Dee Hankins

Among the most best-known is Beareather Reddy, a graduate of UMass, who plays the youngest member in the play, Dee-Dee Hankins. Remembered as one of the featured soloists in the Voices of New Africa House Choir, Beareather has been featured in such plays as "A Theme For Linda" at Smith College and "Natural Man" and "God's Trombones" with the Black Repertory Theatre at UMass. In addition to acting and singing, she was also a member of the Black Repertory Dance Company, and is the soloist with the band, Rhythm and Blues Sound Production. Beareather is employed by the Credentials Office of UMass, but hopes one day to pursue a career in the theater.

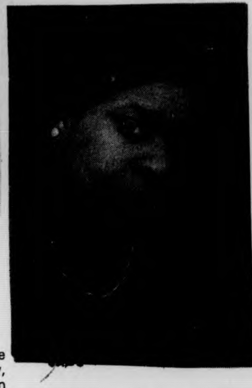


Rodney Fields is Benny Hankins

Playing the role of Benny Hankins will be Rodney Fields, a sophomore at Hampshire College. This is the first role for Rodney, whose theatrical experience up to this time has been limited to singing in groups which participated in musicals. He is a member of the Voices of New Africa Choir and hopes eventually to become a lawyer.

Doraleena Sammons is Lil Mason

Valerie Stephens is a familiar face to most theater-goers in the valley, and she has just completed a run in the play, "Wedding Band" at Hampshire College. While serving as Head of Residence at Melville Dorm at UMass is a full-time job, Valeria has found time to participate in over ten plays in the valley since 1970. They include the Smith College production of "Five On The Black Hand Side," the opera, "Porgy and Bess," with the Springfield Symphony, the Hampshire College production of "Woman For A Change" and "God's Trombones," "Things Fall Apart", and "We Shall Overcome... Or Else", all at UMass. Valerie's future plans include returning to her home in Boston and working in juvenile justice, but retaining her association with community theater.



VALerie Stephens is Emma Pearson

Another veteran of the play, "Wedding Band" is Michael Cannon at Hampshire College who plans to make a career of the theater. In the three years that he has been at Hampshire, he has been in several plays including "Don't Look Back", "The Candy Store", and "La Cafe Gaya." After graduation from Hampshire, Michael plans to return home to Philadelphia to work with the Afcum Guerilla Theatre Company. His role in the musical is that of Tramp Mason, a sixty-five year old boozer.

Tramp Mason's wife will be played by Doraleena Sammons, a graduate student in microbiology at Smith College. While a student at Bennett College, from which she graduated in 1976, Doraleena was a member of the Bennett College Choir and Gospel Choir. As an exchange student at MIT, she was a member of the MIT Gospel Choir. After a year of study at Smith, Doraleena plans to work toward an M.D. degree with a specialty in surgery.

Michael Cannon in Tramp Mason

The role of Marian Hankins, a school teacher from Atlanta, will be played by Kelly Wright, a junior at UMass. Kelly's interest is not directed toward the footlights, but toward the technical realm of TV and radio production in which she hope's to work after graduate school. In addition to being a member of the Voices of New Africa House, Kelly is a member of the UMass track team.

Tickets for the play are $1.50 and can be purchased at Bowker Auditorium box office beginning March 7.

... To be continued next week.

Conference On U. S. Policies In South Africa

Speakers from Zimbabwe addressing the conference.

NUMMO NEWS

On Thursday (Feb. 24, 1977), the Hampshire College Committee for the Liberation of South Africa (HCCLA) held a conference on the United States foreign policy in Southern Africa. The speakers featured were Ben Magubane, a black South African and a representative of the African National Congress (ANC), Jennie Davis, a White South African woman who was exiled in 1966 for political reasons and Colistis Ndlovu a Rhodesian and representative for Zimbabwe African Peoples Union (ZAPU).

The U.S. foreign policy in Southern Africa is influenced to a great extent by the interests of multi-corporations, that operate there. Over 300 U.S. Corporations have investments in South Africa, totaling over 1.5 billion dollars. Because of the high rate of profit 17 percent to 19 percent compared with a world average of 11 percent investments by U.S. corporations have increased 400 percent between 1960 and 1970. The presence of U.S. corporations provides support and credibility to the South African regime. The U.S. corporations provide essential capital, technology and personnel to the South African economy, which in turn stabilizes the racist regime and maintains the apartheid system. Unless direct actions opposing U.S. corporations in South Africa are mobolized, the South African racist regimes will continue to flourish.

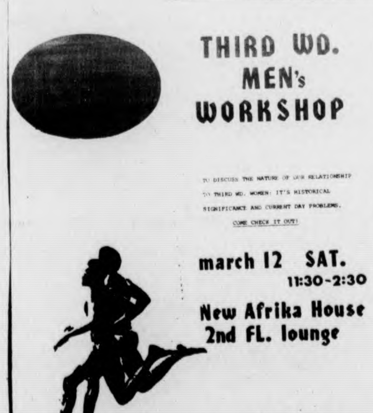
Mr. Magubane and Ms. Davis spoke on the importance of South Africa in relations to the United States and the whole political environment in Southern Africa. South Africa besides being an economic boost for the United States is a strategic military position. Fearing Soviet domination in that part of the world the United States has started taking an active interest in what is going on. Speaking on the U.S. policy in Southern Africa in relations to Zimbabwe, Mr. Ndlovu said "that the United States presence in Zimbabwe was also affected by the presence of multi-nationals. He also pointed out that as long as the Byrd Amendment (amendment allowing U.S. to trade with Rhodesia besides the U.N. stand on the subject) is still abided to by the United States, the Africans will take it as meaning U.S. support for the racist Smith regime.

The Hampshire College Committee for the support of South Africa is in the process of petitioning the College to take a public stand against U.S. corporations involvement in South Africa. Hampshire College holds stock in four U.S. corporations which have business investments in South Africa. The massive investments by U.S. corporations are the backbone of the apartheid system in South Africa. To stop the continuance of the racist regimes in Southern Africa the United States has to take a stand on the question of the presence of United States corporations, who must obey all the racist laws of the regimes in areas concerning employment and wages for the African workers. In effect by continuing to allow American Corporations to operate in the racist minority regimes in Southern Africa, the United States is downgrading its credibility and is raising the question "What is the real U.S. policy on the question of African majority rule".

Third World Men's Workshop

The relationship between Third World women and Third World men is a key link in promoting unity and collectivity in struggle. Third World men will hold a workshop to discuss their attitudes, images, and feelings toward Third World women and to explore alternative ways of "Relating" which would further unity. There will be short presentations made on the historical relationship between men and women among the Black, Latin, and Asian cultures. All Third World men are encouraged to attend.

The workshop will be held on Saturday, March 12, 11:30-2:30 P.M. in the Second Floor Lounge of New Africa House.



THIRD WD. MEN's WORKSHOP

TO DISCUSS THE NATURE OF OUR RELATIONSHIP TO THIRD WD. WOMEN: IT'S HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE AND CURRENT DAY PROBLEMS.

COME CHECK IT OUT!

march 12 SAT.
11:30-2:30

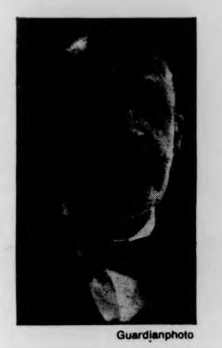
New Afrika House
2nd FL. lounge

Power in Collectivity
Victory in Struggle
Third World in Motion

Dubois.....On Revolution

The following selection is from a speech by Dr. W.E.B. DuBois at the All-African People's Conference in Ghana in 1958. Dr. DuBois, 91 at the time, was unable to travel for health reasons and the speech was presented by his wife, Shirley Graham.

Dr. DuBois, did more than any one other person to rescue Black history from academic and political oblivion. The full text of the speech appeared in the Dec. 22, 1958 Guardian.



Guardianphoto

NEWS SPECIAL:

In this great crisis of the world's history, when standing on the highest peaks of human accomplishment we look forward to peace and backward to war, when we look up to heaven and down to hell, let us mince no words. We face triumph or tragedy without alternative.

Africa, ancient Africa, has been called by the world and has lifted up her hands! Africa has no choice between private capitalism and socialism. The whole world, including capitalist countries, is moving toward socialism, inevitably, inexorably. You can choose between blocs of military alliance, you can choose between groups of political union; you cannot choose between socialism and private capitalism because private capitalism is doomed!

But what is socialism? It is a disciplined economy and political organization in which the first duty of a citizen is to serve the state; and the state is not a selected aristocracy, or a group of self-seeking oligarchs who have seized wealth and power. No! The mass of workers with hand and brain are the ones whose collective destiny is the chief object of all effort....

On the other hand, the African tribe, whence all of you sprung, was communistic in its very beginnings. No tribesman was free. All were servants of the tribe of whom the chief was father and voice.

When now, with a certain suddenness, Africa is whirled by the bitter struggle of dying private capitalism into the last great battleground of its death throes, you are being tempted to adopt at least a passing private capitalism as a step to some partial socialism. This would be a grave mistake.

For some 400 years Europe and North Africa have built their civilization and comfort on theft of colored labor and the land and materials which rightfully belong to these colonial peoples.

The dominant exploiting nations are willing to yield more to the demands of the mass of men than were their fathers. But their yielding takes the form of sharing the loot — not of stopping the looting. It takes the form of stopping socialism by force and not of surrendering the fatal mistakes of private capitalism. Either capital belongs to all or power is denied all.

Here then, my brothers, you face your great decision: Will you for temporary advantage — for automobiles, refrigerators and Paris gowns — spend your income in paying interest on borrowed funds; or will you sacrifice your present comfort and the chance to shine before your neighbors, in order to educate your children, develop such industry as best serves the great mass of people and make your country strong in ability, self-support and self-defense? Such union of effort for strength calls for sacrifice and self-denial, while the capital offered you at high price by the colonial powers like France, Britain, Holland, Belgium and the U.S. will prolong fatal colonial imperialism, from which you have suffered slavery, serfdom and colonialism....

The supply which socialist nations can at present spare is small as compared with that of the bloated monopolies of the West, but it is large and rapidly growing. Its acceptance involves no bonds which a free Africa may not safely assume. It certainly does not involve slavery and colonial control which the West has demanded and still demands. Today she offers a compromise, but one of which you must be aware:

She offers to let some of your smarter and less scrupulous leaders to become fellow capitalists with the white exploiters if in turn they induce the nation's masses to pay the awful cost. This has happened in the West Indies and in South America. This may yet happen in the Middle East and Eastern Asia. Strive against it with every fibre of your bodies and souls. A body of local private capitalists, even if they are black, can never free Africa; they will simply sell it into new slavery to old masters overseas.

As I have said, this is a call for sacrifice. Great Goethe sang, "Entbehren sollst du, sollst entberhen" — "Thou shalt forgo, shalt do without." If Africa unites, it will be because each part, each nation, each tribe gives up a part of its heritage for the good of the whole. That is what union means; that is what Pan-Africa means: When the child is born into the tribe the price of his growing up is giving a part of his freedom to the tribe. This he soon learns or dies. When the tribe becomes a union of tribes, the individual tribe surrenders some part of its freedom to the paramount tribe.

When the nation arises, the constituent tribes, clans and groups must each yield power and some freedom to the demands of the nation or the nation dies before it is born. Your local tribal, much-loved languages must yield to the few world tongues which serve the largest numbers of people and promote understanding and world literature.

This is the great dilemma which faces Africans today, faces one and all: Give up individual rights for the needs of mother Africa; give up tribal independence for the needs of the nation....

Your nearest friends and neighbors are the colored people of China and India, the rest of Asia, the Middle East and the sea isles, once close bound to the heart of Africa and now long severed by the greed of Europe. Your bond is not mere color of skin but the deeper experience of wage slavery and contempt. So too, your bond with the white world is closest to those who support and defend China and help India and not those who exploit the Middle East and South America.

Awake, awake, put on thy strenght, O Zion! Reject the weakness of missionaries who teach neither love nor brotherhood, but chiefly the virtues of private profit from capital, stolen from your land and labor. Africa, awake! Put on the beautiful robes of Pan-African socialism.

You have nothing to lose but your chains! You have a continent to regain! You have freedom and human dignity to attain!

Peoples Delegation ' Against Repression

As a direct result of the unwarranted attacks on the African People's Party on February 4, 1977, October 20, 1976 and October 20, 1975 by the FBI, Philadelphia police and the County Sheriff's office, a People's Delegation Against Repression has been formed.

During the first raid (October 20th 1975) Mrs. Saladin Muhammed, not yet recovered from the birth of her last child and only partially robed, was threatened at gunpoint by 15 heavily armed policemen in "SWAT-TYPE GEAR". As a result, she suffered severe hemorrhaging and was hospitalized. The neighbors were terrorized, the door was kicked in, the house searched with violence and vengeance, while curses and insults punctuated the whole ghastly experience.

During the second raid (October 20, 1976) half-dressed children, ranging in age from 2 months to 10 years, and their mothers, were forced at gunpoint out of their home in a driving rain by 10 heavily armed FBI agents, while the house was thoroughly ransacked.

The third raid (February 4, 1977) was a pre-dawn raid by Sheriff's officials of the character of the infamous Chicago Raid led by Chicago police officials on that City's Black Panther Party chapter, which resulted in the death of Fred Hampton and Mark Clark. Only a phone call to a minister and a lawyer prevented disaster. In each case, the officers claimed to be searching for a fugitive, but failed to show a warrant or identify clearly who this fugitive is and what if any connection he has with the A.P.P.

Because of this, the People's Delegation Against Repression, composed of a city-wide group of organizations, community leaders and concerned citizens, are supporting an injunction filed by the A.P.P. in Federal Court by Jack Levine against FBI agents Will Ramsey, City Police Captain Clarence Martin, County Sheriff Officer Frank Daddario.

The Delegation seeks a thorough investigation into these illegal police raids.

Furthermore, the Delegation will seek meetings with Police Commissioner O'Neil, Mayor Rizzo, Governor Shapp, U.S. Attorney Caine, FBI officials, Attorney General Griffin Bell and President Jimmy Carter in connection with the continued violation of the human and constitutional rights of Black and oppressed people in the U.S.

Despite the recent revelations about the illegal conduct of the FBI, CIA, local and state law enforcement agencies against organizations and individuals working for social change, nothing has been done by Congress, the President or the Justice Department that will protect the Bill of Rights. Further, not one single FBI or CIA employee has been prosecuted for any of the thousands of violations of constitutional rights.

Crimes like the FBI's COINTELPRO campaign against Dr. Martin Luther King and the Black Panther Party are being repeated today.

Even though there is not a lot of publicity given to these raids reminiscent of the 60's, they still continue and are equally violent.

We maintain that this attack against the A.P.P. is an attack against a process geared towards changing the oppressive conditions rampant within the Black and oppressed communities nationwide.

PEOPLE'S DELEGATION AGAINST REPRESSION
(information)

Father Paul Washington, Chairman

Lucien Blackwell, Philadelphia City Councilman
Rev. Van S. Bird, Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania
Stephen Cary, Board of Directors, American Friends Service Committee
Spencer Coxe, Executive Director, American Civil Liberties Union, Philadelphia
Sister Falaka Fatah, Director, House of Umoja
Ms. Maishah Jackson, Director, Tenant Action Group
Rev. Onaki Kazana, Pastor, Temple of the Black Messiah
Arthur Kinoy, Professor, Rutgers University School of Law
Jack Levine, Attorney
Ms. Charisse Lillie-Andrews, National Conference of Black Lawyers Bill Meek
Joe Miller
Angel R. Ortiz, Director, Community Legal Services Law Center — Girard
Abram Frank Reynolds, National Conference of Black Lawyers
David Richardson, Pennsylvania State Representative
Rev. Lorenzo Sheperd, Pastor, Mt. Olivet Baptist Church

Organizations are listed for identification only.

A Public Meeting Of The Brown Gethers Defense

BY NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

Two Fridays ago, Earl Brown's hearing in Northampton Courthouse, proved to be one more blatant example that Earl along with Craemen Gethers were framed for the robbery of McDonalds (Rt. 9 Hadley) on August 4, 1974. Mr. Rosenberg (Earl's current lawyer) questioned Mr. Farrell (Earl's former lawyer) for 5 hrs. in an attempt to have a retrial motion granted on the grounds of inadequate defense. Facts such as: Farrell not seeking out witnesses from the robbery, not questioning why Earl's room was searched without a warrant, failing to raise that the ID photo used to identify Earl as one of the robbers was actually not a picture of him, all came out, clearly proving that Farrell did not make any real attempt to demonstrate his client's innocence. Why? In his own words, "I thought the case was a loser", and why spend a lot of energy on it anyhow if the price isn't worth it. He naturally assumed Earl Brown was poor because he was Black and a student". But it's not just because of a lousy lawyer that Earl Brown and Cramen Gethers are in jail. After all, it was because they are Black that the two were arrested in the first place. A crime was committed. The police needed some fall guys. They grabbed the first two "likely looking suspects", ie. the first 2 Blacks they stumbled across. They're all criminals anyway. Nobody's gonna give a shit."

Discrimination, the denial of democratic rights, violent police repression, suppression and mutilation of their culture, exploitation and oppression as members of the working class, with the lowest positions, constantly high unemployment, the lowest paid jobs, the worst housing, the worst of bad health care and other social services is daily life for Black people and other minorities under capitalism.

Earl Brown and Craemen Gethers are victims of a system of justice set up to enforce and maintain this pattern of discrimination. Their case is not an exception. Many people have heard about Rubin "Hurricane" Carter the boxer, and how he was framed by the N.J. police for a triple murder in Patterson, forced to spend 9 years in prison, and recently re-convicted of the strength of the testimony of the same witnesses who admitted to lying in the first trial! Last semester we had another instance of this same thing when the Cumberland Farms on Rt. 9 was robbed. The manager said four Black men were responsible, so the police went onto campus and stopped the first car of Black men (3) they saw, and arrested them. Fortunately they had numerous witnesses to where they were and the cops were forced to drop the charges. Most people aren't so lucky.

This kind of harassment and repression goes way beyond false arrests and convictions. Police murder in Black and other minority communities is all too common. In Atlant Ga. two years ago (while J. Carter was still Governor), the police gunned down 24 people inside of 18 months. 21 were Black.

No one would willingly accept the kind of conditions that are forced upon minority people, so those who profit form extra cheap labor, or tenament housing, and the like, must use this kind of repression to keep the lid on tight. And the profit moguls responsible for this, work overtime to promote racism, blaming minorities for high taxes (welfare), high unemployment (illegal immigrants), and crime. In this way they try to justify what they do, presenting it all as the inevitable result of "racial differences" among people. By pointing to minorities as the problem, they try to take the heat off themselves. The seize on every racial incident to fan the flames of division, pitting Black against white, and to cover up the fact that this oppression results from the ruling class' plunder of people throughout the country, in their unceasing drive for more profit.

The arrest and conviction of Brown and Gethers is one further outrage our rulers are responsible for, and it is up to us to put a stop to it.

Any idea that the evidence is so overwhelming, or that this time Brown's got a good lawyer, so all we have to do is lay back and let justice run its course, will lead to disaster. Look at "Hurricane" Carter. He had a good lawyer. And look at Judge Tamburillo. Two weeks ago he was seen going out to lunch, real buddy-buddy, with Farrell - the lawyer who sold-out Brown in the first place. The same cops who arrested them, the same judge who convicted them, the same damn legal system which found it so expedient to railroad them in the first place, is not now going to turn around and free these guys, unless the students at this university twist their arm until it hurts, and force them to do so.

This Tuesday night at 7:30, on the 3rd floor of New Africa House, there will be an open public meeting of the Earl Brown-Craemen Gethers Defense Committee, Earl will speak about the case, a short film about Brown and Gethers will be shown, and a concrete discussion to lay plans to build the movement to free these two brothers, will take place. We urge all concerned students, to bring your questions and your ideas, and attend the meeting.

THE REVOLUTIONARY STUDENT BRIGADE

FREE EARL & CRAEMEN!
STOP POLICE
HARRASSMENT OF MINORITIES

Excerpts From Reports By Justice Dept. On Dr. King

BY NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

First, the task force has concluded that the investigation by the F.B.I. to ascertain and capture the murderer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was thoroughly honestly and successfully conducted. We submit that the minute details compacted in this report amply support this conclusion.

At the very outset of the investigation telegrams went to all field offices of the Bureau instructing the Special Agents in Charge to take personal supervision of the investigation, to check out all leads in 24 hours, and noting that they would be held personally responsible. (HQ 44-38861-153).

The files we reviewed show that this directive was conscientiously followed. The Bureau sought first to identify and locate the murderer using the obvious leads. They checked out aliases, tracked the traces left under the Galt alias and used the known fingerprints from the murder weapon and the contents of the blue zipper bag left on South Main Street (in Memphis) to eliminate suspects.

This backtracking ended in Atlanta. At this point the Bureau initiated a check of the crime site fingerprints against the white male "wanted fugitive" print file. This produced the almost "instant" discovery that the wanted man Galt, was James Earl Ray, an escapee from Missouri State Prison.

In fact the "instant" discovery was a tedious hand search started in a file of some 20,000 prints. That it took only two hours to make a match is said by the Bureau experts to be largely sheer luck; it could have taken days. We accept the explanation that the fingerprint search was a normal next resort after normal lead procedures were exhausted.

Second, the task force views the evidence pointing to the guilt of James Earl Ray as the man who purchased the murder gun and who fired the fatal shot to be conclusive.

It was possible for the task force to create a well-documented history of James Earl Ray from the moment of his escape to his capture in England, using the investigation reports in the F.B.I. files and to corroborate and fill in essential details with Ray's own statements (admissions) in his letters to author William Bradford Huie.

From this chronology, from the laboratory proof, and from Ray's judicial admissions it was concluded that he was the assassin, and that he acted alone. We saw no credible evidence probative of the possibility that Ray and any co-conspirator were together at the scene of the assassination. Ray's assertions that someone else pulled the trigger are so patently self-serving and so varied as to be wholly unbelievable. They become, in fact, a part of the evidence of his guilt by self-refutation.

Third, we found that conspiracy leads (aliunde Ray's versions) had been conscientiously run down by the F.B.I. even though they had no possible relation to Ray's stories or to the known facts.

The results were negative.

We found no evidence of any complicity on the part of the Memphis Police Department or of the F.B.I.

We acknowledge that proof of the negative, i.e., proof that others were not involved, is here as elusive and difficult as it has universally been in criminal law. But the sum of all of the evidence of Ray's guilt points to him so exclusively that it most effectively makes the point that no one else was involved.

Of course, someone could conceivably have provided him with logistics, or even paid him to commit the crime. However, we have found no competent evidence upon which to base such a theory.

Critical Evaluation of the Security Investigation

In the area of domestic intelligence, the mandate of the F.B.I. has been both broadly and vaguely defined.

Given this charter and the history of the sometimes overpowering influence of the views of the late Director J. Edgar Hoover on his subordinates and on successive Attorneys General, it was understandable that a security investigation should be initiated into the possible influence of the Communist Party, U.S.A., on Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Two of King's close advisers, at the outset of the security matter were reported to be Communist Party members by sources relied upon by the Bureau.

The security investigation continued for almost six years until Dr. King's death. It verified, in our view, that one alleged Communist was a very influential adviser to Dr. King (and hence the Southern Christian Leadership Conference) on the strategy and tactics of King's leadership of the black civil rights movement of the early and mid-sixties.

Another had no such weight although he seemed to be of use to King. But this very lengthy investigative concentration on King and on the principal adviser established, in our opinion, that he did not "sell" Dr. King any course of conduct or of advocacy which can be identified as Communist or "party line."

King himself never varied publicly or privately from his commitment to nonviolence and did not advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States by violence or subversion. To the contrary, he advocated an end to the discrimination and disenfranchisement of minority groups which the Constitution and the courts denounced in terms as strong as his. We concluded that Dr. King was no threat to domestic security.

And the Bureau's continued intense surveillance and investigation of the adviser clearly developed that he had disassociated himself from the Communist Party in 1963, because he felt it failed adequately to serve the civil rights movement. Thus the linch-pin of the security investigation of Dr. King had pulled himself out.

We think the security investigation, which included both physical and technical surveillance, should have been terminated on the basis of what was learned in 1963. That it was intensified and augmented by a COINTELPRO type campaign against Dr. King was unwarranted; the COINTELPRO type campaign, moreover, was ultra vires and very probably in violation of 18 U.S.C. 241 (and 242), i.e. Felonious.

The continuing security investigation reflects also that the Attorney General and the Division charged with responsibility for internal security matters failed badly in what should have been firm supervision of the F.B.I.'s internal security activities.

Patriot Idi Amin Dada

NUMMO NEWS

In the past ten days, American radio, newspaper and television news has been full of reports on Idi Amin's alleged hostile acts against Americans in Uganda.

Until recently, all of the reports have been derived from the Western media. It is not surprising that America, Britain and Israel would be on an anti-Amin campaign.

Idi Amin, a British creation, positioned in power in an attempt to further politically manipulate Uganda, became a puppeteer's Frankenstein when he began to act out of his own political ambition's and not those of the West.

His methods and tactics may be highly questionable yet so is the accuracy of the American press. Why is so much airtime and money being spent on convincing the American people that Amin must be reprimanded?

In excerpts from the following letter aired on Kampala Radio, Uganda on Feb. 25, President Idi Amin Dada responded to President Carter on the charge of violation os human rights. Amin also raised serious questions regarding America's credibility in questioning any government in the area of human rights.

Your excellency,

....In regard the invasion of the Entebbe airport by the Israelis on July 3, 1971 where 20 Ugandians and seven Palestinians were killed...

In spite of these inhuman acts by Zionist Israel, the Western imperialist press did not show any sympathy for Uganda. In the same way, the Western world does not show any concern or sympathy to the Palestinians who were butchered and booted out of Palestine...

The pressure you referred to from the American people is artificial. It is a pressure from the Zionists. I know that the Black Americans, as well as many White Americans, can not be against Uganda. But some Zionist Jews who control the news media are the ones exerting pressure.

Israel Pressuring U.S.?

....The U.S. Government and the American people should not be used as exhaust pipes of the Zionist Israel lorries. It seems that any American president who does not support Zionist Israel is gunned down. It is not surprising therefore, that even you, Mr. President are getting alot of pressure from the Zionist.

....As to the involvement of the United States in the plan to invade Uganda, this information was provided by the 16 people who were actively involved in this plot and were arrested in Uganda. Theyaare the ones who revealed that the U.S. C.I.A., the British and the Israelis were involved.

C.I.A. In Black Africa

However it is not surprising that your government denies the knowledge of the U.S. involvement because it appears that the C.I.A. has many faces. Only yesterday it was reported by two columnists, Roland Evans and Robert Novak of the Washington Post, that the U.S. C.I.A. secretly paid tens of millions of dollars to the Israeli intelligence service for operations in Black Africa. The money, which is especially controlled by the Israeli Prime Minister, was designed to help the Israeli intelligence agency to penetrate the newly independent Black Africa.

Ask The C.I.A.

It is also reported that these payments were approved by your present Secretary of STate, Cyrus Vance, when he was the Deputy Secretary of defense. It appears, therefore, that we should ask the American C.I.A. to give you the full information about the involvement in the plot against Uganda.

....No country can force Uganda to be in its pocket.

According to repoots from Nairobi, 5,000 American Marines near the eastern coast are supposed to come in and rescue 250 american missionaries in Uganda.

Sale of U.S. Arms?

Regarding your appeal to other countries to stop selling arms to Uganda, this is impossible. The U.S. government cannot stop friendly governments to Uganda from selling her all the arms she requires.

....If a government has money, it can buy any arms anwhere. The U.S. government should know that all governments cannot follow its decisions like a slave following his or her master. Uganda will continue to act as an independent country and will not follow the United States blindly. The United States should know that it is only puppet regimes which follow blindly and even read statements which are written for them by the U.S. C.I.A......

U.S. has own atrocities

Regarding the U.S. government's instruction to its Ambassador to the United Nations to investigate the violation of human right in Uganda the government should instead ask the United Nations to investigate the crimes which the United States has committed in the name of democracy, crimes which are worse than the violation of human rights.

....if the U.S. government were to accept the U.N. investigations in he global mountain of crimes, then the world will judge the sincerity of the American government.

Each nation should study itself carefully before pointing out an accusing finger to another nation....

Dirty Campaign Against Uganda

Out of the 140 members of the United Nations, it is only the United States, Britain and Israel which are involved in this dirty campaign.

....it is a pity that when we invited you to send a delegation last month to Uganda you failed to do so. You would have been informed that Uganda is more peaceful than certain parts of the United States and Northern Ireland where a lot of murders are taking place.

Ending Note..

Mr. President, I would ask you to pass my greetings to all the Americans, both white and black. I hope to visit you at the White House in the near future.

Carter Seeks Cuts In Student Loans

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Carter intends to ask Congress to abolish the $332-million loan program for college studetns, according to the chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Rep. Carl D. Perkens (D-Ky.) said yesterday he had "strongly protested" the cut Carter plans to seek under the budget revisions to be submitted Tuesday.

Perkins said the cut would end the National Direct Student Loan program, meaning "hundreds of thousands of working-class families would probably have to terminate the education of their children."

The funds were requested by former President Ford in the budget for the 1978 fiscal year, which he was required by law to submit to Congress before leaving office.

Perkins said pending loan requests total about $800 million and students from "working-class families" make up more than half of those who receive the low-interest loans.

"This reduction of $332 million in NDSL loans would represent not only a serious loss of needed student aid but also a violation of the statutory requirement for minimum funding of NDSL," he said.

Emerging From the Center of Orchard Hill.... The Creation of a Brand new adventurous cast of characters. Introducing.... The Chadbournites Sparkle
Ellen
Trina
Bilal
Karen
These delightful characters will be entertaining you weekly in the Nummo News..... informing the students of themselves through animated characters. So stay tuned and enjoy watching the weekly activities of these very "real" figures!... Look familiar?....

Northampton Puerto Rican Community

BY NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

The Puerto Rican Solidarity Committee is a national organization with 20 chapters based throughout the U.S.. We are a North American anti-imperialist organization working for self-determination and independence for Puerto Rico.

On a local level we have been working with the Puerto Rican Committee for Human Rights since its inception. This has meant co-sponsoring political and cultural events, talking about the Committee and the struggle in Northampton wherever we go, and educating people about the connection between U.S. imperialism and the forced migration of Puerto Ricans to the mainland. We have always supported the just struggles of Puerto Ricans in the Valley in obtaining the needed services and fair treatment in the areas of education, employment, and health. In working directly with the Puerto Rican Committee for Human Rights we are opening strong and direct channels of communication between the Puerto Rican community and ourselves. It is through an ongoing action of trust and friendship that racism and prejudice will be eliminated someday.

On February 19-21 the PRSC held its Second National Conference in Chicago. Delegates from the local chapters and other supporters of Puerto Rican independence came together from both the island and various parts of the U.S.. The main task of the conference was to discuss and adopt a new Political Statement and Program for the next two years. The first day we spent working on the Political Statement.

On the second day we worked out specific campaigns around the ten-point program that had been drafted by the previous national board. One of these points was "Democratic Rights for Puerto Ricans in the U.S.". This year it was reported that although Puerto Ricans were the poorest minority group, nationally the PRSC had not devoted enough energy towards their democratic rights. It was the general consensus that more effort on the part of the PRSC should be directed towards supporting Puerto Ricans in obtaining their due rights.

The result of the conference was the affirmation of a stronger stand on Puerto Ricans' rights during the present two year plan. This will consist of national campaigns developed by the national board in conjunction with local chapters' input. These campaigns will stress the connection between Puerto Ricans' plight here and U.S. imperialism. In this way we can make known the relationship between the struggle for independence and the democratic rights of Puerto Ricans.

In accordance with the National Conference we, of the Northampton-Amherst chapter, will continue to emphasize the importance of the work of the Puerto Rican Committee for Human Rights in Northampton. It is this fight for basic human rights that the PRCHR is waging and which we will continue to support. If there are any people who wish to get involved with the Puerto Rican. Solidarity Committee, you can contact 586-5537. Anyone interested in working directly with the Puerto Rican Committee for Human Rights can reach 584-6460 or 586-3357.

Opening Statement By Assata Shakur

By JOANNE CHESIMARD
ASSATA SHAKUR

This statement was intended to be presented to the jury on the first day on her trail in Middlesex County, New Jersey, February 15, 1977. Judge Appleby denied her the right to read it herself. Her attorney, Lewis Meyers of the NCBL, was denied the right to read it for her, and was threatened with being thrown off the case if he proceeded to do so.

The statement was not read. Read it now!

News is big business, and, the more sensational the headlines, the more the papers sell. The bulk of the information in the media comes from police sources. No major newspaper or T.V. station has asked me one question concerning anything. The media shapes public opinion, and the results are often tragic and unfair.

During the jury selection process you were asked whether or not you had heard of the Black Panther Party, the Black Liberation Army and of the Muslim religion. You were asked those questions for a reason. Although my religious and my political beliefs are theoretically not on trial here, so much misinformation and plain nonsense was put out in the media about my political affiliations, that I feel compelled to set the record straight.

I am, without a doubt, a political human being. I am, without a doubt, committed to struggling for Black liberation and concerned about ending the injustice and oppression that Black people suffer. I have been involved, not only in struggling for decent living conditions for Black people, but for decent living conditions for all people. I have been involved in the struggle for human rights all of my adult life. I became involved in the struggle for human rights because Black people are not free or equal in this country; because of the poverty, indecent housing, massive unemployment, poor medical care and inferior education in Black communities; because drugs have saturated our communities, preying on the disillusionment and frustration of our children.

> That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

I do not believe that one person or two people, or that a small group of people can make this a better world. Only in the Unity of people, in the coming together of masses of people for a common cause can real change come about.

I would like to help make this a better world for my daughter and for all of the children of this world; for all men and women of this world.

Hundreds of years ago my ancestors were kidnapped from Africa and brought to this country to be slaves. Those of you who saw the T.V. movie, Roots, understand the brutal conditions of slavery and know that Black people were forced to give up their language, their names and their African religions.

Unlike Alex Haley, the author of Roots, I am unable to trace my family back to Africa. And so, in an effort to return to my roots and to rediscover my culture and identity, I chose an African name, Assata Shakur, and adopted the Islamic (Muslim) religion.

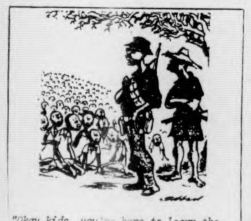
Men and women of the jury, human life is a very serious matter. You have been chosen as the representatives of justice. You and you alone. You have said that you have no prejudice or preconceptions. You have said that you could judge this case on the basis of the evidence. What the Prosecutor has said is not evidence. What I am saying now is not evidence. You and you alone, individually and collectively, are the final judges of my fate. Your decision can never be questioned or challenged by anyone.

You may or may not agree with my political beliefs. They are not on trial here. I have only brought them up to help you understand the climate and the politcal and emotional context is which this case comes before you.

Although the Court considers us peers, many of you have had different learning and life experiences from mine. It is important to me that you understand some of those differences. I only ask of you that you listen carefully to all of the evidence I only ask that you listen not only to what the witnesses say, but to how they say it.

My life is no more precious or no less precious than your lives. I ask only that you be as open-minded and as fair as you would want me to be were I sitting in the jury box determining your guilt or innocence. My life and the lives that surround me depend upon your fairness.

Patriotic Front Charges Rhodesian Government With Massacre Of Missionaries



"Okay kids, you're here to learn the three Rs--rifles, rioting and revenge."

Example of racist coverage of the southern African liberation struggle. Above cartoon is from Manchester Guardian, illustrating article about alleged 'kidnapping' of Zimbabwe students.

NEW YORK (LNS) — "Seven White Missionaries Slain In Rhodesia" blared the headlines in the western press in early February. Ian Smith's white minority regime lost no time in blaming black guerrillas and described the killings as "an infamous act carried out with all the animal brutality and cowardice which terrorists practice."

Immediately the Zimbabwe Patriotic Front, the political organization associated with the Zimbabwe People's Army, refuted the charges. In a statement broadcast from Maputo, Mozambique, the liberation organization attributed the slayings to the Selous Scouts — a special elite force of black soldiers within the Rhodesian army.

But massacres against whites are, line-for-line, a bigger story to the western press, and the Patriotic Front's refutation was buried, or when mentioned, its validity questioned.

"Seven whites were killed and the guerrilla leadership denies any role in it, but it makes big front page stories for several days," commented one observer of African affairs. "But Ian Smith orders — and admits ordering — his armed forces to invade Mozambique and kill hundreds of civilian black refugees, and you can't find the story in the western press.

Selous Scouts

The Selous Scouts, reports Guardian correspondent Sara Rodrigues in Luanda, are similar to the special forces organized by Portugal during its colonial wars in Africa — the Flechas in Angola and the Grupos Especialis in Mozambique. According to the Patriotic Front, the Scouts disguise themselves as guerrillas to make it seem as though their actions were the work of the guerrillas.

And the February 7 murder of the missionaries was not the first Selous Scout action. On December 5,1976, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Bulawayo was killed in similar circumstances and on December 19, twenty-seven tea plantation workers near Mozambique's border with Rhodesia were massacred in front of their families. Both attacks were blamed on the Zimbabwe People's Army (ZIPA).

Just prior to the killing of the missionaries — and perhaps one of the reasons for it, speculates Guardian correspondent Rodrigues, the Rhodesian government suffered an embarrassing bit of press coverage. In late January, Rhodesia claimed that ZIPA had abducted 400 Zimbabwe students from a Protestant mission school and took them to neighboring Botswana for involuntary guerrilla training.

"This too gathered big international headlines for a day," reports Rodrigues, "until the children were located in Botswana and told their story."

It turns out that the students had left of their own accord, having planned to escape several months in advance. They decided to leave because they were under pressure to join the Rhodesian Army, and had withheld school fees for the term in anticipation of their departure. Many of the studetns reported from Botswana that they were planning to join ZIPA — voluntarily.

Gov't Fear Tactics

In general, most of the government's stories of "terrorist brutality" find their way into the commercial press as unquestionable fact. A government booklet entitled "Harvest of Fear," for instance, has been widely circulated to the press. Illustrated with grisly photographs of murdered blacks, it accuses the guerrillas of "horrific acts of murder, mutilations, and even cannibalism" directed at blacks as well as whites."

The minority regime's claims may reach sympathetic ears in the West, but attempts to divide blacks from the guerrilla movement with these stories have been far from successful. New York Times reporter John Burns, writing from the Rhodesian capital, Salisbury, grudgingly admits that there is widespread belief that government provacateurs committed the murders.

Burns quotes a young waiter as saying about the missionaries' deaths, "The freedom fighters do not want to hurt friends of the African people." The waiter had gone to a mission school.

Role of the Church

It is no coincidence that the church is coming under attack by the Rhodesian government, and the Patriotic Front alluded to that in its statement. Throughout southern Africa over the past few years the Catholic and Protestant churches (with the exception of South Africa's Dutch Reformed) have increasingly supported black majority rule.

In Zimbabwe, one of the most outspoken clergy has been Bishop Donal Lamot of Umtali. Last year, the government moved against the bishop, charging him with failing to report the presence of guerrillas in his mission station. He pleaded guilty, saying at his trial that "I would have to behave the same way" in the future. Lamot was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Mission hospitals are known to treat wounded guerrillas, reports Guardian correspondent Rodrigues. In addition, the churches provide education for more than 1.3 million black primary students and two-thirds of Rhodesia's 40,000 black secondary school pupils.

Given the increasing support from the missionaries, concludes Rodrigues, "it would be ridiculous for the patriotic forces to turn their guns on white nuns and priests."

In the week that the seven missionaries were killed, government troops killed 12 black "curfew breakers" and 16 others, 8 of them women who were said to have been "running with terrorists."

These nameless victims take their place with the thousands of other casualties of Rhodesia's desperate fight to maintain minority rule. Last year, in perhaps the government's most bloody action, Rhodesian troops attacked the Nyzaonia refugee camp in Mozambique, and acknowledge killing 350. The Mozambican government put the toll at 673.

Stevie Wins Grammy Awards

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Stevie Wonder is back, and he proved it last night by sweeping the big ones at the 19th annual Grammy Awards. He took four statuettes, including one for album of the year for "Songs in the Key of Life."

Wonder, who had no record out in 1975 and was absent from last year's awards, also won Grammies for best performance by a male pop singer, best performance by a rhythm and blues male singer, and best producer.

All the awards were given for his "Key of Life" Album. The rhythm and blues Grammy was awarded for the "Wish" single track off the album.

Last night's awards brought Wonder's lifetime Grammy total to 14.

Bruce Johnston's "I Write the Songs" was named song of the year and George Benson's "This Masquerade" was named record of the year.

THEY TOOK US OUT

"We want independence for our country. But that means, for us, much more than acquiring a flag to wave and an anthem to sing. Independence, for us, means the liberation of our motherland and the liberation of our people.

We have to ask what does liberation of the people mean? It is the liberation of the productive forces of our country, and the taking of every measure to avoid any new exploitation of our people. We don't confuse exploitation with the colour of one's skin. We want equality, social justice and freedom. I don't need to remind you that the problem of liberation is also one of culture. In the beginning it's culture and in the end it's also culture. The colonialist have a habit of telling us that when they arrived in Africa they put us into history. You are well aware that it's the contrary - when they arrived they took us out of our own history. Liberation for us is to take back our destiny and our history."

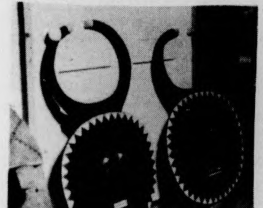
AMILCAR CABRAL.

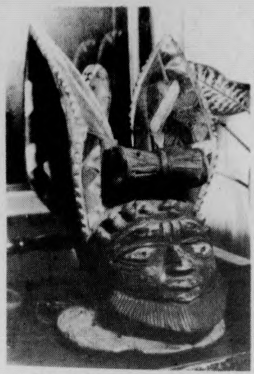
Motivation For African Art

BY NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

Although it cannot be doubted that one of Africa's greatest contributions to humanity and the art world is its rich and variegated sculpture, very little is known in this country about its scope, its real merits, and the social and cultural factors that inspired its creation. Even when some of the exciting books on African sculpture are read, questions about the nature of African sculpture, the pleasures it can give to viewers, and the insights it provides into the world view of the African society that propagates it are seldome answered. Perhaps more regrettable is the fact that when a student or historian of world art has to describe African sculpture or explain its symbolism, he runs the risks of using as guidelines some of the inadequately examined generalizations, and idiosyncratic descriptions found in many books on African sculpture, and as a result fails to grasp the full range of motivations for Africa's plastic arts.

African sculpture, among other things, provides a stabilizing, integrating, and harmonizing force in many Africa communities. For example, the Egungun mask of the Yoruba peoples provides a vital link between the amorphous world of the ancestors and humanity. It is through the wearer of this mask that the vital link between the living and the dead is strengthened. The mask narrows the hiatus between life and death, and makes them mutually inter-connected even though one can separate them conceptually. To the Yoruba, life and death are two experiences that everyone undergoes.

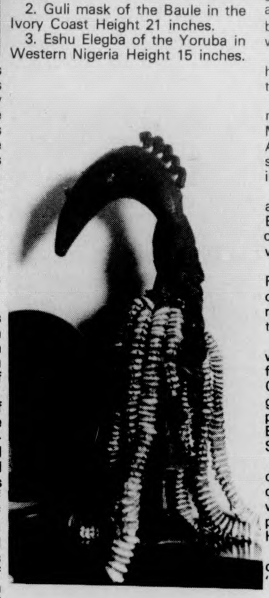




The Guli mask of the Baule is used by a group of itinerant dancers or minstrels usually invited by parents to depict or caricature the habits, mannerisms or infamous habits of a troublesome child. The values of such corrective measures are that the child's misdemeanor is reenacted before his own eyes, and he discerns the foolishness inherent in his behavior. No words are spoken, and no castigating remarks or altercations are made. The mask dancer becomes a mirror through which the child sees himself and his behavior.

Religious beliefs and institutions continue to provide the inspiration and subject-matter for African sculpture. The figure of Eshu Elegba (the trickster god or god of fate of the Yoruba) is about 15 inches high and carved out of wood. It is adorned with cowrie shells which symbolize the compensations he gets for every good deed he accomplishes in the world of humanity. He is sometimes conceptualized as the messenger of the gods. Most social activities of the Yoruba are preceeded by a ceremony in which Eshu is placated through incantations or sacrifices to insure the successful outcome of the activities. The figure is a conceptualized image of man, and endowed with content, form, and vitality. When this writer first saw this figure of Eshu, he perceived it as a unit because all the forms around it were cleverly arranged to form a finite whole. It must have taken the artist a considerable amount of time to transform the limb of a tree into an exciting work of art that manifests the African proportions of significance, and the powerful and charismatic imagery of the Yoruba sculptor. The carving of Eshu is to the Yoruba sculptor an act of worship from which he gets an inner feeling of tranquility that is almost indescribable.

1. Egungun mask of the Yoruba in Western Nigeria Height 9¼ inches.
2. Guli mask of the Baule in the Ivory Coast Height 21 inches.
3. Eshu Elegba of the Yoruba in Western Nigeria Height 15 inches.



The rock group Chicago, after 10 nominations over the years, won three statuettes including one for best pop group.

"I'm freakin' out, we're all freakin' out," said the group's James Pankow, speaking from Munich, Germany, where Chicago is on tour. "I guess instead of getting older, you get better just like a fine wine."

The other awards won by Chicago were for best arrangements accompanying vocalists and best album package.

"It's fantastic, that's the word," said Benson after receiving the awards. "I have been nominated before, but this is the first I've won."

The majority of the awards were handed out before the two-hour telecast on CBS.

Ronnie Milsap was named best male country singer for "Stand By My Woman Man," and the Amazing Rhythm Aces won a gold statuette for their "The End is Not in Sight (The Cowboy Tune)."

"Broken Lady" won Larry Gatlin a Grammy for best country song. Emmylou Harris won for best country vocal performance by a woman for her "Elite Hotel."

For the third year in a row, Richard Pryor was the funniest man on vinyl, winning the best comedy recording Grammy for "Bicentennial Nigger."

In the jazz category Count Basie won best performance by a soloist for his "Basie & Zoot." Chick Corea's group was named best jazz group, and best big band jazz performance went to the late Duke Ellington for "The Ellington Suites."

Barbra Streisand's first foray into classical music was overcome by classical standard Beverly Sills, who won a Grammy for best solo performance for "Music of Victor Herbert."

Streisand was nominated for her collection of operatic solos, "Classical Barbra."

Attention CCEBBS Students

YOU are invited to spend a day or two within the New England Telephone Company in Northampton. This unique opportunity is part of a Business Awareness Program designed to acquaint selected college students with the New England Telephone Co. and the business world. A limited number of students will have the opportunity to gain insight into the operation of a business by spending 1 or 2 days observing and talking with telephone employees. Sign up at 208 New Africa House. Deadline is Friday, March 11, 1977. You will be notified of the date and time.

¶ ¶ ¶

IF YOU WILL WANT A JOB SOMEDAY, IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW HOW TO TAKE AN INTERVIEW!!

Representatives from Procter & Gamble will sponsor a presentation on How to Interview. They will show a film, demonstrate an interview and answer all your questions. If you are unsure of the correct techniques to use while interviewing, NOW is the time to find out so that you can GET A JOB!! They will be at the New Africa House, second floor lounge on Wednesday, April 27, 1977 at 3:00 p.m. and in Coolidge Tower in Southwest on Thursday, April 28, 1977 at 7:00 p.m. Please sign-up with Rosslyn.

¶ ¶ ¶

NCR CORPORATION has openings for Systems Analysts, Technical Writers, Financial Analysts, Programmer Analysts, Marketing Representatives and Computer Maintenance (Hardware). The desire degree areas are MBA's and B.S.'s in Finance, Electronic Engineering, Data Processing and Systems Analysis. If you would like to read the NCR brochure or apply for a job there, see Rosslyn in Room 208, New Africa House.

¶ ¶ ¶

NEW SUMMER JOB ANNOUNCEMENTS are posted on the bulletin board next to 208 N.A.H.

¶ ¶ ¶

BUSINESS and JOBS...the IRS will meet at the New Africa House to discuss with all interested students (year of graduation is not important) the outlook of jobs for business and related fields. Sign up with Rosslyn — 208 New Africa House.

¶ ¶ ¶

There is still room in the schedule for SENIORS interested in a career with the JOHN HANCOCK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. Interviewing date is April 13, 1977. Liberal Arts, Business, Accounting and Mathematics Majors wanted. Sign-up necessary.

¶ ¶ ¶

CRIMINAL JUSTICE majors ...School of Criminal Justice of the State University of New York at Albany is holding a Minority Orientation Day this Saturday, March 5, 1977 from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. at the School of Criminal Justice on the 22nd floor of the Mohawk Tower in the Indian Quadrangle. This occasion will provide an opportunity for persons interested in the criminal field to discuss with faculty and students the career possibilities, problems and potentials as well as the facilities and programs of the graduate school.

KARIEN ACHERY

Micheal Gregory Jackson

Michael Gregory Jackson scores and performs original music that ranges from ballads for acoustic guitar to radical expressions of human imagination for electronic guitar, organ, flutes, drums, synthesizer, original instruments and vocals.

His music is both scored and improvised, and expresses spontaneity, beauty, contradiction and constant change. Michael combines years of performing experience with unique musicological research to give his music rhythms, melodies and tones that come from many cultures, many periods in history, and a wide variety of personal concepts and experiences. The result is a music with the goal of deepening the understanding of what it means to be human.

Michael Jackson has performed at Yale University, Harvard University, Connecticut College, Fairfield University, University of New Haven, numerous clubs, coffee houses and radio stations.

More recent engagements include Smith College, Webster University, Marionopolis College, Vanier College, The Rising Company, Studio Rivbea, The First Position Workshop, Theatre in the Space, Bradeis University, Concordia University, and WBUR radio in Boston.

Photo by D. Greenberger

Michael has performed with Leo Smith, Oliver Lake, Frank Lowe, Joseph Bowie, Julius Hemphill, Bakieda E.J. Carroll, Jerome Cooper, Anthony Davis, Wes Brown, Lee Razi, Anthony Braxton, Dave Holland, Barry Altschul, Phillip Wilson, George Lewis and many others...

"Michael Gregory Jackson, the vocalist guitarist, etc., who may become one of the more important forces in tomorrows music. His style and methods or organization are unorthodox however, he is not afraid to acknowledge the Afro-American and, some European traditions. The most personal guitarist on the east coast scene today!" Ran Blake, director of the Third Stream Department, New England Conservatory of Music.

"Michael Gregory Jackson GUITAR

Michael Gregory Jackson music, voice, space, inventiveness, love, subtlety, sincerity, fraility. YES...

i'm always into making music wit Michael." Oliver Lake

Discography;

As Leader, WILDFLOWER LOFT JAZZ SERIES, douglas records-release date, Feb. 77. Clarity mj-1000, bija records — Feb. 77.

With Anthony Braxton, WILDFLOWER LOFT JAZZ SERIES, douglas Feb. 77.

With Phillip Wilson, WILDFLOWER LOFT JAZZ SERIES, douglas Feb. 77.

With Oliver Lake, WILDFLOWER LOFT JAZZ SERIES, douglas Feb. 77

Holding Together, Black Saint Records, 0008, Feb. 77.

MICHAEL GREGORY JACKSON SOLO CONCERTS
GUITARS, VOICE, FLUTES & PERCUSSION
FRIDAY & SATURDAY, MARCH 11 & 12
8:30 P.M.
AT THE SQUARE UPSTAIRS
23 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON
(3rd FLOOR ABOVE FITZWILLY'S)
Contribution: $2.00
Sponsored by LOFT JAZZ NORTH, a non-profit organization.

In Answer To Your Question

Are We Free?

The day of the skeleton drags itself
Upon this earth
 the cloak, the hood, the executioner points his finger at himself not for himself
 outside himself
And if by some slight chance – we do not knock their bones and fight their remnants upon this earth first,
The day of the skeleton will drag itself upon this earth
the cloak, the hood, the executioner
 will point his finger at himself not for himself outside himself
your question?

Patti O'Neal

Festac 1977

Scenes from the '77 Festivities in Lagos, Nigeria (picture - courtesy of Africa Magazine)

When January 15, the official opening day of Festac '77 arrived, I and 190 other participants of the Afro-American contingent knew very little of what to expect from the 2nd International Festival of Black and African Arts, as we boarded the Festac buses marked U.S.A. going toward the National Stadium of Nigeria.

It was our third day in Lagos, days that we had spent adjusting to the hot, peppered chicken of Nigeria, its circular pace and the traffic of Lagos.

It was like Jeff Donaldson, the director of the North American Festac Committee had warned us, "Remember that you've been in America for a long time and you've picked up some strange habits."

Yet, what does it mean to an Afro-American student and aspiring novelist to arrive in Nigeria after a fourteen hour flight from New York with 190 other musicians, writers, actors, directors, visual artists, trapeze flyers, dancers and choreographers? Perhaps the beauty of a ninety degree sun and the "Welcome Home" greeting I receive from a Nigerian customs officer, describe some of the feelings that flood me as I set foot on the Motherland.

Having never been home, what better way can one go than as a participant in Festac '77, where housed in Festac Village, your next door neighbors are Upper Volta and Chad, and you can go hopping down the road where the Brazilian contingent will greet you.

By the time we got outside of Festac Village, thousands of Nigerians were lined up in the street, waiting to walk to the National Stadium. The enthusiasm of the pedestrians was overwhelming. Festac was a month-long national holiday in Nigeria. The unviersities were closed and only half of the cars were allowed on the streets.

As we drove slowly through the market places little children jumped up and waved to us. The outside of the stadium was jammed with Festac buses. We knew that each contingent of every participating country was to parade the field. Some of the other contingents were already marching toward the stadiu. We caught sight of Senegal wearing the brightest and most beautiful traditional fabrics ever made. The contingent from Zaire was robed in the national green colors of their country.

What were we, the U.S. contingent, clad from jeans, to dashikis, to tie-up pants to do?

Here many presidents of independent African nations had sent their finest artists to represent their countries, like a traditional exchange of culture from one great king to another. And what president was endorsing the Afro-American contingent, one of the largest groups of Festac participants, to represent our country?

— — —

The ceremonies began later than scheduled but we were already used to delays. It seems that C.P. time originated in Africa and was another part of our heritage. We would learn about the meaning of the word patience during our stay in Nigeria.

Seated in a safe participant section, we watched the stadium grow fuller. Many of the people we had seen marching toward the stadium were turned away, while the more aggressive ones began storming the gates.

Watching the soldiers trying to push them back I was reminded of the chaos of some of the Rufus and Earth, Wind and Fire concerts in the U.S. this past summer. The spectator stands grew to a dangerous capacity as we cheered the uniformed Republic of Benin dancing across the field.

"Look over there!" someone shouted and I turned to the spectators section. Amidst the congested stands I saw masses of people bending and jumping.

"They're throwing people from the stands!"

I stared at a man being tossed from the top of the stand from row to row. Before I could turn around the same thing was happening on the other side of the stadium. More and more men were getting thrown like balls and some women were tossed too, to make room for the gate stormers.

Stretchers were appearing on the field almost as people were dropped. Doctors and nurses ran from one side of the arena to the other, lifting bodies into the stretchers, as attendants fanned the patients.

A voice at the loud speaker announced, "The Commander-In-Chief of Festac requests that the spectators stop throwing human beings from the stands."

Later we discovered that six people had been killed as a result of this.

All the while the countries continued to parade the fields in elaborate dress, dancing and beating drums.

The most exciting group was New Guinea who marched with sign bearers and then musicians and dancers who pranced across the field. Behind them came a group of high leaping dancers, whose sharp explosive movements brought the stadium to its feet. Following them came men on stilts, who danced about the arena while masked acrobats leaped around them.

We screamed and waved to them wondering how long they could keep up their feverish energy level. They marched to the center of the field and continued to jam for the next hour.

The emphasis was on dancing in the festival and in the next couple of weeks we would see the finest dancers in the world from the Ivory Coast and Cuba. The ultimate expression of human body movement I saw was Ballet Africaine by Equitoria Guinea, where the dancers literally walked on the walls.

Valery Maynard, a sculptor, asked me at the stadium if I thought I could digest all I was seeing in a month or a lifetime.

"It would take you ten years to visit all these people in their countries and here they are, right in front of you. And they're Black folks too."

Her words struck me because we were in the company of over 100,000 Black people from across the world in the stadium and we were all going through metamorphical changes over it.

A small group was marching called the liberation zone, the countries in Southern Africa who were currently fighting for their liberation.

The radios and newspapers of Nigeria kept the people well informed on Southern Africa, as was so with the rest of Africa. Many nations were discussing unified military blocks to aid the Liberation Zones against the West.

Festac '77 was also a major news event throughout the continent, while in the states very little coverage was given to it.

By the time Uganda had paraded the field, I was ranking my brain trying to figure out what the U.S. contingent would do. Unlike the other countries, we didn't even have a flag, much less wanted to carry one.

After Upper Volta passed us we spotted about 30 folks from our group marching behind a Nigerian marine bearing a sign reading "U.S.A.". They were clapping their hands and singing "Amen."

Then I and practically every Black American in the stadium raced to join them.

A brother from the Harlem Children's Theatre was playing a trumpet and a sister from Flying Soul, a Black trapeze team, was doing cartwheels and splits.

"Amen!" The Nigerians were going wild. Wherever we walked the crowd leaped to its feet, screaming, "Black Power. Black Power" with clenched fists. We returned the power sign and waved, not totally comprehensive of what was happening.

To the stadium we were James Brown, Muhammad Ali, Malcolm X and the whole of the Black Movement of the sixties rolled into one.

We were the hit of the whole ceremony. Marching to the center of the field we, the reclaimed Black Americans, hugged and kissed each other while the other countries eyes us with curiosity and admiration.

There was a speech made by Head of State of Nigeria and a ceremonial torch was ignited. I was running around shaking hands with Nigerians and telling them that this was the most wonderful thing I had ever experienced.

We would learn about the African concept of the extended family, from the warmth and hospitality the people showed us.

I would find myself in the face of centuries of master craftsmen and an incredible creative process in the National Theatre Art Exhibit and the National Museum.

Yet as we exited singing "Amen" again all that we knew was that the enthusiastic crowd who awaited us outside, could not be contained by the soldiers. They sang and danced with us, broke into our line and began closing in.

We were frightened as our group got scattered running toward the bus. We didn't realize that the people were shouting, "We love you Black people of America!" as we were pinched and grabbed.

When we made it to the buses and took headcounts, a crowd of little boys who had chases us stood outside chanting, "Black power!"

There would be partying for days back at Festac Village. Films, dance, theatre and music would be at the National Theatre and Stadium practically every hour of the day. If you didn't hitch a ride to the events you could stay in the village and watch each country rehearsing for their performances in front of their block. The International Black Arts Festival became an International Black People's Party.

Being a totally Black country in Africa for the first time in life, I found contradictions as well as startling affirmations. I learned enough about the continent from people of different countries to want to return and explore as much as I could.

There were parts of Festac that were chaotio and insane, but it was the beautiful things I remembered as I tearfully boarded the plane with the first half of the American contingent.

After a delayed departure and many last minute changes, we knew Stevie Wonder would be coming the next day, that Randy Weston was performing that night and we had seen the plane of the second American contingent arrive.

Abdul Rahman, an artist, turned to the soldiers at the airport and gave them the power sign. In a stone Nigerian accent he shouted, "Good-bye Nigeria! Keep it up with the Black Power! We shall return Nigeria!"

And then I laughed with everyone else because he had said it all.

Still Water Run Deep

Peace of mind,
Still is water,
the silent one,
is superior
over the loud one,
Peace in the universe, harmony flowing in the water, in the stillness of the mind...

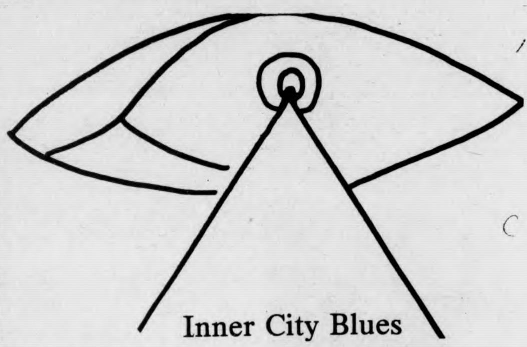
still waters run deep.



Inner City Blues

Deep in the depths of the Inner city smolders the racial powder keg,
The Inner City Blues,
the slow,
walking,
stalking,
will of our people,
waiting.... watching...
when will
the word be given?

walking down the street, we look for the sign...

when will the word be given?

inner city blues,
heartbeat of our people.

people's revolution takes time, protracted war means we must have patience and must be consistent, so be patient but get ready, organize,
get ready,
now,
cut drugs loose
and clean yourself up, stop fighting
one another, get yourself together wake up and listen to some good news
keep strugglin'... against the jinn, cause
we gonna win, north, east,
west,
and south, blows the inner city blues.

Muhammad Ahmad
March 17, 1972

Sunrise In Nigeria

By KATHE SANDLER

Violets and purples flood the somber night
While yellow and orange hazes
Announce the awakening of the sleeping one

The young beauty slowly rises
Robed in luminous glod
Emerging full and more comely
To behold her, one would quiver and shake
And stretch out arms to embrace her.

Ascending to her thrown
She sets the world to motion
And sprinkles her beginnings
Into the cloths of village women
And where else after dawn can one find the sunrise?

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 100 TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1977
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Abzug urges involvement

Bella Abzug, former New York Congresswoman, talked to an enthusiastic capacity crowd last night at the SUB. (Staff photo by Denise Stewart)

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

"A woman with a college education gets paid less than a man with a high school education on the average," said former New York congresswoman Bella Abzug, speaking on Women's issues as part of UMass' International Women's Week Conference.

Abzug, speaking before an 800 person audience in the Student Union Ballroom related many statistics facing the female graduate.

Abzug reflected that society does not place "a very high value on what is called women's work."

She cited unfair wage compensation practices and other discriminatory actions as the impetus for the creation of the Women's Movement.

Abzug reminded the audience that "whatever opportunities are opening up to you are the result of concentrated efforts by an organized women's movement backed by a growing recognition of the growing power of women."

Abzug spoke briefly of the many areas of government open to women. While 7000 women have been elected to local state and national offices around the country, such a number comprises only 9 per cent of all elected officials in the country.

Abzug said she felt that "political institutions do not change or yield easily, and several power structures are resisting the involvement of women, young people and minorities."

She continued her lecture with a condemnation for "the world's greatest democracy" in regard to the absence of female representation in the Senate and the Supreme Court. "The Court is oriented towards only one-half of the population," Abzug said.

Turning to world politics Abzug spoke about the official United Nations Conference for International Women's Year held in Mexico City in 1975.

Abzug served as one of two Congressional advisors as part of the President Commission on Observance of International Women's Year. "Throughout the world, women have no power at the top where the decisions are made."

Abzug said that 500 million of the world's two billion women cannot even read or write. "These women", said Abzug, "are concerned with survival rather that equality."

Abzug called for a united struggle against oppression of women and for the right to equal opportunities for all people around the globe.

Out of the 1975 World Plan for Action National Commission of Women, was created, which was appointed by the President with a $5 million dollar budget and approved through the actions of Abzug. The Commission is sponsoring a National Conference in Houston this November and will be sponsoring individual state conferences to be held between now and July. Abzug said she was looking forward to the National Conference. "I think the delegates will come forward with a major statement; legislative, administrative and educational statement which will be given to Congress and the President of the United States.

Abzug focused the majority of her lecture on a topic she referred to as "an anatomy of a politician."

Recounting her early years of college and later law school, Abzug reflected that after persons she had helped into government had "disappointed" her, she ran for Congress in 1969 at the age of 50.

Abzug feels that women have come a long way since 1945 when

TURN TO PAGE 3

Chinese culture flourishes

By A. Treneman
Collegian Staff

A colorful lion, complete with snapping mouth, tongue, and fluttering eyes, awoke last night in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Shortly after the awakening it became positively lively and danced the evil spirits away.

The Lion Dance is traditionally a way to begin Chinese ceremonies — this lion began China Night, presented by the UMass Chinese Student Club.

Dances, ancient folk-songs, Kung-fu presentations, and contemporary music composed the two-hour program.

The Boston Chinese Dance Company contributed with a Fan Dance, the Happy Buddha Dance, Floatation Dance and the Impression of Tung Huang.

Fans fluttered, alternating red and white, during the Fan Dance whose theme was derived from fanning emperors in ancient China.

The Happy Buddha Dance was playful with 5 masked dancers frolicking on stage.

Impression of Tung Huang ended the night with a beautiful show of scarves which were twirled and swirled to form patterns in the air.

Kung-fu, a Chinese martial art, was demonstrated by UMass and Amherst students. "Si-lum Praying Mantis style" kung-fu made up the first set. After the individual presentations, so graceful that it was hard to believe they were from a martial art, a mock fight ensued showing the various moves in action.

Later on various "external" weapons — nunchucks and staffs — were demonstrated as well as an impressive show of an "internal power exercise" in which a bamboo pole was placed on martial artist's throat and subsequently broken.

Andrea Chiu sang "Four Seasons" and "The Brook", both Chinese folk songs. Christine Chen sang "The Flowerdrum of Fung Yung". Lily Yuo sang three folk songs, only one was identified "Rhodedendrum" signifying the arrival of spring (a timely theme).

Songs in English were sung by "Sojourner" a Boston group. "Something Very Different About Me Today", "War of the Flea" and "The Immigrant Song" were performed by the five musicians.

TURN TO PAGE 3

The Boston Chinese Dance Company performs during yesterday's China Night. (Staff photo by David Olken)

Workshops start off well

By PATTI KELLEHER
Collegian Staff

Heavily attended workshops on women's issues started International Women's Week on a successful note. Beginning at 9 a.m., such topics as "Vaginal Ecology", "Rape", and "Our Relationships with Men-Sexual Assumptions" were explained by workshop leaders and discussed among workshop attendants.

Women and men discussed issues pertinent to women throughout the day at their leisure. A special children's workshop was held in a centrally located room where parents were able to leave their children to be entertained while they went to explore adult workshops.

Workshops were arranged in formats left up to the discretion of the workshop leaders. There were lectures, structured discussions, group exercises, slide shows among other methods.

"Vaginal Ecology", presented by a woman from the University Health Services, was a lecture and discussion about that "private part" of a woman. Vaginal structure and functions were discussed in detail, and women participants were urged to learn about how to keep their reproductive organs healthy. The many types of vaginal infections and their treatments were explained with the help of a slide show.

Helene Yasso, a nutritionist, also from UHS gave a workshop on "Alternative Forms of Protein".

She spoke about vegetarianism, its good points and its problems. It is a healthy diet, low in fat and cholesterol, and also better for ecology, since much less acreage is used in producing grains that would be an equivalent amount of beef.

Timing is the critical thing in a vegetarian diet, according to Lasso. The only way one can obtain a high quality protein as a vegetarian is to combine certain foods at the same time. To eat one of the foods at lunch and the other at dinner would do no good because they must be mixed together as they are digested. Those wanting to become vegetarians can do so without any harm to their bodies, if they only find alternative forms of protein. Literature and advice may be obtained at the infirmary.

Women participating in yesterday's workshops seemed to find the information they received invaluable. One young woman was overheard remarking about the morning rape seminar. "I hadn't intended to stay the whole time, but I couldn't leave. I just sat there with my stomach all tied up in knots."

At noon, Karen Cookman, a

TURN TO PAGE 2

Karen Gray, and her daughter Josie, take time out to have some fun at yesterday's Children's Workshop. (Staff photo by Jon Sher)

Selectmen repeal parking area license

By ROSEMARY CONWAY
Collegian Staff

Thirty-two residents of Amherst petitioned the Amherst Board of Selectmen to rescind a parking area license allowed the owner of a proposed "indoor entertainment" arcade at last night's meeting.

Selectman Robert J. Garvey presented the petition, which was signed by 50 residents of the Main and High Street area.

Garvey protested that "the selectman acted before waiting for the Zoning Board decision on granting the license." He said the question is not of the coin-operated machines to be in the arcade, but, "whether the selectman have the citizenry in mind in granting such a license without adequate parking."

One resident voiced the fear of beer cans and other problems which would be caused "by the parking area."

Vice-chairperson Diana Romer explained that no possible action could be taken by the Board of Selectman until the time of appeal expires on March 14, and then the Advisory Council would have to be consulted.

Romer said a public hearing may be scheduled, but it is not certain the selectman can rescind the license.

Garvey assured the Board that the license would be appealed. Representatives of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works and their consultants, Storch Engineering Co., presented revisional plans for the eight "TOPICS" intersections under consideration for the Town of Amherst.

General Secretary John Callahan of Amherst College objected to a proposal regarding the intersection of South Pleasant Street and Route 9. The plans include a widening of Rte. 9 on the North Side.

Callahan said, "We would greatly prefer to see the roadway not widened as it will affect campus life and the nature of the town. Driver frustration may be lessened but safety will be impaired due to the increased speed of the drivers."

He said Amherst College would not object so strenuously if other aspects of the problem had been considered, such as hitchhiking.

Edmund D. Mossey, project planner, informed the Board that federal funds which are now available will be used by other communities if Amherst delays final decisions on the intersection plans much longer.

The Town of Amherst acquired the Farmland Development Rights to the Wallace property of 58 acres on Belchertown Road for $85,000. Payments will be made to Wallace over the five year period.

By this action Wallace retains ownership of the land but can not build on it or plant it, in order to keep the space open.

Town Manager A. Louis Hayward said that five contract bids for the development of the proposed Community Facilities Building had been received. He said the lowest bid received was $815,700 by the H.P. Cummings Company of Ware, Massachusetts.

Hayward said all bids will be reviewed today in greater depth.

Issue Editor Thomas Crowley

Day Layout	Sue Zoine
Wire Layout	Paul Blumberh
Editorial Layout	Debbie Alliegro
Sports Layout	Fran Sypek
Head Darkroom Tech	David Olken
Photo Staff	Jon Sher, Denise Stewart
Head Graphics Tech	Dan Schindler, Phil Milstein
Ad Layout	Leith Illinith
Wireass Remark	You can't talk to a sick mind.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Children cared for in CC

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

Tucked away in 168 Campus Center you can find a place to draw, make collages, dance, play music, or take a nap; that is, if you are between the ages of 5 months and eight or nine years. The International Women's Week events include a children's workshop, open daily to accommodate those parents who would like to be free to attend the week's events.

The workshop is staffed by approximately 40 persons, both male and female, students and non-students. Staff members hope that children could learn something along the same lines as their parents, as the programming for the week is based on non-sexist and non-racist principles.

One of the staff members described the orientation of the workshop as "just utopia." The activities planned include "the Children and Ways of Appalachia," liberated story-telling and role plays, puppet workshops, "Famous Women," and juggling. Although most of the activities are geared for those children under age 9, the staff has art supplies and non-competitive games for older children.

The staff also offers snacks, such as fruit, cheese, and juice for the children, and rest period in the "Quiet Corner" are arranged. The walls are decorated with posters and information about the conference, and emergency numbers are listed on the blackboard. The children have started a children's art exhibit for the pieces they do during the day.

Although only children made use of the workshop yesterday, the staff feels they are prepared at all times to accommodate up to 50 children. The staff members said those persons who had seen the workshop or left their children there felt that it would be nice to have something like this all the time in the Campus Center, since the building houses so many speakers and conferences throughout the year.

For more information about the workshops, inquire at the information desk on the first floor of the Campus Center.

Candidates debate tonight

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

Candidates for the Student Government Association (SGA) President will be out to nail down their platforms and pressure their opponents into doing the same at the second presidential debate tonight.

The debate will start at 8 p.m. in the Engineering East Building and is sponsored by the Students Senate Governmental Affairs Committee (GAC).

Candidate Pinky Batiste said yesterday she and co-candidate Jon Hite would "take a different approach" to tonight's debate. Batiste said she was not too satisfied with the first presidential debate last Tuesday in Southwest.

"The first debate showed very little differences between the candidates. We were all dealing with basically the same issues and as a result we all sounded alike. There are real differences between the candidates and tonight we're going to let the students know we are the most experienced candidates. We'll show them what we can do," Batiste said.

Jon Hite said yesterday he felt solid distinctions between the candidates would become clear tonight.

"Over the last three or four days there have been some real differences on the issues and I think this will be apparent in the debates. We're coming out strong on our issues and I hope the other candidates are planning on doing the same," Hite said.

Co-Candidates John Foley and Herb Tyson said they would use the second debate to "clarify and amplify" their original issues. Tyson said last week's debate was a "good testing ground" for the pair's platform and "lead to some valuable criticism."

Foley said last night "Hopefully by strengthening our stands the other candidates will take a more definitive stand on theirs. It seemed in the last debate the other candidates were echoing what we were saying. We're going to try to break this. We're going to lay down a strict outline of out platform and hopefully the others will do the same."

Foley said the debate would affect only people interested in the campaign in the first place.

Joel Weissman and Charles Pooler, the third set of SGA co-candidates were both unavailable for comment last night.

According to Karl Allen and Neil Chyte of the GAC, the debate format will consist of an opening statement by the GAC, a ten minute opening statement by each of the teams, two rounds of questions from the panelists, and a general audience question and answer period.

The five-person panel will consist of SGA Co-President Jay A. Martus, SOP representative Susan Birmingham, Central Area President Janice Perry, Collegian Columnist Jan Van Tol and UMass student Robert Earl Brown. Allen and Chyte will act as co-moderators.

The debate will be broadcast live over WMUA.

WMUA Station Manager Charles Pellet said last night the debate broadcast will be the most effective way to expose a large number of students to the candidates and the issues.

"This is not like a national campaign where how the candidate comes across is the most important thing. In a situation like this, name recognition is the most important factor when people go to the polls. The broadcast will give the candidates the chance to get their names and issues out in the open," Pellet said.

In the first debate at Hampden Student Center in Southwest last week, the candidates aired their campaign issues for the first time. Among the issues debated at that time were Student Unionization, Budget cuts, the creation of a student job bank, the quality of student services and the future role of the SGA.

Controversial session held

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

In an apparently invalid move last night, the Central Area Council (CAC) entered into executive session to endorse SGA presidential candidates John Foley and Herb Tyson.

"It is my opinion that a governmental body may not vote in executive session," commented Paul Yanowitch, the SGA attorney general. "That is, the vote must be taken is public to be consistent with the representative theory of government."

In other action, CAC listened to an outline of the recently released booklet supporting SATF $7 increase reviewed the University liquor policy, and finally allocated money to some Central area groups.

To correct the apparent null support for Tyson and Foley in the closed door session, CAC president Janie Perry has announced that an emergency public meeting will be held Thursday at 6 p.m. in 123 Baker, the Central Area Government offices.

Undergraduate senate speaker Brian DeLima distributed and summarized the senate publication "Where the Buck Stops", which defends the SATF $7 increase with an outline of the student organizations it funds with the fees.

Although Eric Sandquist of Wheeler questioned how the CAC motion to support the SATF increase would be interpreted by the area constitutents, the council still voted its approval.

President Janice Perry distributed the Community Development Center's liquor policy that prohibits any dorm sponsoring a party serving alcohol from advertising the event outside the dormitory unless licensed by the UMass Department of Public Safety.

After Mark Richardson, Greenough artisan resident, reviewed his crafts fair held at the SUB last week, a meeting was scheduled for tonight at Greenough to scrutinize applications for his position to be open in June.

An update on the three week CAC blood drive was given to the representatives last night by co-vice president Andrew Topalian. He said the Blood Donor Officials have expressed great satisfaction with the turnout so far. Scheduled for this second week of the drive are Van Meter North, tonight; Gorman, Wednesday; and Chadbourne, Thursday.

Money petitioners receiving funds from the CAC last night were Bruce Hartwell, who received $100 for his automotive maintenance and overhaul colloquium; Steve Ross who received $50 for a Van Meter North March 31 coffee house; and Mary Beth Mahoney who received $100 for a Central Area spring semi-formal to be run by Brooks Dormitory.

Activities coordinator Dave Kantor announced a whist tournament to be held March 13 at Van Meter Central. Events following the spring break, besides the concert, include a gong show, coffee house, and an inter-dorm superstar competition.

★ Workshop attended

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

graduate assistant from University Health Services, conducted a workshop titled "Human Aspects of Contraception." Cookman introduced the workshop saying that it would be an alternative approach to the subject of contraception, since most discussions usually centered on the technical aspects of contraceptives, and their relative effectiveness.

The group divided into two groups to discuss such questions as who makes the decision to use birth control, and what other factors besides the effectiveness influenced a couples choice of birth control device: social pressures, how comfortable the woman feels with her body, and the role of the male. Discussion also focused on the various dangers in involved with each method of contraception.

The workshops will continue through Friday.

Diverse selection

Bromberg superb in SUB

By MARK HARRIS LEVITAN
Collegian Staff

Remembering everything that happens at a concert is not exactly one of the tools of this writer's trade, but I do remember having one hell of a good time. This was a good concert; the David Bromberg Band brought the best rock and roll seen on this campus in a good long while. Unlike groups that can play only one style well, Bromberg's group plays a wide variety of musical styles with distinction.

Bromberg, clean-shaven, wearing a blue suit, and looking very much like a serious man, brought his sense of humor and his musical taste to every aspect of the performance. The quality of tastefulness was also evident in the members of Bromberg's band. The drummer, bassist, trombonist, sax-flute-piccolo player, fiddler, and fiddle-mandolin-guitar player all played superbly, without flash, but not without brilliance. Their manner reflected a deep feeling for their music. Seen on their faces was a serene misture of pleasure and concentration.

Concert Review

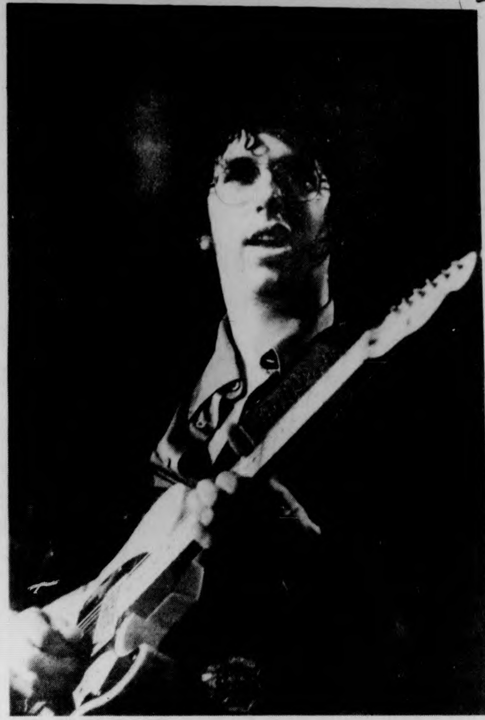
The choice of music was both diverse and excellent. The show began with a laid-back version of the country rocker "Six Days On The Road," which blended into a rousing jam. Bromberg started the song on acoustic guitar, then picked up a mandolin for a while, and finally grabbed his fiddle as the song bloomed into a three fiddle cajun "waltz". The wizardry of Bromberg, and the versatility of the rest of the band opens up vast areas of music to be explored.

Bromberg has roots in the blues, and his blues picking rates with the best. His electric blues flew, bubble, and jump off of his guitar with a taste and feeling that seems to have faded from the music world. The band shifted easily from blues to bluegrass to western swing to cajun to country blues to folk ballads to Dixieland to a solid brand of rock and roll. There were many musical highlights, featuring soaring double lead guitars, fine tenor and baritone sax on the rock and swing numbers, some fine mandolin duets, David's fluid flatpicking, and many more high spots than I can possibly remember.

Bromberg was visibly tired, and he kept a running commentary going about the "Travel Exhaustion" that he and the band were suffering from. The adjustment they made was to play slower material, but none of the tunes ever got down to the ragged or tedious. The crowd was very energetic, and it is to Bromberg's credit that the roomful flowed right along with the energy being produced.

Towards the end, Mr. Bromberg, looking very much like a wild professor of "buzznadology," delivered his thesis to the student population in the form of "What A Wonderful World," (the old song about history and biology), and finally a long, hysterical, monologous, shall I say Biblical rave about the state of the world as seen through his tired, glazed eyes.

The only real drawback of the show was the fact that it was in the ballroom. The place is simply too small and uncomfortable to show acts of the quality that the Program Council Music Committee is trying to bring here. The facilities available to the fan and performer are less than hospitable. Despite the uncompromising conditions, the Music people handled the technical phases of the show nicely. And thanks to David Bromberg and Band for feeding some of the musical hunger that exists here.



This man, David Bromberg, and his band, played to an enthused crowd last Saturday night. (Staff photo by David Olken)

MSP circulates petition

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

The Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP) is circulating petitions among faculty this week urging the UMass president "to obey the law" by beginning contract negotiations with the MSP.

University trustees last week authorized the president to take the legal steps necessary to "redefine" the bargaining unit.

The trustees decided to appeal the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission ruling that department heads, part-time faculty who have been teaching three semesters, visiting faculty and faculty who receive their salary from sources other than UMass be included in the bargaining unit.

MSP President Larry S. Roberts last night said the group is circulating petitions through their department representatives which they hope to send to the trustees within the next few weeks.

Roberts said the MSP is still considering legal action to oppose the trustee appeal, but no final decisions have been reached at this time.

The trustees are mandated by collective bargaining laws for public employees to meet with the newly-elected union, Roberts said, and have so far ignored the group.

Because of the appeal, it could be three to five years before negotiations could get underway, he said.

President of the Amherst Chapter of the American Association of University Professor (AAUP) said there is "very little precedent" for a successful appeal by the University.

Professor Joseph S. Larson said a recent decision involving University of Connecticut faculty included department heads, and the administration has not refused to bargain.

Larson said that the lawyer the university has retained to handle faculty collective bargaining, Arthur Menard, recently lost a similar appeal in the New Hampshire Supreme Court.

By delaying negotiations, the University may also make it more difficult for the faculty to receive salary adjustments promised at the February meeting of the trustees.

Under collective bargaining law, it is not clear whether the faculty can receive any increases before a contract is approved by the faculty, administration and signed by the governor.

The faculty have been without any salary increases in three years.

Soldier says war rules Israel

By STEVE ROSS
Collegian Staff

"The Effect of War on Israeli Society" was the topic of a talk sponsored by Resources Judaica, given by Lior Yaron.

In his speech, Yaron put forth the idea that the Israeli's life is governed by war.

Regardless of any prospective peace settlement, no immediate transition of society from one of hostility to one of peace, is possible, said Yaron.

The youth compulsary service, later reserve units, and above all Israeli awareness to face death in every place and time, illustrates the fact that the conflict is a permanent factor in Israeli society.

Israeli society lives under the shadow of the Holocaust, a basic trauma to Israelis and to Jewish people at large, which to some extent is stained into their psychology.

A society that fights for existence cannot allow repetition of historical events, said Yaron.

The fact that the Holocaust was a grim reality requires the Israeli to watch Arab attitudes carefully, because he cannot say "it will not happen again," according to Yaron.

Yaron is the general secretary of North American Jewish Students Network, an organization which functions as an umbrella group for Jewish students on university campuses. He also served as a second lieutenant in the Israeli Tank Corps in the Golon Heights during the 1973 war.

★ Abzug warns female graduates

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

she obtained her law degree from Columbia University.

"I never accepted any of the stereotypes that our society seeks to impose upon women. I would be the last one to suggest that women look alike, act alike or think alike, but we have to get together as a sex in order to prove that we are no identical, that we have the right to act and love as individuals, not as someone else's idea of what a woman should be."

Abzug applauded women who are entering the legal profession in ever increasing numbers.

"Women have the right to be anything and everything just as men have the right to be."

Speaking about equality in politics, Ms. Abzug said that if the day ever comes when we do have equality in politics we are going to have to accelerate actions to end discrimination against women. A majority of women are not sharing in the responsibility of government. We are a nation of myths and television is purveyor of myths. Abzug criticized television as one of the "biggest purveyors of myths," and condemned the portrayal of women who are slaves to domestic stereotyping as well as the myth of the ficticious wife, mother and career women "all rolled into one."

"What we want is a little more truth. Homemakers as a class each is one is remarkably different. They are the largest group of unpaid laborers in the country. And our society couldn't function without them," Abzug said.

Abzug urged women to avoid artificial and unrealistic compartmentalizations and applauded those women who have made breakthroughs in careers traditionally held by men.

Only 15 per cent of women are in the professions, said Abzug. Two thirds of all working women are in clerical services, just about the lowest paying jobs around. And unfortunately even with the passage of the equal pay act and the Equal Right Act the gap between the earnings of women and men has widened and is getting bigger.

Abzug expressed optimism for the ratification of the Equal Right's Amendment by 1979.

The former Congresswomen felt the National Conference in Houston would help state legislations to positively consider ERA passage. The states of Florida, Oklahoma and Illinois were specified by Abzug as those states which would be focused on by organized pro-ERA groups in the immediate future.

Task Force meeting to coordinate action

By JAMES A. POSGAY
Collegian Staff

The UMass Budget Cuts Task Force is meeting tonight "to coordinate the communication and action of fighting Governor Michael Dukakis' proposed level funding budget for the University," according to UMass student Eric Andersen.

The meeting will be held in the Student Government Association (SGA) Council Chambers at 5 p.m.

"We want to work from both sides," Andersen said. "By getting some representation from every living area, we can bring the implications of the Governor's budget home."

Andersen said that students "must gain political power."

"This is a universal problem," one task force member said. "All of the state's higher education facilities are underfunded."

"We must get out and talk to students at other colleges," he added.

"We must hold teach-ins and workshops to educate ourselves," said Jim Leas a graduate student in Physics.

"We need ideas and people," said Jean Rice, student organizing project office coordinator.

The task force needs help with "lobbying... and coordinating the budget cut activities," said Rice.

"We have to get information out to the students, their parents and alumni," Rice said.

"This affects every student's life," said Andersen.

Profile tomorrow

As part of its continuing coverage of the Student Government Association presidential campaign, the Collegian is running profiles of the three contending teams, beginning tomorrow with Marion "Pinky" Batiste and Jon Hite.

The series will continue Thursday with an interview with co-candidates John Foley and Herb Tyson, and end on Friday with the team of Joel Weissman and Charles Pooler.

University students will vote for their candidates on Wednesday and Thursday next week.

★ China

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

Other songs in Chinese were performed.

The announced purpose of China night was to introduce Chinese culture through the various arts. My inability to comprehend Chinese hampered my understanding to be sure, however, China Night was colorful and enjoyable. In two hours, you can't ask for much more.

Suspected exhibitionist apprehended

By RHONDA LIBENSON
Collegian Staff

A UMass lifeguard apprehended a man who was allegedly masturbating into women's clothing in the Curry Hicks Women's locker room yesterday at 5:45 p.m.

Paul Wilkins, the lifeguard on duty, explained that while he was watching the pool, an unidentified woman, clad only in a towel, came running out of the women's locker room yelling, "there is a man 'jerking off' in the shower room."

Wilkins proceeded to the locker room, and found a man standing in the shower room. He brought the unidentified man up to an office and called the police.

UMass Police Officer, Eliot Kabachnick brought him to the UMass Department of Public Safety. Charges are unknown at this time.

The Collegian will report tomorrow on the treatment and psychiatric handling of exhibitionists.

Women's Resource Fair

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

Clowns, silk-screening, slideshows, demonstrations, literature and more will be on hand for the International Women's Day Resource Fair, to be held Tuesday, March 8, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Thirty tables with information and displays from various campus and community organizations will be arranged in a large circle around the Ballroom. When you aren't talking to representatives from the Girl Scouts, women's crew team, Puerto Rican Solidarity Committee or the various women's and men's centers, you can take time out to watch feminist bellydancers or listen to poetry and prose readings by area authors.

In the Ballroom anteroom, there will be continuous showings of a slideshow on "Women's Images in Advertising." Videotaped lectures by women at last summer's Toward Tomorrow Fair will feature Florence Kennedy and Uri Kochimia.

Feel creative? Charlotte Allen, organizer for the Resource Fair, plans to have mural painting for all in the Ballroom. Allen promises the Fair will be "the big event of the day."

Below is a partial listing of events in the Resource Fair:

10 a.m. — 2 p.m., 3-4 p.m. Uktannee feminist belly-dancers (all UMass students)

11 a.m.-12 noon: poetry reading by Liz Hanson, MFA candidate.

12 noon-1 p.m. Prose reading from "Daughters of Earth" by Fran Krasno.

1 p.m.-1:45 p.m., 2:15-3 p.m. Jenny Reall, readings from her collection of poems, Sifted Sand.

3-4 p.m. Boston Women's Graphic Collective, silk-screening demonstration.

Barbara Sizemore, one of three women to speak tonight in the SUB at 8 p.m.

DVP honors women activists

The Distinguished Visitors Program will host three women activists today and tonight as part of the International Women's Week festivities. Helen Rodriguez, Madonna Gilbert, and Barbara Sizemore will speak tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Madonna Gilbert has participated in the takeover of Alcatraz Island, where she remained for eight months; the Trail of Broken Treaties, Wounded Knee, and other confrontations. She has worked with others on the Cheyenne River Reservation to combat the policies of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and tribal government. Currently, Gilbert is coordinator of the Rapid City Survival School.

Barbara Sizemore is the former superintendent of schools in Washington D.C. and is now working on her Ph.D at the University of Chicago. She was involved in the struggle with the Washington Teachers Union and the Board of Education, concerning the education of all children in the Washington area. Her efforts to implement progressive change resulted in her firing from that position.

Helen Rodriguez, from New York City, is an expert on health care and more specifically sterilization abuse in Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the United States.

Gilbert will do a workshop on "Reclaiming our Culture: Native Americans and Education," at 10 a.m. in Campus Center 101. Sizemore will conduct a workshop on "Facilitating New Methods of Teaching Black Children at 2:30 p.m. in Campus Center 804-808.

At 2 p.m. Helen Rodriguez and Madonna Gilbert, along with Helen Steward and Kathy Hwang will hold a panel discussion on "Personal and Political Perspectives of Third World Women on Feminism" in Campus Center 101.

Andrea Dworkin to speak

Andrea Dworkin, feminist and author of the books, Women Hating and Our Blood, will speak Wednesday, March 9, at 4 p.m. in Campus Center 101. Dworkin will be talking about "Pornography: The New Terrorism."

In her latest book, Our Blood, Dworkin exposes pornography, among other cultural institutions, as an instrument of sexual brainwashing and an enforcer of female oppression. "In pornography," she says, "sadism is the means by which men establish their dominance. Sadism is the authentic exercise of power which confirms manhood."

Dworkin goes on to say that "in literary pornography, the pulsating heart of darkness at the center of the male-positive system is exposed in all of its terrifying nakedness. Women are tortured, whipped, and chained; women are bound and gagged, branded and burned ... all of this to establish in the male a viable sense of his own worth."

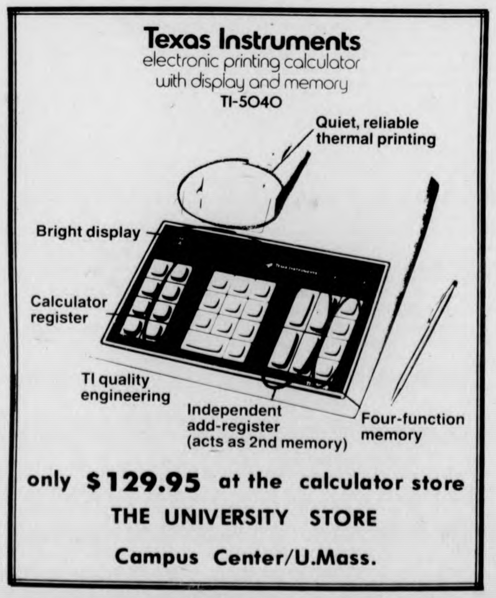
Dworkin's outrage became verbalized in the mid-1960's when she was dragged to the Women's House of Detention in New York for four days of the usual inmate routine — brutal. She had been participating in an anti-war demonstration.

Dworkin calls upon all women to face their debilitating life, "to create a new culture free of violence, of dominance and submission in any form, and free of gender itself." As Gloria Steinem has said about Dworkin's writing, she "performs the special miracle of writing from great anger but never from vengeance."

FOR OUR CHILDREN

Amherst Travel
Consultants, Inc.
"Your travel agent"
South Pleasant Street
Amherst, Mass. 01002
256-6704

ARE YOU RENTING ?
ARE YOUR CONTENTS INSURED?
IF NOT, CONTACT TOM LYONS
AT LYONS INSURANCE IN
NORTHAMPTOM FOR A LOW COST
RENTOR'S PACKAGE POLICY 584-1998



Quiet, reliable thermal printing
Bright display
Calculator register
TI quality engineering
Independent add-register (acts as 2nd memory)
Four-function memory

Texas Instruments
electronic printing calculator with display and memory
TI-5040
only $129.95 at the calculator store
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Campus Center/U.Mass.

Political theatre to come

The Little Flags Theatre Collective, under the direction of Maxine Klein and based in Boston, is a multi-racial, highly motivated, and self-sufficient production community attempting to meet the need in our country for a professional, political theatre. The performance group is dedicated "to a society free from discrimination by sex, race, age, and class."

"Fanshen" will be presented on Wednesday, March 9, in the Student Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. "Tania" will be presented on Thursday, March 10 same time and place. Both performances are free.

"Fanshen" was adapted by David Hare from William Hinton's documentary about revolution in a Chinese village during the years 1945-1949. The play is, however, more than the historical record of the revolt in China. It is the compelling account of the struggle of the hundreds of millions of landless Chinese peasants to stand up, throw off the landlord yoke, gain land, and build a new world; to "Fanshen".

"Tania", written and directed by Maxine Klein, is a story of Tamara Bunke, a revolutionary who fought for the liberation of Latin America and died with Che Guevara in his Bolivian campaign. "Tania" blends drama, dance and song to tell the story of Tania's love for all people oppressed.

Just as "Fanshen" and "Tania" present people in the midst of a transition from an oppressive life style to a liberated one, the Little Flags Theatre Collective is trying to forge a new style of working in the theatre that agrees with their political values.

Preterm: Ongoing battle

NEW YORK [LNS] — Each day since October 19, angry strikers have been picketing the Preterm Clinic located in Brookline, MA.

The four-month strike by women workers at the Preterm abortion clinic has brought together Boston's hospital workers and Boston's women's movement, since at its core are issues crucial for both, the rights of women workers to organize for greater jobs security and control; and the rights of women to quality health care.

The strike takes on an added importance since Boston has one of the largest hospital workforces of any city in the country — and they are mostly unorganized.

Preterm has not differed from other Boston health institutions' opposition to unions. The clinic, which is the largest abortion facility of its kind in Massachusetts, has spent a tremendous amount of money on union busting, from hiring scab workers to paying the Brookline police $10 an hour to guard the clinic.

The Preterm management's actions in the past months are only the culmination of its strategy to prevent workers from unionizing.

"They want to keep women workers at a high level of turnover, where they'll never be in a position to question policies," Louise Rice, a striking counselor, told LNS. Having worked at Preterm for two and a half years, she has been there longer than almost any other employe. "Their strategy is to use women like me — I have a few kids, never finished college — for a year or two until we're burned out — They don't want women staying and organizing who will make demands."

Big Business

When Preterm first opened its doors as an abortion and gynecological clinic four years ago, women in the Boston area welcomed it as a place offering more humane and less expensive health care than hospitals or private physicians.

"Patients are hurried through an impersonal process and workers are paid low wages with a few benefits and arbitrary scheduling," explains a statement by the Preterm Strike Support Committee.

In addition, over the past two and a half years, the Preterm Clinic has shirted its emphasis from comprehensive gynecological care and counseling to more profitable abortions. The GYN clinic no longer accepts patients on Medicaid, and the cost of a GYN exam has risen to $30 — higher than other facilities in the Boston area.

Union Drive at Preterm

In fall 1974, Preterm nonmedical staff — counselors, receptionists, and aides — decided to form a union. They chose the Hospital and Health Care Employees District 1199 of the AFL-CIO to represent them. After months of delaying tactics by Preterm, a union election was finally held and won in May 1975.

The staff spent eight months drawing up a contract and negotiations began in December 1975. Among the demands are a limit to each counselor's caseload, a union shop, an end to arbitrary scheduling , benefits for part-time workers, maternity leave, and wage increases.

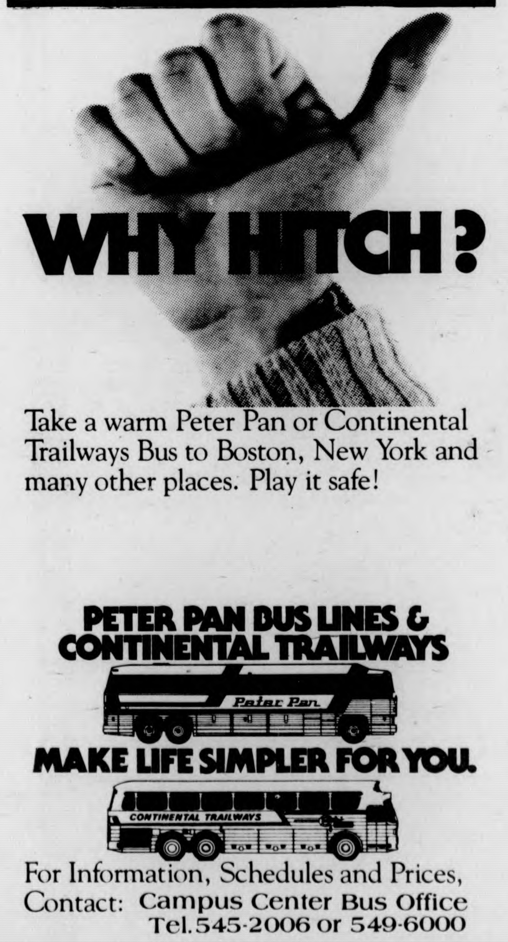
"Their (Preterm) strategy was to not agree to anything," said Rice, "and thereby provoke a strike. They figured if they forced a strike they could hire scabs who would be attacked by the union and become even more loyal to Preterm."

With management continuing to stall in negotiations, the union decided in early October that their only recourse was to strike. On October 15, in an attempt to avert the strike, the union offered to submit all outstanding contract issues to an "impartial third party" whose decision would be binding on union and management. Preterm refused.

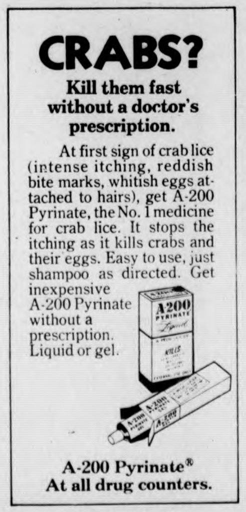
The strike began as scheduled on October 19, with fifty of a potential seventy union members walking out. The remaining twenty, almost without exception, had been hired only about a month before the strike.

The National Labor Relations Board started hearings on the Preterm case on February 28. On February 5, over 900 people demonstrated to show their support for the Preterm strike. The demonstrators marched two and a half miles in snow and freezing temperatures, demanding that Preterm negotiate a fair contract with its workers, shift its emphasis from abortion back to comprehensive gynecological care, and end its funding of population control programs in which the Preterm Institute is also involved.

Poor Richards
TUESDAY
25c Drafts
$2.00 pitchers
ALL NIGHT



Take a warm Peter Pan or Continental Trailways Bus to Boston, New York and many other places. Play it safe!
PETER PAN BUS LINES & CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS
MAKE LIFE SIMPLER FOR YOU.
For Information, Schedules and Prices,
Contact: Campus Center Bus Office
Tel. 545-2006 or 549-6000



CRABS?
Kill them fast without a doctor's prescription.
At first sign of crab lice (intense itching, reddish bite marks, whitish eggs attached to hairs), get A-200 Pyrinate, the No. 1 medicine for crab lice. It stops the itching as it kills crabs and their eggs. Easy to use, just shampoo as directed. Get inexpensive A-200 Pyrinate without a prescription. Liquid or gel.
A-200 Pyrinate®
At all drug counters.

Wordpower:

Women in China

女	woman
奻	to quarrel two women together
姦	intrigue and slander three women together
家	home a pig under a roof
嫁	marriage a woman and a pig under one roof
妻	a wife a woman and a broom
子	son
好	good woman and male child

Today's events

Workshops on international issues and cultures, Lower Level Campus Center: 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Children's workshops: 9 a.m. - 7:30 p.m. CC 168.

March: 4:30 p.m. Northampton.

11 a.m. - 4 p.m. Women's Resource Fair, SUB.

Women's Pot Luck Dinner; Grace Church, Amherst 4-8 p.m.

DVP Lecture Program: 8 p.m. SUB; Helen Rodriguez, Barbara Sizemore, Madonna Gilbert.

Workshop Schedule:

9 a.m. Judaism and the Middle Ages Judith Baskin CC 174.

10 a.m. Cross Cultural Perspectives Emma Appelluzzo CC 162.

Men's Lives Southwest Men's Center CC 804-808.

Reclaiming our Culture: Native Americans and Education Madonna Gilbert CC 101.

11 a.m. Women in Irish-Belfast Politics Pat Whelan CC 165.

Sterilization Abuse Helen Rodriguez CC 917.

12 noon Women Under Apartheid South Africa and their Role in Social Change Nana Sheshebe CC 164.

2 p.m. Panel: Personal and Political Perspective of Third World Women on Feminism: Helen Rodriguez, Madonna Gilbert, Helen Steward, Kathy Hwang CC 101.

2:30 p.m. Facilitating New Methods of Teaching Black Children Barbara Sizemore CC 804-8.

3 p.m. Women and Language Barbara Stack CC 162.

Women and China Carma Hinton CC 174-6.

4 p.m. Women in China Batya Weinbaum CC 917.

5 p.m. International Socialist Revolutionary Feminism: Emerging Capitalist Crisis Susan Hammond CC 162.

6 p.m. Women, Buddhism, and Spirituality Maria Brown CC 805-9.

Children's Workshops Schedule: CC 188

9 a.m. - 11 a.m. Singing-drums-music Art and Bldg. housing.

1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. Children's Theatre-film (the Red Balloon).

4:30 - 7:30 p.m. Children's Theatre-story telling-role playing.

CAMP COUNSELOR OPENINGS
UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS
(Min. age 19 & completion of at least 1 year of college)
GRADUATE STUDENTS and FACULTY MEMBERS
THE ASSOCIATION OF PRIVATE CAMPS
. . . comprising 100 outstanding Boys, Girls, Brother-Sister and Co-Ed Camps, located throughout the New England and Middle Atlantic States
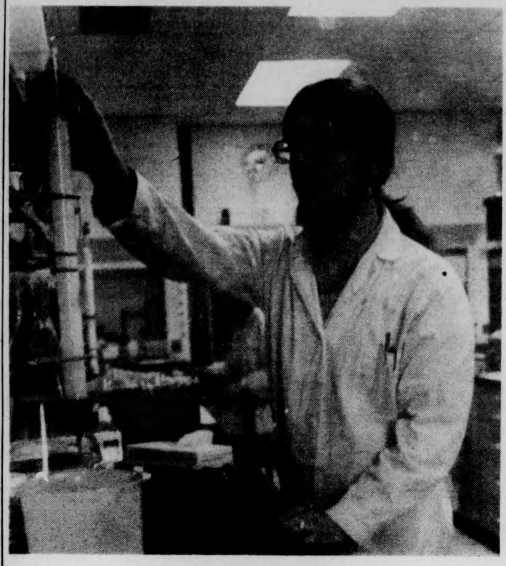
. . . INVITES YOUR INQUIRIES concerning summer employment as Head Counselors, Group Leaders, Specialties, General Counselors.
Write, Phone, or Call in Person
Association of Private Camps — Dept. C
55 W. 42 St., New York NY 10036 (212) OX 5-2656

A mad(e) UMass scientist



Richard Pine works in his lab. (Staff photo by Denise Stewart)

By DUKE SIMONEAU
Collegian Staff

This story is the third of a series of interviews with students working their way through college in one way, shape or form. Collegian reporter Duke Simoneau is checking into some ordinary and unique jobs held down by UMass students.

He looks more than a little like a B-movie mad scientist. His hair, tied back in a pony tail, falls over his shoulders onto the white lab coat. He stares intently through-wire-rimmed glasses at the foot-long automatic pipette in his surgical-gloved hands. Slowly, he draws a miniscule sample of the dull red fluid into the pipette and releases it into a test tube.

A work-study Dr. Frankenstein? No, this is junior Richard Pine working in the Grad Research Tower biochemistry labs under the auspices of Dr. Mark Fischer.

"It's what I've wanted to do since I was a little kid," grins Pine. "Ever since I learned to read, I mostly read science books. For me it's the best job — with the time I'd be in the labs anyway, I really couldn't hold down any other type of work-study job." Pine worked one semester in the University Mail room before getting into the labs.

"I originally applied for a job up here," he said, "but they were full. In November (1975) I heard they'd need more help. So I started in January of 1976."

Because he works extra hours, the Raynham bio-chem major receives some special problems credit for his work, in addition to a check.

"That happens up here a lot," he said. "So much of what we (in bio-chem) do has to be done in lab, and a lot of us are on work-study, it makes it easier. It happens in other departments too. It's usually best all around."

The research Pine is doing is a project of Dr. Fischer's on development.

"We want to see what triggers various stages of development," explained Dr. Fischer." We use tadpoles because they're complex, like humans, and you can see what stage they're in very easily. You can measure by how developed their legs are, how short the tail is. We use only bullfrog tadpoles because they're larger and develop slower. It may take two or three summers for a bullfrog tadpole to become a frog. Other types lay eggs in the spring and in mid-summer they're already frogs."

Fischer is approaching development on the level of checking various enzyme and hormone levels at various points in a tadpole's life.

"We especially use the livers because the individual cells in the liver develop instead of divide. They're large, soft and easy to homogenize."

Dr. Fischer explained the ultimate goals of the project.

"If we can figure out and isolate what the molecules are stimulated by, then we could test various drugs to see if they can have an effect in helping things that otherwise wouldn't develop to do so, or to help stop uncontrolled development, like a cancer."

Fischer talks with the cautious optimism of the seasoned researcher. Pine, with the dynamic enthusiasm of an unsaddled colt.

"If we can learn what triggers things like, say, learning, then it could be possible to develop a learning pill that'll help the person absorb much more, much easier. The same could be true of memory and reason. What causes them to happen?" He asked with a wild grin.

Is there any difference between what Pine's doing now and what he'd like to do after graduation?

"Well, in my field; I'd need another degree, and most likely a PhD. But basically, no, there isn't. Except that, instead of discussing the experiments with Dr. Fischer and making occasional suggestions, I'd be the one designing the experiments and deciding ultimately what to do and how to do it ... "

Telescopes to aid pollution detection

WASHINGTON [AP] — Astronomers who normally look billions of miles into space have turned their radio telescope back to earth and discovered a simple new way to monitor atmospheric chemicals and pollutants.

To find out what chemicals are floating in the distant recesses of our galaxy, scientists tune in to the natural radio signals generated by certain molecules.

Astronomers at Harvard College Observatory and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., found that the same principle also works closer to home.

The National Science Foundation said Saturday that the radio telescope at Haystack Observatory in Westford, Mass., so far has detected and measured water vapor, ozone and carbon monoxide in the upper levels of the atmosphere.

The foundation said the importance of the development is that it opens the way for relatively inexpensive, ground-based monitoring of atmospheric areas far above the level of conventional weather balloons.

The first tests probed the mesophere, an area 30 to 50 miles high normally accessible only to expensive devices such as rockets or special balloons.

Harrison E. Radford, an astronomer on the project, said in an interview that the key to the technique is the supersensitive microwave receivers recently developed, making detection possible where previous efforts had failed.

Both mates work in half of marriages

WASHINGTON [AP] — Both husband and wife are working in nearly half of the nation's marriages, the Labor Department said yesterday in a survey reflecting the growing number of women in the work force.

The department said both partners had jobs in 47.1 per cent of the 47.3 million husband-wife families in March 1975, compared with 43.6 per cent in 1967.

"The concept of a family where the husband is the only bread-winner, the wife is a homemaker out of the labor force and there are children may be a useful one for many illustrative purposes, but it does not represent the typical American family of the mid-1970s," the department said.

Among husband-wife families in 1975, the survey found only seven out of 100 fit this description.

The findings were from a survey of marital and family characteristics of workers conducted by the Census Bureau for the Labor Department.

The study also found:

— Wives' earnings averaged 26.3 per cent of family income in 1975. Among families headed by women, 58 per cent were wage earners and contributed about two-thirds of their families' income.

SGA
PRESIDENTIAL DEBATE
Tonite 8:00 p.m.
Engineering East Auditorium

IF YOU THINK YOU MAY HAVE A DRINKING PROBLEM, YOU PROBABLY DO.

People have all kinds of problems. Drinking may be one of them. Help is available from family and friends. and from places like Room-to-Move in the Student Union, or Mental Health in Hills North.

Alcohol Education Project
Room-to-Move and Health Education
549-2671

WORK—STUDY
OPENINGS AT TOWARD TOMORROW FAIR

We're looking for people with energy, an interest in the future, and a good sense of organization to work on various aspects of the Toward Tomorrow Fair to be held in June. We especially need 1) an accountant, and 2) an office manager to handle routine correspondence, inquiries, and some typing. HURRY — we need you now! Call 5-0474 or come by 105 Hills North.

DO YOU Need
Colloquia Credit?
Job experience?
A good time?

TURN ON TO layout camera work

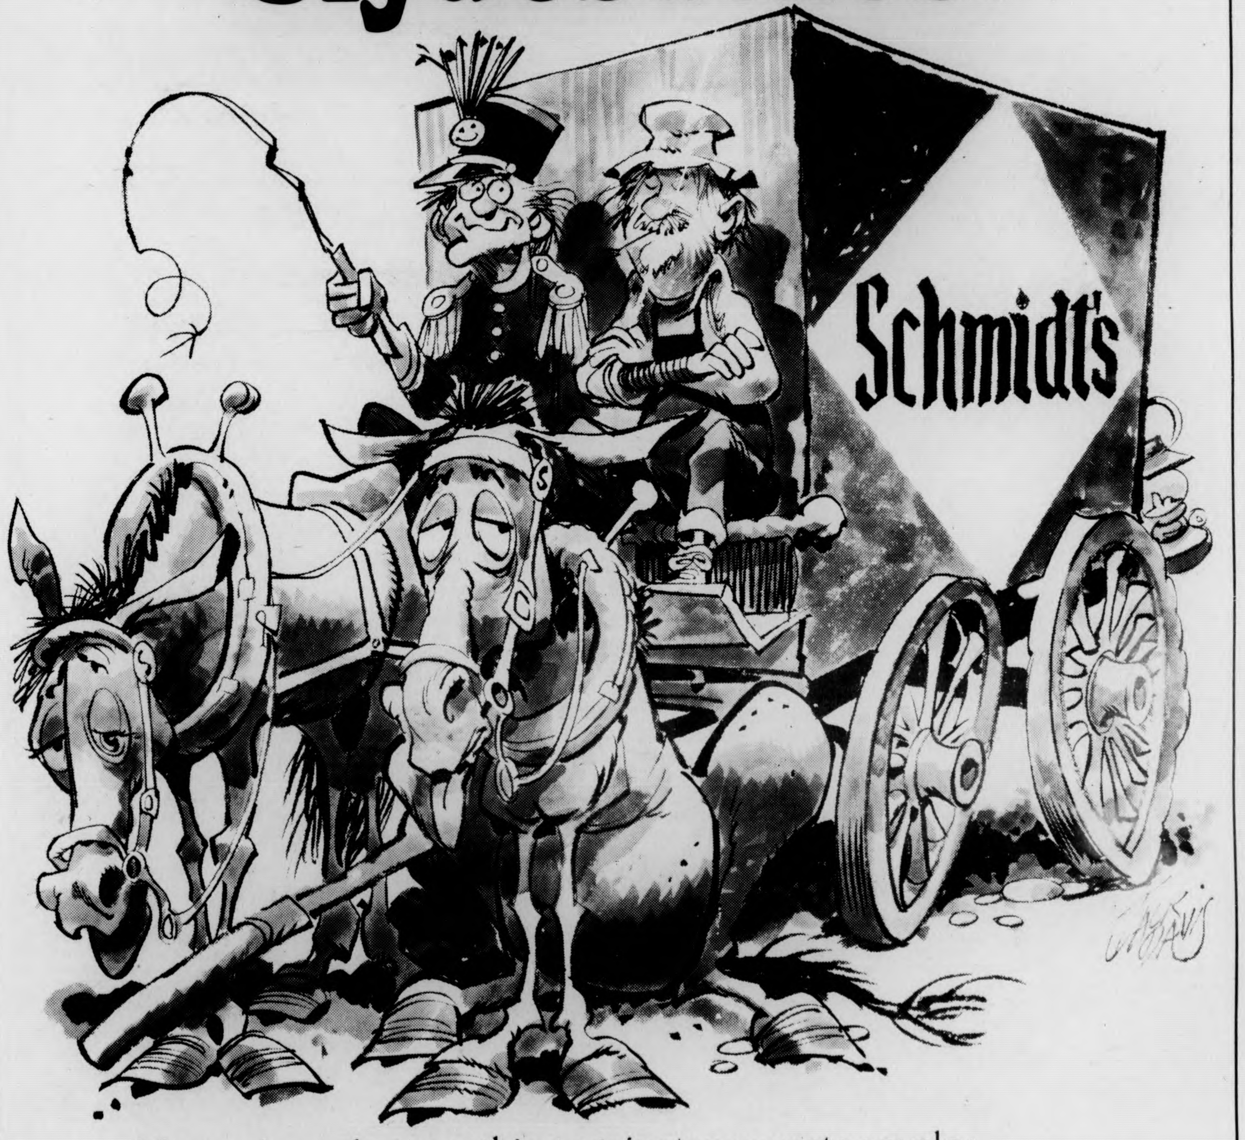
photo-typsetting

COLLEGIAN GRAPHICS

We reward creativity. No experience is necessary. For more information, call 545-3500 and ask for Randy Glenn, or come down to our office in C.C. 101

Quality without Clydesdales.



Honestly, we have nothing against corporate cavalry.

We regard it with affection. It's a quaint anachronism. Like royalty in American beer slogans.

But, to nit pick for a moment, we've been brewing Schmidt's fifteen years longer. And age has taught us wisdom.

True beer drinkers don't really care how you get it there. Just so you deliver the quality.

Schmidt's
The beer that might make Philadelphia famous.

C. SCHMIDT & SONS, INC., PHILA., PA

Supreme Court rules on gag order and taxation

WASHINGTON [AP]— In separate rulings yesterday, the Supreme Court opened the door for states to collect untold millions in tax revenues from out-of-state companies and said judges cannot block a newspaper from publishing information obtained at a public hearing.

The court said in a unanimous decision that states have the power to tax a company for the privilege of doing business if any portion of the company's operation is carried out exclusively within the state.

"No doubt many state legislatures will be rushing through a pack of new laws sparked by the court's decision," said James H. Haddock, the lawyer who successfully defended a Mississippi tax law before the high court.

"There's a lot of money to be made from this newly recognized state power," Haddock said. "This is a major victory for the states."

In its first statement on freedom of the press since a much-publicized decision last June, the court unanimously refused to let judges make exceptions to newspapers' right to publish information obtained at a public hearing.

The court said Oklahoma state courts abridged the constitutional rights of three Oklahoma city newspapers in issuing a "gag order" to ban publication of certain information about a case involving an 11-year-old boy charged in a shooting death.

The justices set aside the effects of the gag order last November when they allowed the three papers owned by the Oklahoma Publishing Co. to report fully on the case.

Larry Donnel Brewer was arrested last July and charged in the shooting death of a railroad switchman in Olkahoma City. The boy's name and picture were widely displayed by the local news media after reporters attended a preliminary hearing.

Oklahoma County Judge Charles Halley issued a pretrial order prohibiting further display, ruling that the boy's right to rehabilitation outweighed any freedom of the press considerations. Halley's order was upheld by the Oklahoma supreme court, which ruled that under state law a juvenile's preliminary hearing can be closed to the public.

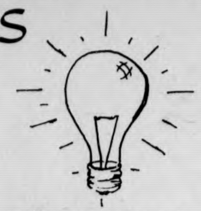
The youngster was later convicted of delinquency by second-degree manslaughter.

The three newspapers, the Daily Oklahoman, the Oklahoma City Times and the Sunday Oklahoman, asked the Supreme Court to rule that Halley's order put an unconstitutional chill on their rights to report news.

The high court agreed, ruling that a judge cannot suppress news gathered in a public hearing even if that hearing legally could have been closed. The justices had been asked by the American Newspaper Publishers Association to use the Oklahoma City case to set "perimeters within which courts may issue prior restraints upon the press, if there be any such." The court did not go that far.

Last June, the court came very close in a decision growing out of a much-publicized Nebraska case to banning all such prior restraints.

NO FLUKES



DVP is looking for new sources of energy--

Informal Briefing Tonight
RM. 415 S.U.
7:30

Applications for membership are available at the C.C. Information Desk and in room 415 S.U. March 1-18

Carter aide seeks to ease N. Korean embargo

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. [AP] — The United States should ease trade and travel embargoes and permit unofficial and official contacts with the Communist government of North Korea, a foreign policy advisor to President Carter said Monday.

The North Koreans, ordinarily hostile, show signs of being eager to emerge from their isolation, said Prof. Jerome Alan Cohen, assistant dean of the Harvard Law School and member of the foreign and defense-policy task forces during the Carter presidential campaign.

Cohen said easing the embargoes and permitting wider contacts would be a way of expressing U.S. disapproval of human rights policies in South Korea without cutting back military or economic assistance.

"We should permit academics and journalists to go there. Get the travel ban out of our passports. I would like to invite serious academics — they have some — to come from the DRK to Harvard.

"The travel embargo is a restraint of the right of the American people to hear both sides of the argument.

"The American people are entitled to know what kinds of representation we are going to make to South Korea on the human rights question or if we are going to roll over because of what Park calls the 'threat from the north'."

Middlebury College
Bread Loaf School of English
58th Session / June 29 - August 13, 1977

Programs leading to the Master of Arts and the more advanced Master of Letters degrees earned in three or four summers and Programs in Continuing Education in English and in Theatre.

COURSES in English, American, and Continental Literature; in Teaching English; and in Creative and Performing Arts.

FACULTY
Sacvan Bercovitch, Columbia; Walker Gibson, Univ. of Massachusetts; Laurence B. Holland, Johns Hopkins; A. Walton Litz, Princeton; Robert Loper, Univ. of Washington; James V. Mirollo, Columbia; Alan Mokler, Yale; Robert Pack, Middlebury; Daniel Seltzer, Princeton; John Wilders, Worcester College, Oxford; Michael Wood, Columbia.

INFORMATION: Paul M. Cubeta, Director, Bread Loaf School of English, Old Chapel – S, Middlebury, VT 05753

Now, you're at home with hot pizza.

The only time you "take out" this pizza is when it's crisp and bubbly in your oven. Take it out of your oven, enjoy it hot, crisp and delicious. Stop & Shop Pizza is made to be baked at home. We crisp the crust in our pizza ovens and start the melt on the cheese. You finish the job. Get "take out" pizza out of your oven in fifteen minutes.

You pay less, you enjoy it more than take out pizza you bring home with early rigor mortis.

Pick thick or thin crust Stop & Shop Pizza depending on your preference. Fresh or frozen for now or later. Use the coupon. Save 25c on your choice of either.

25¢ off Stop & Shop Pizza

This coupon good for 25¢ toward purchase on any of the following Stop & Shop Pizzas

Fresh (Thick Crust)
20 oz. Family Size Cheese
11 oz. Cheese, 18 oz. Double cheese (square)
18 oz. Cheese & Mushroom, 19 oz. Cheese & Onion

Frozen (Thin Crust)
18 oz. (Twin Pack)
16 oz. Cheese & Sausage, 16 oz. Cheese

Good thru Sat., March 12
Limit 1 pizza per customer

M-19 241

ONE OF THE STOP & SHOP COMPANIES
Stop & Shop
SUPERMARKETS

Election violence continues in Pakistan power struggle

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan [AP] — Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's ruling People's party took an early lead yesterday in an election marked by violence that has reportedly killed seven persons and injured 500.

Bhutto's party won nine of the 14 assembly seats for which ballot counting was completed.

In addition to its victories in early returns, the ruling party already held 19 uncontested National Assembly seats, including Bhutto's, and appeared headed toward the 101 seats necessary for a working majority.

The party in power selects 16 seats set aside for women and minority groups in the 216-member assembly.

The seven reported election-day deaths came on top of 14 killed in the campaign since the elections were announced Jan. 7.

The worst clashes took place in the port city of Karachi where several houses and a passenger bus were set afire by angry crowds. Two people died and an estimated 150 people were injured, several of them seriously, reports said.

Deaths were also reported in Hyderabad in southern Pakistan, Sukkur in the central Western part of the country and at Battal near Mansehra, 100 miles north of Islamabad.

The opposition Pakistan National Alliance PNA accused People's party supporters of attacking its members at a Sukkur polling place. Besides two dead, 12 were injured, unconfirmed reports said.

Shortly afterward, the PNA announced it was boycotting the election in that constituency.

STYLES BY DEBORAH
ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL
OUR VERY BEST UNIPERM REG $30.00
NOW ONLY $22.50 COMPLETE WITH
CUT & STYLE FOR MEN AND WOMEN.
OUR STYLISTS WILL SHOW YOU HOW TO PROFESSIONALLY STYLE YOUR
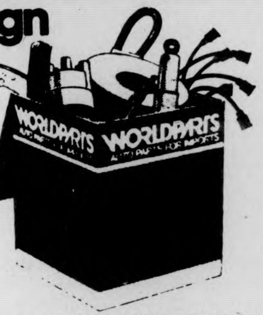
OWN HAIR. STYLE CUT ONLY $5.00
CALL 549-5610 FOR APPT.

BIG AUTO PARTS

We've got auto parts for foreign cars.



Auto parts for foreign cars – quality-made replacement parts for the most popular foreign cars in town. Worldparts are made by world famous manufacturers such as Maremont ... Bosch ... Lange ... Boge ... and more than 60 others.

When your foreign car needs repairs, have your garage or service station man call us for Worldparts. Or we can give you the name and address of a foreign car expert near you.

AMERICAN PARTS

Allied Motor Parts
319 Main Street, Amherst
256-8341

SHOP SERVICE AVAILABLE
Hours: 8-5:30 M-F, 8-5 Sat.

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: "any place or state of ideal perfection, especially in laws, government and social conditions."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

Yesterday's word:

DERELICT

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

UNIVERSITY PIZZA

LAST WEEK

WE MADE YOU A PIZZA
YOU COULDN'T REFUSE!
NOBODY DID REFUSE
THE SPECIAL WENT SO WELL, WE WILL REPEAT IT
THIS WEEK
ORDER OUR
NEW 16" PIZZA
and get a free quart of Coke, Tab,
Root Beer or Sprite on us!
(Offer good until March 10th)

Call 549-5592 Across from Southwest Dorms.

HOME OF THE STEAK & CHEESE SUB!

Carter—Rabin begin talks

WASHINGTON [AP] — President Carter gave assurances yesterday that his policy for the Middle East includes "defensible borders" for Israel.

Carter made the statement in welcoming Israeli Prime Minister Yitzak Rabin, the first in a line of Middle East leaders expected to confer with the President over the next few months.

The administration hopes to arrange a resumption of negotiations between Israel and the Arab states in the second half of the year. Carter told Rabin 1977 "may very well bring a great step forward to a permanent peace."

Rabin's visit began with less than usual ceremony on the White House lawn. There were no troops to review and only a small 36-man Marine band to play Hatikvah, the Israeli national anthem, and The Star Spangled Banner.

Explaining the less elaborate welcome, Carter said he had decided to "minimize the time spent in ceremony" because of the crucial nature of the problems in the Middle East.

He welcomed Rabin warmly, however, recalling the former general's strategic skills in the Six-Day War of 1967 as well as a three-hour conversation they had when Carter visited Israel in 1973.

The administration is in admitted difficulty trying to set up the Geneva conference. According to Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance the Arabs and Israel are "deeply divided over three core problems."

These are Palestinian representation, a definition of peace and how much of the territory Israel won in the 1967 war is to be returned to Jordan, Syria and Egypt.

Carter's statement, acknowledging Israel's need for "defensible borders" is significant.

Even Arab leaders described by the administration as "moderate" have demanded a full withdrawal.

Israel, on the other hand, has said small parts of the west bank of the Jordan River, of the Golan Heights and of Sinai must be retained to give its largely reservist armed forces time to respond to an Arab invasion.

Carter said the administration, in its search for common ground between Israel and the Arabs, is trying to see to it "that Israel might have defensible borders so that the peace commitments will never be violated and there could be a sense of security about this young country in the future."

Rabin, in response, said Israel, as a democracy, supports Carter's campaign for human rights.

At the same time, Rabin promised he would work tirelessly for peace in the Middle East.

Dispensing with the usual pomp and ceremony associated with visiting foreign dignitaries, President Jimmy Carter welcomed Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to the White House yesterday. The two leaders will begin negotiations anew to discuss possible Middle East peace solutions and to attempt to establish a better set of relations between Middle East adversaries. Carter will meet with other leaders later this year. (UPI)

MONDAY-FRIDAY
BARMAID "CAROL" invites YOU to
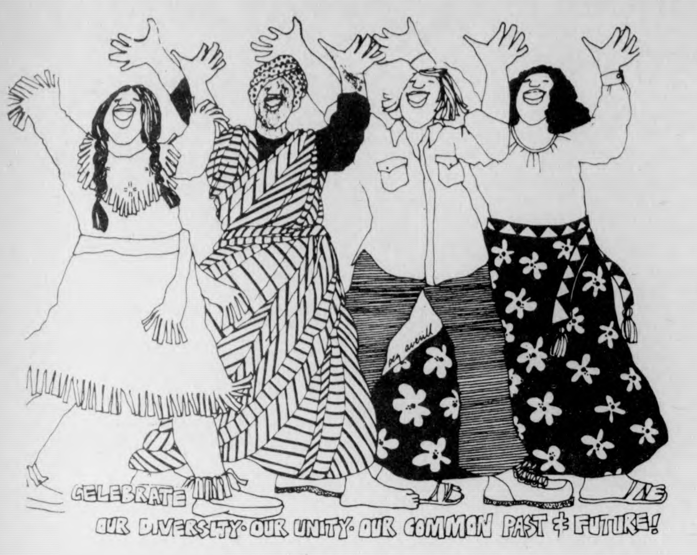
Happy Hour
4-8
Bottled Beer 50¢
Cocktail Lounge
Quonset Restaurant
253-9214
Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass. Behind Exxon Station



CELEBRATE
OUR DIVERSITY·OUR UNITY·OUR COMMON PAST & FUTURE!

letters

A call to the senate to reexamine its priorities

To the Editor:

I would like to express the concern of the CCEBS program about the Big Issue that is before the undergraduate student body: the seven dollar increase in the SATF.

We have been told by the Student Senate that if this increase is not approved by students during the March 14 and 15 referendum, it is very likely that our program and the Bi-Lingual Collegiate Program, another University academic support service unit, can expect to receive no SATF funds during fiscal year 1978. This would mean that we would be losing almost $25,000 of trust fund money which is being used to help pay for tutors to work with those students in need of extra help to do well in their courses and to buy educational supplies.

The loss of these funds would have a dramatic effect on the number of students who are able to earn educational expense money while helping other students learn. This translates into student jobs, the majority of which go to white students, being lost in a market which is already very bleak. I think that this is a very serious situation and it must be taken into consideration when everyone decides which way they are going to vote. I think it is very regressive for the Student Senate to say that they are going to cut academic support programs first, before they decide to cut other programs. What is more important: supporting a program with a definite mandate for helping to cure the academic problems of institutional racism at this University or support clubs organized to primarily promote social activities? I wonder whether or not the Student Senate projection of small enrollments for academic year 1977-78 are real. No one else is projecting a decrease which is as large as the one the Student Senate is projecting.

I also wonder where the consciences of the Senators are when they say that if the "pot of money" is to be smaller, the minority concerns have to be left out. I challenge the Student Senate to re-examine this attitude and figure out how the minority constituency on this campus will be included in the FY '78 appropriations even if the seven dollar increase in the SATF is not approved by the undergraduate student body.

I also challenge the Student Senate to re-examine its priorities; maybe we need less social clubs on the campus and more academic and mental health support groups. This might not be a bad idea when you consider the shocking statistics on student alcoholism and the inability of a great many undergraduate students to read and write effectively.

This type of examination and commitment to the reordering of priorities would go a long way towards changing the commonly held attitude throughout the state of this place being called "ZOO-MASS" and not "U-MASS."

Michael L. Jackson, Director
Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black Students

SSTS supports increase

To the Editor:

The Student Senate Transit Service relies on an annual allocation from the Student Senate for a portion of our funding requirements. As with many organizations funded by the Student Senate, our cost of operation has risen steadily from year to year. This is due primarily to inflationary trends in all costs, and, of course, a substantial cost increase for adequate insurance coverage.

The S.S.T.S. currently serves approximately 17,000 passenger trips daily on eight routes utilizing 25 vehicles. We certainly feel that the services we provide are vital to the UMass student population and the communities which we serve. Public transportation reduces traffic, parking congestion, both air and noise pollution, as well as providing gainful employment to 130 students.

In light of the above facts, and due to general economic trends, we feel we must support the proposed $7.00 Student Activities Tax Fund rate increase.

Stephen Murphy
Michael Sharff
Assistant Managers

Ban sexist ads

To the Editor:

In case you didn't know, International Women's Week began Sunday. It was gratifying to see the Collegian contribute to the overall consciousness of the week by publishing the Budweiser and Schlitz ads that appeared in Monday's paper.

It doesn't take much to realize that such advertising is one of the many things that women are fighting against. Doesn't anybody at the Collegian review those ads prior to publication? Doesn't anyone have the courage to turn down corporate bucks when the ad content could offend many people?

International Women's Week is a time to honor the significant contributions that women have made to society. Pushing sexist ads is inexcusable, irresponsible and contrary to the efforts of people working to advance the status of women.

Charles J. Pellett

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

from our perspective

Celebrate!

International Women's Week issues a challenge to us all. It dares us to be brave, honest, different, critical, and to experiment. It invites us to bring out all the things we've always swept under the rug and tried to forget about.

Racism and sexism aren't the kinds of problems that are going to go away on their own; instead, they linger and fester, scarring individuals emotionally and socially. They build invisible walls around us all, separations, and disallowing us to join forces and to battle oppression head on.

These problems are not easily separated out from our lives; they are values and behaviors, institutions and cultural norms with which we must deal on a daily basis. Women's oppression is a multi-faceted problem, in that it involves not only changing behavior and sex-roles, but changing the institutions that perpetuate it. Additionally, it is entangled with racist or economic oppression, fragmenting the ability of minority groups to organize collectively.

All too often, education, the media, political and economic institutions have been shaped by male white values, and carried out by men in the highest positions. The predominant value, or male, has been accepted as normal, while deviations from this set of values is considered storage or abnormal.

This week, however, provides the opportunity to share our experiences, and dreams, to learn about cultures and values other than our own, and to begin to find our common heritage as women. The women's movement has often been put down as a group of "hysterical women" complaining about housework or boredom; it is time for us to start to learn what these complaints are and understand their legitimacy. As we dissolve the misperceptions and fears we harbor about each other, the walls between us should start to crumble.

Racism and sexism aren't the type of problems that are going to go away on their own; they linger and fester, scarring individuals emotionally and socially.

International Women's Week also offers a special opportunity for men to put aside their fears and misunderstandings of women and the women's movement. As women become freed from their oppression, there will be many changes for men as well; they too will be freed from the locked stereotypes and roles they have always played. It is important that men as well as women understand the changes that are happening, and the changes that the future will bring.

The theme of International Women's Week is to "celebrate our diversity, our unity, our common past and future." The speakers, activists, artists, and performers invited will hopefully stimulate us to start seeking new questions. By sharing our heritage, we are bound to find alternative models for our selves, our relationships, and for change.

We don't expect any miracles from this week; sitting around dreaming of miracles only produces daydreams. Maybe this week we can do some learning about ourselves and those around us. We can begin to assess our relationships to other women in a collective manner. Some talking, some listening, some thinking; these are the first steps. From here, anything is possible.

All unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Collegian Board of Editors.

mark wilding

Women and the humorists

By MARK WILDING
Collegian Staff

When my editor told me this week that I was to write on women, well, you could have knocked me over with a hairpin. Me, write on women? Was that done? Everything I had ever learned about women was at the literary knees of Freud and D.H. Lawrence. And in these days of equal and chairpeople, the former's theory of penis envy is looked on with as much enthusiasm as that reserved for leprosy while the latter's detailed explorations into the female mind are thought to be about as discerning as a Mickey Mouse Club charter.

I wanted my article to be humorous, yet not deprecatory or patronizing. It would be a difficult baby to handle. I decided to turn to the masters to see how they had written on women. I dove into the works of Thurber, Perelman, Benchley, Lardner, and H. Allen Smith, the century's greatest humorists (yes, even greater than me).

Hence the subject of this title.

After a frenzied week of thumbing at breakneck speed through their works my findings are pitiable, reflecting as they do three quarters of a century's indifference to women on the part of my predecessors. To echo Fitzgerald it is a "Sorry Scheme of Things Entire".

The sad tale is that throughout the thousands of pages perused I found only one lonely article on women. It is by James Thurber and its unfortunate title is "The Case Against Women". In the article he relates that a woman approached him one afternoon and asked, "Why do you hate women, Mr. Thurberg?" Taken aback he denied the charge, but then after some meditation he lists his reasons for hating women, among them, " ... they throw baseballs (or plates or vases) with the wrong foot forward ... in almost every case where there is a sign reading "Please have exact change ready", a woman never has anything smaller than a ten-dollar bill ... while they never lose old snapshots or anything of that sort they invariably lose one glove. If there was no other reason in the world for hating women that one would be enough. In fact you can leave all the others out!" Well James, this is all very amusing but it isn't the sort of stuff a progressive supporter of the ERA is looking for.

The others offer insights into women although their articles weren't written expressedly on the subject. Robert Benchley blames women for the wreck of the Sunday paper and goes on to explain that this hebdomodary phenomenon owes itself to petty meanness and a lack of civil pride. I, for one, am keeping a civil tongue on the subject.

H. Allen Smith offers the reader a housefrau who hangs up her laundry in Pullman cars while S.J. Perelman might find himself in some peril today if he suggested as he did twenty years ago that the ideal dream for a woman is to sit her man down on a sofa and reel off the week's best shopping bargains.

And Ring Lardner endears himself to the fair ... oops ... women when he ffers Webster's definition of a wife, "Well, he says she is the lawful onsort of a man, and it don't require no Shylock Holmes to figure out that vhat he meant to say, but was scared to say, was, awful consort." heh, vell Ring was funny in his day but times are a changin'.

So where does all this leave me? Higher and drier than a teetotaler on verest. The way I figure it, if the greatest humorists of the century ouldn't come up with material on women, 'cept as it being at their exense, then I can hardly be expected to spin out a side-splitting, chestbeating lollapalooza of a column. But the time will come.

Mark Wilding is a Collegian Columnist.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

jerry rogers

We are somebody

The student is a consumer, a producer, a leader, a follower. The student is active or inactive, responsible or irresponsible, has an affinity for parties and other forms of entertainment or has an affinity for a stablized life-style.

Just like everyone else, a student can be grouchy and depressed, or smiling and optimistic. In fact, a student is a person and just like every other person that lives in the Amherst area. However, because of our transient nature, and it is as true of the person living in a dorm and leaving for the summer and all other vacations as it is for an apartment renter who leaves after the four-year educating cycle is over, we are treated as something less. We are treated as if we have just a few less rights or as if our dollar is just a little less treasured or as if we are not quite as intelligent as most of the other people that live around here.

This is not to say that the class of students are discriminated against as profusely as the class of women or the class of Third World people, but simply that our esteem in the area and among administrators is not as high as it should be.

For, while we are not despised as a class or thought of as an exceedingly dumb class of people, we are thought of as impetuous, suspect, lacking in our self-discipline and at least somewhat deficient in our moral and political beliefs.

In fact, though, we are responsible. We have, on numerous occasions, used the traditional channels for providing input into University and area political decisions and we govern ourselves well.

In fact, though, we are of high moral quality. Our student governance groups constantly keep an eye on students' activities and students, as much as others, are very wary of offending people.

In fact, though, we are self-disciplined and think long and hard, more often than not, about action we take on any subject.

Because of these reasons and because we run our own bus service, food market, printing shop and have students like the proponents of increased Economic Development Committee work pressing for the expansion and increasing of student run services, we have good reason to be proud and self-assured.

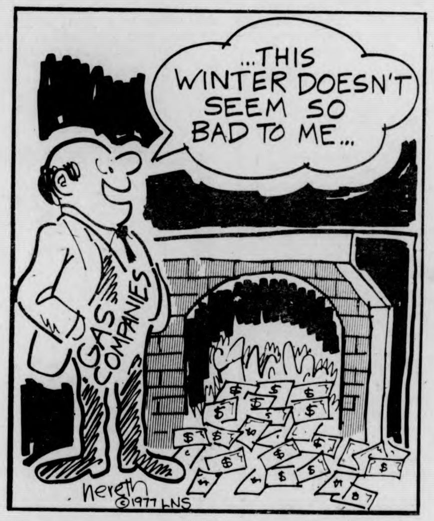
Because of our abilities and potential and because we have already given much to the area and, in fact, are the sole reason the jobs exist that administrators fill, we are not something less.

We are something more.

This has not been written as an impassioned cry for students to assert our identity and our independence, though that is probably a task worth undertaking, but everyone needs a little self-assurance once in a while.

And we are somebody.

Jerry Rogers is a Collegian Columnist.



...THIS WINTER DOESN'T SEEM SO BAD TO ME...
GAS COMPANIES
hereth ©1977 LNS

A unionist replies to criticism

To the Editor:

Jan Van Tol's column, "Who wants a student union?" is unreasonable and an insult to the whole UMass student body. A basic promise of the Student Organizing Project is that students are not incompetent fools, as Mr. Van Tol would have it, but rather are sensible human beings with the potential to affect the nature of our own education. To actualize that potential is no easy task, considering the non-cooperative attitudes fostered by our society, and requires a level of mutual respect which Mr. Van Tol fails to demonstrate.

Mr. Van Tol says that "the concern for a student voice on certain issues is quite correct. We have no quarrel with that or even unionizing per se." Then what is the point of such vindictive journalism, which can only serve to undermine the efforts of those who are struggling to make the union a reality? Rather than presenting a critical analysis to support his claim that "it ought to be clear by now that unionization is not a possible practical alternative", he attempts to fulfill his own prophecy by encouraging students to deny our own political competence. It is hard to imagine what sort of comfort he finds in his "faith in basic ignorance".

Mr. Van Tol himself notes possible kinds of student political action, such as "active lobbying", and "a student voice at the faculty-state bargaining table", yet of what avail are these without concerted student backing, in short, a union? He comes right out in support of departmental organizing, yet carry that a step further and you have the total student union which he so cynically derides.

Admittedly, the unionization effort has encountered many obstacles and achieved few tangible rewards, but that is no reason to reject that valuable experience. One need only read the Collegian to realize that the union idea is gaining momentum, but to insist on immediate results invites discouragement. We are venturing onto unexplored ground, and there is much to learn. To reject constructive criticism in favor of nihilistic and divisive rhetoric, as Mr. Van Tol has done, can serve no purpose but to help maintain the deteriorating status quo.

Dan Huse

—more letters—

Women in the AFROTC

To the Editor:

I would like to offer this reply to Christa Boyd, Suki Boyd and Allison Greaney. Their letter, "Equal Rights in the Air Force?", requests that The Collegian compile "some factual information concerning the 'equal' opportunities present in ... the Armed Forces," when in fact, these three women are lacking in this respect.

First, AFROTC is a pre-commissioning program for college students. Secretaries in the Air Force are civil servants and do not come from the officer corps, or even the enlisted ranks. Administrative personnel are not secretaries, despite their typing abilities.

Second, have the writers considered why women are not permitted to fly fighters? Obviously not, or they would know that it is Congressional legislation which prohibits the entrance of women into areas where combat duties are performed. When the ERA is ratified, this will no longer be the case.

In reply to their question: no, it is not "reasonable to conclude that Air Force leadership assumes that women are too unstable and incompetent to handle a potent weapon." The writers should realize that the Air Force leadership is making no assumption about the capabilities of its women officers and enlisted. It was only a few years ago that Congress permitted women to hold the rank of General and this number, although small, is increasing.

I suggest that the writers of the letter stop by Dickinson Hall and speak with Major Richardson, so that their factual content will be more accurate for their next letter.

Mary Beth Hadfield
AFROTC cadet

NEWS IN BRIEF

State tax investigation underway

BOSTON (AP) — A wide-ranging investigation into "improprieties in enforcement of state tax laws" was begun yesterday by the state's Office of Investigations under the direction of Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti.

Bellotti said at a news conference that 20 state troopers were sworn in as special tax examiners and seized various state tax documents Monday at the Department of Corporations and Taxation.

These records are being turned over to about 10 auditors, accountants and lawyers, Bellotti said.

The attorney general said there were concerns "about the way certain cases might have been handled" by the tax department, including corporate taxes and personal income taxes.

Bellotti said political influence was under investigation, but the probe had no direct ties to the recent conviction of two Massachusetts Senate leaders on political corruption charges.

However, the attorney general said he would meet soon with U.S. Atty. James Gabriel, who would supply further leads in the tax investigation.

Public works costs questioned

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Mayor William C. Sullivan yesterday ordered three city departments to investigate conflict-of-interest accusations against Public Works Supt. Wylie C. Hubbard.

Hubbard denied improper conduct in handling leasing contracts with a firm controlled by friends of his.

The City Council was scheduled to hear requests for another investigation of published reports saying Lumarose Equipment Corp. of Agawam was paid leasing fees for earth-moving equipment that was broken down.

According to the Springfield Daily News, continuing to pay while the equipment was unusable was an apparent contract violation. At least tens of thousands of dollars was involved, the newspaper reported last week.

Hubbard said yesterday that equipment broken down because of city use was properly repaired with public funds.

"The city of Springfield should not be paying for equipment that is broken down," said Sullivan.

Argo oil sediment begins trouble

BOSTON (AP) — Oil sediment found at the site of the wrecked tanker Argo Merchant could remain in the area up to five years, based on previous studies, a scientist says.

Dr. Eva Hoffman, who reported sediment had been found on hermit crabs where the oil tanker broke in two, said, however, that she preferred not to make a long-term estimate of the ecological impact of the oil spill.

The Argo Merchant ran aground off Nantucket Island on Dec. 16 and split in two six days later, spilling 7.5 million gallons of fuel oil into the Atlantic.

Dr. Hoffman is scientific coordinator of the University of Rhode Island's Oil Response Team, which spent 14 days at the site of the wrecked tanker gathering data.

State report raps tax structure

BOSTON (AP) — A state report has sharply criticized the allegedly insensitive state policies that contribute to Boston's fiscal ills.

A "Perspectives on Growth" report assembled by the state Office of Planning concluded that if Boston could keep the money it generates for the state, the city would have almost no property tax at all.

The city's real estate tax zoomed up more than 25 per cent this year and taxpayers are threatened with a further increase, above the $256-per $1,000 of valuation, next year.

The report made public yesterday had this to say about the capital city: "Boston's problem lies in the fact that the federal and state governments have reserved for their own use the income and sales taxes which reflect and respond to the growth in the city economy, leaving the city with only the property tax, which does not similarly respond.

McGovern speaks out for railroads and health

ORONO, Maine [AP] — The national defense budget should be "massively reduced" and the savings spent rebuilding the "forgotten" American railroad system and providing jobs for the unemployed, U.S. Sen. George McGovern said Sunday night.

"Rebuilding our railroads would put tens of thousands of people back to work. We are engaged in a massive arms race, I think, because of the many jobs it provides. But I would think that money would be more constructively spent on something we really need, like railroads," the South Dakota Democrat said.

Speaking before a crowd of 700 at the University of Maine, the unsuccessful 1972 presidential candidate said the nation would derive many benefits from a renovation of the railroads.

"Railroads would provide an inexpensive form of public transportation. It would result in a great savings on energy and would also ease environmental pollution by cutting down use of private transportation.

"American's railroads used to be the envy of every country in the world, but no longer."

McGovern compared his proposal to the government's work projects following World War II.

McGovern said "a paranoid debate" is now going on in the Senate about U.S. military needs.

"When I first came to the Senate in 1963 Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said we needed 400 nuclear war heads to be capable of destroying Russia. Well, we now have 8,500 and we're building them at the rate of three a day — partly I think because they provide jobs for so many people."

On another matter, McGovern said that South Dakota, like Maine, has been sued by Indian tribes for return of their native lands. He questioned the effectiveness of the courts in dealing with the problem and said he expected the claims from both states to eventually be settled by Congress.

McGovern, chairman of the U.S. Senate Committee on Nutrition, appeared as keynote speaker during National Nutrition Week.

He said the nation could cut its $130 billion annual medical costs by 25 per cent if Americans would start eating "a sensible, prudent diet."

"As far as health and nutrition are concerned we are moving in the wrong direction," he said. "The emphasis in American medicine is to treat illness rather than to prevent it. We must start thinking in terms of preventing illness through what we eat."

McGovern said surveys show that the six leading causes of death in the U.S. are related to poor diets. "We are eating enough, he said, "but not the right things. I only wish that our food producing capabilities matched our nuclear developing capabilities."

Pancake Breakfast:
Sunday, March 13
at 9:00 a.m.-1 p.m.
Chen. 217
$1.50 — juice, pancakes & ham
$1.25 — juice & pancakes
Tickets available
SUB, rm. 432 from 10-2
or call 5-0189
COFFEE AND TEA
ALSO SERVED

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
NOW at 7:00 & 9:00
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
PETER SELLERS
BLAKE EDWARDS
"THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN"
United Artists PG
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

FREE SUGARLOAF WEEK is the door prize at tonite's
SKI CLUB MEETING
MOVIE
TRIP SIGN-UPS
SUGARLOAF 120
SUGARBUSH 95
INFO
Tues. Mar. 8 8pm Thompson 104

FROGURT
THE ALL NATURAL FROZEN YOGURT
NO ARTIFICIAL FLAVOR !
NO ARTIFICIAL COLOR !
NO FOOD STARCH ADDITIVES !
FRUITY FLAVORS........ TASTY TOPPINGS
FRESH STRAWBERRIES, BANANA SLICES, MELON, TOASTED COCOANUT, GRANOLA, HONEY
WORCESTER SNACK BAR 7;00am-10;30pm
HAMPDEN SNACK BAR 7;30am-1;00am

Our 7th Annual Demo Sale Began Last Nite

Sony Receivers, Amps, Tuners

STR:	List	Now
7065 B Receiver	549.95	349.
7055 B Receiver	499.95	279.
5800 SD Receiver w/dolby	499.95	439.
6800 SD Receiver w/dolby	599.95	528.
7015 B Receiver	249.95	131.
TA 2650 Amp	229.95	164.
ST 5055 Tuner	219.95	129.
Marantz Receivers
2275 w/FM Dolby	649.95	549.
2250 w/FM Dolby	549.95	425.
2225 Receiver	359.95	290.
2215 B Receiver	249.95	195.
Philips Turntables inc. M91ED
GA 427	154.95	88.
GA 212	224.95	164.
GA 406	214.95	159.
Nikko
2025 Receiver	179.95	100.
3035 Receiver	219.95	129.
5055 Receiver	259.95	149.
7075 Receiver	359.95	208.

And These Great Packaged Systems For Even Greater Savings

Sony STR 7065 B
65 & 65 Watts RMS at 0.1%
8 ohms both ch. driven (very conservative)
1.6 microvolt sensitivity. List $549.95
EPI Model 200 in Walnut
1" Air Spring Tweeter
8" Woofer
12" Passive Radiator List $450.
Philips GA 212 DC Servo Turntable
Belt Drive w/base & dust cover List $170
Empire 4000/D1 Magnetic Cartridge
3/4 gram tracking List $85.
Total List $1254.95
Now $840

Nikko 2025 AM/FM Receiver
10 & 10 RMS into 8 ohms 40-20KHZ List $179.95
Philips GA 427
Semi-Automatic Belt Drive
Turntable w/base
Dust Cover and Shure M70EJ List $134.95
Marantz 4G
Air Suspension Loud Speakers
3" Tweeter & 8" Woofer the pair List $120.
Total List $434.
Now $240

Back-Up Stock on most items Sale Ends Sat. 3/12/77

Buy any Marantz Receiver and get an Empire 4000 D/1 Free
(List $85. no limit)

The first five people to buy any Sony product during this sale will receive a Sharp SEL 201 Electronic Calculator FREE (list $15)

Quantities Limited of course - Full Warranties with our own service
James Cadran of Turners Falls - Come in for a $20. rebate on your NIKKO

259 Triangle St.
Amherst
Open 'til 9 Sat. 5
586-2552
549-2610
We fix everything we sell
AMHERST AUDIO
in our own service department

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Mortar Board looking for advisors

Mortar Board is a National Senior Honor Society for which distinguished students are selected during the junior year. The cumulative average (a 3.2 minimum is required) is only beginning of our evaluation. We are equally concerned with the quality of your leadership and service experiences outside class work.

This year meetings were held on alternate weeks. Our members take initiative in planning service programs for the University; this year we initiated a tutoring service, registration survival tips, and fund-raising for community recreation equipment. Each year the chapter defines its goals and objectives by incorporating the interests and talents of its various members.

A total of 35 members is chosen from a field of 1100. Mortar Board is also looking for graduates, faculty or staff to serve as advisors. If you are interested in being an advisory, or feel you are qualified to become a member and did not receive an application in the mail, please contact immediately Teresa Wyman, 256-6455, or Emelie Sciarpelletti, 665-3163. Applications are due to RSO box No. 402 in the Student Senate Chambers no later than March 14.

Polymer fellowships being offered

Applications are now open for $1,000 undergraduate fellowships in science and engineering at UMass for research studies in the polymer (plastics) field. The deadline for application receipt is March 15. Fellowships will be awarded by April 1. Funds will be awarded for studies conducted at UMass during the summer vacation of 1977 or on a part-time basis during the school year.

Applying students should be in the upper division in a school of engineering or in a department of chemistry, physics or mathematics.

An agreement need be reached between the applying student and a UMass faculty member in Polymer Science and Engineering (PSE). Students are encouraged to talk with as many PSE professors as possible in order to find the most rewarding research project. Please call or visit our departmental office so that we may make appointments with professors for you.

A short abstract of 100 to 200 words of the projected research and a resume for the student should be presented by the deadline date of March 15, 1977. The resume should include the name, address, major, year, university or college, and grade point average, as well as additional information you think may be of help to the Award Committee. The application material may be handwritten or typed.

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

The rusty nail Inn
Tonite-Wed.
HANDPICKED
WED. NITE
EARL SCRUGGS
and the
EARL SCRUGGS
REVIEW
with HANDPICKED
at Rte 47,
Sunderland
665-4937

'77 dog licenses now available

The 1977 dog licenses are now available at the Amherst Town Clerk's office. All dogs three months old or more are required to be licensed, and proof of vaccination against rabies must be presented at the time of licensing. The vaccination must be repeated every two years.

Dog license fees in Amherst are: Males — $4, Spayed females — $4, Females — $7.

A certificate from your veterinarian showing that your female dog has been spayed must be presented at the time of licensing in order to qualify for the $4 rate.

1976 licenses will expire on March 31st.

Dog owners are reminded that according to an Amherst by-law all dogs must be prevented from running free; they should be under physical restraint or under voice control of their owners.

Panel discussion on energy planned

A panel discussion on ENERGY: PLANNING AND PRIORITIES, sponsored by the Amherst League of Women Voters, will be held in the auditorium of the Amherst Regional Junior High School (Chestnut Street) tomorrow at 8 p.m., open to the public.

The distinguished speakers will be P. Frank Castellon of the Energy Research and Development Administration, Washington, D.C.; Thomas Fitzpatrick of the New England Regional Commission, Boston; and Professor William Heronemus of the School of Engineering, UMass.

Musicologist to speak on 'Haydn'

H.C. Robbins Landon, musicologist and founder of the Haydn Society, will speak on "Haydn" tonight at 8:00 in Sage Hall, Smith College.

Landon is the author of "Haydn: Chronicle and Work," a five-volume biographical and analytical work on the life of Joseph Haydn, which the Indiana University Press has recently announced and will publish over a three-year period.

Dr. O'Connor to discuss Med school

Dr. John O'Connor, the assistant dean of Admissions at the Boston University School of Medicine, will speak on Medical School Admissions. tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. in Hasbrouck 113. O'Connor is a Pediatric Radiologist and will speak on that topic.

It will be the last chance for anyone to register for the Seminar on Medicine Part 4 colloquium. This is the only admissions speaker on campus this semester. If you have any questions, call Phil Moen at 546-9476.

Summer workshop proposals sought

Everywomen's Center is soliciting proposals for the summer series of Project Self workshops by and about women. This series will include 25 workshops and will run from July 27 to August 8, with most workshops meeting for two and three quarter hours a week.

TURN TO PAGE 14

CONT. FROM PAGE 13

Proposals for day-long and weekend workshops are also encouraged.

The deadline for submitting proposals is March 11. Interested women should stop by Everywomen's Center, 506 Goodell Hall, or call 545-0883 to obtain proposal forms and discuss ideas for workshops.

Area Studies to join in Phonothon

All certificate students in Area Studies at the University (West European, Asian, Soviet and East European, Latin American and Near Eastern Studies) are encouraged to participate in the Alumni Phonothon on March 17. Various groups on campus are participating in the Phonothon, and this night has been tentatively scheduled for Area Studies. Free beer and dinner will be served. To sign up, call Vera Mark at the International Programs Office, 545-0746, especially 3 to 5 p.m., or leave a message. Get in touch soon, since final lists must be drawn up by March 10.

G.I. Bill veterans may end up in debt

Veterans and eligible persons going to school under the GI Bill may wind up in debt to the Federal Government if they drop courses or receive non-punitive grades under certain circumstances.

A recent Congressional amendment to the GI Bill requires the Veterans Administration (VA) retroactively cancel assistance payments for a course dropped without a grade. This applies, also, in cases when a course is completed; but the grade assigned is, in effect, ignored by the school for graduation requirements. The new regulations do not apply when the situation is caused by circumstances beyond the student's control.

The VA describes the new regulation as a major change in GI Bill payment policy. The new law provides that the VA may not pay educational benefits for any part of a course which is not used in computing graduation requirements. This means that the veteran or eligible person will find themselves overpaid under the GI Bill for courses they withdraw from, and for courses where the assigned grade is not used in computing the requirements for graduation.

Payments for such a course must be stopped as of the first day of the school term, or December 1, 1976, whichever date is later. For example, if a student withdraws from a course on April 1 under the conditions outlined, V.A. payments will be terminated retroactively to the beginning of the term.

. In the past, GI Bill payments would have been continued up to the date of withdrawal; but the new law prohibits this.

Speech and hearing convention planned

Any communication disorders major who is interested in attending the student Massachusetts Speech and Hearing Association's third annual convention should send in the preregistration form by tomorrow. There are registration forms in the resource center in Bartlett 64.

Photo exhibition held at Hampshire

An exhibition of works by photographer Josef Sudek at the Hampshire College Gallery will continue through March 11.

Though Sudek's work is rarely seen in the United States, it is shown and published extensively in Europe. He is often compared to the turn - of - the - century French master Eugene Atget as a result of their common ties to surrealism and the general similarity of the subjects such as trees, windows and the extensive portrayal of their home cities. Many Sudek photographs deal with Prague and the surrounding countryside.

The Gallery is located in the Johnson Library Center, and hours are Monday through Friday from 12:30 to 5 p.m.

Voter registration dates scheduled

Those wishing to register to vote in the April 5 Town Election may stop in at the Town Clerk's office any weekday betwee 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. or attend any one of the following registration sessions:

Weds., March 9, Hampshire College Library, 12-3 p.m.

Thurs., March 10, Campus Center, Univ. of Mass., 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Fri., March 11, Campus Center, Univ. of Mass., 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Sat., March 12, Town Clerk's Office, 12-8 p.m.

Mon., March 14, Town Clerk's Office (last day), 9 a.m.-10 p.m.

The Amherst Board of Registrars advises that persons applying to register to vote should be prepared to furnish proof of residence.

Spring tutoring program has begun

Northern Educational Services (NES) an RSO-funded organization, is designed to coordinate UMass students to work with an aid underprivileged children in Springfield.

Without the program, these kids would probably not get the tutoring help they need so desperately.

The program gives UMass volunteers a broader view of education; one that is different than the suburban schools that most of them probably attended. The NES office supplies materials and transportation for the volunteers and helps them work with the children on a one-to-one basis or in a group situation.

NES has begun its spring program. Anyone interested can contact the office at 545-0910 or in Student Union 403.

'Love of Life' to be shown

"Arthur Rubinstein: Love of Life," will be shown tonight in Merrill Science Center, rm. 3, Amherst College at 8 p.m. and Wednesday, 8 p.m. in Wright Hall Auditorium, Smith College.

Our tribute to Arthur Rubinstein in his 90th year, "Love of Life" may be one of the most brilliant and moving documentary films ever made, and its subject is surely one of the most extraordinary personalities of our time: not only a great pianist but warm, vital, thinking human being as well; not only a true cosmopolitan, but also a conscious Jew.

Summer Camp jobs available this year

An estimated 12,000 summer job opportunities at summer camps will be available for college students this year. There are numerous camps for children of all ages located throughout the nation. The heaviest concentration of summer camps are in mountainous and recreational areas.

Summer job opportunities include counselors, swimming instructors, riding instructors, cooks and helpers and general maintenance. In most opportunities these jobs include board and room. In many cases summer camp employment for college students will also provide additional credits.

Student job seekers are encouraged to apply early. Over 30,000 additional job opportunities for summer employment exist at national parks, guest resorts and recreational areas. Students interested in obtaining additional details on student assistance may request a free brochure by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Opportunity Research, Department SJO, Lock Box 4000, Kalispell, MT 59901.

Spend your summer in Argentina

For the last few years two to three Argentinian students spent four to five weeks during their summer vacation (our winter) auditing classes, getting to know American students, and taking part in all aspects of campus life. This year's exchange students were particularly charming and very enthusiastic about UMass.

Students with a workable knowledge of Spanish might want to spend their summer vacation in Buenos Aires on the Consejo Argentina de Intercambio Estudiantil (CADIE) program. Students will be guests in Argentinian homes, while visiting universities, museums, theaters,

TURN TO PAGE 15

WANTED TALENT!
WANTED NO TALENT!

THE JOLLY BULL
"KONG SHOW"
(Just like the one on T.V., but a bit hairier!)

● AUDITIONS
Mon. through Wed. - March 7,8,9.
5:00-6:30 — Jolly Bull
● FIRST SHOW
Thursday, March 10 — 9:00-12:30
First Prize — DINNER FOR TWO!
Second Prize — $5.00 WORTH of DRINKS!
Third Prize — PITCHER of BEER!

Happy Hour Prices All Evening
Draft Beer 40c Drinks 75c

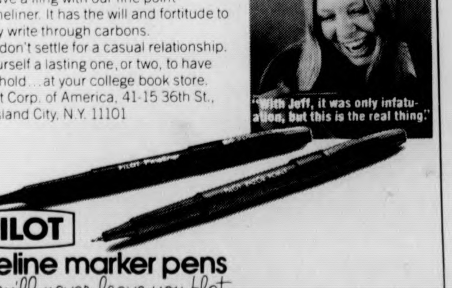
JOLLY BULL
ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASS
TELEPHONE 584-2769

Test Prep Services
358 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 549-5136

LSAT
6, 4-Hr. meetings covering cases & principles, practical judgement, evaluation of facts, various logic sections, data comparison, writing ability, new question types.
Meeting times:
Thurs. 1:30-5:30, 6:00-10:00

MCAT
6, 4 Hr. meetings covering biology, chemistry & physics as well as the new MCAT skills analysis question types.
Meeting days and times
Wed., Thurs.
6:00-10:00 p.m.
Sat. classes scheduled for April

TPS' flexible programs permit you to arrange classes around your schedule, not vice versa. Most courses are held continuously throughout the year and all make-up sessions are LIVE. Weekend crash courses scheduled the two weekends prior to each exam. You can always count on a TPS program to meet your needs. Our 24-Hr. courses, plus 11 hrs. of extras lets you take advantage of 35 hours of live instruction with a top-scoring specialist.
Call to reserve a place in our weekly
FREE INTRODUCTORY CLASS
Held every Tues. evening 6:30 to 9:30



Is it sick to love a pen?

Is it crazy to love marker pens that give you the smoothest, thinnest line in town...and feel so right in your hand? Is it mad to worship pens with clever little metal "collars" to keep their plastic points from getting squishy?
Not if the pen is a Pilot marker pen.
Our Razor Point, at only 69¢, gives the kind of extra-fine delicate line you'll flip over. And for those times you want a little less line, have a fling with our fine point 59¢ Fineliner. It has the will and fortitude to actually write through carbons.
So, don't settle for a casual relationship. Get yourself a lasting one, or two, to have and to hold...at your college book store.
Pilot Corp. of America, 41-15 36th St., Long Island City, N.Y. 11101

"With Jeff, it was only infatuation, but this is the real thing."

PILOT
fineline marker pens
They'll never leave you flat

BERMUDA
Spring Vacation '77

March 4-11 March 11-18 March 18-25
March 25-April 1 April 1-8 April 8-15 April 15-22

FROM
$239 basis quad
INCLUDING TAX AND SERVICE
ALL INCLUSIVE RATES!
NO HIDDEN CHARGES!
[illegible]

COMPLETELY INCLUDES
• Round trip jet transportation
• Airport assistance
• Round trip transfers
• Accommodations for 8 days 7 nights
• Two meals daily at hotels only
• All dining room gratuities (where applicable)
• All taxes • Garber Travel bag
• Maid service • Tour Escort

CONTACT
FOR MORE INFORMATION
Call JANE at 549-0236 or 545-0527

SPACE IS STILL AVAILABLE
SIGN UP NOW!

Garber TRAVEL

VACATIONS TO FORT LAUDERDALE
& PUERTO RICO ALSO AVAILABLE

CONT. FROM PAGE 14

going on tours and attending parties. Room and board is free and so are entrance fees. Some scholarship support for travel is available.

Two weeks left for senior portraits

There are only two weeks left to have your picture taken for the 1977 UMass INDEX! This week is almost entirely full so call now while there are still times available. Come to the 9th floor C.C. or call 545-2874 between 9 and 5. This may be your last chance to be a part of your yearbook!

Medical services survey completed

The staff of the Amherst Direct Information Service announces the completion of a survey of medical services in the Amherst-Northampton area. Of the 67 physicians contacted, 58 responded. Our first priority was to gather information on area physician services beneficial to both consumer and provider.

In addition to the information obtained on testing, office hours, and fees, we also have acquired a listing of physicians who are able to meet a consumer's "special needs." These include nursing home and community housecalls, physicians capable of conversing with non-English speaking patients (a range of 7 different languages spoken by 23 physicians), and a physician who is adept at sign-language for the deaf.

A stipulation we made with the physicians was that we would not publish our information. Instead, this information is available to the consumer via our local and toll-free "800" telephone lines.

'Hot L Baltimore' to be presented

The University Ensemble Theater, department of theater, UMass, presents Lanford Wilson's award-winning comedy, "THE HOT L BALTIMORE", running nightly at The Curtain Theater, Fine Arts Center, March 11 through 19. Tickets are $3.50 and $2.50 for students and Senior Citizens with I.D. Box Office phone: 545-3511.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Clam Roll, Meatloaf with Gravy; Basics: Soybean, Corn and Tomato Casserole, Clam Roll.

DINNER — Roast Turkey, Fried Fish; Basics: Spanish Beans, Roast Turkey.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Hamburgers, Cheese Ravioli; Basics: Vegetable Hot Pot, Cheese Ravioli.

DINNER — SPECIAL CHINESE DINNER: Miniature Egg Rolls, Chinese Beef and Peppers and Tomatoes, Vegetable Chow Mein; Basics: Vegetable Chow Mein, Lo Mein with Chicken.

Notices

ALPHA LAMDBA DELTA

Don't forget tomorrow night's meeting at 7:30 in CC 904. All plans for the semester will be made then.

ALTERNATIVE HEALING SEMINAR

- Next meeting tomorrow night at 8 in Franklin Patterson Hall Lounge, Hampshire College. Topic: chiropractic.

ATTENTION POLOISTS!!!

Official practice begins today at 6 and will be Tu, Th, & Fri. at 6. There will be a vital team meeting on Tuesday, 3-15 at 6 to discuss game and practice schedule. This is the last day to pay $10 dues. NO dues, no play.

AMERICAN INST. INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

There is a meeting tonight at 8 in Engineering East, 106. Ben Ricci from the Dept. of Exercise Science will be the guest speaker. ALL WELCOME.

BIBLICAL EXPLORATION

Tonight from 6:45 to 7:45 in SU 422, an informal and wide-open discussion of REVELATION 10 for anyone trying to recapture the poetry, wisdom, relevance of the Bible post-Sunday school, post Fundamentalism, maybe "post-Christian."

BIKE CLUB

Cape Cod and Tennessee pre-trip meeting tonight CC 908 at 8:30. Trip is over spring break and people interested would attend the meeting. If unable, contact club president. 6-4415.

MEN'S BOWLING TEAM MEETING

Important meeting for all men's bowling team members — Tuesday at 4:30 Boyden.

BREAD AND WINE

You are welcome at this simple sharing of common loaf and common cup, offered by the United Christian Foundation for any and all persons in the UMass community, regardless of affiliation or shade of belief. Celebrated this week by Mary Matthews.

ATTENTION ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN

You are invited to attend a Spaghetti Dinner at 5:30 p.m. today at Chi Omega Sorority. Come and meet the sisters and pledges of Chi Omega and find out what sorority life is all about. For more info. and rides call 5-0162. See you then!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

Meeting tonight, 6-7 in CC 901. See how Christian Science can help expand the role you play in the university through an understanding of the infinite Spiritual Creation.

ENVI SCI U-GRADS

Meeting at 7:30 in Marshall Lab tonight. Items on the agenda: Financial decisions on Resource Center; organization of Renovation Work-Crew; Committees will meet; Emblem for the dept. Everyone snould attend.

KEEP A HOLY LENT

With regular worship, Holy Communion and Penetential Office, Sun. 6 p.m. followed by dinner, & Wed. at 8. At the ARK (UMass Episcopal Church) 758 N. Pleasant St. (across from NOPE).

NEW DIABETICS

The first meeting of new diabetes learning and discussion group will be tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Unv. Health Services Clinic Lounge. This is a chance for any people with a personal interest in diabetes to get together. Please come. Questions? Call 549-2671 Health Ed.

SEMINAR ON MEDICINE PART 4

Tonight's speaker is Dr. John O'Connor, a pediatric Radiologist, and the Dean of BU Medical School. He will speak at 7 p.m. in Hasbrouck 113. Tonight is also the last night to register for the colloq. If interested feel free to come.

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMM

Important meeting tonight at 7:30 in SU 415. All those wishing to work the Ellen McIlwaine-Isis Concert must attend.

SCUBA CLUB

Divers it is time to check out your equipment for spring diving every Tues. night at the Curry Hick Pool, starting at 6 p.m. We have NAUI Instructor Info. and Lobster License Applications.

SHAB

Important meeting of the Student Health Advisory Board today in Health Services 302. Please attend this meeting.

UMASS HANG GLIDING CLUB

The second ground school is tonight at 8 in Room 811-815. You must have attended the first ground school last week. Twol lessons are required.

LOST

Grey and white altered male cat in vicinity of New Salem. Has only ½ tail and pinned back ears from recent operation. Answers to Nipper. Call 6-4550.

LOST

Briar pipe w-gold band. In vicinity of the Pub — sentimental value — reward offered. 665-3447.

LOST

ONE STERLING SILVER CHARM BRACELET with charms. High sentimental value. Please return. Reward. 665-3324.

LOST

Silver spoon bracelet with engraving on edges. Great sentimental value. Lucy 549-3961.

LOST

Tan wallet on March 2 about 11 p.m. on Concourse in CC. If found please drop off at info. desk. No questions asked. Thanks.

LOST

Knapsack — green. Stolen from Public Health Prep Room. Any info call 256-8120 leave a message — no questions asked. REWARD.

LOST

Men's gold religious medal — Blessed Mother. If found contact Kevin 6-7782.

LOST

Gold man's ring — TCA. Call 6-8020.

LOST

I lost my mother's ring — gold band with red stone on March 2 in Curry Hicks Locker Room. It has great sentimental value. Reward. Call Joanne 253-2833.

LOST

Blue nylon sweat jacket. Saturday at Franklin DC. Small, navy blue with green and white stripes on sleeves. Please, if you can give me any info on its whereabouts please call Maryanne at 6-6829 or drop in Franklin Office. Sentimental value. REWARD.

University of massachusetts
arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

University of massachusetts
arts council
presents

NIKOLAIS
Dance Theatre

FRI. & SAT.
MARCH 11, 12
8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $6, 5, 4. UM—A students — half price, senior citizens and other studnets $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE
545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9 - HADLEY MASS

IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG
1 Tues. 5:45, 8:00
Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45

CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
2 R Tues. 6:00, 8:15
Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00

2 ACADEMY AWARD NOMINATIONS!
Sherlock Holmes meets Sigmund Freud
THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION
From the #1 Best Selling Novel
ALAN ARKIN VANESSA REDGRAVE ROBERT DUVALL
and NICOL WILLIAMSON
3 Tues. 5:45, 8:00
Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45

THE NEWEST PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
BLAKE EDWARDS
PETER SELLERS
THE PINK PANTHER
PG
4 Tues. 6:00, 8:15
Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00

REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS...LIMITED TO SEATING

Everbody's Market Place
CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m.
and 3:45p.m.
Monday thru Friday
The deadline is 3:45p.m., two days before
your ad is to appear.
The rates are
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)
IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED
AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition. $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings. $125.00. Nordica boots. $60.00. Head poles. $15.00. Call 549-2691.

Frye bts, sz. 7, $40. Wt. uniform, 9; shoes, sz. 7, $15. 6-7990.

4.5 cu. ft. refrig. $80. Mike 253-9034.

FOR SALE

Yamaha FG-180, Guitar $125 or B.O. Call Daniel 3-7 p.m. 253-3887.

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

AUTO FOR SALE

'73 Datsun 240Z. Clean, air-cond. New: exhaust, Michelins, bat., alt., clutch & more. $3500. 256-8448.

'75 Datsun B210 Hatchback. 33,000 mi. Garaged, spotless. Michelins, AM-FM, rustproofing. $2800. 549-4451 eves.

'69 VW Bug: $150; 96,000 mi., body rot, new rear tires, good radio, runs well but needs tune up and muffler work. My liabilities are greater than assets, so I need to raise cash. Steve: 549-3672.

'72 Vega GT, 5 speed, 46,000 miles, AM-FM. Must sell leaving country. $600. New exhaust system. Call after 5:30, 549-2818.

1972 Fiat 128. Runs well, low mileage. Best offer. 256-8530.

'66 Int'l Bus w-low mileage, '68 engine, exc. cond. Asking $2300. Call 617-939-2396.

'67 Dodge V8, auto., gd. eng. Needs brakes, spindle. $200. 268-7331 eves.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 Honda 350cc. $500. Call 549-1055.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 Honda 350CB. $500. Call 549-1055.

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

Triumph Daytona 500 '73 custom. Low miles, good cond. Call 247-9235.

'74 TR5MX Triumph 500, on-off road $550. 247-9235.

HELP WANTED

Dorm reps needed to take orders at 9 p.m.-no soliciting. 549-6979. Pat

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Overseas Jobs — Summer—year-round. Europe, S. America, Australia, Asia, etc. All fields. $500-$1200 monthly. Expenses paid, sightseeing, free info: write — International Job Center, Dept. MC, Box 4490, Berkeley, CA. 94704.

COLORADO WYOMING MONTANA. Summertime employees for dude ranches, nat'l. parks, & U.S. Forest Service. For info. & directory send $3 to Outdoor Services, Box 349, Cody, Wyoming 82414.

Medical Technologist position available at Farren Memorial Hospital, Main St., Turners Falls, MA. 774-3111.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd.,w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Till Aug. 1 bed., dishwsh, air cond., cable, disposal, pets, bus, lndry. Nick 256-8294.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

1 bdrm. in hse. Sublt. $70+. Furn. 256-6224.

One month free rent, 3 bdrm. apt. walking distance from camp. Jun.-Aug. option to renew Sept. 549-5654.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Hse., Sund. Has rms., bus, April 1. 256-6698.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B-3 Cliffside. Leave name and number - 584-9669.

Roommate — own room. $95 rent, utils. included, on bus route. Call 256-0294.

WANTED

A FT-2 carrying case for Nikkormat cameras. Call Bill, Rm 311, 5-2642

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

For Bwana (3-3-73 — 2-28-77): All of us who knew and loved you will miss you dearly. Gus.

Happy Birthday Roz — I want Chateau Briand tonight. — Felix.

My little Honey Pie, the apple of my eye, nothing is as good as you — Happy Tenth. Rich.

Comecou com Mamae eu Quero e Cidade Maravilhosa. Gostava e gosto de todo que tem acontecido conozco na ano pasado. Quero o mais melhor por nos dois no futuro. Com muito amor, Joaozinho bonitinho.

Theo, we met Thur. at Rachd. Have changed mind. Contact at 4863. M.

To David Devine alias Rossie formerly of John Adams 17: Happy 22nd Birthday. You're cool and not a square!! Moon, Mike and Claff.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter. 665-2920.

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

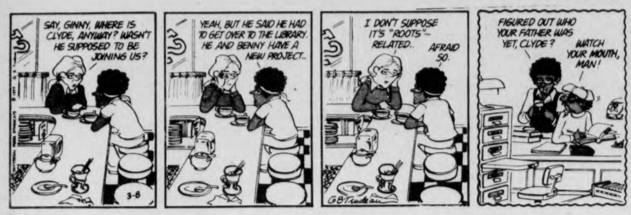
Come to the fourth annual Big Bad Boogie, beginning at 9:00 p.m., Friday, March 11 at Worcester Dining Commons, featuring the band, Orphan Annie! Sponsored by Sylvan Area Govt.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T.I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR 52 $199.95; SR 56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR 40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP 67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

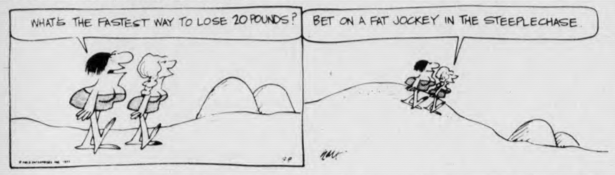
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

Valley
29 S. Pleasant St
call 256-6736
M - F 10-6 S 10-2



SAY, GINNY, WHERE IS CLYDE, ANYWAY? WASN'T HE SUPPOSED TO BE JOINING US?
YEAH, BUT HE SAID HE HAD TO GET OVER TO THE LIBRARY. HE AND BENNY HAVE A NEW PROJECT..
I DON'T SUPPOSE IT'S "ROOTS"-RELATED..
AFRAID SO.
FIGURED OUT WHO YOUR FATHER WAS YET, CLYDE?
WATCH YOUR MOUTH, MAN!
3-8
GBTrudeau

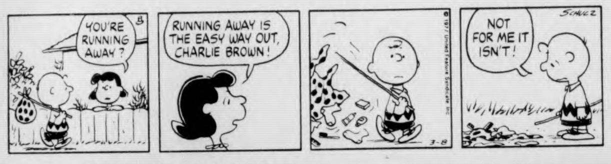
B.C. by Johnny Hart



WHAT'S THE FASTEST WAY TO LOSE 20 POUNDS?
BET ON A FAT JOCKEY IN THE STEEPLECHASE.

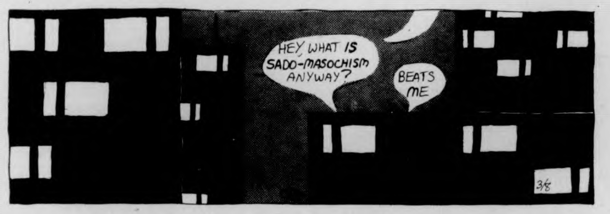
Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



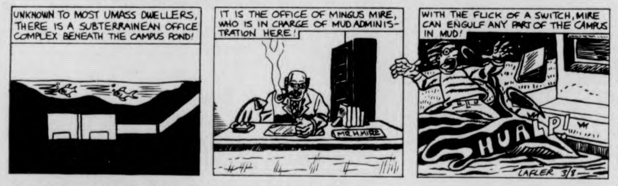
YOU'RE RUNNING AWAY?
RUNNING AWAY IS THE EASY WAY OUT, CHARLIE BROWN!
NOT FOR ME IT ISN'T!
SCHULZ
3-8

What Next? by Dick Janssen



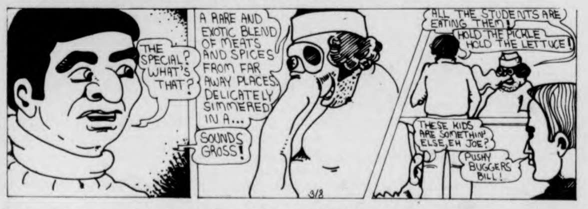
HEY, WHAT IS SADO-MASOCHISM ANYWAY?
BEATS ME
3/8

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



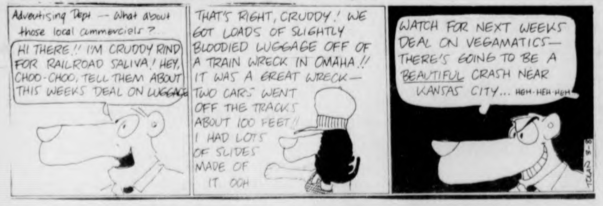
UNKNOWN TO MOST UMASS DWELLERS, THERE IS A SUBTERRAINEAN OFFICE COMPLEX BENEATH THE CAMPUS POND!
IT IS THE OFFICE OF MINGUS MIRE, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF MUD ADMINISTRATION HERE!
MR. H. MIRE
WITH THE FLICK OF A SWITCH, MIRE CAN ENGULF ANY PART OF THE CAMPUS IN MUD!
HURLP!
LAFLER 3/8

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



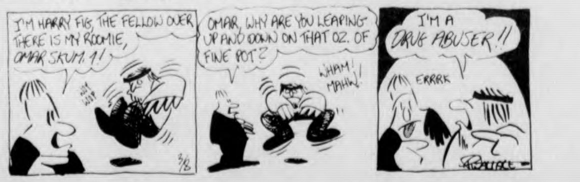
THE SPECIAL? WHAT'S THAT?
A RARE AND EXOTIC BLEND OF MEATS AND SPICES FROM FAR AWAY PLACES. DELICATELY SIMMERED IN A...
SOUNDS GROSS!
ALL THE STUDENTS ARE EATING THEM!
HOLD THE PICKLE HOLD THE LETTUCE!
THESE KIDS ARE SOMETHIN' ELSE, EH JOE?
PUSHY BUGGERS BILL!
3/8

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



Advertising Dept — What about those local commercials?
HI THERE!! I'M CRUDDY RIND FOR RAILROAD SALIVA! HEY, CHOO-CHOO, TELL THEM ABOUT THIS WEEKS DEAL ON LUGGAGE
THAT'S RIGHT, CRUDDY! WE GOT LOADS OF SLIGHTLY BLOODIED LUGGAGE OFF OF A TRAIN WRECK IN OMAHA!! IT WAS A GREAT WRECK— TWO CARS WENT OFF THE TRACKS ABOUT 100 FEET!! I HAD LOTS OF SLIDES MADE OF IT OOH
WATCH FOR NEXT WEEKS DEAL ON VEGAMATICS— THERE'S GOING TO BE A BEAUTIFUL CRASH NEAR KANSAS CITY... HEH-HEH-HEH
TOLAN 3-8

Harry Fig by Peter Wallace



I'M HARRY FIG, THE FELLOW OVER THERE IS MY ROOMIE, OMAR SKUM!!
OMAR, WHY ARE YOU LEAPING UP AND DOWN ON THAT OZ. OF FINE POT?
WHAM! MAHW!
I'M A DRUG ABUSER!!
ERRRK
3/8
P. WALLACE

Local Television

7:00 2 ZOOM
3 7 CBS NEWS
4 NBC NEWS
5 9 ABC NEWS
6 HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
9 NASHVILLE MUSIC
10 CONCENTRATION
12 $25,000 PYRAMID
27 THE FBI
38 ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
7:30 2 NAT'L GEOGRAPHIC "The Volga"
3 CELEBRITY SWEEPSTAKES
4 NAME THAT TUNE
5 THE MUPPETS Guest Juliet Prowse
6 IN SEARCH OF ... "Mummy's Curse"
7 CANDID CAMERA
9 BOBBY VINTON Guests Arte Johnson, Gloria Loring
10 $128,000 QUESTION
12 TO TELL THE TRUTH
38 HOCKEY Boston Bruins vs. Atlanta
8:00 3 7 WHO'S WHO
4 10 BAA BAA BLACK SHEEP
5 6 9 HAPPY DAYS
12 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
27 MOVIE "Bamboo Saucer"
56 MOVIE "Objective Burma"
8:30 2 IN SEARCH OF THE REAL AMERICA "Pig of the World?"
5 6 9 LAVERNE AND SHIRLEY
9:00 2 SURPRISE
3 7 12 M-A-S-H
4 10 POLICE WOMAN
5 6 9 RICH MAN, POOR MAN
9:30 2 WW I "Battle of the Argonne"
3 7 12 ONE DAY AT A TIME
10:00 2 27 NEWS WEATHER
3 7 12 KOJAK
4 10 POLICE STORY
5 6 9 FAMILY
10:15 38 MOVIE "Legend of Custer"
10:30 2 MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
10:15 38 MOVIE "Legend of Custer"
10:30 2 MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 JOE HYDER SHOW
56 LOVE AMERICAN STYLE
11:00 2 MOVIE "Blythe Spirit"
3 4 5 6 7 9 10 12 NEWS WEATHER
27 MOVIE "Four Days of Naples
56 DARK SHADOWS
11:30 3 7 12 CBS MOVIE "Trapped"
4 10 TONIGHT
5 MARY HARTMAN
6 9 ABC MOVIE "Our Man Flint — Dead on Target"
56 NIGHT GALLERY
12:00 5 ABC MOVIE See 6, 9 at 11:30 p.m.
1:00 4 10 TOMORROW
1:30 7 ECO
1:35 5 LAW AND MR. JONES

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Tuesday, March 8— Born today, you are by nature an affectione individual. You are also, however, a self-conscious person a may find it quite impossible to display ngs your feelings openly unless you have known the object of those feelings for a very long time. Thus it is that you may miss out on relationships which might have been not only stimulating but tremendously important to your happiness simply because you could not speak out in time to indicate to another your desire that he or she should seek closer ties. With matters having little outwardly to do with emotions — finances, for instance — you are not only capable, you verge on being a genius. Your ability to juggle figures, to make facts do more or less what you want them to is both outstanding and, ultimately, profitable.

You are somewhat inclined to isolate yourself from people once you have suffered disappointment in the area of romance. Women born todav may have a tendency to shrink from meeting "new" men, following the principle of "once bitten, twice shy." Men, on the other hand, may develop a kind of bravado and egocentric behavior which, driving women away from them, serve the same purpose as the attitude of their female counterpart. With maturity such reactions to disappointment should disappear. What replaces them should at least enable you to meet members of the opposite sex on a satisfying intellectual basis.

Although you are creative by instinct, you may well have spent so much energy covering up your creativity so as not to expose yourself to adverse criticism of its product that, by the time you have reached mature years, you are literally unable to use your gifts alonq these lines.

Wednesday, March 9

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Don't capitulate to feelings aroused by a sudden attraction to another. Take time to study your responses more carefully.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — A great deal of tact and considerable patience is needed today if you are not to irritate those from whom you hope to gain aid.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — An expensive social activity may leave you in a state of depression. Don't give in to feelings of inadequacy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Keep your eye on the family budget. Employment difficulties should iron themselves out if you lend a calm assist.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Improve your personal image, especially when the younger generation is concerned. Don't be overly responsive to what you consider a slight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — More caution than usual is advised for the early morning hours. You would do well to remain close to home until nightfall.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Your personal desires for another may have to take a back seat to the wishes of the group. Discuss options openly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Demonstrations of genuine affection make life easier all the way around. Be careful, however, not to seem out after something.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — A good day for romance — especially if you've been able to pave the way with letters, phone calls, and so on over the past few days.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Conflicting desires of co-workers may make this a nerve-jangling day on the employment scene. Keep your own counsel at evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Another's concern may come across to you as interference. Take another look at the situation before acting upon it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Give additional consideration to the fact that you do not really want to follow another's directives. It may be time to go out on your own.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

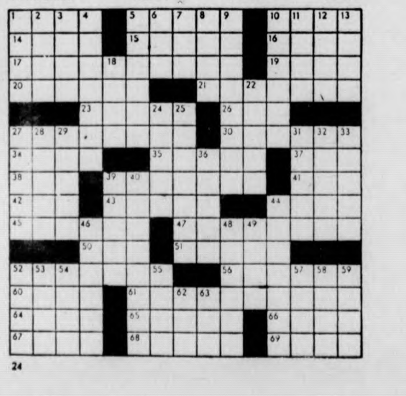
1 Seals off a well
5 ----- heating
10 Surveyor's nail
14 Greek goddess
15 Be contingent
16 Nursery rhyme king
17 Inflexible
19 Mechanical routine
20 Take a ------: Run away
21 Showing some resemblance
23 --- -- France
26 Stanley ---
27 Family member
30 Fall flowers
34 ---- Beach, Calif.
35 Look intensely
37 Card game
38 Ottawa's prov.
39 Lambasted: Slang
41 Disembowel
42 Hoosier fabulist
43 "The Thinker" creator
44 Negative contraction
45 Indefinite contest
47 Royal Canadians' leader
50 Fresh water fish
51 Celestial bodies
52 Ships' kitchens
56 Enjoy music
60 Wildly crazy
61 Deep South city: 2 words
64 Protuberance
65 Governed
66 Cisterns
67 Show pleasure
68 Destitute
69 Claude ----: Fr. novelist

DOWN

1 Fragment
2 Before sol or space
3 Ship section
4 Carpentry work
5 S.E.C. units
6 Silvery metallic element
7 Extremity
8 Historical periods
9 Govt. health service
10 Writing style
11 Y.M.C.A. feature
12 Utah community
13 Bambi, for one
18 Kept in check
22 Was thoughtful
24 Gave medicine to
25 Requires as a result
27 Regard with malicious pleasure
28 Musical composition
29 Sweetens the kitty
31 British composer
32 Spherical
33 ----- voce: Very softly
36 Negative phrase: 2 words
39 Lacking refinement
40 Cordage thread: 2 words
44 Tropical plant
46 Smoothly appealing
48 Disorder
49 Rim
52 Pack of wolves
53 Cupid
54 Napoleonic victory site
55 Wet place: Var.
57 Malay title of respect
58 This: Sp.
59 Amer. cartoonist
62 Pub product
63 Board's partner

Monday's Puzzle Solved

C	H	O	P	■	R	E	A	T	A	■	C	R	A	M
L	O	L	A	■	E	A	T	E	N	■	R	A	N	I
A	B	E	D	■	B	R	E	A	K	F	A	S	T	S
W	O	O	D	C	U	T	S	■	A	R	M	P	I	T
■	■	■	■	L	A	T	H	■	P	R	O	P	■	■
M	O	D	E	S	T	■	P	E	A	C	O	C	K	S
O	R	R	■	H	A	B	I	T	■	K	N	A	V	E
P	A	I	R	■	L	I	L	A	C	■	S	L	A	M
E	L	V	E	S	■	S	O	L	A	R	■	P	H	I
R	E	E	F	K	N	O	T	■	R	E	C	E	S	S
■	■	■	■	L	A	I	N	■	R	E	A	R	■	■
E	F	F	E	T	E	■	G	A	L	L	E	O	N	S
M	A	R	C	E	L	W	A	V	E	■	S	L	O	T
I	M	I	T	■	L	O	V	E	S	■	T	I	M	E
L	E	T	S	■	O	W	E	N	S	■	S	O	A	F



24

INTERNATIONAL GUIDE TO TRAVEL HOUSING
REDUCE TRAVEL COSTS
Stay in College and University Residences
- over 230 colleges and universities listed
- 21 countries represented (including U. S. and Canada)
- inexpensive rooms
- low-cost meals
- campus activities
- available holiday periods

For completely revised and expanded 2nd edition of Travel Guide to College and University Housing, send $3 to Teachers Travel Service, P. O. Box 7006, Berkeley, CA 94707.

We need certain college majors to become Air Force lieutenants.

Mechanical and civil engineering major . . . aerospace and aeronautical engineering majors . . . electronics . . . computer science . . . mathematics majors.

The Air Force is looking for young men and women with academic majors such as these. If you're majoring in one of these areas, you may be eligible for either the two-year or the four-year Air Force ROTC program. And to help with the college bills, two, three, and four-year scholarships are available. These scholarships pay tuition, textbooks, lab fees, and $100 tax-free dollars a month. The Air Force ROTC program leads to an Air Force commission, an excellent starting salary, challenging work (with some of the finest equipment in the world), promotions, responsibility, graduate education and much more.

Find out today about the benefits of the Air Force ROTC program. It's a great way to serve your country and to help pay for your college education.

Call Major Richardson
at 545-2437
Air Force ROTC

---

100 PAGES
OF INFORMATION ON JOBS IN SPORTS ADMINISTRATION

"For people interested in the field, the Sports Administration Guide and Directory offers some tips on schools and job hunting."

This quote from a Career Profile editorial in Money Magazine indicates the importance of getting the right start in the pursuit of a career in sports administration. National Sports Marketing Bureau has just published the 1977 edition of the Guide. It explains what kinds of non-playing jobs are available, where to find them and how to go about getting them. The Directory has been expanded to cover addresses and names of contacts in arenas, minor league baseball and major college conferences as well as every major sports league.

Mail this coupon with your payment today. Get the right start towards a career in sports administration.

Mail to:
National Sports
Marketing Bureau
360 Lexington Ave.
New York, N. Y. 10017

Yes, I am interested in a non-playing career in sports. Enclosed please find $5.00 for the 1977 Sports Administration Guide and Directory. Price includes postage and handling. New York residents add sales tax.

NAME
ADDRESS
CITY
STATE ZIP

Giants trade Craig

DENVER [UPI] — The Denver Broncos and New York Giants Monday exchanged veteran quarterbacks — Steve Ramsey going east and Craig Morton heading west.

"I don't know anything about the town or the team," said Ramsey, "but I'm happy to be going."

Denver General Manager Fred Gehrke said "future considerations", would also be given to the Giants in order to obtain Morton, who lost a quarterback battle to Roger Staubach in Dallas and failed to produce a winner with the Giants in two and a half seasons.

"We said we would try to deal for a veteran quarterback to give us stability while our two youngsters (Craig Penrose and Norris Weese) develop and we feel that Craig fills the bill," said Gehrke.

Morton and Ramsey felt the vocal wrath of the fans last season and Ramsey said he thought the move was an excellent opportunity for both players.

"This doesn't come as any surprise," said Ramsey in Dallas, where he lives during the off season. "They have made a lot of changes in Denver and I thought I would be one of them.

"Things have not been too good in Denver the past few years. We had a coach (John Ralston) who promised the fans a 12-2 season and the Super Bowl three years ago.

"The fans were down on everything and everybody this year.

"I feel good to get out of it, but they are making a fresh start in Denver and I think that will be a benefit for Craig."

Ramsey said he was totally unfamiliar with the Giants organization.

"The only thing I know about them is that their defense is very good," he said. "We played them last year and they gave us a bad time. But I don't know anything about the offensive line or the receivers."

He said he looked upon the trade as a major chance for the success he has never had during his six year career.

"If you make good there everybody in the country knows it," Ramsey said. "When I went to Denver I only had a couple of people call me and ask me about things. When I found out about this trade there must have been 15 people on the phone right away from New York wanting to know about me."

Ramsey, 28, opened last season as the Broncos starter, but late in the season alternated with Weese. During his career in Denver Ramsey completed less than 50 per cent of his passes and threw for 35 touchdowns.

Nancy O'Neil and the official seem to be doing the 'Freddie' as she scores a bucket against Southern Connecticut. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS
FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms

Complete Zerox
Copy Center
141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

Mike Berger

ECBL basketball memories

A few observations about the ECBL Tournament noticed during the four-day competition at the Philadelphia Spectrum.

First of all, the UMass victory over Rutgers Wednesday night before 3,616 partisan Rutgers fans will rate as one of the classic UMass victories of all times. It was absolutely unthinkable to the Rutgers fans and all the presss in Philadelphia, New Jersey, and New York, that Rutgers would lose.

The Rutgers fans, and the press covering them were actually crying when UMass forward Mike Pyatt sealed the 78-74 victory with two free throws. The scene on the court following the game could be described as a miniature 1967 Red Sox pennant victory. The eight cheerleaders accompanied by the 30 Pep Band members who paid their own way down to Philadelphia to support the team unleashed their joy onto the players while the Rutgers team, which had finished fourth in the nation in 1976 just hung their heads in shame.

It is absolutely inconceivable to me that the Boston Globe and the Boston Herald sent no reporters down to cover the tournament. Besides listing the wrong time for the UMass-Duquesne game on Friday night, the Globe's lack of coverage of UMass is an absolute disgrace. If the New York Times and the Washington Post sent down the reporters, there is absolutely no excuse for the Globe.

UMass coach Jack Leaman following the Rutgers game, was heralded as the second coming of George Washington. Besides being known as Doctor J's coach, his 177-81 record in ten years at UMass for a .686 percentage is well known in this area of Philadelphia. It seems that only in Boston, is Jack Leaman unrecognized.

Remember those Saturday afternoon college basketball games on TV with the hyped out crowds and the people dressed up like animals, well down in Villanova, and West Virginia, people down there get more psyched up for a basketball game than a Cage crowd. West Virginia has a guy dressed up like Daniel Boone with a coonskin hat shooting off a musket at all times of the game. Not to be outdone, Villanova has a person dressed up like in a lion's suit who goes around the crowd, stirring them up with his imitations of the other team's cheerleaders.

In addition, Villanova has an excellent pep band and a 70-year-old man who actually gets up and dances to the best of the music. But the press up here made general favorable comments about the UMass pep band and the cheerleaders. UMass had the only squad largest cheerleading squad with eight.

There is no doubt in my mind that the UMass starting five when playing as best as they know how can compete with most nationally rated teams in the country. Senior Jim Town, in one of the guttiest UMass performances ever seen, came out and in each of the three games and scored and rebounded in double figures. His ribs, causing him difficulty in breathing, looked purple after each game.

Mark Donoghue, perhaps maligned in the past for his inconsistency, was one of the critical reasons UMass beat Rutgers as he held nationally known Jim Bailey to ten points and eight rebounds. Throughout the tournament, Donoghue shot well over 50 per cent and rebounded as well as any center of the eight teams.

What can you say about Mike Pyatt that hasn't been said before. He surely made every scout in the crowd stand up and take notice as he scored 26, 22, and 20 respectively. Whenever a key rebound was needed, the 6-5 junior, named to the tournament all star teams was there to climb the boards and pull it down.

Town, Donoghue, and Pyatt, made up, according to tournament press director, Bob Smith the strongest, and most consistent front court in the tournament.

In the Rutgers game, although All-American guard Ed Jordan scored his usual 22 points, besides the play of Donoghue, the game was won in the UMass backcourt. Alex Eldridge, determined to outplay Jordan, combined with high school backcourt mate Derick Claiborne to control the game. Eldridge scored 12 while Claiborne scored 14.

The backcourt was disappointing in the Duquesne loss as both Claiborne and Eldridge only scored four but rebounded to spark the UMass offense on Saturday night with 13. When each is at its best, there are not too many backcourts better in the country as each seems to know each others moves better than anyone else.

Finally, something not pointed out was the lack of bench production at the tournament. Although Len Kohlhaas, came off the bench in the Rutger's game and halted the Rutgers furious comeback with three key rebounds in the late stages of the game, virtually no one came off the bench to spark the team against Dusquene. But against West Virginia, Leaman inserted Brad Johnson, Kohlhaas, and Bill Morrison who produced 12 points between the three of them to at least rest some of the regulars who were averaging 39 minutes a game.

SHERUT LA'AM

You can work in your profession, make use of your skills and, at the same time, experience and understand Israel. Sherut La'am is a two way program — you can give and you get. After an intensive 'ulpan' (Hebrew course), you will live and work in a development town where, unlike a tourist, you become an integral part of the community. Teachers, doctors, social workers, nurses, dentists, urban planners, technicians, etc. — if you have six months to a year and if you want to really know, understand, and experience Israel, join Sherut La'am.

Sherut La'am, American Zionist Youth Foundation
515 Park Avenue,
New York, New York 10022,
(212) 751-6070

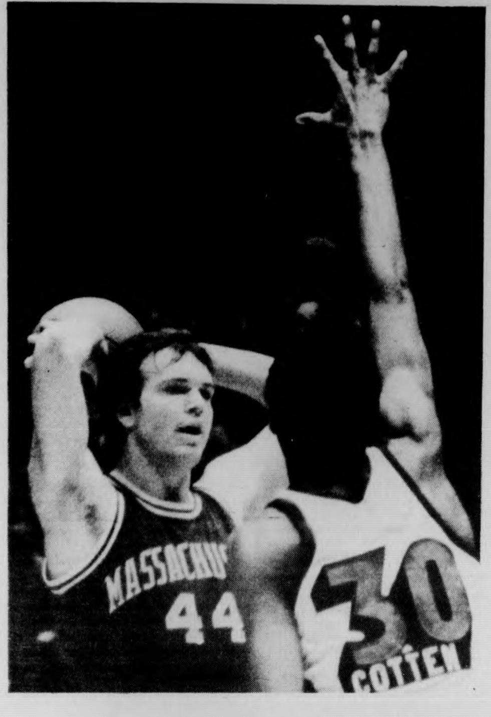
36
For information, please send to the above address.
Name Age
Address
City State Zip
University
(USD SL)

rent a refrigerator.
for the whole semester.
3 cu. ft. 50% more space
Reserve Yours Now
Call 253-5384
or 256-8433

The perfect solution for late night snacks, study breaks, and even a whole meal ... save money ... no more vending machines to gobble up your funds ... save time ... it's right in your own room ... rent one for the whole year for only pennies per day ... even less ... when cost is split with your roommate ... approved by the university for in-room use ... compact ... lightweight ... handsome walnut exterior has a beautiful furniture appearance ... doubles as a table ... quick freezing ... can freeze up a new tray of large size ice cubes in only 45 minutes ... holds over 36 cans of canned drinks ... if unit fails call representative for immediate replacement ... free pickup and delivery included in rental fee ... limited supply — call now to reserve your unit today!

CREATIVE CONVENIECE

Fun in Philly?



In the recent ECBL tournament, it was intense hard work, concentration, and communication which gave the spark for the two Minutemen victories. Whether it was the injured Jim Town playing all three games with hurt ribs, or Mike Pyatt awaiting the pass to either shoot or drive past his man, UMass needed a great deal of patience in order to beat Rutgers and West Virginia.

Senior Mark Donoghue (50), took a rare time out for a rest and played an average of 37 minutes for the three games. Donoghue shot over 50 per cent for the tournament while playing excellent team defense and leading the team in steals and rebounds.

In the Rutgers and West Virginia wins, both Alex Eldridge (24) and Derick Claiborne (20) displayed their strongest assets by either driving for the open layup or dribbling past a tough full court man-to-man press or zone defense. It was the quarterbacking abilities of these two guards and the knack of finishing off a play which helped to provide for UMass' favorable showing.

It wasn't any individual responsible for the team's 2-1 third place showing but rather a collective effort from the starting five and some needed bench help. If UMass is to have a good showing in the upcoming N.I.T., it will again have to rely on intense concentration, hard work, hustle and determination from Town, Pyatt, Donoghue, Eldridge, Claiborne and company.

Photos by Chris Bourne

Text by

Mike Berger

Judo team fourth

The UMass judo team came in fourth in the East Coast Collegiate Judo Championships held this past weekend at West Point, N.Y.

Juniata College was the first place team, with Navy placing second and Slippery Rock third. A total of 20 teams competed in the championships.

Alan Rodgers was the high finisher for UMass, as he placed second in the 143-pound weight classification.

Mark Brusso, Steven Hoyle, Jim Javaras, and Mark Bradley were the other team members to compete for UMass, while Kenneth Cousins and Bill Santos entered the tournament as individuals.

The judo team, which is classified a club sport here, finished third in the New England championships last month. The next action for the squad will be in two weeks when it travels to Enfield, Ct. for an open tournament.

UNITED TRANSMISSION
EXCHANGE INC.
All make car and truck transmissions
Repaired - Rebuilt - Exchanged
King St., Northampton
584-6790

RHETORIC EXEMPTION TEST

WRITTEN TEST

March 8
8:00-10 p.m. in the following rooms:
Last names A-L — Thompson 102
Last names M-Z — Thompson 106

March 9
8:00-10 p.m. in the following rooms:
Last names A-L — Thompson 104
Last names M-Z — SBA 120

ORAL TEST

March 10

All students should report at 8 p.m. in Bartlett 310.

A student may take either the written or the oral test for a three credit exemption. A student may take both tests for a six credit exemption. Only in a few exceptional cases will a student be awarded a six credit exemption based on the written scores. (If you have taken the test, passed it, and been awarded three credits, you may not take it again.)

THE WRITTEN TEST consists of two parts (both of which are to be taken on the same night). The first part of the test is a multiple-choice test of rhetorical skills. The second part is an essay. Students will be given three topics, asked to choose one and write a 500 word essay on the topic.

The oral test consists of two parts (both of which are to be taken on the same night). The first part is a short-answer test which asks speakers to reveal the rhetorical decisions made in preparing their speeches. The second part is a persuasive speech. The speech is to be PREPARED IN ADVANCE. A copy of the assignment may be obtained in the Rhetoric Office (Bartlett 308C).

Bring a student ID and two number two pencils along with a quarter to help defray the costs of supplies and printing.

VISITING STUDENTS INVITED
The Summer Place '77
© 1977 C.W.P.

It's all here at C.W. Post: a beautiful 350-acre campus, less than an hour from midtown Manhattan and the Hamptons, minutes from beaches and golf courses . . . residence halls, theaters, sports facilities.

'It's The Summer Place . . . to accelerate your education, enrich your life, meet your career/life style objectives.

A full range of undergraduate, graduate, weekend college and continuing education (non-degree credit) courses . . . plus special institutes and workshops.

3 Summer Sessions (day and evening):
May 20-June 23/June 24-July 28/July 29-Sept. 1
Weekend College Session begins June 25,
July 9 or 10

Summer courses are also available at the Suffolk Branch Campus, Brentwood, L.I. • (516) 273-5112

For the Summer Bulletin, phone (516) 299-2431
or write: Office of Special Programs, Box C LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY
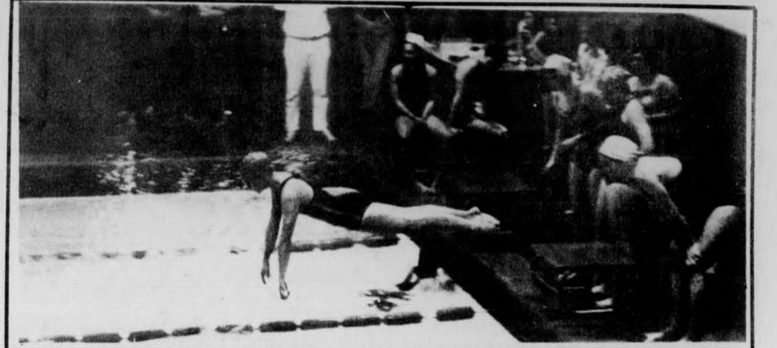
c.w. post center
GREENVALE, NEW YORK 11548



The women's swim team fared well in the Eastern Regional Championships in Delaware this past weekend.

Schwartz never satisfied

By JIM GLEASON
Collegian Staff

It came as no surprise to those who know her to see what kind of season she has had; except to Deb Schwartz. Because of her summer job, she couldn't swim very much and she worried that this might affect her times, but early conditioning and a "great coach" helped her to have a very successful season. But Schwartz was not satisfied.

"I'm never satisfied. Even if I do my best time for an event, I wish I could've done better," she said.

"I enjoy swimming because it is challenging. It is as hard as you want it to be. It's a very individual sport and there's a lot of pressure but that's what I like."

For the past eight years, Deb has taken to the water to continually test her ability against others and herself. She is an original member of the local AAU team which now consists of more than 300 people.

"Competition was tough and so were the practices. Swimming for two hours a day — everyday — was the standard procedure for the team," she said.

When Deb attended high school, she naturally joined its team and made those years of practice pay off. In four years of high school competition, with her father as coach, the girl's swim team lost only one meet. She was MVP for two years and was part of the 200-yard medley relay team which broke the state time. As a senior she won the Eastern Mass. championships in the 100-yard butterfly.

Deb Schwartz

Many New England colleges recognized her talent and recruited her but UMass didn't. It is probably because there was a change in coaches being made and there was some confusion. But luckily, Schwartz knew what she wanted and knew UMass had the swimming program she wanted. She also liked the fact that UMass is closer to her home town, Wayland, than the other colleges. She doesn't regret her decision.

"I love it here. The people are friendly and Coach Eve Atkinson has helped me immensely. She knows how much to expect and how much to push us. She's really a great coach."

This has been a good season for Schwartz and the UMass women's swim team. Though their record appeared unimpressive, there were many outstanding individual performances. Added to that, the team is very young, consisting of mostly sophomores who are bound to improve.

Deb, though she is hesitant to admit it, has also had a fine season. Her best performances were against Yale and in the New England Championships. She continually made the Eastern Times Standard and in the championships set a new UMass team record and a pool record for the URI pool in the 200-yard butterfly.

The butterfly is her favorite and her best event but she also participates in the long distance events and relay teams.

Now that the season is over, Deb hopes to stay in the pool and play on the women's water polo team. "It would be good practice and a good way to stay in shape."

Because Schwartz is only a freshman, her immediate future at UMass looks good — for herself and the team. With the high goals she sets for herself combined with her intense self motivation, she can only improve. But she is impatient with herself and may not be content with this. Maybe when she fulfills her high expectations, she will be at ease. Until then, only her friends and her coach can be satisfied with her.

WRITING PAPER
&
NOTE PAPER
at
☆ A. J. HASTINGS ☆
Newsdealer & stationer
45 South Pleasant St.

AT
THE PUB
TO NIGHT
MICHELOB
NIGHT
12oz. MICHELOB BOTTLES 50¢
ROCK & ROLL
and OLDIES
9-1

Collegian Sports

ECBL photo essay; p. 18

Women's swim feature, p. 19

Fenton tops, grapplers third

By BOB HASKELL
Collegian Staff

BOSTON — Senior Dennis Fenton won his fourth straight New England heavyweight championship and junior Kevin Griffin stunned heavily-favored Lee Spiegel of URI to win the 150 pound category last Sunday night at BU's Case Center, as the underdog Minutemen grapplers grabbed an unexpected third place finish in the fifth annual New England championships.

As expected, the University of Rhode Island ran away with team honors, amassing 105¼ points to second-place Boston University's 88½ points. UMass finished with 71½ points.

Eight Division I teams competed in the weekend festivities, but only three (URI, BU, and UMass) got representatives into the finals. The 1977 New England wrestling champions for Div. I are as follows:

118 — Jeff Lambert (BU)
126 — Joe Davidson (URI)
134 — Sev Popolizio (BU)
142 — Frank Pucino (URI)
150 — Kevin Griffin (UMass)
158 — Cliff Whalen (BU)
167 — Steve Pizzo (URI)
177 — Moe Haislip (URI)
190 — Mark Nichols (BU)
HWT — Dennis Fenton (UMass)

Overall the Minutemen won two firsts, two seconds, two thirds, and three fourths; a total of nine high finishers out of a possible ten.

Team captain Fenton found the going rough in his finals match with a fired-up John Staulo of URI. After the regulation three periods, the two heavyweights were deadlocked at 3-3, forcing the match into overtime. Despite the partisan Rhode Island crowd's chant of "Staulo, Staulo.", Fenton reached back into his awesome collection of talents and experience and pinned his arch-rival securely to the mat at 1:59 of OT, capping his career in vintage Fenton fashion.

Nobody expected Kevin Griffin, or anyone else for that matter, to interfere with Rhode Island's Lee Spiegel in the Ram strongman's progress to the 150 pound crown. As Spiegel approached the finals, all seemed to be in order. But the rugged UMass junior from Brookline had other ideas. Griffin showed the class expected of a champion while beating Spiegel 12-6, in a tension-packed match.

Both Larry Otsuka (134 lbs.) and Steve Jabaut (142 lbs.) reached the finals, only to lose in hotly contested matches. Otsuka shocked URI's Scott Arnel in the semifinals, and barely lost in the finals to Sev Popolizio of BU, 4-2. Jabaut lost his final match to URI's Frank Pucino, 6-0.

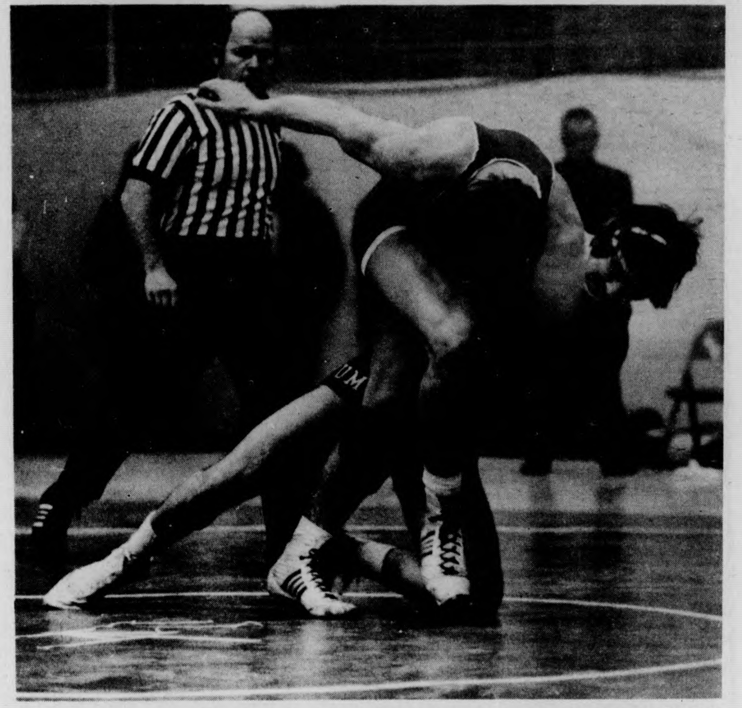
Other highlights for the Minutemen included third place finishes by Tim Fallon (158 lbs.) and Dana Cormier (167 lbs.). After losing his first match to Chet Davis of UNH, Fallon came back to defeat Davis 4-3 in the consolation finals.

Cormier lost in the semifinals to the ultimate champion at 167 pounds, Steve Pizzo of URI. In the consolation finals, however, the senior UMass grappler turned it on, to the dismay of Larry DeGaravilla of UNH who Cormier pinned after 2:58 of the match.

"We really stuck together for this one," said UMass coach Dave Amato, "Even though we had to face six URI opponents in the semis, we came through with our verv best effort."

Dennis Fenton won the Outstanding Wrestler Award and the Homer Barr Award for most career points. It will be a long time before a wrestler of Fenton's ability graces the New England scene again.

In the junior varsity New Englands, which were held at the same time in Case Center, UMass' Steve Haskell took first in the 167-pound weight class, and Bruce Rhodes showed promise for the future while garnering a second place finish at 158 lbs.



The UMass wrestling team had a fine showing this past weekend as Dennis Fenton won his fourth consecutive New England championship, while the team finished third. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

Merwomen do well

By SCOTT BUNGARD
Collegian Staff

The merwomen traveled down to the University of Delaware over the weekend and the results proved it was well worth the trip.

The event was the Eastern Regional Championships, and the results the merwomen reaped were impressive.

The Easterns involved 44 collegiate teams this year, and the UMass women swim team placed 28th in a field of 44 teams.

Rutgers won the championship in an extremely competitive field with a total of 842 team points. Penn State and Pittsburgh finished up second and third, with point totals of 498 and 436, respectively. Princeton rounded out the top four with 428 points.

Once again, Deb Schwartz was a competitive swimmer. All Schwartz accomplished in the Easterns was a 14th place in the 200 yard butterfly (2:19.540), another 14th in the 400-yard freestyle relay (5:34.472), a 16th in the 100-yard butterfly (1:04.100) and she finished up in the grueling 500-yard freestyle with a fine 5:34.472 time.

The next highlight for coach Eve Atkinson and company was the 14th place finish in the 400 yard freestyle—relay event. Their time was a 3:53.649, which is excellent. The swimmers were Rachel Mack (59.51), Mary Ellen Butler (59.69), Lise Hembrough (57.89) and Deb Schwartz (56.47).

This same foursome went on to place 17th in the 200 yard freestyle—relay (first in the alternate consolation finals), swimming the 200 yards in a 1:47.495 time. Their split-times read as follows; Butler a 27.48 split, Schwartz swam a 26.99 split, Hembrough a 26.66 split and Mack swam a 26.37 split-timing.

As was previously mentioned, the competition among the teams was intense. Atkinson expected this, and stated, "There was top competition and I felt that our women did extremely well. The women that went to the Easterns were consistent with the performances the women's team has displayed all year. They did an excellent job."

Placing 28th in the Eastern Regionals, eighth in the New Englands and winding up the regular season at 6-7 (with several close losses), the merwomen of 76-77 should have a lot to look forward to next season. Just ask Atkinson and her women swimmers — they'll tell you so.

NIT Tix

Tickets are on sale in the ticket office, 251 Boyden, for Thursday's NIT basketball game between UMass and Seton Hall. Prices are $5 and $3.

John Lowney

March—expect rain 'n' games

It's that time of year — snowstorms, sunshine, rainstorms, moonshine, brainstorms, starshine, the Ides of March, the rites of spring — who knows what to expect?

UMass makes the month of March more predictable — you can be sure it will be a month of games, whether they be official, unofficial or Monday holidays.

The UMass March will proceed with ringleader Dukakis juggling the budget, followed by students trying to handle mid-term exams, spring vacation and the governor all at once.

All these people will slip and slide and fall and rise, mudstained, frozen and thawed, attempting to remain on their feet in these testing mud games.

The mud survivors will then have to duel with traffic. Should I dash across the road or will I slip and fall in front of that Mack truck? Can I jump over that puddle or will I sink to my knees? Isn't that car aiming for the puddle in front of me?

This is also the month of the media March. The men's basketball team disappears from the stark reality of Curry Hicks to the imaginary world of post-season play. It inevitably loses to a weaker team and then anticipates an NIT bid.

The Celtics and Bruins cruise into the "second season", concerning themselves with their health and possible first round opponents.

Meanwhile, the UMass baseball and lacrosse teams emerge from their winter hibernations. They jam the gyms, waiting for the snow to melt so they can have a day or two of outdoor practice before the opening games.

In the most fantasy-like world of them all are the Red Sox. Between prophesies of pennant and warnings of doom we have a Carlton Fisk hangnail or a Carl Yastrzemski pay raise or a Doug Griffin trade rumor.

Yes, it's March, and nothing has changed. We slide into spring and slip out of winter. No one knows what to wear, but the wind will surely be blowing.

Is it that simple? Are the games of the UMass March and the media March the same as always? Do you know exactly which puddle you will fall into?

Yes, the Minutemen went to Philadelphia and lost to a Duquesne team they had clobbered earlier. However, they blasted powerful Rutgers before the loss and then outplayed equally potent West Virginia. Perplexing? Yes. The typical UMass choke? There is nothing typical about this year's team.

One UMass basketball team which has not disappointed is the Minutewomen. They have added a new dimension to UMass basketball, and the progression from the state playoffs in sunny Waltham to the nationals in frigid Minnesota is not impossible.

Even the Boston scene is different. The Bruins are having few problems, but the Celtics are clawing, biting and scratching their way into the playoffs — a far cry from last season's breeze.

What about tropical, relaxing Winter Haven? Is it the usual golf course, beach and occasional trip to the ballpark routine? Well, it seems that manager Don Zimmer has introduced the word work to the Red Sox vocabulary. Now, that's revolutionary.

Returning to Amherst we find not just another tough UMass lacrosse team. Despite a formidable schedule including home games against Cornell, Syracuse and North Carolina, the Gorillas (fifth in nation last year) are very confident.

The UMass and media March will drown us in its mud for the next few weeks, but stay alert for the March games. There are enough games to keep everyone busy, and enough puddles for everyone to fall into.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 101 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

High's in the 50's

Sizemore, Gilbert, Rodriguez

Women speak on social issues

By MARY BETH ALLEN,
ELIZABETH KENT, and CAROL FLYNN
Collegian Staff

Barbara Sizemore, former superintendent of schools in Washington, D.C., presented her case for a "multi-model, multi-cultural, multi-lingual" public school system in the United States in a speech last night in the Student Union Ballroom and at a workshop held yesterday afternoon.

Sizemore spoke in conjunction with International Women's Week. Her evening speech was entitled "Women in Administrion," while the workshop focused on "Teaching Black Children."

"In case you didn't know it, D.C. is our last colony," said Sizemore. "The people who live there in the city do not control themselves. Congress retains control" of the city.

"The white population has been moving out of Washington since 1935," said Sizemore. But, she added, "Washington is changing back" slowly to a white community. "The process of Negro removal (from the D.C. inner city area) started with urban renewal."

Sizemore related her struggle with the D.C. school board. When she was hired as superintendent, the board was comprised of progressive liberal members of both races. In the next two years, however, there were four different boards elected and the members became gradually more conservative. "They were afraid I'd change things too much," said Sizemore.

At the afternoon workshop, Sizemore went into depth about her educational philosophy. "Our society is norm-referenced on WASPs," she said, "and it is not an accurate picture (of society)." She sees the educational system set up to teach children that there are "winners and losers". She is opposed to a graded system of education, pointing out that a child's learning abilities have nothing to do with age.

She feels that much of what children learn in school is incredibly outdated, and that education leaves children ill-equipped to deal with the realities of modern society. She sees "symbol systems" as important tools for learning to cope with daily life. She also believes that many teachers are ill-prepared

Madonna Gilbert, a Native American Women, spoke last night on the cultures, background and struggles of American Indian Women in the U.S. (Photo by Nancy Bernetich)

Univ. asked to sell S. African investments

By CAROLE BRENNAN
Collegian Staff

The UMass South African Support Committee (SASC) asked yesterday that the University immediately sell the stocks it holds in corporations with major investments in South Africa.

"The South African holdings of these corporations provide material support and legitimacy to a white supremicist regime," stated a letter sent to University officials yesterday.

The apartheid policies of South Africa, says Steve Shulman, a SASC member, allow for the legal discrimination of blacks by the white minority in South Africa.

Shulman added, "We are opposed to the white supremacy regime in South Africa," thus, "we want to take concrete steps against the apartheid."

The SASC letter was hand delivered to Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery's office yesterday. Bromery could not be reached for comment.

University Treasurer Kenneth W. Johnson said last night this is the first he has heard that these corporations have been attacked for contributing to apartheid policies in South Africa. He said he would have to examine what the exact charges are before commenting.

Copies of the letter were mailed to Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and UMass President Robert C. Wood and sent to 10 newspapers, including The New York Times and The Boston Globe.

This same letter will tonight be presented to the Undergraduate and Graduate student senate by SASC and Jay A. Martus, Student Government Association (SGA) co-president.

The committee notes a strong contradiction between the University's policy for the endowment fund into which the stocks have been placed and the stocks the University has invested in.

The letter quotes the University's "Guidelines for the investment of the Endowment Fund" as stating, "The University will endeavor to take informed and ethical positions whenever it exercises its voting rights as a stockholder and may communicate directly with management when there is evidence that the corporation in which the University owns stock is persistently engaging in activities that are grossly contrary to these guidelines, the Treasurer, after consultation with investment counsel, will recommend the sale of that stock."

The specific corporations whose stock SASC is asking the University to sell include General Motors, Johnson & Johnson, General Electric, Motorola Inc., Nabisco, Lilly, Fli & Co., B. Pfizer Inc., Smithkline, FMC, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing, Newmont Mining Corp., Honeywell Inc., International Business Machines, Exxon Corp., Eastman

TURN TO PAGE 7

Liberation march in Northampton

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

The women unfurled their banners beneath the cloudless skies on the common of the Bridge St. School in Northampton. Thus the annual march in celebration of International Women's Day quietly began yesterday afternoon with the circulation of informational pamphlets and mimeographed song sheets handed out by its sponsors, the Women's Valley Union.

Chanting "We are marching for liberation, we want our revolution now," some 50 women took up posters and marched downtown.

As the parade curled its way down Main Street, Cindy Shamban of the Union remarked, "We are marching for liberation and in commemoration of women's struggles around the world. We want women everywhere to unite to fight for freedom."

Picking up momentum and marchers along the mile-and-a-half walk, the parade picked up a stronger voice - a livelier marching step "I'm marching because this is fun and I support the women's movement," said Susan Greene of Montague. She continued along with the enlargening crowd, swinging the hand of her daughter who wore a sign on her jacket saying "Little girls are strong too."

Their numbers exceeded 250 when the marchers crossed Main Street blocking traffic. They shouted in unison, "Women together, women strong, women in motion to change what's wrong." Cheers of support came from passing cars.

Photographers and reporters weaved in and out of the block-long line of women that marched through Smith College, chanting, "Hey Smith, what'dya say, we want day care right away."

BE FREE
VALLEY WOMEN'S UNION

About 250 people march down Main St. in Northampton to publicize International Women's Day. (Staff photo by Dan Smith)

The march ended before the Unitarian Society Church at 5:30 p.m. Large white sheets bearing messages of support were hung along City Hall by the male members of the Employed-Unemployed Council of Northampton. One man explained his lack of active participation in the march as the reluctance "to offend anyone. Some women objected to our being in the march, though many didn't. So we made these sheets to show our support in some way."

As the last stragglers walked into the church for refreshments, a small Volkswagen pulled up and children from the Che Lumumba School ran out carrying homemade signs and crying, "Where's the parade?"

A group of women experssed their estimation of the day's importance: "The march symbolized solidarity among women and provided an opportunity for women to come together for outdoor fun as well as express their needs and wishes to each other." Yesterday's march was a show of strength. As one 5-year-old said, "My mother and father thought I would get tired, but I didn't and I made it."

Yesterday's warm weather brought UMass students out in droves to enjoy lunch in the sun on the south side of the Student Union. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

New task force

Explain effects of budget cuts

By BOB JONES
Collegian Staff

The newly formed Budget Cuts Task Force is initiating plans to "have students and parents realize the seriousness of the effects level funding will have on the University," task force member Betty Doyle said last night.

Jay A. Martus, Sudent Government Association co-president and member of the task force, said a letter should reach students and parents next week explaining "the fiscal situation of the state and the University, the effect of level funding on low cost, high quality education and how to get in contact with each student's legislator."

The letter is the first in a series of programs and actions planned by the task force to prompt students to action on level funding.

Martus said, "We want to get students and parents out there talking to people that matter and expressing concern over low-cost, high-quality public education. We want to try to get people out lobbying; to get people in the Commonwealth to believe it's a good thing.

At a meeting last night, the task force discussed plans to visit campus dormitory rooms to talk to students individually about level funding, writing to legislators and submitting letters to their local newspapers.

Henry Ragin, student liaison to the Massachusetts Legislature, stressed that those writing to legislators should include specific, personal examples of reduced services and not generalized arguments.

Some task force members suggested approaching the Faculty Senate so that one class period could be dropped so students can attend teach-ins and writing workshops in the near future.

issue editor l. ellen melilli

wire editor	p. strollo
head technician	d. robert smith
editorial layout	c. eagle
photo staff	j. silletto, n. bernetich
copy editor	l. lee lines
coffee keeper	j. ann conley
pot keeper	j. martus

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off campus delivery	$9	$15
On campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

ROTC's new image

By ALAN LEVIN
Collegian Staff

Four years ago the UMass-Amherst ROTC facilities were almost forced off campus as a result of student-faculty pressures. Across the nation other ROTC posts were being battered by thousands of antiwar protestors.

But today, with the end of the Vietnam War and the promotional efforts of a slick advertising campaign, ROTC has a healthy membership and an optimistic eye toward the future.

The ROTC program did not escape the turmoil of the protest years totally unscathed, however. Women are now falling into the ranks, classroom time is replacing military drills, and even the standards for hair length have been liberalized.

It seems a new image of the Reserve Officers Training Corps has come to life. For example, attractive, happy young people are shown enjoying the military in posters and advertisements in much the same way as models for cigarette advertisements appear.

Discipline is still stressed, but not the tough, hardline type often associated with the military. ". There is a discipline, no doubt about it," Colonel John M. Volpe, head of Air Force ROTC at UMass, said. "But it is not getting up at dawn and marching. It is a dedication to the principles that the Air Force is going to carry out."

Partially as an effort to attract and hold students, the Army ROTC has started courses in mountaineering, orienteering (the art of finding one's location), cold weather survival and marksmanship.

"We're very much into adventure-type training. We're giving them (students) challenging alternatives to academics," ROTC spokesperson Michael H. Kelley said.

The ROTC's new look appears to have had an effect. The AFROTC had as few as 29 students enrolled in 1972-73 at UMass. Now there are more than 100. The AROTC survived a drastic drop in its membership and currently has more than 100 students as well. (The Navy has no ROTC post at UMass.)

Each year the Army commissions 5000 to 8000 ROTC graduates. By 1980 an estimated 10,000 ROTC grads will be joining the Army annually. The Army is hoping that these students will be a partial answer to the sagging volunteer Army.

A significant portion of the new ROTC cadets are women. The AFROTC post at UMass is one-quarter female and the AROTC is 13 per cent female. Women were first allowed to join the ROTC in 1968, but only recently have they joined in large numbers.

Women are not permitted to participate in any combat-related duties due to Congressional Statutes. But according to Volpe, they have an equal opportunity in all non-combat fields. In the Air Force, for example, women are now given the chance to take flight and navigation training, he said.

Marilyn Savage, a Home Economics Education major, will be the first female cadet to finish AROTC training at UMass when she graduates next spring. Savage said she had no complaints about the male-dominated program.

"It is no big problem. I've met very few chauvinistic men. They have a job to do and so do I," she said.

One area where ROTC has had problems is in recruiting minorities. For instance, the AROTC has only three "minority" students participating in its program at UMass.

Capt. Kelley explained that while the Army would like to have minority students within its ranks, the private sector usually draws these students away from ROTC. A good minority student could generally get a better paying job in a private company than in the Army, he said.

Why has the ROTC program undergone such a complete reversal of the tail spin of just a few years ago?

The end of the war in Vietnam has certainly been important in the choices of perspective ROTC students. The protestors who gave ROTC so much trouble have also disappeared.

But the primary concern of many ROTC students is the current job market. Since college degrees are becoming less important in job competition, an assured job with the armed forces is attractive to many students.

Col. Volpe found a big correlation between the economy and number of ROTC recruits in his masters degree studies. When private industry hires fewer people, some individuals will turn to the ROTC for job security, he said.

John Angevine, an AROTC student here, estimates that as many as 50 per cent of his fellow students joined the program to ensure themselves a job.

Another factor influencing potential ROTC recruits are the benefits they receive. In their final two years at the University, students sign a contract with the armed forces group they are affiliated with. This entitles them to $100 a month until graduation.

In return the student must serve at least two years on active duty and two years in reserve status. The cadet is required to spend a final two years on Ready Reserve status, one step below Reserve status.

Students who are exceptional in the eyes of the ROTC program are eligible to receive full scholarships from one to four years. Scholarship cadets are obliged to serve four years on active duty.

The Armed Forces also offers students fringe benefits. Last weekend, for instance, the UMass AFROTC sent 19 of its cadents to Florida to work at an Air Force base. Students can fly anywhere in the continental U.S. free on 'stand by' status during vacations.

The ROTC programs on campus are treated like any other department, except a student must major in a regular academic subject. Instructors and curriculum must be approved by the Faculty Senate. The Army and Air Force require that students take a single one-credit course each semester at the University. During the last two years of ROTC study the student must enroll in several three-credit courses such as AS 235 National Security Forces in Contemporary American Society.

Mount Holyoke

President resigns

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — David B. Truman has resigned as president of Mt. Holyoke College, the oldest continuing institution of higher education for women in the country, a school spokesperson said yesterday.

The resignation is effective June 30, 1978, the school said.

Truman announced his resignation at an all-college meeting late Monday and the school's board of trustees "reluctantly" accepted the request.

"In light of his extraordinary contributions to the college, the board feels constrained to view with sympathy the president's desire to retire at that time, when he will have turned 65 and it accordingly, though reluctantly, defers to that desire," the trustees said.

Truman became president of Mt. Holyoke July 1, 1969. During his term as head of the school it decided to remain a college for women despite pressure to move towards coeducation. Truman has been a strong advocate of remaining a women's college.

Southwest endorses student tax raise

By LARRY COHEN
Collegian Staff

The Southwest Assembly (SWA) voted last night to endorse the proposed $7 Student Activities Tax Fund fee increase.

Bruce Berkowitz, SWA Undergraduate Student Senate representative, presented budget information to the assembly. Without the increase, Berkowitz said there would be a budget deficit of $8.90 per student. This would lead to the elimination of many RSO-funded groups or major cuts in their budgets, Berkowitz said.

Brian DeLima, speaker of the student senate, listed a large number of organizations funded by the SATF. Among those funded are the Student Senate Transit Service and the Collegian.

DeLima said, "While no student welcomes an SATF increase, it is needed. The basic financial facts show this. We have to educate the students about what the SATF does provide."

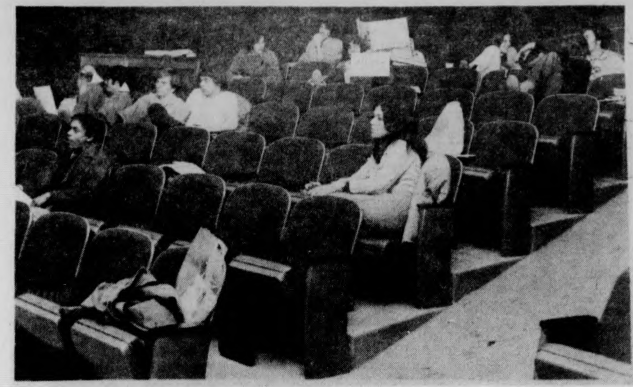
Also last night, Vice-President Diana Fessenden motioned to withdraw a proposal that the SWA support a candidate for Student Government Association president, saying SWA members still did not know enough about each candidate to make a decision. The motion was passed by the assembly.

In other business last night, the SWA voted to allocate $775 to purchase a public address system and a slide projector for the Southwest Audio-Visual Center.

The SWA also voted to allocate $300 for an afternoon workshop of "Marxism, Anarchism, and Decentralization," and an evening lecture on "The Spanish Anarchists Past." The program, featuring author and social ecologist, Murray Bookchin, will be held Friday, March 11 in Pierpont dormitory. A similar proposal requesting $500 for that program had been defeated by the Assembly at their last meeting.

In final business last night, Henry Ragin, student liaison to the Massachusetts State Legislature, asked SWA members to urge students to write to their legislators protesting the proposed level funding of the University. He said if enough students take the time to write to their representatives, the representatives will listen.

"This is a battle we can win," Ragin said.



The attendance at last night's S.G.A. Presidential debate in Engineering Auditorium was very low. Fewer than a dozen persons not connected with the media or the candidates' campaigns attended. (Staff photo by John Silletto.)

★Women's speakers

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

to teach. "A teacher should have to show somebody that she can teach a child how to read," she said.

Madonna Gilbert, a coordinator for the Alternative Education Program for Native American Students, emphasized reinforcing, and not reclaiming, the culture of the Native American, where women and men are equal.

Speaking on the role of the Native American in U.S. society and the role of women on the reservation, Gilbert said the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 resulted in Native Americans being forced to accept the standards of the U.S. government. This resulted in women becoming second-class citizens, according to Gilbert.

This was not the Native Americans' way and even now the women are still in the forefront of Native American affairs. Of the 800 persons indicted regarding Wounded Knee, approximately 600 were women, she said.

Gilbert said the Native American is "the minority of minorities in our own land." The Indians on the reservations see the blacks and Asians only as members of the upper class, as professional people.

There are three groupings of Native American women, said Gilbert: those who have accepted the way the U.S. government has organized the tribes, those who are traditional women and advocate sovereignty, independence and treaty rights, and those who are not politically involved.

Dr. Helen Rodriguez, a member of a committee to help stop sterilization abuse, said yesterday that sterilization is being used in certain countries to control population. Rodriguez is an expert on this abuse in Puerto Rico and in New York.

In Puerto Rico, many women have been sterilized during the past few years without realizing the extent of the operation. Many of the women surveyed after sterilization reported that they were under the impression that it was spontaneously reversed or reversed over a period of time. Rodriguez said these beliefs are the result of improper education before the operation.

Rodriguez noticed that more often than not the decision whether or not to sterilize a woman was based on her class. Women of "lower socio-economic status, which means Third World women, are the first to be considered for sterilization," she said.

Rodriguez pointed out that sterilization procedures the government of Puerto Rico has been using have hurt the reproductive potential of the Puerto Rican people. As many as 35 per cent of women in Puerto Rico have been sterilized, which is greater than any other nation in the world.

Rodriguez is leading the fight against sterilization abuse in New York and Puerto Rico. She hopes that through education women will become more aware of the seriousness and permanence of the operation, and become more wary in their decision to have it done.

Liquor co-op breaks SGA debate battle

By STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

A violent argument between Student Government Association (SGA) presidential candidates Herb Tyson and Pinky Batiste broke out last night at the second SGA presidential debate. The argument centered around the John Foley-Herb Tyson proposal to create a liquor co-op on campus.

The argument erupted several minutes after WMUA had cut off its coverage of the event.

After WMUA had disconnected its microphones order broke down and moderator Karl Allen, chairperson of the SGA Governmental Affairs Committee, opened the floor to audience questions. The audience consisted of 24 persons, all but four connected in some way with the candidacies of John Hite-Pinky Batiste, Chuck Pooler-Joel Weissman, or Foley-Tyson, according to a show of hands.

The argument began when student Senator Karen Kelly asked the team of Foley-Tyson how they could justify a liquor co-op on campus when there is a high rate of alcoholism here.

Tyson answered that "A liquor co-op is a prime example of students taking initiative. Research has been done on this. Any profit we make on this would go into alcohol education."

Partner John Foley said, "It's not a contradiction. Students are going to drink no matter where the liquor comes from."

"There are three bars on campus. Why give people more booze to get drunk?"

—Jon Hite

In rebuttal, Batiste said, "Having a co-op on this campus is a direct contradiction. The senate gave $7000 to Room to Move for alcohol education. Room to Move also gets other grants. It's also illegal to sell liquor in a state building. How are you going to find money to rent a building and transport the liquor?"

Tyson then jumped up, and, wagging his finger at Batiste, shouted, "If three-quarters of the campus voted for it, would you do it?" In the Foley-Tyson's opening statement, Foley said such a co-op would be instituted with a mandate from the students.

"In the first place... "started Batiste.

Tyson cut her off. "Would you do it?" he shouted.

Jon Hite then said, "There are three bars on campus. Why give people more booze to get drunk?"

"That's the biggest crock of shit," said Tyson.

Tyson and Batiste later shook hands.

The liquor co-op proposal had been attacked earlier in the debate by the Weissman-Pooler team. In the team's opening statement, Pooler said, "The main issue is organizing students against the budget cuts. Sure, we want to expand student services, but when the University is getting eaten away, maybe everyone can go to Foley's liquor store and get wasted and think about what's happening."

"It's not a contradiction. Students are going to drink no matter where the liquor comes from."

—John Foley

Pooler, who is a member of the Revolutionary Student Brigade, drew applause several times during the debate for his off-the-cuff comments. In response to a question from panelist, Jay A. Martus, SGA co-president, concerning what trustee committees Pooler would sit on if elected, Pooler said, "I'm not that up on committees. It's not how many committees you sit on that matters. You have to get to the students.

"As far as committes, I'll sit on all the committees Foley will sit on. I don't see how much good these committee's do. You can set up all the committees you want. It doesn't matter."

Indecent exposure at NOPE

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

"The most frequently reported sex crime in the U.S. and Canada today is indecent exposure." Dr. Mort G. Harmatz of the UMass psychology department was commenting on recent incidents in women's facilities on the UMass campus.

About a half-dozen incidents, including voyeurism, exhibitionism and fetishism have reportedly been committed by males at NOPE's gymnasium. Alarmed by complaints from women, physical education authorities have reacted by tightening security precautions and planning long-range structural changes.

"Unfortunately," Harmatz says, "since this society dislikes this sex act (indecent exposure), an exhibitionist, when arrested, is usually treated as a criminal; not a troubled person."

According to Stephen Arons, director of the Mental Patients Advocacy Project (MPAP) of the Western Massachusetts Legal Services, it is highly unlikely a convicted exhibitionist would be sentenced to jail. Instead, the "intent" of the law is to consider him sick, not "evil."

Arons explains that an arrested exhibitionist appears before superior court. If found guilty, either the judge or district attorney can send him to a treatment center for a 60-day examination and diagnosis. A report with recommendations is then filed with the court which in turn determines whether the person should be hospitalized. A patient's progress is periodically reviewed for possible release.

How is an exhibitionist rehabilitated? Why did he commit the act? What type of person is an exhibitionist?

Hermatz, and Dr. Leighton Whitaker of the UMass Mental Health Services (MHS), both familiar with the exhibitionist's tendencies, describe him as usually in doubt of his masculinity. He proves to himself he is a man by exposing his genitals to a woman, according to the doctors.

Though he may appear frightening, the exhibitionist is usually non-violent, Harmatz and Whitaker say. As an immature person who may have never engaged in normal sexual relations, they explain it is important for him to flash and possibly masturbate in a place where sex would usually not occur, because he wishes to do something sexual while avoiding the responsibilities associated with natural sexual actions.

It is common for an exhibitionist to conceal his face during the confrontation with his victim, according to the doctors.

Another member of the psychology department, Dr. Patricia Wisocki, notes that acts of masturbation often begin in the privacy of the home. Problems arise when the man leaves his home, because he requires the reactions of others for stimulation.

All three psychologists reviewed accounts of the UMass incidents. Several different people are obviously involved, each with a different pattern of behavior, they say. Not all are exhibitionists, they add, and not all can be assumed to be non-violent.

Since MHS deals mostly with patients who have voluntarily sought help, Whitaker says, it treats very few men of this nature. The immaturity in these people's characters inclines them to avoid the responsibility of seeking help themselves. They are usually referred for psychotherapy only after being caught, he says.

"The immediate problem in dealing with those arrested," explains Whitaker, "is persuading them to help themselves."

While friends can help each other with some problems, Whitaker emphasizes that solutions to these abnormal sexual activities can usually be reached only with professional help.

After assuring a patient of confidentiality, Whitaker says, it is equally important to assure him he will not be punished for his actions, but treated and rehabilitated. Discipline, at best, is only a temporary solution, he says.

"Typically, if I would ask a man to candidly explain why he committed these sexual acts, he would truthfully reply that he isn't sure," Whitaker said. "If he is clearly aware of the reasons, he might stop. Even with this knowledge, however, he would be harboring anxiety whenever he faces the original situation which made him anxious."

Whitaker explains that many exhibitionists have experienced with a woman an aggravating encounter that leaves him impotent to deal with her directly. Frustrated, he often vents his anger by exposing himself to a woman who is a stranger.

Labelling such circumstances as "displacement of anger," Whitaker concludes that some reason in addition to sex motivates these actions.

"Although a man may realize he has been committing unnatural acts, the exhibitionist is not aware of what drives him to do them."

Harmatz says the therapist helps the man relate normally to women by using behavior therapy. "Social skills," like calling a woman for a date or talking calmly with her, would be taught to the patient, who may never have learned to relate to women adequately.

Harmatz adds there is another approach for treating exhibitionism. In dynamic psychotherapy, the therapist might examine conflicts of the person's life as a basic for exhibitionism.

While University students are eligible for free treatment at MHS, many people are not able to afford private treatment.

For these people, public facilities such as nearby Northampton State Hospital provide similar therapy, tax supported.

Does this therapy exist?

Not according to Tom Coish, a Mental Patient Advocacy Project supervisor at the Western Mass Legal Services office on the grounds of Northampton State Hospital.

Unsatisfied with conditions there, Western Mass Legal Services has filed a lawsuit against Massachusetts for inadequate patient treatment.

Coish says the NSH has been regressing steadily while nearby Belchertown State Hospital has been improving. Coish pointed out that only two licensed psychologists are at the Northampton hospital, which treats 500 patients daily. There are also 10 foreign doctors.

With understaffed conditions, the patients do not receive the amount of therapy necessary for a successful rehabilitation. Instead, they are given medication.

Although Coish can recall only a few people hospitalized at Northampton State for indecent exposure, the one man with whom he is thoroughly familiar tragically reflects "stagnating" conditions. This exhibitionist, says Coish, has been referred to NSH 17 times for flashing incidents at Smith College. He is hospitalized each time for various durations. Once released, he is apprehended for these recurring actions and admitted again.

This man is not the only victim of the "revolving door" situation at NSH. Of the 1,500 treated there annually, Coish says, 60 per cent have been previously admitted.

Other than not having a criminal record as a convicted flasher in jail, Coish concludes there is very little benefit to be derived by an exhibitionist being treated at Northampton State Hospital.

Black Affairs

How much more suffering?

The saga continues in court for Robert Earl Brown this Friday

By EDWARD COHEN
Black Affairs

Nummo News Staff

Earl Brown's courtroom saga continues this Friday morning, March 11, 9:00 a.m. at Hampshire County Superior Court in Northampton. The past several weeks has seen Earl Brown and defense lawyers trying to gain a new hearing on the basis of a violation of search and seizure laws and an erroneous photo identification.

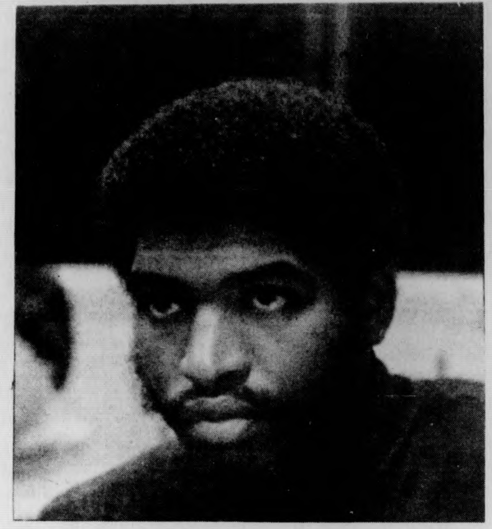
The hearing has so far exposed many of the contradictions existing in the case, with many more still to be dealt with. On the first day of the hearing, Jerome Farrell, Earl Brown's lawyer during the second trial of which he was found guilty took the stand. The first trial, a joint one which resulted in a mistrial for both Earl Brown and Craeman Gethers was tried by Attorney Howard Cotter. After the mistrial was declared, the case was then split, Craeman Gethers being tried in August of 1875, convicted, and sentenced for 8-12 years, Brown was sentenced in October of 1975 for 3-5 years.

Farrell said on the witness stand that he took Earl's case for $300, and made the assumption that Earl Brown was poor. He then decided that Earl Brown was a loser and that the witnesses would be hard to shake. Farrell tried to get Earl to settle with the D.A. For a year's sentence in plea bargaining (Cotter had previously offered Earl 18 months). The judge interruped the hearing at this point saying that the law does not offer one year terms and could not give Earl a one year sentence even if he wanted to. Farrell took no notes in conversations with Earl and kept no records. Defense lawyer Farrell made no attempt to contact any witnesses or acquire any report of the investigator's work. The judge would not allow Earl's new attorneys to keep Farrell's file in their possession for their use. Farrell mentioned that his criminal case load in district and superior courts at the time he was defending Earl Brown was 40 people. Seventy-five per cent of Farrell's clients pleaded guilty after negotiations with the commonwealth. His case load was unusual because the normal load is one case per week, while 60-70 per cent of Farrell's cases were serious felonies.

Farrell requested transcripts of Earl's trial after the trial was over but did not request the Gethers' transcripts, because he had no money to purchase it.

In preparation for Earl Brown's case, Farrell went to McDonalds' but did not attempt to view the photo which was used to identify Robert Earl Brown and did not view the spot where the car was located. The defense mentioned that at Earl's second trial there was no black or youth representation on the jury.

The second part of the hearing saw Trooper Ford, principal police investigator and state's witnesses Cathy Clark, Deborah Cook, and Stephen Pratt. Ford's first move was to the scene of the vehicle the morning after the robbery on Rocky Hill Road. Clothes found in the car were later identified as being worn by robbers at the time of the robbery. A fingerprint expert called to the car found no identifiable prints on anything. The clothing was then taken to the UMass police station.



ROBERT EARL BROWN — If this man is an example of American justice, is anyone safe?

After several references to Ford's investigative report, the defense moved to subpoena the document, which was flatly denied by the judge, who also refused to direct Trooper Ford to look at the report to refresh his memory. Also, the defense lawyers learned that Ford had destroyed his notes after writing the report. The next day after the robbery, Aug. 8, Ford spent at UMass, and decided that the investigation would be centered on young black males at the University. Ford took no notes the entire day. Ford was given a list of 7 to 9 witnesses at the crime. The four he contacted the first day were Cathy Clark, Deborah Cook, Jimmy Clark, and Stephen Pratt.

At one point, Ford said that he and the UMass police had formulated the opinion that students were involved in the robbery, but then he denied that the focus was strictly on students. He gave the car, clothing, and moneybags found near the stadium as reasons to limit the investigation to the UMass campus. Ford visited McDonalds but could not recall steps he took there.

When the four witnesses arrived together at the UMass police station, they sat in the same room and took statements and notes in the same room. All of the state's witnesses gave consistent descriptions; all had listened to each other's testimony. Ford took no notes, tapes, or transcripts during the first conversation he had with state's witnesses. The photos used during the first photo identification, according to Ford, were from Amherst, Northampton, Springfield, the University, and Holyoke. Included in this first array was a photo with the information: R. Brown and erroneously contained Robert Earl Brown's address, birth date, and UMass identification number. One of the witnesses, Deborah Cook, tentatively picked the photo labeled R. Brown.

In the second photo identification, held approximately August 14, 1974, a photo of Robert Earl Brown was included; its lower end containing Robert Earl Brown's name was folded back. It was the only photo in the array treated this way. No photo of Craeman Gethers was included in either array. During the second array, Deborah Cook picked the photos of R. Brown and Robert Earl Brown as the SAME person taking part in the robbery, thinking that the Earl Brown photo was a later photo of R. Brown. (The judge refused to allow Trooper Ford to pick out the photo that the witnesses had picked.)

During questioning, Deborah Cook was ambiguous with most of her answers. Her identification consisted primarily of three black males; two six footers and one with a sawed off shotgun. She identified one of them as wearing a tan turtleneck pullover, dark brown trousers with no cuffs, a gold belt buckle and the 5'8" man wearing a flowered shirt. She, nor any of the witnesses were able to identify facial features or bone structure.

During the hearing, the assistant D.A., Kaplan, supported by the judge, refused to allow any information to be introduced from the police report given immediately after the robbery. During the investigation, Sgt. Cavanaugh of the UMass police told Ford that Earl Brown was a trespasser and was not supposed to be staying in the dorm room he was presently occupying; this was inconsistent with the statement of the Head of Residence of the dorm Earl was staying in, Carol Radzick, who stated that at the time Earl Brown was a legal resident. Although all of Earl Brown's possessions were in the room, Ford assumed that the room might have been abandoned, thereby justifying a break into the room without a search warrant. Ford entered the room, looked around, left, and THEN went to the court for a search warrant. The search warrant timetable is as follows:

Aug. 12 — first entrance into the room
Aug. 16 — search warrant issued
Aug. 19 — warrant returned to court

Ford's search netted him similar items of clothing as those located in the car described as the vehicle used in the robbery.

Stephen Pratt, the next witness was shown pictures to ID, and when Pratt went through the photos during the first array, he picked out the R. Brown photo. During the second array, he picked out his original selection of R. Brown. He NEVER PICKED EARL BROWN'S PHOTO. Pratt told Ford that the robber was a younger person than R. Brown and said that Earl Brown was too young and not the person he chose. Pratt was never contacted by Cotter or Farrell in connection with the case.

During cross examination, the judge said that he would not retry the case; he refused to admit evidence of description immediately after the robbery and would not allow pictures in. The judge did however allow the Assistant DA, Kaplan, to use first trial testimony (which had resulted in a hung jury) in which Pratt made an identification in the court room. Pratt was then asked by Kaplan to make a courtroom identification of the robber and he pointed at Earl Brown.

Deborah Cook was then called to the stand. She said that the man she picked out looked something like one of the robbers. The difference between the photo ID of R. Brown and the man committing the robbery was that the man had shorter hair and longer sideburns. He looked older than the photo. The officers, after saying that they would get a more recent photo of R. Brown, showed Deborah Cook the Earl Brown photo during the second array. She picked out the R. Brown and Earl Brown photos at the same time. The defense attorneys asked Deborah Cook to estimate the total amount of time she had seen Earl in previous court appearances; she said that she only looked at Earl when the court made her.

The hearing so far raises many questions. Why did the defense attorney, Jerome Farrell, allow the improper photo identification to go unchallenged? Why did Trooper Ford decide to limit the investigation to UMass, when the robbery participants could have come from an almost unlimited number of areas? Why did Sgt. Cavanaugh assume that Earl Brown was a trespasser in his dorm room at the time of the robbery? These and many more questions must be fully answered to determine whether Earl Brown is guilty, as the state, the judge, and the District Attorney claim, or innocent as the many irregularities in the proceedings seem to prove. The next courtroom appearance on March 11, Friday morning at 9:00 a.m. will bring more facts into view. A great amount of courtroom support for Earl Brown will prove to the court that the case is not going unnoticed, and that justice must be done.

STUDENT UNION GALLERY, UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, MARCH 14-APRIL 1, 1977
RECENT WORKS IN PAINTING & SCULPTURE
LECTURE BY YARDE WED. MARCH 16, 8PM CC 804
RICHARD YARDE
JOHN WILSON

Prof. Johnetta Cole seen here when she was speaking on the misrepresentation of Black women at Sylvan last Monday. (Photo by Denise Stewart)

Cole speaks on Black women

By MARCIA HOSPEDALES
Black Affairs Staff

'To know the condition of a people is to note the conditions of their women', quoted UMass' Professor Johnetta Cole at Sylvan on Monday night. She was presented by the Sylvan Cultural Society, as part of the activities for International Women's Week. Her talk focused on the life of Billie Holiday as it mirrors the lives of black women in this country.

The evening began with a slide show of back women expressing moments of pain, protest, joy and sympathy as they struggle to be recognized and respected in America. Commenting on this, Cole said that black women have been "incredibly misrepresented" in this country, just as Billie Holiday has been misrepresented in her life. The stereotyping of 'the black women' has stemmed from a history of half truths and no truths" and has been perpetuated as a means of "deviating attention from the social structure."

The black woman has been portrayed as domineering, castrating females or as drug addicts and prostitutes. The current notion of the black woman as being 'matriarchial' has been projected in its 'most classical form' by Daniel P. Moynihan. Cole pointed out that the reason for this is rooted in the social structure. There is an unusually high unemployment rate among black males while black women are still "paid the least for doing the dirtiest jobs". She went on to say that many black women have in fact "been imprisoned for crimes of survival."

The issue of black exploitation in the musical field was also discussed. Billie Holiday was cited as a victim of this exploitation. Cole played tribute to Holiday's pride and resistance inspite of the problems she faced in American society. 'Lady Day', she said, is without a doubt the "single greatest improvisor of black music."

Black sportswomen need your support

By MARY E. CUSTARD

BLACK WOMEN IN SPORT: Please support us!

It seems that almost everyone knows and supports the male athletes on campus but only recently have black women athletes become recognized.

In the past, we women athletes had to almost beg for at least a few peoples appearances at our games. Even then, only a few brothers came and if a sister did appear she was either a very close friend or a relative. But now times are changing, our brothers and sisters seem to take as much pride in our athletic endeavors as we do.

Of course, we realize that there are those brothers and sisters who think of women athletes as being "Jocks". Being referred to as a jock is an insult. Showing athletic ability does not make us unfeminine. We are just as much of a woman on the field as off, if a woman is truly a woman nothing will change that.

Because we choose to do more than just sit on the sidelines, I would think that instead of being downrated we would be respected and supported. We could, of course, perform just as well without your support, but then again with you rooting for us who knows what could happen?

I dedicate this article to the Black Women Athletes here at UMass:

Julie Hall — field hockey and lacrosse; Kelly Wright — track; Sonja Milbourne — lacrosse; Blanche Williams — field hockey.

And to all those women that I've failed to mention and those to who even though are not on any of the UMass teams are still indeed athletes: Valerie Scott, Carol Williams, Diane Mitchell, Nancy O'Neil, Dorothy Seymour, Angela Andrews, etc., etc.

You are all beautiful women.

Black Affairs
A needed name

As many of you know the CCEBS program has now established a study lounge on the second floor of the New Africa House. The purpose of the lounge is to provide students with a quiet place to study, hold special seminars, and to use the library of books the program has begun to develop. It is also a place where students can come and work with their tutors or just to use as a resting place between their classes in the New Africa House.

The program staff would like to get the community involved in the naming of the lounge and in the establishment of its long-range theme.

If you have ideas please call 545-0031 between 9:00-5:00 p.m. and leave your suggestions or use the program's 24 hour answering service to leave your suggestions, or send them to room 214 New Africa House. We will take suggestions until March 26, 1977. Then, the editors of Nummo, Black Affairs, the CCEBS' Dorm organizers and staff will get together to determine the top five ideas which will be presented to the community for their selection of the final name.

Choir to stage play

Bowker Auditorium on the campus of UMass in Amherst will be the scene for the musical play, TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE, presented by the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir on March 15, 16 and 17, 1977. Dealing with the struggles of a black New York family during the sixties, the play examines the motivation behind the riots, burning and looting which took place during the sixties, the affects of the Viet Nam war on black families, and the first suggestions of the migration of blacks back to the south.

With book by Thurman W. Stanback and music by Semenya McCord, the play offers overriding appeal through the expose of heretofore unpublished attitudes of the black family toward politics and social institutions and the rhetoric employed by these families during their most intimate moments of conversation. The play was premiered as a drama at Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, Florida in 1969, and was presented by students at Spelman College in Atlanta in December, 1976. At the request of the choir, playwright Stanback has redesigned the play, incorporating a number of scenes which were not a part of the drama to allow for musical numbers. While observing the broadway traditions of the musical, new features have been added to the play, the most notable of which is the creation of scenes during which the choir participates not only on stage, but as pit singers, a device employed in the current broadway hit, THE WIZ.

Thurman Stanback, the playwright, holds the PhD in drama from Cornell University and is a professor of theatre at Florida Atlantic University at Boca Raton. In addition to TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE, he is the author of the plays THE DELICATE THREAD and A SMALL VOICE IN THE SILENT ARENA.

The music for the play has been written by Semenya McCord, a well-known singer and composer throughout New England. She holds the Bachelor of Music degree from Knox College in Illinois and has done further study at UMass. She has composed songs for the Voices of New Africa House Choir and Archie Shepp, the saxophonist, with whom she has recorded as a vocalist. The music of the play is a panorama of Afro-American vocal styles, employing songs in the mode of the blues, gospel, sould and jazz.

The production will be directed by Fran Anderson and choreographed by Dena Tucker. Horace Clarence Boyer, the director of the choir, will serve as musical director for the play. The admission fee is $1.50. The box office of Bowker Auditorium will be opened from one to 6 p.m. beginning March 7, 1977.

STYLES BY DEBORAH
ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL
OUR VERY BEST UNIPERM REG $30.00
NOW ONLY $22.50 COMPLETE WITH
CUT & STYLE FOR MEN AND WOMEN.
OUR STYLISTS WILL SHOW YOU HOW
TO PROFESSIONALLY STYLE YOUR
OWN HAIR. STYLE CUT ONLY $5.00
CALL 549-5610 FOR APPT.

Five College
Summer Flight

Boston-London round-trip only $325. June 14 - August 19, Pan American 707. Early sign-up urged. Contact: INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS, 239 Whitmore, Tel. 545-2710, for application. The only authorized Five College flight.

The sisters and pledges of Iota Gamma Upsilon invite all university women to a
Sundae Night
Wednesday, March 9, from 7 to 8 P.M.
406 N. Pleasant St.
For rides and info call 545-0082
Bring your friends!

Workshops celebrate our diversity

By MELANIE JOHNSON
Collegian Staff

International Women's Day brought a wide-assortment of workshops focusing on international cultures and issues to the Campus Center. Beginning with "Judaism and the Middle Ages" at 9 a.m., workshops included "Women in Irish-Belfast Politics," "Women under Apartheid South Africa," and "Women and Language". Workshop attendance ranged from 20 to over 100 persons.

Carma Hinton spoke at 3 p.m. on Women in Chinese Politics to an audience of over 100 persons. Hinton was born in the People's Republic of China, and attended grammar and secondary schools in the People's Republic. She is presently a part-time instructor of the Chinese language at Swarthmore College, and plans to return to the People's Republic this summer.

Hinton presented a historical survey of the roles that women have played in traditional and modern China. She stressed the importance of taking a historical perspective, in order to "compare the advancements made by Chinese women in view of the oppressive roles they have had in the past."

Hinton said women in traditional China were "the most oppressed women in the world." According to Hinton, women were not seen as human beings in their own right, but rather for the sake of their parents or their husbands.

Most traditional Chinese values centered around the male family line; women married out of their families, and a woman could only attain power if she gave birth to a male child, and thus could exercise power over her daughter-in-law. Hinton said that "to bring up a girl was a wasteful thing in China. Women were at the bottom of the whole society."

Hinton pointed out that this low esteem for women was echoed in the Chinese literature and language. She cited passages in the writings of Confucius (an ancient Chinese philosopher) that described woman as slave. She also cited the "Three Character Rhymes" recited by illiterate persons that reinforced that women should obey their husbands and fathers. The greatest honor a woman could attain, according to Hinton, was to commit suicide after the death of her husband.

With the advent of Western infiltration into China came reforms in education for women and other social reforms. "The reformers emphasized the transformation of society rather than getting ahead on an individual level," Hinton added.

The 1949 Communist revolution brought even more emancipation to Chinese women, according to Hinton. "The women's question was important for peasant mobilization." The revolution also brought free choice for marriage, instead of marriages arranged by the clan, and theoretically, equal economic and political rights for women and men.

Hinton said that there has been more resistance in the countryside to women's issues, because the family unit was the basic unit of production. The larger-scale farm cooperatives, as well as the factories, have provided more opportunity for liberation from their traditional roles.

Today's events

Workshops on work and politics: 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. CC lower level

Children's workshops: 10 a.m. - 7:30 p.m.

Little Flags Theatre: "Fanshen" SUB free

Workshops schedule:

10 a.m. Women and Work Cheryl Schaeffer CC 811-15

Nuclear Power and the Karen Silkwood Case Mass PIRG CC 163

Sex Discrimination-Affirmative Action Mary Lou O'Neill CC 805-9

11 a.m. Women Working in the Man's World Marjorie Levinson CC 803

WomenCraft Psychic Healing Jean Erlbaum (bring blankets) CC 165

Women as a Revolutionary Class in the U.S. Ann Ferguson CC 162

12 noon Sterilization Abuse CESA-Jane Fleishman CC 804-8

1 p.m. Women in the Farm Workers Movement (UFM) AFL-CIO-Robin German CC 176

2 p.m. International Socialist Revolutionary Feminism Susan Hammond CC 164

3 p.m. Sex Roles—Androgyny ranged from 20 to over 100 persons. emphasized the transformation of society rather than getting ahead on an individual level," Hinton added.

Justice System Lynn Nichols-Sojourn CC 811-15

4 p.m. Andrea Dworkin Pornography: The New Terrorism CC 101

Women in Latin American-Brazil Rosa Maria Murraro CC 917

Women and Spirituality Elizabeth Petroff CC 165

5 p.m. Unionizing Clerical Workers Karen Nissbaum CC 803

6 p.m. Developing Needs and Objectives in Developing a Women's Center Tara Dolan CC 176

Children's Workshops 10 a.m. 7:30 p.m. CC 168 10 - 11 a.m. Singing and Music Workshop; Children on the Air at WMUA

10:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Puppet Show Crafts Workshop

1:30 - 4:30 p.m. The Children and Ways of Appalachia

4:30 - 7:30 p.m. Children's Crafts - Juggling - Children's Art and Theatre university of massachusetts

arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4,.3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0600
60 day advance payment required

Sport
Coat

100% cotton, made in Yugoslavia,
available in white,
light green, blue,
and yellow.

$9.95
each

Faces of Earth

Next to the
Amherst Post Office
9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

OLD TIME MOVIES
March 12th & 13th

WORCESTER SNACK BAR
8:00 PM

HAMPDEN SNACK BAR
9:00 PM

OLD TIME PRICES
Hamburger 25¢
Hot dog 20¢
Fries 20¢
Coke 10¢
Ice Cream 15¢

The battle of the brew

NEW YORK [LNS] — A legal secretary in Chicago's public defender's office has been fired because she refused to make coffee for her boss.

Iris Rivera, 35, was given a two weeks' termination notice on January 25 when she would not comply with a new policy set by director James Geis at the Office of the State Appellate Defender. That office represents criminally-accused poor people in their appeals.

"From now on," wrote Geis, "all secretaries will have responsibility for making coffee without assistance from the attorneys." But Rivera refused. "I don't drink coffee," she explained. "It's not listed as one of my job duties — and ordering coffee is carrying the role of homemaker too far."

"If you're refusing to make coffee," responded Geis, "consider yourself fired."

Rivera, a former factory worker and a widow who supports herself and three children on an annual salary of $9,600, promptly filed a sex discrimination complaint with Illinois' Fair Time, she appealed her dismissal to Ted Gottfried, the State Public Defender in Springfield. The appeal has been denied.

Area secretaries who heard about the stand-off contacted Women Employed, an organization of women office workers. The group mobilized a demonstration at Rivera's office on February .

After the demonstration, in an interview with the Chicago Daily News, Bruce Stratton, an administrator in the office, reiterated management's position. "He said," the News reported, "that since attorneys are paid more than secretaries, delegating the coffee brewing to the secretaries was 'cost efficient.' "

Rivera is standing firm. "I am paid to assist in the handling and disposition of appeal-related matters in this office," she wrote earlier in her appeal. And she told the News, "just because I'm a woman doesn't mean I should have homemaking duties in the office."

After the struggle was reported on the evening news in New York, office workers sent telegrams of support to Rivera. They also began to mobilize workers and sympathetic lawyers to exert pressure on the Public Defender to rehire Rivera and do away with the policy.

But initial support from Rivera's co-workers has dwindled as pressure from the attorneys and management mounts. And since her Fair Employment claim may not be heard for two years, Rivera expects to lose her job. She is worried about getting a new one, too, noting, "I'm afraid that I'm labelled a militant or a trouble-maker."

TO: JAMES GEIS, DEPUTY "DEFENDER" FROM: WOMEN EMPLOYED

We know that many executives call upon their busy secretaries to make coffee not because they desire to demean a secretary's professional status, but because they lack the skills required to operate a complex piece of office machinery.

To aid executives caught in this embarrassing state of ignorance, WOMEN EMPLOYED today presents a beginner's lesson on "How to Make Coffee." These simple instructions should enable any novice to master the operation of two common types of coffee making apparatus.

I. COFFEE VENDING APPARATUS, Hereinafter referred to as "Coffee Machine"

Step 1: Proceed to coffee machine and position yourself so you are facing same.

Step 2: Insert coin into slot labelled "Insert Coin Here."

Step 3: Push buttons, selecting appropriate strength of brew, cream and-or sugar. (Many executives will enjoy this Step as it allows them to utilize their famous "decision making ability.")

Step 4: Remove cup when full.

Step 5: Return to desk, taking care not to spill coffee.

II. STANDARD COFFEE-MAKING APPARATUS, Hereinafter referred to as "Coffee Pot."

Step 1: Carry a water-tight container to the nearest water tap and fill it with water.

Step 2: Empty the water into the coffee pot.

Step 3: Insert basket into coffee pot and fill it with coffee.

Step 4: Replace lid and plug in coffee pot.

Step 5: Turn switch to ON (This is the most difficult step, but with practice, even an attorney can master it).

Step 6: Coffee is done when it is dark brown in color. Place coffee cup under spout and pour.

★ S. African

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

Kodak Co., and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

The total book value of the common stock held in these corporations by the University is $540,559.28 according to figures listed in the UMass Endowment Fund Account on Jan. 7, 1977.

These figures, explains SGA copresiden Martus, are also crosslisted with the American Consulate General of Johannesburg, Republic of South Africa, as being major investors in that country.

FAST
ECONOMICAL
& FREQUENT FREQUENT
FREQUENT
FREQUENT

Peter Pan and Continental Trailways offer service to Boston, New York and many other destinations.

PETER PAN BUS LINES & CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

MAKE LIFE SIMPLER FOR YOU.

CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

For Information, Schedules and Prices,
Contact: Campus Center Bus Office
Tel. 545-2006 or 549-6000

Shed some light on your future

After college, what will I do?

That's a question a lot of young people ask themselves these days.

But a two-year Air Force ROTC scholarship can help provide the answers. Successful completion of the program gets you an Air Force commission along with an excellent starting salary, a challenging job, promotion opportunities, and a secure future with a modern Air Force. If you have two academic years remaining, find out today about the two-year Air Force ROTC Scholarship Program. It's a great way to serve your country and a great way to help pay for your college education.

Call Major Richardson
at 545-2437

Air Force ROTC

Baroque's Mini Theatre Presents

$1.00 $1.00

'Portrait'

Rated X

Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.
4:00	7:00	2:00
5:15	8:15	3:30
6:30	9:30	5:00
7:45	10:45	6:30
	12:00	7:45
	1:15

The very first X-rated movie of this year from the people who specialize in Adult movies.

In the Public Health Building Auditorium (Directly behind the Morrill Science Center).

$1.00 $1.00

Baroque Ent.

BOOK SALE
NOW $1 to $2.98
originally published at 2.50 to 15.00
and higher
over 190 titles originally published at up to $20
and higher

fabulous savings on publishers' over-stock!
●TEXT ●TECHNICAL ●BUSINESS ●REFERENCE ●GENERAL literally a world of knowledge in reference books for every library!
save as much as 75% on many!

now going on at 'the bookstore'
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center university of mass.

Deadly organisms released through germ warfare tests

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The Army disclosed yesterday at least 239 biological warfare tests were run in the United States from 1949 to 1969, some releasing potentially lethal organisms into the open air.

In addition, an official study said, at least three persons died from accidental exposure to germ warfare materials under circumstances not described.

The study also showed Defense Secretary Harold Brown was involved in "large increases in U.S. Army biological warfare programs" at the start of the Kennedy administration in 1961.

It said Brown, then the Pentagon's director of defense research, "strongly concurred in the Joint Chiefs of Staff view that these weapons had great potential" and recommended a program to determine their impact.

Army spokesmen said no human volunteers died from exposure to biological agents in the tests covered by the report — concealing some classified programs may not have been included.

As for unintended human damage, however, the report said 504 Army installation workers were accidentally infected and three at Ft. Dietrick, Md., died as a result.

Two succumbed to anthrax in the 1950s and one from viral encephalitis in 1964. It was not clear how they became exposed to the fatal materials, but Army spokesmen said at least one victim was a construction worker who had no connection with the biological warfare tests.

The report said tests involving human volunteers started in 1955 on prisoners from the Ohio and Maryland state penitentiaries, conducted by Ohio State University and the University of Maryland. Seventy three educational institutions worked under contract on various aspects of the germ war program.

The Army also did tests starting in 1956 on volunteers from the Seventh Day Adventist church, which the report said were conducted "with full knowledge and concurrence of the church elders."

It said agents tested on humans could cause such potentially fatal diseases as rabbit fever, rift fever, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and anthrax.

The Army study was the most complete review so far of the U.S. biological warfare program that ran until November, 1969, when President Nixon stopped it and ordered stocks of germ warfare agents destroyed.

The report described three types of tests: The release of "simulants" into the open air on 160 occasions at 66 locations to determine U.S. vulnerability to biological attack; tests with harmful organisms on 48 occasions at three locations; and 31 tests of anticrop agents at 23 locations.

JQA LOWER & G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT orchestra
LUNA

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1 · 8 PM
UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3
Tickets on sale Monday, March 14
at FAC Box Office & Ticketron

DO YOU THINK TENNIS ?
TENNIS SEASON OPENING SPECIAL
WHITE CAT SKI AND TENNIS LTD
LEATHER TENNIS SHOES reg. $28.95 NOW $14.95
WILSON TENNIS BALLS reg. $3.95 NOW $2.50
SEE OUR LOW PRICES ON TENNIS RACKETS
WILSON BANCROFT GARCIA DUNLOP DONNOY
Located in the Mt. Farms Mall. Hadley

Program Council
Music Committee
Presents
Ellen McIlwaine
&
Isis
with Suzanne Fox
(mime)
Friday March 11, 8 pm S.U.B.
Tix $2.50
Available In front of Hatch, Tix, Faces of Earth, Sun Music and Back Room Records

John Kocur

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
100 Lipton Tea Bags 99¢ 225
Grocery

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Star-Kist Chunk Light Tuna 29¢
6½ oz. can (in oil) 231
Grocery

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
½ Gal. Tropicana Orange Juice 49¢ 232
Dairy

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Kraft American Cheese Food Slices 79¢
Individually Wrapped
White or Yellow 12 oz. pkg. 228
Good thru Sat. Mar. 12. Limit one pkg. per customer
Dairy

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Hood Rite form Ice Milk ½ Gal. 69¢
Assorted Flavors 230
Good thru Sat. Mar. 12. Limit one cont. per customer Frozen

With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Krispy Crackers Sunshine 49¢
Regular or Unsalted
16 oz. pkg. 229
Good thru Sat. Mar. 12. Limit one pkg. per customer
Grocery

ONE OF THE STOP & SHOP COMPANIES
Stop & Shop SUPERMARKETS
It's 'my store' to more people...
People who appreciate our huge selection of frozen foods call Stop & Shop 'my store'.

"When a customer leaves 'my store', I believe they walk out with a smile on their face. They're happy" ...

"One of the things that makes a lot of my customers happy is our frozen foods department. You know, I took a few minutes one day and counted the items in our freezers. There are hundreds and hundreds.

With so many Mothers working, and so many students and "singles" doing their own cooking, it's great to be able to run in, grab some frozen foods, and have a meal ready to eat almost as soon as you get home.

I try to help out by having a good variety of specials every week. The people who shop 'my store' appreciate the saving as much as the convenience."
Harry Thies
Westport Store Manager

self service deli
Save all week on quality deli.
Armour Star Hot Dogs or Beef Franks 1 lb. pkg. 89¢
Armour Star Bacon Sliced 1 lb. pkg $1.29
Stop & Shop Bologna 12 oz pkg 79¢
Buddig Sliced Meats 2 3 oz pkgs 89¢
Franks or Knockwurst Morrison & Schiff 12 oz pkg $1.09
Jones Dinner Sausage 1 lb. pkg. (Frozen) $1.49 corner deli Enjoy the convenience of ready to serve foods.

Available in stores featuring Service Deli.
Swift's Beef Bologna or Braunschweiger 99¢ lb.
Old Fashioned Loaf Swift's per lb. $1.29
Alpsberg Bavarian Cheese per lb. $1.99
Pepperoni Carando Brand per lb. $1.99
Stop & Shop Deli Style–Cooked Roast Beef qtr. lb. 59¢
Stop & Shop Baked Ham qtr lb 79¢
Chicken or Tuna Salad Stop & Shop per lb. $1.69
Stop & Shop Custards per lb 69¢
Stop & Shop Deli Rolls Plain or Seeded 11½ oz. pkg. of 10 73¢

Seafood Lenten time meals.
Fresh Fillets of Haddock $1.79 lb
Cod Fillets Frozen per lb $1.19
Fresh Dressed Smelts per lb 89¢
Shrimp Cocktail Taste O Sea 3 4 oz jars $1.49
Haddock Fillets Taste O Sea Frozen Cooked 16 oz pkg $1.29
Flounder Fillets Taste O Sea Frozen Cooked 16 oz pkg $1.29

bakery Made with quality ingredients.
Stop & Shop 13 oz. Date Nut Bread 69¢
Banana Tea Bread 11½ oz. or Cranberry Nut Bread 12 oz.
Yah Yah Buttercrest Bread 2 22 oz loaves $1
Kitchen Cupboard Donuts Pkg. of 12 19 oz. box 89¢
Toasties Corn 9 oz Bran 10½ oz 2 pkg. of 6 $1

big eye pork
Assorted Pork Chops ⅓ Center ⅓ Sirloin ⅓ Blade 89¢ lb
Whole Pork Loin Untrimmed 16-18 lbs. $1.09 lb.
Pork Ribs Countrystyle 99¢ lb. Pork Loin Roast Rib Portion 89¢ lb.
Center Cut Pork Chops "Big Eye Pork" $1.29 lb.

USDA CHOICE Top Round Steak Stop & Shop "Great Beef" Beef Round $1.69 lb Shoulder Steak Beef Chuck $1.39 lb 7-Bone Chuck Steak Beef Chuck Center Cut 89¢ lb.
Underblade Chuck Steak Beef Chuck Bone-in $1.09 lb.

"White Gem" Family Pack 2½-3 lb. pkg. Chicken Breast 99¢ lb
Chicken Legs "White Gem" Family Pack 2½–3 lb. pkg. 79¢ lb.
Perdue "Family Pack" 3-5 lb. pkg. Chicken Breast $1.09 lb
Chicken Legs Purdue Family Pack 3-5 lb 89¢ lb.

Western Corn Fed–Whole Pork Loin 13-15 lbs untrimmed 99¢ lb
Pork Loin Roast Western Corn Fed–Rib Half 99¢ lb.
Pork Loin Roast Western Corn Fed–Sirloin Half $1.09 lb.

Corned Beef Sale
Mosey's Whole Corned Beef Brisket 10-12 pounds 89¢ lb
Stop & Shop Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut 89¢ lb.
Corned Beef Brisket Stop & Shop–Flat Cut $1.09 lb.
Nepco Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut 99¢ lb. Flat Cut $1.19 lb.
Alpert's Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut $1.09 lb. Flat Cut $1.29 lb.
Mosey's Corned Beef Round $1.29 lb.
Swift's Corned Beef Brisket for oven roasting $1.49 lb.
Stop & Shop Corned Beef Brisket 99¢ lb. extra trim–7-9 lbs.

California Carrots 3 1 lb. pkgs $1
Produce 'My store' has a wide selection.
Fresh Strawberries Pint Florida pkg 69¢
Large, Firm, Slicing Tomatoes 59¢ lb
Calif. Asparagus Fresh lb 89¢

Stop & Shop Celebrates The New England Frozen Food Festival!
Hottest Buys On Ice
Angy's Tortellini 6 oz pkg 79¢
Fleischmann's–16 oz. ctn. Egg Beaters 79¢
Stouffer's Macaroni & Cheese 12 oz. or Potatoes Au Gratin–11½ oz. pkg. 59¢
Taste O'Sea–9 oz. pkg. Fish Dinners 49¢
Taste O'Sea–10 oz. pkg. Fish Portions 59¢
Birds Eye–20 oz. pkg. Tasti Fries 59¢
Stop & Shop–Poly Bag Vegetables ea. 59¢
Peas, Corn, or Peas & Carrots–24 oz. bag
Lender's Bagels Egg, Plain or Onion 12 oz. pkg. 39¢
Eggo–Frozen Waffles 11 oz. pkg. 55¢
Pepperidge Farms–Cakes Lemon Coconut 12 oz. Chocolate 12 oz. Banana 11½ oz. pkg. 89¢ ea
Mrs. Paul's–6 oz. pkg. Fried Clams 99¢
Howard Johnson's Ice Cream Asst. Flavors Pint ctn. 79¢
Hendries–Large–12 Count Ice Cream Sandwich 30 oz. pkg. 99¢
Hendries–½ Gallon Ice Cream Assorted Flavors $1.19 ctn.
John's Pizza Cheese 14 oz. Pepperoni 16 oz. or Sausage 14 oz. 89¢ dairy Everything is good and fresh.

Sealtest–Light n' Lively Cottage Cheese 16 oz. cup 59¢
Tastes great ... low in calories.
Calabro Whole Milk Ricotta 2 lb cup $1.69
Parkay Margarine ¼ lb. Sticks 1 lb. pkg 49¢
Vita Herring Tasti Bits In Wine 16 oz. jar $1.29
Buttermilk Biscuits Pillsbury 6 ct. pkg. 10 4½ oz pkgs $1
Temptee Whipped Cream Cheese Breakstone Brand 8 oz cup 69¢
Light n' Lively Yogurt Sealtest Asst. Flavors 3 8 oz cups 89¢ health & beauty aids

On sale all this week at 'my store'.
Cepacol Mouthwash 99¢
Vaseline Intensive Care 10 oz cont 79¢

The World Famous complete, Curriculum Oriented
Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia $2.99 Vol. 2 Vol. 24 Free
This week Vol. 24 FREE with Purchase of Vol. 2–Vol. 1, still available only 49¢ ea.

With this Coupon
SAVE 25¢ on any Stop & Shop PIZZA M19
Fresh or Frozen
Choice of 5 Thick Crust Fresh Pizzas 20 oz. Cheese, 11 oz. Cheese, 18 oz. Double Cheese, Cheese & Mushroom or Cheese & Onion, or 3 Frozen Pizzas 18 oz. Twin Pack 16 oz. Cheese & Sausage, or 16 oz. Cheese Limit 1 per customer. Good Mar. 6 thru 12, 1977 241

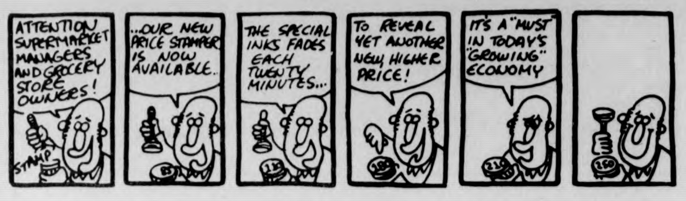
Prices effective thru Sat. Mar. 12. In fairness to all our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any item except where otherwise noted. [illegible] Copyright 1977 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. All rights reserved.

AMHERST RECORD AND COLLEGIAN HADLEY-AMHERST Route 9 at the Hadley-Amherst Line. 8a.m.-10p.m., Mon.-Sat. We redeem your Federal Food Stamps.



ATTENTION SUPERMARKET MANAGERS AND GROCERY STORE OWNERS!
...OUR NEW PRICE STAMPER IS NOW AVAILABLE..
THE SPECIAL INKS FADES EACH TWENTY MINUTES...
TO REVEAL YET ANOTHER NEW, HIGHER PRICE!
IT'S A "MUST" IN TODAY'S "GROWING" ECONOMY STAMP

letters

Beer ads insensitive to women

To the Editor:

It is tragic that even during International Women's Week the mass media continues its blatant exploitation via sexist advertising.

The advertisements for Budweiser and Schlitz beer appearing on pages 3 and 9 respectively, of the March 7th edition of the Collegian are sexist. These ads depict women as play-toys for the amusement of their male counterparts, emphasizing the newspaper's lack of respect and insight of women today. Whether it be International Women's Week or National Smile Week (August 1-7) the newspaper's placement reflects insensitivity to not only women, but other minorities.

In the future, we hope the Collegian's obvious sexist advertising policy will come to a halt.

It is truly ironic that a student newspaper that projects itself as a protector of equal rights for all individuals allows such exploitation for a few dollars.

Catherine Dzerkacz and seven other residents of Chadbourne Dormitory

UMass politics is serious business

To the Editor:

As it is doubtless apparent from the plethora of campaign material littering the walls and sides of buildings, we are in the midst of another SGA Presidential campaign. We urge all students to take this election seriously, as your vote may well help to determine what kind of school UMass will be next year, and where the over 1,000,000 dollars in student tax money goes!

However, regardless of your political leanings, or your apathetic view of politics on this campus, we must all respect the rights of others to disseminate, or receive information concerning the presidential race. Therefore, we would like to make it known, publically, that it is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct and the SGA General Laws of the SGA to rip down, deface, or in any way tamper with any campaign material placed on University property. If any student views somebody tearing down or defacing such posters or materials, we strongly urge that you bring the incident to our attention. Thank you.

Paul Yanowitch
Attorney General of the SGA

Karl Allen
Chairperson of Governmental Affairs

Romanian earthquake victims need UMass help

To the Editor:

The earthquake that has struck Romania has caused over 4,000 deaths and left over 80,000 homeless. We are soliciting donations for the Romanian Earthquake Relief Fund. Over the past four years, the Romanian Studies Group at UMass has developed extensive personal and academic contacts with Romanians, leading to the formation of a Romanian Studies center this year in the Anthropology Department, and an exchange of faculty and students between Bucharest and UMass.

In the Romanians' hour of need, we ask the UMass community for monetary donations for the victims of this tragic disaster. Please send your contributions to the Department of Anthropology, 217 Machmer, UMass. Checks should be made out to the "Romanian Earthquake Relief Fund". The money collected will be donated directly to the Romanian mission at the UN. A table will also be set up in the Student Union. Anything you can give would be greatly appreciated, not only by us, but by the people of Romania.

Steven Sampson and seven other members of the Romanian Studies Group
John J. Crickett

Girl Scouts are not offensive

To the Editor:

On Thursday, 3 March 1977, we placed two posters on the women's bulletin board in the Campus Center Concourse. One of them was a poster announcing the upcoming Girl Scout Cookie sale, the other was a poster in reference to the need for Girl Scout leaders. We put both these posters up at 4:30 p.m. and when we walked by the women's bulletin board at 6:30 p.m. they were both gone. We cannot understand why these posters were ripped down, they were in reference to women's activities and were not offensive to anyone.

We hope in the future our posters and our movement will be respected!

Claire M. Donaldson
President Campus Girl Scouts
Martha Holly Perdue
Treasurer

Nuclear power: A needed resource

To the Editor:

Why or how in the midst of this morass of teaching and learning of the future keepers and leaders of our world, does there exist an animosity toward the reality of what the future is holding, or maybe withholding, for us. A specific problem I refer to is NUKES. For people in college to oppose this phenomenon is an admission of defeat. They, people enrolled in the Revolutionary Student Brigade and so on, will be revolting any and all acts of progression which has been stimulated since the beginning of Democracies and Capitalisms.

It is conceivable for people already in the labor force to oppose NUKES on their understanding or misunderstanding of nuclear power, since a change in power sources would alter the allocation of numerous resources. But with nuclear power being a new commodity on the market there remains room for improvement which will have to come from our generation, an area where I will not admit defeat to so easily, and an area which proposes a challenge to our engineers not a succumbency.

We are half there now being able to control nuclear power for x-amount of years in cement casings at the bottom of the ocean; the rest is left to us. Water power, air power, electricity and the lime light all needed refining before perfection but people didn't give up as easily then as we do now. Instead of revolting it's time to refine.

John F. Dowd

SGA endorsements policy

Due to a potentially large volume of SGA presidential endorsement letters, and in the interest of maintaining some semblence of impartiality, only a few representatives letters will be printed for each candidate. Other endorsements will be listed by name and-or organization Monday through Wednesday. Address any questions to Bill Sundstrom or Judy Kritzman at the Collegian, 545-3500.

letters

SATF increase needed for students

To the Editor:

We feel compelled to write this letter urging students to vote on March 15 and 16 in favor of the $7 increase in the Student Activity Tax Fee (SATF). Voting for the $7 increase will allow for continuation of many crucial student services which we feel are necessary to both serve and meet student needs and to represent student interests to the administration and state leadership so that future attempts to take advantage of students can be opposed.

For example, the Student Legal Services Office, where we work, has grown from a staff of four in 1973 to a staff of 13, four of these being full-time attorneys, who work exclusively for UMass SATF and Grad fee-paying students. We deal with legal matters ranging from landlord hassles, towing problems, and divorces to representation in criminal court, administrative withdrawal cases and auto repair rip-offs, to name a few.

Over the past three years we have personally counselled and represented over 5,000 students.

Our present research and litigation affects every student at the University. We have represented students' interests in court against the administration on at least three occasions. But the SLSO is just one of the student organizations supported by the SATF. There are many others, all of which depend upon adequate funding to provide UMass students with representation and services ranging from mass transportation to access to stereo and food cooperatives, and a credit union. SATF funding is also needed to allow organizations such as recreational groups and dorm governments to continue to serve the desires of undergraduate students.

Here is why we are urging students to vote for the $7 increase: The SATF is presently $28.50 a semester. It has not been increased in three years, despite the fact that student fees controlled by UMass administrators have increased substantially each year during the same time period. The SATF is the only fee which is student controlled and distributed.

To fail to provide the necessary increase of $7 would cause a severe curtailment of the collective student resources which have been assembled over the past three years. The many programs and services which have been created recently may be lost forever. Attempts to obtain student control over their own lives in their living environment, class rooms and places of employment may be set back indefinitely.

Unlike all other student fees, what you want from this fee is still your decision; we ask you to keep these facts in mind when you vote on March 15 or 16.

Mary Muirhead
Jim Starr
Susan Callahan

Good luck to UMass at NIT

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate members of the University's basketball team on their invitation to the National Invitation Tournament. Coach Leaman's Minutemen are among sixteen teams chosen to participate in the NIT this year.

This invitation comes at the close of a fine first season in the new Eastern Collegiate Basketball League, and a good showing in the ECBL tournament this past weekend.

The team needs our support, therefore, I hope that many of our students and other members of the University community can attend the opening round game against Seton Hall on Thursday night at 7:30 in the Springfield Civic Center.

Best of luck,
Randolph W. Bromery
Chancellor

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

lisa melilli

Just a bride doll

Do you make love to your vacuum cleaner as it glides and polishes leaving beauty where it goes?
It's so powerful and strong.
Dials, knobs, and a long phallic hose
glisten in the light of
"The Edge of Night"
Does it love you back or take away what you might have given
To Dad and me?
Was your love swallowed with the Barbie doll shoe from under the rug?
— (Untitled; by Patricia Freedman)

She washes dishes by the sink in blue fluffy slippers, of course. And she vacuums each Monday picking up after the traipsing dust every day after that. Sunday is her day of rest as she lounges by the television.

She's measured by how good a meal she prepares, how fresh the laundry smells when her children and husband put it on every morning, and how well she can accept the grumbles of the electrician and plumber who say they can't tell her what the problem is but will have to speak to her husband. She's a bride doll.

It's the life of the every day housewife, a once-was beauty with polished nails who sailed away with a sweetheart to a white church and then to make a home — a bride doll. She worked while he went to school nights — eight years nights for him to get his Bachelor of Business Administration degree in Accounting. Then after that she left her job to have children and raise them to be good citizens and good people. She lives her life for everyone else except herself.

Self*less*ness is the virtue all women of her generation were taught to attain. Oh, and the second virtue was the ability to get a man and then keep him, doing whatever that would take, whether it be keeping a figure or losing it from making him delicious meals. Because a man, only a man, can keep a woman happy. A man was something you couldn't live without. Don't even try to be anything but a bride doll.

And her value as a person, as a woman? Never thought much about it. Used her intelligence — yes, she's an intelligent person. But she lives her life the way she was taught she ought to live her life if she wants to be happy. So, she listens to the grumbles of the electricians and plumbers and tells her husband how rude they can be and vacuums the house on Mondays and watches the "Edge of Night" at three.

I come home from school at three-thirty. Where has the other shoe from my Barbie doll gone? Has she vacuumed it up? Yes, so sorry, but Mommy has to keep the house clean and daughter should do all she can to help, to practice for when she grows up to be a Mommy because that's what all Barbie dolls do when they grow up.

They put away their prom queen crown and go away to a white church as a bride doll in a white gown with Ken and say I do, I do, I do.

But I don't, I don't want to. I don't want to carry on this roll of a bride doll. But this is the only role offered me by my mother's generation. I have nothing to go by but my instincts and an attitude learned by the new consciousness among women.

I feel unfeminine when I try to act businesslike and I'm told I'm over-emotional when I try to make a point. I'm told I'm out of place when I enter into a "man's" conversation and I feel resentful toward these men who are supposed to be the one "species" who will make me happy. I have a conflict within my self, a need to look up to a man, but I feel I must halt this. I'm confused and want a model to follow. There is none and I am alone.

So don't you see, Mom, I don't mind vacuuming. I like it. I really wouldn't mind staying home to raise children. But there has to be more than just being a bride doll. I'm not saying I don't want a career. Yes — that. But not only that. Can't you see what I'm looking for? No. Why not? Was your love swallowed with the Barbie doll shoe from under the rug?

Lisa Melilli is a Collegian Columnist.

ron j. arena

A man's eye view

At the turn of each month, I undergo my set habit of scanning the calendar for the upcoming weeks in anticipation of events to plan my somewhat less than impressive monthly itinerary. As March rolled in, I discovered three events that would interest me this month — the Eastern Collegiate Basketball League tournament in Philadelphia, and Eagle's concert in Springfield, and a spring vacation, hopefully in Florida.

I also realized that March would bring with it International Women's Week. But since I am a guy, or a man if you will, a week designated for women had little appeal to me. And so, International Women's Week did not rate a highlight on my calendar.

In fact, I can even admit to a touch of jealousy. A week for women, but nothing for men. There is a day set aside for mothers, and consequently a day to pay tribute to fathers. A week for women, so why not for men? Yeah, why not a week set aside each year for men to carouse, lounge around, and just take life easy? Poker, softball, kegs of beer...

As women's week neared, however, I realized it was not a week of leisure for those involved. I couldn't help but notice the excitement, enthusiasm, and anticipation certain people had for International Women's Week, and the subsequent time and effort put forth. And I couldn't help but notice that almost all of these involved people were women.

At first it seemed perfectly legitimate. A man had no connection with any event labeled for women. The very nature of the title International Women's Week jumped out with the words "for women only". And then it hit me. Angels did not rush down with the strike of thunder and lightening and shower me with glitter. In a rather peaceful setting, I reached the conclusion that women have reached so long ago — and have struggled for ever since — that men like myself make it necessary for women to organize such a week. Men like myself aid to perpetuate a struggle for women, a struggle to combat sexism, a trait inherent in society since the creation of mankind.

I have never been a strong advocate for Women's Liberation. My "progressiveness" extends to the point that I don't adhere to the ancient and still existent cliche that a woman's place is barefoot, pregnant, and in the kitchen.

I favor the idea that a woman performing the same duties as a man in a given job should earn as much money as the man. I agree that a society based on equality falls far below its ideals when women and minorities hold only a minimal percentage of positions of authority in government, media, and other influential areas. But that is probably the extent of my agreement with Women's Liberation.

I can't cope with the Gloria Steinem extreme. No one can convince me that men are not physically superior than woman. But what supports this tradition to the extent that if a woman possesses brute strength, then she is considered not to be feminine. I would not be attracted to a woman bulging with muscles, and to this extent I could be considered sexist by many.

We live in a time when the President of the United States reveals his secret lust for women. Is this surprising? Like Carter, I often "check out the babes." With the coming of warm weather I await the halters and cut-off shorts as part of the spring attire. And yes, I confess, I enjoy looking at Farrah Fawcett. In this regard, I consider myself a typical 20-year-old male.

Carry it a step further. A woman does not appeal to me as lady-like when she smokes, swears, or tells dirty jokes. But locker room talk among the guys is perfectly acceptable. I sense a touch of disappointment when I see a woman friend working behind a bar, or even in a bar. I would feel uneasy if a woman took me out on a date, rather than the traditional male-ask-female relationship. Why? I guess deep down it reflects my male pride. Tradition states that man is the aggressor, the dominant force. I am living by tradition.

Women believe and argue that it is a tradition that needs change. Tradition does not always constitute the right. International Women's Week has forced me to contemplate my role as a male in relation to females. I have faced some of my inherent sexist traits. How many of these are forced upon me by society and how many are ingrained in my genetic makeup I cannot answer. But Women's Week challenges me and others like me to try and better myself.

Become aware this week. It takes more than letting a woman tell you a dirty joke, or letting her treat you to a night out. That's not much of a sacrifice. Talk to a woman this week. Ask her some of the problems she faces each day because she is a woman. Tell her your problems as a man. Make an effort to meet each others' needs. Treat a woman like a woman, and therefore.... a person.

Ronald J. Arena is Editor-in-Chief of the Collegian.

richard caplan

Just a reminder

I was surprised, this week, as I was walking through the campus center concourse. There, among the people selling different items displayed proudly on their tables, was a lone man sitting behind a table that had nothing at all on it. There were no posters, no home-made jellies, no loud music, no slide shows, no nothing.

Being a curious person, I decided to go over and find out exactly what he was doing there.

"Uh, excuse me..."

"Yes".

"This might seem like a strange question, but what exactly are you doing here?"

"You know, you'd be surprised how many people ask me that question."

"I'm not the first?"

"Nope. All morning people have been asking me why I'm here. It's too bad I'm not selling tickets to something."

"Well, why are you here?"

"It all started quite by accident. I sat down behind an empty table to rest yesterday, and someone came by and asked me what I was selling. I told her I wasn't selling anything but she didn't believe me, and neither did anyone else.

"So what did you finally tell them?"

"Well, I had to make something up, so I told them I was a reminder."

"A reminder?"

"A reminder that there were people like me who were just sitting and watching everything go by. Kind of waiting for something to happen. People who feel alone but don't know what to do about it."

"What'd they say?"

"They said they didn't understand so I asked them if they wanted to take the time to sit next to me and see how it felt. But no one would."

"What were they afraid of?"

"I don't know. Anyway, I was just about to get up when this woman, who had been watching me, came over and asked if she could sit down next to me. I said sure and then there was two of us."

"Did more people ask the two of you why you were there?"

"Oh sure. We stayed for hours and all sorts of people talked to us. We had a great time too. Of course everyone wanted to know why we were there, so we made something up. We told them we were a reminder."

"A reminder?"

"A reminder that men and women share something whether they know it or not."

"They share something?"

"Their existence... their being. We each exist, above all, within ourselves, but once we establish our sense of who we are, we move on to those around us. We were there to remind people that there are those who never grow beyond themselves. They stay locked inside venturing to come close to others only when it's to their advantage."

"So what are you showing them?"

"That everyone can gain and no one needs to lose. You see, when one of us loses, we all lose. It's our destiny to exist together... It's also our destiny to survive. What confuses me is why people don't put the two together."

"So now you're back again today."

"Right."

"And everyone, including myself, is asking you why you're here."

"Right."

"So what do you tell them?"

"That I'm a reminder."

"A reminder?"

"A reminder that people need to talk this out. To understand the way they've been living and why it's going wrong."

"Well listen, I've got a class now..."

"Oh, I'm also a reminder of one more thing."

"What's that?"

"The joy there is in sharing."

"What do you mean?"

"The woman who was here with me yesterday?"

"Yea?"

"She didn't come back."

Richard Caplan is a Collegian Columnist

News in Brief

Carter will rule on disarmament

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter declared yesterday that he — not Paul Warnke — will decide vital disarmament policy, but unmollified Senate critics accused Warnke of "deceit" and trickery in the continuing battle over his confirmation.

Carter tried to stiffen support for the controversial nomination by assuring Senate Democratic leaders, at a breakfast meeting, of his confidence in Warnke's ability to run both the arms control agency and strategic arms negotiations with the Soviets.

Carter appoints Flaherty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, rejecting a protest from the NAACP, nominated Pittsburgh Mayor Peter F. Flaherty yesterday as deputy attorney general.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell, who announced the long-anticipated nomination which is subject to Senate approval, was asked about the NAACP's claim that Flaherty had a faulty civil rights record.

Rabin wants defensible borders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, talking "core issues" with President Carter yesterday said Israel would insist on borders it could defend as part of any permanent peace settlement with the Arabs.

Rabin told a news conference winding up his two days of discussions with Carter and top American foreign policy officials Israel would insist on defensible borders as part of any peace agreement — "and those borders in no way coincide with the boundaries at the beginning of the 1967 War."

Rabin indicated to his news conference at Blair House, across the street from the White House, that Israel was willing to make more interim agreements, like those it has with Egypt on the Sinai, until a permanent peace settlement is possible.

$50 rebate wins House approval

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The House voted yesterday to send $50 tax rebates and special payments to the vast majority of Americans, giving President Carter almost exactly what he wanted in tax policy.

The final vote was 282 to 131.

If the Senate agrees as expected, rebate checks of $50 would be mailed to almost everyone making less than $30,000, with reduced rebates going to those making $25,000 to $30,000.

Special $50 payments also would go to beneficiaries of Social Security, welfare and similar programs.

In addition, the bill gives a small permanent tax cut to those who claim the standard deduction and gives tax incentives to industries that increase employment.

Republican efforts to substitute a permanent tax rate cut for the rebate failed. A final GOP effort to recommit the bill in favor of their tax cut proposal failed 219 to 194.

Although many Democrats appeared to agree a permanent tax cut was preferable to the rebate, they bowed to party loyalty.

The bill goes to the Senate where the rebate appears safe although efforts will be made to reverse the changes the House made in Carter's business tax incentives. The business tax changes were the only sour note for Carter, who wanted relatively small tax credits spread throughout industry instead of the House bill which was directed only at businesses that increase employment.

Senate Finance chairman Russell Long, D-La., whose committee began hearings on the tax package yesterday, told newsmen after the morning session he would favor an increase in the investment tax credit, one of the alternatives offered by Carter.

Republicans went down fighting against the bill, trying first to open it up to unlimited amendments, then attempting to change it back to the original version offered by Carter, then attempting to recommit it in favor of their plan. All their efforts failed.

Tennis Racquets Restrung
$7,$8,$9
FAST
EXPERT
GUARANTEED

Be prepared for Spring vacation. Also at low prices: new racquets, balls, and grips.

COME TO:
Coolidge Tower
Lobby Rm. 3
Tuesdays, Thursdays 2-5 p.m.
Call 545-3520

SAVE $1.00 until 3-18
on restringing
Sponsored by the Southwest Assembly

Win $1,000 IN OUR DRYCLEANERS SWEEPSTAKES plus Weekly Prizes!!
YOU CAN TRUST US...
we're your "KNOW IT ALL" DRYCLEANER!
Braff's Royl Cleaners
103 N. Pleasant Street
(centrally located downtown)
256-8288

Viet war returns to vet

IRON RIVER, Mich. [UPI] — Seven years after he left the army with a Purple Heart, the Vietnam war came back to haunt Charles Clark.

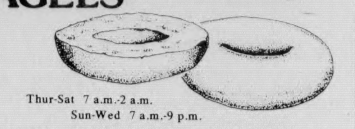
The 29-year-old unemployed veteran, who quit his oil drilling job in Colorado last December to visit with his family, went on a shooting spree Monday night, wounding his parents and then killing himself.

Yesterday, his mother, Gladys Clark, 48, recovered from a shoulder wound, was at a loss to explain the incident.

"I think something snapped," she said. "It's like other people you hear about just going berserk.

"He told us he killed for us and others in Vietnam. My husband said, 'Nobody forced you to go, you enlisted.' My husband tried to get the gun away from him. Apparently, when my husband started toward him, he just pulled the trigger."

university of massachusetts arts council presents
NIKOLAIS
Dance Theatre
FRI. & SAT.
MARCH 11, 12
8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $6, 5, 4. UM—A students — half price, senior citizens and other studnets $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE
545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

NEW ASSORTMENT OF BAGELS


Bagel Deli
28 Pleasant St.
Northampton
Thur-Sat 7 a.m.-2 a.m.
Sun-Wed 7 a.m.-9 p.m.
Our Bagels are sold in the Hatch and the C.C. Coffee shop

A ST. PATRICK'S DAY SPECIAL

$2.00 OFF OUR REGULAR PRICE
on these two T. I. Calculators with green displays!
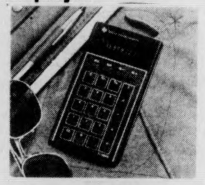
TI-1650
Reg.
Price $24.95


TI-1265
Reg.
Price $11.49
at the calculator store
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Univ. of Mass.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS

IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!

SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK
PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG
1 Wed.: 5:45, 8:00, twi-liter 5:15-5:45

CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
R
2 Wed.: 6:00, 8:15, twi-liter 5:30-6:00

4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS

STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
R
3 Wed.: 5:30, 8:00, twi-liter 5:00-5:30

The Newest, Pinkest Panther Of All!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE

BLAKE EDWARDS'
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES
FINAL WEEK!!
PG
4 Wed.: 5:45, 8:15, twi-liter 5:15-5:45

REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING

Around New England

First 'drive-in' police station

AGAWAM, Mass. (UPI) — A union spokesman said yesterday recent regulations adopted for the 43-man police department hinder law enforcement and give Agawam the first "drive-in police station in the nation."

Daniel C. Boyle, national representative of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, said one regulation bars police officers from the police station while they are on duty.

"They have to drive up to a side door and receive their orders from a civilian dispatcher who opens a window and hands them out," Boyle said. "They've opened the first drive-in police station in the country."

Tax official's phone bugged

BOSTON (UPI) — State officials are declining to comment on the discovery of a bug or listening device in the telephone of a top state tax official.

The discovery was made late last week only days before volumes of state Tax Department records were seized by state troopers and others investigating activities of the agency.

State police and auditors from Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti's office continued to review those documents yesterday.

The bug was found in the telephone of state Tax Commissioner Owen Clarke.

Man tried in death of 7-year-old

FARMINGTON, Maine (UPI) — The prosecution rested its case yesterday in the murder trial of Dennis Voter, 32, charged with killing his girl friend's 7-year-old daughter by forcing her to drink two gallons of water.

Tina Franks died May 8 at Central Maine General Hospital in Lewiston of acute water poisoning. Authorities said the water had caused pressure on her brain, and that she died of a massive cerebral edema.

New regulations for telephone co.

BOSTON (UPI) — Consumers and public officials yesterday praised state regulations proposed for New England Telephone Co. but said the rules do not go far enough.

The regulations, issued by the Department of Public Utilities, impose, for the first time, controls over telephone service terminations and give consumers the right to dispute bills. The regulations were issued after the DPU found the company's policies "unfair and discriminatory."

LOOK FOR THE FINAST LABEL...
Good as the best...Even better in price. Your quality guarantee

Finast Corn Whole Kernel or Cream Style 4 16 oz cans 99¢

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Mixed Vegetables Finast 4 16 oz cans 99¢

Finast Sauerkraut ..... 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Potatoes White Whole or Sliced .. 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Whole Beets .... 4 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Sweet Peas ..... 3 17 oz cans 99¢
Finast Carrots Sliced ...... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Peaches Sliced or Halves .... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Pears .... 3 16 oz cans 99¢
Finast Peanut Butter .... 18 oz jar 69¢
Finast Grape Jelly or Apple Jelly ... 18 oz jar 59¢

Finast Tomato Juice 46 oz can 39¢
Chicken Noodle Soup Finast 7 10½ oz cans $1

Richmond Ice Cream half gal 77¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 6-12, 1977 H-709 FN

Purex Bleach gal jug 44¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 6-12, 1977 H-708 FN

MEAT STREET, U.S.A. ... GUARANTEED VALUE!
Boneless Chuck Roast Tender, Flavorful Pot Roast 98¢ lb
Beef Loin Sirloin Steak Bone-In Formerly N.Y. Sirloin USDA CHOICE 1.38 lb
Boneless Top Loin Steak 1.78 lb
Nepco Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut (thin cuts lb 1.18) 98¢ lb

Fresh Maine Roasting Chickens 68¢ lb
Ground Fresh Many times Daily Fresh Ground Beef 4 lbs or more 79¢ lb
Underblade USDA Choice Beef Boneless Chuck Steak 1.18 lb
Boneless USDA Choice Beef Boneless Shoulder For London Broil 1.28 lb
Fresh all White Meat Boneless Chicken Breast 1.58 lb

Beef for Stew Boneless ... lb 1.18
Nepco Franks Extra Mild or All Beef .. lb 89¢
Chicken Hot Dogs Weaver lb 89¢
Natalina Pizza Do It Yourself ... ea 1.99
Italian Sausage Perris all Natural . lb 1.49
Hot Dogs Kirschner Natural Casing ..... lb 1.49
Knockwurst Kirschner Natural Casing .. lb 1.49
Polish Sausage Kirschner . lb 1.49
Swifts Pepperoni .... lb 1.79
Swifts Dried Beef .... 3 oz pkg 99¢
Breakfast Links Jones Minute .. 8 oz pkg 79¢
Dinner Sausage Jones .. lb 1.59
Braunschweiger Jones Sliced .. 8 oz pkg 69¢

LARGE ECONOMY PACKS
Whole Boneless Beef Shoulder
Combination USDA CHOICE cut into Steaks, Roast, Kabobs 1.38 lb
Boneless Beef Top Blade Steak or Cube Steaks
Lesser Amounts 1.48 lb
4 lbs or more 1.38 lb

Corned Beef Brisket all Thin Cuts . lb 1.28
Corned Beef Rounds.... lb 1.18
Smoked Shoulders Neco Special Trim lb 79¢
Frierich Smoked Butts .. lb 1.39
Boneless Ham Portions . lb 1.79
Boneless Ham Steaks.. lb 1.99

Mr. Deli Favorites!
Baked Ham Virginia Style Freshly Sliced to Order 1.99 lb
Swiss Cheese Imported ..... lb 1.99
German Bologna ...... lb 1.29
Turkey Breast Weaver all White Meat .... half lb 1.19
Hillshire Farm Kielbasa lb 1.39
Hard Salami B/C .... lb 1.79
Italian Hot Ham........ half lb 1.35
Cheddar Cheese Vermont Sharp .. lb 1.99
Pumpernickle or Rye Bread Golden Hearth ... 1 lb loaf 59¢

Seafood Favorites!
Frozen Center Cut Cod Steaks 1.09 lb
Red Snapper Fillet Frozen .. lb 1.39
Haddock Fillet Frozen ..... lb 1.39
Colossal Shrimp Frozen Peeled & Deveined lb 7.39

Finast Pot Pies Beef, Turkey, Chicken or Macaroni & Cheese 5 8 oz pkgs $1

Finast Frozen Food Values!
Finast Dinners Fried Chicken, Veal or Turkey 11 oz pkg 59¢
Boil in Bag Meat Entrees Finast .... 4 5 oz pkgs 1.00
Finast Cheese Pizza ... 15 oz pkg 99¢
Finast French Fries ... 2 16 oz pkgs 69¢
Coronet Ice Cream All Natural . half gal 1.59

fresh from baker street at Finast
Big Round Top White Bread Finast Fresh 3 20 oz lvs $1

FIRST O' THE FRESH
California Navel Oranges 72 size 9 for $1
"SALAD BAR"
Red or Green Leaf (Salad Bowl) Lettuce 39¢ hd
Red Radishes .... 1 lb cello 29¢
Scallions (Green Onions) .... bu 19¢
Anjou Pears Western .... 10 for 79¢
Avocados Fresh California ..... 3 for 1.00
Celery Hearts .... pkg 69¢
Green Squash .... lb 39¢

Sunrise fresh Dairy Values!
Soft Margarine Finast pkg of 2 8 oz cups 1 lb pkg 49¢
Amer. Cheese Finast Individually Wrapped Slices 16 oz pkg 1.29
Buttermilk Biscuits Finast . 8 8 oz ctns 1.00
Cottage Cheese Finast ..... 2 lb ctn 1.19
Orange Juice Richmond .... half gal 67¢
Temptee Whipped Cream Cheese ... 8 oz ctn 79¢
Frosted Shakes Bordens ... 3 7½ oz cans 89¢

BEER & WINE SHOPPE!
Millers Beer case 24 12 oz cans 5.99
Bock Beer Pabst Blue Ribbon While supply lasts . cs 24 12 oz NR btl 5.99
LaSalle Rose' Wine... 24 oz btl 1.99
Liebfraumilch Rose Garden .... 24 oz btl 1.99
Sherry Paul Masson, Pale Dry, Medium Dry, Cream ... magnum 3.79
Alberini Lambrusco... 24 oz btl 1.49
Paul Masson Rose' Chablis .... magnum 3.69

Prices effective March 6 thru 12, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Sex discrimination testimony planned

All women with complaints against the University Personnel dept. are invited to attend a meeting tomorrow at noon in Campus Center 803. Bring your lunch, bring a friend. We want to prepare testimony for the Title IV Sex Discrimination Hearings on Friday regarding personnel policies, practices, etc. This is our chance to speak out.

Consumerism is topic of Video Sidewalk

The Studio Video Project's "Video Sidewalk" in the back of the Hatch will feature programs dealing with consumerism tomorrow from 11:30 to 2 p.m. "You Are What You Eat" explores the realm of nutrition peddled by television and available in the supermarket diet. "Supermarket Strategy" is a program of put-ons, take-offs and satire on supermarket shopping.

Jazz Workshop performing tonight

The UMass Jazz Workshop will perform tonight at 8:00 in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. The Jazz Workshop, under the direction of Dr. Frederick Tillis, is a modern-style big band composed of students who present a jazz concert each semester. There will be a variety of jazz composition including arrangements by both faculty and students. And it's free.

English professor to lecture today

Prof. Walker Gibson of the English dept. will give the second lecture of the Chancellor's Lecture Series tonight at 8:00 in the Campus Center Auditorium.

Gibson is nationally known for his role in the foundation of the Committee on Public Doublespeak, an alliance of English teachers working against the pollution of our language. His talk is entitled "The Mind's Eye: Creating in Language."

The Chancellor's Lecture Series, founded in 1974, recognizes distinguished members of the UMass faculty, which includes professors of national and international reputation.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Cheese Ravioli, Hamburgers; Basics: Vegetable Hot Pot, Cheese Ravioli.

DINNER — SPECIAL CHINESE DINNER: Miniature Egg Rolls, Chinese Beef and Peppers with Tomatoes, Vegetable Chow Mein; Basics: Vegetable Chow Mein, Lo Mein with Chicken.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Deli Ham Sandwich, Broccoli Cauliflower Cass.; Basics: Salmon Patties with Egg Sauce, Brocoli Cauliflower Casserole.

DINNER — Chopped Beefsteak Special, Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce; Basics: Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce, Soybean Souffle.

FRYE
BOOTS SALE
Fantastic SAVINGS on discontinued models
Up to 50% OFF on many jacket styles
Over 50 Styles In Stock
Heartfelt Leather
103 N. PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST
10:00-6:00 MON.-SAT.
253-5135

H. G. WELLS'
WAR OF THE WORLDS
SUNDAY, MARCH 13
7, 9, 11 PM SUB BALLROOM

JQA LOWER & G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT orchestra LUNA
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1-8 PM
UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3
Tickets on sale Monday, March 14
at FAC Box Office & Ticketron

There IS a difference!!! Our 38th Year
NEW PREPARE FOR:
MCAT • DAT • LSAT • SAT
GRE • GMAT • OCAT • VAT
Our broad range of programs provides an umbrella of testing know-how that enables us to offer the best preparation available, no matter which course is taken. Over 38 years of experience and success. Small classes. Voluminous home study materials. Courses that are constantly updated. Permanent centers open days, evenings & weekends all year. Complete tape facilities for review of class lessons and for use of supplementary materials. Make-ups for missed lessons at our centers.
ECFMG • FLEX
NAT'L MEDICAL & DENTAL BOARDS
Flexible Programs & Hours
25 HUNTINGTON AVENUE
BOSTON, MASS. 02116
617-261-5150
Outside NY State Only CALL Toll Free 800-221-9840
Centers in Major U.S. Cities and Lugano, Switzerland
Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

Skiing and Lodging:
FABULOUS KILLINGTON
from $79 per person double occupancy
. . . is never better than in March and April.
Deep snow and warm sunshine combine for an unforgettable skiing experience.
In the springtime, Killington has more snow, more lifts, and more skiing than anyone east of the Rockies. An average of 6 feet of fresh snow falls after March 1st. Most of the 12 lifts and 52 trails on Killington's 4 mountains are open right through April. Not just novice and intermediate, but expert too.
COLLEGE SKI WEEKS
Choose a 5-day ski week beginning the weeks of March 20th, 27th, or April 3rd, and you can ski and stay at Killington for as little as $79 per person. This includes 5 days of skiing (Monday thru Friday) and 5 nights lodging (Sunday night thru Thursday night) at a nearby motel with 2 per room. To improve your skiing while you're there, five 1 3/4 hour lessons are available for just $10.40 more. And equipment for the ski week (with or without the lessons) costs only $28 more. All you'll have to do to qualify for these special student rates is to show your college ID card upon your arrival at Killington.
To arrange your whole spring fling — lodging, lift tickets, lessons, equipment, everything — just call the Killington Lodging Bureau —
Call 802-422-3333 – and ask about the SPRING COLLEGE SKI WEEKS at Killington.
SPRING FLING
And, when there's skiing at Killington, there's everything else too. Restaurants, night clubs, bars, dancing . . . everything in Spring that makes Killington the extraordinary place it is all winter long.
at Killington
425 Killington Rd., Killington, Vt. 05751. VERMONT

So you always wanted to be a vegetarian

By HELENE YASS
UHS Community Nutrition Educator

Vegetarianism is an alternative food pattern that supplies adequate nutrition without the use of meat products. A combination of plant products (grains, legumes, leafy vegetables, nuts) becomes one of the means of supplying the body with needed nutrients. Most vegetarians also derive at least half their protein from daily products and eggs.

The reasons for choosing to adopt this style of eating varies from individual to individual. For some, the idea of killing an animal for nourishment is revolting. For others, vegetarianism means promoting health by consuming less animal fat and fewer calories as well as more bulk in their diets. There are those who eat meatless meals out of economic considerations. Regardless of the reason, a vegetarian diet can be nutritious and promote optimal health.

However, receiving adequate protein can sometimes be a problem for vegetarians. If meat has been the main source of complete protein, a few guidelines need to be followed for the replacement of meat with grains and legumes. A complete or high-quality protein is one that contains all eight essential amino acids in the correct proportion. Most foods contain all eight, but they have to be in a proper protein pattern. The term essential means that they must be obtained from the diet because the body is not capable of manufacturing them. We need protein for maintenance and repair of all body tissues, antibody formation and for the synthesis of hormones, enzymes and hemoglobin.

A protein must contain all eight essential amino acids, which must be available at the same time, in order to carry out those functions. Since individual plant products do not contain the proper pattern of amino acids (except soybeans), they must be complemented with others to provide those that are available in less than desirable quantities.

A little mixing and matching helps to achieve a high quality protein pool having the same nutritional value as animal protein. For instance, most legumes (except mung beans and cow peas) are limited in the amino acids tryptophan, methionine and cysteine, but adequate in all others. Most grains (except rye and wheat germ) have a sufficient amount of tryptophan, methionine and cysteine but are deficient in isoleucine and lysine. When the two are combined at the same meal, for example lentils and brown rice, they provide a high quality protein mixture.

A high quality protein from a combination of plant products cannot be distinguished nutritionally from animal protein when functioning in the body.

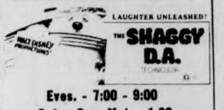
Very often vegetarians include dairy products and eggs in their diet (lacto-ovo vegetarians). By consuming milk, cheese and eggs, etc. with grains and legumes, they are assured of getting complete protein. Most important of all, dairy products also supply Vitamin B12 which cannot be obtained from any plant source.

For infants and young children following a vegetarian diet, dairy products will provide them with the Vitamin D, calcium, and riboflavin they require during growth and development. Calcium and riboflavin are also valuable for adults as well as iron which may not be abundant in the diet.

For those individuals who rely only on plant products for their main source of protein, a multiple vitamin and mineral preparation may be necessary to supplement their diet with these and other nutrients that may be in low supply.

When eating on the go you should remember that caloric intakes meet the needs of each individual in order to prevent the body from utilizing protein for energy.

For those interested in learning more about vegetarian diets, contact Helen Yass, community nutrition educator if you are interested in organizing a group program or discussion, or Lisa Lambiase, clinical nutritionist, if you desire individual counseling or a personal evaluation of your diet, at the University Health Center (549-2671).



CALVIN Theatre
KING ST. NORTHAMPTON 584-2310
NOW thru TUESDAY!
LAUGHTER UNLEASHED!
WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS' THE SHAGGY D.A.
TECHNICOLOR G
Eves. - 7:00 - 9:00
Sat. - Sun. Mat. - 1:30
Mon.-Tues. - Dollar Nites!

STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
NOW PLAYING!
R
584-9153
MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
ROUTE 9-HADLEY
SUN.-THUR. 5:30 ® 8:00
FRI. ® SAT.-4:30, 7:00, 9:30
MAT. SAT ® SUN. AT 2:00

SWISS SAFARI
This summer visit the remote and rarely visited villages high in the Alps. Do a dawn hike through the great Swiss National Park. A rare opportunity for photographers and naturalists.
Write or phone for brochures for this and other unique tours; i.e. Galapogos Islands, Inca Trek in Peru, cruising the Heribides, etc.
OONAGH CHAMBERS
New England Representative
Hanns Ebensten Travel, Inc.
18 Whiting Farm Road
Branford, Conn. 06405
(203) 488-6433
Associate
Crossroads Travel
Old Lyme, Conn. 06371
(203) 434-5757

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "the whole outer boundary around a body or figure, or the measure of same."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

Nancy McBride

Yesterday's word:

UTOPIA

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

Everbody's Market Place
CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m. and 3:45p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00 - 10:30.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

Frye bts, sz. 7, $40. Wt. uniform, 9; shoes, sz. 7, $15. 6-7990.

4.5 cu. ft. refrig. $80. Mike 253-9034.

FOR SALE

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

Camera, Cannon 35mm w-case. 130. B. O. 549-6869.

Sansui AM-FM Recvr. Exc. cond. $90 or best offer. Steve 6903.

Astrology: Humanistic charts & readings. 9 yrs. professional. Louis Neubel 549-6425.

AUTO FOR SALE

'74 Vega, AM-FM, 8 trk. Eve. Sharon 5-2152.

VW, '64. Perf. mech., body gd., AM-FM, gd. tires. Nds. no work. $325. 546-6966.

'74 Fiat St. Wgn, FM stereo—cassette, snows, 46,000 mi. Good shape. 549-1347, eve.

1972 Fiat 128. Runs well, low mileage. Best offer. 256-8530.

'66 Int'l Bus w-low mileage. '68 engine, exc. cond. Asking $2300. Call 617-939-2396.

'67 Dodge V8, auto., gd. eng. Needs brakes, spindle. $200. 268-7331 eves.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 Honda 350cc. $500. Call 549-1055.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 Honda 350CB. $500. Call 549-1055.

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

Triumph Daytona 500 '73 custom. Low miles, good cond. Call 247-9235.

'74 TR5MX Triumph 500, on-off road $550. 247-9235.

HELP WANTED

Dorm reps needed to take orders at 9 p.m.-no soliciting. 549-6979. Pat

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

COLORADO - WYOMING - MONTANA. Summertime employees for dude ranches, nat'l. parks, & U.S. Forest Service. For info. & directory send $3 to Outdoor Services, Box 349, Cody, Wyoming 82414.

Medical Technologist position available at Farren Memorial Hospital, Main St., Turners Falls, MA. 774-3111.

Work Study position available: Presentation Graphics & Cartography. Call: 545-0930.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

WANTED

A. F.T.2 carrying case for Nikkormat cameras. Call Bill, Rm. 311, 5-2642.

Wanted to buy 2 tickets to Bonnie Raitt Concert. Call 665-4903.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

1 bdrm. in hse. Sublt. $70+. Furn. 256-6224.

One month free rent, 3 bdrm. apt. walking distance from camp. Jun.-Aug. option to renew Sept. 549-5654.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Hse., Sund. Has rms., bus. April 1. 256-6698.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125-mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B-3 Cliffside. Leave name and number. 584-9669.

Roommate — own room. $95 rent, utils. included, on bus route. Call 256-0294.

Own rm., $100 rent, utils. included, on bus rt. 256-0275.

RIDE WANTED

I need a ride to Syracuse, Fri., 3-11. Call 6-9231. Ask for Benny. Will share $.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall to wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

For Bwana (3-3-73 — 2-28-77): All of us who knew and loved you will miss you dearly. Gus.

A rabbit from a moose! No small talk, just thanks. Much love, Snoop Sister No. 2.

To the guy who came in thru my bedroom window 3-4, you forgot to shut my window. We would have answered if you knocked. Your victim from SK.

Mickey: I wish you knew I think you're nice. A girl in an SBA class.

Foley and Tyson: Good luck. It'll be a landslide!

Theo, we met Thur. at Rachd. Have changed mind. Contact at 4863. M.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60 day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

Get off your ass and recycle your glass — The recycling project has glass recycling facilities in your dorm and in lot 26.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco. Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075.

Come to the fourth annual Big Bad Boogie, beginning at 9:00 p.m. Friday, March 11 at Worcester Dining Commons, featuring the band, Orphan Annie! Sponsored by Sylvan Area Govt.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has [illegible] prices! All T.I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR 52 $199.95. SR 56 $84.[illegible] ($10 rebate off this pr.) SR [illegible] $34.95, bus anal $34.95. All HP's avail. HP 67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316.

Notices

ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN
Lamda Delta Phi will be presenting LET'S MAKE A DEAL from 8:30 - 10 p.m. tonight at 389 N. Pleasant St. Contestants in costumes will be picked up at their dorms. For reservations call 5-0939 or 549-1219 and ask for Tina.

ALPHA ZETA MEMBERS
There will be a meeting tonight in Room 201, Stockbridge at 6:30. There will be a guest speaker and refreshments. It is important that all members attend.

ANTONINO ROCCA FANS!
Anybody interested in starting an Antonino Rocca Fan Club please call 665-4712 or 665-4303. Serious inquiries only please. Yah, general!

ASTRONOMY CLUB
Meeting tonight in Hasbrouck 22 at 7. Bring your best slides for previewing.

ATTENTION MUSICIANS
A coffeehouse is being planned in Field House for Friday, April 1. If interested in playing, call Barb at 6-6826, Juls at 6-6830 or Mary Anne at 6-6829.

BICYCLE CLUB
Committee Meeting. Revisions Committee please attend. All officers should be there. Bring your ideas and suggestions to CC 805 at 7 p.m.

BUDDHIST MEDITATION
Sitting meditation followed by study and discussion of Buddhist psychology with students of Chogyam Trungpa, Rinpoche tonight at 7:30 in CC 915. For more info call John Gorman at 549-5663.

CHESS
The Chess Club will meet in CC 902 at 7 p.m. tonight. Anybody who plays chess is welcome.

CHRISTIANS
LTC will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Commonwealth Room, S.U. All those who earnestly desire to learn and apply the basics of the Christian life are encouraged to come.

CONGRATS NEW ARCONS!!
Special thanks to all who interviewed and helped us out! See you Sunday! Roxanne and Barb.

DANCE WRITERS MEETING
There will be a very important meeting of Below the Salt dance writers in the COLLEGIAN office at 7:30 tomorrow to discuss the upcoming dance issue.

FASHION COUNCIL
Join us tonight for beauty application, important skin care and physical awareness. Dress comfortably and come to Skinner 119 at 6:30.

FOOD DAY 1977
The first meeting tonight at 7:30, CC 801 to begin organizing Food Day activities.

FOUND
A black and white kitten about 4 mo. old and needs a home desperately! If interested please call Pam 546-6810.

JOURNEY: A MYTHICAL MUSICAL
Production meeting for Journey will be held this aft. at 5 p.m. at the BDIC conference room, Goodell Library. Production staff and anyone else interested in working behind the scenes are asked to attend.

JUGGLERS
Tonight and every Wed. night, 7:30 first floor CC. The juggler is known for his eye; balls escaping their tender grip; and with one continuing motion he flings his arms into space and calmly awaits the enlightened return.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA
The sisters and pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta invite all university women to our "Irish Pub Nite", Thursday March 10 at 7 p.m. We are at 778 North Pleasant St. Call 5-2735 for rides and info. Come and help us celebrate St. Pat's Day a little early!

LOST-STOLEN
To whomever "borrowed" my green knapsack from the PH Prep Room, please return, at least the binder. It contains important notes and data. Checks were cancelled 3-7 at 2:30.

LOST
History book - PORTRAIT OF AMERICA, Vol. I, by Stephen B. Oates, please call 6-9640.

NIKOLAIS! LECTURE-DEMONSTRATION
See the acclaimed Nikolais Dance Theatre Company in a lecture-demonstration hosted by Alwin Nikolais Thursday at 8:00 at the FAC Concert Hall.

ORGANIC GARDENING
Film "In Search of Organic America" will be shown free at 1:30 Wednesday in 903 CC. Sponsored by Stockbridge Fr. and Veg. Club. Everyone welcome.

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY
The entire Pre-Med Society, including all committees will meet at 7:00 tomorrow and Thursday in 805 CC. All are welcome.

PUBLIC HEALTH UNDERGRAD-GRAD UNION
PHUGU meeting tomorrow night at 7 in Arnold 120. The agenda items are important so please attend.

REWARD!!!
Friday, March 4, bus driver left radio on seat in bus. Possibly in 2:45 bus to South Amherst or 2:51 to Puffton. Please call Claire at 549-4781.

ROISTER DOISTER MEETING
There will be a meeting tonight at 5:30 in CC 177. All members are urged to attend as new and old business will be discussed.

SENIOR PORTRAITS
"They shoot seniors, don't they?" Indeed "they" do! Call 545-2874 or go to the lobby of the ninth floor of the Campus Center to arrange for your execution... excuse me, sitting. The end is approaching soon — March 18 is the last day, so call now.

SPECTRUM MEETING
Tonight at 5:30 CC 106. For all staff members.

WILDLIFE SOCIETY
John Green, US Forest Service, will speak tonight at 8:00 on Wildlife in the Everglades in Holdsworth 203. Free refreshments. New members welcome.

WOULD YOU LIKE YOUR HAIR CUT — FREE?
Sigma Kappa sorority, as part of its rush program, invites all university women to a haircutting demonstration at 7:00 tonight at 19 Allen St. The Hair Shack is sponsoring the demonstration and will cut four womens' hair for free. Call 545-2297 for rides or more information.

SPRING CONCERT STAGECREW
Meeting Wed. night, 7:00, Morrill Auditorium. Be there, Aloha.

WHEELCHAIR BASKETBALL GAME
There will be a demonstration wheelchair basketball game Friday, March 10 at 7:30 a.m. in the Boyden Gymnasium. No admission, everyone is welcome.

DIABETES GROUP AT 7 P.M.
Tonight's meeting on diabetes will begin at 7 p.m., not 8 p.m. as yesterday's paper announced. The meeting will be in Clinic I of the Health Center. The topic will be the diabetic diet. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Appearing
TONITE
HANDPICKED
THURS.-SUN.
Mitch Chakour
At
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

Bell's Pizza House
You can't expect a great pizza unless you buy it at a great place.
Bell's Pizza.
Free Delivery on Campus Sun.-Thurs.
256-8011 253-9051 65 Univ. Drive

SAVE-ON-TIRES, Inc. ROUTE 9, HADLEY 3 Miles from Northampton 3 Miles From Amherst
OPEN MON., TUES., WED. & FRI. 9-5:30, THURS. - 9 TO 8 P.M. SAT. 9 TO 4
FIRESTONE-MICHELIN-LEE-GENERAL-ARMSTRONG
B.F. GOODRICH — PLUS OTHER MAJOR BRANDS
TIRES CASH 'N-CARRY Wholesale to the Public
If you need tires — before you buy elsewhere, see our prices that can't be beat!

4 PLY POLYESTER
LEE OF CONSHOHOCKEN TIRES First Quality

SIZE	Sale Price
A78x13	$18.95
B78x13 C78x14	$20.95
E78x14 F78x14	$22.50
G78x14 G78x15	$23.50
H78x14 H78x15	$25.50
L78x15	$28.95

WHITEWALLS ONLY 77¢ MORE Plus F.E. Tax

DOUBLE STEEL BELTED RADIALS
First Quality 2-Steel-Plus 2-Polyester • 78 SERIES • WHITEWALLS
Made By ARMSTRONG
BR 78 x13 $29.95 Each plus F.E.T.
DR 78x14 ER 78x14 FR 78x14 $36.95 each plus F.E.T.
GR 78x14 GR 78x15 HR 78x14 $39.95 each plus F.E.T.
LR 78x15 $45.00 each plus F.E.T.

FOREIGN CAR RADIALS First Quality
165x13 165x14 165x15 ONE PRICE ANY SIZE $28.95 Plus F.E. Tax

FIBERGLASS BELTED
Made by MAJOR U.S. TIRE MFGR. SAME QUALITY AS NEW CAR EQUIPMENT
WHITEWALLS
A 78 x 13 $22.50 Plus 1.77 Tax
B78x13 C78x13 C78x14 25.95 Plus F.E.T.
E 78x14 F78x14 G78x14 G78x15 28.95 Plus F.E.T.
H78x14 H78x15 J78x15 L78x15 32.95 Plus F.E.T.

40,000 MILE WEAR GUARANTEE
MICHELIN X FOR AMERICAN CARS
STEEL RADIAL

WHITEWALLS	REPLACES	Reg. Price	Sale Price	FET
165x13	A78x13	59.17	44.38	1.77
A75x13	B78x13	62.66	46.99	1.99
175x14	C78x14	66.37	49.78	2.13
185x14	E78x14	71.17	53.38	2.30
195x14	F78x14	75.46	56.59	2.51
205x14	G78x14	81.67	61.25	2.66
215x14	H78x14	88.81	66.61	2.95
205x15	G78x15	86.40	64.80	2.84
215x15	H78x15	91.70	68.78	3.13
225x15	J78x15	95.56	71.67	3.29
230x15	L78x15	109.04	81.78	3.33

MICHELIN ZX
IMPORTED AND SPORTS CARS
BLACKWALL TUBELESS
STEEL RADIAL

Size	Reg. Price	Sale Price	F.E. Tax
155x12	45.53	34.15	1.39
145x13	41.69	31.27	1.23
155x13	46.60	34.95	1.48
175-70-13	58.75	44.06	1.72
185-70-13	65.01	48.76	1.95
165x13	51.77	38.83	1.61
165x14	56.97	42.73	1.70
175x14	59.82	44.86	2.01
185x14	62.37	46.78	2.24
155x15	54.59	40.94	1.66
165x15	60.45	45.34	1.82
175x15 Wht	82.04	61.53	2.18

All MICHELIN above guaranteed for 40,000 miles wear plus road hazard
ALL FIRST QUALITY

REGULAR RECAPS
L78x15-H78x14-C78x13
H78x15-G78x14-A78x13
G78x15-F78x14-560x15
C78x14-E78x14
Your Choice 14.95 ea. Any Size plus F.E.T.
WHITEWALLS ONLY 77¢ MORE

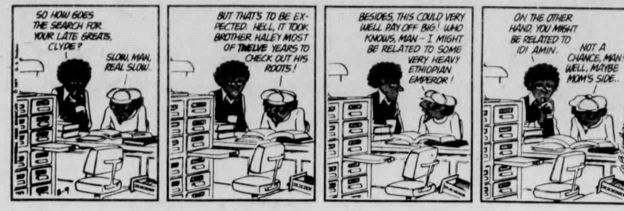
STEEL RADAL RAISED WHITE LETTERS
BR70x13 ER70x14 FR70x14 37.95 ANY SIZE Plus F.E.T.
LIMITED QUANTITIES VALUES TO 69.95
MANHANDLER RADIAL STEEL BELTED BLEMS

WE HAVE A LARGE STOCK ON HAND. SO-STOCK UP NOW FOR CAR INSPECTION STICKER TIME - WHICH IS NEXT MONTH.

SAVE-ON-TIRES, INC.
ROUTE 9 HADLEY
Cash and Carry or BankAmericard Master Charge
586-2544
HOURS: MON. thru FRI. 9 to 5:30 SAT. 9 to 4 THURS. 9 to 8 p.m.
1 MILE WEST ON THE SAME SIDE OF RTE. 9 FROM HADLEY DRIVE-IN THEATRE

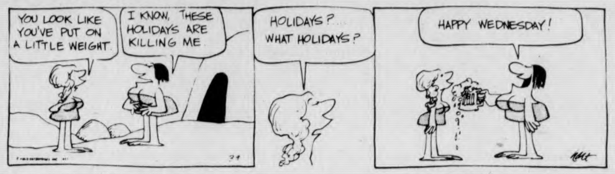
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

Valley
29 S. Pleasant St
Call 2566736
M F 10-6 S 10-2



SO HOW GOES THE SEARCH FOR YOUR LATE GREATS, CLYDE?
SLOW, MAN, REAL SLOW..
BUT THAT'S TO BE EXPECTED. HELL, IT TOOK BROTHER HALEY MOST OF TWELVE YEARS TO CHECK OUT HIS ROOTS!
BESIDES, THIS COULD VERY WELL PAY OFF BIG! WHO KNOWS, MAN - I MIGHT BE RELATED TO SOME VERY HEAVY ETHIOPIAN EMPEROR!
ON THE OTHER HAND, YOU MIGHT BE RELATED TO IDI AMIN.
NOT A CHANCE, MAN! WELL, MAYBE MOM'S SIDE..

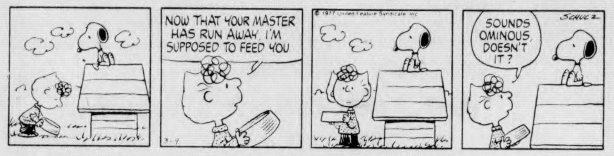
B.C. by Johnny Hart



YOU LOOK LIKE YOU'VE PUT ON A LITTLE WEIGHT.
I KNOW, THESE HOLIDAYS ARE KILLING ME.
HOLIDAYS?... WHAT HOLIDAYS?
HAPPY WEDNESDAY!

Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



NOW THAT YOUR MASTER HAS RUN AWAY, I'M SUPPOSED TO FEED YOU SOUNDS OMINOUS, DOESN'T IT?

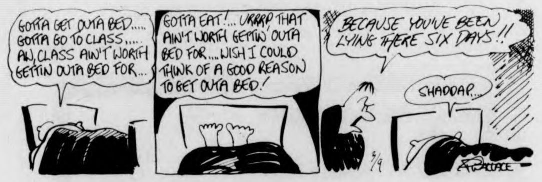
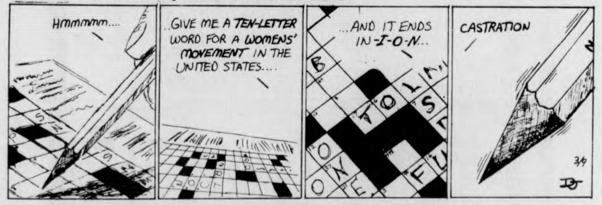
Harry Fig by Peter Wallace



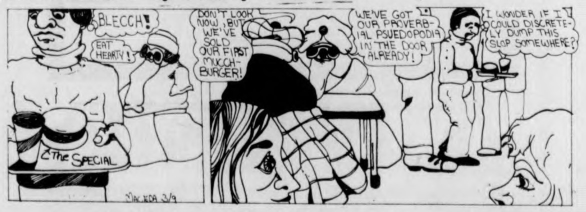
GOTTA GET OUTA BED..... GOTTA GO TO CLASS,..... AW, CLASS AIN'T WORTH GETTIN OUTA BED FOR...
GOTTA EAT!... URRRP THAT AIN'T WORTH GETTIN' OUTA BED FOR.... WISH I COULD THINK OF A GOOD REASON TO GET OUTA BED!
BECAUSE YOU'VE BEEN LYING THERE SIX DAYS!!
SHADDAP...

What Next? by Dick Janssen



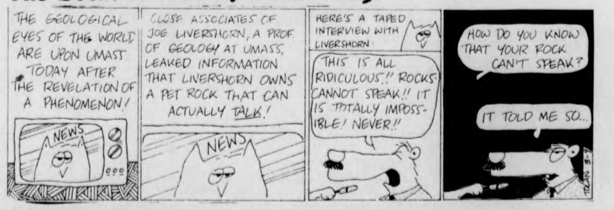
HMMMMM....
..GIVE ME A TEN-LETTER WORD FOR A WOMENS' MOVEMENT IN THE UNITED STATES....
...AND IT ENDS IN-I-O-N...
CASTRATION

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



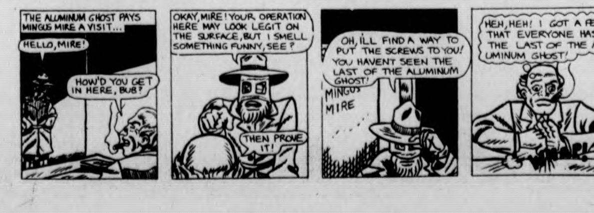
BLECCH!
EAT HEARTY!
The SPECIAL
DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT WE'VE SOLD OUR FIRST MUCCH-BURGER!
WE'VE GOT OUR PROVERBIAL PSUEDOPODIA IN THE DOOR ALREADY!
I WONDER IF I COULD DISCRETELY DUMP THIS SLOP SOMEWHERE?

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



THE GEOLOGICAL EYES OF THE WORLD ARE UPON UMASS TODAY AFTER THE REVELATION OF A PHENOMENON!
NEWS
CLOSE ASSOCIATES OF JOE LIVERSHORN, A PROF. OF GEOLOGY AT UMASS, LEAKED INFORMATION THAT LIVERSHORN OWNS A PET ROCK THAT CAN ACTUALLY TALK!
NEWS
HERE'S A TAPED INTERVIEW WITH LIVERSHORN
THIS IS ALL RIDICULOUS!! ROCKS CANNOT SPEAK!! IT IS TOTALLY IMPOSSIBLE! NEVER!!
HOW DO YOU KNOW THAT YOUR ROCK CAN'T SPEAK?
IT TOLD ME SO...

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



THE ALUMINUM GHOST PAYS MINGUS MIRE A VISIT...
HELLO, MIRE!
HOW'D YOU GET IN HERE, BUB?
OKAY, MIRE! YOUR OPERATION HERE MAY LOOK LEGIT ON THE SURFACE, BUT I SMELL SOMETHING FUNNY, SEE?
THEN PROVE IT!
OH, I'LL FIND A WAY TO PUT THE SCREWS TO YOU! YOU HAVENT SEEN THE LAST OF THE ALUMINUM GHOST!
MINGUS MIRE
HEH, HEH! I GOT A FEELING THAT EVERYONE HAS SEEN THE LAST OF THE ALUMINUM GHOST!

Local Television

7:30 2 LOWELL THOMAS
3 $25,000 PYRAMID
4 PRICE IS RIGHT
5 IN SEARCH OF ... "Martians"
6 WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS
7 BIG MONEY GAME
9 10 WILD KINGDOM
12 TO TELL THE TRUTH
38 DICK VAN DYKE
8:00 2 NOVA "The Pill for the People"
3 7 GOOD TIMES
4 10 LIFE AND TIMES OF GRIZZLY ADAMS
5 6 9 BIONIC WOMAN
27 MOVIE "Impact"
12 38 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
56 MOVIE "The Pride and the Passion"
8:30 3 7 THE JACKSONS
9:00 2 CROCKETT'S VICTORY GARDEN "Early Outdoor Gardening"
3 7 12 CBS MOVIE "Mr. Majestyk"
4 10 CPO SHARKEY
5 6 9 BARETTA
38 MOVIE "In a Lonely Place"
9:30 2 MONTY PYTHON'S FLYING CIRCUS
4 ACTION
10 McLEAN STEVENSON
10:00 2 27 NEWS WEATHER
4 10 TALES OF THE UNEXPECTED
5 6 9 CHARLIE'S ANGELS
10:30 2 MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 BIG MONEY
56 LOVE AMERICAN STYLE
11:00 2 MONTY PYTHON COMEDY SPECIAL
3 4 5 6 7 9 10 12 NEWS WEATHER
27 MOVIE "Our Man in Casablanca"
38 HONEYMOONERS
56 DARK SHADOWS
11:30 3 7 12 CBS MOVIE "Day of the Evil Gun"
4 10 TONIGHT
5 MARY HARTMAN
6 9 ABC FILMS "The Rookies" also "The Last Bride of Salem"
38 BOLD ONES
56 NIGHT GALLERY
12:00 5 ABC FILMS See 6, 9 at 11:30 p.m.
1:00 4 10 TOMORROW
2:30 5 NEWS
2:40 5 STAGECOAST WEST
3:40 5 FIVE ALL NIGHT
4:00 5 BRIEFING SESSION
4:30 5 GOOD DAY

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Wednesday, March 9 — Born today, you are one for whom there will always be employment difficulties of one kind or another. Beginning with your first efforts to work in unison with others, you will find it hard to submerge your own personality, your own desires, your own instincts in the interest of the joint enterprise. Yet it will be necessary for you to work with others -- with the result that you will be forever attempting to put down your own nature or getting in the way of other people's progress because your own nature will not be put down. Your real hope for career success lies in doing things on your own. A business of your own, a career in one of the arts: therein lies your future.

An active individual, you cannot rest easy between projects. You generally have in your mind solid plans for your next enterprise before you are even well past the initial stages of whatever you happen to be engaged in at any given moment.

* * *

Thursday, March 10

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You will be able to deal with those in authority quite well today. Don't allow timidity to keep you from having your say.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Employment affairs appear to be looking up today. You would do well to take advantage of the situation and seek an upgrading of your position.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Your very best efforts may still not be enough to pull this day's chestnuts out of the fire. Seek personal fulfillment at evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — A good day for travel, especially should it involve you ultimately in group activity. This is not the time for you to keep to yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Your daily routine should prove highly satisfactory. Take no measures to add variety to customary chores.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Seek the company of a congenial few. There is nothing to be gained via numbers of people today. It is quality that counts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You should be able to concentrate whole heartedly on present problems. If you are not, add "lack of concentration" to the list.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Be careful of the feelings of those who are to doing their best to work with you successfully. Don't take frustrations out on others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Bargains may not be truly so. Look for the hidden expenses, those that show themselves in the poor quality of the merchandise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Sudden change may bring you face to face with your own inability to adapt. Redirect your energies; concern yourself with another's future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The improvement of your financial situation is necessary to your future success. Look around for remunerative projects to undertake.

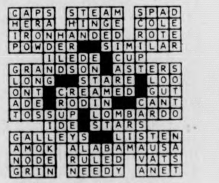
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — An unsettled morning disturbs your mood for the afternoon. You may have to begin from the beginning where an attitude of pleasure is concerned.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

Tuesday's Puzzle Solved:



CAPS STEAM SPAD
HERA HINGE COLE
IRONHANDED ROTE POWDER SIMILAR ILEDE CUP
GRANDSON ASTERS
LONG STARE LOO
ONT CREAMED GUT
ADE RODIN CANT
TOSSUP LOMBARDO
IDE STARS
GALLEYS LISTEN
AMOK ALABAMAUSA
NODE RULED VATS
GRIN NEEDY ANET

ACROSS

1 Equal: Prefix
5 Strokes on the green
10 Impetuous
14 Minute quantity
15 Accustom
16 Inside: Comb. form
17 Griped
19 Unsightly mark
20 Designate
21 From a certain direction
23 Winter sportsman
25 Brit. afternoon ritual
26 Drinking bouts
29 Building
34 Female student
35 Roman garment
37 General sense
38 Mapmaker's abbr.
39 Leaves
41 False statement
42 Lariat
44 Length x breadth
45 Tear down: Var.
46 Predicted
48 Examined medically
50 Cognizant: Slang
51 "Get Going": Slang
53 Gave approval
57 Acting violently
61 North African
62 Dealer
64 Actress ---- Negri
65 Irregularly toothed
66 Oar: Prefix
67 Bridge
68 Worthless stuff
69 Transit damage allowance

DOWN

1 So. Amer. rodent
2 On the crest of
3 Play boisterously
4 Levied
5 Feminine musician
6 Combine
7 Cask for liquids
8 Trap aloft
9 Quiet
10 Iterate
11 Process: Suffix
12 Headliner
13 Signaling device
18 Resembling closely
22 Religious groups
24 Takes into account
26 Piece of neckwear
27 Infantile paralysis
28 Apply new paving
30 Thin in density
31 Dentist's creation
32 Clamor
33 Avarice
36 Gem
39 Went out with 40 Property owners' concern: 2 words
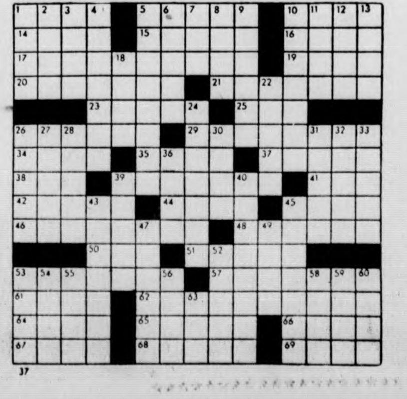
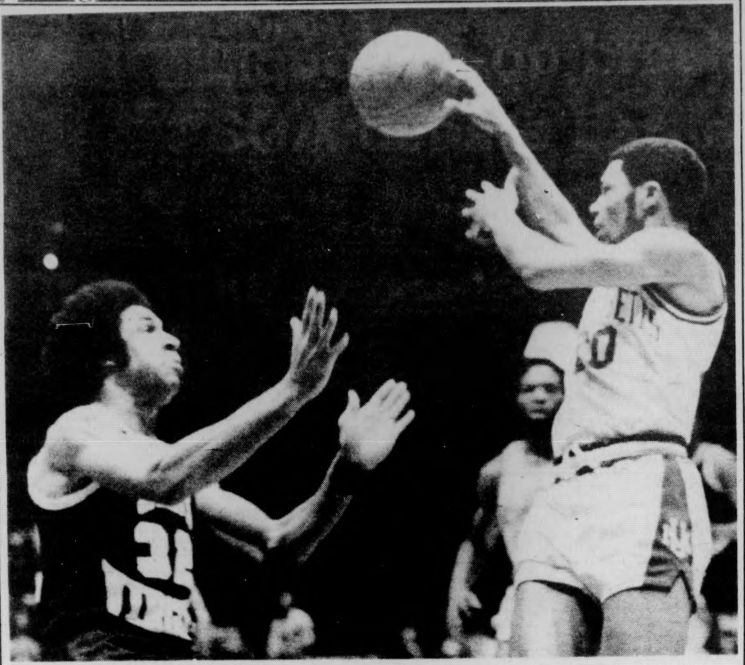
43 City of Iran
45 Bulwark
47 Unlocked
49 Branches
52 Boxer's punch
53 Elect. units
54 Place of confinement
55 Drink
56 Author Earl ---- Biggers
58 Roman highway
59 Greek province
60 Clamp the teeth together
63 Sticky substsance: Informal



57 TONIGHT
7:30 PM.
THE MACNEIL/LEHRER REPORT
THE NEWS THAT MAKES A DIFFERENCE
8:00 PM.
NOVA
THE PILL FOR THE PEOPLE
9:00 PM.
GREAT PERFORMANCES: CHILDHOOD
"POSSESSIONS" THE STORY OF A DESPERATE FAMILY
10:00 PM.
SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE,
PART 1
INGMAR BERGMAN'S FINE FILM COMES TO PUBLIC TV
11:00 PM.
MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
AH, WELL, A MARRIAGE OF ANOTHER VARIETY
11:30 PM.
CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
PBS



Derick Claiborne hopes that by the time this pass arrives he'll be in Madison Square Garden. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Sports Calendar

YESTERDAY
None

TODAY
None

TOMORROW

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL vs. Seton Hall at Springfield Civic Center 7:30

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL vs. New Hampshire at UConn 11 a.m.

Carty inks pact

TUCSON, Ariz. [UPI] — Rico Carty, who batted .310 last year as the Cleveland Indians' designated hitter, has agreed to contract terms and will be in training camp Thursday morning, club officials announced yesterday.

Carty, whose renewal clause was revoked Monday by General Manager Phil Seghi, reportedly agreed to a two-year contract in the neighborhood of $230,000.

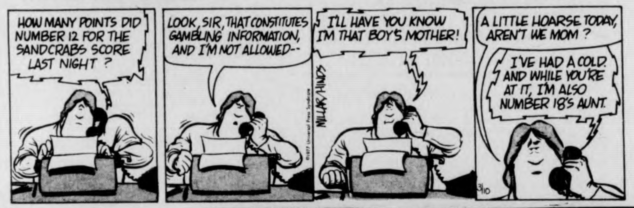
Carty, through his agents, Alan and Randy Hendrick of Houston, Tex., had been reported originally asking $900,000 over five years, then dropped his demands to $350,000 for three years.

Carty, who was selected as the Indians' "Man of the Year" by Cleveland baseball writers, also had 34 doubles, 13 home runs and knocked in 84 runs.

Lost to Toronto in the American League expansion draft, the Indians reobtained Carty in a trade which sent catcher Alan Ashby and utility man John Lowenstein to Toronto.

Study in New York this summer.
Columbia University offers over 400 undergraduate courses and professional school courses.
For a bulletin write:Summer session Columbia University, 102 c Low , N.Y., N.Y. 10027

TANK McNAMARA by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



HOW MANY POINTS DID NUMBER 12 FOR THE SANDCRABS SCORE LAST NIGHT ?
LOOK, SIR, THAT CONSTITUTES GAMBLING INFORMATION, AND I'M NOT ALLOWED-- I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I'M THAT BOY'S MOTHER!
A LITTLE HOARSE TODAY, AREN'T WE MOM ?
I'VE HAD A COLD. AND WHILE YOU'RE AT IT, I'M ALSO NUMBER 18'S AUNT.
MILLAR/HINDS
©1977 Universal Press Syndicate
3/10

ARE YOU RENTING ?
ARE YOUR CONTENTS INSURED?
IF NOT, CONTACT TOM LYONS
AT LYONS INSURANCE IN
NORTHAMPTOM FOR A LOW COST
RENTOR'S PACKAGE POLICY 584-1998

Notices

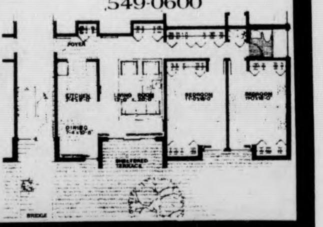
INTRAMURALS — Softball meetings tomorrow, Monday, March 14, and Wednesday, March 16 at 7 p.m. Applicants, officials, and supervisors must attend one meeting.

Badminton doubles, tennis singles, co-rec softball, and co-rec horseshoes entries are due today.

WOMEN'S TENNIS — Anyone interested in a spring season, there will be an important meeting tomorrow at 4:15 in 249 Boyden. If you have any questions, call 549-4789.

WMUA — The UMass women's basketball team is in the Eastern championships and WMUA will be there to bring you all the action. Join Charlie Holmes, Rick Heidemann, and A.J. Quitadamo at 10:50 a.m. tomorrow as the Minutewomen battle the Huskies of New Hampshire in the first round. That's WMUA, 91-1 FM in Amherst.

A SCHOOL OF PHOTOGRAPHY.
By Bob Gamache
Topics Include
1. The Darkroom
2. Close Up Photography
3. Film Selection
4. Metering
5. Composition
6. Filters
7. Flash Photography
8. Portrature & Candids
9. Lens Selection
10. Double Exposures
11. Camera Handling & Care
12. Photojournalism
Cost is $15.00 Register at Index rm. 102 cc across from Collegian Registraion limited. Class starts 3/16/77.



BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???
● STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
● RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
● ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.
50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600

UNIVERSITY PIZZA
LAST WEEK
WE MADE YOU A PIZZA
YOU COULDN'T REFUSE!
NOBODY DID REFUSE
THE SPECIAL WENT SO WELL, WE WILL REPEAT IT
THIS WEEK
ORDER OUR
NEW 16" PIZZA
and get a free quart of Coke, Tab,
Root Beer or Sprite on us!
(Offer good until March 10th)
Call 549-5592 Across from Southwest Dorms.
HOME OF THE STEAK & CHEESE SUB!

CHEQUERS
Wednesday is Mich Nite
Happy Hour never stops!
4→closing
Cheese and Crackers early hot dogs and sauerkraut late
COME AND ENJOY!

Devotion, enthusiasm, love help ease equestrian plight

By SUSAN SCANLON
Collegian Staff

Devotion, enthusiasm, and love — these three words describe the Horse Program at the University of Massachusetts. Headed by Sarah Carlson, the dedicated students of UMass are attempting to fulfill a dream. Their goal is to build an equine center — one with an indoor arena and proper stabling for all of the University's 50 horses. At the present time, the facilities are lacking in many areas; however, they are utilized to their full extent.

The problem at UMass is not a result of improper care. The people involved work with great effort to keep the horses healthy and fit, in spite of unfavorable conditions.

The major drawback with the present facilities is the lack of a central location. The barns are situated at several different locations around campus. Much time and energy is wasted as both students and faculty must commute between them.

Half of the herd is kept indoors, but this does not mean that they are free from discomfort. Looking at the barn, one would not realize that it was a stable for horses. Rather, it looks more like a gray shack to store hay and old equipment. However, inside there are 20 horses; standing in straight, stand-up stalls. Such stabling offers little comfort to these horses, which work so hard during the day.

The riders must also put up with many hardships. Since there is no indoor riding facility at UMass, all riding is done outside. With the extreme cold and heavy snows of this winter, riding is limited to walking up and down the driveway. While other colleges are diligently preparing for the upcoming horse shows in their warm indoor arenas, UMass riders can't even trot their horses.

Yet somehow, these adverse conditions have not dulled the UMass enthusiasm. The horsemanship program at UMass is one of the most active in the nation.

Equitation classes are offered to about 400 students a year and this hardly meets the demand for these classes. The main emphasis of the UMass riding program is taught, with careful attention directed to maintain the standards of classical equitation. Students are not only taught on horseback, but also in the classroom in order to fully understand the theory and methods of training.

In addition to the formal riding classes, there are many other activities involving the students and horses. There is an exhibition Equestrian Drill Team which performs at many well-known horse shows. This fall they will be performing at the Eastern States Exposition. The University is also a member of the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association. Two years ago, UMass claimed the National Championship Award, with the highest amount of team points. The team has hopes of regaining that title again this year.

The UMass equestrian team perseveres in its fight for facilities.

The quality herd of 50 horses that is kept at UMass is mainly Morgans. There are, however, some from the Thoroughbred and Quarterhorse breeds. UMass has had much success with the Morgan Horse. They are hardy and versatile, and exhibit their talents well in both dressage and cross-country riding. The Morgans have also proven to have just the right temperment needed for the intricate drill program. Most of the Morgans at UMass are bred and raised right on campus. Students take an active role in the breeding program; working with the foals from birth through their schooling and their eventual use in the riding program.

The dedication of the students is the backbone of the UMass riding program. Yet this devotion cannot compensate for the adverse conditions. It is the dream of everyone involved in the program to build an indoor facility with proper stabling for all the horses. The extreme need for this center has spurred on a money raising drive by the UMass Veterinary and Animal Science Department. The students have already organized many fund-raising activities. So far they have brought in about $3,000. Unfortunately this does not come close to the amount needed. It is hoped that this major project can be undertaken with voluntary contributions.

For the riding program to survive, it needs the support of all the horse lovers as well as the legislators of Massachusetts. The devotion at UMass is nothing short of love. Above the training received at the University, the riders individually gain something much greater; a fulfillment of their own dedication.

THETA CHI
ST. PATTY'S DAY CELEBRATION
7 am - ? Friday March 11, 1977
10 Kegs of FREE Beer
60 Kegs of Beer
Where: 496 N. Pleasant St.
Next to Newman Center

Rich Eckel

Ruggers gear for spring battles

Soccer is a gentlemen's game played by gentlemen
Football is a beastly game played by beasts
Rugby is a beastly game played by gentlemen

Old Rugby Proverb

They bustle out of Boyden dressed in gray sweatpants and shirts heading towards Southwest for a lap around the area's perimeter. Their lungs and legs balk at the physical strain after a winter of lounging. These are not your average out of condition UMass students, but rather a deceptive group of athletes that answers to the name of the UMass rugby team.

The bruises, breaks and sprains have all healed from last fall's action, and it's time for them to prepare for the second season — the spring. As the mass of gray outfits trudge through the slush and snow an inevitable question is raised: why rugby?

Why would any civilized human, for the sake of physical conditioning, subject him or herself to such physical abuse. Rugby, after all, is the English version of a Killer Kowalski — Chief Jay Strongbow Texas death match. A no-holds-barred slugfest, to the victor of which belongs the spoils.

The sport is a cross between American football, European soccer, and the internationally famous game of muckle. The game can best be described as a form of organized mayhem. It requires speed, endurance, a strong leg and total disregard for one's body.

An interesting aspect of this awkward form of entertainment, however, is that it attracts all forms of human habitation. UMass' mentor is a chemistry professor. The club's social secretary (that's right — social secretary) is a graduate student studying for his doctorate in polymer science. And one of the clubs more distinguished performers is a member of the Amherst Fire Department. The rest of the club comprises adventurous undergrads attracted by the relative informality of the sport.

"Rugby is a gentlemen's game," preaches club secretary Wally Diets. "The game that upholds the canons of sportsmanship. The game just has that certain charm about it."

That charm seems to come in the form of traditional English stubbornness and the will for a healthy form of competition. Despite the talk of sportsmanship and gentlemanly behavior followers cannot deny that the game is violent.

On a Saturday afternoon during the fall and spring this spectacle can be witnessed on the fields behind Boyden. What transpires between the sidelines and goalposts would make Dick Butkus envious. The combatants, dressed in the skimpy garb of striped shirts and reinforced BVD's, hurl their upprotected bodies at one another in search of the curiously shaped ball. Imagine O.J. Simpson running downfield without the aid of blockers, a pair of shoulder pads and a helmet.

Nothing strikes home with such force as the sound of two human bodies colliding on a brisk afternoon. The bones crack, and a chorus of ughs and ahs can be heard on the sidelines.

Last fall in a contest between UMass and the Charles River Rats, a Rats player received a large gash to the forehead. Although bleeding with the intensity of a fast flowing river he demanded to remain in the game. "I came here to play rugby," he said with true English determination, "not to go to the hospital."

The game attracts some true diehards, but to some the most appealing aspect of the sport is its sidelights. During its games the team requires that an English form of Gatorade be on hand: draft beer. And after the matches both squads head to the nearest pub for a few pints of beer and some friendly hours of comradarie.

Right now, the agony of the early season workouts is taking its toll. But while trotting around Southwest gasping for air the ruggers can take solace in one fact. Those blokes ain't seen nothing yet!

Satisfy your basic urges You'll ravish our pizzas and subs.
HUNGRY-U
103 N. Pleasant St. 256-0473
2 FREE SODAS with every large pizza
1 FREE SODA with every small pizza.
Offer good Wed. Mar.9 to Sun. Mar.13.
DELIVERIES ONLY!

The quest for a championship

The UMass women's basketball team will be shooting for an Eastern championship and a berth in the nationals tomorrow when it travels to UConn for the three-day regional tournament. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Collegian Sports

Peter McNab's scoring attempt is thwarted by Flames' defenseman Ed Rea. Bruins won 3-2. (UPI)

NIT deal

A package deal for tomorrow night's NIT game against Seton Hall at the Springfield Civic Center is available at the Peter Pan Bus Agent office on the third floor of the Campus Center.

The package includes a round-trip ticket to the Civic Center and a $3.00 ticket to the game. Total cost for the package is $5.50. For more information contact the Peter Pan agent at 549-6000.

Tickets to the game are available at the Boyden Ticket Office (545-0810) and are $5.00 and $3.00.

O'Reilly goal sparks Bruins past Flames

BOSTON [UPI] — Terry O'Reilly scored the game-winning goal and added an assist last night as the Boston Bruins beat the Atlanta Flames, 3-2, for their fifth in in a row.

The victory pulled the Bruins, 6-0-1 in their last seven games, to within a point of the Adams Division leading Buffalo Sabres.

Rick Middleton muscled between two Atlanta defenders and jammed the puck under goalie Dan Bouchard to put the Bruins ahead 2-1 at 2:53 of the second period. O'Reilly's game-winner came at 13:55 when he poked in the rebound of rookie Doug Halward's blast from the point.

Boston's Gregg Sheppard opened the scoring with his seventh goal in seven games at 11:20 of the first period after a fine rush by O'Reilly, but Atlanta's Guy Chouinard tied it up with a 15 footer at 10:08 of the middle period.

Nick Kotsopoulos

UMass earns ECBL respect

Last spring, in fact nearly a year ago, the UMass basketball program took a mighty big gamble when coach Jack Leaman announced that the Minutemen were saying good-bye to the ECAC and hello to the newly formed Eastern Collegiate Basketball League.

Instead of playing teams like Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine two times a year, the Minutemen would be competiting against nationally-known teams like Rutgers, Villanova and Duquense.

When the announcement was made, several area sports critics simply shook their heads and snickered, wondering how UMass could even consider competing in such a league. In fact, one writer referred to the ECBL as the new Eastern Airlines League because of the far distances between the schools.

Another writer questioned UMass' move out of the ECAC where the Minutemen were perenial powers, and sarcastically quipped that on some night in Morgantown W.Va., or Pittsburgh, Pa., Leaman may come to the realization that there is no place like home-referring of course to the ECAC.

Well the regular season is over and the ECBL playoffs have just concluded. Judging from the Minutemen's performance in the new league, it appears that UMass is finally getting the last laugh. The gamble has paid off big for the Minutemen.

No, UMass didn't exactly dominate league play this year, although it was the only team to beat Rutgers twice this season. What the UMass basketball program got out of its first year outside of New England was a lot more respectability.

Like comedian Rodney Dangerfield, respectability was something UMass could never get, especially in New England. People following New England basketball constantly put down the Minutemen because of the weaker schedule they played compared to Holy Cross or Providence.

Of course, the classic case of the Minutemen not getting respect from its peers occurred in 1975 when Connecticut was picked ahead of UMass to participate in the ECAC New England tourney. What got people so mad around here was the fact that UMass finished first in the now-defunct Yankee Conference, ahead of the Huskies.

Now that's disrespectful.

But this year things changed for the better. UMass capped its 3-4 season in the ECBL with some exciting play in the league's tournament, winning two out of three games, good enough for third place in the tourney.

Writers from the East Coast area quickly found out that UMass was something more than the school where Julius Erving played his collegiate ball.

In fact, thanks to their strong performance in the ECBL playoffs, the Minutemen will now get a shot in the National Invitational Tournament, something they never would have gotten if they were still in the Yankee Conference.

Not only did the UMass basketball program gain some recognition and respectability, but it also brought a breath of fresh air to the region, in regards to the higher caliber of basketball it brought to New England.

Even though there is no great rivalry developed yet between these teams, whenever UMass hosted Rutgers, West Virginia or Duquense you could sense the excitement generated by the fans when they could see players like James Baily, Ed Jorden or Norm Nixon, some of the best in the East.

But it doesn't stop there. As an added bonus, the Minutemen will finally get the television coverage it has sought for so long. Beginning next year, the ECBL will provide television coverage for selected game-of-the-week contests. When was the last time anybody even considered covering UMass basketball?

Terrorism rampant in Washington

WASHINGTON — Black Hanafi Muslims armed with guns, knives and machetes raided three buildings in broad daylight yesterday, killed a reporter, wounded other victims and held scores hostage nightlong in a vendetta against Muslim raids.

The revenge raids — one on City Hall within sight of the White House — led to demands for delivery of six Black Muslims convicted of murdering seven Hanafis in 1973, and threw parts of the nation's capital into a state of siege. Their apparent leader was the father of four of the 1973 victims.

The raiders poured out their rage and their demands in a series of telephone interviews with reporters.

They said they were willing to die in this "holy war" and threatened to kill some of their estimated 50 to 100 hostages if their demands were not met.

They set no deadline.

"Tell those people not to get smart!" a spokesperson for the gunman commanded police by telephone from the B'nai B'rith headquarters, one of the three occupied buildings. "I'll throw heads out this window!"

Police bargained by telephone and bullhorn. Cruisers blocked off sections of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Avenues near the hostage sites, causing mammoth traffic jams, and police snipers manned rooftops.

President Carter ordered the FBI to investigate how a handful of gunmen struck terror in the very heart of the capital.

The raiders, striking in groups ranging from two to four, first hit the B'nai B'rith building on Massachusetts Avenue's Embassy Row about 11 a.m.

The second group raided the national Islamic Center, a mosque, farther along Embassy Row about two hours later and the third group charged into the District Building — Washington's City Hall, near the White House — about 3 p.m.

The third raid was the bloodiest. Police said the gunmen — believed to number only two — shot black radio reporter Maurice Williams to death as he stepped out of an elevator and wounded at least three other persons with gunfire.

One of the wounded was City Council member Marion Barry, who caught a slug in the chest and was hospitalized in "fair" condition.

City officials — including Mayor Walter Washington — sneaked out of the building from locked offices once the gunmen settled down on the top floor.

Late yesterday, police described the situation at the three occupied buildings this way.

— At City Hall, two known gunmen held between seven and 13 hostages. Some of the hostages were reported tied up with cords on the floor. Police said the casualty toll here was one dead, Williams, and three wounded by gunfire.

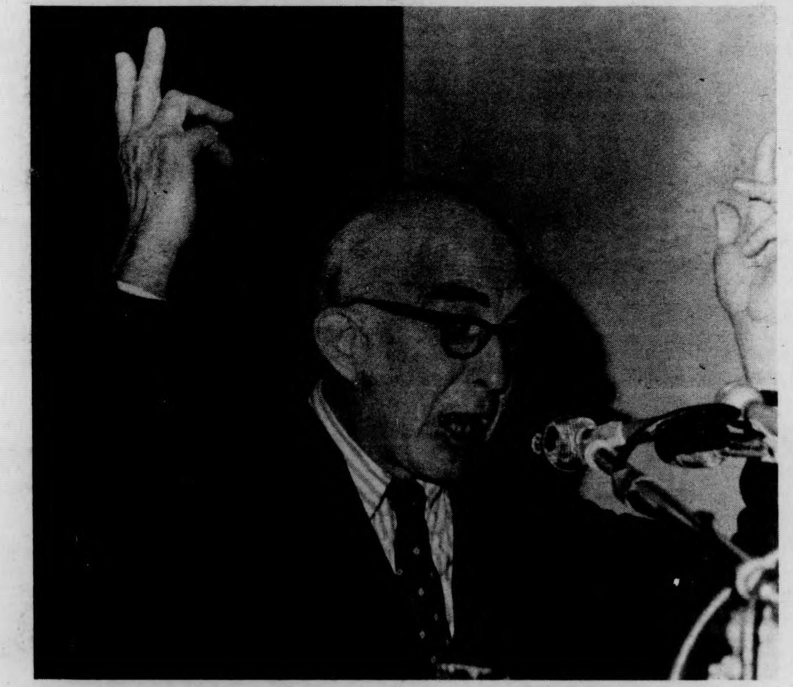
— At the B'nai B'rith building, apparent headquarters for the three-part raiding force, an estimated four gunmen were holding between 50 and 100 hostages behind papered-over windows on the eighth floor. Victims here during the initial break-in included at leave five men wounded by gunshot, knife stabbing, machete slashes or pistol-whipping. One man was hospitalized in stable condition with machete and gunshot wounds and a second was in serious condition with a stab wound in the chest.

TURN TO PAGE 2

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 102 THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500



UMass Prof. Walker Gibson knocks the writing abilities of students during his lecture last night in the CCA. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

English prof writes us off

By MARY BROWN
and BILL PARENT
Collegian Staff

"Students don't write well nowadays," UMass English Prof. Walker Gibson last night told an audience of 200, "but then they never did. I didn't either."

Speaking in the Campus Center Auditorium as part of the 1976-1977 Chancellor's Lecture Series, Gibson said that when students are placed in the position of caring, seeing and composing, "they often write well indeed."

Gibson, author of many books and articles on linguistics, warned, "Here at UMass we appear to be in for a period of curriculum reform."

"The familiar pendulum is at work ... but this time around my applause is going to be muted. I'm not sure that tinkering with curriculum is going to make students do what we want them to do," he said.

A curriculum should encourage intellectual curiosity, specific and informative writing and awareness of complexities of a subject, he said.

However, Gibson would like to see the next curriculum written with a sense of humor.

"It's time an official University voice sounded like somebody trying to communicate with somebody else," he said.

Speaking on media, Gibson called news reporting "fallible human composing. News is made by reporters. The history of the world is the history of man's composing," he said.

He said history is the largest assortment of man-made artifacts, "examination of these man-made artifacts is what liberal arts education is all about."

"We're still living in the Renaissance," he said, "We still believe hard science delivers the real goods of reality."

A scientist today finds he has a role in creating the world he is defining, Gibson said.

Gibson divided composition into physical perception, description, personal voice and a knowledge in the powers and limits of human composition.

He called for a show of self-consciousness in writing in our rapid-fire labelling process.

"There is evidence that the retinal image everyone experiences is the same," but the retina's impression does not change, the mind changes what we see, he said.

Even the Newsweek article, "Why Johnny Can't Write" was narrow in scope and poorly written, he said.

Gibson called Newsweek's style "bogus metaphor mongering."

"There is a need to sensitize people to this," he said. This is really villanous in our attempts to communicate with each other."

Speaking on poetry, Gibson said, "To divorce a poem from an all too-human poet is only one way to read a poem." But that Robert Frost was "egocentric, erratic and vain," doesn't matter, "Frost poems are still great poems," he said.

"Poems are written by confused and tortured minds, like yours and mine," he said.

Little Flags fly over SUB

By KRISTA COBURN
Collegian Staff

The Little Flags Theatre brought "Fanshen," an inspiring play about the constant struggle of people everywhere, to a full Student Union Ballroom last night.

Based on William Hinton's documentary of one such struggle in China during World War II, "Fanshen" is a momentous account of how half the world's people "stood up and threw off the landlord's yoke, to build a new world."

Under the direction of Maxine Klein, Little Flags Theatre is a multi-racial, multi-aged, political troupe based in Boston. Tonight at 8 p.m. in the SUB the Little Flags will present "Tania," the story of a revolutionary fighting for the liberation of Latin America.

Fanshen begins with the peasants wandering around the stage with distrust, poverty, and despair written across their faces. Each character accounts to the audience his-her suffering; at the hand of the landowner.

With the realization the peasants form the backbone of society, the peasants can band together and take over the land. They are afraid, however; afraid of the landowners and of each other. The peasants suffer, but none ever bother to ask "Why?"

The players mised pathos and humor as they realize that the landowners depend upon them. "Take us away, they die. Take them away, we live...We shouldn't even pay rent."

The peasants create a peasants association, and kick out the landowner. The poorest now receive preferential treatment. "We are moving from hell to heaven. To eat from your own bowl, live in your own home is the happiest life."

The patterns of the past begin to repeat themselves as corruption enters the organization. instead of equality for all, the rich become poor and the poor become rich.

The peasants are investigated by a work team, and are prosecuted and suspended from duty. New policies are sought to correct the wrongs, but they discriminate against the punished.

Finally, the peasants realize these struggles will only continue as long as they follow their individualistic goals. "I used to love only my home and my family. Now I love the people."

Notice

All Third World people are urged to attend a community meeting today at five p.m. in the Malcolm X Center. The discussion will deal with the survival of black students on campus and issues pertinent to that survival.

INSIDE

The University Jazz Workshop performed last night in the Fine Arts Center. Read Paul Blumberh's review, page 3.

The Dukakis budget was attacked today. See Page 6.

The U.S. has warned Romania that a new earthquake may be coming. See Page 6.

WEATHER

Sunny, highs in the 70's.

Expose yourself ... to the sun.

AAUP membership expected to decline

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

The American Association of University Professors (AAUP) local chapter president says he expects the AAUP's membership to drop slightly now that a rival organization has been elected to represent the faculty in collective bargaining, but says his group will not "wither away".

Joseph S. Larson, a professor of Forestry and Wildlife Management, said in an interview yesterday that once the Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP) membership drive gets underway, he expects the nearly 200 member group to dwindle somewhat.

The "watchdog" role of the AAUP, enforcing standards of academic freedom, tenure, faculty governance and other academic matters will continue, he said.

Larson said the AAUP's academic standards have been used since 1940, when the group first developed a policy statement on academic freedom and tenure.

The organization will assist faculty members who claim these codes have been violated, he said. While the AAUP cannot come to the aid of every individual, the group reviews all cases submitted to it to determine if the claims should be investigated.

According to Larson, if the violations are serious enough, they are referred to the national office, and the results are published in the monthly AAUP bulletin.

If the violation is flagrant, he said, the administration is placed on a censured list, also published in the bulletins.

In a Feb. 19 letter to the UMass President, Larson wrote, "The MSP's goal of including AAUP standards in our contract is one which deserves broad faculty and administration support."

Larson said the current community college contract in Massachusetts is a poor one from an AAUP point of view. It is in the faculty interests to help the MSP put these standards on a legal basis in the contract, he said.

At an AAUP executive committee meeting yesterday, Larson said the group endorsed the MSP's petition drive, encouraging the University trustees and president to drop their challenge on the bargaining unit's composition.

He said there is very little evidence from a legal or academic point of view to sustain the administration's appeal.

MSP opponents become members

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

Heads of the two faculty groups who opposed the Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP) in December elections to decide a faculty collective bargaining agent yesterday said they were joining the MSP.

Joseph S. Larson, president of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) and Harold L. Boudreau, chairperson of the Committee for a Fully-Informed Faculty both said they were becoming union members.

Boudreau, who headed the anti-union committee said in a telephone interview that he joined the MSP at their first meeting on March 1 because it was the only way for him to get a voice in MSP proceedings.

Larson, who said he picked up his application form yesterday, said in an interview at his office he felt the MSP needed a broad, representative base in order to negotiate a contract.

Larson said if faculty do not join the union in adequate numbers, they will look ineffective in the eyes of the University trustees.

The MSP was elected the faculty's collective bargaining agent in a run-off election held Feb. 8 and 9. A December election between the MSP, AAUP and "no agent" produced no clear winner, so the MSP and "no agent", the top vote getters, advanced to the run-off election.

★ Terrorism

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

— At the National Islamic Center on Massachusetts Avenue, an estimated one or two gunmen held 10 or 12 hostages. There was no violence reported here.

The gunmen, in their angry telephone talks with reporters, refused to say so directly, but they made clear that they sought retribution for the mass murders of their loved ones — two women and five children — in 1973.

Self-described leader of the attacking parties was Hamaas Abdul Khaalis — who lost four children in that slaying. Barricaded inside the B'nai B'rith building, he reeled off these main demands in a series of telephone interviews:

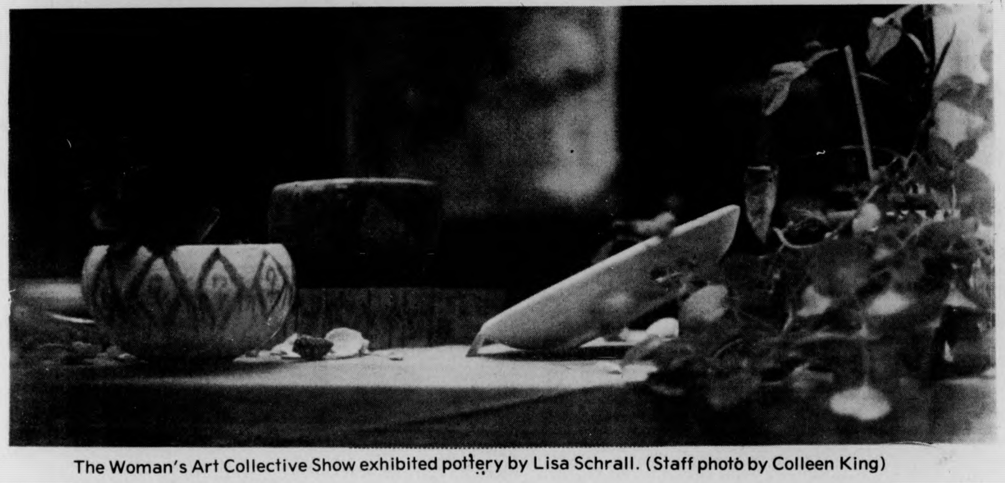
— Delivery to his siege group of the six rival Muslims serving life sentences for the Hanafi murders, which took place in a Washington home purchased for the Hanafi's by basketball star Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

— Immediate halt to the commercial movie house showing of the film, "Mohammad Messenger of God," starring Anthony Quinn. Khaalis called it "a sacrilege" and commanded: "Get it out of America!" Movie theaters across the country began complying immediately, sometimes shutting down the film in mid-scene.

— Delivery to him of heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali and Wallace Muhammad, spiritual leader of the mainstream Black Muslims, to make confessions their Muslim sect has distorted the word of Allah.

— Cancellation by the trial judge of a $750 contempt of court fine slapped on Khaalis for disrupting the Muslim murder trial by screaming at the defendants, "you killed my babies, you shot our women!"

As of late last night, there was no word on whether the authorities would even attempt to comply with any but the demand to shut down the movie.



The Woman's Art Collective Show exhibited pottery by Lisa Schrall. (Staff photo by Colleen King)

Art Collective relates 'Herstory'

By CAROLE BRENNAN
Collegian Staff

A poster on the door of Campus Center 173 for the past three days reads, "With resistance conceived in our grandmothers and collective strength acting as midwife, our culture is reborn in our children."

The poster's title is "This is Herstory" and it introduced browsers to the Women's Art Collective art show inside the room.

The 15 women collective which sponsored the show in conjunction with International Women's Week was organized two months ago. It's participants include UMass students, area artists and working women interested in art.

The show features paintings, ceramics, and poetry of eight members of the art collective.

By using different types of mediums, two of the artists expressed their ideas of themselves through unique self portraits. Lisa Schnall painted her self-portrait on a ceramic plate. Sara Conklin's picture of herself was a charcoal sketch.

On one end of the long rectangular "art gallery" another women displayed five poems, each a different litany for women.

These women, who brought themselves together as an art collective, have united their art forms. On one side of the room was a water color painting by Emily Allen, inscribed with a poem by Angela Giudice.

As visitors strolled in and out of the show Sara Conklin said the collective members are not just interested in visual art techniques. She explained there are also women in the collective involved with music and art history.

Conklin said she joined the collective because of the "supportive atmosphere where I could be with other women artists."

When speaking for the collective Conklin explained she did not see the collective's membership growing in the future but hoped the idea would be passed on to others.

Senate vote favors divestment actions

By BRAD GOVERNAN
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate voted unanimously to endorse the actions of the South African Support Committee in their efforts to get the University to divest itself of investments in American corporations in South Africa.

The ratified motion called upon the SGA presidents to bring a similar motion before the Board of Trustees.

In presenting his motion SGA President Jay A. Martus revealed several oppressive acts corporations in question participated in.

Eastman Kodak, a company the University holds $32,000 of common stock in, participates in a policy which requires all its black employes to carry identification papers when traveling out of their homeland or township. The penalty for being caught without such papers is a jail sentence coupled with hard labor. As a result, South African blacks have the highest per capita rate of people in jail in the world.

Martus also pointed out that 70 per cent of South African black population live below the poverty datum line set by the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

"The same commission has said that apartheid policy, which is supported by these companies, is an act of genocide," Martus said.

In an interview after the meeting Martus said he was not acting naively in pursuing University divestiture of assets in South African companies.

"The issue is so blatantly unethical the University may have no other choice but to divest," Martus said.

According to Martus the South African Support Committee at Hampshire College is showing signs of success in their efforts to have Hampshire College divest its assets in South Africa.

Martus announced a teach-in on the matter will be held April 4, a demonstration will follow the next day, and on April 6 a proposal will be brought before the Board of Trustees.

UMEA doesn't want strike

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

"Striking will be the last resort," Bernard K. Turner, president of the UMass Employes Association (UMEA) told the membership yesterday.

The UMEA represents more than 1,300 employes in administrative, clerical and technical positions on campus. Although a new contract was signed by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis on Feb. 16, he has not yet made funding available.

"What we are going to do is to circulate a petition among all classified employes and then send it on to the governor; also a telegram asking for our funding," Turner said.

The Governor has a 60 day period in which to enact the legislation signed February 14th. If the contract is not funded by five days before the expiration date (April 14th), Turner said UMEA will meet to decide what direct action can be taken.

Turner once again urged all members to call or write their legislators to "let them know that UMEA is willing to fight for their pay increases."

In part the petition states: "We the undersigned ... employes of UMass-Amherst do hereby protest and deplore what we consider to be unnecessary delay ... imposed upon us by the delay of Governor Dukakis' bill ... granting us pay raises under our contract with the University. We implore you to use every effort to insure the passage of this bill. We have been without pay adjustment since 1973 and have suffered considerably because of this."

In a referendum vote, UMEA voted to disassociate itself from the Massachusetts State Employes Association and become affiliated with the Massachusetts State Employes Association and become affiliated with the Massachusetts Teachers Association (MTA). This will give them better lobbying support, in the new contract negotiations in April 1978.

MTA will allow them to hold their own charter which enables them to deaffiliate from MTA "If they don't do what they have promised UMEA," Turner said.

Three members of the University Jazz Workshop get together on a progressive piece at last night's concert. (Staff photo by Greg Virgilio)

Jazz workshop: laden with talent

By PAUL BLUMBERH
Below the Salt Staff

The University Jazz Workshop performed admirably for a receptive and enthusiastic crowd at the Fine Arts Center on Wednesday night.

Under the direction of arrangers Dr. Frederick Tillis, Jake Epstein and Andy Jaffe, the big band fused a great deal of talent into a program of solid, balanced and energetic music. A Hallmark virtue of the evening was the band's ability to play straight forward, thoughtful, big band jazz. The music was accessible to both jazz afficionados and casual listeners.

The program featured eight compositions performed by the big band and written by a well respected group of songwriters. "Doxology", a Dave Brubeck tune, started the show and warmed up the musicians with its bouncy melody. "Expansion", a piece written by tuba-bass trombonist Mark Behre, brought forth the talent in this band. Bouncing and melodious, this tune had a romping tempo — trombones weaving about, guitar and piano with nice improvisations contributed to a fairly tight piece.

Next, Dr. Tillis led the band into a soulful Thad Jones song, "Consummation", in which Curt Brossmer blew a thoughtful trumpet. A Duke Ellington mellow swinger, "Mello Tune", capped the first half of the big band program with flair and precision.

Prior to the band's final four numbers, three smaller groups got to stretch out on stage. Pianist Mark Puricelli and percussionist Tom Briggs on vibes united in a sparkling, colorful rendition of a Keith Jarret composition. With finesse, delicacy and taste, these two fine musicians made beautiful conversation in one of the most stirring numbers of the evening.

Jake Epstein led a trio in a Charlie Parker pair, "Ornithology-How High the Moon" for the following selection. Jake sets a torrid pace on alto in due respect to Parker's almighty reign as modern jazz giant. Completing this selection of the program was a progressive, funky octet playing a wonderfully titled "Beauty and the Beast."

The middle third of this concert demonstrated the wide range of abilities of the players.

The band regrouped to perform a Dr. Tillis composition entitled "Seton Concerto for Trumpet". This piece was complex in its arrangement; the swift time and tempo changes being handled well by the band. Don Abrams blew lead trumpet with nobility and flash on this strangely gripping piece.

Vocalist Carol Crawford joined the band for two swinging numbers arranged by Epstein. "Meditations" by Jobim and "More Today Than Yesterday" added a nice diversity.

Finally, the big band bowed out with "Finger", a rousing, slow burner which gave every band member a solo to stretch out on.

Overall, the University Jazz Concert provided an evening of tasteful music, carefully arranged and ambitiously performed.

Issue Editor	Groucho Marx
Assistant Issue Editor	Harpo Marx
Day Layout	Chico Marx
Wire Layout	Zeppo Marx
Editorial Layout	Karl Marx
Sports Layout	Three straight Marx in the tenth frame
Head Darkroom Tech	Gummo Marx
Pimple Staff	Marx all over
Drug Layout	Hypodermic Marx
Little Known Person	Irving Marx
What you see on Miss Lilian when she gets run over	Skid Marx

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off campus delivery	$9	$15
On campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays: Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Tyson clarifies stand on liquor store here

By STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

"Philosophically, I'm against a liquor co-op, but with a strong majority vote by the students, the SGA should investigate the possibilities," Student Government Association presidential candidate Herb Tyson said yesterday.

In referring to the proposal made by the John Foley-Herb Tyson team which lead to a violent argument at Tuesday's presidential debate, Tyson said, "Sure it's controversial, but it's only part of our platform."

Tyson was involved in the argument with candidate Pinky Batiste in response to a question concerning the feasibility of a liquor co-op on a campus which has a supposedly high alcoholism rate.

The Batiste-Jon Hite team said yesterday in a separate interview that "with three bars on campus and the amount of money spent on alcohol education here, it wouldn't be fruitful to start a liquor co-op."

Tyson said the co-op plan was only part of a larger proposal to improve student services at UMass.

The Foley-Tyson team said increased amount of co-ops would increase student jobs and generate student-controlled revenue.

"The idea of a liquor co-op on campus originated in 1974 as a thirty page study which investigated all the aspects of a co-op," Tyson said.

"We could set up a warehouse ten to fifteen miles from campus. The co-op would deliver in a catering style — three cases of beer or a couple of kegs at a time," Tyson said.

"When you say co-op, the first thing people think is that you can buy a bottle of wine or a six pack. This co-op would be more of a wholesaler — it would serve dorm and frat parties," he said.

"If the students want a liquor co-op, we should investigate it," said Tyson. "It's a question that needs to be aired out. You shouldn't stifle student opinion."

Tyson said the Foley-Tyson team would come out with a position paper outlining their views on co-ops and student services.

"Sure, the co-op would be student run," said Tyson.

The Batiste-Hite team questioned the financing of the operation. "If the co-op is off-campus, the overhead would be tremendous. The Senate wouldn't be able to fund it," said Hite.

John Foley, said at Tuesday's debate "The co-op could be worked through a funding mechanism which would allow the organization to deficit spend until it got on its feet."

"If they wanted to have it off-campus, they would also have trouble with politics," Hite said.

Hite said a town would be out to protect its merchants against undercutting by a co-op.

"If the co-op was in Amherst, the selectman might respond by restricting the issuance of liquor licenses," Hite said.

"Foley and Tyson say they would recycle profits from a co-op into alcohol education. That's answering a problem with a problem," said Batiste.

"It would be like robbing Peter to pay Paul," said Hite.

"Student Government should provide services. If we wanted to turn it into a business, we could open up a car lot," said Hite.

The Pooler-Weissman team said yesterday they were against the proposal.

"The liquor co-op isn't necessary," said Chuck Pooler, "it would involve a lot of time and money. It's too much of a hassle."

"We don't think that student services should be the main issue in the election, especially something like this liquor thing," Pooler said.

CCFS asks less of Saga

By SAMUEL P. HASSAN
Collegian Staff

This year's Campus Center Food Service (CCFS) contract with Saga Foods calls for a 13 per cent reduction in revenue guaranteed to the Campus Center Trust Fund by Saga.

Saga is the California based corporation operating all food and beverage services in the Campus Center-Student Union complex.

Saga came to UMass in 1976 with a winning bid that guaranteed a minimum of $207,000 for the CC Trust Fund, while this year's contract calls for a minimum of $180,000.

Jack McGill, CC Food Service Director and one of four Saga employees at UMass, attributes the 13 per cent reduction to continuing decline in sales and increased operating expenses.

Kenneth H. Dean, a staff administrator with the Chancellor's office on special assignment in the CC said, "Sales have been dropping off for the past two years. The Amherst merchants have been feeling the brunt of this squeeze for some time."

Alluding to the effects of this year's CCFS contract with Saga, Dean said, "If no other department exceeds their budget projection, the 13 per cent shortfall in Food Service could have an impact on the CC Trust Fund that may necessitate an increase in the CC Student Fee."

Dean elaborated on pending Massachusetts State House legislation that would have the state assume responsibility for the CC bond issue virtually eliminating the need for a CC Student Fee.

According to Dean, the CC bond issue calls for $1.5 million annually over the next 35 years before the building is paid for.

Approximately $1.4 million comes from annual student fees, while the eight departments in the CC provide the balance of revenue, Dean said. He added that the University Store is the largest contributor to the CC Trust Fund with Food Service second, and the hotel third.

Outside management services for food and beverages in the CC were sought after a 1975 audit team headed by Dean showed the CC had been mismanaged to the tune of $200,000 in fiscal '75.

Saga was one of four food service corporations to submit bids for the management services. These services were sought by CC management who acts on behalf of the CC Board of Governors (BOG). The BOG in turn is acting under the auspices of the University president, the University trustees, and ultimately the legislature or the state.

According to contractual agreements available for public inspection in the BOG office, Saga Corporation receives two flat rate fees from the University.

In addition to salaries for four employees amounting to more than $80,000, Saga receives a flat management fee of $111,000 for services performed.

CCFS Director McGill said, "that's a misconception people have around here. We (Saga) don't get anything more than a flat rate here."

According to the contract, any amount of revenue exceeding the contracted minimum ($180,000 for 1977) goes directly into the CC Trust Fund.

The University has a bond in holding from Saga that insures the financial agreements in the contract.

In praising the services Saga has performed at UMass, Dean said that CCFS had never grossed more than $75,000 before outside management services were sought.

UMass attorney Sid Meyers, commenting on Saga's performance in CCFS said, "It's my understanding that they're doing a fine job."

In commenting on the 13 per cent reduction in minimum revenue to be provided by Saga, University Dean of Students and acting CC Director William Field said a substantial decline in enrollment on the Amherst campus had a considerable effect on the University economy.

According to a March 1977 report compiled by the Office of Budgeting and Institutional Studies, undergraduate enrollments dropped from 20,389 for Fall 1975 to 18,227 for this semester.

Greeks tab Leahey as council president

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

The Greek Council last night elected Paul G. Leahey and Brian M. Deignan president and vice-president, respectively, for one year terms.

Elections for secretary and treasurer of the Council had not yet been completed at press time.

Leahey, a junior member of Theta Chi, stressed coordination, cooperation and improved communications for the upcoming year. He said he plans to "rejuvenate the Greek community" by showing others on campus the other side of fraternities and sororities.

He pointed out there are other activities Greeks enjoy besides beer drinking. Leahey spoke of forming three committees within the Greek community: a seniors committee, an overall social planning committee and a fund raising committee. The latter group, said Leahey, would increase charity drives to admonish the "stereotyped" partying image he fears the Greeks have.

The outgoing President Steven Macaulay summarized his term following the election results. Rating the past year "pretty profitable", Macaulay said he has "learned and enjoyed" his presidential position while "doing a good job."

To kick off his new responsibility, Leahey hopes to establish a cohesive atmosphere among the representatives from the 24 houses to "produce results."

Election eye - Batiste, Hite

By STEVE TETREAULT and JOE MAGLITTA Collegian Staff

This is the first in a series of three interviews with candidates for Student Government Association (SGA) president.

Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite

SGA co-presidential candidates Pinky Batiste, (left) and Jon Hite discuss some campaign strategy on the steps of the Campus Center. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Marion "Pinky" Batiste, 22, is a junior Natural Resource Studies major from Braintree, Mass. She currently lives in 409 Grayson. Batiste has been an undergraduate student senator from Grayson for two terms, and in Orchard Hill Area Government for three years. She founded and acted as the first chairperson of the Academic Affairs Committee for Orchard Hill and Central. Batiste has served as a Resident's Assistant (RA) in Grayson for two-and-a-half years.

Jon A. Hite, 21, is a junior Political Science major. Originally from Brookline, he now lives on Butterfield Terrace in Amherst. Hite has been an undergraduate student senator since 1974. Before resigning in October, 1975, he served six months as Speaker of the Senate. Hite has been elected to the Amherst Town Meeting twice. Currently a member of the Amherst Town Democratic Committee, Hite is a former president of the Mass Democrats.

If elected, Batiste will serve as student-trustee, Hite as SGA president.

The Batiste-Hite team has rooted its candidacy in four inter-related areas of equal importance, according to the candidates. These areas are:

—Improvement of communications between students and the administration, the University trustees and the State Legislature;
—The University budget;
—The maintenance and improvement of student services; and —Improvement of academic standards.

In both SGA presidential debates and in interviews with the Collegian, Batiste and Hite have continually stressed the need to exert pressure on the state legislature to deal with the University's problems.

"A good many of the problems facing this campus today evolve in the state legislature. The fact is that state legislators are occupied with other things and don't have the time to understand what a state university is like," they said.

Batiste and Hite said a unified effort among all students attending state schools in Mass., UMass alumnae, parents and friends of students and resource and organizational groups at UMass, would "create pressures on the right people."

They said the student senate should assume the responsibility for disseminating information and educating the University and the public.

The team said information could be dispensed through regular visits to area governments and dormitories, a weekly University status report in the Collegian and over WMUA, and with the creation of a special "Ombudsperson's Office."

"Communications is a tremendously important factor," they said. Once people are educated on the issues and a degree of unity is attained, "a strong lobbying effort for the University budget will be launched," Batiste and Hite said.

In addition, the pair has emphasized the need to bring all University dormitories up to safety standards and fight against an 8 per cent meal tax in the Greek Area.

The following are excerpts from the team's recent interview with the Collegian.

On The Budget

"Governor Dukakis' budget recommendation of $68.1 million for the Amherst campus is inadequate: it was designed with little understanding of the University. Prior to this, neither the governor nor the secretary of education has been involved in a state public university system.

"Through a strong lobbying for the University budget it is possible to show the degree of fiscal mismanagement present here.

"Part of the problem is that UMass President Robert C. Wood and Chancellor (Randolph W.) Bromery have not done enough to build the image of this University. They should be out talking to the Rotary Clubs and such; that's where public influence leaders are."

On The Proposed $7 SATF Increase

"The increase is a necessity right now. We don't want to see services cut. If the proposed increase of the SATF (Student Activities Tax Fund) to $64 isn't approved, there will have to be a cut in services.

On Student Services

"Right now the student senate is in the midst of a fiscal crisis. We could start co-ops that would take a small amount of money to get started, but a more feasible idea is to upgrade the services we have right now.

"As it stands now all the various fees we pay are invested. This includes dining commons fees, health service fees, activities fees and the like. The annual interest they earn is close to $1 million a year. All this money is placed into a "discretionary fund", directly controlled by the administration. This means we as students end up paying for all the credit cards in Whitmore and for Robert Wood's little palace on One Washington Mall.

"There are no reasons why we can't extend new check cashing hours on Monday and Friday, as well as extending them to the weekend. That's when facilities like that are needed most."

On Academics

"If level funding goes through, the first place that gets burned is academics. Right now people are being enrolled in the University and after they get there they find out they can't get into certain departments.

"Students should be told before they come here which departments are closed to them.

On Relations With The Administration

On some issues we can work together with the administration, but when there is an adversary role we will take it. We'll try not to begin with an adversary relationship, all that does is turn them off and they won't talk to you. You have to be cooperative. You have to be able to listen to them and they have to listen to you. Intentionally creating tension with the administration is like cutting off the nose to spite the face."

SGA preview

On Dorms and Safety

"A main priority right now is to bring the dorms up to safety codes."

On A Student Union

"A lot of people are afraid of a union; they don't understand it. They think a union means strikes. Of course that's not true.

"The senate has spent a lot of time with the students working on a union. Now it's time to take it to the legislature.

We must fight for House Bill HI378, which would authorize a study commission consisting of students, administration and lay-people looking into collective bargaining. Until that bill is passed, unionization efforts are academic. If we get this bill, people will want to jump into a union."

Communication

"The presidents of SGA are supposed to be a direct liaison between students, the administration, the state legislature and all the outside entities of the Commonwealth. That's what a government is: someone you elect and give your trust to.

"We don't think students are apathetic. If they were apathetic, there wouldn't be a university. The information just hasn't been given to the students. Some people have already started to write letters. It only takes 10 minutes, and it means your education.

Its entirely feasible to set up a student task force to conduct financial audits of the University. In this fashion, we can isolate the areas of highest needs and develop priorities. We have the talent: The Student Center For Educational Research, The Student Organizing Project, the Legal Services Offices, and untold amounts of people we haven't even met yet."

On A Faculty Union

"Right now the faculty union is a catharsis. This puts the students in a clearly defined position of less power. We can use the faculty union because we are the leverage power between the faculty and the administration. If the faculty strikes we'll take a very hard line against them. Our education has to be guaranteed above anything else."

...CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "broken, weakened, or disordered in intellect: insane.

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

TIMOTHY CONNORS

Yesterday's word:

PERIMETER

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

10% OFF NEXT PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD...

NEW Spring fashions arriving daily!

OFFER EXPIRES: MARCH 12,77

BUS STOP

197 N. Pleasant St./Amherst/Mass./256-0140

JQA LOWER & G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT

orchestra LUNA

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1·8 PM

UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3

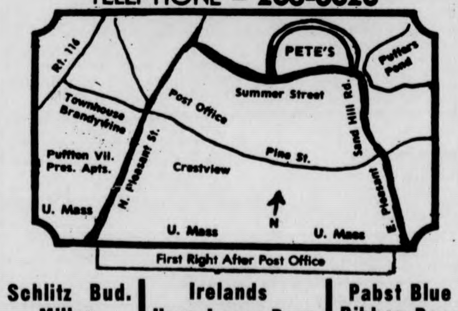
Tickets on sale Monday, March 14
at FAC Box Office & Ticketron

PETE'S PACKAGE STORE

144 SUMMER ST., N. AMHERST

Why fight traffic? - Easy Parking

TELEPHONE – 256-6828



Schlitz Bud. Miller $1 75 6 pk.

Irelands Harp Lager Beer $1 99 4 pk.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer $4 99 cs. & dp. 12 oz. ret.

PROMPT — FREE DELIVERY
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors.

Open 84 hrs./wk. to serve you!

Monday thru Saturday 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Yes to androgyny; no to pornography

"We have the assumption that combining 'feminine' and 'masculine' traits produce more functional behavior in people," Sandy Kaplan, co-author of "Beyond Sex Role Stereotypes," said yesterday.

Kaplan led the workshop "Androgyny and Sex Roles", held at 3 p.m. yesterday in the Campus Center.

Androgyny gives a person "more than half a choice" she said.

Sex role stereotypes, enforced and introduced through cultural socialization, force people into adopting certain behavior patterns not particularily "healthy" for them she said.

Kaplan stated that women have been denied, distorted and demeaned in psychological studies and writings. Examples include women being put into a male context in comparisons and simply being excluded from studies because they "don't fit into the established patterns.

Often, the researchers focus on female inadequacies. An example was the emphasis placed on the overassertive mother, who is shown as a particular kind of criminal in forming her child's behavior. One seldom hears of the passive father.

Androgyny, the equal balance of "feminine" and "masculine" stereotyped roles, is not being "welcomed by the world," Kaplan said.

The "ultimate goal is sex role transcendance" she said, although the immediate goal is to merely begin the process.

Gynergy, the process of women looking into themselves for a concept of themselves as women, was discussed as a possible preface to the process of androgyny.

Andrea Dworkin, author of "Women Hating" and "Our Blood" spoke at 5 p.m. on "Pornography and the New Terrorism." She stressed how the degradation of women has been accepted in literature, film, theatre, and the media. "The oppressor celebrates degradation as life's central truth," said Dworkin.

"He (the oppressor) is the manipulator of psychology, the framer of law, the engineer of social necessity, and the architect of perception or being."

She compared pornography to the propoganda of the "fascist ideology" ascribing physical superiority to men, and humiliating women. "This propoganda not only threatens assault, it promises it."

Dworkin said the increase of such material can be interpreted as "death threats to the women's rebellion against male sex authority and male despotism."

Today's events

Workshops on living and learning 10 a.m.-8 p.m. CC lower level

Children's Workshops 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m. CC 168

Carol Bragg lecture: 1 p.m. CC 165

Arlene Eisen lecture: 2 p.m. CC 917

Grace Lee Boggs Lecture: 4 p.m. SUB

Little Flags Theatre: "Tania" SUB free 8 p.m.

Liberty Standing: Hatch 9 a.m.

New Harmony Sisters: Blue Wall 9 p.m.

Bev Rhollair: TOC 9 p.m.

Workshop Schedule:

10 a.m. Women as Hard Laborers in the Valley, Suwan Bohm, carpenter, Louise Johnston, auto, Jane Fleishman, bicycle CC 176

11 a.m. Bioenergetics Body Therapy and Healing (loose clothes) Jeanine Zeiger CC 165

Problems of Being a Single Woman Tenant Joanne Levinson-Jill Holloway CC 811-15

12 noon Women in Science Janet Oppenheim CC 805-9

Men's Lives S.W. Men's Center CC 804-8

Women and Repression Women's Bail Project CC 904-8

1 p.m. NELCWIT Women in Transition Jefri Provost CC 162

Carol Bragg Women in Vietnam CC 165

Mothers and Daughters Jane Flax CC 176

2 p.m. Women and Interpersonal Communication Nancy Mihevc-Julie Pokela CC 165

Chanting and Ritual Barbara Scanlon CC 908

Arlene Eisen Women in Vietnam CC 917

2:30 p.m. Women and the Cultural Life of Israel Leah Porat CC 804-8

3 p.m. J.P. Stevens Corporate Outlaw Theresa Carr CC 176

Counteracting Sex Roles Stereotyping in the Schools Kathy Salisbury CC 162 (this has been changed from Lesbianism for Adolescent Women)

Lesbianism (for all women) Anne Thorkelson-Barbara Scanlon CC 805-9

4 p.m. Politics and the Family J.B. Elshtain CC 803

Grace Lee Boggs lecture SUB

5 p.m. Mothering Sons Susan Callahan-Mary Muirhead CC 811-15

6 p.m. Self Defense Pat Turney CC 101

Older Women Barbara Pridham CC 162

Children's Workshops:

10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Art and Building a Space

1:30-4:30 p.m. The Che Lumumba Children; the Children and Ways of Appalachia-"Tramps" — a Mime Show

4:30-7:30 p.m. Children's Theatre-Liberated Story-Telling

Speakers raise issues

Thursday afternoon DVP will sponsor presentations by Arlene Eisen, author of Women in Vietnam, and Grace Lee Boggs, author of "The American Revolution," and "Racism and Class Struggle", and author of a pamphlet "Women in the New World."

Eisen will present a lecture-slide show presentation at 2 p.m. in Campus Center 917 on "Women in Vietnam." Eisen has travelled and visited extensively in Vietnam, analyzing and writing about the growing influence of women in the movement to rebuild the nation of Vietnam. Women in Vietnam is widely recognized as one of the most thorough presentations of the position of women in Vietnam.

Boggs received her B.A. from Barnard College and her Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr. She has been active in the American labor and civil rights movements since the beginning of World War II, and remains active to today. Boggs will discuss "Men's Underdevelopment and Women's Underdevelopment: 2 sides of one question."

Carol Bragg, Rhode Island Field Secretary for the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC) will speak Thursday, March 10, at 1 p.m. in Campus Center 165. Bragg recently returned from a four-week trip to Vietnam, and will present slides taken during her recent trip.

While in Vietnam, the AFSC delegation met with government officials, Buddhist and Catholic religious leaders, the media, and with former staff members of the AFSC medical station in Quang Ngai.

AFSC has provided medical aid to civilian war victims in Vietnam since 1966; since the end of the war, however, AFSC has switched much of its work in Vietnam toward reconstruction. The delegation also discussed with Vietnamese leaders the future of American relations with Vietnam, including the possibility of normalization of relations, and the provision of government reconstruction aid.

Leah Porat-Goor, Chairperson of the National Council of Culture and Art in Israel, will speak Thursday, March 10 at 2:30 p.m. in Campus Center 804. Her topic is "Women in Cultural Life in Israel."

Porat-Goor is one of the leading figures in several key areas of cultural life in Israel. She served as the Program Director of "Kol Israel," the Israeli national radio authority. She has worked as a theatre critic for the daily "Lumerchav" and as the Israeli Cultural Attache for the New England area.

THE PUB TONIGHT

DOUBLE TIME

8:30 til 11

(Most Drinks & Beer TWO for ONE)

ON TAP 2 FOR 1 8:30-11

T-Shirts Given Away EACH WEEK

AND

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT

If you've got the time, we've got the beer.

TWO WAY STREET

EATING & DRINKING

AMHERST

Spend Spring Break with THE SKI CLUB

2 GREAT SKI WEEKS

Sugarbush: $95
5 days lifts
5 nights lodging (lantern lodge)
5 breakfasts and dinners

Sugarloaf: $120
5 days lifts
5 nites lodging (red stallion)
5 breakfasts and dinners

Sign-up at the Ski Club Office 309 S.U.

Deadline Mar. 11th

THAT'S TOMORROW

All going on these trips should come to 3/16 Ski Club Meeting for car pool assignments.

A ST. PATRICK'S DAY SPECIAL

Jill and Leon Uris
IRELAND
TRINITY

Buy IRELAND by Jill and Leon Uris and we'll give you TRINITY by Leon Uris FREE

Offer good now through March 18 only at the bookstore.

THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus centre univ. of mass.

NEWS IN BRIEF

US warns Romania of new quake

BUCHAREST, Romania [UPI] — The United States warned Romania yesterday a second major earthquake could strike this battered region "within days or months." Fearing mass panic, the government kept the forecast quiet.

The U.S. warning, based on analysis by the U.S. Geological Survey, included an offer to send a seismic survey team "to work with the Romanians to monitor the situation during the questionable weeks ahead."

FDA to ban saccharin

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The Food and Drug Administration announced Wednesday it will move immediately to take saccharin out of foods and beverages because of Canadian findings that it causes cancer in test animals.

Acting FDA Commissioner Sherwin Gardner said at a news conference the Canadian government is taking simultaneous action to end most uses of the artificial sweetener in that country.

Carter lifts travel restrictions

WASHINGTON [UPI] — President Carter announced yesterday he is cancelling restrictions on travel to Cuba, North Korea, Vietnam and Cambodia so that the United States does not violate Helsinki Agreement provisions on freedom of movement.

At a news conference, Carter said the longstanding travel restrictions — spanning decades in the case of Cuba and North Korea — will become invalid as of March 18.

The expiring legal provision will simply be allowed to lapse without renewal on that date.

Apology brings diplomat home

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Brady Tyson, the U.S. missionary turned diplomat whose apology in Geneva for American subversion against Chile brought White House and State Department disavowals, was called home Wednesday for instruction in diplomatic niceties.

State Department spokesman, Frederick Z. Brown, not conceding the summons home was a reprimand, said Tyson "was called to make sure he understands the ground rules."

Rabin winds up talks with Carter

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, winding up an intensive three days of get-acquainted discussions with the new administration, said Thursday Israel will keep up its military might while exploring "every possible avenue for peace."

Rabin said he met "friendship and understanding" in all the talks he had with President Carter, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and other U.S. foreign policy leaders about the future course of Middle East negotiations.

Callaghan arrives in US

LONDON [UPI] — Prime Minister James Callaghan flew to Washington yesterday aboard the controversial Anglo-French Concorde supersonic jetliner for talks with President Carter on the plane's future.

The trip on the Concords, a dramatic gesture of the importance England places on the plane's fate, will bring the Prime Minister to the United States as the first European government chief to confer with Carter in Washington.

Senators decry 'faulty' contact

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Democratic senators complained yesterday that the Carter administration was doing a faulty job of communicating with them, and Vice President Walter Mondale promised improvement.

Mondale listened to the senators' complaints and suggestions for 90 minutes. He blamed the problem on the newness of the administration and said "things are better" already than they were a few weeks ago.

AROUND NEW ENGLAND

State must hire more judges

BOSTON [UPI] — Chief Justice Edward F. Hennessey of the Massachusetts Supreme Court said yesterday the state must increase immediately its number of judges from 240 to 258, the amount previously mandated by law.

Solar systems gain wide support

BOSTON [UPI] — Programs to stimulate development and installation of solar heating and cooling systems in Massachusetts have received widespread support from legislators and the administration of Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

A law which permits banks to loan money to homeowners who install alternative energy systems was signed Tues. by Dukakis. The bill was filed by Senate Majority Leader William M. Bulger, (D-Boston).

State may face water shortage

BOSTON [UPI] — Massachusetts Environmental Affairs Secretary Evelyn Murphy yesterday urged immediate action to avert a water supply shortage.

In her annual "State of the Environment Address" to environmentalists, businessmen and labor leaders, Dr. Murphy said drastic measures may be needed later if the state does not take "immediate corrective action to bring demand into line with current supplies."

Panel blasts Duke's budget

BOSTON (UPI) — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' "tight" $4.1 billion state budget proposal came under fire Wednesday as members of a legislative panel charged it was deficient by at least $70 million.

In the initial hearing on the fiscal 1978 package before the House Ways and Means Committee, Chairman John J. Finnegan, (D) Boston, said the package was at least $70 million out of line since it provides no funding for state employes pay hikes.

Finnegan said his own estimates show the costs of a 1976 contract with state employes will, in fact, exceed $70 million during the next fiscal year "by a considerable amount."

"The fact is it (the budget) is deficient by at least $70 million. If you say that we should take it on faith that you can save the $70 million, you're asking something that is impossible," Finnegan said.

He noted to achieve the full savings by a reduction in state employes, it would be necessary to lay off 7,000 state employes.

"There had better be some more definite proposals put forward," he added.

Appearing
TONITE – SUN.
Mitch Chakour
and Mission Band
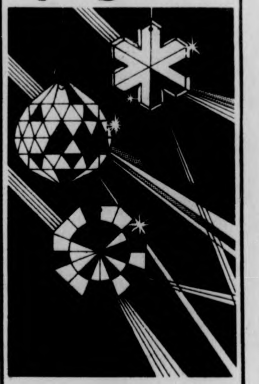
At
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

GOT SOMETHING TO SELL?
Collegian Classifieds
Reach
20,000 People
Daily

rainbow prisms



A fine collection of hand cut strass quality crystal, high lead content and exquisite shapes project color and form when hung in a window. A perfect gift for your home. from $3 to $28.
Faces of Earth
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.
Next to Amherst Post Office

A chance to get to know yourself and Scandinavia.
Most students get college credit.

Scandinavian Seminar offers a year of living and studying in Denmark, Finland, Norway or Sweden. You'll live in a student-teacher community, and you'll probably be the only American there. You don't have to know a Scandinavian language beforehand; you will become fluent in it.

For further information about the '77-78 academic year, contact:
Scandinavian Seminar
Dept. 7, 100 E. 85 St., New York, N.Y. 10028
(212) 734-8340
SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR

FASHION FRAMES
UFO
Safilo

Amherst Optical Shoppe
195 N. PLEASANT ST./256-6403

Warnke confirmed by Senate, 58 to 40

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate yesterday confirmed Paul Warnke as chief U.S. disarmament negotiator with the Russians, but the closeness of the vote raised questions about his future effectiveness.

Despite charges by Warnke's opponents that he is a dove, the Senate approved President Carter's nominee on a 58-40 vote after four days of bitter debate.

Warnke, a former top Pentagon official who was accused of twisting his Senate testimony, is expected to accompany Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance when he leaves for Moscow March 25 for meetings with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev on strategic arms and U.S.-Soviet relations.

Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., warned before he voted in favor of Warnke as arms negotiator he would resist lobbying by the administration when an eventual treaty is sent to the Senate.

"As a burned child dreads fire," he said, "the Senate and the people will view a SALT II treaty with greater scepticism than was the case with SALT I. Let there be no doubt about that.

"May Providence guide our negotiators, our President, and this Senate in the tests that lie ahead."

Sen. Joe Biden, D-Del., said Warnke was "a splendid choice."

Open meeting law revamp urged

BOSTON (UPI) — Testimony on bills to restrict as well as expand Massachusetts' open meeting laws was heard yesterday by a legislative committee.

Two teachers unions urged passage of a bill mandating local governmental bodies to notify a person 48 hours in advance if he or she will be the subject of discussion in an executive or open session.

The measure would also allow the person to attend and speak at the meeting and-or bring a representative to speak on his or her behalf.

"People can't exercise their rights if they're not there," Edward Sullivan of the Massachusetts Teachers Association told the state Administration Committee.

The Massachusetts Association of School Committees opposed the legislation, saying notification would cause "substantial administrative problems" and the right to representation would turn the meeting into "an adversary one instead of an informational session."

Carter phones surrendered gunman

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (UPI) — Despite fear he was setting a "dangerous precedent," President Carter kept his promise yesterday, and telephoned Corey Moore, the ex-Marine who surrendered earlier and released a police captain he was holding hostage.

The White House issued a terse announcement without elaboration that "the President spoke briefly with Corey Moore at 4:13 p.m. EST."

Moore surrendered early Wednesday after holding a white police captain hostage for 44 hours in what he called an effort to bring justice to his "black brothers."

He later was arraigned in Bedford Municipal Court on two charges of kidnaping and pleaded innocent to both counts. The maximum sentence on such charges is 25 years in prison and a $1,000 fine for each conviction.

As Moore emerged to surrender from a room in the police station in this Cleveland suburb with his hostage, Capt. Leo Keglovic, 48, he said he wanted to ask Carter about "why is did not speak out on poverty and why he did not apologize to black Americans for the injustices we have faced all these years."

A Woman Under The Influence
Starring
Gena Rowlands
Peter Falk
Friday, March 11, 1977
CCA 7, 9:45 $1.00

HANDBALLS
and HANDBALL GLOVES
at
A. J. Hastings
Newsdealer & Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St.

Program Council
Music Committee
Presents
Ellen McIlwaine
&
Isis
with Suzanne Fox
(mime)
Friday March 11, 8 pm S.U.B.
Tix $2.50
Available In front of Hatch, Tix, Faces of Earth, Sun Music and Back Room Records

letters

Singing the red tape blues

To the Editor:

I would like to make the students aware [if they need be reminded] of but one small incident concerning our hard working coffee klatch physical plant workers.

I am Director of the Northeast Area Government Coffee House that is periodically held in Hamlin. My purpose here is to express my amazement at the labyrinth of unions and technicalities that help our physical plant workers to succeed in business without really working.

About three weeks ago, Hamlin made a deal with Dwight to trade pianos, with hopes of bettering the quality and efficiency of the coffeehouses held in Hamlin.

About two weeks ago I received notice that the pianos would be moved and it would be done Wednesday of this week by the physical plant. On Monday of this week I was informed that it would not be done because the physical plant fellows are not insured to move pianos. We were then told, however, that they would lend us a truck equipped with driver.

Being that N.E.A.G. is to hold a coffee house this Sunday, I decided it was worth assembling some students to help move the pianos.

To make a long and quite typical story short, they decided not to lend us the truck after all and in less than a half an hour, we had rolled both pianos to their new homes. [I might add with the aid of one university employee who was off duty at the time and who's name I will not mention, but who's help I sincerely and most respectfully appreciate].

There are approximately ten pianos in Northeast Area alone [lord knows how many are on campus]. Why aren't our dear workers insured to move them? Why is it that seven uninsured students had to do the work of university employees without the proper equipment? Why is it that these friends of mine did things with more efficiency than our "work-a-phobic" physical plant workers?"

Stewart Gittelman
Director N.E.A.G.
Coffee House

Voter registration on C.C. Concourse

To the Editor:

Today and tomorrow there will be a special voter registration session on the Campus Center concourse from 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

It is important to have as many students as possible register to vote. Town elections are coming up and many students will be on the ballot, running for town meeting. Town meeting is made up of 240 elected representatives and this body is responsible for approving all major money allocations and the passing of town laws.

Some of the major issues coming up this spring are: rent control, mass transit expansion, diversion of the Connecticut River, the building of the Montague nukes and the Northeast bypass. This is the first time slates of students and other progressive people are being organized in each precinct. By registering to vote today and tomorrow, you and your friends will be able to support these progressive slates on election day.

The potential is there: Southwest dorms are all in Precinct No. 4 — over 5,000 students is a powerful block of votes which could easily elect the progressive slate from that precinct. Orchard Hill, Central, Sylvan, and Northeast dorms are all in Precinct No. 3 — again, another powerful block of nearly 5,000 votes. And the apartment complexes with large student populations can insure the election of the progressive slates from their respective precincts — if we all register to vote. The potential is there. Together, we can make it happen.

Charles A. Rogers
Gary Shuster

Misleading advertising

To the Editor:

I would like to point out to your readers a classified ad carried by the Collegian which, although it advertises a very valuable service, is a bit misleading.

The ad is for Birthright, which is, as I understand it, an organization whose goal is the prevention of abortion via offering supportive services to women with problem pregnancies, making it easier for them to bear their children. I think this is wonderful. It's a case of people perceiving a wrong in society and doing something constructive about it.

However, I think the ad, as worded in the Collegian and also in the Valley Advocate, is a little misleading because it does not make the organization's anti-abortion stance clear. A woman who is in trouble, reading "Pregnant and need help? Feel alone and scared?", and who is too upset and confused to realize the meaning of the word "birthright," might not understand what the organization offers; she might even think they were offering abortion services. And once a woman, undecided what to do about her pregnancy, got in touch with them, they might try to pressure her into carrying it to term, a decision that might not be right for her.

A woman in this difficult situation is entitled to freedom of choice and should make her decision based on her own situation and her own feelings, without pressure from any direction. I think that any organization offering to help her, of any kind, should make it crystal clear exactly what it is they are offering.

The UMass Health Service offers pregnancy testing, counseling, and referrals for several alternatives, including termination of pregnancy.

Rita O'Meara
Norma Sims

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

commentary

Israeli terrorism

Governor Dukakis has proclaimed — purportedly in the name of "Universal truths concerning man's freedom and humanitarian values" — March as "Jerusalem Month" in the state of Massachusetts.

In his proclamation, Governor Dukakis takes it upon himself explicitly to recognize the so-called "unified Jerusalem" as the capital of Israel, in effect recognizing Israel's forcible annexation of Arab Jerusalem conquered by its armed forces in June '67.

Through this action, Governor Dukakis has chosen to identify himself with the Israeli government's policy of creating 'accomplished facts'. He has chosen to disregard totally the illegality of the annexation under International Law, countless U.N. Resolutions to that effect, and existing U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East. But more than that, he has chosen to ignore the fact that the Palestinian population of Jerusalem (whether Muslim or Christian) is living under the harsh reality of a foreign military occupation, as is the rest of the Palestinian population in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

Through a systematic policy of arrests, torture, evictions, deportations, and the wholesale destruction of Arab quarters, the Israeli government has attempted to establish the 'accomplished fact' of an Israeli Jewish Jerusalem.

The facts speak for themselves. Immediately after the occupation of '67, 1,000 people were evicted from the Moroccan Quarter and 5,500 from other districts. According to Felicia Langer, the internationally known Israeli human rights lawyer, the forcible depopulation of Jerusalem has decreased the number of its Arab inhabitants from 140,000 in 1948 to 70,000 in 1974.

Already by 1973, 11,500 acres of Arab land had been confiscated in Jerusalem and suburbs (along with 375,000 acres in the West Bank and an entire third of the Gaza Strip).

After the demolition of 800 Arab buildings, 13 new Israeli sectors (for Jewish residents only) — the notorious "ring round Jerusalem" — were built to encircle the city. By June, 1974, a total of 19,152 homes had been destroyed in the occupied territories.

The 'reconstruction' of Jerusalem has not only meant the mutilation of its landscape, the desecration as well as the deliberate undermining of Muslim and Christian holy places through extensive excavation, but also the attempted destruction of the Arab character of the city. The bulldozer has become the symbol of the "unified" Jerusalem.

The Israeli government's answer to any form of resistence to its occupation has always been brutal and inhuman. Mass arrests, systematic use of torture (documented by the International Red Cross and Amnesty International) and individual political deportation. By 1974, 126 people had been deported from Jerusalem and its environs, 1508 people from the West Bank and Gaza.

In East Jerusalem alone, there are two notorious prisons and detention centers, namely the Muskubiya and the Qishla prisons. Currently there are well over 5,000 political prisoners in Israeli jails and many more are under detention. (In spite of some deaths already, 500 of these political prisoners in Ashkelon prison continue a hunger strike begun in December to protest their maltreatment.)

The Palestinian people continue to resist, as witnessed by the mass uprising in the occupied territories in 1976, when no less than fifty people were killed and countless injured, many in Jerusalem.

Israel's annexation of Jerusalem and its conduct in the occupied territories constitute a deliberate violation and a complete denial of the human, civil, and political rights of the Palestinian people.

The Israeli motives behind their sponsorship of "Jerusalem Month" are clear: They wish to promote the myth of a "unified Jerusalem" when Jerusalem is "unified" only through Israeli guns. It is clear that they wish to obscure the ongoing struggle of the Palestinian people for liberation and independence. It is clear that they wish to disguise the fact that Arab land expropriation and Palestinian deportation are not casual acts but part of the Zionist colonization strategy historically practiced in Palestine to obliterate Palestinian national existence.

What is not clear is why the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts lends himself to Israel's mockery of "Universal truths concerning man's freedom and humanitarian values."

Organization of Arab Students—UMASS No. 385

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Barger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

martha newcomb

Female - '77

It's 1977, National Women's Week and I'm female; in fact, I have been all my life. Being female in 1977 is a lot better than it was in say Junior High, but we've still got a long way to go for equality.

In my Junior High the girls had to kneel on the floor to make sure our skirts touched the floor or we were suspended for indecency. I still have had a few professors at UMass that have said they wished that there was a dress code for females because they look "so much prettier".

I'm so tired of the old psychologys and the new psychologys telling me what I am and defining and redefining my sexuality. The only time I've experienced penis envy is when I've had to go to the bathroom outside. I'd rather decide for myself than be governed by Masters and Johnson or Shere Hite.

I love the media of television, but being the passive audience sometimes bothers me. I used to have a rubber tipped dart gun that I'd shoot at the tv when it bugged me. "Ring-around-the-collar" ads always got shot. "Charlie's Angels" would have gotten shot if I had it now. And is poor Rose Marie still looking for a husband?

When I leave UMass, I would like to try writing. People have been telling me that there is an opening now for women-writers which is too bad because I don't want to be a woman-writer, I want to be a writer. When you see a raccoon you don't say, "look at the male or female raccoon", you say, "look at the raccoon".

I want to be a person first and a category in that class second. Male or female is nothing but a category, we are all people first. The multitudes of vocations and avocations for people should be referred to only by their names instead of prefacing them by sex; i.e. male dancer, woman doctor, male nurse, etc.

As I was just thinking about dancers, I remembered a poem by Yeats called "Sweet Dancer":

The girl goes dancing there
On the leaf-sown, new mown, smooth
Grass plot of the garden;
Escaped from bitter youth,
Escaped out of her crowd,
Or out of her black cloud.
Ah, dancer, ah, sweet dancer!

If strange men come from the house
To lead her away, do not say
That she is happy being crazy;
Lead them gently astray;
Let her finish her dance,
Let her finish her dance.
Ah, dancer, ah, sweet dancer!

In a way, as people, we are all dancers, moving through our lives with our own separate rhythms and forms. In the grand scheme, it matters little if you or I are male or female dancers, but how we sculpted our stages.

Martha Newcomb is a Collegian Columnist.

commentary

By BILL RIORDAN

Sometimes it's difficult to feel proud about being Irish. The horrible violence one hears about in the north — bombings, terrorism, vigilante executions, paints a picture of a country gone mad; a nation reverting to barbarism. The situation is difficult to grasp conceptually. All anyone knows for certain is that there are deep, historic differences between the Protestant majority and the Catholic minority; that the presence of British alternately quiets and aggravates the situation; and that some awful violence is occurring because of it all. While the religious and political differences are far from being resolved, some people are actually working to end their violent expression. And they are women.

The women of Northern Ireland are once again giving me something to be proud about. Amid the senseless, seemingly endless array of killings in Belfast, two women have emerged with a bold message: stop. They are Mairead Corrigan and Betty Williams.

Last summer in Andersonstown, a suspected IRA terrorist was shot while driving and the car went out of control, killing three children and seriously injuring their mother. Mairead Corrigan was their aunt and she had seen enough death to know it was time to stop it. She joined a march of women organized by Betty Williams, who had seen the report of the tragedy on television.

Together they planned a peace rally on the spot where the children had been killed, and 10,000 people showed up the next Saturday. On television, Ms. Corrigan made appeals to the women of Ulster province and condemned the IRA, a radical gesture for a Catholic, but one echoed by many citizens of Northern Ireland who have seen the outlawed army take justice into their own hands, often brutally. The third rally held by Corrigan and Williams was an historic one: both Protestants and Catholics joined together for the first time in seven years to voice their grief and their hopes for peace in Northern Ireland.

There are marches held weekly now, in different towns. Despite their low-key format, there is angry opposition from both sides to what Mairead Corrigan and Betty Williams are doing. Working-class women who support the IRA call them British Army collaborators. Protestants dismiss them as Catholic partisans — another symptom of the rift that has made enemies out of neighbors. And the militants of both sides want to get rid of the "peace women", delivering threats and obscene phone calls.

The opposition is ineffective, though, and an organization of over 20,000 people — women and men, has developed. Over one million dollars in contributions from foreign countries has been received. Said Betty Williams, "Without being a political party, we're the most political thing that's happened to this province." And perhaps the best thing that's happened to Northern Ireland in decades.

Bill Riordan is a Collegian Commentator.

commentary

Growing up with sex roles

By SCOTT McKEARNEY
Collegian Staff

Right now I would like to talk about sexism in man-woman relationships. In doing this I certainly do not want to suggest that a movement to free ourselves from sexism is manifest in changing only man-woman relationships, since this is not a total movement by any means. However, I want to focus on some of the problems men have in relationship to women on a personal and emotional level that sorely need changing.

A good place to start, is in how we were raised, or rather, stunted in childhood. Sexual socialization begins at birth. Not only are most boys dressed in blue while girls are swaddled in pink, but the hopes and dreams of most parents are oriented around gender. I mean, who ever heard of daddy wanting his little girl to grow up to be president, or quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams? As we grow older the differentiations become more profound and deeply ingrained. Our personalities are shaped around basically different values. Boys are trained to become aggressive and competitive with toy guns, bats and Bazooka Joe's, while girls are trained to become loving, nurturant, supportive, and submissive with dolls, daddy, and Suzy Homemaker. On the level of communication and relationship, a second deep differentiation between boys and girls becomes clear. Though each of us is stunted in our development as whole persons, girls are more inclined to cooperation, love and nurturance, while boys are inclined toward competition, aggression, and death. These basic differences contribute to profoundly serious personality differences between the sexes. Our difficulty in relating to each other runs very deep and the cards are stacked against us before we can even conceive of taking control over our own lives.

As young men reach puberty, love and sexuality become more pressing needs to be dealt with, we are marginal people with so little in common across sexual lines, that sexuality and love within and between the sexes is a source of incredible anxiety. After society has basically separated us as people during childhood it then inducts us into a perverse world of appropriate sexual expression where men aggressively conquer and fuck, rather than make love with women, and women are taught to 'make themselves up' and submit to men. Sexuality becomes a further source of separation between people from puberty through adulthood by sexual terrorization between people of the same sex. Dealing with such feelings, which we all have, and most of us suppress out of fear, becomes a ruthless, competitive, sounding out process. Terms like faggot and Dyke become powerful weapons in a game of hot potato in which we try to prove to ourselves and others that we did not have such feelings and passed the label on to others to keep the attention away from ourselves and check out peers. Men avoided the label by being tough, aggressive, and dominance oriented, while women avoided the dreaded label by being feminine and making a performance of their attractiveness and presenting themselves as easy prey for the tough men.

As we grew older, many of us either hungered for or involved ourselves in attempts at 'heavy' relationships' with a member of the opposite sex. It was appropriate to have 'my man' or 'my woman', and those who did not have this supposed wonderful relationship, either had a whole lot more together or felt intensely lonely and inadequate.

During the 'heavy relationship' and marriageable age of life, the problems of man-woman relationships became most evident and devastating. We become more involved in such relationships only to discover that in order to break out of the hell we have been molded into as 'sexually appropriate' actors, we need to learn, with very little help from society and few resources from growing up, how to relate to each other as equal loving people. But by this point our personalities have been so contorted by our sexual-emotional socialization that we either lose our relationships or remain locked in this deadly dyad due to a fear of being alone and having to refine ourselves as people.

For men, the real problem of this dilemma is that as we grow to adulthood, we need human caring and intimacy on some level and it is very hard to get. So often we look for it, not among our friends or in an honest, loving, nurturance of ourselves, but only in that one 'heavy relationship' with a woman, finding ourselves frequent failures. Frustration and failure can go a long way toward making you feel like a failure the rest of your life. Losing or dying within this deadly dyad can take so much of the love and happiness out of your world. When men go looking for support they find it difficult to be close, caring friends with other men and so difficult not to get really hung up in trying to be close loving friends with women because of the whole sexual trip that has been imposed on us since the day we were born.

If you are depressed or angry about some of this you have good reason to be. Sexism is a symptom of a more basic pathology in our society, which breeds competition, aggression, and people living at the expense of each other.

What we need to do is define the problem and re-establish control over our own lives as cooperative, equal people. Then we must get together with others and fundamentally change our economic, political and social world.

Scott McKearney is a Collegian Commentator.

through the lens

By JONATHAN SHER
Collegian Staff

Editor's note: The following question was asked at various workshops connected with International Women's Week.

Question: Have the events of International Women's Week lived up to your expectations? Why or why not?

Ellen Patton — Legal Studies

"I thought that the first workshop I went to was good, but I was one of the presenters. The second one that I went to I didn't like at all. I thought that it got nowhere. I thought that Bella Abzug was very good and I guess that there should be more good things later. I think it could have been better organized, but in the long run it is wonderful."

Patty Nickel — Animal Science

"I feel that it has lived up to my expectations, I feel that it has been a teaching experience for women and men. So far a lot of the workshops that I've been to I've seen a lot of men. The Resource Fair was good with a lot of information on everything. I thought that Bella Abzug was very good. She really got the crowd going."

Dan Guinane — Business Administration

"Women's week has more than lived up to my expectations. They have quite a crowd going to these workshops. I think that it is a good way for women to show their potentials, and it is a good way to make their voices heard, and they should be heard much more. Women have been oppressed for too long. Men should have one too."

Margie Simone — Psychology

"As far as the Resource Fair goes we had a real good day, working for the Alcohol Education Program — a lot of people came by and picked up information. I feel that it is great and has been a worthwhile project. If people get something out of it, then it will definitely have been worthwhile."

Robin Morrello — Public Health

"The workshops that I've been to and participated in have been very interesting. I enjoyed today watching everybody come thorugh; they seemed interested in what was going on. It seems that there was a lot of effort put into this and it was fun. There were a lot of people from as far away as Boston here. It has helped by having people exchanging information, ideas and viewpoints on specific information."

Readers are welcome to suggest questions for future installments of "Through the lens" by giving them to Jonathan Sher or Bill Sundstrom, care of the Collegian.

more letters

Can UMass stand more liquor?

To the Editor:

With the advent of yet another SGA Presidential campaign the expected number of charges and counter-charges are flying about. One of the platform planks of the Foley-Tyson candidacy deserves special attention, however.

Foley and Tyson are promising a student liquor coop if they are elected. The last thing this campus needs is more liquor! Foley and Tyson have pointed out with pride the lengthy list of successful coops that the Student Senate [note: the Student Senate, not Foley-Tyson] has achieved. They go on to point out that the thrust of their administration will be to improve upon this successful track record. Hear, Hear. There is still plenty of room for improvement in student services. But as a past dormitory counselor, I can attest to the severe alcohol problem that exists on this campus. Besides being illegal [it is unlawful to sell packaged liquor in a state building] it's just a bad idea! We already have three bars on campus and a host of conveniently-located package stores in the area.

Now, anyone who knows me realizes I'm no prohibitionist, but enough is enough!

With this in mind, I urge the Foley-Tyson team to put a little more thought into their platform before they present it to the students, especially in light of the tens of thousands of dollars of STUDENT MONEY that we have spent on the Room to Move counseling center.

I hope that all people voting on March 15 and 16 ask themselves the question: Do we really need more liquor on this campus?

Kenneth J. Somers

Protesting Baroque's oppression

To the Editor:

Today, Friday and Saturday, Baroque Enterprises is showing 15 screenings of its latest "adult" atrocity. We believe that a large proportion of our community will boycott this film and subvert the efforts of Albert Sparks, the film's promoter, to impose violence and degradation of women.

It is ironic and distressing that the reemergence of Baroque Enterprises, the RSO front for private pornographic commerce, coincides with the celebration of International Women's Week, a week specifically designed to counteract the damage propogated by pornographic violence, and present a chance for women to understand the power and strength they have in opposing this patriarchical, intolerable culture.

We urge women and men to join us in picketing, beginning at 3 o'clock, at the Public Health Building, to dissuade and educate potential viewers. This action arises directly from the outrage of women, and our determination to act in our own interests and survival. There will be an organizational meeting Thursday at noon. Check at the International Women's Week Info. desk, CC first floor, for room number.

Barbara Stack
and 25 others

He's back!

To the Editor:

It's about time! HARRY FIG — The best comic strip ever — is back!!!

Tom Wisnauckas

Postponed

Due to some editorial disagreement over his column, Jan van Tol's piece will appear in Friday's Collegian.

Got a gripe?

Write a letter

UNITED TRANSMISSION
EXCHANGE INC.
All make car and
truck transmissions
Repaired - Rebuilt - Exchanged
King St., Northampton
584-6790

H. G. WELLS'
WAR
OF THE WORLDS
SUNDAY, MARCH 13
7, 9, 11 PM SUB BALLROOM

MONDAY-FRIDAY
BARMAID "CAROL" invites YOU to Happy Hour
4-8
Bottled Beer 50c
Cocktail Lounge
Quonset Restaurant
253-9214
Rt. 9 Hadley, Mass. Behind Exxon Station

BIG A AUTO PARTS
We've got auto parts for foreign cars.
Auto parts for foreign cars – quality-made replacement parts for the most popular foreign cars in town. Worldparts are made by world famous manufacturers such as Maremont . . . Bosch . . . Lange . . . Boge . . . and more than 60 others.
When your foreign car needs repairs, have your garage or service station man call us for Worldparts. Or we can give you the name and address of a foreign car expert near you.
AMERICAN PARTS
Allied Motor Parts
319 Main Street, Amherst
256-8341
SHOP SERVICE AVAILABLE
Hours: 8-5:30 M-F, 8-5 Sat.

Four Seasons
Package Store
Discount Liquers
RUSSELL ST. HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms Mall
Falstaff BEER Case $4.95 12 oz. cans
La Bella Lambrusco $1.29 24 oz. Bottle
Schenley Vodka $3.99 Quart
Chivas Regal Only $10.99 Qt. Sugg. Retail $15.85 Save $4.86
Thursday 3/10/77 to Wednesday 3/16/77.
We reserve the right to limit quantities

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Nikolais dance co. demonstrates tonight

The previously announced technique master class to be given on Saturday, by members of the Alwin Nikolais Dance Ensemble has been cancelled. Instead the entire company will give a lecture-demonstration tonight at 8:00 in the Fine Arts Center concert hall, free of charge and open to the public.

There will also be an improvisational class from 5:30 to 7 p.m. for advanced students of the dance in the NOPE building. To enroll call Marilyn Patton at the Dance Department, 545-2413.

College Democrats sponsor speaker

Ken Mosakowski, candidate for the Amherst Board of Selectmen, will address the UMass College Democrats tonight at 6:00 in Campus Center 915. In recent weeks the College Democrats have been addressed by State Rep. James G. Collins, State Sen. Chester Atkins and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

A regular meeting will follow Mosakowski's presentation. All old members are urged to attend, as are all prospective members. Call Klyde at 546-6883 if you have any questions or are unable to attend.

Juggling Convention on April Fool's Day

A juggling convention is being organized for April Fool's weekend. It will be held in the Cape Cod Lounge on April 1, 2 and 3. Workshops include juggling with some of the best jugglers on the East Coast, rape-consciousness symposiums, techniques on applying make-up, poetry, mime and everything you want to learn about clowning around. This convention will be sponsored by the Pioneer Valley Juggling Association (PVJA). Come and develop positive, nonviolent attitudes towards life. Come and celebrate spring's return.

Hillel sponsors film on Arthur Rubinstein

The Academy Award-winning documentary "Arthur Rubinstein: Love of Life," will be shown tonight at 8:00 in Thompson Hall 104.

This film traces Rubinstein's Polish-Jewish upbringing and his career, starting with his sensational debut in Paris at 17. The film also follows the drama of a recent concert tour.

The screening of the film is free and open to the public. It is being presented as part of the Third Annual Five College Jewish Arts Festival.

Dating Game played tonight in Webster

"What is your favorite indoor sport?" "Compare the hair on your chest with something in nature."

These are a sampling of the questions which might be asked to the bachelors and bachelorettes at "The Dating Game" held in the Webster Dorm's main lounge tonight at 8:00.

Anyone in the audience has a chance to be a contestant and win a dinner for two at the Top of the Campus. Sponsored by the Webster House Council, the game is free to all dues paying residents of Webster, and .50 for everyone else — a modest sum indeed for the chance of meeting your "Dream Date."

Land Use topic of agriculture talk

"Issues in Agriculture" will have as guest speaker Norman Cole of the Connecticut River Watershed Council tonight from 7-9 p.m. in the Student Union Cape Cod Lounge. Mr. Cole will be speaking on local planning and land use policy approaches to preserving farmland.

Newman Club holds Benefit Coffeehouse

The Front Lounge of the Newman Center will be the site of the Newman Club's Benefit Coffeehouse Saturday at 8 p.m.

Prof. Madeleine Wheeler will speak shortly on a neighborhood community center in Bedford-Stuyvescant, N.Y., which is to receive all the profits from this event.

Student credit union elects new officers

The UMass Student Federal Credit Union held its second annual meeting Sunday afternoon, March 6, in the Campus Center.

Elections were held, which resulted in the filling of five positions on the Board of Directors and four on the Credit Committee. Elected to the Board of Directors: Peter Bloom, Kevin Falvey, Reid Frazier, Lap Fu Fung and Debbie Turnbull. Those chosen for the Credit Committee: Denise Colls, Joe Doyle, Lap Fu Fung and Buster Harris.

After the annual meeting was a Board of Directors' meeting where new officers were elected. The positions now stand filled as: President-Linda Cote, Vice President-Peter Bloom, Treasurer-Debbie Turnbull, and Secretary-Kevin Falvey.

O'Brien speaks at practicum in politics

Former Hampshire County Commissioner Edward M. O'Brien of Easthampton will be the featured speaker at tonight's session of Ken Mosakowski's practicum in local politics, beginning at 7 p.m. in Pierpont Hall.

O'Brien, who served on the commission between 1968 and 1972, will discuss the interrelationship of local and county government in Massachusetts. The well-known political figure, who has been a practicing attorney for the past 20 years, is also anticipated to share his views on the controversial Cox Commission Report which calls for restructuring of the judicial system in Massachusetts. The public is invited.

Murray Bookchin to speak on anarchism

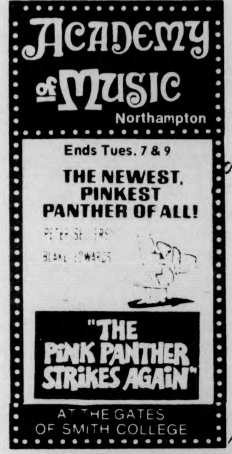
Murray Bookchin, well known ecologist, social theorist, and scientist will speak tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Thompson 104. He will talk on "The Spanish Anarchists — Their Relevance for Today," and conduct a workshop at 6 p.m. in the Pierpont Lounge on "The Ecology of Freedom."

Bookchin is the author of "Limits of the Cities," "Post-Scarcity Anarchism," "Our Synthetic Environment," a forthcoming book, "The Spanish Anarchists" and a long-time political activist. He is director of the Goddard Institute for Social Ecology, a program oriented around developing both the political and technical basis for a decentralized society, according to program organizer Steve Maynard.

The talk is being sponsored by Project Ten and Global Survival. Maynard urged students to attend the talks, saying, "This is a great opportunity to hear one of the most exciting people around, with a breadth of knowledge of environmental issues, political theory, history and social organization which is amazing."

Maynard said that students connected with the program invited Bookchin to speak because of their concern with urban environments, community, and with political efforts which address these concerns.

Bookchin will talk about the nature of social and work organization in Spain under the anarchists, the Civil War, the revival of anarchism in Spain today, and the relevance of these ideas to the contemporary United States, according to Maynard.



ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
Ends Tues. 7 & 9
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
"THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN"
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS.
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG ① Thur.: 5:45, 8:00, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
R ② Thur.: 6:00, 8:15, twi-liter 5:30-6:00
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
R ③ Thur.: 5:30, 8:00, twi-liter 5:00-5:30
The Newest, Pinkest Panther of All!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER
BLAKE EDWARDS
FINAL WEEK!!
PG ④ Thur.: 5:45, 8:15, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING

"BEST PICTURE" • "BEST DIRECTOR"
"BEST SCREENPLAY" • "BEST ACTRESS" LIV ULLMANN
—NEW YORK FILM CRITICS
INGMAR BERGMAN'S
CRIES AND WHISPERS
ROGER CORMAN presents
A NEW WORLD PICTURES RELEASE R
SUNDAY
MARCH 13, 1977
CCA
7,9,11 pm
$1.00

CALVIN Theatre
NOW thru TUESDAY!
LAUGHTER UNLEASHED!
THE SHAGGY D.A.
Eves. - 7:00 - 9:00
Sat. - Sun. Mat. - 1:30
Mon.-Tues. - Dollar Nites!

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

Frye bts. sz. 7, $40. Wt. uniform, 9; shoes, sz. 7, $15. 6-7990.

4.5 cu. ft. refrig. $80. Mike 253-9034.

FOR SALE

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

Camera, Cannon 35mm w-case. 130. B. O. 549-6869.

Sansui AM-FM Recvr. Exc. cond. $90 or best offer. Steve 6903.

Astrology: Humanistic charts & readings. 9 yrs. professional. Louis Neubel 549-6425.

Gretch Country Gent-styled guitar. $85 or B. O. 546-5811.

8 track w-FM rad. in car, stereo head phone hk-up. Exc. cond. $50 or best off. Frank 549-1872.

Elvis Fans! Rare books, records, EPAs. One day only. Call 546-4549 before Sat.

AUTO FOR SALE

1972 Fiat 128. Runs well, low mileage. Best offer. 256-8530.

'66 Int'l Bus w-low mileage, '68 engine, exc. cond. Asking $2300. Call 617-939-2396.

VW, '64. Perf. mech., body gd., AM-FM, gd. tires. Nds. no work. $325. 546-6966.

'70 Toyota Corona. Exc. cond. Best offer. Satish 546-9925.

1968 Volvo 122. Many new parts. Vry good cond. $850, firm. 586-0610 aftr. 5.

AUTO FOR SALE

'61 Chevrolet, reliable car, new muffler, no rust. Needs work. $200. Bob, 247-5009.

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

Triumph Daytona 500 '73 custom. Low miles, good cond. Call 247-9235.

'74 TR5MX Triumph 500, on-off road $550. 247-9235.

'72 Honda 350CB. $500. Call 549-1055.

'72 Honda 350cc. $500. Call 549-1055.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B-3 Cliffside. Leave name and number 584-9669.

Own rm., $100 rent, utils. included, on bus rt. 256-0275.

Two roommates wanted, Townhouse Apts. 2 bedrooms upstairs, semi-furnished. From June 1 thru Aug. 549-1739.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

One month free rent, 3 bdrm. apt. walking distance from camp. Jun. - Aug. option to renew Sept. 549-5654.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Hse., Sund. Has rms., bus, April 1. 256-6698.

HELP WANTED

Medical Technologist position available at Farren Memorial Hospital, Main St., Turners Falls, MA. 774-3111.

Work Study position available: Presentation Graphics & Cartography. Call: 545-0930.

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

WANTED

A FT-2 carrying case for Nikkormat cameras. Call Bill, Rm. 311, 5-2642.

Wanted to buy 2 tickets to Bonnie Raitt Concert. Call 665-4903.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Stolen: Grn canvas knapsack from PH Prep Rm — notebook has impt. notes. Any info call 256-8120. Reward.

To SW Gavel — Happy? Next rap may be on your cerebrum. Be cool fool — LH Oswald.

To Scott Bertram: Your not as good in bed as you think you are — Heidi P.

Congrats New Arcons! Special thanks to all who interviewed and helped us out! See you Sunday! Roxanne & Barb.

Brian — You will always be a winner, no matter what! Cathy.

Foley and Tyson: Good luck. It'll be a landslide.!

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

Come to the fourth annual Big Bad Boogie, beginning at 9:00 p.m., Friday, March 11 at Worcester Dining Commons, featuring the band, Orphan Annie! Sponsored by Sylvan Area Govt.

A new club is interested in finding a few new serious card players for a weekly game. If interested call Kurt at 6-9605.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Notices

ATTENTION PAST AND PRESENT CHADBOURNITES

Chadbourne is spring cleaning the storage areas. Anything not clearly marked with your name and "spring semester" on it will become dorm property to be sold at auction. Deadline: March 28.

ATTENTION SENIORS

Any senior interested in working with a group to select Student Commencement Speakers and to plan Senior Day activities, please contact Ruth Green, 5-2334.

BROWN BAG THEOLOGY

You are welcome each Fri. noon in SU 422 for a wide open, non-academic, non-authoritarian rap on a wide range of theological questions and concerns — yours! Bring your bag lunch, drinks are provided. Each week's discussion is self-contained. Feel free.

COFFEEHOUSE

On Sunday at 8:30 p.m. there will be a coffeehouse in the Commuter Lounge featuring Michael Immerman and "No Regrets", a newly organized trio. Some good music guaranteed.

FILMS

Four short films entitled WE THE PEOPLE, TRICK BAG, WILMINGTON, AND HIGH SCHOOL RISING will be presented by the MacKimmie Humanities House Weekly Film Series on Monday night at 8 in MacKimmie Main Lounge. Films focus on community organizing, racism and students ~~and police~~. FREE

FOLK DANCE PARTY

There will be an Israeli Folk Dance Party on Saturday night at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in learning any folk dances is invited; free refreshments will be served in CC 101.

FOOD SCIENCE AND NUTRITION CLUB

There will be a meeting with Ken Horton from Friendly's to speak on Quality Control of ice cream. Free sundaes. Thursday, March 10th 6:30 in 227 Chenoweth.

FOUND

Set of keys found near Hasbrouck Lab. Check Room 8, Hasbrouck.

GENERAL MEETING

The next general meeting of the Newman Club is this Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Front Lounge. Prof. Lucien Miller of the Comp Lit Dept will be our guest speaker. All members are urged to attend and new members are welcome.

GSEU MEETING

Meeting on Friday at noon in the CC. Concerns impending budget cuts and organizing strategies.

LOST

On Friday a blue checkbook. Checks have been cancelled but I need the two licenses. Please call Ellen 546-1118.

LOST

In the SU-CCI An orange knit hat on Friday. Great sentimental value. If found please call 546-7970 or 546-7954.

LOST

A silver spoon bracelet with engraving on sides. Please call Lucy 549-3961.

LOST

Silver necklace, choker style with six small hearts hanging from chain. Much missed. Lost on Campus — South end. 253-7689.

MUSICIANS WANTED

To play this Saturday in Washington Tower Coffee House. 8:30-1:00. Dave 6-8943.

NORTHEAST AFFAIRS

N.E. Area Govt will be having a meeting tonight in Mary Lyon Lounge from 6:30 to 8:00. Anyone interested in joining us is welcome. Please come and share your ideas.

POLITICAL FILM SERIES

Chicago Conspiracy Trial will be shown at 6:30 p.m. tonight in Field Dorm Main Lounge in Orchard Hill.

REWARD

For a gold signet ring with initials J.R. 665-7006 evenings.

SAILING CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Sailing Club tonight at 7 p.m. in CC 177 to discuss racing and tactics. For info call Steve 546-8684.

STUDENTS OF OBJECTIVISM

Meeting tonight at 8:30 in CC 917 for those interested in the philosophy of Ayn Rand.

WE NEED YOU

A Coffee House, sponsored by the Central Area Govt. and Van Meter North, is being held on March 31. If you want to play, call Carolyn 6-1187 or Mike 6-1116.

WINNERS

The two winners of last week's raffle sponsored by the women's crew team were Joan Celuzzia and Jackie Chados.

THE DATING GAME

Come and watch the Dating Game! Get yourself a heavy DATE. 50 cents to NON DORM DUES payers, who want to play. Tonight at 8:00, Webster Main Lounge.

Amherst Travel
Consultants, Inc.
"Your travel agent"
South Pleasant Street
Amherst, Mass. 01002
256-6704

JQA LOWER & G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT orchestra
LUNA
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1·8 PM
UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3
Tickets on sale Monday, March 14
at FAC Box Office & Ticketron

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Deli Ham Sandwich, Broccoli Cauliflower Casserole; Basics: Salmon Patties with Egg Sauce, Broccoli Cauliflower Casserole.

DINNER — Chopped Beefsteak Special, Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce; Basics: Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce, Soybean Souffle.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Duchess Meat Pie with Gravy; Basics: Spinach Casserole, Grilled Cheese Sandwich.

Thurs., Mar. 10
PETER BOYNTON
Fri. & Sat., Mar. 11 & 12
WHISTLESTOP
Country Swing
& Rock Band
Sunday, March 13
LARRY TOMEI JR.
25c Drafts M-F 6-8 p.m.
RAHAR'S
FOOD DRINK LODGING
OPEN 11-1 DAILY • 12-1 SUNDAYS
VISIT OUR GAME ROOM
7 Old South St. • Northampton
ACROSS FROM Peter Pan Bus Terminal

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
Asti Spumanti
10.5 per cent vol.
$2.99
24 oz.
Liebfraumilch
10 per cent vol.
$1.79
23 oz.
Costa De Sol
12 per cent vol.
$2.25
qt. size
ICE COLD KEG BEER $20.00 and up
Unlimited Quantities on all Sales Items No Extra for Delivery
Amherst's closest liquor store to UMass Campus
In Amherst Ctr., Across from the Village Green 253-5441

JOIN The Crowd and SUPPORT the UMASS MINUTEMEN vs.
SETON HALL PIRATES
at the NIT
Springfield Civic Center
Thursday, March 10 7:30 p.m.

Jim Town, F
Glens Falls, N.Y.

Seton Hall
Pirates

Mark Donoghue, Capt. G
Greenfield, Mass.

Tickets available at Boyden Building
Ticket Office
545-0810
$5.00 & $3.00

Alex Eldridge, G
New York, N.Y.

Derrick Claiborne, G
New York, N.Y.

Mike Pyatt, F
New York, N.Y.

For ticket and transportation contact the Peter Pan Agent on Third Floor Bus Sales Office, Campus Center — (549-6000)
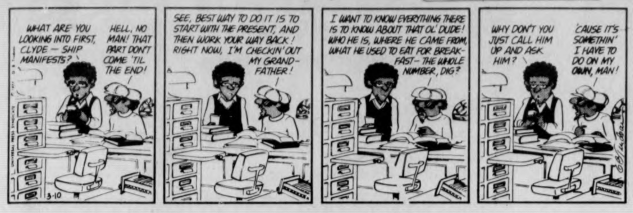
Package $5.50 (Includes $3.00 Ticket)

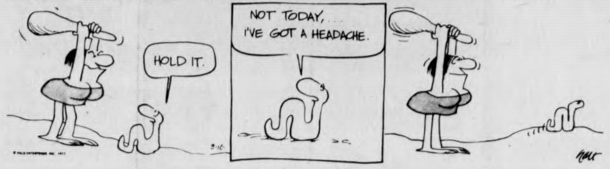
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

Valley Spring
29 S. Pleasant St
call 2566736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING INTO FIRST, CLYDE — SHIP MANIFESTS?
HELL, NO MAN! THAT PART DON'T COME 'TIL THE END!
SEE, BEST WAY TO DO IT IS TO START WITH THE PRESENT, AND THEN WORK YOUR WAY BACK! RIGHT NOW, I'M CHECKIN' OUT MY GRAND-FATHER!
I WANT TO KNOW EVERYTHING THERE IS TO KNOW ABOUT THAT OL' DUDE! WHO HE IS, WHERE HE CAME FROM, WHAT HE USED TO EAT FOR BREAKFAST — THE WHOLE NUMBER, DIG?
WHY DON'T YOU JUST CALL HIM UP AND ASK HIM?
'CAUSE IT'S SOMETHIN' I HAVE TO DO ON MY OWN, MAN!
3-10

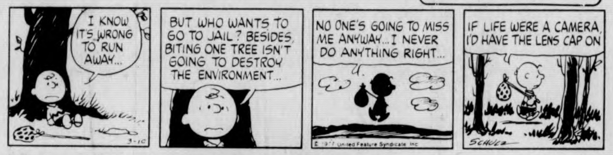
B.C. by Johnny Hart



HOLD IT.
NOT TODAY, ... I'VE GOT A HEADACHE.
3-10

Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



I KNOW IT'S WRONG TO RUN AWAY...
BUT WHO WANTS TO GO TO JAIL? BESIDES, BITING ONE TREE ISN'T GOING TO DESTROY THE ENVIRONMENT...
NO ONE'S GOING TO MISS ME ANYWAY... I NEVER DO ANYTHING RIGHT...
IF LIFE WERE A CAMERA, I'D HAVE THE LENS CAP ON 3-10

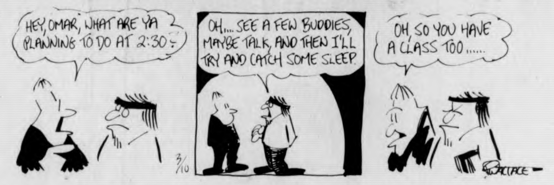
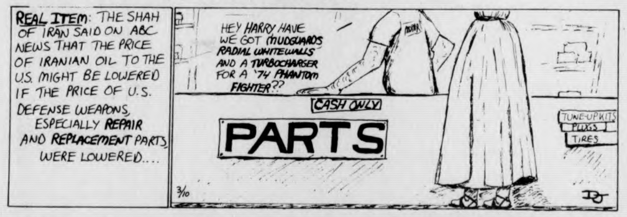
Harry Fig by Peter Wallace



HEY, OMAR, WHAT ARE YA PLANNING TO DO AT 2:30?
OH.... SEE A FEW BUDDIES, MAYBE TALK, AND THEN I'LL TRY AND CATCH SOME SLEEP.
OH, SO YOU HAVE A CLASS TOO......
3/10

What Next? by Dick Janssen



REAL ITEM: THE SHAH OF IRAN SAID ON ABC NEWS THAT THE PRICE OF IRANIAN OIL TO THE U.S. MIGHT BE LOWERED IF THE PRICE OF U.S. DEFENSE WEAPONS, ESPECIALLY REPAIR AND REPLACEMENT PARTS, WERE LOWERED...
HEY HARRY HAVE WE GOT MUDGUARDS RADIAL WHITEWALLS AND A TURBOCHARGER FOR A '74 PHANTOM FIGHTER??
CASH ONLY PARTS
TUNE-UP KITS PLUGS
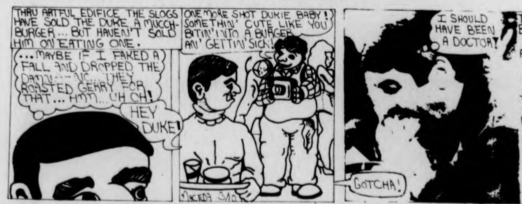
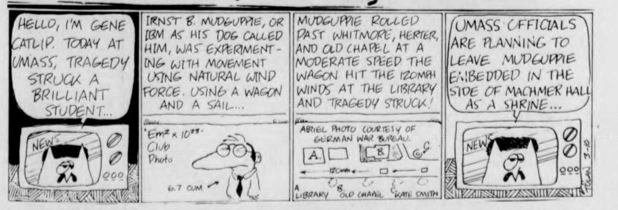
TIRES
3/10

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



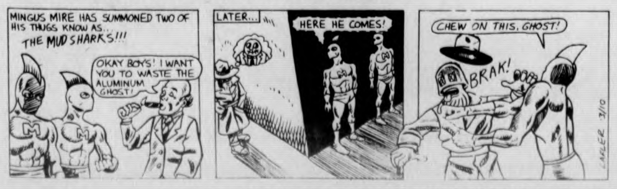
THRU ARTFUL EDIFICE THE SLOGS HAVE SOLD THE DUKE A MUCCH-BURGER... BUT HAVEN'T SOLD HIM ON EATING ONE.
...MAYBE IF I FAKED A FALL AND DROPPED THE DAMN--- NO... THEY ROASTED GERRY FOR THAT... HMM... UH OH!
HEY DUKE!
ONE MORE SHOT DUKIE BABY! SOMETHIN' CUTE LIKE YOU BITIN' INTO A BURGER AN' GETTIN' SICK!
GOTCHA!
I SHOULD HAVE BEEN A DOCTOR!
THE DUKE BITES THE BURGER, AND THE YOUNG PHOTOG SNAPS THE SHOT SEEN ROUND THE WORLD!
MACEDA 3/10

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



HELLO, I'M GENE CATLIP. TODAY AT UMASS, TRAGEDY STRUCK A BRILLIANT STUDENT...
NEWS
IRNST B. MUDGUPPIE, OR IBM AS HIS DOG CALLED HIM, WAS EXPERIMENTING WITH MOVEMENT USING NATURAL WIND FORCE. USING A WAGON AND A SAIL...
'Em² x 10²³' Club Photo
6.7 CUM
MUDGUPPIE ROLLED PAST WHITMORE, HERTER, AND OLD CHAPEL AT A MODERATE SPEED THE WAGON HIT THE 120MPH WINDS AT THE LIBRARY AND TRAGEDY STRUCK!
AERIEL PHOTO COURTESY OF GERMAN WAR BUREAU.
A. LIBRARY B. OLD CHAPEL C. KATE SMITH
UMASS OFFICIALS ARE PLANNING TO LEAVE MUDGUPPIE EMBEDDED IN THE SIDE OF MACHMER HALL AS A SHRINE...
NEWS
TOLAN 3-10

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



MINGUS MIRE HAS SUMMONED TWO OF HIS THUGS KNOW AS... THE MUD SHARKS!!!
OKAY BOYS! I WANT YOU TO WASTE THE ALUMINUM GHOST!
LATER...
HERE HE COMES!
CHEW ON THIS, GHOST!
BRAK!
LAFLER 3/10

Local Television

7:00 2 CAPTIONED ZOOM
3 7 CBS NEWS
4 NBC NEWS
5 ABC NEWS
6 HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
9 PORTER WAGONER
10 CONCENTRATION
12 NAME THAT TUNE
38 ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
7:30 2 REBOP
3 DOUBLEPLAY
4 $25,000 PYRAMIND
5 HOUSECALL "Aging"
6 WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS
7 GONG SHOW
9 N.H. SKI SCENE
10 BOBBY VINTON
12 TO TELL THE TRUTH
38 HOCKEY
8:00 2 UPSTAIRS, DOWNSTAIRS "Such a Lovely Man"
3 4 10 TEN WHO DARED
5 6 9 WELCOME BACK KOTTER
7 THE WALTONS
12 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
27 MOVIE "The Weapon"
56 MOVIE "The Hustler"
8:30 5 6 9 WHAT'S HAPPENING
9:00 2 THE PALLISERS
3 7 12 A CIRCLE OF CHILDREN
4 10 THE RHINEMANN EXCHANGE
5 6 9 BARNEY MILLER
9:30 5 6 9 TONY RANDALL
10:00 2 27 NEWS WEATHER
5 6 9 STEVE AND EYDIE
10:30 2 MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 ELDER AMERICAN
38 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
11:00 2 FORSYTE SAGA "The Challenge"
3 4 5 6 7 9 10 12 NEWS WEATHER
27 MOVIE "Drumbeat"
56 DARK SHADOWS
11:30 3 7 12 CBS MOVIES "Kojak"
4 10 TONIGHT
5 MARY HARTMAN
6 9 GERALDO RIVIERA
38 BOLD ONES
56 NIGHT GALLERY
12:00 5 GERALDO RIVIERA
1:00 4 10 TOMORROW
1:30 5 MOVIE "House of Dracula"
2:00 7 ASIAN FOCUS
3:00 5 NEWS
3:10 5 WESTERNERS
3:40 5 FIVE ALL NIGHT
4:00 5 AQUI

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Thursday, March 10— Born today, you are a quiet individual, much inclined to remain in the background of activities going on around you. When you do decide to step front and center, however, people know you're there, for you then display latent talents for leadership, for decisiveness, organization, and clarity of thought. You have great control of your feelings, though you are by nature highly emotional. Responding to whatever set of circumstances you happen to find yourself in with, first, thought — and then with the kind of action that will bring results without endangering the peace of the surroundings. Thus it is that you are able to take charge of a situation while you remain calm, exerting over all an unruffling influence.

Obviously, you possess more aggressiveness, more determination than you generally display. Just as obviously, you are able to take the best advantage of both sides of your nature: the quiet side and the side that insists upon getting things done. Nor are these two aspects of a single personality at odds with each other, for it is possible to accomplish a great deal without making either yourself or the accomplishment the object of any more attention than usual. Indeed, because you are quiet, you are perhaps able to accomplish more than most, for you do not waste energy on unimportant aspects of achievement, such as the cheers that so often accompany it.

Not one to force issues, or to be demanding in any way, you will have to take care that others do not try to maneuver you to suit themselves.

* * *

Friday, March 11

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You may not find many who agree with you today. Even so, go your own way and don't allow to bother you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Creative projects should be well underway by noon. Don't hesitate to show off the results of your efforts to those trained in the subject.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Nervous tension can cause you to lose out on an opportunity for gain this morning. Be good to yourself during PM hours and evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — A changeable atmosphere in terms of the responses of others to your proposals may leave you confused by nightfall.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — An important decision must not be put off any longer. Take the bull by the horns, make up your mind, and then stick to resultant views.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Another helpfulness may prove the undoing of your work rather than the benefit you'd hoped. You would do well to work on your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Get all the extra rest and relaxation you can. There are moments today when you will begin to feel a new upsurge of energy. Hang onto them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Partnership problems loom larger than they actually are. Take your time; consult others only when you yourself are really stumped.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Make an effort to obtain further cooperation from one who has been of considerable help already. Take care not to appear threatening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Your worry over family members not quite up to par these days may be for nothing. Nevertheless, seek professional advice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — An impulsive move early in the day may cause difficulties throughout the weekend. Make your moves onLy after consideration.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Keep all appointments. It is necessary now that you make connections with those whose influence can be turned in your favor.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

1 Agitate a liquid
6 Basic bedding article
11 The Republicans: Abbr.
14 Card game
15 Describe grammatically
16 Feel remorse for 17 Confine
19 Adjective suffix
20 Abound
21 Pismires
22 Vestige
24 Piece
26 Auto accessory
27 Stick
30 Active pastimes
32 Avoid answering
33 Repasts
34 Testing ground: Abbr.
37 Be bold enough
38 Furious
39 Open river valley
40 Wood
41 Had on one's person
42 Musical comedy
43 Kind of thief
45 Covers with diamonds
46 General inclinations
48 Statistics
49 Drenched
50 Unprincipled men
52 Annapolis college: Abbr.
56 Naval insignia: Abbr.
57 Kind of renter
60 Jellylike substance
61 Sprites
62 Carpenter's tool
63 Swine enclosure
64 Rides on snow
65 Some dogs: Informal

DOWN

1 Hit: Archaic
2 Isolated
3 One time only
4 Annual Calgary event
5 Possessive word
6 Consumed
7 American playwright
8 Important times
9 Advance cost info.
10 Moves unsteadily
11 Can. lake: 2 words
12 Liquid measure unit
13 Diminish gradually
18 Grief
23 Sneaky person: Slang
25 "--- you there?"
26 Obligate
27 Grant
28 Playing field
29 In a non-injurious manner
30 Cut through
31 Was worthwhile
33 Small amount
35 Compound used in dyeing
36 The birds and the ----
38 Large numbers
39 Former French VIP: 2 words
41 Uncertain gaits
42 Soak hemp
44 Cardinal number
45 Hit hard
46 Ruffians
47 Dark reddish orange
48 Put on clothes
50 Mammoth ---- Nat'l Park
51 Secondhand
53 State: Abbr.
54 Hawaiian goose
55 Greek god
58 Building wing
59 Across from: Abbr.

Wednesday's Puzzle Solved:

```
PARI PUTTS RASH
ATOM INURE ENTO COMPLAINED SCAR
APPOINT EASTERN SKIER TEA
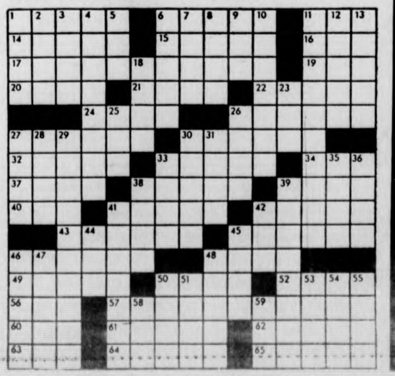
SPREES ERECTING
COED TOGA TENOR
ALT DEPARTS LIE
RIATA AREA RASE
FORETOLD XRAYED
   HEP SCRAM
ACCEDED RAMPING
MOOR NEGOTIATOR
POLA EROSE REMI
SPAN DROSS TRET
```



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9 10 11 12 13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
31
32
33
34 35
36 37
38
39 40
43
44
46
47
49
50
51
52
53
54
55
56
57
58
60
61
62
63
64
65

FRYE
BOOTS SALE
Fantastic SAVINGS on discontinued models
Up to 50% OFF
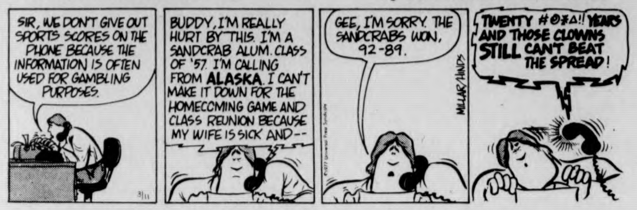
on many jacket styles
Over 50 Styles In Stock
Heartfelt Leather
103 N. PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST
10:00-6:00 MON.-SAT.
253-5135

TANK McNAMARA by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



SIR, WE DON'T GIVE OUT SPORTS SCORES ON THE PHONE BECAUSE THE INFORMATION IS OFTEN USED FOR GAMBLING PURPOSES.
BUDDY, I'M REALLY HURT BY THIS. I'M A SANDCRAB ALUM. CLASS OF '57. I'M CALLING FROM ALASKA. I CAN'T MAKE IT DOWN FOR THE HOMECOMING GAME AND CLASS REUNION BECAUSE MY WIFE IS SICK AND-- GEE, I'M SORRY. THE SANDCRABS WON, 92-89.
TWENTY #@*Δ!! YEARS AND THOSE CLOWNS STILL CAN'T BEAT THE SPREAD!
MILLAR/HINDS
3/11

Reed inherits Knick post

NEW YORK (UPI) — Speaking with a quiet confidence, burly Willis Reed accepted the dream job as coach of the New York Knicks yesterday and vowed a return to the kind of tenacious defense that once brought the team two world championships.

"Basically, the game is defense," stated Reed, who was captain of the Knicks for eight of the 10 years he played with them. "It was the tradition of the New York Knickerbockers and what they became known for. We're going to have to spend a lot of time together, and learn to get it right."

A forceful personality who was known as the guts of the Knicks during their glory years, Reed accepted a three-year contract for an annual salary reported to be $125,000. He will be on the sidelines for the remainder of this lost season while Red Holzman completes his tenure as coach.

The Knicks, despite the highest salaried team in the National Basketball Association, have only a 29-36 record and most probably will miss the playoffs for the second consecutive year.

Reed, 34, said that his idea of coaching consists of "a lot of Red Holzman philosophy because he's the only coach I ever played for and he's been very successful." Otherwise, the differences between the two men are glaring inasmuch as the 6-9, 240-pound Reed is a full foot and some 100 pounds bigger than his former mentor.

Still, Reed brushed aside the suggestion that his awesome presence would gain him more attention and respect from the players.

"I don't think that will make any difference," said Reed, dressed in a brown leisure suit and obviously comfortable in talking about his new assignment. "Players don't respond to you because you're big, but because you're a certain kind of person. Red screamed and yelled at all of us."

Despite the highly disappointing season, Reed suggested that the Knicks have the necessary talent but that the club was hampered because of all the player changes. "The personnel is basically there. It's a matter of spending time," he said. "For example, we've added three players from Buffalo. That kind of situation is not a good situation. All those things have a tendency to affect your style of play.

"Everybody has their own way of doing things. Players come from different places. They all played under different coaches with different styles.

Sidney Wicks and Seattle's Dennis Johnson "Hustle" after the ball in last night's game. Seattle won 114-86. (UPI)

Sox start with loss

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Mickey Stanley belted a game-winning solo homer in the eighth inning yesterday to give the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over Boston in the Red Sox' opening exhibition season game.

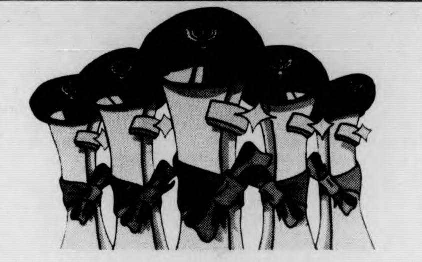
Stanley tagged the third Red Sox pitcher of the game, Bill Campbell, for the game-winner, to complete an offensive display by the Tigers which included two other homers.

Jason Thompson hit an inside-the-park homer in the fourth and Ben Oglivie hit one over the right field fence with one man on in the sixth. Both came off Boston's Reggie Cleveland, who was the loser.

Fred Lynn, who had a double and two singles and Carl Yastrzemski, who had a homer, supplied the offense for the Red Sox.

C & C LIQUORS
NEXT TO TOWN HALL, AMHERST

National Bohemian N.R.	$4.99 case
Inglenook Burgundy or Chablis	$3.19 magnum
Tuborg 12 oz. cans	$5.99
Riunite Lambrusco	$2.29 fifth



We need certain college majors to become Air Force lieutenants.

Mechanical and civil engineering majors ... aerospace and aeronautical engineering majors ... electronics ... computer science ... mathematics majors.

The Air Force is looking for young men and women with academic majors such as these. If you're majoring in one of these areas, you may be eligible for either the two-year or the four-year Air Force ROTC program. And to help with the college bills, two, three, and four-year scholarships are available. These scholarships pay tuition, textbooks, lab fees, and $100 tax-free dollars a month. The Air Force ROTC program leads to an Air Force commission, an excellent starting salary, challenging work (with some of the finest equipment in the world), promotions, responsibility, graduate education and much more.

Find out today about an Air Force ROTC scholarship. It's a great way to serve your country and to help pay for your college education.

CALL Major Richardson at 545- 2437

Air Force ROTC-Gateway to a Great Way of Life

New Spring
Shirts
Coats
&
Pants
Coming in every day
Drop in and have a look
THOMPSON'S
13 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

THETA CHI
St. Patty's Day Celebration
10 Kegs of FREE Beer
60 Kegs of Beer
7 A.M.-?
Friday, March 11, 1977
Where: 496 N. Pleasant St.
Next to Newman Center

Now Playing
Baroque's Mini Theatre
$1.00-Portrait-$1.00

TONIGHT	FRI	SAT
4:00	7:00	2:00
5:15	8:15	3:30
6:30	9:30	5:00
7:45	10:45	6:30
	12:00	7:45

(Public Health Building Auditorium)
Rated X
Baroque Ent.

REVLON'S MID-WINTER SALE

	REG	NOW
MILK PLUS 6 SHAMPOO 8oz.	2.35	1.69
FLEX CONDITIONER 16oz.	2.60	1.85
FLEX CONCENTRATED SHAMPOO 6oz tube	1.85	1.29
MILK PLUS 6 FACE CREAM 4oz.	3.50	2.49
FLEX NON-AEROSOL HAIR NET	2.60	1.79
FROST AND GLOW	5.75	4.59
DRY SKIN MOISTURE LOTION	2.75	1.99
FLEX BALSAM AND PROTEIN TREATMENT SHAMPOO	2.50	1.79

COLLEGE DRUG STORE
W. H. McGRATH, Ph. G
ACCURACY PURITY
Phone 253-2523 Amherst, Mass

★ Hoopmen at Civic Center

CONT. FROM PAGE 16

Guard Derick Claiborne, one of four Minutemen from New York City, agreed. "It's always kind of tough getting up for four games when you know you're gonna be playing 40 minutes. But I'm looking forward to going home.

"We're looking forward to playing," Claiborne continued. "It'll give our seniors (Jim Town and Mark Donoghue) a chance for more recognition, and for the other guys on the team, well, we know that New York is the basketball city."

If Claiborne and his mates are already looking ahead to next Monday's quarter-final action in the Garden, Seton Hall may use its own manpower to shatter that vision. The "Hall" sports an 18-10 record which offers a good indication of how closely matched these two teams are.

Both the Minutemen and Seton Hall have beaten Rutgers and Fordham, and each has lost to Providence and Holy Cross by relatively close margins. Seton Hall, however, has beaten Niagara, George Washington, and Villanova, schools which have all topped UMass.

"Seton Hall has a good basketball team, much similar to that of Rutgers," Leaman said. "They're a quick team and they run with their speed."

Any team that runs needs that big rebounder, and Seton Hall has one of the very best in the country in 6-8 senior Glenn Mosley. The powerful senior ranks second in the nation with 16.3 rebounds per game, and nine times this season has pulled down 20 or more caroms in a game.

Donoghue, who must accept the dubious task of stopping the big man, said "I'll just have to try and keep him off the boards."

"I worked with him last summer," offered Mike Pyatt. "He's good. He's a good rebounder, good shot-blocker, good timing.

"But basically, they're a two-man team," Pyatt added.

The other attention-gatherer for Seton Hall comes in a much smaller package, 6-2 Greg Tynes. Tynes leads his squad in scoring with a 22.4 scoring average, a mark which places him in the top 25 among NCAA Division one scorers.

Tynes will be joined in the backcourt by Nick Galas (12.6 point), while two 6-4 forwards, Randy Duffin and Mark Coleman, complete the starting five.

UMass will counter-attack with its usual starting five, including a still - not - so - healthy Jim Town. Town is still suffering from bruised ribs, but is ready to go.

"It's just a day-to-day thing," he said. "Yesterday it was sore and it really hurt in practice. I don't know what the hell the story is. I'll just have to play with it the rest of this year."

On a brighter note, UMass does appear to be in top form mentally.

"I don't think we'll have any problems getting ready," Town said. "Our guys wanna play now. But it's a bitch to practice in this kind of weather."

"It's just a perfect match-up," Leaman said. "Seton-Hall's size will give them problems on one end of the floor, and their speed will give us problems down the other end. Ideal match-up."

And so, it's tourney time again for the Minutemen.

"And we're ready to pack our bags for New York," Leaman said.

Sports letter

No game tonight

To the Editor:

"Due to circumstances beyond our control, Minuteman basketball will not be presented tonight."

The circumstances involve International Women's Week and a program which has been planned for several weeks by WMUA's Women's Media Project. At a station meeting, Dave Strader and I discussed the possibility of moving the Women's Media Project to another time during the day. Our sports director, Grant Baxter, attempted to help us air the game, but his efforts were unsuccessful. Both WMUA's Program Director, Ken Irwin, and our Station Manager, Charles Pellett, felt that the Women's Media Project should be aired at its regular time.

We sincerely hope to bring you any future basketball games should the Minutemen win Thursday night. Those interested can tune in to the game on WHMP in Northampton, or, better yet, go down to the game itself. If you have any response to this letter, WMUA's mailing address is 42 Marston Hall, and our phone number is 545-2876.

Bob Paquette

Sports Calendar

TODAY

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. New Hampshire at UConn 11:00

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Seton Hall at Springfield Civic Center 7:30

TOMORROW

WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — Eastern Regionals at UConn

Sports Notices

WMUA — The UMass women's basketball team is playing in the Eastern championships and WMUA will be there to bring you all the action. Join Charlie Holmes and Rick Heidemann at 10:50 today as the Minutewomen battle the Huskies of New Hampshire in the first round. That's WMUA, 91.1 FM in Amherst.

WOMEN'S TENNIS — Anyone interested in a spring season, there will be an important meeting today at 4:15 p.m. in 249 Boyden. If you have any questions, call 549-4789.

INTRAMURALS — Softball [illegible] day, Monday, and [illegible] Applicants, officials, and supervisors must attend one meeting.

FREE SWIM — All students, faculty, and staff are required to give student ID's or recreational activity cards for faculty and staff to the lifeguards on duty. This policy has been instituted to eliminate the use of pool facilities by those who do not pay student activity fees for faculty and staff. Your cooperation in this matter is greatly appreciated. Thank you very much!

Spirit Haus Liquor Store
Open Daily till 11 p.m.
Amherst Largest Full Service Liquor Store
THIS WEEK'S SPECIALS

Tuborg Gold Beer 12 oz. cans	$5.69 a case
Falstaff	$5.25 a case
Old Milwaukee Beer 12 oz. cans	$5.59 case
Early Times Bourbon	$5.99 qt.
PEPSI 2 qt. bottles	79c
PEPSI case of qt.	$4.39

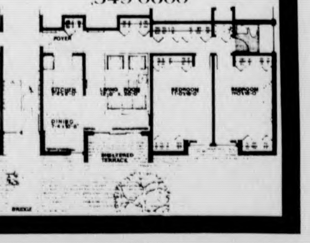
OVER STOCK WINES

Mateuse	$3.29 fifth
Lake Niagara	$2.19 fifth
Nectar Rose	$2.39 fifth
Paul Masson Sangria	$1.29 fifth
Moselblumchen	$1.99 fifth
Opici Lambrusco	$1.49 fifth
Piat French Table Wines	$1.79 fifth
Korbel's Pinot Noir Cabenet Sauvignon	$2.89 fifth
Riccardi Asti Spumante	$2.99 fifth
Riunite Lambrusco	$2.29 fifth

Large assortment of kegs.
We have over 90 brands of imported beer
(Mix your own variety six pack)
338 College St. Rt. 9 Amherst 253-5384
Not responsible for typographical errors.

BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???
- STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
- RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
- ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.

50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600



Hoopwomen meet Wildcats

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

It has all come down to this.

Everything the UMass women's basketball team has accomplished; the 15-4 regular season record, the state tournament championship, the record nine victories in a row: it has all boiled down to a weekend of basketball.

This morning at 11, (10:50 WMUA) the Minutewomen are playing New Hampshire in the first round of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (EAIAW) tournament.

To spell everything out: the winner of this 16-team women's basketball regional tournament will be crowned the 1977 Northeast champion and will advance to the national tournament to be held at the University of Minnesota in two weeks.

UMass coach Mary Ann Ozdarski definitely thinks that her third-seeded Minutewomen have an excellent chance to bring home the bacon.

"They are ready," she said of her team. "They are psyched and couldn't be any more ready physically and mentally."

Ozdarski added that the Minutewomen's state championship win last Saturday added to her optimism.

"We needed a good game going into the Easterns," she said. "We played real good team ball against Springfield."

The only physically sub-par UMass player is Ginny Peebles. The backup center sprained her ankle in the second half of Saturday's 86-64 triumph.

"I'm going to try to rest her Thursday," Ozdarski explained. "Hopefully she'll be okay for Friday."

UMass will need her help and a lot more if they win today. Actually, every team in the tournament will feel the crunch if it wins in the first round.

Why? Because both the quarterfinals and the seminfinals are scheduled for Friday.

Here's the way the tournament is arranged: all first round games will take place today. The winners will advance to the championship round, while the losers will move into the consolation bracket.

The four quarterfinals are scheduled for Friday morning and afternoon, with the semi-finals slated for Friday night at 7:30 and 9:30.

The championship game is set for 3 p.m. Saturday, while the third place game will be played at 12:30.

Obviously, it's going to be a tiring tourney. So just what does a team have to do to persevere and win it all?

"I think there's four major things that will go into determining who wins," Ozdarski said. "The team that is psyched the most, that plays team ball, that commits the least amount of turnovers, and has the highest shooting percentage from within 10 feet of the basket will win."

Top-seeded Southern Connecticut has won the tourney several times in the past, and has qualified for the national tournament an amazing seven straight times. SC is scheduled to play pesky Rhode Island at 6:30 tonight in its opening round game.

Second-seed Queens, meanwhile, plays 16th-seeded Central Connecticut at 3:30 today in its first round game.

But before the Minutewomen worry about future opponents, they must deal with New Hampshire first. UMass defeated the Wildcats, 80-63, in the two team's only meeting this year.

The Minutewomen actually trailed UNH, 21-18, in the opening stages of the game, as UMass looked flat and listless. But the Minutewomen put together a string of 10 unanswered points to grab a 28-21 lead, and built it into a 44-28 halftime lead.

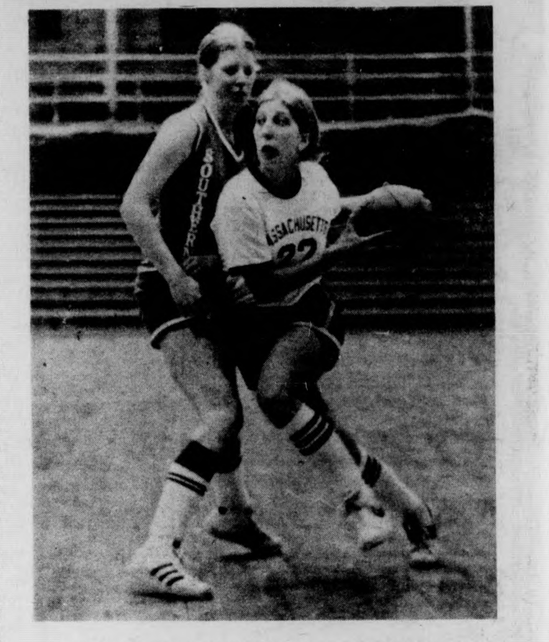
UMass was outshot 23-2 at the foul line, but shot 44 per cent from the floor to gain the win. New Hampshire, on the other hand, hit at a meager 28 per cent clip.

The Minutewomen were led by Sue Peters' 23 points and Cheryl Carey's 14. Lu-Ann Fletcher, who was playing in her first game after missing two straight due to a sprained ankle, had six points and eight rebounds.

New Hampshire, which was outrebounded, 58-40, was led by guards Kathy Sanborn and Jean Giarusso, who each pumped in over 20 points.

The regular season records are dissimilar: 17-4 UMass as opposed to 6-6. New Hampshire. But remember: last year UMass went into its opening round game favored to beat Vermont and wound up losing, 77-75.

"It's going to be a good tourney," Ozdarski summed up. "Throw the seeds out, throw the seasons out. This is it, the second season. There's no tomorrow."



The Minutewomen hope to drive past UNH today in the first round of the Eastern tournament at the University of Connecticut in Storrs. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Face Seton Hall in NIT opener

Minutemen encounter third season tonight

By RON ARENA
Collegian Staff

It'll be a case of reaching back and giving it one more try when the UMass basketball team meets Seton Hall University in an opening round National Invitational Tournament game tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Springfield Civic Center.

In a change of format from previous NIT's, all opening round match-ups will be held on neutral courts, while quarter-, semi-, and final-round action will revert back to the traditional sight, New York's Madison Square Garden.

The game will mark the sixth time in the past eight years that UMass has participated in the NIT, the oldest basketball tournament in the country, but the results have been less than gratifying. The Minutemen have won just one NIT game in that span, an upset over Missouri in 1972.

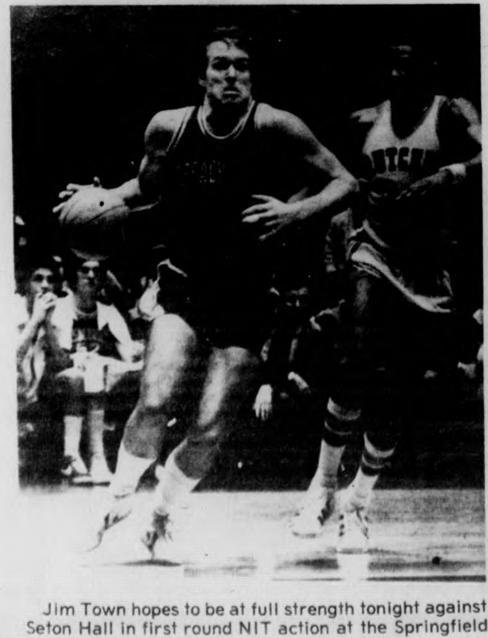
UMass showed positive signs of overcoming any post-season jinx last week, though, when it recorded two victories in three games in the first-ever Eastern Collegiate Basketball League tourney. The victories earned UMass a respectable third place finish in the league, and upped its record to 19-10.

Now UMass, like Seton Hall, which lost by 10 points to St. John's in the finals of the Metropolitan New York regional tournament, will face the problem of regrouping forces and preparing both mentally and physically for another tournament.

But Jack Leaman and company feel UMass will be ready.

"Our prize for this game will be a trip to New York," Leaman said. "We've got a lot of guys from New York, and they wanna play there. That's got to be a motivating factor."

TURN TO PAGE 15



Jim Town hopes to be at full strength tonight against Seton Hall in first round NIT action at the Springfield Civic Center. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Bill Edelstein

The lost weekend

It was approximately two seconds after UMass defeated Rutgers that we had decided to set out for Philadelphia to witness, first-hand, the then pending ECBL semi-final tournament game against Duquense. How were we to know that none of us would ever get there?

There were to be four carloads of us. Four carloads of enthusiastic UMass basketball fans prepared to go beyond the limits of socially acceptable rowdiness to scream the Minutemen to an ECBL championship and an NCAA invitation. Prepared to ignore all the dictums of good taste and the rules of public ridicule. Prepared for everything but the unexpected.

I guess we should have figured something was wrong when we all met in the Campus Center to plan our excursion to the land of Frank Rizzo. There were to be 12 of us making the trip to Philadelphia, yet only 11 people were at our tactics meeting.

We soon learned that the missing person, Irving Tuborg, had gone out and gotten drunk directly after the Rutgers game. He had passed-out in a gutter near a "handicapped parking" sign and had been relocated when an Amherst Towing truck happened by. It had been two full days since he had been taken, and we all knew that the storage charge would make it prohibitively expensive to reclaim him. He was lost.

We spent the next five minutes carefully pinpointing our route to the Spectrum, and decided to travel south.

Leaving the University caravan-style, we immediately spotted a Burger King. Realizing that there was absolutely no time to spare if we expected to reach the city by gametime, we decided to stop and eat.

Upon receiving our Whoppers, which were ready in a mere two minutes (their way), we prepared to inhale them. Just then, Phoebe Unpaid (of mooching fame) clutched at her stomach and moaned "hold the pickles..." She slumped to the floor as we finished eating. That's when we learned the true meaning behind the nickname "fast food." Trying to remove Phoebe from under the table, it was discovered that rigor mortis had already set in. We garnished the poor soul with complimentary packets of mustard and relish, knowing she would have wanted it that way, and left.

Deciding to leave a car behind to save on gas expenses, we continued along until one of my passengers noticed that instead of two cars trailing us, there was only one. We took the next exit to check out what had become of the last car.

Five miles later, we arrived just in time to see the last traces of the vehicle-in-question being swallowed-up by the freeway. The sign beside the debacle eulogized simply, "frost heaves." In the remaining two cars, ominous music began to play. We turned off our radios.

We travelled merrily along for miles and miles. We passed cities and towns and towns and cities. We passed still more cities and towns until we came to... still more towns and cities.

Finally, after passing through yet still more cities and towns, we came to the New Jersey Turnpike. The sign at the tolls said "take a ticket". We took two because they were small. An hour and a half later we reached pike's end. "We're there," I thought to myself. "For sure."

To my surprise, there were not one, but two men in the toll booth when we pulled up to it. I handed them my two tickets.

"How many?" asked the little guy.

"How many what?" I shot back.

"Why are you answering a question with a question?" the runt queried.

His partner cut in and clarified matters.

"How many cars," he explained.

"I stared at him blankly.

The two toll-takers looked at each other for a second and the midget spoke.

"You can't pass through here unless you've counted the cars."

The other guy interrupted again.

"They've all come to look for America."

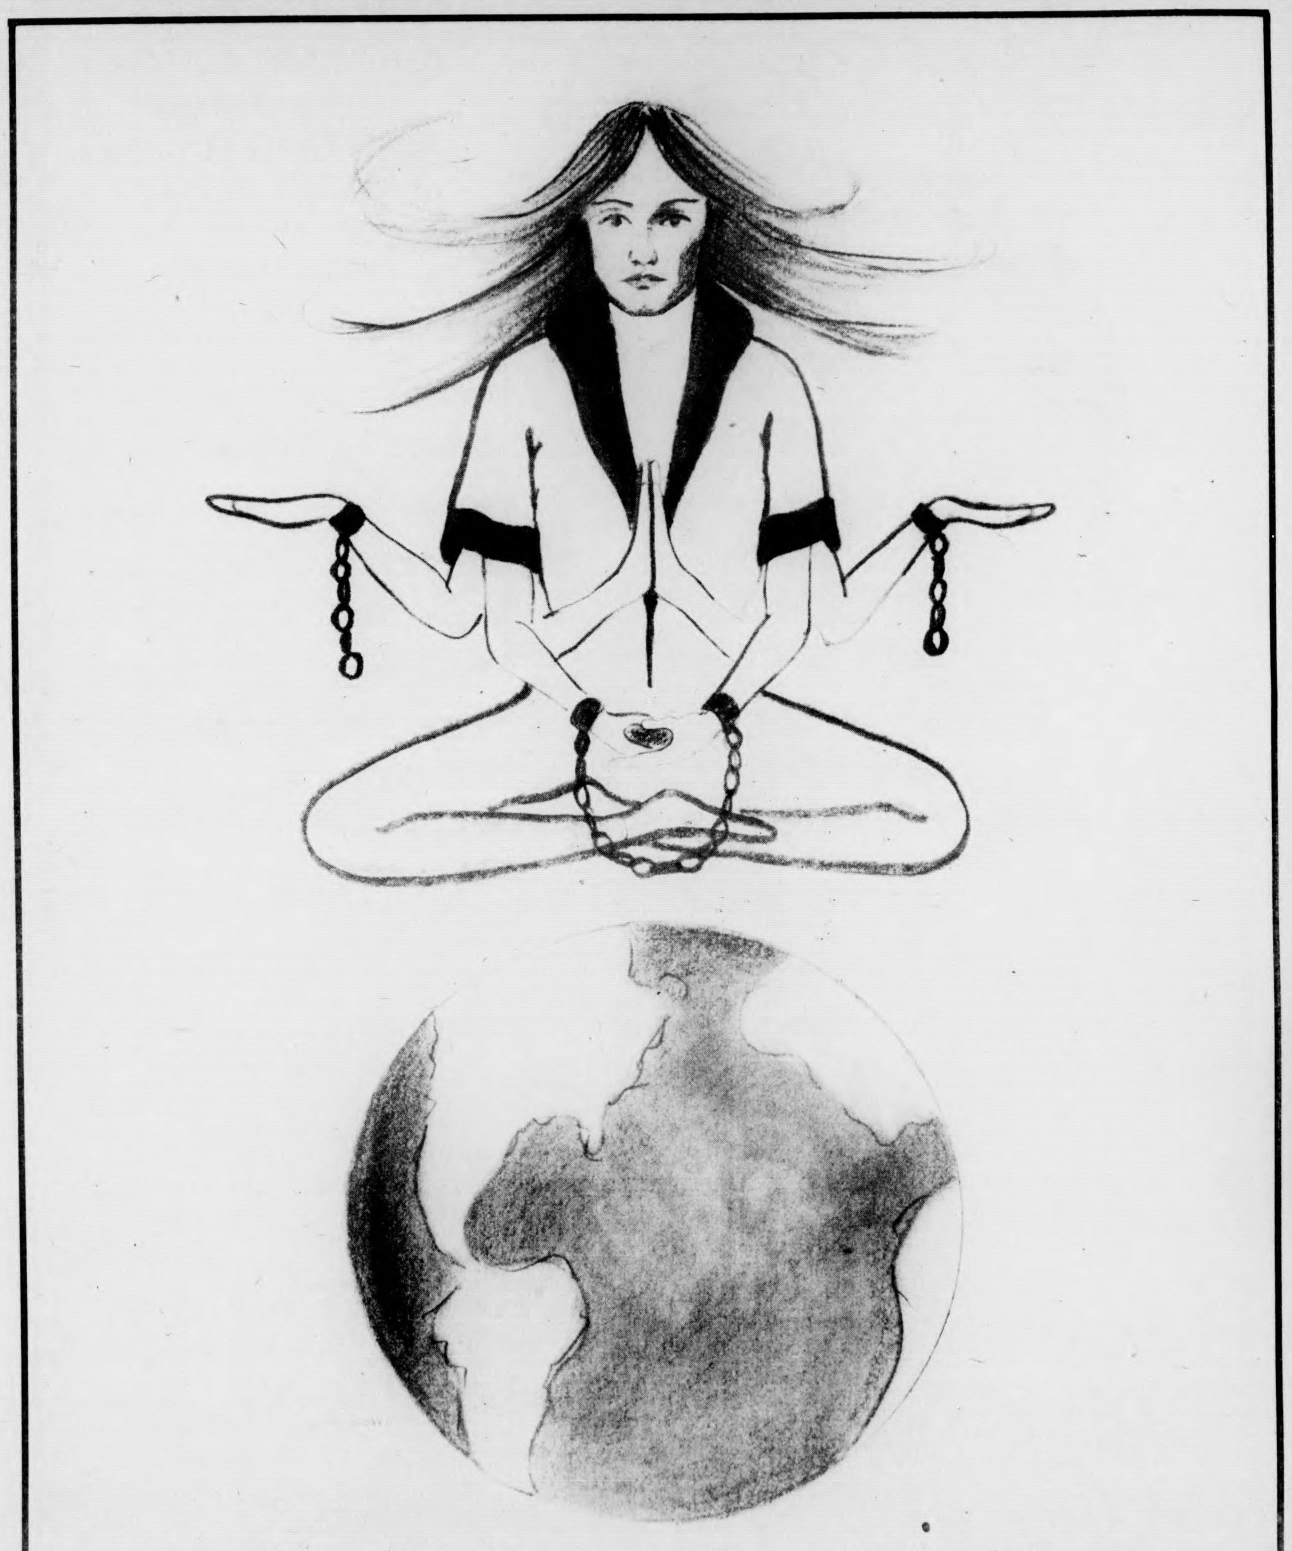
As I turned our car to go back home, the little guy picked up a guitar and sang three stanzas of "So Long, Frank Lloyd Wright." Just then, Mary Ann Fraction, the driver in the car behind us yelled out '64,618', and sped off into the night.

Five days later we received this telegram:

NEVER MADE IT TO GAME STOP THERE WERE 64,619 STOP BETTER HERE THAN PHILADELPHIA STOP

Below The Salt

weekly fine arts magazine
Supplement to the Daily Collegian
Volume V Issue 7 March 10, 1977



. . . And I Don't Do Windows

Poetry

The Last Pharaoh

Charles Koltz

Across a meadow
I see cornstalks
bundled into pyramids.

In there a red fox startled by the bark of my boots seeks sanctuary.

He waits alone and still like the last pharoah sealed alive.

Impressions D'art

Trish Mastendino

We often dreamt together
my artist and I
of passionate sunflowers and parisienne blossoms whose melancholy seeped like dry tears to wash the smoking rooms.
Of women, bearing fruit bulging breasts and low-slung wraps;
of dancers, suspended dust particles poised in the mainstream of a moment.
We often dreamt together
my artist and I
when we walked the field of wheat like so many crows before the harvest.

Midnight Erotica

Waiting for night to bring stars singing madness; speaking truth.
Seeking answers in the dome; in the sky of dreams.
Darkness brings a chorus of harmony.

The smell of the hyacinth surrounds me; petals of sweetness; blankets of tranquility.
The night is solitude.
I sleep through its melody.
I dance on the voices of angels.

——Jo Wellins——

Below The Salt
weekly fine arts magazine
Vol V
Issue 7

EDITOR
Mark A. Leccese
ASSISTANT EDITOR
Debbie Schafer
ASSISTANT EDITOR
E. Patrick McQuaid
COVER ILLUSTRATION BY ERIC GLASGOW

THE SALT MINDS:
THEATRE James F. Sawyer
POETRY John Zieman
DANCE Leila Bruno
FOOD Alice E. Horner
MOVIES John Matthew
MUSIC Jack Cahill, Ross Nerenberg, Craig Roche

HATCH
Cover: $1-Thurs. Nights
$1.50-Fri. & Sat. Nights

Liberty Standing
thurs. mar.10

Jade & Sarsaparilla
fri., sat. mar. 11,12

BLUEWALL

New Harmony
Sister Hood
thurs.-sat.
mar. 10-12

Bella And Nothingness

Bella Abzent — The one that got away

D. Schafer photo

By Lisa Melilli

About eight hundred people filled the Student Union Ballroom, some milling around, others waiting patiently and I biting the tip of my pencil and bending over my reporter's pad printing "Bella Abzug" across the top of the page. Bella Abzug. Lady with the hat. New York politician. A woman politician. I had seen her pictures, on the news. This would be the first time I'd be seeing her in person. And what did I expect? I expected on the front of the program, an invitation to a lecture on "Women in Politics."

But it's 24 hours later and the wait has long gone. She's already crossed the stage, spoken and left. Was it what I expected? Was it all of what I expected? No. The Bella I expected was absent. And most of all, I never expected that she would have avoided the truth.

"Ms. Abzug," came the question from the floor. "You say you're for women's rights and represent women's rights. Then how could you have supported the Hyde Amendment, the Amendment which makes unconstitutional the use of federal monies for abortion? This means that welfare patients are not given the right to an abortion. How can you say you support all women's rights when you don't support those on welfare?"

"Do you realize who you are speaking to? This is Bella Abzug who spoke on the floor for the veto of the Hyde Amendment," Ms. Abzug spoke angrily from the podium. "Get your facts straight."

But, we have Ms. Abzug now that you've left. And here sitting before me I have the House Congressional Record from September 30, 1976 which says that yes, you spoke for a veto of the amendment — but, then you voted for its passage. A careless mistake? I don't know what to think. I feel disappointed Ms. Abzug. But I feel disappointed in you for more than this. You've failed me and insulted me as a listener with a pat-lecture, a lecture containing all the familiar rhetoric and the likable wit. But it was a stiring speech for a crowd, a college crowd of the sixties — not this crowd who listens in 1977.

The honorable Bella S. Abzug, aged 56, Hunter College graduate, Columbia Law School graduate, mother of two daughters, wife of Maurice Abzug for 33 years and New York lawyer for 25 years wobbled as she walked up the steps to the SUB platform stage. She had on a brown velveteen skirt and jacket tied at the waste — tent size with a dull brown flower patterned blouse underneath. Her large calves were stuffed in brownish nylons and feet small stepping on brown patten leather t-strap shoes. And she wore a brown wide-rimmed hat.

"Professional women always wore a hat and gloves when I started out as a lawyer 25 years ago," said the former congresswoman. "Since then I've gotten rid of the gloves and kept the hat."

It was the pace she started with and kept the whole hour she spoke — quick wit and nothing more. And politics and women? Women," she said, "should get high positions in the power structures because it's only in these power structures that we can effect change." It was something I heard in Political Science 101, no, social studies in sixth grade. I didn't need Bella to tell me that.

I didn't need Bella to tell me that as a woman I do not have to be what someone else's idea of a woman is, that I have the right to be anything I want, everything I want. I didn't need to hear her tell me that most likely after I graduate, I'll get paid less than a man who has only graduated from high school. I didn't need her to tell me that all my rights now are because of a concentrated women's effort. I didn't need her to tell me that women have only been voting for 56 years, just as old as she is. I didn't need her to tell me that throughout the world, women have no power at the top where the decisions are made. I didn't need her to tell me that most women in the world are more concerned with survival, never mind equality.

I've heard it all. Bella, tell me something more, I kept on saying. But nothing, nothing more. Nothing on what I wanted to know: abortion, rape, movements to stop oppression of women across the world. Nothing. Only what I've heard time and time before. It was a speech of empty political rhetoric and not an educational and informative message from a woman political leader that it was meant to be.

I didn't need her to tell me we women need a more concentrated, organized, powerful force in the equal rights movement. I know. But, tell me how? Tell me what you're doing?

Nothing. Only that she has succeeded because her mother always told her she could do anything she wanted. Only that she was Bella Abzug and she was a strong woman, could be even stronger and do more. Only that she had supported equal rights for women, had called for Nixon's impeachment before anyone else, had supported legislation to give women more and more rights.

That's fine, Bella. But I'm confused. I don't understand your place in the movement. It's great you're strong and in a power position and pushing equal rights legislation, but you're not teaching me anything about women and politics and what I can do, what we 800 in the audience can do. And we're paying you $2000 for this education.

Bella Abzug might as well have been absent. She underestimated the audience's intelligence and political awareness. Ms. Abzug's performance proves that politican's play to the idea that the voting population is ignorant and unaware and game for easy gimacs. Bella's good at making noise and jokes. And for me as a woman, me and an audience, she's good at nothing more. Ms. Abzug is another Jimmy Carter promising renaissance.

Carter, in his inaugural address said the problem is that we must adjust to changing times, but we still have to hold to unchanging principles. Bella said that, too. They are both wrong. And that's where Ms. Abzug failed for me. She offered nothing new. She offers only a good nights sleep to husband Maurice when she's in Washington. And that's something Maurice said in a People Magazine interview about two months ago.

Bella, I'll give you credit for your performance. You have charisma, a demanding and challenging wit, a vibrant and dynamic personality which plays well when delivering to a crowd. It was evident Monday nite in the SUB except for the moments when you didn't hold back your uncaring attitude.

Bella told us in the beginning of her speech that her mother told her she ought to be an actress so she wouldn't have to work hard. Well, you should have followed your mother's advice. You'd make a good actress. I can see from Monday night's performance and you didn't need to work hard at it, either.

What should have been there? What should have been there was some solution as to how we can get the fragmented women's movement together. What should have been there was some information as to what rights of women Ms. Abzug sees that should be protected by law and aren't and some ways to effect such protection. What should have been there was a congresswoman telling us some personal experiences of doubt in herself and her strength and ways she overcame them. What should have been there was a mother and wife's message on how to include these roles with the role as a national leader, a lawyer, a professional. What should have been there was a strong woman's guidance for such strength. What should have been there was her experience and fight for respect in the House, in a courtroom, with professional men. What should have been there was Bella representing women and politics — a personal experience.

But all of this was absent.

'Do you realize who you are speaking to?

This is Bella Abzug.

University Ensemble Theater
PRESENTS

Lanford Wilson's
Award Winning Comedy

THE HOT L BALTIMORE

Curtain Theater, Fine Arts Center, University of Massachusetts

March ~~11~~, ~~12~~, ~~13~~, 14, 15, 16, ~~17~~, ~~18~~, ~~19~~

all curtains at 8:00

PLEASE NOTE ALL DATES WITH AN "X" THROUGH THEM ARE SOLD OUT

ON CAMPUS GROUPS

DO YOU HAVE SOME NEWS?

DO YOU WANT TO REACH 20,000

ADVERTISE IN THE COLLEGIAN.

* Collegian ****

THERE'S NO BETTER WAY TO GET THE WORD OUT!

COPPER LANTERN

YOUR FAVORITE BEVERAGE INCLUDED WITH DINNER.

MARCH 10-13 THUR,FRI,SAT,SUN

HAPPY HOUR 4 TO 7

ALL DRINKS 75¢
DRAFT 35¢
MOLSON 55¢

1 PRAY STREET
(NEXT TO THE PUB)

Symbo-realism

THE TEMPEST
At Amherst College
Kirby Theatre
Directed by Helene Keyssar

By James F. B. Sawyer

No word in my vocabulary fits what I'd like to say about this production of what is considered by many to be Shakespeare's farewell to his art of playwriting. The set is so realistic that it can't be truthfully termed symbolic, yet at the same time, such symbolism exists in the performance that it can't be truthfully termed realistic. So, for purposes of talking about it, I'd like to combine the two opposing terms, symbolism and realism, to create a new (to me) term; symbo-realism.

This Helene Keyssar-directed, Masquers-produced version of The Tempest uses 58 tons of honest-to-God sand on the stage of the Kirby Theater to "real-ize" the idea that the entire performance takes place on a balmy island. Carpet-covered cardboard tubes symbolize trees, three of them rising in the course of the performance to reveal Iris, Ceres and Juno, three manifestations conjured up by Prospero, the some-time Duke of Milan and full-time sorcerer.

To back up the rest of the scenery, several hundred square feet of hemp net stretches behind the trees and sand in order to give Prospero's servant spirits plenty of room to stretch their dance belts and body paint.

Paul Steinberg, a free-lance set designer can take the credit for this symbo-realistic set and for the costuming, which ran from true-to-the-period Elizabethan clothing to dance-belted, painted bodies.

In the opening shipwreck scene, three semi-transparent veils half-obscured the action, with the spirits doubling as the sorely beset ship's railing. With pre-recorded sound effects, the scene's symbo-realism smiled through.

But saying more about the action would ruin the effect an attendance of a performance would have. And an attendance of any one of the three remaining performances is highly recommended.

Helene Keyssar has added a bit to Shakespeare's original genius with the inclusion of a unicorn in the production. The unicorn's presence embodies the magic associated with the island. Especially during one particular scene in which sorcerer Prospero, in delivering a speech, idly scratches the unicorn's head. O! Brave new world that hath such creatures in't!

Of the performers, the two best characterizations were delivered by Mark Jaster as Prospero and Jeffrey Deutsch as Ariel.

Jaster portrayed the aging Duke-sorcerer with an equitable amount of pomposity, strength of will and sense of puppetmastery, a combination that a reading of the work will automatically bring to the mind's eye.

Deutsch's Ariel, with his incredible falsetto and bass combination, brought out a spirit richer than its written counterpart. And combined with Steinberg's net and trees, Ariel à la Deutsch is a believable character.

Shakespeare is a master of the English language. The Amherst College Department of Dramatic Arts and the Masquers have mastered this particular script.

Their production of The Tempest is truly"...such stuff as dreams are made on." Call 542-2277 for tickets to the dreams of March 11, 12 or 13.

Curtain Calls

The Tempest at Kirby Theater, Amherst College, March 11, 12, 13. 8 p.m. Call 542-2277 between 10-5.

P.S. Your Cat is Dead by Boston Rep at Charles Playhouse, Boston. Tue.-Sun. now through April 3. Call (617) 423-6580.

The Hot 1 Baltimore at Curtain Theater, F.A.C., UMass. March 11-19. 8 p.m. Call 545-3511.

Tiger at the Gates at Lab Theatre, Mt. Holyoke College, March 11-15. 8:30 p.m. Call 538-2118 between noon and 9 p.m.

Tattletales at City Studio Theatre, Northampton, March 12. 11 a.m. Call 584-3978, 1-5. All tickets $1.00.

Jesse and the Bandit Queen at City STudio Theatre, Northampton, March 11-13, 17-20, 24-27, 31-April 3. 8 p.m. Call 584-3978.

Questions about these listings can be answered by calling 545-3500.

FILM

By John Matthew

How lucky can one be? 'The Pink Panther Strikes Again' is on its way to equalling the world-wide B.O. gross ($75M) of its predecessor 'The Return of P.P.' How do they do it? Is it the stale gags, the poor direction, the slow script? No, it's Peter Sellers. Mr. Sellers again displays his talent as one of the industry's truest stars, carrying the picture to 'respectability.'

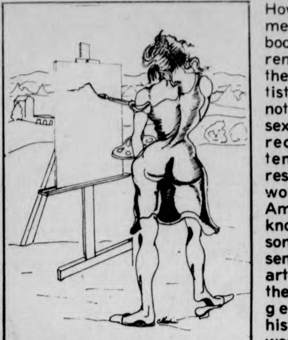
Director Blake Edwards, whose only other credit besides helming the other Panther flicks is being married to Julie Andrews, gets a little careless on this one. The film should've been titled 'The Scenes With Peter Sellers and Those Without.' The star's scenes show an honest attempt at technical competence, while those without appear to have been shot with a blind-folded crew. It's as if Mr. Edwards believes that the 'Inspector' can dominate the entire film, allowing for the supporting scenes to be on and off the screen as quickly as possible, regardless of how awkward or tedious it makes the film.

The pic does have its moments. The Ex-Pres. Ford bit is amusing, as is most of Mr. Sellers' performance. It's a movie for the very young and the mildly old.

Still crowds love it, Blake loves it, so rumor has it that two more Panther pics are in the works, 'Muscle Beach Pink Panther' and 'The Pink Panther Goes To Hawaii.'

BOOKS

By Colin Harrington



WOMEN AS ARTISTS: 1550-1950
By Ann Sutherland Harris and Linda Nochlin
Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.
368 pages $8.95

It has taken over four hundred and twenty years, but the first international exhibition of art by women has been brought together by Ann Sutherland Harris and Linda Nochlin with the assistance of a countless number of art experts and supporters. It isn't necessary to travel around with the exhibition to fully enjoy each painting because Harris and Nochlin have provided the reading public with a book which can only be called a major event in the world of art. The collection has been assembled and published by the Los Angeles Museum of Art and is entitled Women Artists 1550-1950, and includes 204 plates illustrating the work of 84 women. The book also contains a surprisingly comprehensive and thorough sociological history, as well as an art history for each artist and the various periods of art, including how each period has affected the woman as artist.

The idea for this exhibition came after some impromptu speeches after a dinner in connection with another exhibition, Caravaggio and His Followers, shown at Clevland Museum of Art in 1971. A story was told by Kenneth Donahue about a group of women artists who came to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art protesting for equal time and space for women artists. These speeches facilitated a number of subsequent meetings of artists, art collectors and critics where a comprehensive exhibition of distinguished artists was planned. The original exhibition was designed to honor the Italian painter, Artemisia Gentileschi, 1593-1652—53, whose life was a series of exceptions to the traditional rules about women and women artists because of her apprenticeship with her father and her notoriety as an artist during her lifetime. However, during these early meetings which resulted in the book, Ann Sutherland Harris reminded those interested that there were many women artists of great mastery who did not achieve fame for reasons of sexism and so should now be recognized along with Artemisia Gentileschi. As a result, the assemblage of these works by European and American Artists was to make known the achievements of some fine artists whose absence from the list of great artists can in part be a result of their sex. The result was a geographically and historically based collection of women painters showing a relentless search for representative works from many countries and many styles. The painting is, for the most part, indicative of a specific period and in a few cases, exemplary of many of the grand masters of the male artists such as Rembrandt and Giotto.

The importance of this catalogue of works by women artists can be seen in the difficulty in getting some major works of past centuries and in particular of this century. That is, many works have been left out of the exhibition because of a newly kindled interest in women's art and feminism. Some art treasures which might have been gladly lent out five years ago are not present in his volume because of their possible new value.

cont. pg. 11

BOOKS

FROM THE CLOSET TO THE COURTS
By Ruth Simpson
Penguin Books:
180 pages; $2.25;
paperback

By Melanie Johnson

Sit down and think for a minute of all the myths you have heard, read, believed, or disbelieved about lesbians. Do they include:

— Lesbians are man-haters.
— Women are lesbians because they can't get a man.
— Women become lesbians because they are afraid of childbirth or don't like children.
— All lesbians are really in love with their fathers.
— Women become lesbians because they had a bad experience with men in their early lives.
— Feminists are really lesbians.
— All lesbians are either "butch" or "Femme."

Ruth Simpson, in her book, From the Closet to the Courts, shatters these and other flimsy myths, and gives her readers a vivid portrait of what lesbianism is all about. The book is simultaneously informative and sensitive, and Simpson's honest and clear prose make for enjoyable reading. Her pride, and positive attitude towards her lesbianism is a source of encouragement, particularly for lesbians, but for heterosexual women as well.

Simpson defines lesbianism as a positive choice by women, rather than a negative, passive reaction to societal or emotional stimuli. "Lesbianism is not a disinclination to love man; it is, rather, an inclination, a positive, empathic, emotional, and in most instances, physical response to another woman. But lesbianism is by no means an exclusively sexual term. It implies involvement on all levels of consciousness." (p. 10).

Simpson soundly refutes the belief that homosexuality results from a mental or emotional disturbance when she takes on Dr. Charles Socarides' article in the Journal of American Medical Association. In her attack on his article "Homosexuality and Medicine," she points out the male and heterosexual biases of his analysis, and indicates the damage that this kind of attitude can wreck upon the individual. Needless to say, these attitudes, coming from professionals, only serve to reinforce the stereotypes and myths surrounding homosexuality.

Simpson also dramatizes the struggles lesbians face in the family, their friends, the church, the law, and the media. Parents agonize and berate their lesbian daughter, asking themselves "how have we failed?" Strangers, and even friends, refuse to deal with homosexuality. Simpson relates a conversation she had with a friend of six years, who responded when Simpson told her that she was lesbian, "Surely you have made a mistake. You have always been so feminine. No, I'm sorry to say I just don't believe it."

> 'Lesbianism is not a disinclination to love men; it is, rather, a positive. . . emotional . . . response to another woman.'

In the media, Simpson and other lesbians have had to defend themselves and their choices against a strong force of cultural norms and expectations. Homosexuality on televison is a joke, a character flaw, or something bizarre. Edwin Newman, prior to the NBC television network program, "New York Illustrated, Homosexuals: Out of the Closet," (1973) made the following announcement:

"There are scenes in the following program which may shock you. I tell you in advance in case you don't wish to watch it or don't want your children to see it."

Head in the sand attitudes such as these, resulting from and creating fear and misunderstanding, have also splintered the women's movement between lesbians and heterosexuals. Indeed, Simpson points out how the New York National Organization for Women (NOW) as late as 1974, said regarding a pro-lesbian civil rights plank, "the rest of the country, the suburban housewives, are not ready for it."

Simpson then reminds the reader that one third of the New York daughters of Billitis were mothers. Probably even more supposedly "happy housewives" are lesbian but have not "come out" for fear of reprisal and rejection. Simpson asserts that "the women's movement must seriously try to shed itself of its fears, hostility, and exploitation of lesbians as a group. Only then can there be a true and workable connection between the feminist and the lesbian movement."

Simpson also brings great insight to the needs and the problems of the lesbian movement. Homosexuals in most states are considered in a legal sense "sexual deviants," and therefore, are of bad moral character; they cannot legally marry or get state licenses, and often receive little or no respect from law enforcement agencies. As "extra-legal persons," homosexuals cannot seek the protection of the law when harassed by police, lawyers, doctors, etc. Simpson suggests changing the laws that now exclude them, as the first step taken by lesbians to alleviate their oppression.

From there, Simpson offers

cont. pg. 11

The Pleasant St. Theater

ORSON WELLES
F for Fake

A fascinating new direction in Orson Welles film making. Already acclaimed in Europe this documentary film exposes forgers con men artists and Welles himself. With Clifford Irving Elmyr de Hory and Welles himself. Another Western Mass Premiere

Wednesday March 9
to Sunday March 13

F FOR FAKE 7 & 9 p.m. (also 3:30 March 9)

Monday March 14
to Sunday March 20
ABEL GANCE: FILM PIONEER

BONAPARTE et la REVOLUTION March 14, 16, 18, 20 at 7 p.m. only

This is Gance's masterwork using footage shot in 1925 and in 1970 and making use of sound cinema-verite camera and color. Running time 4 hours 14 minutes.

ABEL GANCE: THE CHARM OF DYNAMITE and J'ACCUSE March 15, 17, 19 at 7 and 9:30 p.m. (also March 16 at 3:30

A documentary on GAnce precedes J'ACCUSE an adamant anti-war protest

27 Pleasant St./Northampton 586-0935

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

Bedspreads

An excellent selection of bedspreads from India and Pakistan — many of them hand loomed and hand dyed. Numerous colors and patterns. Single (twin) sizes (72" x 108") and double sizes (90" x 108").

Faces of Earth

Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Women In...

By Melanie Johnson

Art has always been delegated to the pedestal, high above the early visitations that might tain it. Somehow art is created in a vacuum — poof! — for us to ooh and aahh appreciatively and to wonder at its creation. We criticize in terms of spatial planes, color, style and structure, alliteration, rhyme schemes, and harmonic triads. Such nice neat categories — how antiseptic and non-controversial. So pure!

Well, perhaps it is time to start approaching art as something more than magic. These sterilized analyses often neglect two important factors in any artistic creation; the artist, and the artist's environment. These two factors; are inherently intertwined, and, like it or not, bring much to bear upon the canvas, the piano, and the pen.

It was easy to remain within the confines of "pure" analysis when men's artistic endeavors were the only ones that society as a whole paid much attention. But the long-awaited recognition that women were serious artists (and not just bored or frustrated wealthy housewives with leisure time) brought with it the problems of understanding the influence that sexual differences made upon art.

It has been all too easy to delineate art into "art" and "Womens art", signifying but such terminology an inherent inferiority in what the women artists produced. Much is often made of particular character traits or eccentricities of female artists (Emily Dickinson, Sylvia Plath, Georgia O'Keefe), causing them to be somehow different. The female artist, like most women who achieve equal social status with white men, are considered to be "exceptional."

But female artistic expression should no more be judged as exceptional to its sex than male produced art. We lack the socio-polihcil perspectives and the ability to integrate the artist, the work, and the environment more tightly together. It is gratifying to see that these kinds of analysis have begun to grow, each attempt bringing more insight into the work. Let's hope they too do not become classified as "exceptional."

We need to begin to appraise art in relation to the statements it make about women, and women's relationship to society. We need to look at the works by women in terms of what kinds of statements they make about their environment, themselves, their relationships with other women and with men, and their visions for the future. The world of art can no longer claim to be a man's domain nor do I believe that it ever was; dig a little, and you'll find feminist and anti-feminist statements everywhere). As a powerful institution, art must make way for all people's expressions.

Betty Carter

By Jack Cahill

The music world is evil business and it seems that the more honest the musician, the harder it is for him-her to be heard. In the jazzmusic world where honesty is (hopefully) the essential ingredient, there are certain individuals who stand out for their indomitable sincerity and commitment to their air. John Coltrane, Cecil Taylor, Thelonious Monk, Ornette Coleman are in these ranks. So is Betty Carter.

She has reached this high level by dint of a long, hard struggle made all the more difficult by her female presence in an almost totally male musical world. From touring with the Lionel Hampton big band in the late forties to leading her own groups through the jazz depression of the sixties, Betty Carter has remained a constant on the scene in spite of the ignorance of club owners and recording companies. It would be easy for her to be bitter at the treatment she has been afforded, but she is not. She is full of life and energy and fulfillment which she radiates more directly than any other performer I have ever seen.

The expressiveness of Betty Carter cannot be captured by photos or on records, it must be experienced live and the closer to her the better. As she sings, she moves about the stage with an uncanny rightness and grace that greatly affect an audience. Her face, too, and her gestures lend a vividness to lyrics that other singers merely parrot. On "Body and Soul", her features twist with genuine sorrow as she sang-whispered "Oh I tell you that I mean it with all my body and soul." "I Was Telling Him About You" became a sad confession as much as a gripping song. Betty's personal involvement with every piece was almost frightening.

Her authority as leader of her trio could not be questioned. The trio — John Hicks, Clint Houston and Clifford Barbaro — is a very powerful unit (the core of Charles Tolliver's Music Inc.) but it was they who had to strain to keep up with Betty's wild tempos. Their collective restraint and precision in one of the most difficult of all trio situations was remarkable. Pianist John Hicks played in every sort of bag from hard charging contemporary to happy stride and clearly had some sort of prescient connection with the vocalist for I saw no cues given. Betty's status as a musician, not just a "Vocalist" was proven in her long wide ranging scat duet with bassist Clint Houston, a wonderful moment of pure jazz freedom. There were times in the concert when the forces of rhythm was almost overwhelming and would have destroyed any singer less competent than Betty. On "Swing, Brother Swing," she would exhort the drummer wildly, then whirl and snap out the lyrics in triple time with faultless diction.

Whereas Ella Fitzgerald delineates the popular song with clarity and exactness, Betty re-composes the material and pulls it into whatever strange shape she desires. "Every Time We Say Goodbye" barely resembled its original form, but the Carter interpretation was full of long dramatic quavers and notes that shot up one's spine. She is a firm believer that when she is singing a song, it is hers. A divinely conceived medley of "Just Friends," "All the Things You Are," "I Didn't Know What Time It Was" and "Star Eyes" was a masterpiece as Betty accelerated and decelerated with sudden ease, combined tunes and riffs with true improvisational good sense and kept her finger exactly on the beat while never slighting the lyrics.

You may have gleaned from this review that the concert was more than exceptional. It was. You may suspect that this Betty Carter is an extraordinary performer. She is. You have hopefully put it in your mind to seek out her music. Please do. This woman possesses more righteous musical power than I or 1700 others at the FAC last Sunday night could believe.

D. Schafer photos

BOOKS

The sign outside of Logo's Bookstore in Amherst said, "Local Authors Reception Upstairs 12:30 - 5 p.m. today." After checking out my favorite shelves downstairs, I climbed the center stairway and made my way through the crowded room to the round table at which sat Lee R. Edwards and Arlyn Diamond, editors of The Authority of Experience: Essays in Feminist Criticism.

Friends and colleagues of the two women wandered in and out of the room throughout the afternoon; they congratulated the two authors, compared notes on curriculum and faculty, nibbled on cheese and crackers, and made jokes about the weather, their days at University of Cal. at Berkley (both women studied there, but didn't know each other). It was a congenial, and non-serious atmosphere; but who can be serious on a rainy Friday afternoon?

Diamond and Edwards both teach in the University English department; Edwards has been here for 10 years, and Diamond for eight. They have seen a decline in the number of women in the department since they arrived, but acknowledged that most of them who were now there were in permanent tracks. Diamond and Edwards said that the Valley offered them a stimulating atmosphere for work in feminist criticism, since it has so many people and resources in women's studies. Indeed, they felt that UMass had more to offer in Women's Studies than other private, more expensive and more "prestigeous" universities.

Diamond and Edwards have taught courses in Women as Hero, Feminist Criticism, Lost Fiction, and Medieval Literature. Prior to their work on The Authority of Experience, they collaborated on issuing a collection of fiction by little-known female writers.

FILM

By John Matthew

One of the most tragic aspects of the demise of the 'Hollywood Star System' is the fate of the American actress. Since the industry views most women performers as being 'unbankable' (unable to carry a film to box office success, which leads to profits to finance future productions, hence perpetuating the cycle) quality women roles have stopped being written. No longer can one go to gaze at the magic of an Ingrid Bergman, or at the mysticism of a Myrna Loy. Today we are offered the 'pretty face', the talented 'Farrah', the femme fatale who reads her lines from cue cards.

The plight of today's American actress is even more remarkable when one considers that in the last five years not one true female 'star' has emerged, while Pacino, DeNiro, Redford, and others have moved on to 'super-stardom'.

Then there is Barbara Streisand, the last 'Funny Girl', the last unknown to make it big. She will remain a part of the American film heritage, representing the end of the era characterized by Hollywood's process of manufacturing of talent. It may have been dehumanizing, yet it did produce the biggest names in the industry's history.

Since the fall of the 'star system' and studio power, the 'big names', now free agents, have been partly responsible for driving production costs up over 40 per cent in the last five years.

Producers' responses have taken the form of attempting to eliminate these 'excessive costs', leading to a possible new trend in movies; the casting of women in traditionally male roles.

First experiment is that of Louise Fletcher (Cuckoo's Nest') in the upcoming 'Exorcist Part II'. Script called for a psychiatrist, and with name actors demanding upwards of $350,000 for the supporting role, the producers decided that women 'professionals' are now common enough to justify the casting change. The move to Fletcher was purely cost-based as she was willing to work for 'substantially less' due to the shortage of creative women roles.

Though not the ideal situation for resolving Hollywood's 'woman crisis', it is an opportunity for more female screen time, and once accepted will probably lead to the creation of more and better offerings for all women in film.

VIDEO

By Greg Tarlin

As a recent commentary by Ann Pincus in Newsweek magazine pointed out, there are few, if any, healthy role models for women in prime time television. Pincus writes that Mary Tyler Moore is merely an Ann Landers for colleagues, that Rhoda is neurotic, Phyllis too dumb to hold a job, Maude is on the brink of perrenial hysteria, Charley of 'All's Fair' is "dizzy, offensively aggressive, and stupid", Angie 'Police Woman' Dickinson is a flirtatious cop who constantly makes mistakes and must be rescued by others, Wonder Woman rights wrongs only to save her beloved Major Trevor from harm, and so on. To sum up, she states that, although there are shows featuring women, the men are still the decision makers and problem solvers. I would tend to agree.

Women, as portrayed by modern network television, while often funny, and usually attractive, seem incapable of getting anything done without the help of men. Decisions are treated like the plague; the women want no part of them. Not so with TV's Kojaks, Colombo's and Ironsides. For these men, decisions are taken care of like business appointments, quickly and efficiently.

In 'Star Trek', the only program to ever become the basis for a cult following, who were the women role models? Two come to mind — Lieutenant Uhura and Dr. McCoy's nurse. The former sings occasionally and looks pretty, the latter loves the unapproachable Mr. Spock from afar. Neither were ever protagonists; they never cause action but are merely part of it.

A more contemporary program, 'Laverne and Shirley', can be admired for its tight scripts and attempts at honesty but must be faulted for the characters of its stars, both of whom are working girls looking only for one thing in life — their man.

There are, of course, exceptions, such as Edith Bunker who, while playing the ignorant housewife, still manages to appear much smarter than her bigoted husband. Or Carol Burnett who, leads and manages an hour of variety without ever losing her dignity or intelligence.

However, these are few and far between. For the most part we see women like Ellie Mae Clampett, Jeanie, Ginger, Charlie's Angels, Hot lips, and Blansky's Beauties, women who, it becomes painfully obvious, are not wearing their skimpy outfits to show off their brains.

Someone named Charo has, in fact, made a fortune for herself by appearing on television half-dressed and wiggling her torso frantically while yelling Koochie-Koochie.

And, while I enjoy watching attractive, half-dressed women as much as, if not more than anyone, things of this sort cause one to realize just how prehistoric the portrayal of women on TV is, and to acknowledge the fact that the Womens' Movement's battle with this medium has only just begun.

THEATRE

By James F. B. Sawyer

From the times of the medieval miracle plays, women have been gradually taking ever larger parts in theatrical production.

From costumière, a traditionally female role in play production, they are currently moving toward positions of greater jurisdiction and notoriety, ultimately filling in the traditionally male functions of director, producer and in the case of college theatre, theatre department head.

Of these functions several women in the Valley fit into at least two.

Helene Keyssar, the head of the dramatic arts department at Amherst College, is currently directing the Amherst Masquers in their production of William Shakespeare's The Tempest. In a recent interview, Keyssar admitted to a certain strange sensation in being, not only one of the few female faculty members on the Amherst College campus, but being a department head also.

"When I first got here," she told me, "I could walk from one end of the campus to the other and never come across another woman."

But with Keyssar's influence, Five-College women are encouraged to audition for all Amherst productions.

In that same interview, Keyssar admitted to a feeling that in her current production, she was trying to prove herself in some way, though she did not specify as to what it was she wanted to prove or to whom.

Kiki Smith, the newly elected "chair" of the drama department at Smith College has a major problem to contend with, due to legislation which was intended to diminish sexist practices.

Title IX forbids discrimination based on sex. But at Smith College, the graduate program in theatre has until recently been closed to all women.

In Kevin Turcotte's interview of Smith that appeared in Below the Salt on February 25, she explained that the graduate program at Smith College was closed to women because, since it is a predominately female school, and since grad students would more than likely end up getting the best roles, it was felt that the undergraduates would not get the opportunity to appear in productions.

The solution was to allow only males, who would not be competing with the undergraduate females for roles, into the graduate program.

But thanks to recent anti-sexist legislation, Smith College will have to come up with a new plan of action.

During International Women's Week, perhaps it would serve better than the many sparsely-attended symposiums, for men and women alike to review their own positions and hopes for women and see whether the things that are being done to eradicate sexism will really do as much good as they are intended to do.

ב"ה

Jew!
Who Are You?

Today there is a way to answer all of your questions, resolve your doubts... and, at the same time, discover the truth and beauty of your Jewish heritage. For men the first step begins at Hadar Hatorah; for women at Machon Chana.
Each of these unique institutes of learning offers meaningful, in-depth courses in Jewish history, ethics, traditions, philosophy, Hebrew and Yiddish. A complete curriculum in basic and advanced Judaism. With no previous religious background requirements, no fees for those unable to pay. Plus a choice of day or evening sessions, Sunday or Weekend seminars, and a Summer Program. Dormitory facilities also available.
Rabbi Jacob J. Hecht, Dean
REGISTRATIONS ARE NOW BEING ACCEPTED FOR ALL SESSIONS
For further information, call or write

MACHON CHANA
Women's Institute for the Study of Judaism
733 EASTERN PARKWAY, BKLYN, N.Y. 11213
(212) 735-0200

HADAR HATORAH
Lubavitch School for College Youth
824 EASTERN PARKWAY, BKLYN, N.Y. 11213
(212) 735-0200

Breaker one-nine this is D.V.P.

Go ahead breaker

DVP is on the lookout for new members

Roger, DVP

Applications available at C.C. Info Desk &
Room 415 S.U.

Big 10-4 good buddy.

WANNA Boogie?
Then come to the
Big Bad Boogie
Friday, March 11
9:00 p.m. at Worcastar D.C.
$2.00 gets you all the boogie
you CAN take.
All drinks free.
Music by Orphan Annie
Sponsered by Sylvan Area
Govt.

st. patrick's day cards

American Greetings
Creative Excellence is an American Tradition . . .

At the
UNIVERSITY STORE
Campus Store

DON'T GET RIPPED OFF
Don't Spend $1000 For A Used Car
& Then $600 For Repairs.
Use CONSUMER AUTO PROTECTION
Before you buy or repair a used car.

We Don't make repairs, referrals or sell cars.
We're Independent

For $29 We:
- Check Over 100 Mechanical & Body Parts.
- Even Remove Wheels to Check Brakes & Cyclinders;
- Complete Electronic Engine Analysis
- We give a written report on the car including costs of repairs & value.

C. A. P. PROTECTION

CONSUMER AUTO PROTECTION is a service that is long overdue. It is modelled after the Dept. of Transportation's Office of State Vehicle Programs.

203 River St. W. Springfield 732-1511 for details.

STEAMROLLERS!

Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

D. Schafer photos

Marathon Woman

Merry Cushing — Setting the pace

By Teresa M. Hanafin

The first time Merry Cushing entered the Boston Marathon, she was told to go to a certain gymnasium to pick up her number. She entered the gym, and almost immediately was confronted by a red-faced, enraged official who demanded to know if she liked seeing nude men getting dressed and undressed in front of her. Well, not particularly, she said. Why did he want to know? All the official could sputter was that she had better get the hell out of the men's dressing room and to her proper place. Merry, totally shocked and confused, finally discovered she had indeed been directed to the wrong place, and soon found the location for women to pick up their numbers for the race.

Welcome to the overwhelmingly male world of marathon running, Merry.

If that experience left Merry confused and a bit upset, it also served to strengthen her determiniation to succeed in doing what she wants to do — run marathons.

For it is not a fierce competitiveness and need to defeat males which drives Merry Cushing during her races. It is simply that she loves to run as much as she loves to knit, cross-country ski and bake bread. It turns her on.

Merry, a resident of Bay Road in South Amherst, has entered the Boston Marathon three times and numerous other marathons and shorter races, despite the fact that she only began to run competitively six years ago. She is classified as a national class runner by virtue of a spectacular under-three hour run of the Boston Marathon in 1975, in which she was the fifth woman to finish.

Why running? Why marathon running?

"I was convinced I would never run long distance races after I got lost while running a 15-mile race in Springfield that I was entered in by a friend, Tom Derdarian. I tried swimming for fitness after I had my third child, and like it a lot, but didn't like having to meet someone else's schedule. I wanted to exercise whenever I was ready.

"I didn't enjoy running at all at first — I did it because I thought it was good for me. That was the first stage. Then I got to the stage where you feel really good after you run. Then you get to the point where running is really enjoyable, and you're hooked for life. I am. I imagine I will run for as long as I am physically able.

"Runners are a certain type of person, I think. I believe they are more intelligent than the average person. I like the spirit of other runners I know. It doesn't depend on what sex, age, color or race — runners are just alike.

"Running is not mindless — it is anything but! The mind is as important as the body in running. Not only is there a training program to stick to and consciously follow, but running is a time I can have to myself."

What does she think about while running? "Lots of things. I run for my mental health. At home, things build up — the kids spill a gallon of milk, the phone is ringing, kids always need something — running is a time I can think about things. I plan menus, compose letters...a friend tells me when I run I meditate because I am able to put certain pain out of my mind. I don't know if I am, but I am able to turn on or off certain pain I may have while running."

Right now, all training is aiming towards the big one — the Boston Marathon in April.

"I try to tell myself that all races are alike, that no one is more important than another, but I can't. It's not true. The Boston Marathon is really something special. I don't know why — it is just a great race that attracts a really classy field. It only comes once a year, and it's the big one."

Merry missed last year's marathon in Boston because of what she felt was too high temperatures. The race was held in 83 degree heat, but without Merry, who felt it was too hot.

"I'm not the type of runner who severely punishes herself just to run and win a race. I've been at races before and seen kids with all sorts of bandages on, throwing-up left and right — you'd think you were in a war. I don't get into that at all.

But Merry is determined once she has started a race to finish.

"I'm pretty stubborn. I've never dropped out of a race. The year I made the Boston Marathon under three hours, I was running when I felt that my feet were bleeding. I was going to tell my husband to have band-aids ready at the next meeting place I had arranged with him, but then I found out I was running under three hours. I thought about it, and realized that if I stopped to put on those band-aids, and then finished the race one or two minutes over three hours, I would never forgive myself for having stopped to put them on. So I didn't, and finished the race in 2:56:57."

Merry runs about 10 miles a day near her home, but if someone comes along and says, "let's run," she'll be off again for sheer love of running.

"I run long, slow distances and am very consistent with my speed at the beginning and the end of the race. I believe in running the way I feel — I'm not concerned with the clock, I have to listen to my body. Sometimes I do fast interval work, but not as often as I should.

"Other runners who run shorter distances get bored with long distances, but I really enjoy the scenery. I get bored running around and around inside a gym.

"People talk about the loneliness of the long distance runner. I still don't know what they are talking about. I enjoy running immensely — the fresh air, the people I sometimes run with.

"I remember one of the Boston Marathon races, I was running with a friend of mine who is a very distinguished English professor here. We reached Heartbreak Hill, when all of a sudden a man jumped out of the crowd and yelled at me, 'Women belong in the kitchen.' My friend was so upset by this that he shouted an obscenity to the man. I was shocked, because my friend was such a reserved, distinguished fellow. But it made me feel good, because he must have felt pretty strongly about the incident to have reacted as strongly as he did. He told me later he thought all men should run a race and keep pace with a woman to see what the woman is subjected to during the race."

Will women eventually equal men in the marathon or other races? "I don't think so. I don't know why I don't believe it, but I just don't believe it. People say women haven't been running as long as men, and therefore eventually catch up with men in development. I don't agree that women could equal the performances of men. Whether it's the placement of the hips, or what, I don't really know. I do know that some evidence has come to light that women do better against men on long distances.

"Running is a lifestyle, basically. Runners are concerned with body functions, nutrition, getting enough rest. I love it so much I tend to over-train because I like to run so much. Running is a very pleasant thing for me now. I like the side effects, especially now in the spring, with the nice weather. It will be beautiful...and I will be out there watching the scenery, running."

HAHJEE'S PLACE

CREPES: Milano, Bakhara, Ratatouille, Stroganoff and de la Mer.

PERSIAN GOURMET COOKING: Cadu, Badum June, Eggplant Parmesian, Rack of Lamb Shiskebab.

VEGETARIAN DISHES: Homoose, Ali baba, Baba Ganuche.

DESSERTS: Crepe desserts, Baklava

Variety of imported and domestic beer and wine.

Open 11:00-11:30
Weekends til 1:00

Rte. 9 Hadley
584-9797

Spectrum

BLACK AND WHITE ISSUE
· FICTION · PHOTOS · · ART WORK · POETRY ·

bring submissions to Rm. 106 CC
DEADLINE · APRIL 1, 1977

UNIVERSITY PIZZA

LAST WEEK

WE MADE YOU A PIZZA
YOU COULDN'T REFUSE!
NOBODY DID REFUSE
THE SPECIAL WENT SO WELL, WE WILL REPEAT IT THIS WEEK
ORDER OUR
NEW 16" PIZZA
and get a free quart of Coke, Tab, Root Beer or Sprite on us!
(Offer good until March 10th)

Call 549-5592

Across from Southwest Dorms.

HOME OF THE STEAK & CHEESE SUB!

The Generals Place
Army-Navy Store
Our Largest Selection of Short-Sleeve Shirts Ever!!

Colored T-Shirts with pocket –	$2.19
Large Selection of Tank Tops –	from $1.98
Short-Sleeve Jerseys –	from $3.98
Short-Sleeve Knit Shirts –	from $6.95
Rugby Shirts –	$7.50

Plus much more!! Solids, Pin Stripes, Wide Stripes, Heathers, Crew Necks, Boat Necks, V-Necks — All at our usual LOW prices.

35 E. Pleasant St., Amherst 549-6166
(Next to Minuteman Cleaners)

THE AUTHORITY OF EXPERIENCE: ESSAYS IN FEMINIST CRITICISM

Edited by Arlyn Diamond and Lee R. Edwards University of Massachusetts Press 1977 304 pgs.

By Melanie Johnson

The Authority of Experience is a powerful collection of thought provoking essays, bringing together literature and a political perspective. The organization and selection of essays allows one to read a little and ponder, read a little more and start to ask oneself some questions. It raises questions of both political stylistic concerns.

The first question that it addresses itself to is what is feminist criticism, and why is it important for us to consider? The first three essays are particularly aimed at fulfilling this task, although all the essays include their refinements on what implications feminist criticism has for their subject. Marcia Landy, in "The Silent Woman: Towards a Feminist Critique," defines feminist criticism as "a critique of literature and criticism which have at their core the inclusion of views of oppressed groups, that probe the mythology about women and other minority groups perpetuated in the stereotypes and attitudes which are a mirror prevailing fantasies and conscious social norms."

Other questions raised by the first three essays include, what roles do language and women play against each other? What is the role of women in fiction? What impact do these stereotypes have on fiction? What of the silent women? These three essays are a fine introduction to this kind of critical self and social analysis, and serve as springboards for the more in-depth essays to follow.

The essays that deal with individuals or individual pieces offer a variety of topics, viewpoints, style, and tone. Patricia Barber's "What if Bartleby Were a Woman?" is a delightful twist on the Herman Melville story, Bartleby the Scriverner, and shows how the change in sex of the main character, without changing any other part of the book, stirs up completely different images and innuendos in the mind of the reader. Diamond's "Chaucer's Women and Women's Chaucer" shows how Chaucer really wasn't as cruel to women as his characterizations make him appear, but was the victim of his own conservatism and his times. It is important to keep in mind the historical environment of such authorsy. Several essays deal with the personal struggles of female authors to express their thoughts and dreams.

Edwards' essay, "War and Roses: The politics of Mrs. Dalloway" brings a feminist criticism not only to the fiction, but then takes it further, to the political and social spectrums as well.

..."Virginia Woolf is suggesting that we damn ourselves if, in constructing a view of the world we deny a connection between politics and feelings or values, and so creates politics lacking both beauty and joy. She may be right."

The Authority of Experience is not a book that can be read in an evening or two, as the concepts are difficult and the scholarship impeccable. The language throughout is lucid, vivid, and imaginative, it will press you onward through each essay, exploring more and more of an approach to literature with which we may be unfamiliar, but now demands our attention. The groundwork for critical analysis has been laid; it is time for us to start to use it for things outside of political science or history classes. The Authority of Experience is a fine scholarly effort in this direction.

Edwards and Diamond are both members of the UMass English department, Edwards having been here for ten years, and Diamond for eight. The Authority of Experience is their second collaboration; the first was American Voices, American Women, a collection of fiction by little-known American female writers. Presently, Diamond is doing research in medieval literature, and Edwards is exploring woman as hero.

EVERYWOMAN

By: Gina Luria & Virginia Tiger
Random House
163 pages
$7.95

By Heidi Berenson

With the rise in popularity of the women's movement have come numerous books to accompany this increase in the awareness of the equality of the sexes. Most of this new onslaught of literature has become repetitious to the point where a new publication offers no startling approach, only an addition to its many predecessors.

So when the book, Everywoman arrived at the Collegian office, I hardly batted an eye. I glanced at the back cover though and noticed this: "Her laughter her blues her solemn daydreams, her flawed flesh, adventurer, childbearer, warrior, bitch, keening, loving, learning, dying, her works and days and nights — the community of women have sown the seeds and here is the harvest of everywoman".

I figured that it was worth a look, and another look, and another look. I couldn't put this treasury of women's struggles and achievements, past and present, down. The book is so filled with illustrative graphics, and compelling literature that it sets itself apart from any other look at the female sex thus far.

It is more than just, "another book". If a picture is worth a thousand words, than this book contains billions of intangible messages.

This vision of pro- and anti-feminist beliefs successfully displays in itself that the woman's place is everywhere.

Because of the obvious diversity of women, it is hard to encapsulate enough material to satisfy everyone in terms of content identifiability. But Gina Luria and Virginia Tiger gathered enough common situations to remedy this dilemma.

The book's editorial content includes such topics as: violence, seduction, pinups, lust, life as a single, and outrageous graphics that, through their subtle messages, baffle the mind.

The graphics in the book play a major role in its presentation as they exist in more than half of the pages. They are colorful additions without containing any colors at all.

Most of the pictures correspond to the text at hand, but some photos and illustrations are thrown in to contribute to

cont. pg. 11

Feminist Offerings of Oral Delights

THE COMMON WOMON
78 Masonic St., Northampton
Open Tuesday thru Sunday:
2:30 to 5:30 for coffee and dessert
5:30 to 8:30 for dinner

One could easily say that The Common Womon is the finest women's restaurant in the area, a rather facile statement as it is the only women's restaurant in the area. So let me re-phrase that: The Common Womon is one of the finest restaurants in the area, period. Quite a mouthful, really, considering the competition offered by Northampton's other cafes and restaurants that neighbor the 78 Masonic Street establishment, yet The Common Womon has set new standards of excellence that the Main Street minions will be hard pressed to meet.

It has also set, fortunately or unfortunately, off considerable controversy because of its "no men" policy. The Common Womon, having chosen to be a non-profit private club (it is not, by the way, the only single-sex club in Northampton). Even an a-political, apathetic such as I cannot fail to be impressed by the important, political statements being made there about control; control over space, over business, and over food. This theme of control runs through every aspect of the restaurant; from its initial organization and renovation (beginning a year ago, and financially aided both by individuals and by the Massachusetts' Feminist Federal Credit Union; moreover all labor on the building was done by women), to its day-to-day collective running (through the efforts of a nine member board), to its services and clientele, it is indeed a women's restaurant. Yet I would like to shift the emphasis, for a moment, from its being a women's restaurant to its being a women's restaurant. This is, after all, its primary "raison d'etre", and on these merits it should rest its laurels.

These laurels are considerable; the food is unquestionably very good: I liked its variety, I liked its taste, I liked its texture, I liked its wholesomeness, I liked its price, I liked the food. The vegetarian menu changes daily and features Italian and seafood entres, plus a number of soups and salads. For example, last Friday's menu — entitled "Feminist Offerings of Oral Delight" — included lasagna (whole wheat or regular pasta), spinach ricotta pie, and perch in wine and cheese sauce. The lasagna and a spinach-mushroom-egg salad, were distinct culinary pleasures, and were balanced off nicely by a yogurt cream cheese pie that I would cheerfully murder for. Luckily, they are easy to come by as the restaurant opens from 2:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon for coffee and dessert. Speaking of the java, they obviously appreciate a fine cup of coffee, an attribute which has long provided the grounds for any restaurant worth its percolator to stand on.

Mindful of using ingredients such as whole grain flours, honey (instead of refined sugar), and carob flavoring, the cooking strives to be both nourishing and enjoyable, (and brings to mind all sorts of sexist statements about the nourishing concerns and talents of women, which would get me in a great deal of trouble if I said them; which of course I won't).

The atmosphere of The Common Womon is, on the most basic level, restful — enhanced by open arches of inlaid wood and intimate tables; the walls are decorated with sketches and prints by local women artists. Examined on a higher level, its atmosphere is respectful — there are no waitresses, for example, rather women place their own orders and bus their own tables. And on the most inclusive level, its atmosphere is dynamic — for a great deal of excitement is generated there, from its very existence to special events, such as "Sunday Evenings at the Club" (dinners aimed at fund-raising, reservations required) and other cultural and social activities. In itself a clearing house for feminist happenings, The Common Womon shares the white, porched building with the Valley Women's Union (formerly of Main St.), combined, 78 Masonic Street is an address worth keeping in mind. But more than being kept in mind, it's well worth checking out for (to paraphrase Judy Grahn's poem which gave it its name) The Common Womon is truly a "world held in common", as one visit will show.

— Alice E. Horner

Everywoman

the overall varietal appeal. This book is not one that you "get into", it is one that really gets into you. I guarantee that you will never tire of its contents. There is some new development, some new passage, or some new illustration to discover a new meaning for at every glance.

The chapter on Seduction presents a view that encompasses most women's experiences with the affairs of the heart. The piece divides the female heart into a five act play, and it offers a story and then the consequence to it.

The prologue to these acts includes this passage: "Whatever the guise, she is Coquette; whatever her performance, she, or others, lives in its Consequence. And despite the settings, and the scenarios, the lies, the loves, the leers, the tears, it's all the same play. And for every women there are five acts."

The story ends, but does it? Is it the end of a book, or really the beginning? As the authors end it, so I will end: "Snatches of womantalk ... womansong ... womanwork ... never done."

Closet/Courts

no specific alternatives, but calls for a collective effort, by all oppressed minorities, to challenge the existing structures and power relationships. She sums this argument up nicely in her introduction.

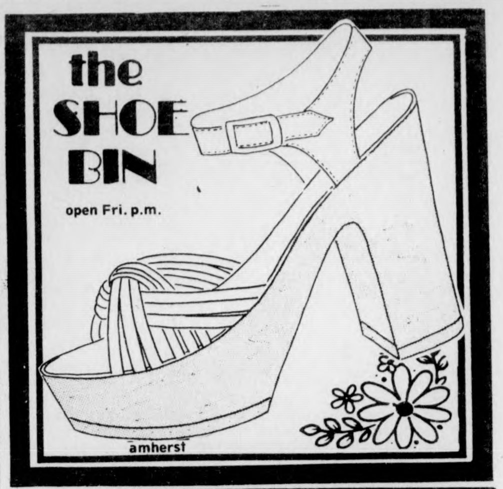
"As the pattern of oppressive action toward all minority groups is the same, we all must try to understand the similarity of our causes, at the same time realizing and respecting the nature of our causes, at the same time realizing and respecting the nature of our differences. Through this understanding a coalition could arise: we would become a patchwork majority, a dangerous potential for any oppressor."

Simpson's book is a stop in the bridging of gaps between minority groups. As more authors join her ranks and we share more experiences and values, the potential for change becomes more real.

Fem. Art

For apparent logistical and theoretical reasons, the book focuses on past works of art rather than the present. The cut-off point for latest works is 1910 for the birth date of the artist and 1950 for the work itself. The authors offer the explanation that contemporary works of art treat different issues and have a new and differing cultural importance. However, this new catalogue is no less than an important book of art history and will inspire visions of expanded perspective for all contemporary artists. This is not a limited collection of historical art treasures but is a living exhibition which is, just now, honoring those women artists who have not received recognition. This collection of art is a milestone. It ensures the possibility of future exhibitions featuring the work of women artists and painters in an unlimited capacity.

All books reviewed in BELOW THE SALT are available through the University Store.



the SHOE BIN
open Fri. p.m.
amherst

SMITH COLLEGE REC COUNCIL PRESENTS:

HARRY CHAPIN IN CONCERT

THURS. MAR.31 9:30pm

JOHN M. GREENE HALL — SMITH COLLEGE

TICKETS — $6 AVAILABLE STARTING FRIDAY MARCH 11 AT:

TICKETRON — UMASS
FACES OF EARTH — AMHERST
GOODBODIES — SOUTH HADLEY
BACKROOM — NORTHHAMPTON

Smart shopping starts at...
MUNCHYS

ADIRONDACK SODA ALL FLAVORS	SPECIAL 6/$1.20
LIGHT CHUNK TUNA FROM CARNATION (6oz. can)	ONLY 68¢
SWIFT'S BEEF STEW 24 oz. can	ONLY 84¢

OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK

WORCESTER	10:00 am - 11:00 pm
FRANKLIN	11:00 am - 7:00 pm
HAMPDEN	8:00 am - 8:00 pm

Sport Coat

100% cotton, made in Yugoslavia, available in white, light green, blue, and yellow.

$9.95 each

Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Powerful Pieces Possibly Provoke Pleasure

Thur 10

Film: Arthur Rubenstein: Love of Life Thompson 104, 8 p.m.

Film: Blow For Blow Herter 231, 8, 10 p.m. $1.

Fri 11

Recital: Graduate student's music department, 8 p.m. Benanson Hall.

Dance: Graduate Dance Concert, Scott Dance Studio, Smith, 8 p.m., $1.

Concert: Ellen McIlwaine, SUB, 8 p.m., $2.50.

Films: The Harder They Come Patterson Hall, Hampshire 7, 8:45, 10:30; Woman Under The Influence CCA 7 and 9:45, $1; Take The Money and Run Mahar, 7, 9, 11, $1.

Sat 12

Concert: Cleveland Quartet Beetgoven Cycle (No. 4), Buckley Recital Hall, 8:15.

Films: International Women's Week Film Festival, SUB, 1 p.m. Dead End with Humphrey Bogart, 7:30 Gamble Aud., Mt. Holyoke, 75 cents; The Story of Adele H. directed by Truffaut and starring Isabelle Adjani, Sage Hall, Smith 7:30, 9:30.

Sun 13

Recital: Julian Olevsky, violin 8 p.m., Bowker Aud.

Film: Bergman's Cries and Whispers CCA, 7, 9, 11, $1.

Tues 15

Concerts: Tonight, tomorrow and Thursday; "Tomorrow Has Been Here... and Gone!" Voices of New Africa House, 8 p.m., Bowker Aud.

Concert—Lecture: Tom Johnson, composer and music critic for the Village Voice talks on and plays Recent Music.

Wed 16

Films: The Ruling Class Patterson Hall, Hampshire, 7, 9. $1; Grand Hotel with Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford and the Barrymores, Gamble Aud., Mt. Holyoke, 8 p.m. 75 cents.

Local Exhibitions

AMHERST COLLEGE — Mead Art Gallery

Main Gallery — Works from the Hans Klenk Collection

Arms Gallery — Works by Steve Sorman

Bassett Room — American Works in the Permanent Collection

Collins Print Room — Dutch Prints in the Permanent Coll.

Daniels Gallery — Oriental Art from the Permanent Coll.

Merrill Science Center — Seminar "Women in the Arts" Saturday, March 12, 9-5, in conjunction with the Arts Extension Service and International Women's Week.

MOUNT HOLYOKE — Warbeke Gallery

MONSTERS, GARGOYLES AND DRAGONS: ANIMALS OF THE MIDDLE AGES — Exhibit through March 30, Seminar with Speakers to be held March 11-12.

SMITH COLLEGE — Museum of Art

JOSEPH WHITING STOCK 1815-1855, American Folk Artist, through March 20.

MICHAEL SINGER: Sculpture and Drawings, through March 20.

PHOTOGRAPHS FROM THE MUSEUM'S COLLECTION, arranged by the Museum Seminar, Art 357a. Through March 20.

ELLIOT OFFNER: Sculpture, through April 10.

FACES FROM THE VALLEY: Exhibition of Children's Self-Portraits, organized by Ellen Perl, '77, member of the Museum Seminar. Through March 20.

UNIVERSITY

Student Union Gallery — CAROL BYARD: Paintings, through March 11; YARDE AND WILSON: Painting and Sculpture, Mar. 14-Ap. 1.

Fine Arts Center Gallery — PAINTERS AS POETS — Paintings by UMass Art Faculty, John Grillo, Leonel Gongora, and Wang Hui-Ming. Through March 18; STAGE DESIGNS — Set, Costume and Poster Designs by UMass Theatre Faculty Jeffrey Fiala and June Gaeke. Through March 18; CANOLE — Summer Nudes. Through March 18.

Herter Art Gallery — ART BUS to New York Saturday, March 12.

Campus Center, Room 173 — WOMEN'S ART EXHIBIT in conjunction with the Women's Art Collective and International Women's Week, Saturday, March 12.

The Nikolais Dance Theatre will be in residence here March 10 through March 12, as part of the National Endowment for the Arts Dance Residency Touring Program for the 1976-77 Season. The Residency is sponsored by the University Arts Council.

The Company, under the direction of the legendary Alwin Nikolais, will be seen in two evening performances, March 11 and March 13, and will offer a different program each evening.

Tickets for the dance concerts on March 11 and 12 are now on sale at the Fine Arts Center Box Office and at all ticketron outlets and are priced at $6, $5, and $4 for the general public; one-half price for UMass—Amherst students; $1.00 off the regular price for other students. The Fine Arts Center Box Office (Tel. 545-2511) is open from 9 to 4 each day, Monday through Friday.

Horizontal Control

THUR. — FEMALE SEXUALITY and the NEW FEMININE PHILOSOPHY. Geraldo Rivera special with authors Shere Hite (The Hite Report) and Erica Jong (Fear of Flying). 11:30 p.m. chs. 8, 40.

THUR. — Locals The Asparagus Valley Cultural Society appear with Earl "Fatha" Hines and C.W. McCall on Mike Douglas ch. 40, 4:00.

FRI. — GLORY OF THEIR TIMES. Documentary (1969) of baseball's early years, using news reels, stills, and reminiscences of players. Based on Lawrence Ritter's excellent book. 11:00 p.m. ch. 24.

SAT. — MEAN STREETS. Martin (Taxi Driver) Scorsese's first commercial success, about smalltime New York hoods, featuring Robert De Niro and Harvey Keitel. 9:00 p.m. chs. 20, 22, 30.

SUN. — SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE. 1st of six-part Ingmar Bergman study of marriage, starring Liv Ullmann. 1:00 p.m. ch. 57.

MON. — ALL-STAR SWING FESTIVAL. Benny Goodman, Eila Fitzgerald, Duke Ellington, Lionel Hampton, Dave Brubeck, Count Basie, Dizzy Gillespie, and others in 1972 concert. 8:00 p.m. ch. 24.

TUES. — LAST VOYAGE OF THE ARGO MERCHANT. NBC investigation of the largest oil spill in U.S. waters, off the coast of Nantucket Island, Dec. 15, 1976. 10:00 p.m. chs. 20, 22, 30.

WED. — THE GENE ENGINEERS. NOVA looks at controversial gene research, the transmitting of one unrelated organism to another, first accomplished in 1972. 8:00 p.m. chs. 24, 57.

SHIRTS
$5.00
Famous Name Factory Returns and Irregulars
Originally $14-$20.
NOW $5.00
Excellent Condition
Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

Pancake Breakfast:
Sunday, March 13
at 9:00 a.m.-1 p.m.
Chen. 217
$1.50 — juice, pancakes & ham
$1.25 — juice & pancakes
Tickets available
SUB, rm. 432 from 10-2
or call 5-0189
COFFEE AND TEA ALSO SERVED

NOW SERVING MEXICAN FOOD!
VILLAGE INN
OPENING SPECIAL
TAMALE DINNER, 2.75
Mexican drinks are doubles (with dinner).
DRAKE
Tel. 253-2548

university of massachusetts arts council presents
NIKOLAIS
Dance Theatre
FRI. & SAT.
MARCH 11, 12
8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $6, 5, 4. UM—A students — half price, senior citizens and other studnets $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE
545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

We have EVERY SIZE COLOR LENGTH and GENDER
Levi's
LEVI'S JEANS
10% OFF NEXT PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD*.
OFFER EXPIRES: 3/12/77
*EXCLUDES SALE ITEMS
the jeans store
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st. amherst
Fairfield Mall chicopee

Hoopwomen fly high; men just squeeze by

See stories on page 20

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Collegian
VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 102
FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1977

Dean Field cans Baroque porn

By ALAN SHEPARD
Collegian Staff

The showing of the X-rated movie "Portraits" was stopped yesterday afternoon by the administration in a move to end all activities of Baroque Enterprises on campus.

Joseph Szala, administrative assistant of the Public Health Building where the movie was to be shown, received phone calls complaining about the pornographic contents of the film. He was unaware the film was being shown.

He then called Thomas C. Chamberlain of the Scheduling Office to question whether a movie of that content should be shown in a building which is owned by the state not the University.

Chamberlain contacted William F. Field, Dean of Students, who hearing Baroque Enterprises was involved, suggested the movie not be shown.

Field explained Baroque Enterprises as a one-man show run by Albert Sparks, whom he found out a few weeks ago is not a registered student. He then met with Sparks and told him he would reject any more Baroque activities. Sparks scheduled the movie in the Public Health Building, which doesn't go through Field's office.

Field said all the rights of Baroque Enterprises on campus are now suspended and added he "would gladly meet with all student members of Baroque Enterprises."

Bud Demerse, director of Student Activities, explained that Baroque is a non-funded RSO group which has constantly caused difficulties on campus.

Sparks said he will bring this to court in front of the Civil Liberties Union. He has already filed a lawsuit against WMUA for refusing to let him advertise on radio.

A group of about 50 people, mostly women, picketed the Public Health Building. It was a peaceful demonstration. The chant "stop the war against all women" was repeated as they marched.

Cheers from the crowd erupted when the movie's closing was announced although, they continued to march.

Inside, Sparks, claiming he received no official word, started the movie in front of an empty auditorium.

Very shortly Demerse came in and told him to close the doors, that the movie was not to be shown and if he didn't comply it would be in direct violation of the administration.

Sparks offered no resistance but did state he had already set up private showings of the movie and plans to bring a striptease show to the campus.

This started an argument within the crowd which was now inside. When they left, Sparks final comment was, "If I knew that there was going to be this many broads around, I would have set up some Tampax dispensers."

One of the women protesters left warning, ""This won't be the last time you'll see us fighting against pornography."

Debbie Varman, a spokesperson for the group, was very happy about the results. "This has been a good show of the spirit and awareness that is important, especially during Womens' Week. It was a real victory of solidarity."

Judges withhold look-alike posters

By JOE MAGLITTA
and JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

A student judiciary tribunal last night granted an injunction against the display of two similar campaign posters of Student Government Association (SGA) presidential candidates Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite, and John Foley and Herb Tyson. The Student Attorney General's Office will schedule a hearing for tomorrow.

The two posters in question, one printed by each party, contained almost identical texts with the exception of a few words.

Batiste and Hite charged the text of Foley and Tyson's posters was directly plagarized from their own.

While the Batiste-Hite poster measured 14x11, and contains sketches of the candidates, the Foley-Tyson paper is an 8x11 photo copy.

The campaign literature in question contains three identical words: knowledge, fight and experience, in three statements which imply similar platforms for the two presidential tickets.

Judge Ronald Watkins said last night, the implication is that if either candidate is found in violation of SGA 1977 election rules, they could possibly be forced to withdraw from the campaign."

On the request of Pinky Batiste, Karl Allen and Neil Chyten of the Student Senate Governmental Affairs Committee yesterday filed a petition for Judicial action, calling for an injunctive relief hearing. The petition requested the Foley Tyson campaign stop distributing the poster in question and all posters already distributed removed.

Allen and Chyten charged the sheets were distributed in contravention rule no. 8 of "Rules and Regulations - SGA Presidential Election", which state "No candidate shall interfere with another candidates campaign."

Batiste and Hite advocate Jan van Tol said he felt there was no question the posters were copied.

"They mean the same thing, they are the same thing. The candidates didn't come up with them independently. One side copied the other side" he said.

John Foley attacked the complaint, calling it a " political maneuver designed to understate our campaign."

Foley said "The whole issue is a complete farce, a set up. Hite and Batiste are scared of losing so they're attacking the integrity of us and our campaign. The whole affair is dirty, mud-slinging, backstabbing politics. All along they've been doing the same things as us; their posters have been the same and their approach to the issues has been the same. This whole thing is just another move in that direction. I hope people realize tomorrow what a farce this is. They haven't come up with anything concrete. It's all political maneuvering."

Foley said he heard of the charges about five minutes before the hearing.

Tyson, who said he was in a budgets committee meeting when he heard of the hearing, would not comment on the situation.

Both later acted as spectators.

After the hearing Pinky Batiste said "This whole thing is appalling. I feel that if Harrington had felt that we had copied their poster he would have been angry. Mr. Harrington was not angry, he was inquisitive as to what we had written. Therefore, I feel that there are serious implications here. If Foley and Tyson had no knowledge of this they should fire their campaign manager if they want to continue a viable campaign."

Jon Hite said "I can make no statement at this time becuase this is a judicial matter."

Foley did not participate in last night's hearings. Judge Jeffery Lutsky ruled Foley and Tyson did not have to be at the hearing because the posters were in question, not them personally. Foley and Tyson's campaign manager, Brian Harrington, was unavailable for comment last night.

Foley said last night the tribunals

TURN TO PAGE 14

Feminist advocates 'cultural revolution'

By MARY BETH ALLEN
Collegian Staff

Grace Lee Boggs presented her case yesterday afternoon for a "cultural revolution" by which "a much higher level of common sentiments and shared goals" between men and women could be reached. A group of 150 turned out to hear the Distinguished Visitor Program-sponsored event, held as part of International Women's Week.

Boggs is a member of a Detroit-based organization called the Advocates. Their purpose is to battle what they consider the "technical and economic overdevelopment" and the "emotional and spiritual underdevelopment" of the United States.

"What does it mean to be a woman in the United States as we approach the 1980's? What does it mean to be a man?" asked Boggs. "These questions are much more basic than race, or class, or age."

Boggs feels, "We are acting and reacting to each other in terms of male domination and female acceptance of male domination." But the actual situation between men and women has changed, even if personal reactions have not.

"Women today are not only demanding equal rights of men," she said. "We are also insisting that the men in our lives talk about feelings and relationships."

Boggs said men are "baffled and bewildered" by the importance women attach to discussing emotions, and men are used to viewing talks about relationships as "yakkety yak and gossip." Men like to talk about "things," which they consider a sign of strength, while women prefer to talk about "feelings," which men view as a show of weakness. The way in which men and women view their sexuality was another topic Boggs explored. "Sex takes a very small proportion of a man's time and energy," she pointed out. A woman always has to keep in mind that "she will have to pay with her body, her time, her energy or even her life for the pleasure of the moment." She views modern women who treat sex with typically masculine casualness with displeasure. "She becomes hard," she said of such women. "She now looks upon herself and others as object.

"We are probably the loneliest people in the whole world," Boggs said of Americans. She is hopeful about change, however, and said, "We must stop thinking of ourselves as victims and start thinking of ourselves as responsible human beings. Boggs said the women's movement must avoid the self-interest which the labor movement of the 30's and the black movement of the 60's developed. Several black members of the audience disagreed with her on this point during the question period after the speech.

INSIDE

Hanafi Muslim gunmen ended their two day siege and freed 134 hostages early this morning. - See story on page 7.

WEATHER

Real nice, if you like sun and heat. Sunbathe with a friend this weekend.

"These late nights have got to stop!", says Elsie. (Staff photo by Steve Hershberg)

BOG narrowly approves proposed SATF increase

By JEAN CONLEY
Collegian Staff

With hardly the roar of approval the Undergraduate Student Senate wanted, the Campus Center Board of Governors last night murmured a vote of support for the proposed $7 Student Activities Tax Fund increase by a vote of 4-3 with four abstaining.

Student Senate Treasurer Thomas Kerrins urged the Board to support the increase, while some members of the Board questioned the relevance of supporting an increase "that has virtually nothing to do with the Board of Governors". Kerrins said the Board should support the Student Senate as another student governing board, but Student Senator Karen Kelly said neither the board nor the senate should support the increase until they receive full-time undergraduate enrollment figures for next year.

If enrollment does increase next year, contrary to nationwide trends for college enrollment across the country, it is possible the increase could be less than $7. But according to Kerrins, if enrollment does not increase next year and students vote against the increase, "the Student Senate will face a revenue deficit of more than $180 thousand." Some $66,000 of that figure will be in the form of cost-of-living pay raises for office employes.

"If the fee is not increased, amounts might have to be cut from student service organizations which could render those organizations ineffective," said Kerrins.

According to a report given to the board by board member Wayne Woodard, a representative from Stockbridge, cuts in their budget could add up to a net deficit of $203,798.26. Even with a $7 increase, the deficit might still be $84,798.

Students will vote on the proposed increase March 15 and 16. A "yes" vote on the referendum will mean the SATF fee will remain at its present rate of $64. A "no" vote will mean the budget goes back to the Senate for further modification.

Full-time undergraduate enrollment figures rolled from 20,389 in fall 1976 to 18,890 in fall 1976, a decrease of 1,499 students. Projections for fall 1977 are up to 20,100 however.

University Budget Director Warren G. Gulko, contacted last night, said the projection is figured on the budget request. Asked why the university projects an increase in enrollment while nationwide enrollments are falling every year, Gulko said "we are expecting more students. We didn't expect the number that showed up on campus last year, and they ended up living in crowded dormitory conditions. This figure partly accounts for that mistake." He said figures also dropped last year with the reinstatement of the "F" in grading.

In other business, the board voted to abolish the Recreation Council, which funded the Bowling, Chess and Bridge clubs. The clubs will continue their operations this year, but will not be allocated funds beginning fiscal year 1978.

A Title IX hearing will be held next Tuesday, March 15, from noon to 2 p.m. for employes of the Campus Center. Student and non-student employes who do not wish to testify at the hearing or cannot make it may pick up a Title IX survey at the Board Office on the eighth floor of the Campus Center.

The location of the hearing will be posted on the Campus Center daily schedule in elevators.

NE residents must dole out for damages

By CAROL COULTAS
Collegian Staff

Students of Northeast Residential Area ....l now pay for damage to their rooms regardless how it occurs.

Northeast Area Government (NAG) President Beth Tibbets announced the new policy at the NAG meeting last night.

The bill for any broken object reported by a janitor will be sent to the student associated with the object. The student will not be registered if the bill is not payed.

The policy is a result of a meeting between Robert L. Campbell, Residential Life staff assistant, and area heads of residence earlier this week.

If students feel they have been unjustly billed they can appeal through Sandra Anderson, area management coordinator. She will decide if the complaint is valid and if so, send it to an appeal board.

Tibbets recommended students fix any damage themselves before it is reported. The cost to a students to buy a plane of glass and some puddy is less than the amount needed to pay a Physical Plant employe to replace a broken window on union wages, she said.

Earlier in the meeting Student Government Association presidential candidate John Foley tried unsuccessfully for NAG's endorsement for him and partner Herb Tyson. NAG voted 15 to 1 to endorse the team of Pinky Batiste-Jon Hite.

NAG also discussed the area's upcoming Quad Day and Semi-formal.

Bands are now being screened for Quad Day, tentatively planned for April 20. The area is looking for two local bands and one big-name band. Activities being planned include inter-dorm sack races and tug-of-wars.

The Semi-formal, scheduled for April 22, will be a dinner-dance in the Campus Center Auditorium. A $10 ticket pays for a couple's turkey dinner and a dance band. There will be a cash bar.

The Resource Management Office denied a request from NAG for stairs on the hill between Lewis and Johnson houses. NAG members insisted the passage is dangerous and said they plan to continue to push for the stairs.

Conference explores future of socialism

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

A three-day conference to create "a clear vision of Socialist future," begins tonight in Bartlett Auditorium.

"Alternative Visions of Socialism: A Symposium" will include a variety of workshops and presentations by area and national socialists.

"We're not just trying to be theoretical here," says William Hill, a symposium organizer. "Most conferences tend to be strictly academic with noted people getting up in front of a crowd and speaking."

The panel-workshop format allows an opportunity for feedback," he said.

Hill said the symposium, which starts at 7:30 tonight and ends Sunday at 3 p.m., is an extension of a similar conference held here last semester.

At that time about 65 Amherst-area socialists developed a series of questions "that a future socialist society in the United States would have to answer," according to a leaflet on the current symposium.

Speakers this weekend include Miguel Rivera of the Puerto Rican Socialist Party; John Bracy of the UMass Afro-Am department; Samuel Bowles, of the UMass economics department; Kenneth Dolbeare of the UMass political science department; and Pekaronpake of the Ganienkeh Nation of upper New York state.

Organizer Frederick Vanderback says "Most conferences don't involve people from all segments of the community. We're not just trying to attract a University crowd but people from all over the community."

Central Council endorses Foley-Tyson campaign

The Central Area Council (CAC) voted last night in a special meeting to endorse co-presidential candidates John Foley and Herb Tyson for the March 15-16 SGA elections.

The vote reaffirmed Monday night's closed door-executive session consensus supporting the Foley-Tyson ticket. Student attorney general Paul Yanowitch ruled this closed door procedure invalid when later informed of the session. According to Yanowitch, closed door, private elections were not in keeping with the theory of representative government.

CAC treasurer Rob Cannon announced that six votes were cast for Foley-Tyson and one for the Pinky Batiste-Jon Hite team, at last night's meeting. There were two abstentions.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Philip Milstein

Assistant Issue Editor	Paul Blumberh
Day Layout	Debbie Walters
Editorial Layout	Elizabeth Harkins
Sports Layout	Bob Haskell
Head Darkroom Tech	Dale Griswold
Photo Staff	Bill Parent, Gary Micka, Bob Carsley, Steve Hershberg, Steve Parrott
Head Graphics Tech	Dennis Cahill, Vito Rasenas
Ad Layout	Ellyn Faber
Wiseass Remark	"Don't know what I want, but I know how to get it."

Flag photo by Gary Micka

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Women's workshops bring slides, news from Vietnam

By MELANIE JOHNSON and ELIZABETH KENT
Collegian Staff

"This week is a special International Women's Day for the women in Vietnam, because the women of the North and the South will be able to celebrate together," said Arlene Eisen, author of "Women in Vietnam."

Both Eisen and Carol Bragg, of the American Friends Service Committee, spoke yesterday afternoon on Women in Vietnam.

Eisen, speaking at 2 p.m., described the conditions of women's oppression during the period of French colonial rule and the subsequent United States invasion. With the use of slides, she described the life of peasant women who worked continually from down to dusk, and faced the prospect of a beating from her landlord if he didn't like the work she did.

During World War II, about two million persons died of starvation in Vietnam, according to Eisen. She attributed this high death rate to the Japanese, who confiscated the rice for their troops, and forced the Vietnamese to grow hemp and jute for the war effort.

When the war for independence broke out in Vietnam, the women assumed much of the work in the fields and industries; Eisen said three-fourths of the construction workers during the war were women, because the men were fighting or had died. She contrasted the enormous waste of technology in the war to the manual labor of women construction workers.

Eisen also spoke of the struggle of the North Vietnamese women to rid the country of patriarchy, in which, "the feudal system deprived women of all power." Polygamy was rampant in Vietnam; indeed, according to Eisen, "buying another wife was cheaper than hiring a servant."

"In 1960, a new marriage law was passed," said Eisen "Developed by the Vietnamese Women's Union and the Ministery of Justice, it outlawed forced marriages, child marriages, and polygamy." The law also mandated democracy in the family, with equal power for the husband and wife, and guaranteed equal rights for all children regardless of sex or the order of birth.

Since the end of the war and reunification, an effort has been made to upgrade women's position in Vietnam in relation to men. Eisen showed slides of textbooks, postage stamps, and posters that depicted women in non-traditional jobs or as strong, fighting women. "It's quite a bit different from 'Dick and Jane,'" she added.

"For the women of Vietnam, peace meant the real beginning of liberation," said Eisen. Many villages were destroyed, and the land damaged. Women have made sizeable gains in the National Assembly, and now hold almost one-third of the seats.

Carol Bragg, at 1 p.m., described how the women and children of Vietnam bore the brunt of the war and now they must work the hardest to adjust to peace time.

"There is a spirit of determination, confidence about the future and a real hope" evident in Vietnam today, said Bragg. "The Vietnamese feel that they can rebuild the country but they think that the U.S. owes a debt to the Vietnamese people."

The slide presentation showed aspects of daily life in the cities and

TURN TO PAGE 14

Notice

Isis is not coming to Amherst tonight, but the Ellen McIlwaine concert is still on. Due to cancellations tickets have been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50. Refunds are available at the door.

Solar heat tax break on slate

By PAT BEINAR
Collegian Staff

Expensive solar energy heating and cooling systems may become economically possible for Massachusetts households if a tax break legislation for residents who invest in it is passed.

The legislation would reduce homeowners' personal income tax liability for one year by 25 per cent of the initial installation cost of the homeowners' system.

This bill could grant up to $1,000 in tax credit and is now under consideration by a newly formed Energy Commission. "The major constraint on consumer demand for solar heating is its high initial cost," said Timothy D. Peters, Mass PIRG research associate. With skyrocketing fuel prices, this legislation would cushion the initial expense and create a strong demand for solar equipment in Massachusetts, Peters said.

Besides lower fuel bills, more jobs for Massachusetts residents would be created, there would be less reliance on dangerous nuclear power and foreign energy fuel sources, said PIRG Solar Project Director Mindy S. Lubber.

A PIRG Solar Energy Speakers Bureau is now preparing to educate schools and civic groups in April with demonstrator solar energy collectors built by Hampshire College students last semester.

Paul Bauer, one of many students who came out of winter hibernation over the past two days, celebrates the arrival of spring with a frisbee. (Staff photo by Steve Hershberg)

Graduate Senate seeks fee hike of 25 per cent

By D. PETERSON
Collegian Staff

A $4 increase in the Graduate Student Senate (GSS) fee is being sought by the GSS, says Timothy R. Austin, vice-president of GSS.

Austin said the increase would raise the current tax for graduate students from $13 to $17, about a 25 per cent increase.

The motion for the increase was passed by the GSS Oct. 25.

Austin said the fee on the graduate student's bill comes under the general heading of General Fees, which also includes such things as the Campus Center and Fine Arts fees.

"At the moment the motion is in a review state, as part of the GSS budget request by the Chancellor," said Austin.

"Vice-chancellor (Robert L.) Woodbury has seen it already," he said. "We have been warned, in a friendly way, that the raise in the fee is proportionally bigger than other raises. It may have to be cut.

"It is my personal opinion that, in view of inflation and budgets needed by various offices that we fund, there is no way you can propose level funding, unless students are willing ot take cut backs in the services they use," Austin stated.

He pointed out that funding of different groups by GSS has grown and the $4 increase would be a "programatic increase and a cost of living increase."

"People expect to use the buses or pick up a Collegian," said Austin. The undergraduate senate has done a large amount of funding and "we feel that we should do our share."

"For what we pay, we get a hell of a lot," he added.

Concert bands perform in childrens' concert Sunday

By ROBERT DAVIDSON
Collegian Staff

"The World of Marches," a childrens' concert featuring the UMass Concert Winds and Concert Band, will resound throughout the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall Sunday at 2 p.m.

Max Culpepper, assistant director of the UMass Bands, said the concert will consist of a very fast-paced collection of 17 different marches with narration designed to entertain the younger citizens of the Amherst area.

According to Culpepper, various types of marches, including opera marches football marches, armed forces marches, and ragtime will be performed during the concert.

Diane Luciani, feature baton twirler of the UMass Marching Band and a former world champion baton twirler, will be featured in a baton twirling routine set to the Notre Dame Victory March.

Another member of the bands, Carol Dandaneau, will play a trumpet solo in a Norwegian folk march entitled Valdrez.

Culpepper has written many childrens' concerts in the past ten years as conductor, of the Cherry Hill Wind Symphony, a New Jersey-based professional wind orchestra, and decided to organize a similar concert at UMass.

"I felt it would be the most viable way to put two University bands together for a concert," Culpepper said yesterday.

"The purpose of the concert," he said, "is to try to make some impact on the local communities.

"I'm looking at this as a service project for the University bands and to try to promote music in western Massachusetts as well as to give young people a chance to see the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall which is one of the best concert halls in New England," Culpepper said.

Stockbridge dean accents accomplishment

By MARTHA KIMBALL
Collegian Staff

Over 300 students and faculty attended the 23rd annual Spring Progress Banquet of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture last night in the Campus Center. Various awards for outstanding effort and participation in the Stockbridge School for the past year were presented.

John W. Denison, dean of Stockbridge School of Agriculture, opened the awards program by commenting on his pride for the students and faculty of the Stockbridge School. "I'm proud of the way you students handle yourselves in the present tight budget situation. I'm proud to watch how well the faculty squeeze all they can out of the budget to take care of the students in Stockbridge and the College of Food and Natural Resources," he said.

Denison presented Brian Kelly, president of the Stockbridge Student Senate, the Rolland Verbeck Award for his "great job in promoting Stockbridge and effort given to the school," he said.

Cheryl Sylvester, executive secretary of the senate, and Kelly were recognized as the most Outstanding Senators. Carlyn Appleton received an award for Outstanding STOSO member.

Twenty three Service Awards were presented by Dr. William Roseneau in recognition of those students who gave extra service for the betterment of Stockbridge throughout the year.

The Stockbridge Senior class dedicated their yearbook to Miss Iona Mae Reynolds, assistant director of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture, for "all her help behind the scenes to make Stockbridge run", said Sue Phillips, editor of the yearbook. Reynolds said I'm honored that I entered the heart of Stockbridge."

Dr. William Roseneau received a standing ovation when presented the Outstanding Professor Award in Floriculture. Speechless by the reception Roseneau finally said, "There is something about Stockbridge that makes teachers want to teach. That's because students want to learn. Good students make good teachers."

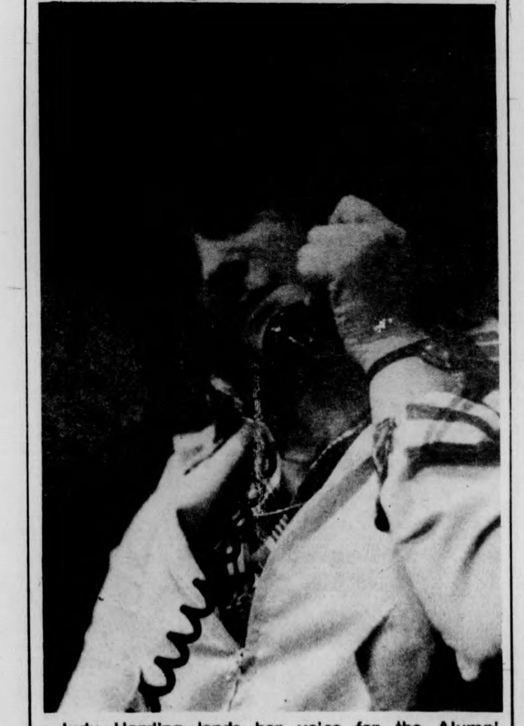
Other professors receiving awards were Herbert Spindler, Agriculture and Food Econ.; James Marcum, Animal Science; Gorden King, Arbor and Park Mgt.; William Bramlage, Fruit and Vegetables; Donald Marion, Food Distribution; Iona Mae Reynolds, Lab Animal Technology; Howard Dashefsky, Land Operations; and Edward Pira, Turf Mgt.

Athletic Awards for Most Valuable Player were received by Gary Bock, soccer; George Corthouts, Men's basketball; and Carol Drew, Women's basketball.

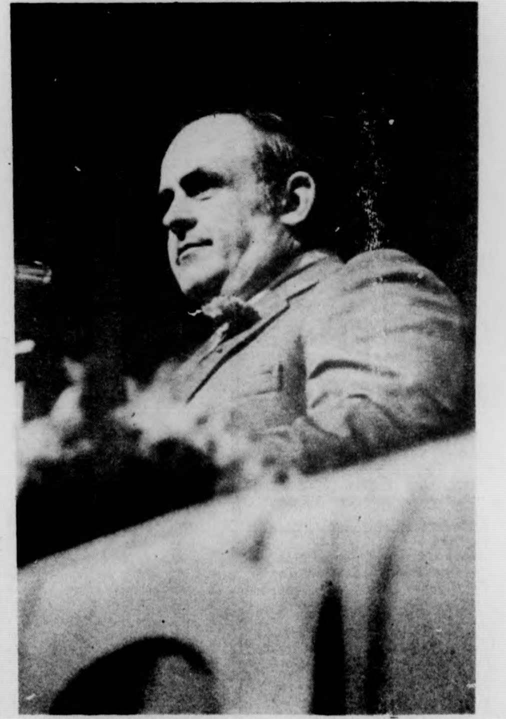
Brian Kelly, president of Stockbridge Senate, presented certificates to all student senators, for "their countless hours of voluntary work and effort," he said.

Mr. David Nowers, president of the Alumni Association, praised all those students who helped with the fund raising phonathon. He also urged students, "keep active as you are here tonight."

Denison commented later in the night that he was proud to be Mr. Stockbridge, and gave his best wishes to those students leaving for job placement next week, and the seniors graduating in May.



Judy Harding lends her voice for the Alumni Phonothon last night. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)



Stockbridge Dean John W. Denison addresses the Annual Stockbridge Awards banquet last night in the Campus Center. (Staff photo by Bill Parent)

Election Eye: Foley-Tyson

By JOE MAGLITTA
and STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

This is the second in a series of three interviews with candidates for Student Government Association (SGA) president.

Co-candidates John Foley and Herb Tyson outline their platform in a presidential debate held in Engineering East. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

John Foley and Herb Tyson

John A. Foley, 20, is a junior Political Science major. Originally from Holyoke, Mass., he currently lives in Brandywine Apartments. Foley has been an Undergraduate Student Senator for two years and has served on the Senate Budget Committee since 1975. Until he resigned at the beginning of the presidential campaign, Foley was president of the Board of Directors of Top of the Campus Inc. Foley is an ex-member of the Board of Directors of the UMass Student Federal Credit Union. Foley was also an organizer of the union. In addition, he established a credit union at the Belchertown State School in 1976.

Herbert L. Tyson, 18, is a freshman Economics major living in 408 Greenough. He is originally from Potomac, Md. Also a member of the Senate Budgets Committee, Tyson has been an undergraduate senator for one year. He is currently a member of the Senate Economic Development Committee and the Towing Committee.

If elected, Tyson will serve as student trustee, Foley as SGA president.

Foley and Tyson have built their platform around four major issues. They are:

—A major expansion of student services
—Student incorporation-unionization —Increased communications
—relations with the administration

For the past two weeks, Foley and Tyson have proposed legal recognition for students through an economic stimulus program. Under their proposals, a network of student-run co-ops would be established to eliminate financial dependence on the administration and outside sources.

Once students have achieved economic independence they said efforts can be made towards student incorporation and eventual unionization.

"Efforts at student organization will not hold together unless there is an economic base for lobbying," they said.

Legal recognition of students will allow them to participate as an equal third party in collective bargaining negotiations with the administration and faculty union, they said.

"Once we have legal status we will have legitimate input into the decisions affecting students. We cannot settle for a mere advisory role," they said.

The following are excerpts from the team's recent interview with the Collegian.

ON Unionization

"It takes a long time to build a union. There should be an intermediate stage of student incorporation, where we could set contracts with the administration.

"Unionization is a process. There's got to be some educational changes."

"The SOP has lacked leaders in the past. They have operated in a vacuum. It takes a consolidated effort between all the research units of the SGA to work for a union.

"The first legitimate claim we have is that we pay all these fees, but we lose control of them. There's a decision that's going to be handed down from the state attorney general concerning student control of their money. There are precedents for these in other states.

"If the decision doesn't go in our favor, we'd fight for money control on an individual basis.First, we could fight for the Health Fee, then the meals tax."

On A Faculty Union

"Students have the right to bargain. We have to realize that the faculty have different needs than the students. The faculty union amplifies the need for a student union.

"It won't do much good, though, to have a student sit on the faculty board. The students would get information, but that's it. We should fight for a seat, but it will only be a stepping stone. Don't expect any tangible results.

"The students who sit on the faculty bargaining table will be played off between the faculty and the administration. The student would be a tool.

"Students need a legal voice. Once we get that, we're set. If we don't have a legal voice, we won't be heard.

"All this stuff about getting de facto recognition by the faculty union — it doesn't do anything.

Relationships with the Administration

Other universities allow students money to provide bus services and check cashing. We make some decisions over where our money goes, but the administration can take back its obligations. We need legal means to enforce contracts.

"Marches and rallies aren't wrong, but there's a time and a place. You need some reasonable plan.

"We should tell the university, 'this is what we demand'. If we don't get it, we will go to court.

"Other candidates want to act in advisory roles to the administration. That's wrong. It doesn't work. The administration gives us lip service. They say that students are advisory, but then they turn and do what they originally planned.

"You have to fight. In most cases, the students and the administration are opposites. The only place right now where we're working together is on budget cuts.

On Student Services

"There's so much possibility in co-ops. The idea is here: it's working right now. The photography and various food co-ops are proof. This year all the co-ops cost less than $8000 and have grossed over a half-million dollars. These co-ops have also provided over 200 student jobs.

"If the idea of co-ops was expanded we could offer student services at prices competitive with outside merchants. Students bring almost $20 million a year into this valley and there is no reason why all that money has to flow outside the school.

"Witness the success of the dorm-run food services, the Student Auto Workshop, Earth Foods, The People's Market and the Federal Credit union. Services of this type can be expanded to include towing, check cashing facilities, a clothing co-op, a liquor co-op, a bicycle co-op and many other services."

"We're not just pulling this idea out of our hats. The idea is working right now. Low capital is required. We don't even need a grant; we can work with a loan from the student senate. The senate will provide a base for coordinating these activities. The purpose is to act for student rights and student interests. Students can stretch their dollars and at the same time force prices down in Amherst.

"One idea that a lot of people have questioned is the creation of a liquor co-op. We don't see anything wrong with alcohol, just its use. A liquor co-op wouldn't make people drink any more or less, and it would keep student liquor money from leaving the campus. We plan to take any money made off the co-op and recycle it back into alcohol education."

"Another plus of the co-op idea is that any extra revenue can be used to lower the SATF fee for students, or to create additional programs. With the creation of more programs, we can create more jobs for students, increasing their independence even further."

On The Budget

"This is not the first time we will have cuts. It is a long-range situation. Last year we worked hard to push an increased budget through and we got shafted. We can campaign and work hard to get a $76 million budget for next year and still come out on the short end."

Unfortunately it's up to the administration to allocate the money we receive from the legislature. If we don't get some control of that money, the same thing will happen every year. That's why we need a voice in the process.

"Letter writing is not the way to fight cuts. We need a network of students, families and their friends working on a statewide level to work hard in the legislature. Telephoning and face-to-face communication is a more effective form of communication. We can arrange for buses to Boston for students and make the Senate's phones available."

On The Proposed $7 SATF Increase

"In order to come close to the level of services needed, the increase is needed. We are in favor of the increase.

The manner in which the senate funds its money had been attacked by a few individuals lately. They have said the senate allocates its money backwards. That is, seeing how much money they have to work with and then allocating it accordingly.

People have suggested a comprehensive budget be made beforehand and allocating the money on that basis.

"The main problem with that type of system is that it is incredibly inflationary. You are, in effect, telling people they have a blank check for their organization. The funding system cannot be run on a blank check basis."

Women's weekend

Women's International Film Festival SUB 1-6 p.m., free.
Poetry and Politics of black women New Africa House, 1-5 p.m.

Lucecita Benitez Concert CCA 8 p.m., Free.
Jade and Sasparilla: Hatch 9 p.m.
Women's Band: Blue Wall 9 p.m.
Bev Rhollair: TOC 9 p.m.

Children's Workshops:
10:30 - 1:30 p.m. Jugglers - Cross cultural Children's Films - Non-competitive games.

1:30 - 4:30 p.m. Pantomime-Music workshop.
4:30 - 7:30 p.m. Animated Films - non-competitive games.

OPEN HOUSE
KAPPA SIGMA
SAT. MARCH 12
9-1
LIVE BAND
FREE REFRESHMENTS
$1.00 DON.

Thurs., Mar. 10
PETER BOYNTON
Fri. & Sat., Mar. 11 & 12
WHISTLESTOP
Country Swing
& Rock Band
Sunday, March 13
LARRY TOMEI JR.
25c Drafts M-F 6-8 p.m.
RAHAR'S
FOOD DRINK LODGING
OPEN 11-1 DAILY • 12-1 SUNDAYS
VISIT OUR GAME ROOM
7 Old South St. • Northampton
ACROSS FROM Peter Pan Bus Terminal

GOT SOMETHING TO SELL?
Collegian Classifieds
Reach
20,000 People
Daily

Benitez at CCA

The Campus Center Auditorium will be filled with the rich voice of Lucecita Benitez, outspoken advocate for Puerto Rican people, tomorrow at 8 p.m. Admission if free.

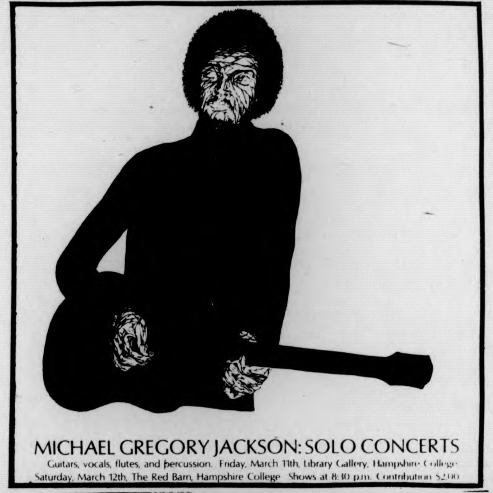
Benitez has been called the finest singer in Latin America; she has performed as broad a cultural range as an artist might wish. Fifteen albums over the course of her artistic career reflect that she can interpret, sing, and raise standing ovations with performances of virtually all the music of her continent.

Benitez literally skyrocketed to fame in the 1960s. Her fame culminated in the Award for Song at the International Arts Festival held in Mexico City in 1969.

Benitez has not been afraid to place her career on the line in favor of her work or her personal beliefs. In the 1970s her work turned more serious, as she began to sing some of the finest poets in Latin America and Spain. Her popularity remained constant.

As she turned more serious artistically, Benitez also turned more serious politically. Being a people's artist, Lucecita incorporated into her music the highest aspiration of the Puerto Rican people; to be free from the centuries of colonial domination.

Since last fall, Benitez has put together, with Pedro Rivera Toledo, a concert based on the songs and poetry of Antonio Caban Vale (El Topo). Benitez and Toledo, accompanied by four instrumentalists, will bring their work to the Campus Center Auditorium to raise standing ovations, sing for the people, and to carry the voice of the people in their music.



MICHAEL GREGORY JACKSON: SOLO CONCERTS
Guitars, vocals, flutes, and percussion. Friday, March 11th, Library Gallery, Hampshire College
Saturday, March 12th, The Red Barn, Hampshire College Shows at 8:30 p.m. Contribution $2.00

'Little Flags' repeat triumph

By FIFI BALL
Collegian Staff

"El pueblo unido jama sera venicido!"

"The people united can never be defeated!"

The audience and members of Little Flags Theatre Collective chanted together at the end of last night's performance of "Tania." at the Student Union Ballroom.

The 'Little Flags Theatre Collective is a political performance group, based in Boston, and dedicated to a society free from oppression by race, sex, sexual preference, class, and age. "Tania" was written by the Collective's director, Maxine Klein.

"Tania" was the code name of Tamara Bunke, a revolutionary who fought for liberation of Latin America and specifically with Che Guevara in his political campaign. The leaflet handed to the audience at the beginning of the performance informed the viewers that "All events presented in this play happened."

"Tania" is a biographical play, showing Bunke's life of training and work in Cuba, Western Europe, and Bolivia. Bunke was eventually shot in the Bolivian jungles when she worked as a spy for Guevara.

The play was livened by some 28 songs, and accompanied by guitarists and percussionists. The dialogue alternated between Spanish and English, with occasional selections and bits in German, since Bunke spent her childhood in Germany.

Before Bunke left for Cuba, her mother gave her three pieces of advice: "You must be able to keep great secrets; press the trigger lightly, then you'll always hit the target; and eat a lot of fruit, especially the oranges, they're good in Cuba."

"I'd like to make two dedications," said the announcer. "First to International Women's Week — and also to all Latin American artists, revolutionaries, and cultural workers, for being who they are."

The audience often participated with the players during the course of the performance. "They fought, they did not pillage," chanted the performers at the beginning of the play. Later in the performance, they chanted, "The one thing more prevalent in Cuba than sunshine and sugar are the CIA agents."

Most of the audience sat on the floor last night because some members of the audience had trouble seeing the players at the Collective's Wednesday night performance of "Fanshen." The stage was set up in the middle of the ballroom, and was only one-half inch off the floor.

"I'm glad you came to this, it's worth it," said one spectator to another before the performance last night.

Another audience member remarked "this is much better than last night's" during intermission. Another viewer asked after the performance, "Wasn't it good?"

Some students from the Che Lumumba School for Truth also attended last night's performance. One child asked during the performance, "Did they really kiss?"

Yes, they did. But, when Guevara and Bunke died at the end, there were tears.

The players captivated the audience with their spirit and enthusiasm. The end of the play drew applause and cheers, and songs from the spectators.

Notice

Due to a lack of community support, the Black Affairs staff is not publishing today, according to Black Affairs Editor Nasser Ega. Black Affairs will resume publication Monday.

BROWN'S
SALE -
NOW THROUGH MARCH 31
MADRAS SPREADS
-15% OFF OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES
COLOMBIAN WALL HANGINGS -
BACKRESTS 20% OFF
178 N. PLEASANT STREET
TEL. 253-5862
PARKING IN THE REAR OF STORE

Today brings more events

Workshop potpourri: 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Campus Center lower level
Children's workshops: 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m.

Helen Rosen 11 a.m. CC 174-6 Women in China and Cuba

"Woman Under the Influence" 7, 9:45 p.m. PC Film CCA $1.00

Jade and Sarsaparilla: Hatch 9 p.m.

New Harmony Sisters: Blue Wall 9 p.m.
Bev Rhollair: TOC 9 p.m.

Workshop Schedule:
9 a.m. Self Defense Pat Turney CC 917
10 a.m. Chanting Juliet Seaver CC 803
Belly Dancing Nancy Rose Dow CC 165

Men's Lives S.W. Men's Center CC 804-8

11 a.m. Women in Sports Paula Kabat-Charlotte Lettuce CC 163
Women in China and Cuba Helen Rosen CC 174-6

12 noon Women in Agriculture Janet Jarombelk-Brenda Davis CC 804

Feminism in the Girl Scouts Debbie Meal CC 162

1 p.m. Women and Vegetarianism health-food-philosophy CC 165
Women in Welfare Pat Baker-4 women panel legal-admin.-personal CC 808

2 p.m. Women and Mental Health Michelle Rider-Sebern Fisher CC 164
Men's Workshop on Interpersonal Sexism Jim Starr CC 162

History and Theory of Mime Suzanne Fox CC 917
Third World Women in Art slide show CC 803

3 p.m. Period Piece Emily Culpepper CC 176
Third World Dance Workshop Diana Ramos CCA

4 p.m. Journal Keeping as Self Therapy Angela Giridice CC 804

Children's Workshop CC 168
9-11 a.m. Exercise, Dance, and Music

10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Che Lumumba Children; Circus, A Mime Show-creative movement

1:30-4:30 p.m. Pantomime; Music workshop
4:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m. Animated Films; Non-competitive Games

SPECTRUM University
Fine Arts Magazine is Accepting Submissions of Poetry, Fiction, &
Black & White Graphics
DEADLINE: April 1
Bring Submissions to Rm. 106 C.C.

COCA of a Hampshire College proudly presents
RADIO KING and His Court of Rhythm in an exclusive area appearance at a 5 College Dance - Concert Mixer
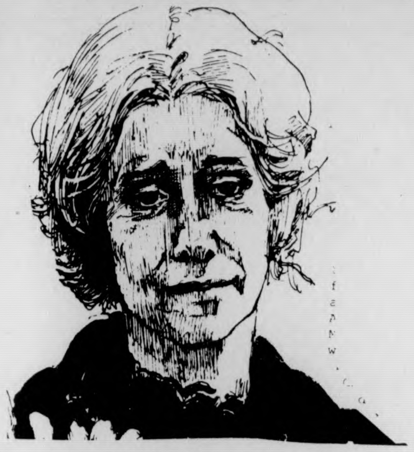
Saturday, March 12, 9pm
Adm. $1. -Refreshments available



To grandmother

What can you say ... is there such a thing as good-bye ... or all we can mutter is so long ... we'll meet again. For consolation we might look up into the sky and listen to the laughter of the "Little Prince" travelling on a star, or we can hope that in our endless search we might discover Grandmother within the clouds floating in white.

Oh, yes, Grandmothers represent the purity and utmost innocence in the eye of a child. The sparkling white hair, the everglowing smile, a Grandmother. Looking at a painting by Domenico De Ghirlandaio: look at the old, wrinkled face, which is covered with faults and signs of ripe age, but to her it is unimportant because what she sees is invisible to the eye.

Grandmother sits with you for hours, she is in no rush. For her the movie just never starts, for her the cake can peacefully bake in the oven for hours; since for her there is only one appointment and it is with her grandchild. Grandmother is Patience, a human machine who repeats a thousand times that in the alphabet B follows A, and that D comes only after C, and that if you multiply three by three, you will never get six, but nine. She can bravely hold back her laughter when you cannot figure out, how come that you have five fingers on each hand, nevertheless when you add them together one by one, you always end up with the odd numbers of eleven or nine.

She goes through the agony with you of holding the knife and fork right, and finally teaching you to put the left shoe on the left foot instead of the right. And those Sunday morning strolls ... when she shows you around in the neighborhood with the greatest pride and widest smile telling to everyone, "This is my grandchild." At home, she stuffs you by the clock; with chocolate, with candy, balloons, toys and gums, meanwhile she is so revived in reliving her second motherhood ... the grandmother, when she doubly desires and wants the child.

Just think and moment and perhaps you agree, that sitting by a fire, roasting chestnuts and listening to Grandmother's warm singing voice or the "Adventures of Alice in Wonderland" is a form of real Paradise on Earth we can tenderly hold the rest of our lives.

Csilla Felker

Films

International Women's Week Film Festival

Saturday, March 12, 1977, 12 noon - 6 p.m.

SUB, FREE

"W.O.W. — Women of the World" — made in commemoration of International Women's Week, 11 min.

"Daddy Don't Be Silly: a case for the E.R.A." — how ratification should affect the lives of men and women, 27 min.

"Growing Up Female" — socialization of American Women with varying backgrounds, 60 min.

"Sisters!" — a college of lesbian celebration, 12 min.

"Malawi: The Women" — contrasts of African village to urban settings, 14 min.

"Japan's New Family Patterns" — focus on role changes for girls and women, 14 min.

"Olivia" — role play of Mexican intra-family relationships acted out by young girl, 13 min.

INTERMISSION

Women in Society: (next 4 films), 92 min.

"Three Guesses" — a semi-dramatized study of the many roles in one women's life.

"Martina Horner: Portrait of a Person" — demands on the life of a college president.

"Never Give Up: Imogen Cunningham" — inspirational visit with the 92 yr. old photographer.

"No Lies" — young woman's reaction to rape.

"Game" — a film about hustling and a black prostitute (sure to loosen some preconceived notions), 32½ min.

REVLON'S MID-WINTER SALE

	REG	NOW
MILK PLUS 6 SHAMPOO 8oz.	2.35	1.69
FLEX CONDITIONER 16oz.	2.60	1.85
FLEX CONCENTRATED SHAMPOO 6oz tube	1.85	1.29
MILK PLUS 6 FACE CREAM 4oz.	3.50	2.49
FLEX NON-AEROSOL HAIR NET	2.60	1.79
FROST AND GLOW	5.75	4.59
DRY SKIN MOISTURE LOTION	2.75	1.99
FLEX BALSAM AND PROTEIN TREATMENT SHAMPOO	2.50	1.79

COLLEGE DRUG STORE
W. H. McGRATH, Ph. G.
ACCURACY PURITY
PHONE 253-2523 AMHERST, MASS.

MIKE'S WESTVIEW
Appearing Saturday Nite March 12
Andy May
and the
Texas Tabby Crabb Band
Country Western Style Music
no admission charge
no cover
If you like the name, you'll love the music

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE
........and GONE

A musical play about the struggles of a black New York
family in the sixties
by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord
with The Voices of th New Africa House Workshop Choir
Horace C. Boyer, conductor
March 15, 16, 17 1977 at 8 PM
Bowker Auditorium
tickets $ 1.50
Now being sold at
Campus Center Concourse and Bowker Box Office co-sponsor - Program Council Music

Bedspreads
An excellent selection of bedspreads from India and Pakistan — many of them hand loomed and hand dyed. Numerous colors and patterns. Single (twin) sizes (72" x 108") and double sizes (90" x 108").
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office.
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

WASHINGTON: The ambassadors of Egypt, Iran and Pakistan entered the B'nai B'rith command of heavily armed Hanafi Muslims. (UPI)

WASHINGTON: Black Hanafi Muslim stands guard with a sword while the leader of the group leaves headquarters with food. (UPI)

Ambassadors talk with Muslims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hanafi Muslum gunmen ended their two-day seige and freed 134 hostages early this morning. Three Moslem ambassadors entered their command post, read passages from the Koran, and urged them to surrender.

Ambassadors Ashraf Ghorbal of Egypt, Ardeshir Zahedi of Iran and Sahabzada Yaqub-Khan of Pakistan passed through police lines surrounding the besieged central Washington building and went inside with Abdul Azzis, son-in-law of Hanafi raiders' commander in chief, Hamaas Abdul Khaalis.

They were the first outsiders to communicate in person with any of the three revenge — bent Hanafi raiding parties since the gunmen stormed three buildings Wednesday, killed one man, wounded eight, took hostages and began threatening to chop off heads unless authorities met their demands to deliver rival Black Muslims convicted of murdering Hanafis.

The negotiating party made its foray under strict secrecy conditions.

They did not speak to reporters and officials at the crisis command post would acknowledge, during the tense second day of the seige, only that they were negotiating — by telephone — with the raiders with the help of some diplomats.

Khaalis and three henchmen held the eighth floor of the high-rise building and claimed to have more than 100 hostages there alone. Earlier, the Hanafi chief warned the hostages could pay the price if police counterattacked or if his demands were not met.

"It can break loose at any time," he said.

SUNDAY MARCH 13
ANNIVERSARY
Mc LOUNGE
FREE FOOD
MUSIC BY BOB CALKINS TRIO
Mc LOUNGE
ROUTE 47, HADLEY
NO ROUGHNESS, OR ROUGH LANGUAGE

Program Council
Music Committee
Presents
Ellen McIlwaine

with Suzanne Fox
(mime)
Friday March 11, 8 pm S.U.B.
Tix $1.50
Available In front of Hatch, Tix, Faces of Earth,
Sun Music and Back Room Records

Concord termed 'explosive'

Officials tour prisons

BOSTON (UPI) — The battle over whether to build or not build new prisons in Massachusetts to relieve overcrowding was attacked on several fronts yesterday, most dramatically during walk-through inspections at three state prisons.

The Governor's Advisory Commission on Corrections and a collection of reporters toured state prisons at Walpole, Norfolk and Concord to dramatize their claim the prisons are dangerously overcrowded and gain support for Gov. Michael S. Dukakis' legislative proposal to provide new space for 605 prisoners.

The House Ways and Means Committee journeyed to Lenox Thursday night for the first of several public hearings on the new sites. Shadowbrook, a Jesuit seminary that overlooks Tanglewood, the summer home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is one of the sites recommended by Dukakis.

At Concord, a medium security facility for prisoners whose average age is about 21, approximately 150 of the 374 inmates inside the walls are housed two to a five foot by eight foot cell.

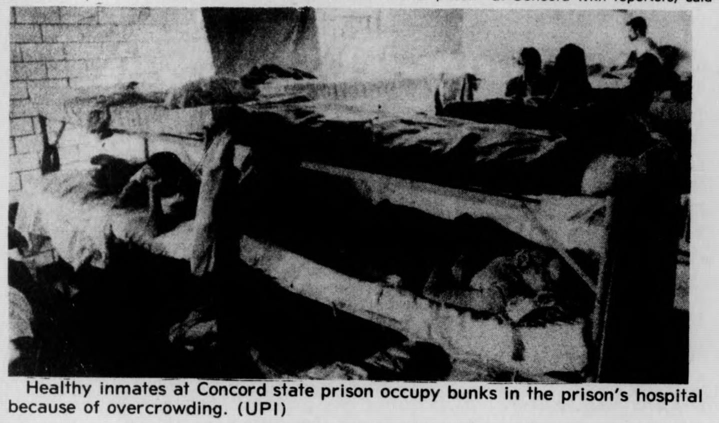
Twenty healthy inmates sleep in three-tiered bunks in the prison hospital. Each of the 12 cells in the protective custody section, where prisoners are sent when they feel their lives endangered, held two inmates.

Rock music and the blatherings of daytime television reverberated off the concrete walls in the doubled-decked cellblock known as the "new line," the section where new prisoners are held pending completion of classification and assignment to a permanent section of the prison. There are 103 prisoners in the "new line's" 50 cells.

"Inmates are pouring into the system and sleeping on the floor," Dukakis said at the State house. "The population is increasing faster than projections by Commissioner Frank Hall. There is a very serious overcrowding problem."

Robert Palmer, chairman of the advisory commission, meeting later at Concord with reporters, said it was "fair to say Concord is explosive. We have a tired staff and very tense population."

Concord's total population Thursday was 497-99 on the farm, 24 in prerelease centers and 374 behind the walls.



Healthy inmates at Concord state prison occupy bunks in the prison's hospital because of overcrowding. (UPI)

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

THE BAGEL DELI
28 PLEASANT ST. (across from the Pleasant St Theatre)
SUN.-WED.7A.M.-9P.M.
THU-SAT. 7A.M.-2A.M.
Complete sit-down and take-out service

TODDS WORLD of FURNITURE
SPECIALISTS IN FLOATATION SUPPORT
Todd Anthony Special
ONE WEEK ONLY mattress heater liner pedestal frame from 229.95
Queen, King
FREE Mattress Pad
and Drain Fill Kit
Plus Water Conditioner
OPEN Mon. - Fri. 10-8
Sunday 10-6
Hill'n Dale Mall King
Northampton 584-6794
The areas origional Sunday
Water bed Store
★ Budget Terms
★ Free Layaway
★ Charge Accounts

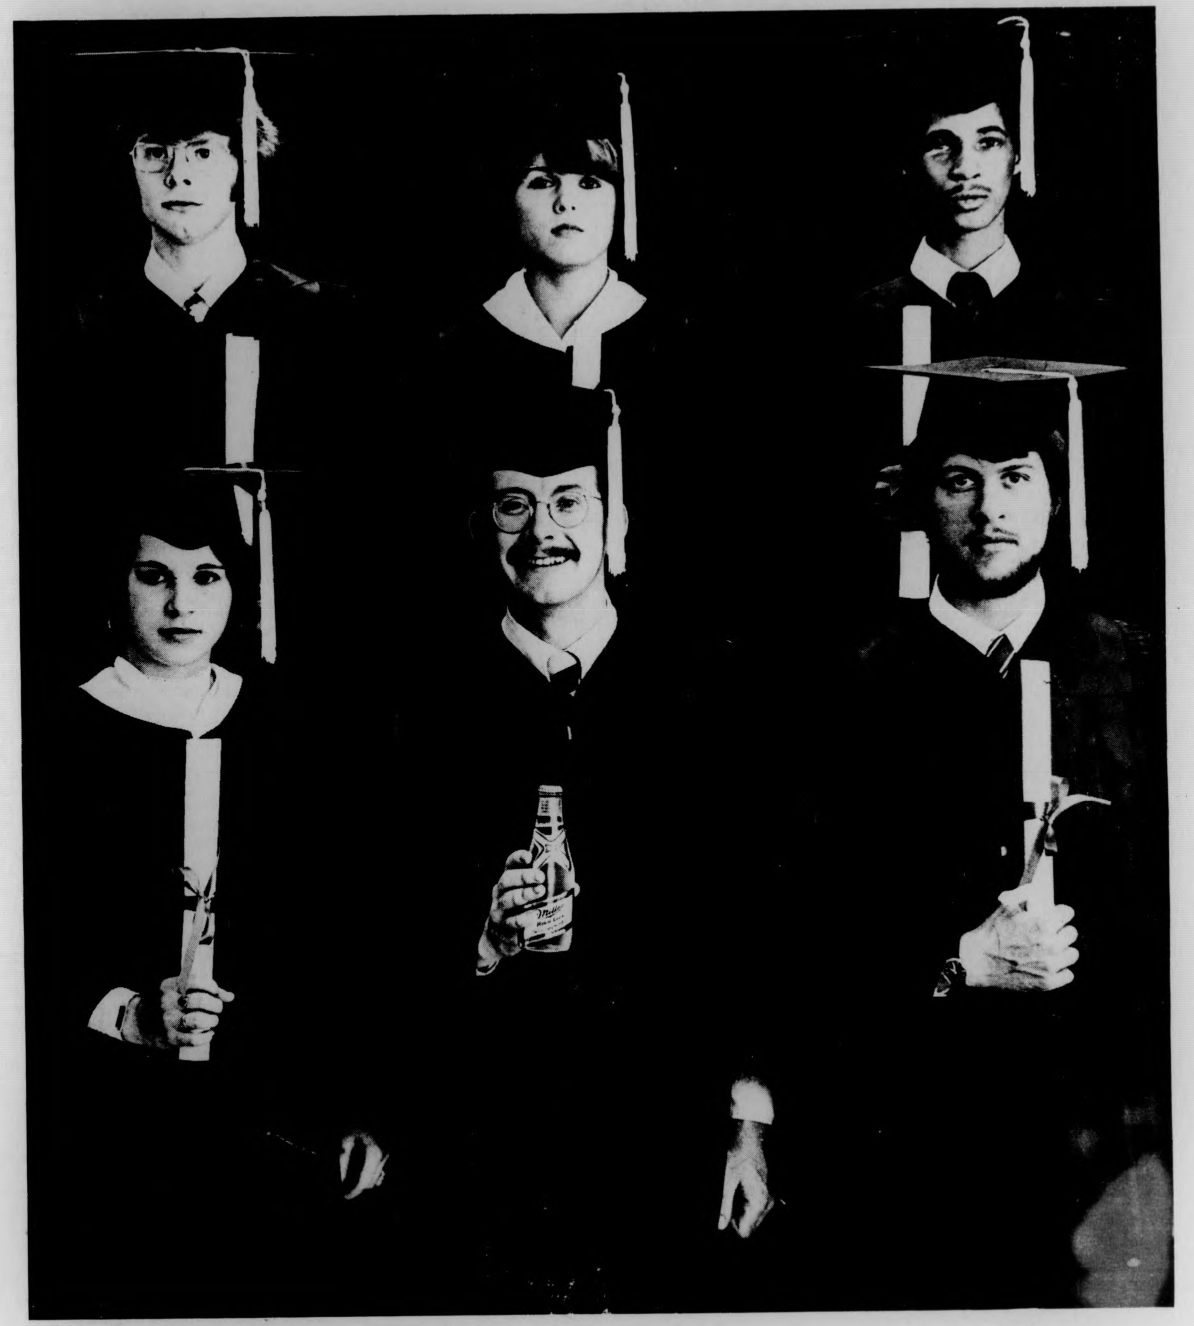
HATCH
Cover: $1-Thurs. Nights
$1.50-Fri. & Sat. Nights

Liberty Standing
thurs. mar.10

Jade & Sarsaparilla
fri., sat. mar.11,12

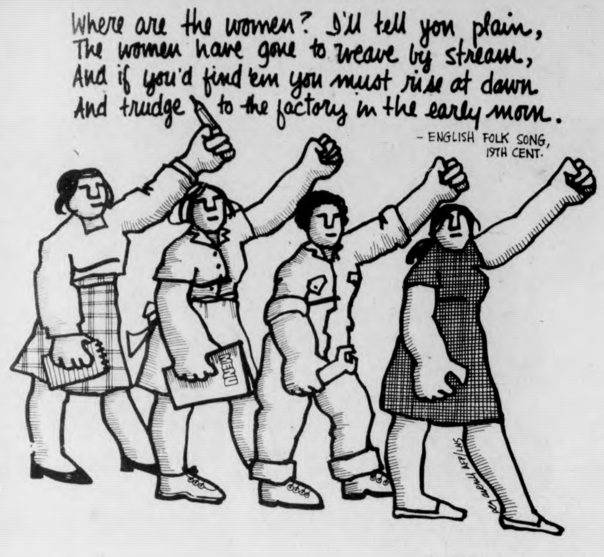
BLUEWALL

New Harmony
Sister Hood
thurs.-sat.
mar. 10-12



Now comes Miller time.

© 1977 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.



Where are the women? I'll tell you plain,
The women have gone to weave by stream,
And if you'd find 'em you must rise at dawn
And trudge to the factory in the early morn.
– ENGLISH FOLK SONG, 19TH CENT.
MEN

letters

Revolting cartoon

To the Editor:

In reference to Dick Janssen's "What Next" cartoon of Wednesday, March 9: to equate the women's movement with castration is revolting. Perhaps if Mr. Janssen had taken advantage of any of the excellent workshops offered by women and men who are struggling against sexism in conjunction with International Women's Week, he would have realized the absurdity of such an analogy.

Nancy McMahon
and 30 others

Interested in Men's Conference

To the Editor:

Most of us on campus have been greatly impressed by the success of International Women's Week. Attendance at workshops and special events has been nothing less than fantastic. All the persons who had anything to do with organizing this week are to be congratulated for their creative planning and hard work, which drew such an enthusiastic response from the campus as a whole.

The last two issues of the Collegian have contained statements by men saying that there should be something like that for men too. Well, we at the Southwest Men's Center would like to announce that we have been planning such an event for two months, and on April 24th, UMass, and as far as we know, New England, will have its first ever "CONFERENCE ON MEN AND MASCULINITY". We will have two speakers of national repute and an afternoon of workshops on various issues of importance to men. Details will be forthcoming, but in the meantime we ask anyone who is interested in leading a workshop to contact us as soon as possible. Come to our meetings from 11-1 on Tuesdays or call us at 545-0263.

Frank Dorman
Southwest Men's Center

james a nollet

A universal draft

During the waning days of America's involvement in Vietnam, the weight of public opinion forced President Nixon to suspend the operations of the Selective Service and to institute voluntary enlistment in its place. Ostensibly for libertarian reasons, the action really was no more than a sop to appease the set of vocal, articulate great white liberals, for if their sons were no longer threatened by military service, Nixon hoped his critics would then allow him to continue his plan for an orderly withdrawal.

Nixon's strategy worked, for the concept of the voluntary army met with generally universal approval. One of the few liberals who were not fooled was none other than Senator Kennedy, who might have been expected to be a strong supporter of a voluntary army. He warned that such an army would quickly become an army of poor persons, driven to the military by economic necessity. Since ethnic minorities comprise a disproportionate percentage of the total numbers of poor persons, Kennedy added that these minorities would join the armed services in droves, thereby creating a new form of institutional racism.

Experience has proven the senator to be correct. In an article in last Friday's Black Affairs section, Kathe Sandler said the percentage of enlisted men of African descent is "almost 30 per cent". Her figure, if anything, is an understatement. And as she implied at the end of her article, the distortion of disproportionate membership can conceivably be dangerous.

The economic cost of the volunteer army is a disaster. It costs some $20 billion a year just to pay active soldiers, and when the cost of pensions are added, the total rises significantly. By contrast, since the pay scale in the Soviet Army is about 10 cents per day, this frees a higher proportion of the Soviet budget towards research and development, and towards general military readiness. This does not bode well for the concept of balance of power. Finally, despite the attractive pay scale and despite the lowering of enlistment standards, we are still unable to recruit all the manpower we need. A paucity of troops has placed our armed forces in perilous shape.

The above are practical objections to a volunteer army. A theoretical objection is that a volunteer army is a mercenary army, where the primary loyalty is towards the paymaster (ultimately the commanding general), and not towards one's country.

The Ancient Roman experience provides a relevant precedent. In the early days of the Roman Republic, a citizen army would be raised to meet a given emergency, and would be disbanded after the crisis was over. This was the army of the Roman saviour, Cincinnatus Later, the growing republic needed perpetual standing armies. These armies, led by the likes of Julius Caesar and Pompey, were paid, professional soldiers whose existence eventually destroyed the Roman Republic and replaced it with rule by monarchy. This example suggests that the establishment of a professional, mercenary army is one of the steps a democratic society takes in eliminating its democracy.

Recently, President Carter suggested that all citizens be required to serve the government for a minimum period of time upon reaching the age of majority. This suggestion is not popular among college students, who presumably have better things to do than to waste a couple of years in government service. At least during Vietnam, they avoided the fighting and dying by virtue of being smarter, richer, or whiter than the ones who did serve.

By forcing everyone to perform some kind of service to the government, justice is paid to those whose economic circumstances forces them to join the army. It is also the means by which young adults can repay the taxpayers for the money spent on them.

A universal draft would not mean that all draftees would have to serve in the Armed Forces; alternative service could be an option made available after the necessary military levies are met. By forcing universal cooperation with the government, the universal draft is one of the best ways we have of reinforcing the neglected concepts of civic obligation and responsibility. It is one of President Carter's better ideas.

James A. Nollet is a Collegian Columnist.

gregg wilson

Toward equality

Just the other day the College Placement Council, an organization which assembles on jobs and salaries offered to college students, reported that the employment picture for women college graduates was 69 per cent better than last year.

Monday night, Bella Abzug, the sarcastic former N.Y. Congresswoman, lauded the fact that the percentage of women students enrolled in the nation's law schools is much higher today than when she attended the Columbia School of Law in the 1940's.

"Women," Abzug remarked, "are acquiring powaah at the top."

Granted, women have been unfairly restricted from movement up the occupational and social ladders for too long. Granted, that men continue to perpetuate their subordination. But those who believe, like Bella Abzug, that the extent of sexual equality can be measured in terms of the number of women lawyers, business managers, elected officials or Supreme Court Justices are kidding themselves.

Women who believe that women as a group will achieve equality through their assumption of previously male dominated roles in society are dead wrong. For the very process which women will have to endure to reach these goals is a process which will cause more not less equality among both men and women.

Many women whom I have spoken to in the past week strongly believe that to replace men in the occupational and power structure with women will lead to a condition where women will not be discriminated against and hence be more equal. I think that this is a myth, a myth which must be exploded if we are ever to create a more egalitarian society.

To reach these positions women will be forced to become as competitive, as backstabbing, as infighting, and as self-aggrandizing as their male counterparts. I think the very process of jockeying and competing for these roles will undermine the cohesiveness which has been so important to the success of today's women's movement.

Basically I do not believe that women are presently as competitive as their male counterparts. Sure women have and still do compete socially, athletically, and academically, and I grant you that the structural limitations of our society have prevented them from competing for occupational or power wielding roles in this country. Traditionally women have been socialized to subvert their competitiveness, thus allowing men to dominate the power structure.

"Women who believe that women as a group will achieve equality through their assumption of previously male dominated roles in society are dead wrong."

But I laud this lack of competition among women, I see it as a catalyst which allows women to come together for conferences such as International Women's Week. It allows them to collectively address the political, social amd economic problems they face in an unequal society. I think this lack of competition among women allows them to see their goals as the same, that this vacuum of competitiveness allows them to attack these problems as a unified group.

But if women dive headstrong into competition among men and themselves for roles high in the hierachical power structure of this society, this very competition will lead them to treat their problems individually, undermining any combined effort to erase collective inequality. This is the main problem with today's male dominated society.

For it is this very competition among the oppressed in our society which perpetuates inequality. Competition for a larger piece of a dwindling pie pits the low income worker against the welfare recipient, the student of public higher education against the incarcerated prisoner, and blacks against whites. All are individually seeking a more equitable lifestyle but in the process subverting any collective effort against a system which maintains the unequitable conditions.

All the equal rights amendments from here to Hawaii will not lead to equality among all. No matter how many women assume upper level roles in what is structurally an unequal society, we will not see a movement towards equality for all women.

It's time we recognized the inadequacies and temporary nature of a movement which might choose to measure its success by individual and not collective movements towards egailitarianism.

Gregg Wilson is a Collegian Columnist.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

melanie johnson

'We're all in it for the duration'

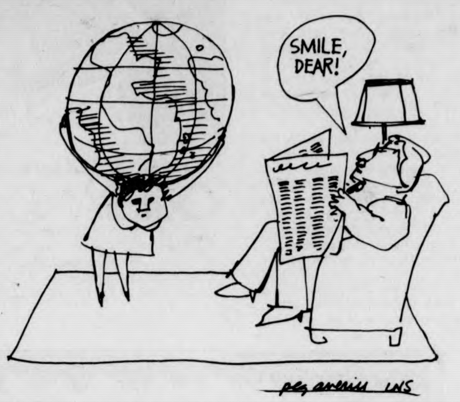
So this was International Women's Week. For the past five days, we have been able to join forces and experiences, share our joys and our disappointments. The week brought both its high points and its lows; our solidarity and common strength signified perhaps the highest point. The events and the reactions of the community to the events indicate how much more work we still must do.

Bella Abzug perhaps taught us the most about where we have to go from here. I came out of her speech thinking, "A politician is a politician, is a politician." In her speech she implored that women become more active in politics, without really telling how or what to do when (if ever) we got there. She has spoken up for all the right issues, and verbally supported many of the same issues for which we fight, but she, a woman who has more political clout than most women didn't act; when the fire gets hot, she turns her back and walks away.

Dorothy Allison, in her presentation at Hampshire College on Saturday on "Lesbianism and Class Analysis" perhaps put it best.

"Oppressive institutions are oppressive no matter who staffs them. The responsibility is not to play the game as expected, not to get burned out or tired when the going gets rough...The jobs define you...we have to change the jobs."

We are strangers in a male world. I noticed the difference when I came out of a day full of workshops attended almost exclusively by women to work in an all-male newsroom. Being in a male-defined culture, and male-defined institutions, can sap the strength of anyone who tries to find an alternative. It is like adding one more role on top of the already heavy load that women carry; we are simultaneously workers, students, wives, mothers, lovers, friends, daughters, and most importantly, but often ignored, women.



Because of the many roles we play, the countless hours we devote to work and care (often geared towards other persons) we lose touch with ourselves. We lose touch with our common heritage as women; our oppression as women becomes invisible. We blame it on something else; more often, we think it is a failure within ourselves.

Much of the failure of the women's movement can be blamed on the inertia within the society and institutions; just listen to the language, read a magazine, or look at advertising. But another large part of the problem lies within ourselves when we give up; when we give in to the stereotypes that are expected of us. Because we have internalized so many of the values that degrade women we have to prove to ourselves, and to others that we will not tolerate their oppression.

Our struggle is a double-edged sword; we must support men, in the recognition of their oppressive attitudes. We cannot flick a magic wand and tell them that from this point on they will no longer be sexist. Consciousness raising is a slow process, one that is painful, confusing, and difficult; it is something that must ultimately come from within, not from without.

International Women's Week brought up alot of questions and controversy; it showed us how far we have come and how far we must go. Lets not let this be a once in a life-time effort; we need to incorporate this kind of sensitivity into our daily life and improve upon it, in order to have any meaningful consequences for the future of all people. Let's not let the level at which we have arrived fall. As Charlotte Buch wrote, "We are in it for the duration."

Melanie Johnson is Women's Coordinator of the Collegian.

Long live the queen

By PAUL YANOWITCH

Hopefully, we are all aware that this is International Womans Week, and though the general ebbullience normally associated with such "notorious weeks" as The Feast of San Genero is palpably lacking, it appears that a semi-euphoria has settled over our campus. I believe that it is in keeping with this week and its underlying philosophy to expound upon some esoteric news that concerns women and their role and rights in our society. Undeniably, major advances have been made, for women, in the area of the law. Therefore, as a legal tyro and self-appointed student of constitutional law, I present for all a case with earth shaking implications, and which, paradoxically, forebodes of relief for men.

The breakthrough came in a recent case decided by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit, and after reading excerpts of the decision, I found the Courts reasoning illogical and incogitant. However, upon further perusal, I concluded that the decision was not only ludicrous, it ranged into the murky depths of abject idiocy.

The facts of the case are as follows; it seems as though the L.A. Water and Power Co. had established a pension plan for their employers, which required the workers to pay part of their salaries into retirement accounts. Actuarial statistics have shown that women live longer than men, and, therefore, were required to pay, on the average, 15 per cent more to their accounts than men. The Court struck this down as a violation of the U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1964. As Judge Ben Duniway said in the unanimous opinion of the Court; "Not all women live longer than men; yet each individual will live longer, but because the members of her sexual group, on the average, live longer." In other words, setttng rates "solely on the basis of sex is a failure to treat each individual as such".

My objections lie with the decision; it is my belief that the judges do not comprehend the first principles of insurance. That is, every person is grouped into a larger class of people, all of whom demonstrate certain characteristics. This spreads the risk among a large number of people, whose rates are based upon the peculiar characteristics of that group. Men, too, are grouped into categories; hence, women are not being discriminated against, nor is there a modicum of evidence upon which to base a charge of a denial of equal protection.

If this case is affirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court, or if they decide not to hear the case (in which event the decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit becomes final), then MEN all over America, under 25, with unblemished driving records should have relief from the exhorbitant rates that are charged we few for auto insurance. It cannot be denied that we are discriminated against; we are not viewed as individuals, we are grouped as a class! More importantly, the entire insurance field now stands on very shaky ground. There are a large number of actuaries that would not appreciate going unemployed.

To bastardize a quote from Justice Murphy, in his impassioned dissent in the infamous Korematsu v. U.S. (323 U.S. 214) 1944; "this decision purports to concern a law that goes over the brink of constitutional power and falls into the ugly abyss of sexism."

"The King is dead, long live the Queen"

Paul Yanowitch is a Collegian Commentator

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

jan van tol

99.44 per cent equal—

Due to possible controversial and mistaken interpretations of the following column, the writer would like to stress that the point of this column is to condemn stereotypes of women, not to condone them in any way.

J.M. van Tol
Bill Sundstrom, Exec. Ed.
Melanie Johnson, Women's Coordinator

"He who trusts a woman would walk on duckweed in a pool."

—Kipling

We had intended to write another caveman-style (beat on it and hope it dies) column against the SOP. But anticipating the sexist ridicule from unprogressive writers that women will surely have to endure, we figured that the gallant thing to do would be to say some kind things about International Women's Week instead.

Most satirists have probably been looking forward to Women's Week with lust in their hearts for a long time.

Most satirists have probably been looking forward to Women's Week with lust in their hearts for a long time. No doubt many of them anticipate that Women's Week will only be a gigantic coffee klatsch where women will sit around and gab all week. But is that fair?

There are some who claim that the whole thing is just one big Festival of Female Narcissism. Indeed, they say, there seems to be quite a bit of self-worship going on. After all, a whole week of female speakers and performers? (Many New York political observers are unsure of almost-Senator Bella Abzug's exact classification; speculation persists that she is actually a freemartin.)

Actually Women's Week is a celebration of women's liberation from oppression. Women are now 99.44 per cent equal to men. There are presently only three bastions of male chauvinism left in America, according to latest reports. These are, of course, the Air Force, the Catholic Church, and the National Football League.

There is unfortunately still a stubborn streak of conservatism running through the Air Force that prevents women from flying. ("If God wanted Woman to fly, he'd have given her wings.") Actually, that's not quite accurate. Women can fly certain types of planes. But as three young lasses recently pointed out in the Collegian, equality means that women too can fly the fighters. After all, that's where the action is. Obviously the world will be a better place when women can strafe, napalm, and nuke along with the rest of us.

According to the Catholic Church, women cannot become priests because they are not created in the image of Christ. But this rests on a hitherto unchallenged assumption which is now being questioned. In fact, a group of feminist researchers has reportedly shown that Christ was actually a woman, a fact long suppressed by the Vatican. (Vatican officials are also denying reports that Pope Paul is himself a freemartin.)

NFL officials have long claimed that the only reason that Pro Football has not become coed is that the behavior women are sometimes known for would bring a level of violence to the game that is plainly inconsistent with the American sports ethic. Women's wrestling is of course the most famous example. However, should the ERA pass, the NFL would surely have to allow women players. The League is reportedly drawing up Affirmative Action guidelines.

Aside from these three examples, though, women have made impressive strides forward in their struggle. So there is much to celebrate this week. But don't merely be passive; join in the festivities. For those males with little imagination, here are some progressive things YOU can do this week:

—Let her out without her leash
—Let HER drive
—Let her take YOU out
—Teach her to play poker
—Let her sit at the head of the table
—Buy her a new and improved broom —Help her with her math
—Offer to clean half the dishes
—Let her get on top
—Promise her anything, but give her Arpege....

———

We were really delighted to see someone finally defend that much-maligned Patriot, President Dr. Idi Amin. As was accurately pointed out last week, Mr. Amin's projection as a lunatic, power-thirsty Black African ruier is clearly a conspiracy by the New York Times, AP, and Newsweek magazine to undermine his government. While his use of murder is somewhat crude, Mr. Amin is undoubtedly popular with Ugandans. Why, if Ugandans were to vote right now, Mr. Amin would probably receive a great majority of the votes. He might even get all of them.

And as the writer claims, even if there were a minor problem in Uganda, it is a Black affair that White America should stay out of. After all, it is only Black people who are getting killed, right?

In the interest of accuracy, however, we should mention one small error in an otherwise excellent commentary. While Mr. Paul Yanowitch has indeed been a fabulous racist for as long as we have known him, he does not really want Mr. Amin to be Speaker of the Student Senate. That was a joke.

Jan van Tol is a Collegian Columnist.

News in Brief

Smith appoints research prof

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. [UPI] — History Prof. Hebert G. Gutman has been appointed William Allan Neilson research professor at Smith College for the 1977-78 academic year.

Gutman, a professor at the graduate center of the City University of New York, is a visiting professor at William and Mary College this year.

Senate rejects pay increase

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Members of the U.S. Senate, who just received a 29 per cent pay increase totaling $12,900 a year, yesterday voted against accepting any more this year.

The Senate approved legislation which would prevent top employes of the federal government from receiving a scheduled cost-of-living increase in October. The House is expected to go along.

The vote was 93 to 1, with Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, the lone dissenter.

Programs for children supported

BOSTON [UPI] — Dukakis administration officials yesterday joined in support of a reorganization of state programs for children, but they were split on how extensive the reorganization should be.

Testifying before the legislature's Human Services Committee, several administration officials, led by Human Services Secretary Jerald Stevens, renewed pleas for a new centralized agency for children.

Money going to states in need

WASHINGTON [UPI] — After a day-long battle among states, the Senate voted yesterday to give the most money to states with the highest unemployment rates in a $4 billion bill for public works employment.

The 56 to 31 vote was a victory for states such as California, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Oregon and Washington, all with jobless rates over 9 per cent.

Handicapped want loan for home

HARTFORD, Conn. [UPI] — A wheelchair brigade of handicapped persons showed up at the state Capitol yesterday to ask the legislature for a loan to build a home for the physically disabled.

The proposed $2.4 million facility would house 120 severely handicapped Connecticut residents and would be the first of its kind in the country.

Shoeworkers want quotas; tariffs on shoe imports

BOSTON (UPI) — About 1,000 shoeworkers marched to the State House yesterday to ask Gov. Michael S. Dukakis to tell President Carter they need jobs.

Demonstrators — most of them unemployed — tied up traffic for about a half-hour as they walked up Beacon Hill about noon and paraded in front of the State House.

They carried placards stating "Kick Back the Imports," and chanted, "We want our jobs."

Specifically, the demonstrators wanted Carter to approve an International Trade Commission recommendation setting import quotas and tarrifs on foreign shoes.

Dukakis said he supported them.

"We all know what has happened to your industry as a result of the astounding increase in shoe imports ... Massachusetts, whose older cities are scarred by abandoned shoe factories, has paid a higher price than most other areas of the country," he said.

The recommendation calls for a yearly quota of 265 million pairs of foreign shoes and a heavy tariff imposed on imported shoes over the limit to be in effect five years.

For the recommendation to go into effect, the President must act on it by April 8 and send it to Congress, which can override Carter's action by a simple majority.

Spokespersons for the demonstrators said 320 million pairs of imported shoes were sold in the U.S. last year — nearly 0 per cent of all shoes sold in the country.

According to U.S. Department of Labor statistics, 70,000 people — 13,000 in Massachusetts — have lost their jobs in the shoe industry since 1969. About 100 shoe manufacturing plants have shut down in Massachusetts in the same period.

A small delegation presented a 3,000-signature petition to Dukakis, asking him to transmit their request to the President.

Dukakis said if Carter and Congress pass the ITC proposal, his administration would work with the industry to try to make it "become competitive again" in the next five years.

5-COLLEGE
GAY DISCO
(all students welcome)
Live Boston DJ.
FRI. MARCH 11, 9:00pm
Admission 50¢
(includes 1 FREE DRINK)
Beer & Wine
HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE
DINING COMMONS

Amin wants to replace Elizabeth

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — President Idi Amin of Uganda said yesterday he should replace Queen Elizabeth as head of the British Commonwealth and would propose such a move at the next Commonwealth conference in London this summer.

Amin, who returned from Cairo and the world's first Afro-Arab summit with a group of black Americans from the World Community of Islam who came at his special invitation, also said the PLO had put three squadrons of warplanes at his disposal.

Amin repeated he intended to go to the Commonwealth conference in London where he will ask other heads of state to elect him head of the Commonwealth in place of the Queen.

Amin said he saw no reason why "the Queen should always hold the post since Britain no longer has an empire."

"People all over the world would like to see who Big Daddy is," Amin told his American visitors, referring to his own nickname.

"BEST PICTURE" • "BEST DIRECTOR"
"BEST SCREENPLAY" • "BEST ACTRESS" LIV ULLMAN
INGMAR BERGMAN'S
CRIES AND WHISPERS
ROGER CORMAN presents
A NEW WORLD PICTURES RELEASE R
SUNDAY MARCH 13, 1977
CCA 7, 9, 11
$1.00

Friday - March 11
4 pm to Midnight
All your favorite artists
Every famous label
Entire Inventory Series 6.98
$3.79
Entire Inventory Series $7.98
L.P.'s & Tapes & Cassettes
$4.79
MOONLIGHT MADNESS SALE
All Musical Categories Including: Pop, Rock, Jazz, Country & Western Disco, Classical, Easy Listening, Male & Female Vocal, Soul, Instrumental, Etc. master charge
RECORD TOWN
Records & Tapes at Super Discount Prices your BANKAMERICARD welcome
Mountain Farms Mall Hadley, Mass.

DANSKIN
AT THE
UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER

OPEN HOUSE
Kappa Sigma
Sat. March 12
9-1
$1.00 cover
Free Refreshments

What's Happening

Third World M—F workshop Saturday

Third World men are encouraged to attend a workshop on Third World men-women relationships Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the second floor lounge of the New Africa House. The relationship between Third World men and women, a key link in promoting unity collectivity in struggle, will be discussed. Alternative ways of relating which would further promote unity will be explored.

GSEU sponsors film program Sunday

Sci Fi and satire will flash across the screen this Sunday in an unusual film program sponsored by the Graduate Student Employees Union (GSEU).

Heading the bill is the Academy-Award winning War of the World's, a 1953 thriller about a Martian invasion. It makes its first showing in the Valley region at the GSEU event. Ingmar Bergman buffs will be delighted with the second feature, The Duva, a biting satirical romp that polks fun at the Swedish director's genre of soul-searching Scandinavian fare Films will be shown Sunday in the Student Union Ballroom 7-9 and 11 p.m.

Last week GSEU staged a massive two-day booksale on campus, netting more than $600 towards its organizing drive, much of which is earmarked for legal fees related to establishing its status as a bargaining group for students.

Women's Center plans coffeehouse

The Orchard Hill Women's Center is sponsoring a women's coffeehouse to benefit Ella Ellison Sunday from 8 p.m. to midnight. The suggested donation is 50 cents. All women are urged to attend.

String orchestra in concert at FAC

I Solsti Di Zagreb, a unique orchestra of 11 string virtuosi, will appear in concert at the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall on Tuesday, March 15, under the auspices of the UMass Arts Council. This is the fourth concert in the Council's Chamber Music for the '76-'77 season.

Tickets for this concert are now on sale at the FAC Box Office and are $5, $4, $3, for the general public; half price for UMass students.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Duchess Meat Pie with Gravy; Basics: Spinach Casserole, Grilled Cheese Sandwich.

DINNER — Baked Fish with Lemon Slice, Lasagna with Meat Sauce; Basics: Lasagna with Tomato Sauce, Baked Fish with Lemon Slice.

TOMORROW

BRUNCH — Scrambled Eggs, Bacon, Tuna Noodle Casserole, Corned Beef Sandwich.

DINNER — Roast Beef with Mushroom Sauce, American Chop Suey.

SUNDAY

BRUNCH — Scrambled Eggs, Sausage Links, Chicken a la King on Cornbread, Fishburger with Tartar Sauce.

DINNER — Beef Stew, Baked Ham with Pineapple Rings.

Study in New York this summer.
Columbia University offers over 400 undergraduate courses and professional school courses.
For a bulletin write:Summer session Columbia University, 102 c Low, N.Y., N.Y. 10027

Hillel sponsors brunch and speaker

Prof. Judith Baskin of the UMass classics department will be guest speaker at the Hillel brunch Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Commonwealth Room of the Student Union. Baskin, who received her doctorate in 1976 from Yale University's Department of Medieval Studies, teaches courses here in Judaic Studies. Her topic for the brunch lecture, as part of the International Women's Week program, is "Voices from Behind the Screen: Judaism and the Modern Woman".

Women and the arts is seminar topic

The UMass Arts Extension Service of Continuing Education is presenting a long-day seminar "Women and the Arts" tomorrow at Amherst College.

The morning session begins with 9 a.m. registration at the Merrill Science Center followed by women's video, film and visual art presentations, poetry readings and a workshop on funding the artist.

Admission is free. For further information or for preregistration, call The Arts Extension Service at 545-2013.

Senior portrait schedule extended

Due to the tremendous response of this year's seniors all yearbook appointments through March 18 are full. Therefore, the portrait schedule has been extended. Appointments are now being taken for the week of April 4th. Make yours now by calling 545-2874 or coming to the 9th floor Campus Center.

Anthropology office distributing newsletter

The UMass undergraduate anthropology department will be distributing its first edition of a bi-monthly newsletter today. Many anthropology undergraduates will receive their copy through the campus mail. Undergraduates who do not receive one may pick up their newsletter at the Anthropology office at 215 Machmer. On-campus students who are interested in receiving future issues should leave their names and addresses in the undergrad mailbox in Machmer.

Violin recital Sunday in Bowker

The UMass Department of Music and Dance will present faculty member Julian Olevsky performing in a solo violin recital Sunday, at 8 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium. The public is invited to attend free.

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
Ends Tues. 7 & 9
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
"THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN"
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

OLD TIME MOVIES
March 12th & 13th
WORCESTER SNACK BAR 8:00 PM
HAMPDEN SNACK BAR 9:00 PM
OLD TIME PRICES
Hamburger 25¢
Hot dog 20¢
Fries 20¢
Coke 10¢
Ice Cream 15¢

All of the Irish and everyone else is invited to POOR RICHARDS'
St. Patty's Day Party
6-9p.m. Friday, March 11
Happy Hour Prices on all Drinks and Beer
Shots of Jameson Irish Whiskey 75¢
Best of all Irish Music from 6-9

★ Judges withhold posters

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

decision "showed an equity of justice and fairness." He said he was glad the judges decided to hear all the evidence.

SGA co-President Jay A. Martus said, "I simply can't believe that they were that stupid. Did they think they could get away with this?"

Martus said he did not hold an official position in the Batiste-Hite campaign, but said he had worked for them and planned to endorse them.

Plaintiffs representing Batiste-Hite alleged the Foley-Tyson team obtained the text of their poster after it had been laid out at the graphics department of the Collegian office.

Collegian Business Manager Anthony Armelin told the court that a few hours after he had spent the previous Tuesday night aiding Bryan Harvey, the Batiste-Hite media coordinator, and Paul Cronin, current SGA president, with the poster layout. Brian Harrington, the Foley-Tyson campaign manager, asked him to relate the text and layout of the poster to him. Since the poster was ready for print for Thursday distribution, Armelin repeated the poster's text and layout to Harrington.

Armelin said Harrington asked him to repeat the poster's text twice.

Cronin and Harvey separately testified that Cronin took the poster copy to the Hamilton-Newell printing company of Amherst the same afternoon, and picked up the finished material around four o'clock.

When the defense asked Armelin in cross examination the time he estimated would be needed to produce Foley-Tyson's literature, he replied one hour.

The plaintiffs pointed out that Foley-Tyson's poster had been filed at the Student Affairs Office Thursday morning at eleven.

Although the defense did not call any witnesses, Russell Skelton and Brian DeLima, the advocates for defense, emphasized during their summation that campaign platforms frequently take similar stands — hence the similar wording. Since they felt the evidence was too sketchy and circumstantial, and since they did not have adequate time to summon their witnesses, they told the court the injunction should not be granted.

They also felt the hearing was political, and the injunction, if enacted, would have damaging effects on the campaign without ever being backed by substantial evidence.

★ Women

CONT. FROM PAGE 2

the rural areas. Though cars are used for transportation, the main mode of transportation is bicycles. Army bases erected by the U.S. are still to be seen, yet many women carry buckets filled with vegetables on yokes through city streets.

Bragg told the audience that 83,000 people lost limbs due to the war. Major rehabilitation centers are being built but there is still a need for more. There was 300,000 prostitutes in Vietnam when the war ended. Extensive use of chemical defoliants have caused many birth defects.

SMITH COLLEGE REC COUNCIL
PRESENTS :
HARRY CHAPIN
IN CONCERT
THURS. MAR.31 9:30pm
JOHN M. GREENE HALL —
SMITH COLLEGE
TICKETS — $6 AVAILABLE
STARTING FRIDAY MARCH 11 AT :
TICKETRON — UMASS
FACES OF EARTH — AMHERST
GOODBODIES — SOUTH HADLEY
BACKROOM — NORTHHAMPTON

H. G. WELLS'
WAR
OF THE WORLDS
SUNDAY, MARCH 13
7, 9, 11 PM SUB BALLROOM

Tonight
Friday March 11, 1977
John Cassavetes'
A WOMAN UNDER
THE INFLUENCE
starring
Gena Rowlands
Peter Falk
CCA 7, 9⁴⁵ $1.00

Baroque Mini Theater
$1.00 Portrait $1.00
tonite: 7:00, 8:15, 9:30, 10:45, 12:00, 1:15
Sat.: 2:00, 3:30, 5:00, 6:30, 7:45
Public Health Building Aud.
Rated-X
Baroque Ent.

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents
NIKOLAIS
Dance Theatre
FRI. & SAT.
MARCH 11, 12
8 p.m.
Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $6, 5, 4. UM—A students — half price, senior citizens and other studnets $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE
545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents
I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB
The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra
TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
LAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG
① Fri. 4:45, 7:00, 9:30, twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sat. 2:00, 4:45, 7:00, 9:30, twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sun. 2:00, 5:45, 8:00, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
R
② Fri. 5:00, 7:15, 9:45, twi-liter 4:30-5:00
Sat. 2:15, 5:00, 7:15, 9:45, twi-liter 4:30-5:00
Sun. 2:15, 6:00, 8:15, twi-liter 5:30-6:00
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
R
③ Fri. 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, twi-liter 4:00-4:30
Sat. 2:00, 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, twi-liter 4:00-4:30
Sun. 2:00, 5:30, 8:00, twi-liter 5:00-5:30
The Newest, Pinkest Panther of All!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER
BLAKE EDWARDS
FINAL WEEK!!
PG
④ Fri. 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sat. 2:15, 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, twi-liter
Sun. 2:15, 5:45, 8:15, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS . LIMITED TO SEATING

Notices

ALL UNIVERSITY ..OM: N

Sigma Delta Tau invites all interested university women to take a study break with us. Come meet the sisters and pledges, Monday night, March 14, 8-9 p.m. at 409 N. Pleasant St. For rides and info call 545-057.

BELCHERTOWN VOLUNTEERS

The bus to the state school will leave tomorrow at 12:30 from Whitmore (Haigis Mall). Everyone is welcome. 1 credit is available. Any questions call Bill at 546-6782 or Mary Jane at 545-2302, Rm. 316.

BIG BAD BOOGIE

The fourth annual Big Bad Boogie will be tonight in Worcester Dining Commons, at 9 p.m. Music is by "Orphan Annie".

BLOODY MARY POTLUCK BRUNCH

Welcoming all interested and hungry women to discover what the Women's Center is all about. Sunday, March 13 at 11:30 a.m., come to the Central Area Women's Center, located on the first floor of Baker. Bring friends and your favorite brunch item. Bloody Marys will be served. Call 545-0496.

CASIAC INFO

CASIAC counselors are staffing the registrar's office from 10-4 throughout the semester.

COFFEEHOUSE

This Saturday, March 12, the Newman Club is sponsoring a Benefit Coffeehouse at 8 p.m. in the Front Lounge. Prof. Madeline Wheeler will speak shortly on a neighborhood community center in Bedford-Styvesant, N.Y., which will receive all profits from this event. Please join us!

ATTENTION COM DIS MAJORS

People still interested in attending the convention may still send in their registration forms or register at the convention.

END THE WEEK!

Coffee, wine and munchies, plus cheerful company are offered each Friday from 3:30 - 5 p.m. in SU 422 by the UCF Community for the whole UMass community. Drop in.

FLEA MARKET

On campus flea market this Sunday, March 13 on JQA Upper 19th floor, 10-5. Everyone invited. Choose from crafts, jewelry, second hand goods and more. Plan to be there.

FOUND

A lost black and white kitten about four months old. Its in desperate need for a home. If interested call Pam 6-6810. Thank you.

HELLENIC CLUB

The Hellenic American Association will have a get-together Monday night at 7:30 in CC 808. To be discussed will be the club's involvement in the International Fair and the Disco. Refreshments will be served plus music and dancing.

HILLELL SUNDAY BRUNCH

This Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Commonwealth Room of the SU, Prof Judith Basgru from the Classics Dept. will be guest speaker at a brunch. TOPIC: Voices from Behind the Screen — Judaism and the Modern Women.

INSANITY

Attention all insane people — the Strategic Games Club will be meeting this Sunday from noon to midnight in the CC, check the bulletin.

INTERNATIONAL FOLKDANCING

Tonight in the Cape Cod Lounge. No admission fee. Everyone welcome. 8-12 with teaching from 8-10.

LOST

Man's gold ring initials PCA on it. Please call 6-8020.

LOST

Left in library storage box, four scotch tape cassettes. It is essential that they are returned because they have important lectures. Call 549-4833.

LOST

16 x 20 block art newsprint in green plastic. Bartlett on 3-9. Call Rob Chalfen 586-4322.

LOST

Texas instruments calculator SR-50. Lost in Thompson 106. Gary Freeman 6-9547.

NEWSPAPER

There will be a meeting on Tuesday at 4 for the Resources Judaica newspaper. All interested must attend SU 407.

POETS ARISE!

A special poetry and fiction issues will run soon. Send your creativity to the Below the Salt desk, Collegian.

SABBATH SERVICE

Friday night services will be held in CC 165-9 at 7 p.m. Torah Study Session at 4 p.m. Friday, SU 302.

SEX DISCRIMINATION

All students, staff and faculty are invited to attend an open meeting to examine and discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination in the Campus Center, on Tuesday from noon to 2 p.m. in Room 165 of the Campus Center.

THANKS TO THE DISCO-GOERS

The Hellenic American Assoc. wishes to thank all the people who came to the DISCO last Friday. Hope to see you at more of our events in the future.

WHEELCHAIR BASKETBALL

There will be a demonstration game of Wheelchair Basketball tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Boyden Gym. No admission, everyone is welcome to come.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The first organizational meeting of the Student-run Women's Athletic Council will be Tuesday at 7 p.m. SHARP. It will be held in NOPE Lounge and is open to all members of the University community.

SEMANA LATINO AMERICANA AHORA

Hoy (Marzo 12) Concierto con Lucecita Benitez a 7:30 de la noche en Campus Center Auditorium. La Fiesta Infantil a 4:30 p.m. en Campus Center 174.

WOODY ALLEN'S
" TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN "
PLUS
* ROAD RUNNER SHORTS
"Woody Allen's best movie ever ! "
FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1977
RALPH C. MAHAR AUDITORIUM
7,9, & 11:00 P.M.
Admission $1.00

STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
NOW PLAYING!
R
584-9153
MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
ROUTE 9-HADLEY
SUN.-THUR. 5:30 ® 8:00
FRI. ® SAT.-4:30,7:00,9:30
MAT. SAT ® SUN. AT 2:00

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m. and 3:45p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m. two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are:
Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00 - 10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

Tag sale couch-bikes-rugs-desk bookshelves. 543 Puffton Village. Today.

FOR SALE

1 pr. Bozak spkrs., exc. cond., one yr. old. Great for folk singer and classical as well as Jazz. Only $125 firm. Call Steven at 546-9653.

Bauer nylon Supremes 92, size 9½, $75. 1 pair of Volki skis, boots, size 9, $50. Call 665-4921.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

For Sale: 19" color TV. $150. 546-6134.

Frye bts, sz. 7, $40. Wt. uniform, 9; shoes, sz. 7, $15. 6-7990.

Nikko TRM 500 sterio amp., excel. cond. $200 new, asking $140. Call Barry 546-9597 or 253-7549.

Sansui AM-FM Recvr. Exc. cond. $90 or best offer. Steve 6903.

Gretch Country Gent-styled guitar. $85 or B. O. 546-5811.

8 track w-FM rad. in car, stereo head phone hk-up. Exc. cond. $50 or best off. Frank 549-1872.

Elvis Fans! Rare books, records, EPAs. One day only. Call 546-4549 before Sat.

AUTO FOR SALE

1972 Fiat 128. Runs well, low mileage. Best offer. 256-8530.

'66 Int'l School Bus w-low mileage, '68 engine, exc. cond. Asking $2300. Call 617-939-2396.

'70 Toyota Corona. Exc. cond. Best offer. Satish 546-9925.

1968 Volvo 122. Many new parts. Vry good cond. $850. firm. 586-0610 aftr. 5.

'69 VW needs work. Good car. $250 253-9692.

AUTO FOR SALE

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

Honda 450, rblt. eng., many new parts. Must be seen. $550—B. O. Sandy 549-4576 eve.

'72 Honda 350CB. $500. Call 549-1055.

'72 Honda 350cc. $500. Call 549-1055.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd.,w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Roommate wanted for 1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt. on bus route, all utilities inc. Beautifully furnished. $110 a month. B-3 Cliffside. Leave name and number - 584-9669.

Own rm., $100 rent, utils. included, on bus rt. 256-0275.

Two roommates wanted, Townhouse Apts. 2 bedrooms upstairs, semi-furnished. From June 1 thru Aug. 549-1739.

Own room in Bltn. Coop. $66-mo. 323-4590 Eves. Veg. - nosmoke.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Hse., Sund. Has rms., bus, April 1. 256-6698.

Furn. rm. in fine country home 247-5527.

HELP WANTED

Medical Technologist position available at Farren Memorial Hospital, Main St., Turners Falls, MA. 774-3111.

Work Study position available: Presentation Graphics & Cartography. Call: 545-0930.

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

TIX, the new student activities ticket office will sell tickets to all student-sponsored events at 317 SUB.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall to wall carpeting, air conditioning - 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Stolen: Grn canvas knapsack from PH Prep Rm — notebook has impt. notes. Any info call 256-8120. Reward.

To Scott Bertram: Your not as good in bed as you think you are — Heidi P.

H.B.K.J. Quinn! Hope it's eggsellent! L.V. The M and N Kids (and Jono)

Hello Bobbo, Hello Julie. Yes we like you truly. And just one last thing we say! Happy, Happy Bday. Respectfully yours, the eggth floor.

M 33 tall, athletic with winter roll of fat seeks additional people for demo sale now thru Saturday. Call 549-2610

Flamm-Happy B-day from Greenough, Shattuck and the Fathers-ura goon!

Bishop and Fish Lambda Delta Phi loves you. Your the greatest. E.L.

Brucy — Destiny is calling and so are we — your secret admirers.

Good luck to the 1976-77 UMass Women's Basketball team in the regionals! Chris, Nancy, Cheryl, Ginny, Lu, Gayle, Grace, Julie, Maura, Pooh Bear, Sue, Ozzie, Pam and Lynsie.

WANTED

A FT-2 carrying case for Nikkormat cameras. Call Bill, Rm. 311, 5-2642.

Wanted to buy 2 tickets to Bonnie Raitt Concert. Call 665-4903.

SERVICES

Pregnant & need help? Feel alone & scared? Someone cares. Help is just a phone call away. Free pregnancy testing & other services are confidential. BIRTHRIGHT 732-6104. Non-profit & non-denominational organization.

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

Come to the fourth annual Big Bad Boogie, beginning at 9:00 p.m., Friday, March 11 at Worcester Dining Commons, featuring the band, Orphan Annie! Sponsored by Sylvan Area Govt.

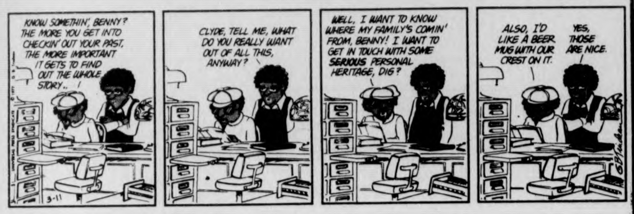
A new club is interested in finding a few new serious card players for a weekly game. If interested call Kurt at 6-9605.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

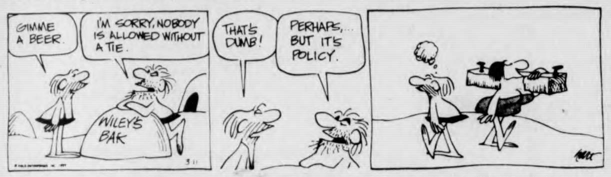
Doonesbury by Garry Trudeau

Valley Typing
29 S. Pleasant St.
call 256-6736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



KNOW SOMETHIN', BENNY? THE MORE YOU GET INTO CHECKIN' OUT YOUR PAST, THE MORE IMPORTANT IT GETS TO FIND OUT THE WHOLE STORY..!
CLYDE, TELL ME, WHAT DO YOU REALLY WANT OUT OF ALL THIS, ANYWAY?
WELL, I WANT TO KNOW WHERE MY FAMILY'S COMIN' FROM, BENNY! I WANT TO GET IN TOUCH WITH SOME SERIOUS PERSONAL HERITAGE, DIG?
ALSO, I'D LIKE A BEER MUG WITH OUR CREST ON IT.
YES, THOSE ARE NICE.
3-11

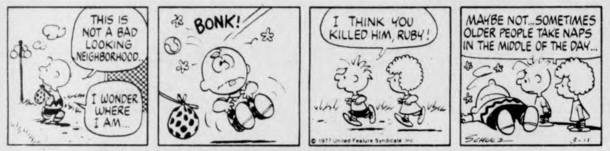
B.C. by Johnny Hart



GIMME A BEER.
I'M SORRY, NOBODY IS ALLOWED WITHOUT A TIE.
WILEY'S BAK
THAT'S DUMB!
PERHAPS,... BUT IT'S POLICY.
3-11

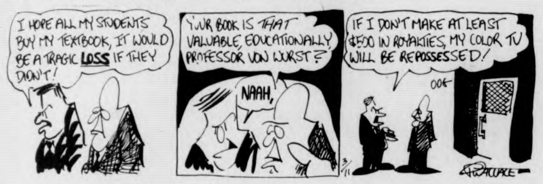
Peanuts by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



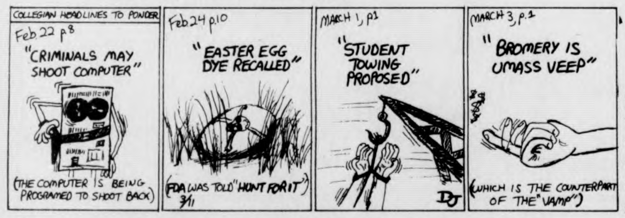
THIS IS NOT A BAD LOOKING NEIGHBORHOOD...
I WONDER WHERE I AM...
BONK!
I THINK YOU KILLED HIM, RUBY!
MAYBE NOT...SOMETIMES OLDER PEOPLE TAKE NAPS IN THE MIDDLE OF THE DAY...
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
3-11

Harry Fig by Peter Wallace



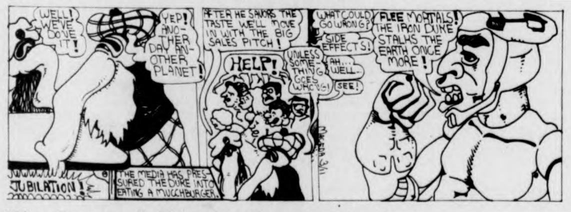
I HOPE ALL MY STUDENTS BUY MY TEXTBOOK, IT WOULD BE A TRAGIC LOSS IF THEY DIDN'T!
YOUR BOOK IS THAT VALUABLE, EDUCATIONALLY, PROFESSOR VON WURST?
NAAH,
IF I DON'T MAKE AT LEAST $500 IN ROYALTIES, MY COLOR TV WILL BE REPOSSESSED!
OOF
3/11

What Next? by Dick Janssen



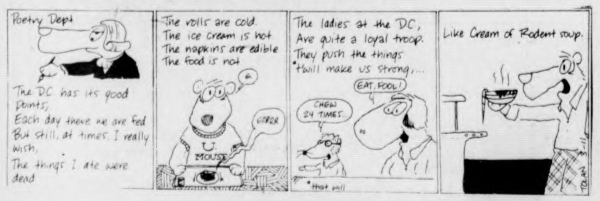
COLLEGIAN HEADLINES TO PONDER
Feb. 22 p.8
"CRIMINALS MAY SHOOT COMPUTER"
(THE COMPUTER IS BEING PROGRAMED TO SHOOT BACK)
Feb. 24 p.10
"EASTER EGG DYE RECALLED"
(FDA WAS TOLD "HUNT FOR IT")
3/11
MARCH 1, p.1
"STUDENT TOWING PROPOSED"
DJ
MARCH 3, p.1
"BROMERY IS UMASS VEEP"
(WHICH IS THE COUNTERPART OF THE "VAMP")

U.Mutations by Marty Maceda



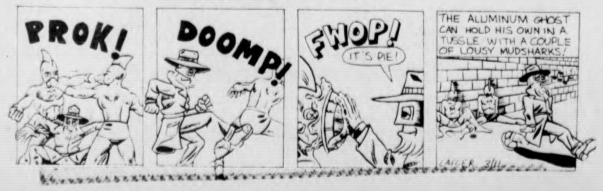
WELL! WE'VE DONE IT!
YEP! ANOTHER DAY ANOTHER PLANET!
JUBILATION!
AFTER HE SAVORS THE TASTE WE'LL MOVE IN WITH THE BIG SALES PITCH!
HELP!
THE MEDIA HAS PRESSURED THE DUKE INTO EATING A MUCCHBURGER.
WHAT COULD GO WRONG?
SIDE EFFECTS!
UNLESS SOMETHING GOES WRONG!
AH... WELL...
SEE!
FLEE MORTALS! THE IRON DUKE STALKS THE EARTH ONCE MORE!
MACEDA 3/11

The Scent of Man by Peter Tolan



Poetry Dept.
The DC has its good points;
Each day there we are fed
But still, at times, I really wish,
The things I ate were dead
The rolls are cold.
The ice cream is hot
The napkins are edible
The food is not
U. MOUSE
The ladies at the DC,
Are quite a loyal troop.
They push the things that will make us strong,...
CHEW 24 TIMES.
EAT, FOOL!
Like Cream of Rodent soup.
TOLAN 3-11

Aluminum Ghost by Steve Lafler



PROK!
DOOMP!
FWOP!
IT'S PIE!
THE ALUMINUM GHOST CAN HOLD HIS OWN IN A TUSSLE WITH A COUPLE OF LOUSY MUDSHARKS!
LAFLER 3/11

Local Television

7:00 2 ZOOM
3 7 CBS NEWS
4 NBC NEWS
5 ABC NEWS
6 MUPPET SHOW
9 LONE RANGER
10 CONCENTRATION
12 PRICE IS RIGHT
27 THE FBI
38 ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
7:30 2 SAY BROTHER "A Day With Muhammed Ali"
3 4 MATCH GAME
5 BOBBY VINTON
6 WILD WORLD OF ANIMALS
7 OUR CITY'S HOSPITAL
9 NAME THAT TUNE
10 CELEBRITY SWEEPSTAKES
12 TO TELL THE TRUTH
38 DICK VAN DYKE
8:00 2 WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW
3 7 CODE R
4 10 SANFORD AND SON
5 6 9 DONNY AND MARIE
12 38 BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE
27 MOVIE "Killers Choice"
56 WORLD AT WAR "France Falls"
8:30 2 WALL STREET WEEK "Stocks from the Delta King"
4 10 CHICO AND THE MAN
9:00 2 SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE "Innocence and Panic"
3 7 12 SONNY AND CHER
4 10 ROCK FORD FILES
5 6 9 ABC MOVIE "Let's Scare Jessica to Death"
38 MOVIE "Zorba the Greek"
56 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC "Polynesian Adventure"
10:00 2 27 NEWS WEATHER
3 7 12 HUNTER
4 10 QUINCY
56 LOVE AMERICAN STYLE
0:30 2 MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 NEWSHOUR EXTRA
10:45 27 JEANNE PALMER, FINANCE
11:00 2 DAVID SUSSKIND "The Truth About Sports — Funny, Glamourous and Seedy"
3 4 5 6 7 9 10 12 NEWS WEATHER
27 MOVIE "Island of Lost Women"
56 DARK SHADOWS
11:30 3 MOVIE "Pink Jungle"
4 10 TONIGHT
5 MARY HARTMAN
6 9 S.W.A.T.
7 12 CBS MOVIE "Ben"
38 MOVIE "Death Goes to School"
56 NIGHT GALLERY
12:00 5 S.W.A.T. See 6, 9 at 11:30 p.m.
12:35 6 SAMMY AND CO.
1:00 4 10 CHICAGO SOUL

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Friday, March 11 — Born today, you are a quiet individual, much inclined to see things lighter, brighter, rosier than they really are. With maturity, you will come to realize this about yourself, and to be able to cope with your naturally unrealistic view of things. You will learn to add a few gray clouds to your vision of a pristine sky; you will learn to see a frown or two among the smiles your eye continually picks up. Ultimately, time will teach you to muddy the clear waters of your mental image of things a problem or two so that you can understand the world as it is better than your instinctive grasp of situations and circumstances would allow. Many may think it strange that you should try to see through a glass darkly, but those that think so are not plagued by the over-optimistic approach to life that you are.

You are an energetic individual and will have to learn to rest between your efforts to succeed. You have no qualms against working hard and long to achieve your end — but you are very much adverse to sitting still and waiting for the world to come to you, even though you are sure it would if you waited long enough. You are never discouraged by failure, though you may be overly encouraged by even the mildest success. Your efforts, though they are not consistent in their intensity, are generally productive, though perhaps not to the degree you quite naturally anticipate.

Although you see people in their best light, you are not particularly quick to establish close relationships with them.

* * *

Saturday, March 12

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Caution is advised early in the day as there may be unexpected obstacles to your success — of a material and harmful nature.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — A disquieting thought serves to spoil your mood for the entire day. Make an effort to clear the decks for a good day tomorrow.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You can make this a Saturday to remember — if you will take the time to be with loved ones. Express your sentiments openly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You should have the pleasure of seeing others agree with your views — at long last. Morning family activities bring loved ones close.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Today is a good time for making your home more attractive. Look for a bargain in furnishings. All roads seem to lead to improvement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Impress upon another the need for attention if he or she is going to become involved in a new project. Loved ones must not be put in danger.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Erratic behavior makes it impossible to predict the future. Know your own mind when it comes to the kind of people you want to be with.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Make the finishing touches artistic ones. In such a way can you add originality to a design which otherwise be quite ordinary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Medical problems may cause worry today. Your best bet is professional advice. Self-diagnosis can gain you nothing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Circumstances on the home front are such that change in some of your basic thinking may be necessary. Don't be frightened of broadening horizons.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — An irritation in the form of a neighborhood difficulty: this is what may fill most of your hours today. Try for calm at evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Difficulties with a marriage partner may cause concern early in the day. PM and evening hours bring new and unexpected pleasure.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

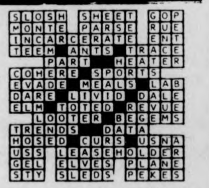
Crossword

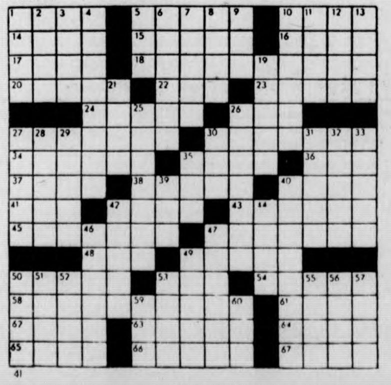
ACROSS

1 Young animal
5 Father
10 Winter toy
14 Theaters
15 On every side
16 French composer
17 Antitank gun
18 Fetish: 2 words
20 Cowboy's concern
22 Perceive
23 Fossil resin
24 Theater boxes
26 One coulomb per second Abbr
27 Inferior deity
30 Bestows good upon
34 Ekberg and Loos
35 Predisposition
36 Signal for attention
37 John ----: U.S. playwright
38 Charges against property
40 Miss Gam
41 Hole-in-one
42 Brief letter
43 More eager
45 Becomes twisted
47 Shreds
48 Find fault constantly
49 Mansion
50 Tableware item
53 "Play it again, ---!"
54 Mother-of-pearl
58 Basswood: 2 words
61 Kind of spring
62 Noun ending
63 Heap of stones
64 Slow journey
65 Golfers' accessories
66 Rotund
67 Pharamaceutical compounds

DOWN

1 Steals
2 Mine tunnel
3 Father of Regan and Goneril
4 Serious accident
5 Short treatise: Abbr
6 Mistreated
7 Edifices
8 Bumpkin
9 WW-II zone: abbr.
10 Declines suddenly
11 Meat
12 European river
13 Means of approach
19 ----- Bay: Part of Hudson Bay
21 Hindu philosophy
25 Young bird
26 Yukoner's neighbor
27 Parents: Informal
28 Decree by legislation
29 Ryun or Keino
30 Storage place
31 Vertebrate feature
32 Ethyl acetate
33 Top-notch athletes
35 Hymenopterous insect
39 Those in power
40 Recants
42 Climbing vine
44 Harrow's rival
46 Battery poles
47 Zoo employees
49 Feminine name
50 Flap violently
51 Knotty ----
52 As soon as
53 Kind of wound
55 Persian gazelle
56 Red River Rebellion leader
57 Wapitis
59 Cpl.
60 Compass point





10% OFF NEXT PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD
OFFER EXPIRES MARCH 12,77
NEW Spring fashions arriving daily!
BUS STOP
197 N. Pleasant St./Amherst/Mass./256-0140

CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "to mitigate the effects of"

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

JEROME KOLBEN

Yesterday's word:

CRAZY

March 15,16 1977
JERRY LEWIS CUT-A-THON
A benefit for Muscular Distophy done by the cutters of the
JD Chopping Block of Amherst
Get your clean hair cut for a mimimum donation donation of $5.00 to Muscular Distrophy in Hamden Dining Commons Southwest Residential Area March 15,16 10:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
sponsered by
PANHELLENIC COUNCIL OF SORORITIES

RACQUETS & BALLS
squash & racquetball and tennis
at the UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
UNIVERSITY of MASSACHUSETTS

Shorter set to run

Frank Shorter, Bill Rogers and John Vitale, members of the 1976 Olympic Marathon team will be three of 500 runners in the Second Annual St. Patrick's Day Road Race on March 19. The 8.5 mile course through the streets of Holyoke is sponsored by the Holyoke St. Patrick's Day Parade Committee and is open to all.

The competition will start from the Knights of Columbus on Suffolk Street at 12:30. Prizes will be awarded to the first 30 runners across the finish line. Entries must be in by Monday, March 14 and can be obtained at the office of Michael Tierney, 252 Maple Street, Holyoke or call 1-534-3301.

The UMass women's gymnastics team travels to Towson State this weekend to compete in the Eastern Regionals. (Staff photo by Rob Carlin) the Minutemen up by five.

★Hoopmen

CONT. FROM PAGE 20

After two Pirate baskets chopped UMass' lead to one, Town came back with more. The Minutemen had converted to their infamous four corner stall and Town found himself at the top of the key dribbling the ball, with no one to pass to. He then stuck his head down a la Eldridge and drove to the hoop for two more very important points. Thus setting the stage for the final minute of suspense.

So now the Minutemen head for the "Marvelous World" of Madison Square Garden and a quarter final contest against ECBL rival Villanova. And if the Minutemen hold true to form NIT fans should be prepared for another UMass "ho-hummer."

"We've had so many of these type of games," said Leaman, "I just sit back and let it go."

ME LOUNGE — Every Friday
Free Pieces of Pizza
BOB CALKINS SOLOS
SATURDAY
BOB CALKINS TRIO - at the ME LOUNGE
No Roughness or Rough Language here.
ME LOUNGE
COUNTRY MOTEL next door
ROUTE 47, HADLEY

Sports letter

To the Editor:

There is a man on this campus that I think that you should know about. His name is Dick Swetman. Who is he, you say? He is the men's gymnastics coach, and the reason you should know him is because he is a special kind of person. He is a coach who is dedicated to and concerned about his athletes as people. He is able to bring out their top performances, not because he makes them feel that they have to, but because he believes in them and knows that they can.

He believes in his athletes, and this year's team shows it. Three years ago the university had to make program cuts, which made the future of men's gymnastics shaky at best. Unfortunately this caused the coach and some excellent team members to transfer to schools with more stable programs. Last year the team made it through with a temporary coach and a core of devoted gymnasts.

Then came Dick Swetman. He took the gymnasts that remained from last year's team and a group of new prospects, and started to make a team out of them. Their 5-5 record might not seem impressive but some of these losses were by as little as one tenth of a point, and some to top-ranked teams.

The team members really worked hard for Dick because he really worked hard for them. It was not uncommon to see Dick in the gym at seven or eight at night working with members of the team. His efforts paid off, though. The team is now scoring among the top teams in the nation and getting better with each meet. Dick and the team have accomplished this rags to riches feat without a quarter million dollar budget, a ten man coaching staff, and without any recruiting of top gymnasts. All he had was a love of his sport and the ability to believe in the men on his team.

I think that UMass owes Dick Swetman a thanks for showing us that athletics isn't just a won-lost meat factory, but that there are coaches that care about their athletes..

Thank you Dick Swetman, keep on coaching!

Wishing to remain anonymous

UNITED TRANSMISSION EXCHANGE INC.
All make car and truck transmissions
Repaired - Rebuilt - Exchanged
King St., Northampton
584-6790

Last year, the story of their early years won 11 Emmys. Now, see them in their White House years.
One of the most celebrated events on television last year was the story of Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt in their early years. Now, Jane Alexander and Edward Herrmann continue their portrayals of the Roosevelts in "Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years." Don't miss it.
'Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years'
Sunday, March 13, 8 P.M. on WCVB-TV-Channel 5.
Brought to you by IBM

THE FROGURT FUN CONTINUES!

FROGURT SHAKES

FROGURT SHAKES
SUNRISE
O.J. and Frogurt
LEMONLOVE
Lemonade and Frogurt
SUNKISS
Strawberries, Frogurt and Milk
SUNSET
Cranberry Juice and Frogurt
WORCESTER SNACK BAR
OPEN TILL 10:30 p.m.
HAMPDEN SNACK BAR
OPEN TILL 1:00a.m.

Gymwomen hope to vault over Clarion, Penn St.

By LAURA BASSETT
Collegian Staff

The women's gymnastics team joins several other UMass teams in post season action as they compete in the Eastern Regional Championship over the weekend at Towson State in Baltimore, Md.

Throughout the season, Clarion State and Penn State have been battling with the Minutewomen for the top Eastern position. Clarion is the defending champion but the Nittany Lions and our own gymwomen offer Clarion a tough challenge. For the fourteen-team tournament, Clarion, currently ranked number one in the nation, has received the top seed followed by Penn State. UMass is third.

Both Clarion and Penn State are the two teams which defeated the gymwomen this season. In the first meet of the season, way back in December, Penn State defeated the squad by a score of 145.40 to 139.80. In the most recent competition for the gymnasts, Clarion won a tri-meet 144.0-142.85. But that was then and this is now. The gymnasts will have a chance to avenge those losses with strong performances this weekend. According to Coach Virginia Evans, "If we pull together and hit all of our routines we could very easily take first. That's what we're aiming for."

Evans will be going with her top line-up, which is free of injury for the first time this season. Jill Heggie, Stephanie Jones, Karen Hemberger and Susan Cantwell will be the all around performers for the gymwomen. Heggie had minor problems against Clarion but has been Evans' most consistent gymnast this season. Jones continues to get stronger with every meet. She finished second against Clarion in the all-around event, which boasts the likes of Olympic gymnast Carrie Englert and defending individual champion Connie Jo Israel. Karen Hemberger is finally returning to working all four events after spending the majority of the season recovering from an ankle injury suffered early this semester. Susan Cantwell also continues to build as time progresses which gives the team a lot of depth.

Cheryl Morrier, who filled in the all-around squad after Hemberger's injury will be competing in three events at the Easterns; beam, bars and floor. Barbara Burmeister will be working the beam and vaulting while Jean Anderson and Diane Laurenson will be specializing in the bars and floor and vaulting respectively.

On Friday the teams will compete for the team title, and Friday's individual scores will also be the criteria for selection for the individual titles which will be held on Saturday.

If UMass fails to take first or even second in the team competition it is still likely that they will be invited to compete at the Nationals. The teams winning their regions will automatically qualify and the remaining openings at Nationals are filled according to the total scores recorded at the regional level. With UMass' sixth-place national ranking, they are a likely choice, but the team would of course prefer the automatic qualification.

Individual honors are awarded based on a combination of scores from both Friday and Saturday. Jill Heggie and Stephanie Jones are currently ranked sixth and tenth in the individual ranks in the East. Hemberger and Cantwell are equally likely to qualify with strong performances. The strongest individual competition comes from — guess who?? — Clarion and Penn State.

Defending champion Israel and Olympic gymnast Englert of Clarion and 1975 champion Karen Schuckman and teammate Amy Carr of Penn State are expected to battle for the top honors.

The Minutewomen have performed impressively all year and they are really hoping to culminate their 7-2 season with a truly superior team effort.

Skiers psyched for Nationals

By RICHARD MOORE
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's ski team travels to Stowe, Vermont, this weekend to participate in the first National Ski Meet put on by the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women.

The Minutewomen refuse to be awed at the prospect of competing against the best college ski teams in the country.

"We're sure as hell not cocky," coach Steve Tonelli said, "but I think we can finish in the top six or seven."

Fifteen colleges have accepted invitations to compete at Stowe, and the list of national powers includes Middlebury, Vermont, Northern Michigan, Dartmouth, New Hampshire and Denver.

"Those are schools that put a lot of money into their ski programs," Tonelli said, "which UMass certainly doesn't do."

"The fact that we got invited to an event of this caliber shows the kind of effort our girls have put into this season," Tonelli remarks.

"Right now we're just really up for the Nationals. I've talked it over with the girls and they know that we have to get back to our team concept of skiing. If we do, there shouldn't be any problems," Tonelli said.

Notice

FREE SWIM — All students, faculty, and staff are required to give student ID's or recreational activity cards for faculty and staff to the lifeguards on duty. This policy has been instituted to eliminate the use of pool facilities by those who do not pay student activity fees or recreational activity fees for faculty and staff. Your cooperation in this matter is greatly appreciated. Thank you very much!

Sports Calendar

SPORTS CALENDAR
YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — UMass 89 New Hampshire 44
MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — UMass 86 Seton Hall 85
TODAY
WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Springfield at UConn 9:00 a.m.
TOMORROW
WOMEN'S TRACK — Eastern Championships at Dartmouth
MEN'S GYMNASTICS — Eastern Championships at West Point
WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS — Eastern Regionals at Towson State
WOMEN'S SKIING — National Ski Meet at Stowe, Vermont

THE UNIVERSITY STORE
99¢ BOOK SALE (paperbound)
BUSINESS, TECHNICAL TEXT & GENERAL
OVER 150 TITLES
SAVE AS MUCH AS 75% ON MANY !
Look at these subjects: Algebra, English, Chemistry, Electronics Philosophy, Medicine, Speech, Finance, Cookery, Advertising, Physics, Writing, Psychology, Geometry, History, Engineering, Literature, Hobbies, Calculus, etc
PUB. UP TO $7.95
at " the bookstore "
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center univ. of mass.

DANSKIN.
Free Style Leotards
MOST STYLES
$15.00
THE AREA'S LARGEST SELECTION.
Empsall's Sport Shop
34 Green St. Northampton

WATER PIPES!
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

COPPER LANTERN
YOUR FAVORITE BEVERAGE INCLUDED WITH DINNER.
MARCH 10-13 THUR, FRI, SAT, SUN
HAPPY HOUR 4 TO 7
ALL DRINKS 75¢
DRAFT 35¢
MOLSON 55¢
1 PRAY STREET
(NEXT TO THE PUB)

Tracksters eye big upset

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

After completing the regular season with a 3-0 record and never really being challenged by any New England schools, the UMass women's track team will travel to Hanover, New Hampshire tomorrow to compete in the Eastern Championships.

With most NE programs being in pre-natal stages in comparison with UMass' effort, the major contenders for the championship will be teams from outside the region. Penn State, the defending outdoor champ, is strong everywhere according to coach Gary King, and is the favorite to win the indoor title.

Outdoor runnerup Rutgers and Cortland (NY) State are also expected to do well with their strong complements of sprinters and field event people. Thirty-six teams will be vying for the crown.

Coach Ken O'Brien is hoping for a finish in the top five. No results for women's indoor track have been available all winter, so planning strategy for this meet has been a little difficult.

The Minutewomen finished 5th in last spring's outdoor Easterns, and according to O'Brien, the women have gotten stronger since then.

Having one of the best shots at placing is the high hurdle tandem of Nancy Cominoli and Chris Perron. The field in this event, which includes the defending national champ, should provide plenty of competition for the UMass women, who have run 8.5 and 8.3, respectively, for the 60 yard race this winter.

Cominoli also has a chance to place in the 60 yard dash, where she has run 7.2. Completing the sprint corps is Diane Sealey, who, according to king stands a chance of placing in the 220.

The mile relay squad, although weakened by illness and injury, could still finish first or second. King said the team is capable of running about 4:10, with Carolyn Shea, Kathy Contini, Cindi Martin and Perron carrying the baton.

The middle distances will be typically strong with Ginger Bulman and Andrea Vivert in the 440 and Bonnie Bukowski, Laurie Wolfe, Karen Zimmerman, and Sue Milligan in the 880.

In the distances, the Minutewomen have the misfortune to run up against Penn State, who dominated the Easterns in cross country last fall. Julie Lafreniere stands the best chance of placing in the mile, with Maggie Crowley not far behind.

Barb Callanan, Johara Chapman, and Debbie Farmer will be running the two mile, with Jane Welzel, Sue Swartz, and Anne Bradshaw in the three mile. Unfortunately, the mile will be run on a trials-finals basis, meaning the runners have to run well in the morning to qualify, then come back for the finals in the afternoon.

Without any knowledge of the opposition, the coaches have put the women in the events where they'll score the most points, rather than try to match them up against a known weak spot.

Regardless of the outcome, this meet will give the coaches some idea of where the team stands at this point, and what they're going to have to do to prepare for the outdoor season, particularly the Easterns, which will be held at East Stroudsberg (NY) State.

Women's track is in its infant stages, actually, which explains the lack of communication and dearth of information about opponents. It also explains difficulties and uncertainties the organizers are having with the Eastern meet.

Right now, it is uncertain which events will have trials and finals, and whether those trials would be on a time or place basis. This is a big difference, since a runner can relax a little in a trial held on place if she only has to finish in the top three or four in that race to qualify. However, if the trials are held on time, she has to expend more of an effort, so a runner in another heat doesn't beat her time and qualify. Thus, she could conceivably win a heat and not qualify.

One thing which is certain is the scoring system, which is 10 - 8 - 6 - 4 - 2 - 1, for the first six places. This makes seconds, thirds and fourths key places and ones which the Minutewomen will be hoping to grab a bundle of.

Pride motivates gymmen

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

The UMass men's gymnastics team will be seeking to top off its 5-5 regular season with a strong performance in the Eastern championships being held at West Point this weekend.

"If we can come away with a third place finish," UMass coach Dick Swetman said, "we will be able to salvage some of the pride we lost in the last couple of regular season meets."

The Easterns, which begin tonight and will continue through Sunday afternoon, serve as a qualifying meet for the Nationals to be held later this month.

The top three performers in each individual event qualify for the Nationals, along with the best all-around performer and the top team.

"Only the team that comes in first place qualifies for the Nationals," Swetman said, "and only if they score above 417 points. If no team scores at least 417, then no team from the East will qualify."

On Friday night the compulsory competition will be held. In this competition, all the gymnasts must follow the routines made up by the International committee.

"Every single performer," Swetman said, "has to perform the same routine. There is no degree of difficulty involved in this competition because it is all the same."

Saturday night the competition continues with the optionals and Sunday afternoon features the team competition.

"The optionals are really exciting," Swetman said, "because the gymnasts are able to add difficult moves to their routines."

As far as the team competition goes, Swetman's Minutemen are ranked fifth, behind So. Connecticut, Temple, Army and Springfield.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that So. Conn. and Temple will be the two top teams. But, I think we have a very good chance of finishing ahead of Springfield and Army."

During the regular season, the Minutemen lost to Army by one-tenth of a point and also lost to Springfield. However, Swetman feels that his team can reverse the outcomes this time around.

"We lost to Army early in the season," he said, "and the Springfield meet was only two days after our big meet against So. Conn., so we weren't as prepared as we should have been.

"We'll be ready this time around though, and I honestly think we can beat both teams and finish third."

The Minutemen go into the Easterns with some minor injuries. John Forshay is still bothered by a knee injury and Angelo Scudderi is having problems with his shoulder.

Sport Coat
100% cotton, made in Yugoslavia, available in white, light green, blue, and yellow.
$9.95 each
Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Breakfast in the Dorm.... indulge yourself
MUNCHYS
featuring a complete selection of Breakfast Foods

CHEQUERS
SATURDAY NIGHT and ALL DAY SUNDAY
Prime Ribs of Beef
(Full Cut)
w/baked potato, vegetable roll & butter
$4.95
UNIVERSITY DRIVE AMHERST 549-5861

Spirit Liquor Store Haus
Open Daily till 11 p.m.
Amherst's Largest Full Service Liquor Store
THIS WEEK'S SPECIALS
Tuborg Gold Beer 12 oz. cans $5.69 a case
Falstaff $5.25 a case
Old Milwaukee Beer 12 oz. cans $5.59 case
Early Times Bourbon $5.99 qt.
PEPSI 79¢ 2 qt. bottles $4.39 case of qt.
OVER STOCK WINES
Mateuse $3.29
Lake Niagara $2.19
Nectar Rose $2.39
Paul Masson Sangria $1.29
Moselblumchen $1.99
Opici Lambrusco $1.49
Piat French Table Wines $1.79
Korbel's Pinot Noir Cabenet Sauvignon $2.89
Riccardi Asti Spumante $2.99
Riunite Lambrusco $2.29
Wine Browsers Welcome
Large assortment of kegs. We have over 90 brands of imported beer (Mix your own variety six pack)
We Buy Silver Coins
338 College St. Rt. 9 Amherst 253-5384
Not responsible for typographical errors.

Some Stores Will nail you to the Wall With their prices!... We Won't!!
10% OFF NEXT PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD*...
OFFER EXPIRES: 3/12/77
*EXCLUDES SALE ITEMS!
WEAR-HOUSE
201 n. pleasant st. amherst
Fairfield Mall chicopee

Women topple UNH, 89-44 20

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

STORRS, Ct. — Annihilate, humiliate, embarrass, overpower, overmatch — all of those nasty verbs and more describe just what the UMass women's basketball team did to their counterparts from New Hampshire yesterday.

The Minutewomen showed that their game with the Wildcats was a mismatch of the first degree, as they rolled over UNH, 89-44, in their first round game of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (EAIAW) tournament here.

UMass coach Mary Ann Ozdarski, who has stressed team play all season, saw her team exhibit just the kind of unity she loves.

"They played super. I've never seen them up so much for a game," Ozdarski said. "They were hungry."

The intense play of the Minutewomen resulted in 42 New Hampshire turnovers. That, in itself, was a story. Air-tight defense coupled with some dismal Wildcat shooting (less than 20 per cent) resulted in a 41-18 halftime lead.

Although Lu-Ann Fletcher picked up her fourth foul with 4:38 left before intermission, at that point the Minutewomen held a 14-point lead. They continued to pour it on, as Ozdarski compensated for her center's absence with a three-forward offense.

It worked out well for the Minutewomen. The trio of Nancy O'Neil, Maura Supinski, and Chris Basile combined for 24 of UMass' 54 team rebounds.

Fletcher, who did not score in the first half, came on strong in the second despite her foul trouble. She broke double figures with 15 points, and also pulled down 11 rebounds to tie with Supinski for team-high honors.

UMass, which shot 49 per cent as a team, also had Nancy O'Neil (17) and Sue Peters (15) break double figures. Four other players each had eight, which just goes to show what kind of a balanced scoring attack the Minutewomen displayed.

But how about those 42 Wildcat turnovers?

"All the things we worked on defensively paid off today," a happy Ozdarski said. "We went out and executed just like I wanted."

The full-court press harrassed New Hampshire from minute one, forcing the Wildcats to throw pass after pass away. The Minutewomen capitalized on them to score almost at will in the second half. The Minutewomen themselves made only 19 giveaways.

Although New Hampshire hit at a 46 per cent clip from the field, they made just 15 field goals. Again, the turnovers and pressure UMass defense just zonked them.

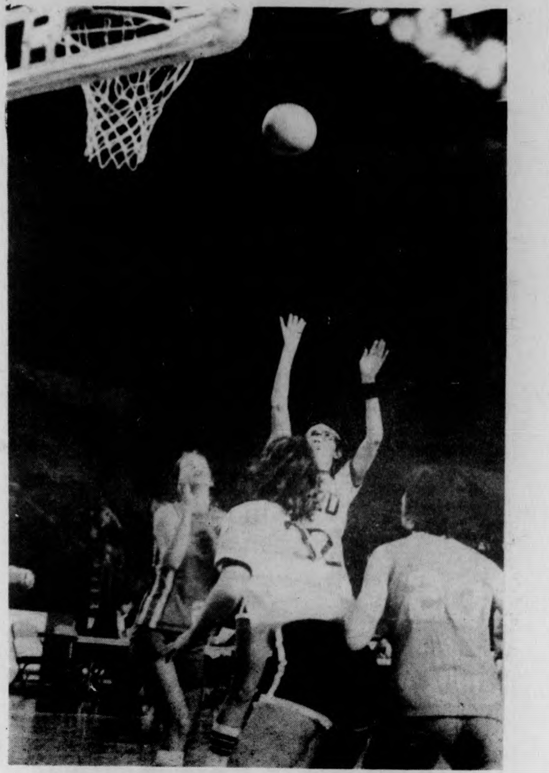
The Wildcats, who had 42 team rebounds, had no one in double digits. The two New Hampshire scoring leaders were Kathy Sanborn and Gloria Cocco, who had eight apiece. Significantly, Jean Giarrusso, who poured in over 20 points during a UMass-UNH regular season contest, could manage only six in this one.

"The first one's down, and that's always the toughest." Ozdarski said, "The team we want to beat now is Brooklyn, but I'd like to play Springfield."

The coach had her wish answered later on. In an upset, Springfield beat sixth-seeded Brooklyn, 67-51. That result sets up a quarterfinal game between the Minutewomen and the Chiefs this morning at 9. The winner advances to the semifinals tonight at 7:30.

UMass (89) — McHugh 2-0-4; Hutchinson 2-0-4; Carey 2-4-8; Fletcher 4-7-15; Peters 7-1-15; Henry 4-0-8; Supinski 4-40-8; O'Neil 8-1-17; Martinelli 4-0-8; Basile ; TOTALS: 38-13-89.

UNH (44) — Hall 1-0-2; Cocco 3-2-8; McCarthy 3-1-7; Bean 2-1-5; Botten 0-2-2; Giarrusso 2-2-6; Duffy 1-0-2; Sanborn 1-6-8; Bohner 2-0-4; Delisle 0-0-0; TOTALS: 15-14-44.



Nancy O'Neil (32) awaits possible rebound as Lu-Ann Fletcher (20) takes a jump shot. Rimwomen face Springfield today in EAIAW quarterfinal action. (Staff photo by Jim Webb)

Donoghue layup wins it!

By RON ARENA
Collegian Staff

SPRINGFIELD — Alex Eldridge raced the length of the court and fed off to Mark Donoghue for an easy layup with five seconds left to give UMass a not-so-easy 86-85 victory over Seton Hall University last night in an opening round NIT game.

The win advances the Minutemen to the quarter-finals of the tourney against Villanova next Tuesday in New York's Madison Square Garden. Villanova defeated Old Dominion in overtime, 80-79 in it's first round game.

UMass, now 20-10, led last night's contest the entire way until some sloppy play let Seton Hall creep back. Guard Nick Galas connected on a driving layup with 2 seconds remaining in the game to give the Pirates their first lead, 85-84.

The Minutemen called a timeout before Eldridge, in a replay of his effort against Rutgers three weeks ago, took charge.

"It's a habit," he said with a smile after the game. "I dribbled in and they came to me and so I had Donoghue right there."

"We were gonna run a reverse action, and I was supposed to cut across to the foul line for a jumper," Donoghue said. "Alex just beat his man and took it to the hoop, and then I had the ball right there."

Seton Hall still had five seconds to offset Donoghue's basket, but forward Jim Town had something to say about that. Seton Hall's John Semerad fed in to guard Greg Tynes who found himself double-teamed by Eldridge and Derick Claiborne. Tynes tried to go up-court to Galas, but Town anticipated the pass and came up with a game-ending steal.

UMass had a chance to avoid any last-second heroics when Claiborne faced a one-and-one with 29 seconds left and UMass up 84-83. Claiborne calmly sank the first free throw, but was called for stepping on the line.

"I wasn't worried though, said the ever steady Claiborne. "I knew we wouldn't lose this game."

The Minutemen started out as if they were ready to fly into New York by halftime.

Donoghue who finished with a game-high 26 points, grabbed nine rebounds and played with the most aggressiveness he has shown all season, hit three early baskets and UMass grabbed the early lead. With Eldridge dishing out assists (10 in the game) and Mike Pyatt, Town and Claiborne hitting nothing but net, the Minutemen stunned Seton Hall with a 24-10 lead.

But as been the case all year, the lead disappeared as quickly as it came as a 22-8 Seton Hall burst tied the score at 32. The half ended with UMass up 40-36.

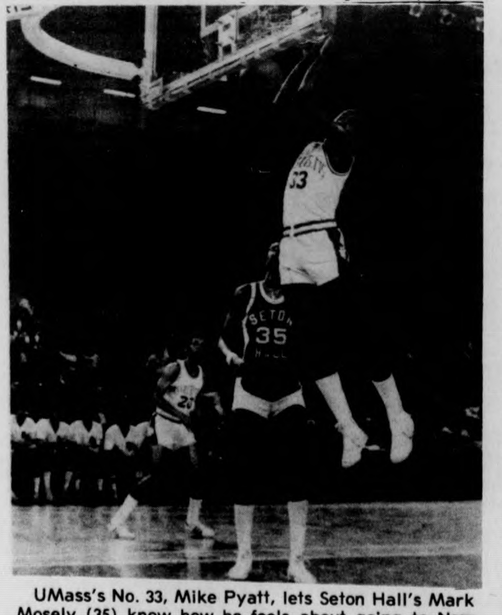
UMass had its last substantial lead at 79-72 with just over four minutes remaining when Seton Hall made it's final run. The Pirates received a big blow though, when powerful center Glen Mosley fouled out with 29 seconds left. Mosley grabbed 17 rebounds and scored 20 points, but more significantly shut off the middle with some tough defense and five blocked shots.

"We kept coming back, kept coming back, kept coming back and then we made errors," a dejected Seton Hall coach Bill Raftery said after the game. "You have to be disappointed when your team makes errors at this stage of the year."

It was certainly not a flawless game from a UMass stand-point either.

"I thought we gave it away tonight," Leaman said. "We played sloppy out there, and made some careless mistakes, like Derick stepping over the line on that shot.

"But we're happy we're going to New York. It's tough to play a 30-game season, but we'll be there."



UMass's No. 33, Mike Pyatt, lets Seton Hall's Mark Mosely (35) know how he feels about going to New York City, this coming Tuesday, for the quarterfinals of the N.I.T. The Minutemen, just squeaked by the Pirates — 86-85 in N.I.T. opening action in Springfield. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Hoopmen advance in 'typical' rout

By RICH ECKEL
Collegian Staff

SPRINGFIELD — It was the type of game that UMass basketball fans have become accustomed to witnessing this season. The 4500 in attendance saw the Minutemen jump out to an early 14 point lead last night, but then just as quickly they watched the lead vanish. And in the end it took a great feed from Alex Eldridge and subsequent basket by Mark Donoghue to win the game.

"We slow down the game and everyone gets bored," said Eldridge of the teams propensity for losing leads. "When we get bored, no one runs the offense. And when no one runs the offense, that's when they catch up."

Seton Hall's Nick Galas had propelled the Pirates into the lead for the first time in the game, 85-84, with a clutch running right-handed pump shot.

Thus with 12 seconds remaining the Minutemen found themselves trailing by one, and 94 feet away from the winning points. Everyone was expecting the ball to go to Eldridge and they weren't disappointed.

Eldridge received the inbounds pass from Jim Town and raced towards the forecourt. After almost losing control of the ball at mid-court Eldridge attracted the Pirate defenders and passed off to Donoghue for the layup.

With five seconds remaining the Minutemen had regained the lead.

"Eldridge has done that twice for us this year," said an exhausted Jack Leaman after the game. "When Alex turns it on he has the ability to drive past anyone. He's a great instinctive player who has the knack for hitting the right guy at the right time, and he certainly hit that man tonight."

The final second heroics of Eldridge and Donoghue overshadowed two key plays by senior Jim Town down the stretch. With 2:38 remaining in the game Town converted a reverse layup off an incredible pass by Eldridge to put

TURN TO PAGE 17

Box Score

UMASS (86) — Pyatt 7-0-14; Town 8-1-17; Donoghue 11-4-26; Claiborne 8-0-16; Eldridge 5-1-11; Johnson 0-2-2; TOTALS 39-8-86.

SETON HALL (85) — Coleman 0-2-2; Duffin 10-3-23; Mosley 8-4-20; Tynes 5-2-12; Galas 7-2-16; Zazzaro 1-0-2; Semerad 4-2-10; TOTALS 35-15-85.

Team Records UMASS 20-10
SETON HALL 18-11
Attendance 4500.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 104 MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Trial clears Foley-Tyson of plagiarism

By JOE MAGLITTA
STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

The SGA presidential campaign of John Foley-Herb Tyson was cleared Saturday of plagiarism charges brought against it by the Pinky Batiste - Jon Hite campaign. Batiste and Hite had accused the rival campaign of plagiarizing one of their campaign posters.

Both candidates were allowed to display the controversial posters when, after a five hour hearing, a Student Senate Judiciary Tribunal refused to grant a permanent injunction.

Display of the posters by either candidacy had been frozen since a hearing last Thursday night when the tribunal placed a temporary injunction on the materials.

After nearly three hours of deliberation Presiding Justice Jeffery Lutsky issued a half-page press release stating the plaintiffs campaign "Failed to show that their assertion of plagiarism is more probable than the possibility of coincidence.

"Although the posters in question are extremely similar, the plaintiffs have shown no direct evidence of plagairism. Although a preponderance of circumstantial evidence can be enough to grant an injunction, the court feels the plaintiffs did not reach that degree. Therefore the plaintiffs request for an injunction is denied," the release said in part.

The campaign material in question, Foley and Tysons 8x11 Gestetner photocopy leaflet, and Batiste and Hites 14x11 commercially printed poster, contained almost identical texts with the exception of a few words. In both posters the words "guts", "knowledge", "experience" appear in the same order and contexts.

Late last Thursday afternoon Karl Allen and Neil Chyten Co-chairpersons of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, filed a petition for an injunctive hearing on the request of candidate Pinky Batiste. (The Senate Governmental Affairs Committee is a six-person board responsible for running SGA presidential elections.)

Testimony at the Saturday afternoon hearing revolved around two key points: the production chronology of the two posters in question; and a conversation between Foley-Tyson campaign manager Brian Harrington and Collegian Business Manager Anthony Armelin. The Batiste-Hite campaign contended the wording of their poster was stolen by Harrington during that conversation.

"There was no physical way the Foley-Tyson poster could have been produced and distributed if it had been stolen," according to defense advocate Brian Delima.

Testimony early in the hearings by Allen established that the Foley-Tyson poster had been registered with the Governmental Affairs Committee Thursday March 10, at 11:10 a.m. Allen said the Batiste-Hite poster was logged at 5:01 p.m. on the same day.

Batiste-Hite campaign advocate Bryan Harvey said after the tribunals decision on Saturday the complexity of the case and a limited amount of time hindered his and Advocate Jan Von Tol's arguments for plagiarism.

"Clearly, our testimony showed there was no doubt the text was taken from us. We had the evidence, but we simply failed to nail the whole thing down. We proved our case to everyone else in the room. What the Foley and Tyson campaign attempted was not a proper action," Harvey said.

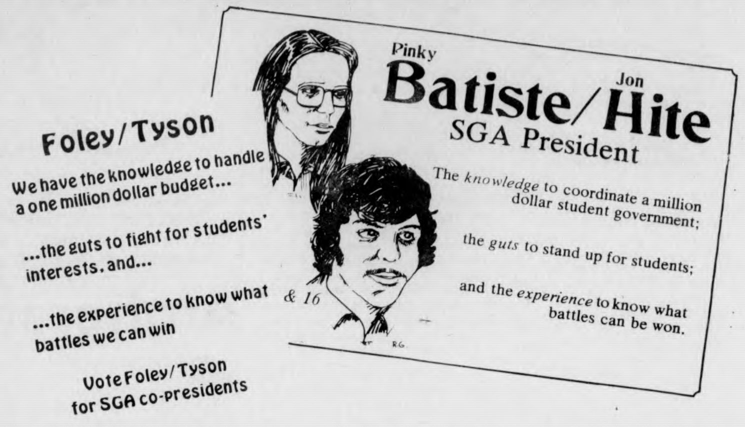
After hearing the decision Hite said, "The evidence in the case shows we got jobbed. We'll continue to talk about real issues. They can copy our signs, but they can't copy our experience."

"I hope Hite-Batiste finally start running a clean campaign," said Foley.

In testimony before defense advocates Russell Skelton and Brian DeLima, Harrington said he wrote the text of the Foley-Tyson poster in question in his bedroom Wednesday morning.

"The Ballantine Ale logo — 'purity, taste, quality' that's what was on my mind when I was writing

TURN TO PAGE 3



Foley/Tyson
We have the knowledge to handle a one million dollar budget...
...the guts to fight for students' interests, and...
...the experience to know what battles we can win
Vote Foley/Tyson for SGA co-presidents
& 16
Pinky
Batiste/Hite
Jon
SGA President
The knowledge to coordinate a million dollar student government;
the guts to stand up for students;
and the experience to know what battles can be won.
RG

Jade and Sasaparilla performed their own brand of mellow music in the Hatch Friday and Saturday nights. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Hampshire selects president

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

Adele Smith Simmons was selected Saturday to assume the responsibilities of president at Hampshire College this July. She is currently the dean of students at Princeton University, New Jersey.

The Board of Trustees selected her Saturday to replace Charles R. Longsworth, who will be terminating his six year association with Hampshire in June to become president of the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation in Williamsburg, Virginia. He has been at Hampshire since its founding, when it set a precedent with its non-traditional-student oriented academic program.

A search committee had been formed early last fall to screen candidates. Consisting of two faculty members, three trustees, and two students, it reviewed 357 applicants from the United States and around the world.

Sociologist Robert Vondelippe, representing the faculty on the committee, commented last night about Simmons' appointment. Saying her experience with foreign higher education in England and China would be very compatible with the innovative academic atmosphere at Hampshire, Vondelippe expressed satisfaction with her selection.

At Hampshire, a student can determine his-her educational progress through three divisions, which demand self discipline while awarding personal satisfaction.

The student member of the committee, Paul Bockelman, said he based his estimation of the students' response to Simmons' selection — "very pleased' — upon the applause his announcement of it received in the dining hall Sunday.

"Having a woman with Simmons' relationships with students will produce an exciting tone to the college." He added that everyone Simmons had met during her February visit to Hampshire felt she would be very concerned with students' interests and academic ideas.

Adding that he was very aware of the selection to Simmons for Hampshire's president occurred on the last day of International Women's Week, Bockelman remarked it was a "fitting climax" for this first annual event.

Surprise witness in Brown re-trial bid

By MARY BETH ALLEN
Collegian Staff

A surprise witness for the defense took the stand Friday at the hearing for a new trial for Robert Earl Brown held at Northampton in Hampshire County Superior Court.

Brown is a UMass student who was convicted, along with former UMass student Craemen Gethers, in the August 7, 1974 robbery of the Rt. 9 McDonald's.

Ellen Roy, the surprise witness, testified for two and a half hours. Roy was employed at Kentucky Fried chicken during the summer of 1974 along with Deborah Cooke and Cathy Clark, two of the prosecution's main witnesses. Clarke and Cooke identified Brown as one of the participants in the robbery from a photo array, and identified Gethers two weeks after the robbery when he came into the Kentucky Fried Chicken store.

Trooper Ford, a prosecution witness and the main investigator on the case, testified prior to the introduction of Roy. He answered questions from the defense about the apprehension of Brown at the UMass campus, about the photographic array and concerning a diagram of the witnesses and the robbers which was used in the trial of Brown.

When defense co-counsel Jeanne Baker asked Ford if it was a frequent occurrence in August of 1974 to visit Kentucky to discuss the case with Cooke, he answered no, and that he couldn't recall how often he had visited the restaurant.

Roy later testified, in answer to a question from David Rosenberg, defense co-counsel, that Ford had visited Kentucky Fried Chicken quite frequently to talk with Cooke and Clarke, "approximately 20 times," and that he was usually in civilian clothes and accompanied by another officer.

Defense counsel attempted, during the third day of the new trial hearing, to continue efforts to prove that Brown's former counsel did not explore all avenues to defend Brown properly.

The hearing will continue at a later date to be set by Superior Court Judge Paul A. Tamburello.

Voter registration deadline today

Today is the last day to register to vote in the April 5 Town Election.

Registration will be held in the Town Clerk's Office in Town Hall from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The Amherst Board of Registrars advises that persons applying to register to vote should be prepared to furnish proof of residence.

The ballot contains a large amount of students running for slots on Town Meeting.

Traffic problems considered

N.W. road group to present report

By CHRIS BOURNE
Collegian Staff

The Northwest Road Committee will present its final report to the Amherst Selectmen this Tuesday night, said UMass professor Merle Howes, chairman of the committee.

Two committee members, Prof. Richard Minear and Patricia McLaughlin, will present minority reports opposing sections of the committee's final report.

Contained within the report is a five-part proposal to alleviate traffic problems on North Pleasant St. The committee is recommending that a connecting road be built from Commonwealth Ave. to Rte. 116 in the area of the Physical Plant.

The committee is also recommending that Commonwealth Ave. be extended to North Village and that this extension be connected with North Pleasant St., said Howes. The connecting road would run through the former Taylor farm which was bought by the University as part of the Northwest By-Pass plan that the Amherst Town meeting rejected last fall.

The final two parts of the proposal call for upgrading North Pleasant St. and partly blocking Governor's Drive, said Howes.

According to Howes, the North Pleasant St. improvements would include sidewalks on both sides of the street, bus turnouts, more crosswalks, and fences and plantings along the street to prevent jay walking.

The committee will also recommend that cars northbound on North Pleasant St. be prevented from making a left hand turn onto Governor's Drive at the Graduate Research Center said Howes. This would make cars heading north for the parking lots and the Physical Plant turn at Mass. Ave., thus taking them off North Pleasant St., said Howes.

Prof. Richard Minear will issue a minority report opposing the Commonwealth Ave. extension and the Taylor farm road. "My main opposition is to the Taylor farm road, although I don't like the Commonwealth Ave. extension," said Minear.

Minear said he feels that the new intersection on North Pleasant St. would be hazardous to pedestrians, especially children walking to Marks Meadow School from Puffton, North Village, and Presidential Apartments.

Minear opposes the Commonwealth Ave. extension because he feels that the cost would outweigh the benefits.

Howes said he feels that people driving from North Village to campus would use the Commonwealth Ave. extension. He also said that a private interest might extend the road through Puffton and Brandywine.

Minear disagrees, saying that not many people drive from North Village and Puffton. "Last year, only 37 out of 500 cars at Puffton were registered to park on campus," said Minear.

Minear also said that any construction through Puffton and Brandywine would involve filling in a marshy area. Both complexes are built partially on reclaimed land and any further construction would require the extension of the landfill.

McLaughlin's report opposes any construction except the improvements to North Pleasant St. "I think that the University growth has leveled off and the town growth has leveled off," said McLaughlin.

"The best traffic projections that I've seen don't indicate sufficient traffic will be diverted from North Pleasant St. to justify the cost of the project," said McLaughlin.

McLaughlin also opposes the Commonwealth Ave.—Rte. 116 connector because it would involve "relocating Mill River once again." He said, "Mill River was diverted once when they built Rte. 116 and to divert it again would be inviting trouble, assuming you could get the conservation permits to do it."

In addition, McLaughlin has doubts about the worth of the no left turn provision at Governor's Drive. "I'd like to see some projections on just how many cars it would divert," she said. "I'm not sure that's the best possible solution. I'm also not sure that the Department of Public Works (DPW) would let you do it."

Asked about funding for the project, McLaughlin said she feels that the town and the University should jointly pay for the safety improvements to North Pleasant St. "To say that if the state pays for the project, it won't cost the town anything, is wrong because the town pays state taxes too," said McLaughlin.

The committee's report recommends that the improvements for North Pleasant St. be funded jointly by the town. However, the rest of the project should be funded entirely by the University since the construction will be entirely on University-owned land said Howes.

Howes said he has no estimate of the cost of the committee's proposal, but he feels that it is minimal in scale compared to the University's proposal.

The committee is also recommending that any plans to double-barrel Rte. 116 any further be dropped. The DPW has plans to double-barrel Rte. 116 all the way to Sunderland. This was part of the University's plan, which called for a double-barrel Rte. 116 - North Pleasant St. connector with a cloverlead intersection at Rte. 116.

Howes said he isn't sure what will happen next. He pointed out that the report isn't binding on anybody. "The University is having another traffic study done by Curran Associates of Northampton," said Howes, "We have reached the conclusion that to build a road you need experience as well as traffic counts and that there have been enough traffic counts made."

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Peter B. Wallace

Assistant Issue Editor	Betsy Grose
Day Staff	Hilary Sallet
Wire Layout	Cliff Skibinski
Editorial Layout	Daphne Fraser
Head Darkroom Tech	Rob Carlin
Photo Phunkies	John Sideropoulos, Pat Dobbs
Ad Layout	Albert Calvert

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
"Arguments with furniture are rarely productive"

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Watch out Jim Town! Two wheel chair basketball players battle for the ball during Friday night's game in Boyden. The Hot Wheels defeated Martin's Marauders 34-28. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Amherst considers fire bill

By THERESA M. HANAFIN
Collegian Staff

Items concerning the installation of fire alarms in apartment buildings and funding for the proposed Boltwood Walk redevelopment project will be the focus of tonight's Amherst Special Town Meeting.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the auditorium of the Amherst Regional Junior High School.

The first article on the warrant, or agenda, requests the town to urge the Mass. State Legislature and the governor to approve passage of a bill filed by State Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, which would require automatic fire warning systems in certain buildings and structures.

The bill was filed last December at the request of Kenneth Mosakowski, following a fire a Crown Point apartments which brought the issue of fire safety once more into the public eye. Mosakowski, a resident of Crown Point, is a library assistant at the UMass library in government documents.

The proposed legislation would apply to every building or structure of more than three units occupied for residential purposes not already covered by law.

According to a memo sent to the town meeting members from Collins, under present law there is no state-wide mandate to require sprinkler systems or smoke detectors in buildings constructed prior to Jan. 1, 1975.

Collins said the intent of his legislation is to require smoke detectors in apartment complex buildings which contain more three residential units, regardless of the construction date, state-wide.

If the bill passed, apartment buildings must have the systems installed within one year of the effective date of the act. The head of the local fire department would be responsible for enforcing the new law.

The second article, placed on the warrant by the selectmen, asks the town to appropriate a sum of money for constructing and furnishing buildings which are part of the Boltwood Walk redevelopment plan for downtown Amherst.

The plan will change the face of Boltwood Walk by creating a pedestrian mall, a shop bazaar, a senior center and other attractions.

The building mentioned in the article for funding is a community facilities building, which would include public meeting rooms, a senior center, a recreation center, a public health center, and office space.

The article also asks the town meeting to determine how to raise the money, whether it be by taxation, by transfer of available funds, by borrowing or otherwise.

Tonight's meeting will be the last held under the old district plan. Two hundred and forty new town meeting members will be elected April 5 under a new redistricting plan.

Graham quits Senate post

By STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

Peter D. Graham resigned as chairperson of the Student Senate Rents and Fees Committee Friday afternoon for "academic reasons" and because "I'm tired of the shit politics of the Senate." Graham resigned the day after he was scheduled to appear before the Student Judiciary Board on extortion charges.

Senate Treasurer Thomas Kerrins said Friday afternoon that Graham's resignation was part of a "deal" stemming from charges of "political extortion" brought against Graham by Kerrins. Graham contends he had already planned to resign.

In an interview before he resigned, Graham accused Kerrins and Senate Speaker Brian DeLima of tampering with the referendum on the proposed $7 SATF increase.

Graham resigned at a special meeting of the Rents and Fees Committee. The committee elected Robert Dion and Eliot Lees to serve as co-chairpersons. The two will go before the Senate Wednesday night for confirmation. Graham said he will keep his seat as student Senator.

Kerrins said he dropped his charges against Graham before the Judiciary meeting Thursday night when Graham agreed to resign and also apologize to Kerrins on the Senate floor this Wednesday.

According to Kerrins, the extortion charge stems from an incident which took place "a month ago".

At that time Graham allegedly told Kerrins that the Rents and Fees Committee wouldn't approve Kerrins' proposal to raise the SATF tax if Graham was not paid a salary as chairperson of the Rents & Fees Committee. Standing committee chairpersons are normally paid $20 a week, but the Rents and Fees Committee previously a Non-standing committee was recognized as a standing committee "a week before Graham spoke to me, and "a salary was not budgeted," according to Kerrins.

Graham charged that Kerrins withheld his salary due to personal differences between the two.

"I was already planning on resigning," Graham said Friday. "I'd been thinking of it for a week. People knew about it. I wanted to wait until after the SATF vote and the judiciary action. But these things are dragging out, and mid-terms are coming up," he said.

Graham told a Collegian reporter on Wednesday that he was planning to resign on Friday.

Graham said he was placed on academic probation after last semester, and that he needed time for studies.

Graham said he would read an apology to Kerrins and the Senate on Wednesday night.

Before submitting his resignation, Graham charged Kerrins and Brian DeLima with using Senate resources to present arguments in favor of the proposed $7 SATF increase.

Graham, who is opposed to the increase, led the petition drive two weeks ago that placed the proposed increase on a referendum. The referendum will be placed before students tomorrow and Wednesday.

"The Senate's name has been used to publicize one person's opinion," said Graham. Graham said a March 4 memorandum sent to all RSO groups by Kerrins and DeLima lied about the university's projected enrollment for next year.

"Kerrins and DeLima have been figuring an enrollment of 17000, which isn't true," said Graham. Graham said a March 3 memorandum from the University Office of Budgeting sets next year's enrollment at 20,100.

"DeLima has also been presenting one-sided arguments to area governments," said Graham.

"Mr. Graham is clearly being vindictive and is demonstrating his immaturity," DeLima said Friday afternoon in response to the charges.

"All area government meetings are open," said DeLima. "I did not deny Mr. Graham the right to attend these meetings and present his side. I did not deny access to resources to Mr. Graham," DeLima said.

DeLima defended the 17,000 enrollment figure, saying that the March memo from the Office of Budgeting based its 20,100 figure on the assumption that the state will pass the university's $76 million budget.

"Governor Dukakis has said, though, he will only give us $68 million. The whole contention is that there is not enough money," said DeLima.

"Everything Tommy Kerrins and I have done is above board. The Senate had no objection to the figures presented by Kerrins," said DeLima.

Based on information supplied by Kerrins, the Senate voted 53-15 on February 16th for the $7 SATF increase.

The SATF tax, currently $57, is a Senate controlled fee that goes to support student services such as the Collegian.

★ Foley-Tyson

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

the poster," said Harrington.

Harvey, in earlier testimony, said he conceived the idea for the Batiste-Hite poster Sunday night. Wearing a Lone Ranger button and smoking a briar pipe, Harrington testified he gave the poster's written text to Foley-Tyson media coordinator Gerald Rogers "around noon" Wednesday to be designed and stenciled along with some other campaign materials. He said he received the stencils back "around 5:15."

In his testimony Rogers acknowledged that he received some campaign materials from Harrington at the stated time. Rogers said he did not look at any of the materials at this time, but did the graphics on the materials in the Collegian graphics room during the afternoon and the stenciling "between 4:30 and 5:15" Wednesday afternoon in the Commuter Lounge in the Student Union, which serves as Foley-Tyson campaign headquarters.

Harrington said he spoke to Armelin "around" Wednesday night as Armelin played the piano in Room 101 of the Campus Center.

According to Harrington, Armelin then commented on a Foley-Tyson poster that was on the wall of the room. Harrington then asked "if Batiste-Hite were coming out with any posters," and Armelin then told him the contents of the Batiste-Hite poster in question.

Armelin had earlier testified that he had assisted SGA co-president Paul Cronin and Harvey in the production of the Batiste-Hite poster in question. Harvey serves as media coordinator of the Batiste-Hite campaign.

Armelin testified that the Batiste-Hite poster in question was produced "Tuesday night into Wednesday morning," and was completed "before 11 Wednesday morning."

Upon hearing the text of the Batiste-Hite poster in question, Harrington said he "wasn't sure" of its similarity to the Foley-Tyson poster, and asked Armelin to repeat the contents.

Armelin testified earlier that Harrington "recited what I had said, as if to memorize it. Harrington said, 'Is that right? Is that right?' Brian was very curious as to what was in the poster. He recited the words 'knowledge, guts, experience'. He said it was 'a good approach, sort of Fifth Avenue-ish," said Armelin.

In his testimony, Harrington said, "My reaction was that I went kinda 'Hmmmmm' to myself," "It was significant that the posters were close, but we were going to press with ours anyway. It's just a poster."

Harrington then said he printed the Foley-Tyson poster in question after 1 a.m. "to beat them to the punch. We were originally going to use that particular poster on Monday, but since it was similar to the other, its good politics to get your stuff out first."

Under cross-examination by Van Tol, Harrington said he did not think it was strange for the two posters to be so similar.

Van Tol circled and fired questions at Harrington, who was hunched forward in his chair.

Upon questioning from Van Tol, Harrington said at no time did he tell anyone that the Batiste-Hite poster was similar to his own.

"Why didn't you tell Tony his poster was similar to yours?" demanded Van Tol.

"I was just curious," answered Harrington.

"But wasn't it an incredible coincidence? Didn't you ever consider going to Governmental Affairs? Didn't you tell any of the campaign staff that the posters were similar? Don't you talk to them? I imagine you talk with Tyson and Foley sometimes!" Van Tol remarked sarcastically. "I didn't see anyone," said Harrington.

Drizzly days slow the everyday pace of the community to a crawl as heavy spring clouds hang suspended over the Pioneer Valley. (Staff photo by Rob Carlin)

Students vote on SATF increase

By JIM POSGAY and JOHN MORAN
Collegian Staff

During SGA presidential elections tomorrow and Wednesday, student voters will also be deciding if the $7 increase in the Student Activities Tax Fee (SATF) passed by the Student Senate will actually be added to next semester's University bill.

The proposed increase has been the subject of much controversy in the senate in recent weeks. The main proponents of the increase have been Senate Treasurer Thomas Kerrins, Budgets Committee Co-chairperson Jay Milender, and Senate Speaker Brian J. DeLima. The increase has been mainly opposed by Peter Graham and other members of the senate's Rents and Fees Committee.

Graham and others, including Jay A. Martus, SGA President, collected over 4700 signatures in the week after the senate passed the increase to bring the question to a binding referendum. Only 4,400 were needed, representing about 25 per cent of the student population.

"This referendum puts the subject of accountability and the use of the SATF on the presidential ballot for full public vote," Graham was quoted as saying.

Debate in the Student Senate has broken the $7 increase into two main parts of $3 and $4 for purposes of clarity. Of the $7, the $4 portion is due to cost of living raises for employees mandated by the UMass Trustees. The $3 portion of the proposed increase was included to cover losses from inflation and from less SATF returning to the senate this year.

On tomorrow's referendum, students must vote for or against the entire $7 increase.

"I think everyone concurred with the $4 portion of the increase," said Brian DeLima last night. "The cost of living increases for employees has been mandated by the trustees. There is nothing the senate can do about that increased expense."

Most of the controversy and debate has indeed focused on the $3 portion of the increase. Kerrins has said this part of the increase is desperately needed to combat inflation over the past three years and to compensate for much smaller returning SATF money.

Last year approximately $111,000 came back to the senate as returning SATF. The projection for next year is $26,000, a drop of $85,000 in revenues.

SGA Co-president Jay A. Martus last night urged all students to vote against the increase.

"Some of the facts used to decide on the increase are not wholly accurate, in particular the enrollment figures," he said.

Martus said he thought enrollment would be 800—1000 students higher than Kerrins has stated and planned for. This, he said, would represent a significant difference in the revenue figures.

"I think a small increase is probably necessary, but I think a $7 increase will leave some fat in the budget and right now students can't afford fat in any budget," he said.

400 evacuate JQA during mattress fire

By STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

About 400 John Quincy Adams residents were forced to evacuate that tower at 3:30 a.m. Saturday as the result of a mattress fire on the 10th floor.

According to the Amherst Fire Department, the fire originated in room 1007. Susan Seaman, a nineteen year old sophomore from Sudbury was in the room at the time with a friend.

"I woke up and the mattress was on fire," said Seaman. She and her friend reportedly tried to fight the fire with an extinguisher, but their efforts were fruitless. Cause of the fire has not yet been definitely set.

The fire was reported under control at 3:50 a.m., and students were allowed back into the building shortly thereafter.

The Fire Department described room damage as "light." However, there was extensive smoke throughout the building as a result of fire doors being left open.

JQA Middle Head of Residence Michael McKinney described room 1007 as being "pretty well gutted out."

Several students who had passed out from drinking earlier in the evening slept through the alarm, and had to be wakened, dressed, and helped out by neighbors during the evacuation, according to reports.

Most of the evacuees congregated in Hampden Student Center and in Washington Tower Lobby.

SGA election summary

By JOE MAGLITTA
and STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

	Chuck Pooler Joel Weissman	John Foley Herb Tyson	Pinky Batiste John Hite
Platform Issues	Budget Cuts; support of Earl Brown and Craeman Gethers; Increased Cultural activity on campus; Education on outside issues, i.e. S. Africa; Student Services; Unionization.	Major expansion of student services; student incorporation-unionization; increased communications; relations with the administration.	The University budget; Improvement of academic standards; Improvement of student services; Improvement of communications between students, the University and the State Legislature.
Philosophy	Issue-oriented approach; emphasis on student awareness, education, and student mobilization as a necessary follow-up.	Legal recognition through economic stimulus.	Work through conventional channels, i.e. The Legislature, Whitmore, Student resource groups.
Budget	Unified cooperation among state colleges and universities; with emphasis on UMass student action.	Network of students, families, and friends working on statewide level to pressure legislature.	Exert pressure in legislature through lobbying, letter writing, personal communication, statewide effort.
Unionization		Student incorporation as steppingstone to unionization.	Fight for passage of House Bill H1378 authorizing a study commission on student unionization.
Proposed $7 SATF Increase	In favor.	In favor.	In favor.
Endorsements To Date	Revolutionary Student Brigade.	Third World Caucus; Central Area Government; Undergraduate Student Senate Treasurer Thomas Kerrins; Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Brian DeLima, Nummo News.	Northeast Area Government; Greek Council; SGA Co-Presidents Cronin and Martus.
Background	Pooler: Member, Revolutionary Student Brigade One-and-a-half years. Weissman: Member Revolutionary Student Brigade One year.	Foley: Undergraduate Student Senator, two years; Senate Budget Committee, two years; former President of Board of Directors of Top of The Campus, Inc. (TOC); ex-member, Board of Directors UMass Student Federal Credit Union. Tyson: Undergraduate Student Senator, one year; Senate Budget Committee, one year; member, Senate Economic Development Committee.	Batiste: Resident Assistant (RA) Grayson Dormitory, two-and-a-half years: Chairperson Orchard Hill and Central Academic Affairs; Member SGA Co-ordinating Committee; Undergraduate Student Senator, Two-and-a-half years. Hite: Undergraduate Student Senator, three years; Former Senate Speaker; Former President UMass Democrats; Amherst Town Meeting Member, two years.
Student Services	Maintenance of existing services; expansion of University Intramural program; Creation of student run check cashing service; expansion of fine arts programs.	Proposals include: Job bank; creation of co-op network, including liquor co-op, bicycle co-op, clothing co-op, food-co-op; student towing services; student-run check cashing.	Proposals Include: Extend check cashing; improve placement service; increased RA salaries; Travel coop, Longer hours for Whitmore based services; Expanded bus service.
Collective Bargaining	Have not addressed issue.	Student seat necessary, but not an end in itself.	Consider student seat on bargaining table vital.
Campaign Slogan	"Make Student Government a Force to be Reckoned With".

Election eye - Pooler/Weissman

By JOE MAGLITTA
and STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

This is the last in a series of interviews with candidates for Student Government Association (SGA) president.

Charles F. Pooler, 19, is a sophomore political science major from Springfield, Mass. He lives at 1503 John Adams. Pooler has been a member of the Revolutionary Student Brigade (RSB) for a year-and-a-half.

Joel N. Weissman, 19, is also a sophomore political science major. A native of Provincetown, Mass., Weissman lives at 403 Grayson. He has been a member of the RSB for one year.

If elected, Pooler will serve as student trustee, Weissman as SGA president. The Pooler-Weissman team is running on a six-issue platform. In order of importance, according to the candidates, the issues are:

— Opposition to budget cuts

— Support of the Earl Brown and Craemen Gethers cases — increasing "culture on campus"

— Educating people on outside issues; such as South Africa

— Maintenance of student services

— Unionization.

In both SGA presidential debates last week, Pooler and Weissman called for a re-evaluation of the SGA's role on campus. Traditionally the SGA has acted as a dispenser for funds, never working towards the widespread education and mobilization of students.

"Where the SGA has been most deficient is in moving students to action. In the past the SGA has perceived its role on campus much too narrowly; they must take a broader perspective. The main thrust of the organization must be directed towards moving students to action," they said.

The pair emphasized the need for increased 'cultural programs' on campus. The programs would serve to educate students on various issues, providing them with a basis for intelligent action.

Weissman and Pooler said they favored an issue-oriented approach to University and outside problems. Rather than attempting to deal with the problems on an overall perspective, they advocated a step-by-step effort among students which would deal with the issues separately.

"it is our hope that student efforts will eventually tie together, producing a cohesive political force. This doesn't necessarily mean a union. The most important thing is to first attack the issues, and then see what type of organization is needed as a result of these efforts," they said.

The following are excerpts from the team's recent interview with the Collegian.

On the Budget

"The most important plank in our platform is the question of the University budget for next year. The current budget situation highlights both approaches to dealing with it. One faction is urging students to write letters to their state legislators and to see their representatives in Boston. Lobbying, letter writing and demonstrations are all shallow actions which cannot be sustained for long.

"The cornerstone of any action must be student action. We feel strongly that the best way to deal with attacks on our education is a strong understanding of the situation. "There must be a unified cooperation among state schools. Education is the key. You don't learn something just for the sake of learning it, but to cause change."

On Culture On Campus

"People come to school to learn, to be cultured. That means not only learning what they learn in their books, but on world issues as well. Presumably people come to school to develop a framework with which to deal with the outside world.

"Culture is related to the education of people around racism and sexism. A good example of culture with appeal is "Roots."

"The SGA should work closely with the Fine Arts Center in getting these cultural things for campus. We are conducting research on the feasibility of increasing the number and quality of cultural activites on campus.

On South Africa

"Students at this point are interested, but they need more education. By organizing debates, forums and discussion groups people can understand the problem and decide what type of action is appropriate.

"At this point in time, South Africa offers the most intense example of U.S. involvement overseas. Through educating students and by motivating them, certain pressures can be put on the government. Students can band together on an issue like this."

On $7 SATF Fee Increase

"We feel the referendum on the proposed $7 SATF increase is a good idea. Personally we feel the increase is necessary, though we aren't going to make a big issue out of it.

"Regardless of which way they vote, we encourage students to get out and vote on the referendum. The whole issue warrants closer examination."

On Student Unionization

"We are in favor of a union only as a tool for decentralizing power, not as an end in itself. The real question is how to organize students into a political force. A lot of people tend to think of the union as a panacea; they feel their problems will instantly dissolve with the creation of a student union. A union, however, is something that is not inherently progressive. It can only be as strong as those people who comprise the union.

"If a union is the way to organize students, fine, let there be a union. But at the same time it should not be the most important thing. We'd hate to see people waiting around five years for a union."

"Students don't necessarily need legal power and collective bargaining to work for their own needs. In the past, students have been able to fight without legal power. During the struggle students might see the need for legal power.

We are running on platform ideas: Joel and Chuck's ideas. As candidates we naturally have certain notions about the way the SGA should be run.

"We are not denying that we are Communists, we are in fact acknowledging it. However, we are not running solely as Communists. We aren't going to say that a vote for us is a vote for Communism. We don't want people voting for us solely on the fact that we are Communists.

"The real cutting edge here is our platform; that we are Communists is secondary. It is natural that our political ideologies influence our platform but they do not necessarily create our platform. We don't expect an inordinate amount of support for any of the questions. Even if we don't get elected, we hope we can influence those people who do win.

On SGA Organization

"The issues in out platform are things that desperately need to be dealt with. In any case, we don't want to build a split among people.

On Relations with the Administration

"One of the drawbacks of being with the Brigade is that we don't have the strong bureaucratic ties among the senate. It's not hard to develop these ties, though.

"We do have a lot of ties among the people. We represent the students, and we'll do what we have to do for the students. Basically, we're very cordial people.

"What conceptions the administration has about us are unfounded. We are in the RSB, but don't scream. We don't use foul language."

"We will be people who reflect the interests of students as a whole. We will not go against their interests."

On SGA Organization

"As the SGA exists, it's ineffective in helping students. It's been relegated to doling out SATF funds. As far as dealing with other problems, the SGA is ineffective.

"There should be a reorganization of the SGA and the role it plays. The role has to be changed. Our motto is "Make the student government a force to be reckoned with."

"We don't buy the notion students are apathetic. You have to know something before you can act, though. The blame for student ignorance is with the SGA. They didn't get out and educate students. There should have been a period of mass education before Dukakis came. "And after it educates, the SGA should also mobilize.

"SCER (Student Center for Educational Research) puts out pamphlets on the budget which are excellent. But they can't expect students to come up, read the whole thing, and then act. There should be some other stimulus. Holding forums, debates, going door-to-door. Getting people involved. Make a big issue out of it.

"The SGA just hasn't done this. A town meeting was held two weeks ago, and only 75 students show up. Then it's said that student are apathetic. If they haven't gone out, they can't expect people to go to a town meeting.

"The SOP hasn't gone out and educated people. We don't know if the SGA is waiting for the SOP, but they haven't done it, either.

On Faculty Union

"We think the faculty union is a great thing. The faculty is not out to screw students. They won't say, 'give us our raises and screw the students.' The faculty is interested in the quality of education the students receive.

"When Paul Parks was here, he says, 'If we give money to you, we have to cut the welfare rolls.' The students shouldn't be played off against this or the faculty."

de·moc·ra·cy : a government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly or indirectly through a system of representation usually involving periodically held free elections

TOMORROW AND WEDNESDAY
VOTE FOR YOUR
10am–8pm

Student Government Association Co-Presidents

Polling Places
Southwest, from Crampton north–Hampshire Dining Commons
Southwest, from Mackimmie south–Berkshire Dining Commons
Sylvan and Northeast–Worcester Dining Commons
Central–Franklin Dining Commons
Orchard Hill–Dickinson Dormitory
Commuters and Greeks–Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union

Black Affairs

A closer look at Upward Bound

By ANGELA THOMAS
Asst. Black Affairs Editor

Today Black Affairs begins the first of a week long series of articles on the Upward Bound program here at UMass. The Upward Bound program is a precollege preparatory program designed to generate the skills and motivation necessary for success in education beyond high school. It is designed for young people from low-income backgrounds and secondary schools that may have prevented them from obtaining the skills necessary in order to advance educationally and economically.

Projects include arrangements to assure cooperation among one or more institutions of higher education and one or more secondary schools. The curriculum is designed to stimulate creative thinking, expression, and positive attitudes. Also provided are health services, comprehensive counseling services, and recreational, cultural, and group activities.

Begun on a national basis in June 1966, Upward Bound programs were supported by the Office of Economic Opportunity under ex-president Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society program. These academic institutions are now located in every state in the country, (including the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, and Guam) serving 26,000 students.

The Upward Bound program offered by an educational institution, combines secondary school and college teachers as faculty, making use of the physical facilities of a college and university students as tutors.

Almost all Upward Bound students are residents on college or university campuses for 6 to 8 weeks in the summer. During the academic school year, the Upward Bound institutions continue to meet the students through classes on Saturday, tutorial sessions during the week, and periodic cultural enrichment programs.

Upward Bound at UMass is located on the second floor of New Africa House. The director of the program is Wayne Wilson who has a two year tenure with the program. Previously a Career Development Specialist with the Drug Abuse Foundation of Pioneer Valley in Springfield, Wilson monitors very closely the progress made by Upward Bound students. Members of the Upward Bound staff are Peter Zandan, Bilingual Education Coordinator, and Rhonda Gordon, staff assistant. Zandan is a 1971 graduate of UMass with an interest on cultural aspects as it relates to people. At the moment he works primarily with Hispanic students, but plans to expand and work with people from other cultural backgrounds. Gordon is a 1970 graduate of UMass who views her present profession as a stepping stone to perhaps family counseling, but whatever direction she takes, it is her hope to continue to learn all she can in order to better understand and serve those she may come into contact with.

Staff assistant Rhonda Gordon (l) listens attentively as director Wayne Wilson (r) discusses matters concerning Upward Bound. At extreme right is Peter Zandan, Bilingual Educational Coordinator. (Staff photo by Dale Griswoldt and Pat Dobbs)

The reminder of today's presentation on Upward Bound is given in interview form with Wilson, Zandan, and Gordon. On Wednesday, interviews with Upward Bound students will be presented.

Q. Is the Upward Bound Program a separate entity on campus?

A. Wilson: Upward Bound is a member of one of the university's special programs, and a feeder for the Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black Students. (CCEBS) Students that come to UMass are referred to CCEBS or the Bilingual Collegiate program in order to take advantage of the academic support services. This includes academic counseling, tutoring, usage of the studyhall, and career library.

Q. From what areas do the students come?

A. Wilson: We cover the western part of the Commonwealth, such as Holyoke, Springfield, Pittsfield, Adams, North Adams, and East Hampton.

Gordon: The students represent a cross section of Black, Puerto Rican, and Whites. One case worker is assigned to each area and submits weekly student reports to our office.

Q. How many Upward Bound high school graduates select UMass as their post secondary choice?

A. Wilson: Approximately 75 to 80 per cent.

Q. How does Upward Bound provide cultural services.

A. Zandan: The Bilingual Education program is one example of a service that offers English as a second course for Hispanic students.

Q. How does this help the students?

A. Zandan: This provides the tools necessary to help students live in the mainstream of our society. At the same it promotes ethnic pride because we take into account and emphasize the different backgrounds and needs of our students. Our annual Upward Bound Cultural Day that took place on February 27, is a good example of various cultural activities. Some of the activities included lectures on, 'The Historical Analysis of the Black Presence in the United States' given by Dr. Bobby Daniels, the Puerto Rican Community in the United States by Jose DelVale, and a lecture by Dr. Dean Albertson, on America, Melting Pot, Myth or Reality. Also included was an art exhibit and a cultural and potluck dinner.

Gordon: These types of activities help students to become acquainted with different cultures, and create more understanding. Especially for students who have not experienced much contact with different ethnic groups.

Wilson: You can say that our cultural program is intended to provide motivation by improving upon the self-concept of the students, which hopefully will not only improve academic performance, but also serve as a seed to eradicate racial prejudice.

Q. What is the Summer Program?

A. Wilson: It is an intensive six to eight weeks of academic training for seventy non-bridge and bridge students. Non-bridge students are high school students from grades 9-11. Bridge students are those students who are in their last year of high school. The summer program takes place in the Southwest area. The University shows its support of the program by assuming the payment of a significant portion of the room and board expenditures.

Q. What are some suggestions that you might offer thay might improve the services of the program.

A. Gordon: On an administrative level, there is not as much contact with the students as I would like.

Zandan: Administrative duties often times impede the desired frequency of contact with the student body. This is something I feel will change in the future.

Wilson: We at Upward Bound while conscious of the fact that we have made considerable progress with our students, are none-theless mindful that there is still room for improvement and goals to be met.

All compliments to the chefs

By RENEE MOBLEY
Black Affairs Staff

The Sylvan Cultural Society put on it's first breakfast on Saturday, March 12. An estimated 160 people were served by the society's six cooks, Rise Barnett, Cathy Crosby, Denise Lofton, Paulette Niles, Deborah Stead and Mitchell West.

Not only Sylvan residents were present. People came from Orchard Hill and as far as Southwest to enjoy a homestyle breakfast of eggs, grits, bacon, sausage, french toast and orange juice.

The Society's lounge was packed with an influx of people from 9:30 in the morning until 1:30 that afternoon. At one point members of the breakfast organizing committee had to run out for more food.

When asked to comment on the event, Jean Moss, the S.C.S. group counselor said she was pleased with the outcome. "People are really enjoying themselves. There is a good atmosphere here." Denise Lofton, a member of the society and one of the cooks for that morning said "It was a lot of work but it was fun." She also commented on the relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

Most or all participants agreed that the meal was a vast improvement over those at the dining commons. Elaine Fearnley of Cashin dormitory says to the Sylvan Cultural Society, "Do it again!"

Picture of the week: UMass students Peter and Priscilla take time out to rap between classes at the Campus Center Concourse :: this is a result of the Male - Female Workshop, then we are off to a good start! (Staff photo by Kenneth Robinson)

Your vote is needed. Elections for S.G.A. president will take place on March 16th and 17th at the dining commons. No pre-registration is necessary.

Diana Ramos

Dance Performance;
Diana Ramos Presents
THE NEW AFRICA HOUSE DANCE WORKSHOP;
Date: March 15th — Tuesday
Time: 7:00 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.
Place: Southwest, Hamden Commons, Southwest Residential College Theater

—This performance will be free of charge to the public, students, faculty, and the Pioneer Valley community are urged to attend.

—To the general public; be advised that this performance is a power rendition of the Black Experience as expressed through dance and dance theater.

niversity of massachusetts arts council
presents

I SOLISTI DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

Black Affairs continues on page 6

Black Affairs

'Tomorrow' is coming

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE, a musical play by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord is in the last few days of rehearsal for presentation at UMass. Performed by the Voices of New Africa House, a five-college vocal ensemble dedicated to the performance of Afro-American music, the musical will have a three day run beginning on Tuesday, March 15, and running on the 16th and 17th in Bowker Auditorium.

The story of the play concerns the Hankins family of New York and their reaction to the civil rights movement of the late sixties, the Vietnam War and the extreme state of poverty which overtook the United States during the last decade. Written by Thurman W. Stanback, a professor of theatre at Florida Atlantic University, the language of the play is that of an intimate group in conversation, spiced with many Afro-Americanisms which have not heretofore been presented on the stage.

This play promises to be the outstanding musical event of this academic year, and the public is urged to attend during the run of the play. Tickets are $1.50 and can be picked up from the box office at Bowker Auditorium anytime after 1 p.m.

Announcements

Crampton House — RA Selection

Application are now being accepted for RA selection at Crampton in Southwest. Applications can be returned to the head of residence's apartment. There is a deadline by March 15. Third World Women are encouraged to apply.

Inter-murals (Basketball)

Men's Schedule:

Mon. 14th — The Hawks, Spiritual Unity; Crowd Pleasers; Express; All the games start at 5:00 p.m. The winners will play at the same time (5:00 p.m.) on Tuesday.

Co-ed:

Tues. 15 at 5:45 p.m. — Sugar and Spice. Come to the Boyden Gym and support these teams.

Thoughts:

Beauty has nothing to do with clothes, it has to do with the way you glow.

Charisse Williams

Another first

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The City Council Tuesday unanimously chose Henry Marsh III, an 11-year veteran of the body, as the former Confederate capital's first black mayor.

The nine-member council, picked in a special election last week, is the first council with a black majority in the city's history.

Marsh told a capacity crowd at City Hall not to expect miracles but warned that the status quo would be disrupted.

LUTHER By Brumsic Brandon, Jr.

MY UNCLE HAS MORE THAN A GOOD MEMORY!
HE HAS ALMOST TOTAL RECALL, OREO!
IF HE HAS TOTAL RECALL, HARDCORE, HE'S QUALIFIED FOR...
...A JOB IN THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY!
©1977 LOS ANGELES TIMES
BRANDON JR.

To Black Women on campus

To fling my arms wide to someplace in the sun
To dance to whirl till the crisp day is done,
Then rest at cool evening a tall, slim tree
While night comes on gently dark like me
That is my dream, to fling my arms wide in someplace in the sun
To dance whirl, whirl till the white day is done
Then rest at pale evening a tall slim tree
While night comes on tenderly
Black like me

By Langston Hughes

Dedicated to the Sisters from Darryl Maston

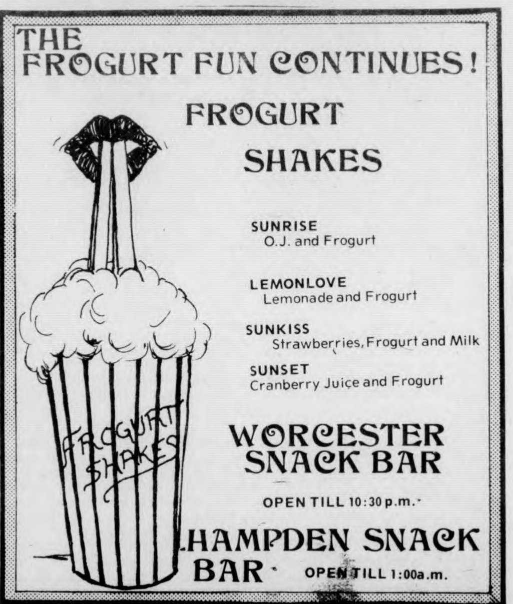
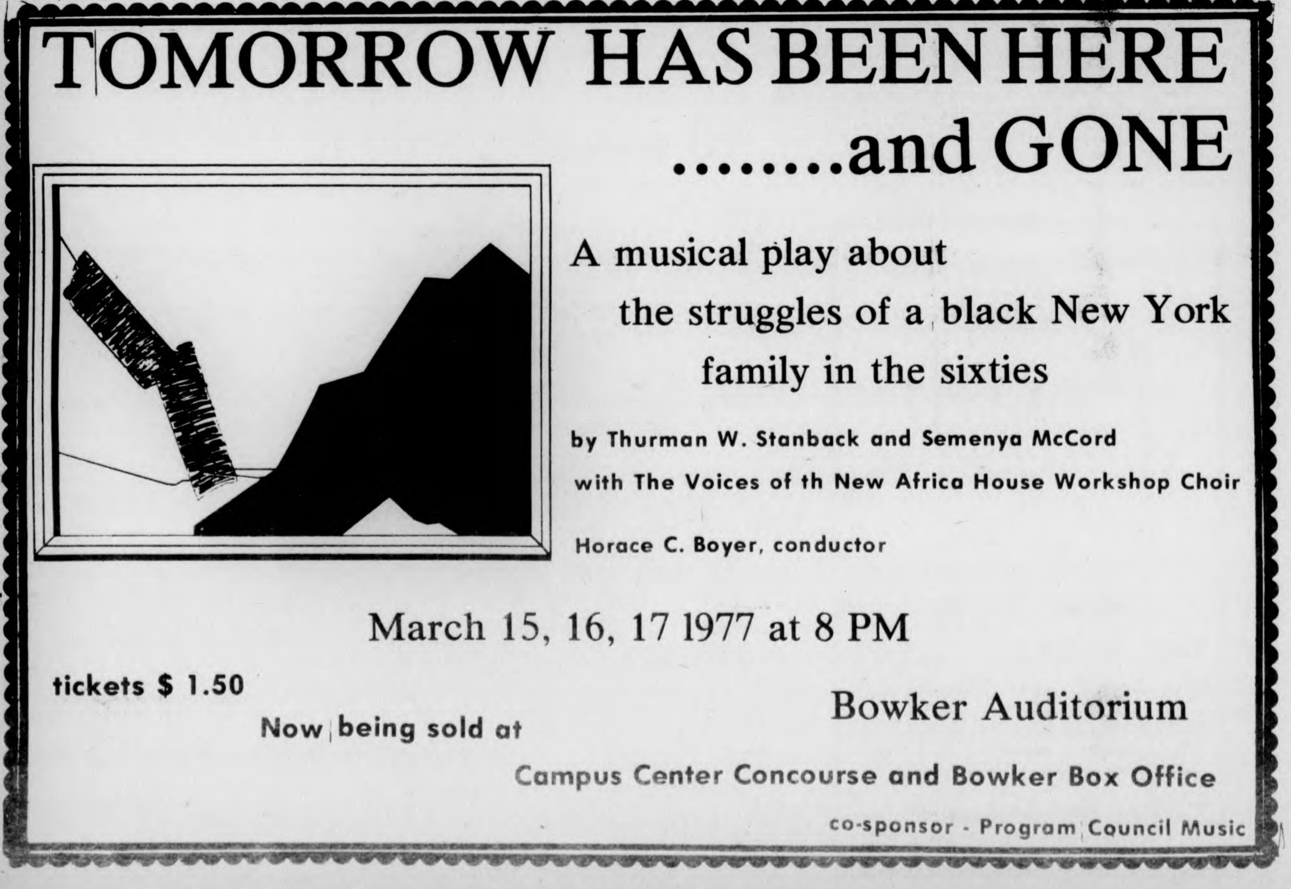
BROWN'S
SALE -
NOW THROUGH MARCH 31
MADRAS SPREADS
-15% OFF OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES
COLOMBIAN WALL HANGINGS -
BACKRESTS 20% OFF
178 N. PLEASANT STREET
TEL. 253-5862
PARKING IN THE REAR OF STORE



THE FROGURT FUN CONTINUES!
FROGURT SHAKES
SUNRISE
O.J. and Frogurt
LEMONLOVE
Lemonade and Frogurt
SUNKISS
Strawberries, Frogurt and Milk
SUNSET
Cranberry Juice and Frogurt
WORCESTER SNACK BAR
OPEN TILL 10:30 p.m.
HAMPDEN SNACK BAR OPEN TILL 1:00a.m.



TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE
........and GONE
A musical play about the struggles of a black New York
family in the sixties
by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord
with The Voices of th New Africa House Workshop Choir
Horace C. Boyer, conductor
March 15, 16, 17 1977 at 8 PM
tickets $ 1.50
Bowker Auditorium
Now being sold at
Campus Center Concourse and Bowker Box Office
co-sponsor - Program Council Music

Workshop explores lesbian needs, issues

By ANN TRENEMAN
Collegian Staff

"I'd like to shift the emphasis from me disliking men to me putting my energy to liking women... it all comes down to 'you are my sister'," said a participant in Thursday's Lesbianism workshop, offered as part of International Women's Week.

The workshop, one of the few directly addressing lesbianism, attracted many women, lesbian and heterosexual, and touched upon such timely topics as "coming out," monogamy-polygamy, bisexuality, adoption, and artificial insemination.

The workshop, run strictly as a discussion, concentrated on the personal dynamics of lesbianism. The political implications were touched upon but not concentrated on in the two-hour workshop.

The problem of lesbian women relating to heterosexual women was discussed. One woman felt she no longer liked to deal with women who are dabbling and-or experimenting with lesbianism, because she has often felt "used and ripped off" emotionally when the relationship ended.

Several women suggested women in the process of thinking about an involvement with another woman, should go to their heterosexual friends instead of entering into a relationship with a lesbian. Some women said approaching heterosexual people with these new and perhaps unsettling emotions was extremely frightening and threatening to them.

One woman described her ambivalence about this topic, saying she did not want to "cut off women" but was unsure if she could emotionally handle relationships with women who were unsure of their motivations.

Monogamy versus polygamy was also debated. Many personal experiences and preferences were related by the various workshop attendants.

Polygamy, having more than one lover, is a relationship in which women find themselves without really planning it that way. Reactions vary accordingly from person to person; some women feel having a variety of emotional-sexual relationships at one time they experience themselves as a whole without ripping off the other people involved.

Many women said they felt it too draining for them to be deeply involved in more than one relationship at one time. The discussion then drifted to bisexuality.

The question arose whether women who define themeselves as lesbians alienate themselves from men for the rest of their lives. Again reactions from workshop participants varied according to their individual choices and experiences.

Some women expressed the need for support from other women even though they are in a relationship with a man.

The need for education on an everyday basis brought out a miriad of examples of sexist-derogatory remarks women have to deal with continually. The conflict between expending energy to deal with the variety of ignorant remarks heard daily, and the amount of actual progress made in these confrontations, was discussed.

The various experiences of "coming out" were shared. The definition of "coming out" was questioned; does it necessarily entail telling parents? Various parental reactions: acceptance, support, disgust, and ignoring it all, were discussed.

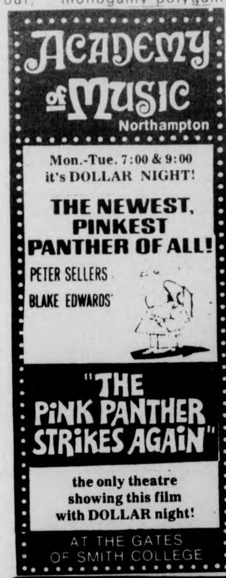
For some women, "coming out" was an easy, natural process; for others it involved resentment, anger towards reactions and scars which have not been overcome.

One of the most difficult parts of "coming out" for many women was to tell their parents. Women expressed their inability to tell their parents, saying it would upset and damage their relationship irreparably.

The women who have acknowledged their lesbianism to their mothers said their relationship had been much more open and honest since then. One father viewed this daughter's lesbianism as "something my mother did wrong when I was brought up."

After "coming out" lesbians face an "incredible amount of subtleties" which many found had to deal with. This discrimination spans all factions of their life; from being stared at while holding hands, to being fired from jobs.

Children in a lesbian community were also focused upon. Artificial insemination and adoption were discussed as alternative methods of having a child. Deep-seated prejudice against lesbians adopting and raising children in our society is a problem for lesbian women.



ACADEMY of MUSIC Northampton
Mon.-Tue. 7:00 & 9:00
it's DOLLAR NIGHT!
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
PETER SELLERS
BLAKE EDWARDS'
"THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN"
the only theatre showing this film with DOLLAR night!
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4 584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK
PATRICK McGOOHAN
PG ① Wed.: 5:45, 8:00, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
R ② Wed.: 6:00, 8:15, twi-liter 5:30-6:00
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
R ③ Wed.: 5:30, 8:00, twi-liter 5:00-5:30
The NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER
BLAKE EDWARDS
FINAL WEEK!!
PG ④ Wed.: 5:45, 8:15, twi-liter 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS LIMITED TO SEATING

STUDENTS! to take survey at
SHOWCASE CINEMA
Wed. 3-30, 4-12
Eves. 6:45-10:45
Sat. & Sun. 1-5
Call 733-5133
Mrs. Beebe
Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

University Ensemble Theater
PRESENTS
Lanford Wilson's
Award Winning Comedy
THE HOT L BALTIMORE
Curtain Theater, Fine Arts Center, University of Massachusetts
March ~~11~~, ~~12~~, ~~13~~, 14, 15, 16, ~~17~~, ~~18~~, ~~19~~
all curtains at 8:00
PLEASE NOTE ALL DATES WITH AN "X" THROUGH THEM ARE SOLD OUT

SAVE THE GREEN
CANON AE-1 with 1.8 Lens $296.46
$1.00 Off Print Processing with this ad
Mamiya MSX $149.95
Minolta 201 with 1.7 Lens $266.66
PHOTO LAB I
584-4403
Mountain Farms Mall

Everbodys Market Place
CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8 30a m and 3 45p m Monday thru Friday
The deadline is 3 45p m two days before your ad is to appear
The rates are
Daily 40' per line
Weekly 35' per line
Monthly 25' per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)
IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

Buttons — pin-on type. Several on display or made to order. 50 cents each. Valley Book Shop, Carriage Shops, Amherst.

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP', 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Frye bts, sz. 7, $40. Wt. uniform, 9; shoes, sz. 7, $15. 6-7990.

Gretch Country Gent-styled guitar. $85 or B. O. 546-5811.

8 track w-FM rad. in car, stereo head phone hk-up. Exc. cond. $50 or best off. Frank 549-1872.

Nikko TRM 500 sterio amp., excel. cond. $200 new, asking $140. Call Barry 546-9597 or 253-7549.

Two tickets for the Mar. 14 Eagles Concert in Sprgfld. Call 5-0736.

AUTO FOR SALE

'70 Toyota Corona. Exc. cond. Best offer. Satish 546-9925.

1968 Volvo 122. Many new parts. Vry good cond. $850. firm. 586-0610 aftr. 5.

'70 Dodge Challenger, 71 eng., 318 conv., 3 spd., new shocks, muffler, AM-FM. Cost $1050 or BO. Call 6-6738, keep trying.

'67 Chevy Impala, 4 new tires, 2 new snows. Best offer. Call 549-5831 after 6.

'66 VW. Great car $295. 323-5575.

AUTO FOR SALE

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

1971 Datsun 510, 4 dr. Sedan, 25 mpg, AM-FM, 74,000 mil, good condition, very dependable and fun to drive $975. Call 253-2996, 6-8 p.m.

'71 Ford Torino, for sale, excellent cond. $1,200. Call 253-5684.

'69 VW needs work. Good car. $250 253-9692.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'73 Honda CL 350, mint, 5600 miles, 586-2131.

1970 Kawasaki 500-3 cylinder, 2 stroke, black. Very fast and in good running condition. Call 549-1259 or 549-1316. $600 firm.

'71 Kawasaki 350, for sale, excellent cond. $400. Call 253-5684.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd.,w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Puf. Vil. Apt. sublet May 31 to Aug. 31, 2 bdrm. $200 mo. Call 549-1415, 5-7 p.m.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60 day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince — one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Hse., Sund. Has rms., bus, April 1. 256-6698.

Furn. rm. in fine country home. 247-5527.

HELP WANTED

Medical Technologist position available at Farren Memorial Hospital, Main St., Turners Falls, MA. 774-3111.

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

A Riflery Instructor for summer boys camp on Cape. Must be 21 or older. Call 256-0224 after five.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Own room in Bltn. Coop. $66 mo 323-4590 Eves. Veg. — nosmoke.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall to wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Good luck to the 1976-77 UMass Women's Basketball team in the regionals! Chris, Nancy, Cheryl, Ginny, Lu, Gayle, Grace, Julie, Maura, Pooh Bear, Sue, Ozzie, Pam and Lynsie.

Wanted: 5 cu. ft. refrigerator 256-8607.

Happy Birthday man. Hope you have a happy, happy day! Love, Me.

WANTED

Needed: Baby food jars. Eves. 253-3868.

A FT-2 carrying case for Nikkormat cameras. Call Bill, Rm. 311, 5-2642.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6-45 p.m.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter. 665-2920.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Tired of studying? You deserve a break tonight! Take a break with Sigma Delta Tau, March 14 at 8-9 p.m., 409 N. Pleasant St. For rides and info. 545-0527.

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

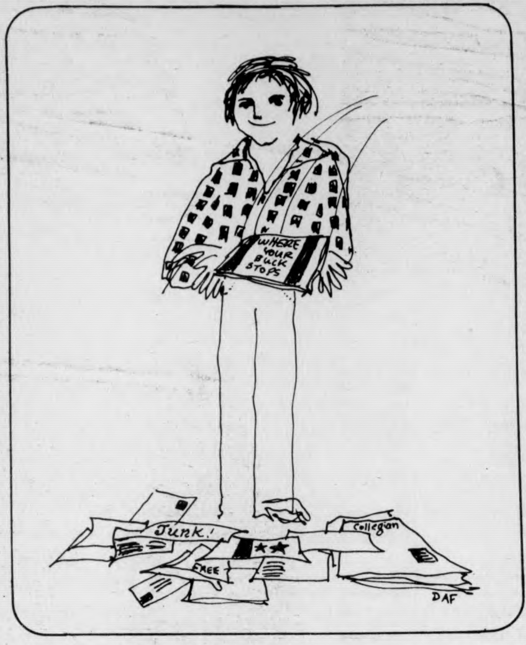
A new club is interested in finding a few new serious card players for a weekly game. If interested call Kurt at 6-9605.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T.I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95, SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.), SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP 67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316

tyla l michelove

Kudos



As the sun starts looking good and people move outside again, it's time to start talking about warmer things. With this in mind, I'd like to take this time and space to pat some good people on the back.

First, I'd like to thank Spring for showing up so soon and making life bearable...muddy...but bearable.

Second, all the people who showed interest, took part, planned or in any way did anything to make Women's Week a pleasure for those of us who were looking for signs of positive activity, you are much appreciated! For the first time in a long time the outside world was looking to UMass to see what they were doing. Women have, in one week, brought a lot of attention to UMass, and not the kind of attention that we have had too much of, no scandals, no destructive rage. Even for people who didn't go to the lectures and workshops, there was a feeling of unity that pervaded the entire campus. There were a lot of people smiling, a lot of human warmth and understanding and a lot of information, needed information.

There is no way that I could possibly list all the people who made last week work, and that in itself is a great source of joy for me. If you have been reading this column over the past few years, you may have noted that I have often complained that too few people were holding the cards or dealing out pieces of their claims to the spotlight. Sure, the names of the people have changed over the years, but the numbers never seemed to. Well, last week proved me wrong and I am more than glad to admit it.

It was obvious all week that people were going out of their way to stress women's issues and give women the kind of support we have always deserved. With this sort of input and open-mindedness, there is a glimmer of hope that Women's Weeks won't be so special in the near future, the feelings expressed this week will become an expected part of our working culture. Until that time, however, it is nice to know that we can see ourselves as a community and that we can work together.

As a post script to this, I would like to note that it is easy for most women to identify with a struggle oriented to problems they may face or have faced in the past, not knowing any way to deal with those problems constructively. It is not so easy for men, who can escape these kinds of realities, to become involved in something foreign and often antagonistic toward them. To the men who put themselves out last week, a pat on the head and a definite thank you. It is about time that we recognized each other in a good way; I only wish that there were more of you.

Third, congratulations are due to Jim Gagne, Walter Hamilton, etc. for putting together the resource booklet entitled, Where Your Buck Stops. So many people have no idea what this university has to offer, things that their money supports. This is a comprehensive look at all the RSO groups that students can use and become a part of. Nothing this good, this informative and fair has come out since the It's Your Move of a couple of years back. Not only does this booklet describe what is, but what is in the planning stages as well.

I believe that it is every student's responsibility to know what is within her or his grasp, something that the Resource Fair in the S.U.B. attempted to accomplish and the editors of this booklet intended.

Now the information is in your hands and should not be tossed aside like a piece of junk mail. You have no excuses anymore. It is all there, use it!

Tyla L. Michelove is a Collegian Columnist.

letters

The Foley and Tyson team

To the Editor:

I would like to announce my endorsement of John Foley and Herb Tyson for the office of Student Government Association co-presidents.

As speaker of the Student Senate I have learned that it is actions that count — not words. The other candidates in this race have been doing a lot of talking, but with all "their experience" what accomplishments do they have to show?

The team of Foley and Tyson have accomplished many things during their time as students at UMass. Among these are a large amount of work on the formation of the Student Federal Credit Union and a great deal of effort to ensure that the SGA budget provides a high level of student services in order to improve the quality of students' lives as well as provide jobs for a great number of students. In fact, they have promised to make these items a high priority for their administration.

While other candidates have thrown themselves into the mire of the SGA bureaucracy, Foley and Tyson have worked for improving the amount and level of student services. I have great confidence that they will continue to work towards these ends.

Brian DeLima
Speaker of the Student Senate

...vs. Batiste and Hite

To the Editor:

This memo may be considered public notice that the Greek Area has unanimously endorsed the University of Massachusetts Student Government Associations Presidential Candidate duo of Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite.

This endorsement was passed at an official Greek Council Area Government meeting, held at Sigma Kappa Sorority on February 23, 1977.

Best of luck to Batiste and Hite, and may the best candidates win.

Stephen M. Macaulay
Greek Council President

To the Organization of Arab Students

To the Editor:

This letter is aimed at the Organization of Arab Students — UMASS No. 385 who signed the commentary about Israeli terrorism in the March 10 Collegian.

"Unified Jerusalem" is the capital of Israel. It is now unified under Israeli rule. Pre-June, 1967, Jerusalem was not unified. Jews were not allowed in the Old Section, where many historical landmarks exist. Today, Jews, Christians, and Moslems alike may travel anywhere in the city of Jerusalem.

You speak of the bulldozer as the symbol of the "unified" Jerusalem. You may be correct. The Israeli's are now busy tearing down slums and rebuilding new apartment complexes. You speak of the demolition of 800 Arab buildings and the construction of thirteen new Israeli sectors [for Jewish residents]. Yet nowhere do you mention the demolition of but one Israeli building or the building of even one Arab apartment. You do this purposely to paint an incomplete picture. Your account is laced with half-truths and inaccuracies.

Saying that Israel has illegally annexed areas of Arab populations makes very little sense. When the United States won the wars against Mexico; California, Texas, and other territories were obtained. As a result of World War II, the USSR added much to her already overwhelming territory. Yet when Israel wins not one, but several wars [none of which did she start], she is condemned by the majority of the world. Why?

Jerusalem under Israeli rule has been freer than that under Arab rule. Now all peoples may enter the city; Jews, Arabs, and anyone else. No longer do Jews only dream of the Wailing Wall. L'shana haba 'a b' Jerusalem.

Jeff Kalish
Student Organizing Project

Vote for the Student Activities Tax

To the Editor:

On the ballot next Tuesday, along with the candidates for SGA president, will be a referendum question. The question will be whether or not to increase the Student Activities Tax by $7. We are in a position to decide on this question because this fee is not something imposed on us from the administration or legislature. It is a self-imposed tax; one which was instituted by students in order to provide students with services they would not get otherwise.

Among the services that the fee funds are the various advocacy agencies of the SGA. These groups are constituted on the premise that students hold an ineffective position in the matrix of decision-making relationships within the University. It is the objective of these organizations to eliminate this situation and to create one in which students would have an impact in the policy-making process. With an 8 per cent increase in inflation and a level-budget, both of which will exist in fiscal year 1978, a repeat of the $57 SATF would be disaster for most of the student services supported by it, in the form of extensive cuts or total elimination.

Insofar as this fee is imposed by students for student services and not by the legislature for revenue priorities, the SOP supports the $7 increase in the SATF. In the context of impending cuts and a declining quality of education, the SOP hopes that all students will vote in favor of the increase.

Speaker of the Student Senate

SATF endorsements

The following individuals and-or organizations have endorsed the proposed SATF fee hike:

Allan Byam
Manager, Student Transportation Services
The Student Video Project
John Fisher

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

---

sga presidential forum:

the candidates on the issues

Editor's note: the following statements were written by the SGA presidential candidates and represent some of their thoughts on what the major issues are and how, they, as presidents, would deal with them.

pinky batiste
jon hite

The way some people tell it, there's going to be Dr. Pepper coming out of the water fountains after the election.

We have our doubts.

The Governor is still going to be looking for the fat on the bones of the University. Our class sizes are going to continue to increase. Our best professors are going to keep on looking for jobs where a telephone isn't a luxury. Some people are still going to laugh when you tell them you go to UMass.

And frankly, we think it's more important to spend our time working on problems like these than trying to get more alcohol onto a campus that's already saturated.

Maybe it isn't too exciting when we talk about faculty-student ratios, or trust fund interest, or whether or not the Rhetoric Program should be left to rot for another five years.

But those are the issues that affect our lives; that determine what our degrees are going to be worth ten years from now; and that decide whether we're going to be able to afford coming to UMass at all.

> Every year we pay more and more for our educations, but class sizes get bigger, labs turn into show-and-tell, and you can't ever find what you're looking for in the library.

It may not be too exciting, but that's the way it is sometimes. We think government should be trying to solve problems, not create them.

We've got solid ideas on how to approach the problems in our lives here, and we'd like to talk about some of them:

STUDENT SERVICES: On Wednesdays, you can't get into the Registrar's Office or the Financial Aid Office. You can't get to the Bursar's Office after 3:30. The official explanation is that there aren't enough staff people to handle the demand, and we agree. But at the same time, the interest the University gets from investing our fees goes for office furniture and American Express cards for high-level University officials. We think this is a clear case of a supply and a demand. We know where there is some money, and we know where it needs to go. We can make it a hard argument to resist.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE: Although it's hard to believe, many legislators don't know the first thing about UMass, and they certainly don't know much about what students need. We have worked closely with Amherst's State Representative, Jim Collins, and other legislators to help improve UMass' image in Boston. We won't have to try to learn the politics of the State House: we already know the Education and Ways and Means committees, where the money gets put back in the budget.

THE QUALITY OF EDUCATION: Every year we pay more and more for our educations, but class sizes get bigger, labs turn into show-and-tell, and you can't ever find what you're looking for in the library. We don't have to take whatever the administration decides to hand out: we've been specialists in academics for longer than some of our opponents have been going to college.

EXPERIENCE: You have to vote for the people. We've been fighting for our interests as students for three years. We know where to get information; who can be trusted and who can't; where we can unite with the faculty, and where to keep to ourselves. If all the candidates had this kind of knowledge, it wouldn't be an issue. But all our opponents can do is promise to work for students: we can prove it.

Vote for the people who have led in this campaign and will lead us through the next year — Pinky and Jon.

john foley
herb tyson

As co-candidates for the office of SGA president, we have thought long and hard about the actual functions of the SGA co-presidents.

We've searched out the inadequacies of the communication between the co-presidents and the rest of the student body and we've discussed the stands of the administration on the issues of central concern to students so we will be better able to advocate the positions of students in negotiations with the administration.

> We want to be the mouthpiece of an informed student body...

Traditionally, since the time when the president was picked from within the senate by a handful of politicians in a smoke-filled back room, the presidents have been removed from the student body as a whole. Removed just enough to make the difference between the president having an accurate understanding of students' concerns and an inferior, disjointed understanding of what students want and need.

To better deal with the administration, the state legislature, the governor and the Board of Trustees and to bargain with more strength with these groups of individuals we will make the consolidation of the student body through improved communication with the body as a whole our top priority.

We propose to do this by doing the following:

1. Have regular office hours in various locations to be more accessible to students.
2. Regularly attend area government meetings and Recognized Student Organization (RSO) groups' meetings, and to attend house council and other meetings on request.
3. Establish some sort of ombudsperson to work out of the president's office to field from students problems they have with student government and bring these to the attention of the co-presidents, also using the communication network being established by the Student Organizing Project.

Only by doing these things and more can any candidate hope to fill the shoes of the Student Government Association co-president. Only by doing these things and more can we hope to use informed opinion in the advocating of students' rights, needs and desires before the administration and other groups.

We do not want to be advisory to anyone, as some of the candidates have suggested, but rather want to be the mouthpiece of an informed student body that will move to unify itself and raise its voice high.

We WANT to use the informed opinion of student groups such as the Student Organizing Project, the Student Center for Educational Research, and the practical knowledge of the senate's legislative liaison to advocate for students.

We want to strengthen the student body by increasing student run services. This will provide more jobs for students who need them and recycle the student dollar among all students. It will also create more independence from area and administrative services so that we can be the students' advocates without fear of administrative cutbacks as a reprisal. The plank in our platform does not now state what services would be expanded or created but suggests that students would, by referendum, choose the services they think should be instituted. Thus the controversy surrounding the possible future formation of a student liquor co-op is a result of an inaccurate understanding of our intention to increase student run services, which is greater self determination for students.

We will also push the student government as far as we can along the road to student unionization and the idea suggesting that student government incorporate to shore up our legal rights is already being researched.

The basis for our campaign is democratic, not bureaucratic. We would attempt to break down the barriers that exist in the student bureaucracy. We will press for the application of services rather than the formulation of well-intending but ill-utilized policy as the primary objective of student government work.

charles pooler
joel weissman

The SGA is not seen by the majority of students as an important force on this campus. Many do not yet even realize that this election is taking place, and many more have no clear sense of what the issues are.

This situation does not stem from any so-called student apathy. Students like anyone else are concerned about matters they see as affecting them. Instead it is a reflection of the fact that the student government has not lived up to its potential as a force that can rally students in the fight for our common needs and interests.

We think the SGA can become a vital force on the UMass campus. To do this it must:

1) Provide us with the organization necessary to take on the different attacks we face as students and as members of this society.

2) Identify the key issues confronting us and provide the framework for discussion and debate around these issues.

3) Provide essential student services and promote social and cultural activities on campus.

We think the following are the key questions facing us at this time:

STANDING-UP TO ALL ATTACKS ON OUR EDUCATION — While the rich collect their billions, workers and the rest of us are told to make sacrifices. Dukakis' budget for '77 — level funding — means more cutbacks, including the threatened closing of whole departments. The SGA must step-up its efforts to inform people about these attacks, and immediately begin planning for mass protests against them.

WINNING FREEDOM FOR EARL BROWN AND CRAEMAN GETHERS — Robert Earl Brown and Craeman Gethers are two Black UMass students who have been convicted of a crime they did not commit. Their jailing stands as another blatant example of the oppression minorities in this country face. We should stand with these men in their fight for freedom. This is one way of opposing discrimination and building the unity of students of all nationalities. In the past the SGA has offered fleeting support. As co-presidents we would organize education around their case, help build active support, and organize a referendum supporting Gethers and Brown.

SUPPORTING THE STRUGGLE OF THE PEOPLE OF SOUTHERN AFRICA — The struggle against white minority rule in Zimbabwe (Rhodesia), and Azania (South Africa), has reached a high point during these past few months. The people of Southern Africa have made it clear that the brutal system of apartheid is about to be relegated to the dust bin of history. For years these countries have been a major source of super-profits for U.S. corporations, and in order to maintain these, the U.S. Government actively supports these racist regimes. UMass itself owns over half a million dollars worth of stocks in corporations which are major investors in Southern Africa. This is an outrage which the SGA must actively oppose.

> The SGA is not seen by the majority of students as an important force on this campus.

SUPPORT FOR STUDENT SERVICES AND CULTURAL ACTIVITIES. The services provided by the SGA should be maintained and improved. Expanding the job placement program, creating a voluntary student 'escort service' for students who don't wish to travel alone at night, and encouraging greater involvement in the intramural athletic program through better publicity, are some examples.

On the whole, services and cultural activities that speak to important student needs, and promote greater student involvement, are the things that we would emphasize.

By taking up these questions (and others in the future) in a way that actively involves broader numbers of students, the SGA can become the central force representing and fighting in the interests of students, and in this way can truly become a force to be reckoned with.

News in Brief

Dept. of Education proposed

HARTFORD, Conn. [UPI] — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, a former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said yesterday he will introduce legislation to create a new Department of Education.

The department would assume responsibility for programs currently in HEW and other federal agencies.

"A separate department would lift education out of the maze of bureaucracy where most of its administration now exists," the Connecticut Democrat said.

Reds gain in French elections

PARIS [UPI] — Millions of French citizens voted in municipal elections yesterday in one of the heaviest turnouts since World War II. Unofficial estimates showed the Socialist-Communist alliance scored a solid victory over President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's coalition.

Environmentalists, nicknamed the "green vote," cut into the totals of both left and right parties, mostly in major cities affected with industrial pollution.

Czech dissident dies after grilling

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia [UPI] — Civil rights activist Jan Patocka, 69, died of a stroke yesterday, 10 days after a marathon questioning session by government security officials.

Patocka, spokesman for the "Charter 77" human rights manifesto which has come under increasing government pressure, entered a hospital last week after his physician warned that his heart was weak.

PLO radicals block Arafat

CAIRO [UPI] — Palestinian hardliners called yesterday for a "people's war of liberation" against Israel and the overthrow of Jordan's King Hussein and temporarily blocked an attempt to give moderate Yasser Arafat wide powers.

Bill to restrict foreigners loses

GENEVA, Switzerland [UPI] — Voters in a national referendum yesterday crushed an attempt to restrict the number of foreigners living and working in Switzerland.

They rejected by an average 70 per cent majority a motion to limit foreigners to 12.5 per cent of the total population and to limit to 4,000 the number of annual naturalizations.

We'd do it again says Callaghan

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Prime Minister James Callaghan said yesterday, despite the huge cost and the hassle over U.S. landing rights, British citizens would vote to reapprove the Concorde airliner if the decision had to be made again.

"There is no doubt about that," he said. "The planes are flying. They are there. Some of them are built, others are still building."

Radicals claim bombing

MARLBORO, Mass (UPI) — A radical group which has claimed responsibility for the bombing of an unoccupied factory says it was done to protest the scheduled visit Wednesday of President Jimmy Carter to a small neighboring community.

The communique from the group calling itself the Sam Melville-Jonathon Jackson Unit concerned the explosion at the two-story Ideal Roller Co. building about 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Carter is scheduled to be in Clinton Wednesday, just 10 miles away, for a town meeting with the community's 13,011 residents.

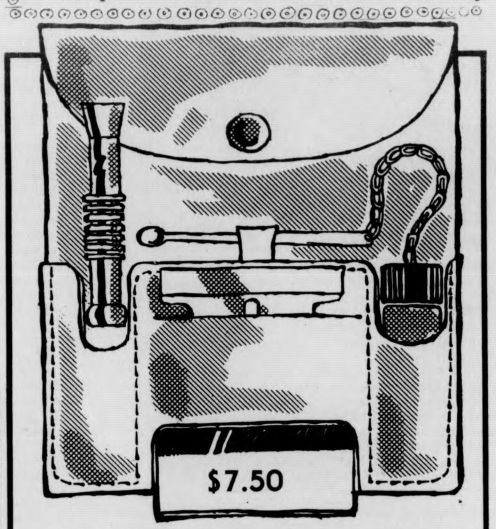
The bombing, police said, moved concrete walls, broke windows and sent the suspended ceiling crashing to the floor. No injuries were reported.

"The bombing of the W.R. Grace & Co. buildings by the Sam Melville-Jonathon Jackson Unit is to protest the visit to this area of U.S. president Jimmy Carter, who while expressing his support for human rights in the Soviet Union, ignores the violation of human rights in this country, Latin America and South Africa...," the communique said.

A spokesman for Richard Bates, special FBI agent in charge of the probe, Sunday said he believed the wrong building was bombed.

EATON'S CORRASABLE BOND
4 different weights
at
A. J. Hastings
newsdealer and stationer
45 S. Pleasant St.

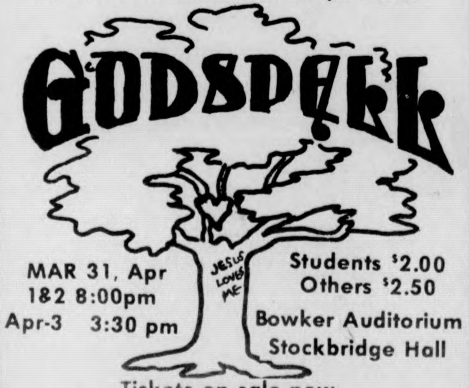
THE BAGEL DELI
28 PLEASANT ST. (across from the Pleasant St Theatre)
SUN.-WED. 7 A.M.-9 P.M.
THU-SAT. 7 A.M.-2 A.M.
Complete sit-down and take-out service



$7.50
Suede Coke Kits
Vial with attached Spoon
Razor • Mirror • Tooter
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

The Transcendental Meditation Program
Introductory Lecture
This Weds Mar 16
7:30 pm
Herter 225
for more info. 549-5335
SIMS anon- profit ed. org.

A ST. PATRICK'S DAY SPECIAL
Buy IRELAND by Jill and Leon Uris and we'll give you TRINITY by Leon Uris FREE
Offer good now through March 18 only at the bookstore.
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus centre univ. of mass.



UMass Music Theatre Guild presents
GODSPELL
MAR 31, Apr 1&2 8:00pm
Apr-3 3:30 pm
Students $2.00
Others $2.50
Bowker Auditorium
Stockbridge Hall
Tickets on sale now
BOWKER BOX OFFICE :545-0783

All people interested in working security on the SPRING CONCERT
should attend a meeting tomorrow,
Tues., March 15 at 7:00 p.m.
in Hasbrouck 134

March 15,16 1977
JERRY LEWIS CUT-A-THON
A benefit for Muscular Distophy done by the cutters of the JD Chopping Block of Amherst
Get your clean hair cut for a mimimum donation donation of $5.00 to Muscular Distrophy in Hamden Dining Commons Southwest Residential Area March 15,16 10:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
sponsered by
PANHELLENIC COUNCIL OF SORORITIES

Notices

ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN

Sigma Delta Tau invites all interested university women to take a study break with us. Come meet the sisters and pledges tonight 8-9 p.m. at 409 Pleasant St. For rides and info call 5-0527.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA MEETING

Alpha Phi Omega will hold its weekly meeting at 7:30 tonight. Brothers should meet in the SBA lobby. There will be a pledge ceremony at 6:15 in the office. All are welcome at 7:30.

ATTENTION GREEK AMERICANS

There will be a meeting tonight for members of the Hellenic American Assoc. in CC 808 at 7:30. The Disco and International will be discussed. There will be music, dance and plenty of MEZETHANKIA!

BETA CHI

Meeting 7:30 tonight in Commuter Lounge. George Holmes on "Making it in the Blue Wall" is the guest speaker.

CALLS MADE ALL OVER THE COUNTRY!

That's right, at Phonothon '77, students call Alumni throughout the U.S. The program starts at 6 p.m. in Memorial Hall with dinner and refreshments on us. Prizes are awarded to top team and individuals. So drop by Memorial Hall or call Joseph or Mary Ellen at 5-2317.

ALL STUDENTS, STAFF, AND FACULTY

Are invited to attend an open meeting to examine and discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination in the CC on Tuesday from noon to 2 p.m. in Campus Center 165.

OUTING CLUB

Tonight in CC 165 at 7 p.m. there will be a canoeing and kayaking program consisting of movies and a presentation of what white water boating is all about. All are welcome. A referendum will be discussed and voted on concerning the $7 SATF increase.

PHTO COOP MEETING

An organizational meeting for all store workers and interested people to set store policy at 7 p.m. tonight in SUB 409.

JOBS AVAILABLE

If you: have workstudy, won't have earned it all by finals time, want to work in Boston, and are interested in a clerical job at BHE, please come to Student Employment, Whitmore 239A.

SAILING CLUB

There will be a meeting tonight in CC 915, concerning the Florida trip during Spring break. All those interested must attend.

SELF-DEFENSE FOR WOMEN

A workshop with demonstration and practice of street techniques of self-Defense. 323 Hills No. 7 p.m.

SEMANA LATINO AMERICANO

Tonight AHORA presents Prof. Isis Duarte on Conferencia sobre la REPUBLICA DOMINICA in Herter 231 at 7:30 p.m.

SOUTH AFRICAN SUPPORT COMM

Meeting every Monday night at 8 p.m. in the New Africa House, room 114. Interested newcomers always welcome.

DOLLAR DAYS AT FINAST!
Finast SUPERMARKETS
Kraft Macaroni & Cheese Dinner 4 7¼ oz pkgs $1
Richmond Beef Ravioli 3 15 oz cans $1
Duncan Hines Cake Mixes 2 18½ oz pkgs $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 13-19, 1977. H-717 Finast FN
Vanity Fair Jumbo Towels 2 125 ct rolls $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 13-19, 1977. H-718-TX Finast FN

BEER & WINE SHOPPE!
Millers Beer case 24 12 oz cans 5.99
Paul Masson Rose Chablis magnum 3.69
Sherry Paul Masson Pale Dry, Medium Dry Cream magnum 3.79
Inglenook Wine magnum 3.69
Almaden Chablis, Rhine, Sauterne, Nectar Rose magnum 3.79
Donelli Lambrusco 50 oz 3.59

Brownie Mix Jiffy 4 8 oz pkgs 1.00
Pie Crust Mix Jiffy 4 9 oz pkgs 1.00
My-T-Fine Puddings 5 3¼ oz pkgs 1.00
Weight Watchers Soda 7 12 oz cans 1.00
Finast Grape Juice 2 24 oz btls 1.00
Motts Apple Sauce Natural 2 20 oz jars 1.00
Diet Delight Peaches 2 16 oz cans 1.00
Diet Delight Fruit Cocktail 2 16 oz cans 1.00
Seneca Grape Jelly 2 19 oz jars 1.00
Lipton Cup-O-Soup 2 1½ oz pkgs 1.00
Sardines Pescanova 3 5¼ oz cans 1.00
Tomato Sauce Finast 6 8 oz cans 1.00
Cracker Jacks 3 3 oz pkgs 1.00
Tabby Cat Food 4 6½ oz cans 1.00
Bright Eyes Cat Food Carnation 3 12½ oz cans 1.00
Liquid Detergent Richmond 2 32 oz btls 1.00

MEAT STREET U.S.A. ... GUARANTEED VALUE!
Fresh or Colonial Smoked Shoulder Arm Picnic (water added) 68¢ lb
Boneless Beef Roasts Bottom Round or Shoulder USDA CHOICE 1.18 lb
Finast Welcomes FOOD STAMP CUSTOMERS
5 lbs or more Fresh Chicken Livers 48¢ lb
Breakfast favorite Finast Sliced Bacon 98¢ lb
(Extra Lean Ground Beef lb 1.18) Fresh Ground Beef 4 lbs or more 78¢ lb lesser amts 88¢
USDA Choice Boneless Beef Shoulder Steak For London Broil 1.28 lb
Boneless USDA Choice Beef Top Round Roast or Rump Roast 1.48 lb
Top Round For London Broil Beef Boneless lb 1.68
Top Blade Steak Boneless Beef lb 1.48
Polish Kielbasa Grote & Weigel lb 1.58
Colonial Bologna All Meat or Beef lb 88¢
Polish Kielbasa Colonial lb 1.18
Smoked Tongue Frierich lb 1.28
Parks Sausage Little Links lb 1.58
Sausage Roll Parks, reg or Hot n' Sagey 12 oz pkg 88¢
Italian Sausage Marco Hot or Sweet lb 1.08
Smoked Butts Frierich lb 1.38
Seafood Favorite!
Salmon Frozen Red Silver (steaks lb 1.99) lb 1.79
LARGE ECONOMY PACKS!
Boneless Whole Shoulder of Beef USDA CHOICE Roast, Steaks & Kabobs 1.38 lb
Boneless Whole Bottom Round USDA CHOICE Roast, Steaks & Kabobs 1.48 lb
Fresh American-Whole Lamb Legs Oven Ready 1.38 lb
Lamb Legs Shank Half Oven Ready lb 1.48
Sirloin Lamb Chops Fresh American lb 1.88
Loin Lamb Chops Fresh American lb 2.78
Fresh Whole 2 to 3 lbs Calves Liver 88¢
Fresh Calves Liver Store Sliced lb 1.18
Fresh Veal For Stew lb 1.78
Veal Cutlets Italian Style From the Leg lb 2.68
Treat your Family to Mr. Deli Values!
Cooked Roast Beef Freshly Sliced To Order 1.99 lb
Virginia Baked Ham half lb 1.19
Imported Chopped Ham lb 1.39
Hard Salami B/C lb 1.79
Italian Hot Ham half lb 1.29
Sliced Provolone lb 1.78
Corned Beef Round half lb 1.39
Salads Potato, Cole Slaw, Macaroni lb 49¢
Shrimp Salad half lb 99¢

Grapefruit Juice Treesweet Frozen 5 6 oz cans $1
Finast Frozen Food Values!
Taterboy Shoestring Potatoes Stock-up & Save 3 20 oz pkgs $1
Fruit Pies Orchard Hill Apple, Peach Cherry, Blueberry 4 8 oz pkgs 1.00
Boil in Bag Meat Entrees Finast 4 5 oz pkgs 1.00
Pot Pies Finast Beef, Chicken, Turkey, Mac. & Cheese 4 8 oz pkgs 1.00
Birds Eye Peas or corn 3 10 oz pkgs 1.00
Finast Peas 4 10 oz pkgs 1.00
Chopped Spinach Birds Eye 3 10 oz pkgs 1.00
Sunrise Fresh Dairy Values!
Kraft Parkay Margarine Quarters 2 1 lb pkgs $1
Bordens American Cheese Food Slices 12 oz pkg 1.00
Pillsbury Country Style or Buttermilk Biscuits 10 4½ oz pkgs 1.00
Pillsbury Cinnamon Rolls 2 9½ oz pkgs 1.00
Pride of the Farm Canned Vegetables Mix or Match Assorted Varieties 4 16 oz cans 99¢

25¢ off on (1) half gallon bottle 100% Pure Seald Sweet Grapefruit or Orange Juice at Produce Dept
With this coupon & purchase $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 6-12 Finast FN
Fresh Asparagus California 79¢ lb
First in the Fresh
Save with Large family Packs!
Calif Navel Large Oranges 18 for 1.69
Indian River White Grapefruit 9 for 1.59
McIntosh US No 1 2¼" min Apples Crisp-Aire 15 for 1.69
Carrots Fresh California 3 1 lb cellos 89¢
Tangelos Mineolas Calif 10 for 99¢
Anjou Pears Western 3 lbs 1.00
Apples Golden Delicious Western US No 1 2¼" min 3 lbs 1.00
Fresh Lemons Calif 6 for 49¢
Loaf O' White Bread 4 1 lb lvs $1
Fresh from baker street at finast!
Big Round Top White Bread 3 20 oz lvs 1.00
English Muffins 3 pkgs 6 1.00
Plain Donuts 2 pkgs 12 1.00
Junior Pies 4 4 oz pkgs 1.00
Flowers for St. Patricks Day!
Green Fresh Cut Carnations 3 for $1
Air Ferns Potted ea 99¢
Shamrocks Potted ea 49¢
Exciting Offer by Oneida!
Finast Supermarkets are proud to offer these outstanding values. Exquisite Genuine Silver-plated Spoon Rings and Bracelets by Oneida!
Spoon Ring Genuine Silver Plate Retail Value 2.95 99¢ each
Genuine Silver Plate Spoon Bracelet 1.49 each
SOLD AT CHECK-OUT STANDS
Prices effective March 13 thru March 19, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors

What's Happening

Anthro film series continues on Tues.

The next showing in the Tuesday evening anthropology dept. film series is this Tuesday. The theme for this presentation is "traditional crafts".

One film, "Basketry of the Pomo", illustrates the craft of a California Indian group, whose work is among the finest basketweaving in the world. "Acorns" shows such baskets put to use in the preparation of food by California Indians. In "Loon's Necklace" a Salish myth is acted out with the beautiful, intricately carved wooded masks of Northwest Coast Indians. Finally, the craft of a Yucatecan Maya potter is examined in "ollero Yucateco". Show time is 8 p.m., in Thompson 102. There is no charge.

The following presentation in this film series will be March 29. The theme for that showing will be "other primates," and the three films to be shown are "Baboon Behavior," "Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees," and "Monkeys of Mysore."

Second meeting for diabetes discussion

The second meeting of the new Diabetes Learning and Discussion Group will be tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Clinic 1 of the University Health Services (UHS). Lisa Lambiasi and Dr. Kelly Davis from UHS and people from the Alcohol Education Project will talk about alcohol and diabetes. There will be plenty of time for questions and small group discussions afterward. The third meeting will be held March 28 with a discussion on exercise. Questions? Call 549-2671, Health Education.

SOP offers general layout workshop

The Student Organizing Project will hold a workshop today at 7 p.m. in Student Union 426 regarding leaflet, newsletter and poster layout. All are welcome. If you plan to attend drop by the SOP office or call 5-2415.

Sex Discrimination Hearings commence

All members of the University community are invited to an open hearing to discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination with the Faculty of Humanities and Fine Arts on Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. in Goodell 615.

The Student Affairs Title IX Self-Evaluation Committee will hold an open meeting to examine and discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination on campus pertaining to the Campus Center tomorrow from noon to 2 p.m. in Campus Center 165.

All members of the University community are invited to an open hearing to discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination within the faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. in Campus Center 917.

Strickland lectures on political economy

The Social Thought — Political Economy (STPEC) program will host Prof. William Strickland of the Afro-Am department to speak on "Political Economy — Ideology or Analysis?" tonight at 7:30 in the sixth floor lounge of Thompson Tower.

Strickland has suggested that people read his article "Investigations into the Deaths of MLK, JFK, RFK," which appeared in the Feb. 22, 1977 issue of Nummo News. A copy of this article is in the STPEC office, room E 26 Machmer Hall.

Lecture on Kirlian Photography today

Mark Dickstein will speak on "Kirlian Photography and Psychic Healing" tonight at 8:00 in Herter Hall 227.

Dickstein is involved in final research for his master's thesis on Kirlian photography and unusual energies in man.

Monday's lecture will include a brief history of KP, the questions it raises, and implications for its use in medicine and other fields. There will be a slide presentation accompanying the talk.

DC menu

TODAY--BOLD

LUNCH — Hot Beef Sandwich, Egg Foo Yung; Basics: Cheese Nut Loaf, Egg Foo Yung.

DINNER — Fried chicken, Seafood Newburg; Basics: Eggplant Parmigiana, Fried Chicken.

USED BOOK SALE
20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks
Tues, March 15 - Sat, March 19
Valley Book Shop
Carriage Shops Amherst

University of Massachusetts / Amherst
FINE ARTS CENTER PRESENTS
THE OSIPOV BALALAIKA ORCHESTRA WITH STARS OF THE Bolshoi Ballet & Bolshoi Opera COMPANY OF 75
MONDAY, APRIL 4 8 PM
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
Tickets now on sale. $7, 6, 5. UM-A - $5, 4, 3. Other students and senior citizens $6, 5, 4.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

PRAGUE CHAMBER ORCHESTRA
36 VIRTUOSO MUSICIANS IN MATCHLESS ENSEMBLE WITHOUT CONDUCTOR

university of massachusetts arts council presents
A concerto festival with Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist
Wed., March 30 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

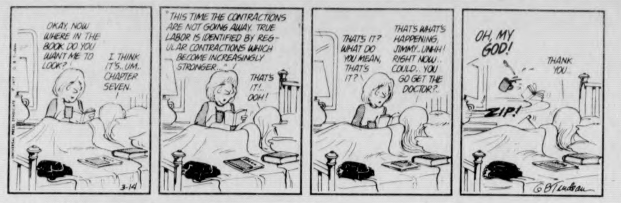
Appearing Tonite:
KIRBY FARRELL QUARTET
TUES. NITE
John Payne Band
FRI. & SAT
James Montgomery
AT
The rusty nail Inn
Rte 47 Sunderland
665-4937

CLIP AND SAVE
Spring's in Sight... Slim down Now!
JOIN
WEIGHT WATCHERS
The Authority.
You'll love the change. New program. Exciting new foods. Easier for you! Men, Women, Teens welcome to join at any meeting. No contracts.
AMHERST — Tuesdays 7 PM
Univ. of Mass. Campus Center Bldg.
AMHERST-HADLEY — Wednesdays 9:30 AM 5 & 7 PM
Howard Johnson's, 401 Russell St. (Rt. 9)
NORTHAMPTON — Wednesdays 9:30 AM & 7 PM
Polish National Association, Pearl Street
NORTHAMPTON — Thursdays 7 PM
Y.M.C.A., Prospect Street
For Information Call:
(413) 786-6611 or write
622 No. Main St., East Longmeadow, Mass. 01028
$7.00 first meeting, then $3.00 weekly. Join now!
LOWER RATES FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

SHIRTS
$5.00
Famous Name Factory Returns and Irregulars
Originally $14-$20.
NOW $5.00
Excellent Condition
Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

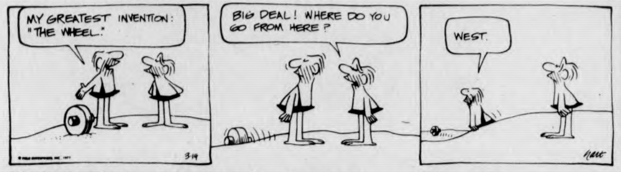
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

Valley
29 S Pleasant St
call 2566736
M F 10 6 S 10 2



OKAY, NOW WHERE IN THE BOOK DO YOU WANT ME TO LOOK?
I THINK IT'S.. UM.. CHAPTER SEVEN.
"THIS TIME THE CONTRACTIONS ARE NOT GOING AWAY. TRUE LABOR IS IDENTIFIED BY REGULAR CONTRACTIONS WHICH BECOME INCREASINGLY STRONGER..."
THAT'S IT!.. OOH!
THAT'S IT? WHAT DO YOU MEAN, THAT'S IT?
THAT'S WHAT'S HAPPENING, JIMMY.. UNHH! RIGHT NOW.. COULD.. YOU GO GET THE DOCTOR?
OH, MY GOD!
THANK YOU.
ZIP!
3-14
G B Trudeau

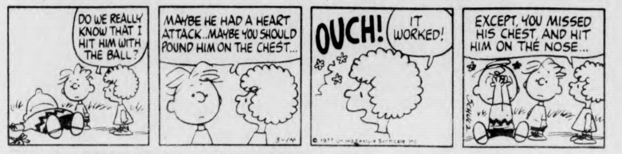
B.C. by Johnny Hart



MY GREATEST INVENTION: "THE WHEEL."
BIG DEAL! WHERE DO YOU GO FROM HERE?
WEST.
3-14
hart

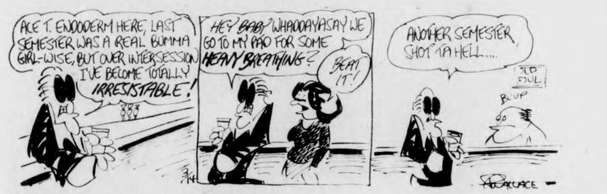
PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



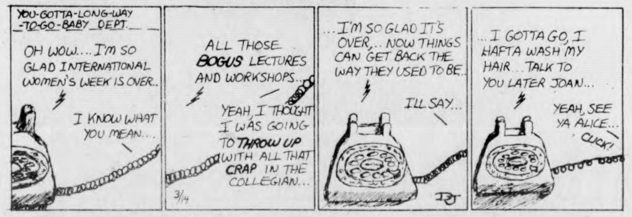
DO WE REALLY KNOW THAT I HIT HIM WITH THE BALL?
MAYBE HE HAD A HEART ATTACK..MAYBE YOU SHOULD POUND HIM ON THE CHEST...
OUCH!
IT WORKED!
EXCEPT, YOU MISSED HIS CHEST, AND HIT HIM ON THE NOSE...
3-14
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
SCHULZ

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



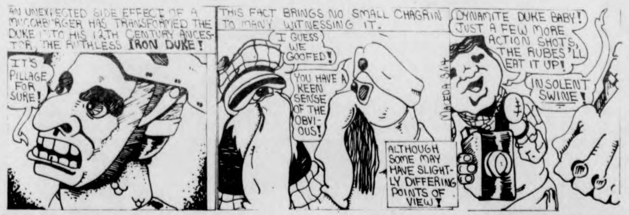
ACE T. ENDODERM HERE, LAST SEMESTER WAS A REAL BUMMA GIRL-WISE, BUT OVER INTERSESSION I'VE BECOME TOTALLY IRRESISTABLE!
HEY BABY, WHADDAYASAY WE GO TO MY PAD FOR SOME HEAVY BREATHING?
BEAT IT!
ANOTHER SEMESTER, SHOT TA HELL....
BLUP
3/14
WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



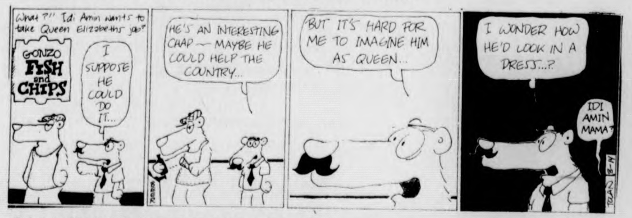
YOU-GOTTA-LONG-WAY-TO-GO-BABY DEPT.
OH WOW....I'M SO GLAD INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S WEEK IS OVER..
I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN....
ALL THOSE BOGUS LECTURES AND WORKSHOPS...
YEAH, I THOUGHT I WAS GOING TO THROW UP WITH ALL THAT CRAP IN THE COLLEGIAN...
...I'M SO GLAD IT'S OVER,... NOW THINGS CAN GET BACK THE WAY THEY USED TO BE..
I'LL SAY...
...I GOTTA GO, I HAFTA WASH MY HAIR... TALK TO YOU LATER JOAN...
YEAH, SEE YA ALICE...
CLICK!
3/14
DJ

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



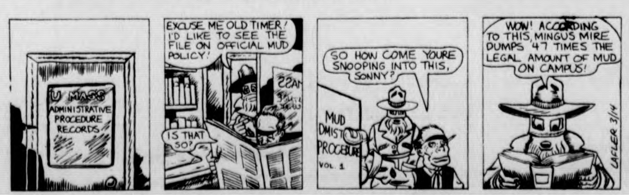
AN UNEXPECTED SIDE EFFECT OF A McCOHBURGER HAS TRANSFORMED THE DUKE INTO HIS 12TH CENTURY ANCESTOR, THE RUTHLESS IRON DUKE!
IT'S PILLAGE FOR SURE!
THIS FACT BRINGS NO SMALL CHAGRIN TO MANY WITNESSING IT.
I GUESS WE GOOFED!
YOU HAVE A KEEN SENSE OF THE OBVIOUS!
ALTHOUGH SOME MAY HAVE SLIGHTLY DIFFERING POINTS OF VIEW!
DYNAMITE DUKE BABY! JUST A FEW MORE ACTION SHOTS, THE RUBES'LL EAT IT UP!
INSOLENT SWINE!
MACEDA 3/14

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



What?!! Idi Amin wants to take Queen Elizabeth's job?
GONZO FISH and CHIPS
I SUPPOSE HE COULD DO IT...
HE'S AN INTERESTING CHAP — MAYBE HE COULD HELP THE COUNTRY...
BUT IT'S HARD FOR ME TO IMAGINE HIM AS QUEEN...
I WONDER HOW HE'D LOOK IN A DRESS...?
IDI AMIN MAMA?
TOLAN 3-14

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



U MASS ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE RECORDS
EXCUSE ME OLD TIMER! I'D LIKE TO SEE THE FILE ON OFFICIAL MUD POLICY!
IS THAT SO?
SO HOW COME YOURE SNOOPING INTO THIS, SONNY?
MUD ADMIST PROCEDURE VOL. 1
WOW! ACCORDING TO THIS, MINGUS MIRE DUMPS 47 TIMES THE LEGAL AMOUNT OF MUD ON CAMPUS!
LAFLER 3/14

Local Television

6:00 3 8 22 30 NEWS
40 GUNSMOKE "New Doctor in Town"
56 THE BRADY BUNCH
57 ZOOM
6:30 8 22 30 40 NEWS
18 SPORTS ONLY
24 TV COMMUNITY COLLEGE — AMERICAN GOVERNMENT
57 VILLA ALEGRE
6:55 40 NEWSBEAT NEWS
7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
30 THE CROSS-WITS
57 AS MAN BEHAVES
7:30 3 THE NEW PRICE IS RIGHT
8 THE GONG SHOW
22 CANDID CAMERA
24 CONNECTICUT
30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
40 POLKA
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 IT'S ARBOR DAY CHARLIE BROWN
8 40 EIGHT IS ENOUGH
22 30 LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE "The Music Box" 24 ALL STAR SWING FESTIVAL
32 38 NHL HOCKEY GAME
57 MICROBES AND MEN "Certain Death"
8:30 BUSTING LOOSE
9:00 3 MAUDE
8 40 MOST WANTED "The Driver"
22 30 NBC MONDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES "Raffery and the Highway Hustlers"
24 57 THE PALLISERS
9:30 ALL'S FAIR
10:00 3 THE ANDROS TARGETS
8 40 FEATHER AND FATHER GANG "Sun, Sand and Death"
24 MICROBES AND MEN "Certain Death"
57 THE GLORY OF THEIR TIMES
10:30 27 JOURNEY TO ADVENTURE
10:45 38 THE HONEYMOONERS
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
24 SOUNDSTAGE
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Kojak: Dead on His Feet"
8 40 THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO-DAN AUGUST
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:00 18 DR. SCOTT ON HEBREWS
12:30 3 CBS MADE FOR TV MOVIE "McCloud: The Disposal Man"
12:40 8 DAN AUGUST
1:00 22 30 TOMORROW
1:30 3 NEWS
1:45 40 NEWS
1:50 8 NEWS
2:15 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Monday, March 14

– Born today, you are an observer of custom. You live by tradition, taking your greatest pleasure out of your involvements within the limits of established institutions: marriage, the family, the church, etc. You have an incredible memory for names and faces -- but you are often at a loss to recall details of another nature. Others may tell you their fondest dreams, their dearest ambitions, their deepest secrets -- and you are as likely to forget the information as not. Such a lack of recall power may cause others to think -- mistakenly, to be sure -- that you do not care as much for them or their problems, hopes, fears and desires as you at first seemed to. In short, your memory serves you best as a means of easing your way in light-hearted social situations.

You have been gifted with tremendous energy and a degree of imagination to match. Between the two -- products of a basic creativity that is at the base of almost all your activities -- you should be able to touch all your work with that spark of brilliance and originality that marks it as outstanding. A person of taste, you have seldom been known to err in the midst of polite society. You have a natural affinity for those things considered "cultural" and "cultivated": for art, for instance, and for music, good books, fine foods, etc.

Vitality, vigor, vim and a good bit of vinegar: these characterize you very well. You are seldom unpleasant to people, but you will not allow yourself or your loved ones to be put upon, either verbally or otherwise; you will wage a war of words with anyone who attempts to take advantage of you and yours. You will not, however, use force of any kind, when force is construed in the physical sense. You play a waiting game, pouncing on your prey when the time is ripe.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

* * *

Tuesday, March 22

ARIES (March 21-April 19) – Another's offer of help may not be as freely given as you think. Make sure there are no strings attached before giving your answer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) – Quantity may tempt you more than quality today -- but you will be wise not to succumb to that temptation. Be alert to change.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) – Compromise is in order early in the day. Turn your attention to matters relating to your career -- but remain aware of another's interests.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) – This is an excellent day to make new friends. Take care, however, not to discard old ones in the process.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) – Success is certain today in all social affairs. Examine your conscience; rid yourself of any guilt-by-association fears.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) – This is a vital day where your progress is concerned. Children and the elderly play a significant part in your success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) – Give some consideration to the question of technique as you examine another's work. Productivity does not tell the whole tale.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) – Make an attempt to describe your efforts clearly. If you are vague as to your method, another will be vague as to his. Allow others to observe.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) – Take care not to overvalue the help given to or gained from another. Your own efforts on your own behalf succeed best of all.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) – Wholehearted commitment to an ideal is the only kind of commitment possible. Try to assert your position in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) – You can be proud of the uniqueness of your work today. Another's has not half the originality -- though others may think it does.

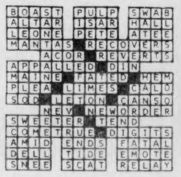
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) – Observe another's behavior. You should be struck by the simplicity of a method under consideration. Try it on for size.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

Saturdays's Puzzle Solved



ACROSS
1 ----- luego: Sp. good-bye
6 Numerical prefix
10 Italian island
14 Sore as -----
15 Armed cavalryman: Var.
16 Labrador ore
17 Thrown
18 Learn by inquiry
19 Made a present of 20 Postponed: 2 words
22 More taut
24 Man's name
26 Furnishes services
27 Arrived at a mean
30 Do the same
31 Disencumbers
32 U.S. hickory tree
37 Black cuckoo
38 More substantial
40 Finial ornament
41 Allowing entry: 2 words
43 Pressed beneath the feet
44 Can prov
45 Telephone for the deaf
48 Something seldom taken
51 Not ever
52 Telephone users
54 Rhetorical understatement
58 Hot and cold shakes
59 Compound suffix
61 Vigilant
62 Cover with gold
63 Cognomen
64 Get new tenants
65 Small: suffix
66 Football field
67 Garment

DOWN
1 Jumble
2 Showing talent
3 Personification
4 Flammable materials
5 Wisconsin community
6 Luggage container: Var: 2 words
7 High priest
8 Talk of the trade
9 Serve as a sign of 10 Weighing less
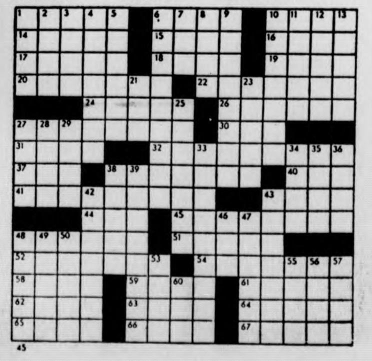
11 Angry
12 English seaport
13 Singeltons
21 Pear-shaped fruit
23 One expressing wonderment
25 One of a series
27 ---- Sea: U.S.S.R. waterbody
28 Hollywood street
29 Rewrite
33 Made gaudy: Brit.
34 Ancient arsonist
35 Preposition
36 Ocean movement
38 Kind of pie
39 Going in
42 ----- -- jouy: Cotton fabric
43 Pitcher
46 Egg: Prefix
47 Firecracker
48 Wise saying
49 Finger
50 Leap over
53 Isolated rock
55 Revelation
56 Manages somehow
57 Cliques
60 Nice friend



Study in New York this summer.
Columbia University offers over 400 undergraduate courses and professional school courses.
For a bulletin write: Summer session Columbia University, 102 c Low, N.Y., N.Y. 10027

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "of or relating to a subject of academic study chosen as a field of specialization."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

FRIDAY'S WORD

CUSHION

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

Trackwomen place fifth in Eastern championships

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

After being well back in the field for most of the afternoon, the UMass women's track team rallied to score in four of the last five events and finish fifth in the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women indoor championship held Saturday in the Leverone Field House at Dartmouth College.

The University of Maryland, which finished third in the outdoor Easterns last spring, gained a measure of revenge as it defeated outdoor champ Penn State by amassing 66 points. Maryland showed balanced team strength by scoring in every running event of 440 yards and less, both relays and all the field events.

Penn State finished second with 64 points, scored mostly in the distance events. Delaware State was third with 27 points, after a tie with Federal City College of Washington, D.C. broken on the basis of most second places taken. UMass continued its domination of Rutgers, as the Scarlet Knights were sixth with 23 points. Thirty seven teams completed in the meet.

Top placing for the Minutewomen was taken by Sue Kibling, who finished third in the pentathlon. Kibling was third in the hurdles, long jump, and high jump; and was fourth in the shot put. In the final event, the 880, she went out fast and ran away from the field to win by 25 yards and record her best time of 2:32. Kibling totaled 2959 points, 210 points behind the event winner, Cindi Troxell of Temple. Her 29' toss in the shot was also a personal best.

The 4x220 relay, keyed by Cindi Martin and Diane Sealey, finished fourth. In the first heat, UMass got off to a bad start as Chris Perron took the first 100 yards to get up to full speed. Martin took the baton for the second leg and ran 27.3 to move into second going down the back stretch. Cathy Contini ran 28.2 to keep the lead at about 7 yards and handed the baton to Sealey, who turned a 26.7 leg, never allowing the UConn anchor runner to come closer than five yards.

In the second heat, race favorite Morgan State passed the baton outside the legal passing zone and was disqualified. Rutgers dropped the baton and lost too much time to stay in contention. Maryland won that heat, and since two other teams bested UMass' time, the Minutewomen were pushed back to fourth.

As expected, the Minutewomen picked up a bundle of points in the distance events. In the morning mile trials, Julie Lafreniere and Maggie Crowley finished third and fourth in the same heat to qualify for the final. Lafreniere ran 5:19 and Crowley a second slower.

In the afternoon final, both UMass runners were boxed back in the pack early, with Lafreniere having to spring out in the 2nd lane to get back into contact with the leaders. The race soon developed into three Penn State runners and eventual winner Cathy Whitcomb of Tufts moving away from Lafreniere who was left in fifth. Crowley dueled with Leddy of Villanova for three quarters of the race, then started to move with two laps to go until she drew up on Lafreniere's shoulder with 80 yards to go.

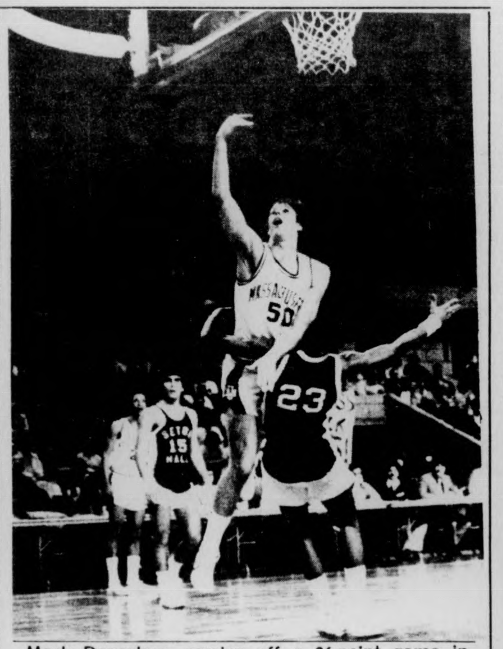
Lafreniere had enough left to kick it in in 5:14.7. Crowley's strong finish carried her to 5:15.2 and sixth place. Whitcomb's winning time was 4:55.9.

In the three mile, Jane Welzel and Sue Swartz settled down in fourth and fifth respectively in the two mile. Chapman battled briefly for third before settling into fourth. She was running her first two mile, and finished with a good time of 11:30.1. Farmer started slow and picked her way through the field to finish in 11:41.2, her best time by 24 seconds.

Coach Ken O'Brien was satisfied with his team's performance, saying that it had improved in proportion to the other women's teams in events they have both been competing in for an equal time.

O'Brien said AAU and Olympic Development programs were responsible for the meteoric rise in the quality of women's track and the great disparity in ability in the sprints, hurdles, and quarter mile — all popular AAU events.

"It's only the second year of woman's intercollegiate track and field, but these women have been competing since junior high at a high level of competition, and it shows", said O'Brien.



Mark Donoghue, coming off a 26-point game in Thursday night's opening round NIT win, will lead the Minutemen into New York tomorrow night. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

CHARTER FLIGHTS TO EUROPE AND CALIFORNIA

- London
- Paris
- Amsterdam
- Frankfurt
- Vienna
- Zurich
- Poland
- Hungary
- Ireland
- Greece
- Rome
- Spain
- Geneva
- Hamburg
- Brussels

LOW FARES NO MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED

For Further Information Contact:

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
Campus Center 3rd level
Univ. of Mass. 545-0500

WIN YOUR TUITION

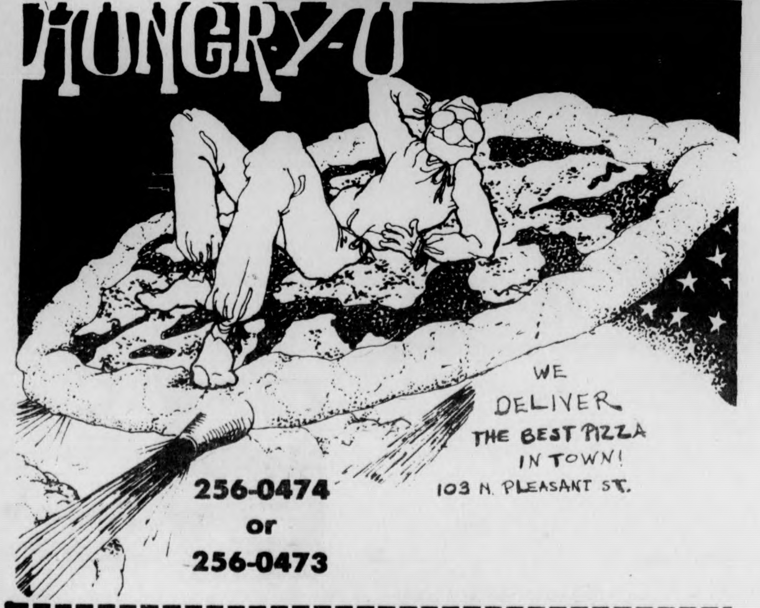
WIN! For Next Semester

WIN! For Next Semester

$200 in U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

WIN! WIN!

Tickets on sale NOW in the C.C.



HUNGRY-U
WE DELIVER THE BEST PIZZA IN TOWN!
103 N. PLEASANT ST.

256-0474 or 256-0473

FREE FRISBEE WITH ANY LARGE COMBINATION PIZZA WHILE SUPPLY SUPPLY LASTS

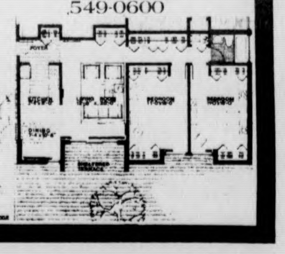
103 N Pleasant Deliveries only

BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST

MOVING OFF CAMPUS???

- STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
- RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
- ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.

50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600



Sports calendar

FRIDAY'S RESULTS
WOMEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — Springfield 66 UMass 64

SATURDAY'S RESULTS
WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS — UMass third in Easterns
MEN'S GYMNASTICS — UMass fifth in Easterns
WOMEN'S TRACK — UMass fifth in Easterns

TODAY
None

TOMORROW
MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Villanova at Madison Square Garden

Crusaders beaten!

BLOOMINGTON, IND. [UPI] — All-America Rickey Green is back in his element — leading No. 1 ranked Michigan's lightning fast attack, but the Wolverines struggled before subduing Holy Cross, 92-81, Sunday in the opener of the NCAA Mideast Regional.

Green, who suffered a hip injury late in the season, was as good as new as he tossed in 35 points and reserve Dave Baxter came up with half a dozen clutch field goals in the second half to spark the Wolverines.

"I feel great, but I got a bit tired," said Green in the dressing room. "I think we took them lightly at first. The second half was one of the best we've played this season."

Phil Hubbard, Michigan Center who was held to four points in the first half, said, "Holy Cross out-hustled us in the first half and we were sluggish."

Michigan, runner-up to Indiana in last year's tourney finals, trailed at the half by a point, but coach Johnny Orr said it was just a case of Holy Cross working well inside.

The Crusaders were without Freshman sensation Ron Perry, who averaged 23 points a game before suffering torn ligaments late in the season.

"The difference was without Perry we weren't able to penetrate sufficiently," said Holy Cross coach George Blaney.

"Our game is patience and control and we weren't very patient in the second half when we got behind," Blaney said. "Green is a super player — one of the premier guards in the country, but Baxter may be a better threat from outside."

"Michigan is definitely the quickest team in the country, that's why they're No. 1. They deserve being No. 1," Blaney added.

★ Women

CONT. FROM PAGE 16

even though she had a break on the bars," commented Evans. Heggie's top performance came on the floor where she finished fourth. She qualified for three events in the finals; vaulting, beam, and floor.

Jones and Heggie both were named to the 16 member all-East team for their efforts at the East Regions. The all-East team was decided by adding the preliminary and final scores and selecting the top six in each event. Unfortunately Cantwell's final performances kept her from making the squad despite a very strong preliminary effort.

Karen Hemberger, the Minutewomen's fourth all-around competitor, finished with a 34.60 total while Diane Laurenson and Jean Anderson were lauded by Evans for their specialized performances on the floor and uneven bars.

Syracuse advances!

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Senior Guard Larry Kelley hit 16 or his 22 points in the second half and then added the opening basket in overtime to give ninth-ranked Syracuse a 93-88 victory over eighth-ranked Tennessee Sunday in the first round of the NCAA Mideast Regional Tournament.

Kelley sparked a second half comeback that saw Syracuse erase an early 10-point deficit.

Tennessee, 22-6, led 40-35 with 19:50 to play in regulation, but the Volunteers went three minutes without a point and Syracuse jumped to a 53-49 edge.

Kelley scored three of Syracuse's five baskets to start the second period and the Volunteers hung on despite their two big men fouling out — Roosevelt Bouie going out with 5:54 to play and Louis Orr picking up his fifth foul with 2:39 to go.

And it was Kelley who took the final shot of regulation that bounced off the rim to leave the game tied, 78-78. He scored the first [illegible] of the extra period and [illegible] never trailed. [illegible] scored 20 points to lead [illegible], which will move into the Regional semifinals with a 26-3 mark, the most wins ever for the school.

"DAYPACKS" "DAYPACKS"

MANY DIFFERENT STYLES★ COLORS★ ★ FABRICS★ PRICES★
at the University Store Campus Center

Bell's Pizza House

FOR PIZZA RICH AND SAUCY TRY US, YOU'LL LIKE US!

Bell's Pizza.

Free Delivery on Campus Sun.-Thurs.

256-8811 253-9851 65 Univ. Drive

Bedspreads

An excellent selection of bedspreads from India and Pakistan — many of them hand loomed and hand dyed. Numerous colors and patterns. Single (twin) sizes (72" x 108") and double sizes (90" x 108").

Faces of Earth

Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

NURSING MAJORS

You can become an Air Force Nurse on Campus through Air Force R.O.T.C.

To find out if you qualify for:

- Over $10,000 a Year to Start
- 2-Year Nurse Scholarship
- Tax-Free School Stipend of $100—month
- Flight Duty
- World Wide Travel
- Excellent Advancement Opportunities

Contact:

MAJOR RICHARDSON

5-2437

Dickinson Hall — Room 205

SPECIAL BUSES DIRECT

TO MADISON SQUARE GARDEN FOR NIT GAME TUES MARCH 15

UMASS vs. VILLANOVA

PETER PAN BUSES WILL LEAVE CAMPUS CENTER AT 1:00PM

ROUND TRIP TRANSPORTATION $10.50

TICKETS AND INFO AVAILABLE AT PETER PAN COUNTER 3RD FLOOR CAMPUS CENTER

CALL 545-2006

Rimwomen stunned in Eastern tourney

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

STORRS, Ct. — It wasn't supposed to happen. It shouldn't have happened. But it happened.

The UMass women's basketball team saw its season come to an abrupt and unexpected halt Friday morning at the hands of a team which the Minutewomen had dominated twice earlier this year.

Springfield College pulled off its second straight upset of the Eastern Regionals as it edged UMass, 66-64, here in the quarter-final round of the 16-team tournament.

For the Minutewomen, it was a heartbreaking way to end what had been an exciting season. And for the Chiefs, it was a chance to avenge 19 and 22-point regular season losses to UMass.

Top-seeded Southern Connecticut recaptured the title it had lost to Queens last year by beating the Knights, 83-30, in the championship game Saturday afternoon. Springfield finished fourth as it was demolished by St. John's, 70-48, in the third-place game.

But the Minutewomen, seeded third, were knocked off by an emotionally charged and unseeded Chiefs quintet and bowed out with a final 18-5 record.

Springfield was led to its win by Laurie Smith and Mary Regan, who combined for 46 points and proved to be a devastating inside-outside combination. Lori Smith also hit double figures for the Chiefs with 10.

UMass, meanwhile, received an unbelievable offensive performance from Sue Henry. She bombed away all day from downtown and hit for 24 points in a display reminiscent of a regular season game against Southern Connecticut. Lu-Ann Fletcher chipped in with 12 points on some good inside play.

But what proved fatal to the Minutewomen were the poor showings of Sue Peters and Nancy O'Neil.

Peters, who led UMass during the regular season in scoring with a 16.9 per game average, was never a factor in this one. She managed only seven points as her shooting touch was way off kilter. All of her scoring was done in the second half.

O'Neil, on the other hand, got into early foul trouble. She collected her third just 4:18 into the game, and then picked up her fourth with 5:27 left before intermission. She consequently was forced to adopt the role of spectator for much of the action and scored only four points, also well below her average.

Even with two starts experiencing differing miseries, it appeared for a long while that it wasn't going to matter. Keyed by Henry's perimeter pops and Fletcher and Maura Supinski's (seven points) inside work, the Minutewomen held a 30-23 halftime lead.

After Springfield took a 21-20 edge with 4:50 left on a Sherry Sanborn layin, UMass went to work and outscored the chiefs, 10-2, to seem in control at the midway mark.

The Minutewomen extended it to 10 (35-25) at the 18:28 mark of the second half on two Chris Basile (six points and good defensive work) baskets and a Peters free throw. Springfield countered with an eight-point string as Smith, who was to score 17 second-half points, scored two baskets and Cindy Lapointe added two hoops.

After the Chief comeback, UMass again went up by nine (44-35) with 11:37 left as it outscored Springfield 9-2 over a four minute span.

Smith then apparently decided to take matters into her own hands and scored 12 of Springfield's next 18 points. The Chiefs used her hot touch to jump out to a 53-51 lead with five minutes left.

The margin kept seesawing back and fourth until with 1:25 to play, it looked like curtains for the Minutewomen as Springfield held a 63-58 lead.

But Henry hit on a drive and then Smith put in one of two foul shots to make the scoreboard read 64-60 Springfield, with 47 seconds left.

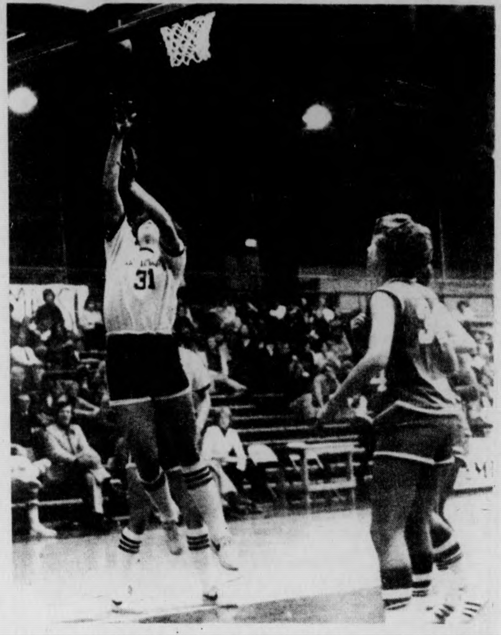
It was Henry again from the baseline with 38 seconds to play to cut the gap to a hoop, and then Peters made an unbelievable defensive play. She bounced the ball off a Chief's face out of bounds to give UMass control again.

Fletcher then hit perhaps the biggest basket of her life on a gorgeous reverse layin to tie things up with 15 seconds left.

After a Springfield timeout, Sanborn lofted the inbounds pass downcourt to Regan, who streaked ahead of the field for a layin to give the Chiefs their win. A last second UMass shot rolled off the rim with a second left, and it was over.

Over it was. The best season ever for UMass women's basketball had come to a premature halt. There will be no trip to the Nationals in Minnesota, and no trophy will come home to campus. It's finished.

But somehow it doesn't seem like it is.



Maura Supinski, shown here, laying one in against Southern Connecticut, was a leading rebounder in both tournament games. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

SPRINGFIELD (66) — Smith 11-3-25; Regan 7-7-21; Wood 1-0-2; Clark 5-0-10; Lapointe 2-0-4; Sanborn 2-0-4. TOTALS: 28-10-66.

UMASS (64) — Henry 12-0-24; O'Neil 2-0-4; Fletcher 6-0-12; Basile 3-0-6; Supinski 3-1-7; Carey 2-0-4; Peters 2-3-7. TOTALS: 30-4-64.

Gymwomen finish third; Jones, Cantwell superb

By LAURA BASSETT
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's gymnastics team added to its successful season with a third place finish at Easterns held at Towson State over the weekend.

The gymwomen's total score of 144.30 was their best this season as they finished behind top seeded Clarion State which posted a score of 149.0 and second seed Penn State which totaled 147.50 points. Springfield College rounded out the top four of 14 teams with a 136.50 total.

Stephanie Jones finished fifth in the all-around competition with a total of 36.60. The top four finishers were as expected from Penn State and Clarion.

Ann Carr of PSU held off Carrie Englert of Clarion for the individual crown. Carr totaled 38.10 to Englert's 37.95. Defending national champion Connie Jo Israel of Clarion finished third with a 37.45 and Karen Schuckman of PSU finished fourth.

Jones finished in a tie for third in vaulting and sixth on the bars and beam. "Stephanie continued to do really well for us," commented coach Virginia Evans.

Susan Cantwell finished seventh in the individual contest with a personal best of 36.45. She outscored all of her teammates during preliminaries but had a little more trouble during the finals. Cantwell qualified for finals competition in vaulting, floor exercise and beam in the finals. Her best performance came with her season high 9.3 performance on the floor.

Jill Heggie finished eighth in the all-arounds with a 36.25 total. "Jill had a good meet even though she

TURN TO PAGE 15

Susan Cantwell had plenty to 'beam' about this weekend as she came through with one of her best performances of the season in the Eastern championships. (Staff photo by John Sideropoulos)

Men place fifth

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

WEST POINT, N.Y. — Despite some fine individual performances, particularly from Dave Kulakoff on sidehorse and John Forshay on floor exercise, the UMass men's gymnastics team fell short of its season-ending hopes as the Minutemen placed fifth in the Eastern Championships held here at the U.S. Military Academy over the weekend.

The Minutemen, who entered the championships seeking a third-place finish, scored 169.35 in the compulsory exercises and 194.7 in the optionals.

So. Connecticut State College, an Eastern powerhouse in men's gymnastics, won the championship with scores of 212.95 in the compulsories and 217.05 in the optionals. Finishing behind So. Conn. were Temple, Springfield, Army, UMass, Navy and Syracuse respectively.

"We hurt ourselves in the compulsory exercises," UMass coach Dick Swetman said. "We really didn't have that much experience going into the Eastern's because we never had to use them during our regular season.

"This was the only meet we had to use them in, and our inexperience with them showed in our score. A better performance in that area and we could have probably finished third."

Kulakoff was the only member of the UMass men's gymnastics team to qualify for the nationals to be held in two weeks out at Arizona St., as he won the sidehorse competition with a total score of 18.65.

"Dave just had a super meet," Swetman said. "He simply dominated the competition in the sidehorse, as his next competitor scored only 17.7."

Other than Kulakoff, Forshay was the only other Minuteman to reach the final competition. Forshay, who has missed most of the season with a knee injury, reached the finals in the floor exercise where he finished fifth and in vaulting where he took seventh place.

With his fifth place finish in the floor exercise, Forshay just missed qualifying for the nationals by two, since only the top three competitors in each event qualify.

His total score in the floor exercise was 17.7 and in vaulting he scored 17.55.

Although his team didn't finish as high in the standings as it would have liked to, Swetman had nothing but praise for his gymnasts.

"I am really proud of the way we pulled together," he said. "After slumping at the end of our regular season, we seemed to pull everything together for the Eastern's.

"I thought that this may have been our best meet of the season. The scoring for the meet was very difficult, but I thought we finished in fairly good shape."

In the all-around competition, Paul Marks and Angelo Scuderi placed eighth and tenth respectively.

"Paul was unable to perform in top form because of a hand injury he has," Swetman said, "so he was forced to miss some of the events."

"Scuderi also performed as well as possible as his shoulder injury also limited his routines. Angelo has shown a lot of coverage in the last couple of meets because he has been performing in a lot of pain."

If there was anything for his young team to gain out of the weekend championship, Swetman feels the experience alone of competing in such a setting is very valuable.

"We are a very young team," he said, "and some of our guys weren't familiar with the atmosphere of competition. It made our guys think about what to work on for the next season."

BREAK THE CHAIN OF OPPRESSION THROUGH UNITY

NUMMO NEWS

A Black News Service Publication

Nummo News is the power of the spoken and written word. The Black News Service strongly believes that our newspaper will speak the truth of the protractive struggle of black people.

VOLUME III, ISSUE V

Tyson For CO-PRESIDENCY

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

Herb Tyson

Herb Tyson along with John Foley, is a candidate for the office of student government president. Herb is a Black student from Potomac, Maryland, a residential suburb of Washington, D.C. This is his first year here at UMass. He is a declared Political Science Major but plans to change to Economics.

Herb Tyson's involvement in the SGA is one of admiration. He has served on the Senate and on the Senate Budgets Committee for a full year. He is one of the three third world members of the committee. One of the co-chairs, Ken Noel, was elected to that position after John Foley resigned in order to help run the campaign and to get a Third World person on the coordinating committee. Herb Tyson is also an organizer in the Economic Development Committee and work on various other projects. The Foley-Tyson ticket maintains that their ticket is the best choice that the student body has. They feel that they can act as advocates for the student body and work for student interests.

Some of the main themes of their platform are: The UniversityBudget. The student body can and should have direct input into the Budgeting Process. As Co-Presidents we will voice with vigor the indicated needs of the students. Only by a coordinated effort and knowledge of students and student organizations on this campus and around the whole state can we hope for a meaningful and worthwhile victory for Public Schools in this state.

Student Services We have shown that we have the capacity and the resources to start and maintain viable student services. Some examples of student create and run services are the Credit Union, an auto body workshop, a food market and an easy Rider Transportation Network. By expanding present services in demand now and by creating new services we can provide more student jobs (work-study and Non-Work Study), we can create a more independent university economy free of area merchants. Best of all is that co-ops are easy and inexpensive to start, cheap in price and generate revenue.

Relationship with the Administration. When the students and the Administration's interests coincide then we would welcome support and give support to the administration. However, when our interests differ we Must advocate the needs of the Student Body. If Hite and Batiste work as advisors we will take several steps backwards on the road to Student Equality.

Incorporation and Unionization We shant promise you a union in one year however we believe that with our effective leadership we can lay the foundation of a student union. Incorporation is one way in which we could do this. Our primary goals are the education of ourselves (the student body) on all the aspects of incorporation and unionization and how they affect YOU as a student, and legal recognition.

Communication No matter what we are doing the most important thing to had is communication. We need a close rapport with the student body. The Presidents can no longer afford to be isolated from the entire body. We must be informed as to the needs of students and set up an ombudsperson to field any questions or complaints about the University.

Affirmative Action We will never have an organized united student body until we wage an aggressive war against the rampant racism and sexism on campus and in our community. We must lobby the Governors Judiciary Advisory Council for pardons for our brothers Robert Earl Brown and Craemen Gethers. The Senate itself must be swept clean along with all of its agencies. We expected the cooperation of the entire Student Senate.

The Student Body also needs an employees information desk dealing with employee information and complaints.

LATIN AMERICA WEEK BEGINS

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

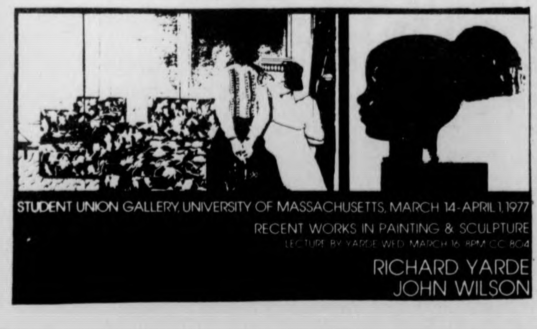
Latin American Weeks is a tradition that began in 1972 when the first few Hispanic students joined the population of Third World people at the University of Massachusetts. It is sponsored by AHORA!, the Hispanic students organization.

This week AHORA! has brought some respected artists and scholars to the University of Massachusetts. The week began with a concert performed by Lucecita and continued with a special day of activities for children. Several events will take place in the next few days.

All Black students are encouraged to participate and share in the celebration of Latino culture. Latinos at UMass are bilingual and someone will gladly translate the linguistic portions that are conducted in Spanish.

Monday, March 14, 7:30 p.m. Herter 231. Speaker: Isis Duarte. Topic: The Struggles of the People of the Dominican Republic.

Tuesday, March 15, 7 p.m. Hampden Dining Common, Southwest. Diana Ramos, Dance Workshop.



STUDENT UNION GALLERY, UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, MARCH 14-APRIL 1, 1977
RECENT WORKS IN PAINTING & SCULPTURE
LECTURE BY YARDE WED MARCH 16 8PM CC 804
RICHARD YARDE
JOHN WILSON

AMEN! Members of Diane Ramos' Dance Theatre rehearse "Great God Almighty," a piece they will perform tomorrow at 7:00 in the Southwest Performing Center. Be there!

Where Does It Come From?

By SALVADOR GRAU

During the last few months the University of Massachusetts has been conducting, throughout its different departments, an auto evaluation, supposedly oriented towards uncovering the last strongholds of sex discrimination on campus. During these months statistics have been compiled, procedures for recruitment and promotion have been reviewed and the opinions of the involved employees and students have been elicited through public hearings.

The image that "something is being done" against sex discrimination is being projected. Some women could be tempted to fall for it. As a matter of fact, during a recent survey, specifically the questionnaire administered by the Provost Office to the Labor Relations and Research Center Student Caucus, an interesting situation broke out that could illustrate this point. An argument of emotional undertone between fellow students of the opposite sex followed some of the questions, as the survey was being conducted, and for several meetings after. However, the point is not the methodology used for the survey, as important as that is for the results or conclusions to be derived from it.

The point is that, on the spur of the moment, instead of being able to distinguish between the source of the evil and its manifestations, some colleagues were precipitated into mistaking the former for the latter. My opinion is that this particular occurence is one that is generally encouraged, either implicitly or explicitly depending on the needs of the moment for the benefiting party. My guess is that the "third party" in question which is the benefiting one could not care less whether discrimination is or is not taking place, so long as stability in the economic system is not altered.

Take for instance racism, another form of discrimination, the roots of which are precisely of the same source as those of sex discrimination: in a socio-economic structure which is based on inequity. If we accept this premise, we can understand that white people are not racists because they are white and to be racist is the will of white people. This is manifest in the fact that there are white people who are daily joining the struggle of the blacks to free society of this execrable disclosure of absolute ignorance.

Similarly, discrimination for reasons of sex (which by the way is, as in the previous example, an additional manifestation of the discrimination which from day to day the working class suffers, irrespective of the color or sex of its integrants) had its origins in the socio-economic structure. From this point of view, men are not male supremacists because they are men. They are such because the socialization process forms them this way. As in the previous example forces must be joined to erradicate this expression of utter ignorance that makes for sex discriminiation.

The two examples presented above are not exhaustive. Everybody knows that in the United States discrimination has many concrete social forms, i.e., against foreigners, against native Americans, against poor whites, to mention a few. These are just expressions of what imperialist societies (that is the ruling class), have stimulated throughout history to maintain their hegemony. They are not causes in themself but mere manifestations. This does not by any means exclude the need to struggle to eliminate them. Much to the contrary. The only way to start building a just society is to struggle against the evils of the one we're in. Social change does not come about by convincing academically an opponent that his practices are wrong. It comes about by concrete struggle, which at times aquires forms that range from physical imposition to constructive dialogue.

With our main enemy, the socio-economic imperialist structure and its aplogists and defenders, we can not be linient. With our potential allies however, we can not let the manipulations of the enemy alienate them from our struggle for a just society. We must pave the way for constructive dialogue.

To end on the starting note, we must not fall for the sex discrimination evaluation in the direction that the Labor Relations and Research Center Student Caucus hinted on. The same applies for the other forms of discrimination mentioned. We must always be cautious so as to be able to descriminate between our enemy and our potential ally.

NOTICE

All Black organizations are asked to send their representatives to the next Steering Committee meeting which will be Monday, April 4, 1977 on the second floor lounge in New Africa House. The topic of this meeting will be tightening up of all the organizations and to start to prepare for next year.

If there are any questions please contact the Black Cultural Center, 545-0794. Hope to see you there. Time: 4:30 p.m.

CCEBS
Afro-American Society
Drum
WBLK
Upward Bound
Dept. Afro-Am. Studies
Asian American Society
Nummo News
Black Mass Communications Project
Che Lumumba School
Black Cultural Center
Black Scientist Association

Attention

In reference to a misprint last week, March 7.

The article appeared in Nummo entitled "Patriot Idi Amin", by Kathe Sandler. The entire Nummo News staff wishes to extend its sincere apologies to Sister Kathe for having printed the title of her article incorrectly. The title should have read "Idi Amin - Madman or Patriot?" And to all of our reading audience who may have been disturbed by this error, we extend our apologies also, Sister Kathe we thank you for your support and look forward to working much closer with you in the near future.

Sincerely
Nummo News

Break Up To Make Up

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

If it hadn't been for the fact that he knew he could have prevented the whole catastrophe, maybe it wouldn't have hurt him so badly. Maybe his insides wouldn't churn as much at the very thought of his marriage, if he had reached to save it much sooner. They had been married exactly two years and six months. At least they were physically bound together by a marriage contract that long. Actually they had divorced each other mentally over a year ago. To look at them together gave one a feeling of truly a blessed sight, indeed. Their sincere and generous nature glowed on their faces and complimented each other when they were together. So what negative force could possibly come within such a serene atmosphere? But it did ... There are several possibilities as to the derivation of the destructive seed that killed the love between these two people. Maybe they should backtrace and perhaps be successful in locating their original mistake.

They had been going together for a year but they knew they were ver much in love a week after they had met. But time just reassured them that their heart throbs when they saw each other were dictating to them correctly. After sneaking and making love almost every night of the week, the thrill of doing something daring soon left them for they no longer snuck to make love. They decided the magnetic bonds between them were too strong to keep apart for long. And why should they be kept apart anyway?

So they tied a knot they thought was eternal. The wedding was distintly memorable in every aspect from the taste of the icing on the cake to the detailed attire of the main feature ... the bride and groom. She radiated more light than the sun beaming on sheer crystal. He absorbed that light and returned to his lovely bride the warmest of rays that she had ever felt.

The honeymoon was exactly that of the stereotyped honeymoon ... but generally it never turns out that way. It was fantastic. New feelings and emotions would arise the longer they tightly embraced in each others arms. It was almost as if, their bodies were covered with tiny sensitivity buttons. And both of them knew exactly which of their partner's buttons to push to get the kind of reaction they wanted. It was all too real. The atmosphere was just too sweet. How can your emotions fail you?

Only when they're interpreted incorrectly.

They lived a married life for over a year and a half, complimenting and over loving each other for six months straight. The situation became such where even constructive criticism was ignored. After six months of living together, they had both begun to see the negativity in each other. But neither would say anything about their grievances. They loved each other tod much for that. And besides they could seriously hurt their partner's feelings. They could feel tiny aggravations eating away at their systems daily. Subconsciously, they were growing to hate each other. But they felt they couldn't or shouldn't change their relationship. It was so beautiful in the beginning. If they attempted to change things it might destroy everything. He could see a need for a change in their lives long before she could. However, he suppressed the different cries within him dying to be released. He could see serious difficulties ahead if nothing wa done. But he would have had to take definite risks. Sacrifice would have to be made and changes could require a lot of time and work. He was too afraid to risk something good for something possibly much better. But they loved each other very much. If their love was so strong could it not withstand the test of any competition or change? How much faith did they really have in their relationship? Did they truly love each other? If they did, why didn't either of them want to sacrifice what they had for something possibly much better? The fear of change destroyed the love between them. Nothing of any value comes easy. You have to fight to get something valuable and you have to fight even harder to keep it. It was not a lack of faith within each other that destroyed their heaven. It started as a lack of faith within their individual selves. May the wedding band of life be based of solid gold and polished to a reflecting awareness for you and your loved one.

Sincerely,
Karien Zachery

THE BRIGHT LIGHT OF BORICUA:
Lucecita

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

Boriuca, the name given by the original people of Puerto Rico to the island, has brought forth a brilliant and talented singer, Lucecita. Lucecita performed at the Campus Center Auditorium Saturday, March 12 to an audience of over 800 people.

The woman's dynamic talent and stated support of the liberation of oppressed people drew bus loads of Hispanic and progressive peoples from throughout the Commonwealth. Significantly the event closed the activities of International Woman's Week, which has celebrated the struggles and accomplishments of women around the world, and opened a series of cultural programs for Latin American Week. Lucecita's performance was an act of solidarity uniting the struggle for the liberation of all women with the struggle of the people of Latin America.

Saturday night, the dynamic singer, Lucecita, who was born in Bayamon, Puerto Rico brought to us the beautiful music of several of "Latino" America's revolutionary poets and composers. She interpreted works by Antonjo Caban singing career she has made fifteen albums which have brought her Vale, Sylvia Rexach and Pablo Neruda, among others. In each rendition she involved the people of the audience who responded passionately to the emotions her musical interpretations evoke.

She sang "Antonia", a song about a young Puerto Rican woman at a University demonstration for independence who was killed by the random shooting of the police; she sang "Verduluz", an expression of the Puerto Rican's longing for the captive national homeland; and she sang "This Song Will Not End Here," an indication that the Puerto Rican people are determined to persist in the struggle for a liberated nation.

Lucecita, is an artist, in the tradition of Paul Robeson. Her exquisite talent has given her access to the privileges rendered by corporate power to performers and she has rejected these rewards. Instead Lucecita has chosen to make use of her artistry and her reknown in the service of her people.

In the early 1960's she received several international rewards for her interpretation of a broad range of cultural arrangements. During her great popular acclaim.

In the 1970's she brought her social and political beliefs into her work. She began singing the music of poets and composers who had committed themselves to the liberation of oppressed people. She sang the songs and music of Antonio Machado, Joan Manuel Serrat, Miguel Hernandez, Sylvia Rexach, Atahualpa Yupanqui and others.

When Lucecita articulated the aspiration of Puerto Rican people to have a free and sovereign nation the media, the promoters and corporations attempted to arrest her singing career. At one point they even went so far as to have her arrested on false charges of possession of marijuana. She was acquitted of these charges but has continued to be persecuted for her political beliefs.

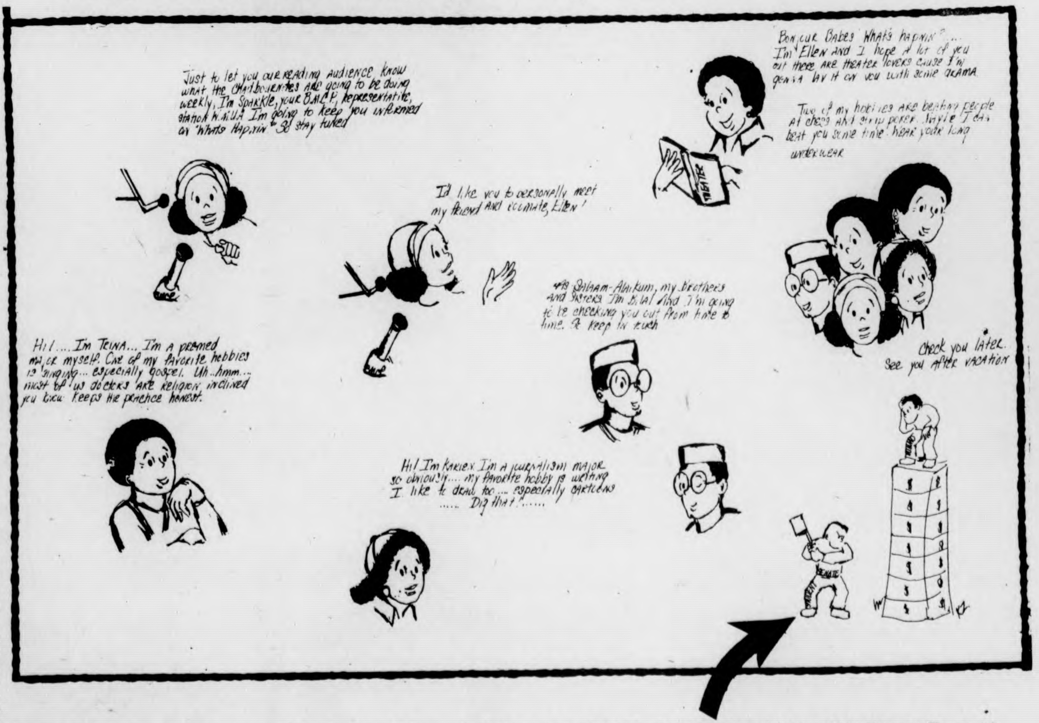
In this concert, Lucecita has made an important cultural contribution. Pedro Rivera Toleda, the gifted compositional arranger who worked with Lucecita to develop this concert, and the four instrumentalists who accompany her performance have given us an articulation of the culture of Puerto Rican and other Latin American people. They have done a good work. This concert has carried forward our struggle to repossess our culture and given shape to the vision of the future.

Lucecita's concert and the work of the individuals and organizations that made it possible has turned a bad thing (the attempted blockade of culture) into a good thing. It is one more demonstration that people who dare to struggle, dare to win. Lucecita, bright light of Boricua, the Peoples of Amherst commend you. Our struggle continues!

Boricua is the native name for Puerto Rico.

Lucecita means little light.

The Chadbournites: by Karien Zachery



Just to let you our reading audience know what the Chadbournites are going to be doing weekly, I'm Sparkle, your B.M.C.P. representative, station W.M.U.A I'm going to keep you informed on "Whats Hapnin" So stay tuned
I'd like you to personally meet my friend and roomate, Ellen!
Bonjour Babes What's hapnin?... I'm Ellen and I hope a lot of you out there are theater lovers cause I'm gonna lay it on you with some drama
Two of my hobbies are beating people at chess and strip poker. Maybe I can beat you some time. Wear your long underwear
THEATER
As Salaam-Alaikum, my brothers and sisters I'm Bilal and I'm going to be checking you out from time to time. & keep in touch
Hi!... I'm Trina... I'm a premed major myself. One of my favorite hobbies is singing... especially gospel. Uh..hmm... most of us doctors are religion inclined you know. Keeps the practice honest.
Hi! I'm Karien I'm a journalism major so obviously.... my favorite hobby is writing I like to draw too.... especially cartoons ...... Dig that!......
Check you later. See you after vacation
SENATE
STUDENT
NUMMO

Why is the Student Senate Budget Committee holding its annual funding meeting with Nummo News at 12:00 MIDNIGHT TONIGHT. Word's out that the senate is planning to cut Nummo's Funds like crazy. How much visible community support can Nummo News get at that hour? All members of the Third World Community are urged to be present if possible. MIDNIGHT - DUKE'S ROOM - STUDENT UNION.

International Women's Week

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

Last week was one of the most lively and entertaining weeks that has hit UMass campus in a long time. From the Betty Carter concert to the ALL WOMEN'S DISCO, right down to Lucecita Benitez concert, the WOMEN really did it up.

The week opened with concert of Ms. Betty Carter. The eloquence, richness and vivacity of her voice set the tone for the days to come. Ms. Bella Abzug, the flashy hat wearing, former congresswomen from New York State gave a speech stressing more women involvement in politics and other issues.

Betty Carter

Barbara Sizemore

The energetic voice of Ms. Barbara Sizemore was heard at the Student Union Ballroom. Ms. Sizemore spoke on the political, social and educational problems the people of Washington, D.C. face. Ms. Sizemore was accompanied by Helen Rodriguez and Madonna Gilbert. Sterilization Abuse, especially that of Puerto Rico, was the topic of Ms. Rodriguez speech. Ms. Gilbert spoke on the plight of the Native American women and the problems confronting all Native American people.

Helen Rodriguez .

The week was clustered with workshops that dealt with issues such as: women and politics, women and labor, single women, women and men, and other topics. 'Cultural Revolution' was the theme of Grace Lee Boggs' speech at the Campus Center. Ms. Boggs is a member of an organization called the Advocates which is based in Detroit, Michigan.

The finally was another concert which featured the mellifluous sounds of Ms. Lucecita Benitez. An outspoken advocate for Puerto Rican people, Ms. Benitez performed at the Campus Center Auditorium Saturday night.

Diana Ramos

International Women's Week meant a lot more than entertainment. It was a week in which women could come together and continue to prove, as they have been all along, they are more than just pawns in this male dominated society. The women had a chance to bring together their courage, strength, intelligence, expertise and imagination. It was a week in which women from many different professions, could gather and focus their attentions collectively on their bid for the liberation of all women. I personally look forward to the day when there will be no need for International Women's Week. When this time arrives we will know for sure that all the women of the world are truly as free and equal as men are. We of the Nummo News staff would like to thank all the sisters of the Third World Community for making International Women's Week the success that it was.

Vertae Mae Grosvenor

Terrell Evans
Nummo News Staff

Two poets reading various phrases from collections of very well knows artists.

Madonna Gilbert

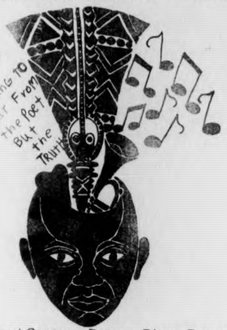
Poetry put to words.

Sister Brant

SMITH ART EXHIBIT

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

An Art Exhibit kicked off the festivities at Smith College this past weekend. The exhibit was sponsored by the Black Student Alliance



YOU Have Nothing TO fear From the Poet But the TRUTH and was held at The Cultural Center for the Arts Gambit at Smith College.

The showing did not have a major theme other than of being black in substance and presenting an aspect of Black Life. All the work presented a very strong and positive view of Black and Third World People. This in itself held everything together because there weren't any weaknesses in terms of presentation and technical executions of the works.

The artists were from the Five College area, which include Jimmy Pickett Jr - UMass, Frieda Jones - UMass, Bernice Robinson - UMass, Kenny [illegible] - UMass, Dana DEBarros - UMass, and Eshu from Hampshire College.

For those who missed the exhibit they missed a beautiful and positively progressive showing of works that were true in spirit and united through overall similarities.

The second part of the show consisted of Dance Music and Poetry. Diane Ramos and three of her students from UMass did a Dance Production Intitled "Great God". Kaye Davis of Smith College sang three of her own original tunes accompaning herself on the guitar.

All the poetry was original work by the artists. Joan Leonard, Hope Morgan, Lucy Holland all attend Smith College and Amina Merritt from Amherst. The poetry range went from Romantic to Progressive.

There was a rendition of 'Isn't it a shame' by Labelle sung by lead singer Joan Joplin, she was accompanied By Genesis Choir of Smith.

At the close the poets singers and dancers were called up and introduced to the audience by Coordinator Leslie Jones, they received a very gracious round of applause from a appreciative audience.

Crisis and Control

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

On Thursday (March 3, 1977) a forum was held at Hasbrouck Auditorium on "The Politics of Crisis and Control". The first speaker featured was Ken Dolbeare, a professor of political science at UMass, who spoke on the strategies of the government and American businesses to maintain U.S. power at home and abroad under the Carter administration. Mr. Dolbeare pointed out that the Carter cabinet is made up of members or former members of the trilateral committee. The trilateral committee was established to look after the economic interests of Western Europe, Japan, Canada and the United States. The other speaker featured was Nan Seshibe, a South African who spoke on the U.S. government and corporate involvement in South Africa.

According to Ms. Seshibe, "the South African government could have crumbled had it not been for the aid supplied by the United States during the crisis of last summer in Soweto." The United States supplied the necessary economic benefits that enabled the regime of John Vorster to stand on its feet. U.S. banks and their overseas subsidiaries have supplied South Africa with 2 billion dollars to cover her losses when the price of gold dropped.

South Africa is a strategic point for the survival of democracy-capitalism, that the western world has to maintain because of its failure in Angola and Mozambique. It is apparant that the South African government could not survive without the support of United States corporations. The foreign policy of the United States is dedicated to the interests of U.S. businesses abroad and with the present make-up of the Carter administration it will be interesting to see how the South African situation is handled. As long as American corporations continue to make super profits at the expense of the oppression of blacks in South Africa, the government will continue to support the present South African government.

THE WORKS OF CAROL BYARD

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

For those of us who heard that Kuumba (Creativity) in the form of ink and pastel creations, was at the Student Union Art Gallery, this past week till Friday, caught interpretations on the conditions of Black America by Carole Byard.

Paintings like "Idaka Believes in Spirits" is one of her most celebrated works, having been the cover of an issue of Black Creations. "Dream Mother," a lithograph which floats out of the frame, is another.

Working mainly in ink and spurts of pastel, her works are soft, mediative yet explosive.

"If I Could", a sister with outstretched arms and fingers opened in a hocus pocus I got your soul position, speaks on freedom. So does "Certain Inalienable Rights" a lithograph-pastel piece of a profiled sister screaming her guts out in front of a raggedy American flag.

I was struck by "Lobotomy I", a human transition, which shows a brother going from angry to mindless.

Carole Byard is a Black woman who reaches into souls and situations of Black people and grasps truth, horror and beauty.

The works of Brother Richard Yarde and Brother John Wilson are now on exhibit at the Student Union Art Gallery until April 1st. Do check it out!

NOTES FROM PRISON

by Muhammed Ahmed

With all the talk of Black Power people taking over their communities there has been little program developed in which the entire community can become involved.

The vast majority of African Americans after ten years of mass demonstrations and slogans have still not become involved in the movement. The movement has not reached them because it has failed to show them day to day organization and program. The movement as of yet has not developed in detail how to get Black Power. Then in order that twenty two million of us become involved in the movement, the learders must develop a program that will give the masses organizational power.

In order for any group to become powerful or seize power they must be organized. The Irish, Jews, Italians and others were all powerless until they organized .Organizational power means being united into a force, it means being organized in-or behind a movement or organization. Organizational power is when the people know their history and their enemies' historr and are trained to support the movement and to move all at one time in unity: — this unity among the people to move as a block is organizational power. In order to be orgaizned to obtain power the people have to know the programof the movement aad have to be united. Then the key question is how do we unite and organize twenty two million African Americans behind a program of a movement.

The first step is to appeal to all segments of Black America to unite behind a practical program. A step towards this was the Neward, New Jersey Black Power Conference, but to further wage a practical program the Black Power leaders should unite and form a Black United Front (National Liberation Front). This front after defining the status of African Americans then should draft a point for point program.

The oppression of the African American is very similar to that of other dark peoples that have suffered from the yoke colonialism. The African American is a coloonized African nation held in captivity within the boundaries of the United States. Instead of the United States colonializing an African nation in Africa, it brought is colony within its own boundaries.

From the very beginning of slavery to the present, the African American has not been accepted as equal by the caucasian majority. Even during times of reconstruction the caucasian majority was afraid to allow the African Americans and white radicals after the civil was confiscation of the slave plantations owners land to be handed over to the freedmen — divided into forty acres a piece. This would have created an agrarian revolution giving the Black man land. The slogan 40 acres and a mule was raised and Thaddus Stevens even raised the question in the House of Representatives but the majority of caucasians feared that with control of the land and political representation the Black man would form a government of his own. Rather than risk this, many sought either to control the South outright or turn power back into the hands of the whites. Fear of Black control in the South has led to the formation of the Jim Crow system and mass caucasian terror on the part of the KKK.

For years, leaders have protested by various forms against the racist caste system in America but few have concentrated their efforts on building or uplifting the Black Nation. Few have concentrated on self help.Many have shun the self help appraoch because it was sometimes associated with the uncle tomish slogan of '''pull yourself up by your own bootstrap".

Booker T. Washington in the early 1900's was supported by caucasians to spread the concept of "pull yourself up by your own bootstraps" and not to strive for political equality but to accept the concept of separate but equal.

Booker T. Washington thought through the training of technical skills and obtaining of capital, the African American would eventually be respected and accepted by the caucasian. But the caucasian majority didn't accept the African American and Washington's concepts soon became known as uncle tomish.

Marcus Garvey in the 1920's improved on Booker T. Washington's concepts and introduced the concept of African nationalism which later became known as Black Nationalsimism. Garvey felt the African American would never gain civil equality in America and that the only way black people would be protected foom racial abuses by caucasians in this country and others, was by forming a strong independent African continental government. His vision was not mass migration back to Africa as often misunderstood but a spiritual and cultural roturn to Africa, the motherland, by all persons of African descent. He felt if all persons of African descent supported the central government, it would have the power to protect Black peoples throughout the world. Garvey's concept was a form of Black Zionism. He felt that a vanguard was needed to liberate the motherland and form the government. Garvey organized a Black Army for the purpose of liberating Africa, called the "African Legion", he also organized a nurse corps called the Black Cross Nurses, had the beginnings of a air force, motor corps and bought several ships to transport his vanguard to the mainland. Garvey organized the first truely national Black newspaper called the "Negro World". Through these measures Garvey organized approximately five million African. Americans into the U.N.I.A. — The Universal Negro Improvement Association. The Garvey movement begun to decline after Garvey was framed, jailed and later deported. Thus the Garvey movement gave a base for a new direction for self help, one of group pride, heritage, unity and power.

The basis of the new self help movement is economic and political unity in order to achieve Black Power. This means supporting African American businesses ans creating a move to gain total economic control of Black America; forming our own political coalitions to throw out those caucasians in political office in our neighborhoods who don't have our interests at heart. The only problem is unity. For years there has been a contradiction between the house slave (Bourgeoisie) and the field slave (soul brothers).

Since the first major captive revolt by Gabriel Prosssser in 1800, the house slave has betrayed the field slave. In 1821, when Demark Vesey planned his revolt, he was betrayed by a house slave; in August of 1831, when Nat Turner took his band of fity, armed with axes and clubs and within two nights took fifty heads, he was also betrayed by loyal slaves but ultimate failure of the revolt was due to the lack of discipline of his troops.

Black professionals betrayed and opposed Garvey, the only mass leader Black America has ever had. In order for Black America and the Black Bourgeoisie to survive, the house slave (black bourgeoisie) must join the ranks of the field sllve (sould brother).

The Role of the Black Professional

Some one hundred Negro college's house about one hundred and fifty thousand, students each year. But yet out of these college's one hundred and fifty thousand students, comes little talent or personalities to benefit the vast majority of African Americans.

Instead of a nationalist elite being produced from the colleges, comes a generation bent on extreme individualism, and assimulating into the caucasian society. As a result, talent, skills and knowledge does not get to the Black community but rather it helps sustain the caucasian society. So instead of developing a generation, orientated on helping the masses of Africanic Americans, the Negro college is producing black freaks, someone who has a black body and a white mind. The Negro coll iteege in its present sociological role is not serving the Black Nation in its struggle for Black Power but its functioning as a uncle tom whitewashing factory.

E. Franklin Frazier, the noted black sociologist, analyzed the values of the Negro colllege in his book, Black Bourgeoisie. The life of the Negro college is almost like that of a circus. Fraternities, sororities, in their pledging seasons perform like clowns. The Black professional trained in the Negro college develops a mentality of social irresponsibility to the Black Nation. Noted leaders and educators like Dr. DuBois, Marcus Garvey and E. Franklin Frazier are unheard of, unthought of and their memory all but and sometimes shunned. The Negro college encourages assimulation values. One of the main reasons for this is becase it's appeal to students is how successful its graduates have been in getting a piece of the pie out of the mainstream of American life.

Instead of producing an intelligentsia to help teach, organize and lead the masses of African Americans, the Negro college is producing a pseudo black bourgeoisie that is only

CONT. ON PAGE 6

WHAT ARE WE STRUGGLING FOR? THE AFRIKAN WOMEN'S QUESTION

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

The Universal Association of Ethiopian Women Position Paper on the National Question

What are we fighting for? What is the future of Black people existing in America? This question has become more and more of a burning issue within "the Black Movement" in the U.S.

There are three main viewpoints that are common to the struggle to this date. The first is that we are fighting for a "Socialist America" whereby all peoples would be united as one in a socialist society devoid of all racism and exploitation. The second sees Black people maintaining separate, autonomous political, economic, cultural and social) communities or city-states based on ujamaa within the context of the U.S. The third sees Black people as a Nation with the right of self-determination, as is the right of any nation, establishing an independent nation and participating in the process of smashing the U.S. system of racism, capitalism and imperialism.

The dynamics of racism in the United States have been grossly underestimated. Racism has been built into the foundation of U.S. society from its birth as bricks are made with straw.

The so-called "founding fathers" of this country when they spoke of the unalienable rights of man did not consider the Afrikan stolen into slavery as human beings who therefore were not considered to have rights to be respected. Many of these so-called giants owned slaves themselves.

The economic system of the U.S. thru the plantation system of the south upon which the northern industry was based was built upon the free labor of Afrikan men and women.

To this day Afrikan people in America have not been repaid for building the economic foundation upon which U.S. imperialism now stands.

The living standards of the European society and working class have been qualitatively raised by the free labor before 1861 and the underpayment since of Afrikans in the U.S.

The white working class which might have been progressive or revolutionary was co-opted and ticked into believing that it was the Afrikan (and other people of color) who was his enemy; instead of seeing the antagonisms inside European society both in the U.S. and in Europe.

The European working class has proved time and time again to be reactionary and openly collaborates with the European ruling class against Afrikan people. The "draft riots" of 1860 were not solely against the draft but northern European workers attacked in the streets and dragged out of their homes hundreds of Afrikans who they saw as taking their jobs and moving them out of their "comfortable" homes.

The period of Populism (from the 1880's to the early 20th century) was another case in point. Populism, the movement of small landowners to fight the growing monopolistic tendencies of America was supported by Black people; and Black people played a vital role in this movement. This is until white populists falling back on their racism, turned on them in the era of disenfranchisement, ousted them from the Populist Party and the movement and continued, as always, to vote against any progressive measures if they were sponsored by Afrikans.

In the 1930's, Black people fought for the formation and recognition of unions and then were refused membership by these same unions which later were co-opted into the camp of management.

In the 1960's, unions gave financial assistance to the civil rights movement until the movement came "up South" and began to demand jobs, better pay, better living and working conditions and entrance into the unions for Afrikan people. In 1968 Martin Luther King was assassinated while helping to lead the struggle for union recognition of Black garbage workers in Memphis.

In 1974, in Philadelphia, Pa., a home in the Kensington section was completely destroyed by white youths when it was remored that a family of color was to move into that white working class area.

The dynamics of racism, which is much more ingrained, institutionalized than prejudice and discrimination reach even further than the boundaries of the inherently racis U.S. While the social, political, educational, and economic achievements of Cuba are testament to the necessity of building a socialist society, racism still does exist. One could never tell that there are much more than a handful of Black Cubans by looking at the government, the Central Committee of the Party or even the national radio station.

In the 1960's there were numerous incidents of Afrikan students being attacked in Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, or in the mother country of socialism, the U.S.S.R. for dancing with white women. While these socialist countries may have progressive or even "revolutionary" laws on the books, racism is still very much alive.

In 1935, Afrikans around the world were aghast by revelations that Stalin had sold oil to Benito Mussolini during Italy's fascist invasion of Ethiopia.

Time and time again, the Communist Party U.S.A. has allowed itself to be manipulated on the "Negro Question" for Russian national interests.

So that what is being said is that one can destroy capitalism and create a socialist state and still find racism healthy, virile and possibly rampant.

As of yet there has been no clarification of what form this, struggle for a "socialist America" will take. It has been said that "Black workers must take the lead". The question is as what, and of what form is all of this to occur? Of what are Black workers to take the lead of? A united front? A liberation front? A party? As what will Black workers take the lead? On all levels of whatever organization? As the army? The cannonfodder? And what form is this "socialist America" to take? What form will it take to ensure that the racism historically rampant within the politically backwards European working class of the U.S. will be wiped out? It has become a common saying inside the Black community — that "they ain't never gonna legislate morality". In other words, because laws are passed does not mean that individual racism, which reinforces institutional racism, will be destroyed. Institutions do not create themselves, nor do they fall out of the sky; they are created by man. Non-racist institutions are not created by racist men.

Black people in the U.S. constitute a nation by virtue of the history and oppression suffered by Afrikans in the U.S.A.; the common culture and life style which we have developed by merely existing here — a culture of resistance to European physical and psychological violent upon us and one of accommodation to those things positive to our existence. Common political and economic exploitation as a people have rained on Afrikans in the U.S. from slavery to the neo-colonial "anti-poverty" pacification program which usurps the indigenous leadership and political institutions inside the Black Nation.

Not only do Afrikans in the U.S. constitute a nation, but we are a nation colonized inside of the so-called "mother country". We are a colony. Exorbitant profits are made off Black people thru inhuman overpopulated and over-priced housing. High priced, low quality food and cheap over priced clothing are the same. The only commodity that the Black Nation "exports" is cheap labor. Black people work the longest, dirtiest, lowest paid jobs, are historically the "last hired, first fired". The Afrikan Nation in the confines of the U.S. has provided the United States with its serve force. We are its surplus labor — Black unemployment is virtually always twice that of the U.S. national unemployment rate. Thirty-nine percent of Black youth are not working. This does not take into account those who have given up looking for work. Black men and women railroaded into prison detention are paid pennies for long hours of forced labor.

The economy in the Black Nation is separate but subservient to the main economy of the U.S. There are separate job markets, separate consumer good produced by the larger European oppressor nation specifically for "the Negro" which is neither produced, nor distributed by the Afrikan Nation here. All labor is done for the benefit of foreign companies, who pay lower wages and who turn the profit into further exploitation of the colonized nation. Because companies can force Afrikan workers into lower wages not as individuals, but as a group, the work levels and living standards of white workers are raised onto the backs of Afrikan people. Thus a ceiling is created above which the Black Nation cannot rise above and which the European oppressor uses as its floor or base.

CONT. ON PAGE 6

Women's Question - con't.

CONT. FROM PAGE 5

The monies made by Afrikans goes right back into the colonizer's economy because the sub-human food, shelter and cheap clothing are all produced, distributed and retailed by the oppressor or colonizing nation.

In order to allow the colony — the nation of Afrikans in "America" autonomy within itself, the colonizing nation must cut loose its industrial reserve force, let the floor of the white worker fall, and give up the super profits made by the labor in the mills, factories, plants and points of production of Afrikans.

The imperialist continuous need for "grab and gobble" will not allow for this to happen. As Third World peoples continue to cut themselves away from the U.S. and refuse to serve as markets or sources of raw materials and minerals, the U.S. system of racism and capitalism will seek to further exploit the internal colonial market of Black people which has traditionally been its stepping stone to power.

What is the logical solution for a colonialized nation oppressed by another nation?

It cannot be the national suicide of Afrikans in the U.S. dividing themselves to "unite" with the white worker, the most racist, reactionary segment of U.S. society.

Neither can we naively believe that the U.S. with all its ingrown racism and imperialism, will peacefully or otherwise give up its political, economic, and social so-called claim to the Black community and still allow it to exist within itself.

National liberation means just that: a nation liberating itself, freeing itself, separating from and destroying all forms of foreign domination, racism, monopoly capitalism, colonialism, neo-colonialism and imperialism. A nation freeing itself from all forms of oppression.

National liberation must also mean independent nationhood. The establishment of an Afrikan Peoples Republic. The term 'national liberation' for Afrikans in the U.S. cannot mean anything else but a nation of people determining its own destiny, becoming self-governing, establishing its own government.

The national responsibilities of Afrikan people in "America" is to become a self-determining self-governing nation controlling a land base and everything that transpires on that land.

MASS ORGANIZATIONS AND UNITED FRONTS

Being that the Black Nation is basically unorganized, one of the next steps to be taken is the organization of our people along the lines of the major sectors of our population. This is key. The organization of Afrikan women, Afrikan youth and Afrikan workers into functional units for our peoples liberation will begin to consolidate and mold our movement much tighter.

Black women, Black workers, and Black youth are major segments of the Afrikan population and must be organized and mobilized around our national liberation, thru beginning to meet the needs of our communities, creating institutions that speak to our needs of survival and resistance (mere survival is not enough). Mass organizations will bore the movement in with our people, will make the movement one with the interests of Afrikan people.

Just as no national liberation struggle is apart from, can function, outside or in isolation from the rest of the world of color fighting against racism, colonialism and imperialism, neither can any organization function in isolation from the masses of Afrikan people. The Black United Front begins to build more unity within the Black Nation by fostering systematic organizational co-operation around issues and community struggles on a local and national level.

Particularly on a national level, united fronts can make clearer the principle contradiction of imperialism (the struggle between the haves and the havenots) working through its primary manifestation of racism. The united front will sharpen the awareness of the need of Black people to establish their own self-governing nation.

THE INTERNATIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES

We see the international responsibilities of Afrikan people in the U.S. as fighting and destroying imperialism, particularly U.S. imperialism — the seat and mainstay of European domination throughout the world.

As revolutionary Pan-Afrikan Nationalists-Black Internationalists we see the first problem in the world is the struggle of peoples of color to throw off racist European imperialism. Afrikan-Asian-Latin American peoples are being superexploited by the European peoples.

Even European "socialist" countries have bowed to racial and cultural chauvenism (racism) when it has served their interests. Many times these so-called champions for world socialism have allowed themselves to work hand in hand capitalist governments further exploit and oppress Third World peoples. Witness Nixon in Moscow, U.S.S.R. policy in Palestine; USSR policy and China; Stalin and Mussolini.

Colored peoples of the world are the crests of the waves of revolution whereby the Black-Brown-Red and Yellow peoples are the vanguard of real progressive movement.

Our national responsibility is to free our nation from colonialism and become a self-governing nation. Our international responsibility is to crush racism and imperialism in all forms.

Afrikan women in the U.S. must build ties and have complete solidarity with Sisters of the Third World, particularly in this period, with our Sisters fighting on the Afrikan continent.

MASS AFRIKAN WOMENS ORGANIZATIONS

Why a mass organization of Afrikan women?

There is no part of the nation which is separate from it. What affects the nation affects all parts of it.

"Far from creating divisions the struggle of our women is a sector of the front in the great movement for African emancipation; it is one of our instruments to speed up the liberation and social advancement of our people.

In this context our womens' organizations assume a political character which demands from every woman conscious and consistant militancy, a high degree of political awareness and active participation in national and African activities."

—Ahmed Sekou Toure

—Ahmed Sekou Toure

Afrikan women in the U.S., just as Afrikans in general, are generally unorganized around a general purpose.

We must be organized around the liberation of our people. If we are unorganized, undisciplined, and unpolitical then we, who as a group comprise a majority of our people, will be the weakest link of our nation. We will be what the enemy will attack the most viciously. He will look for our weakest areas and will try to annihilate us, directly or indirectly, at those points.

We all must become involved at every level of organization and struggle, in all periods of struggle. And we must know why we are struggling and how our particular jobs are important to the movement.

We must organize to fight the bourgeois tendency of "Black Feminism" — womens lib in colored face. Womens liberation is a bourgeois trait of middle and upper class white women who have nothing else to do with their time. It is a family spat between the male and female in the European clan of which we have no part. Womens lib is just white women struggling to get a piece of the capitalist pic; the American system — the same system which oppresses Black people.

Our men do not oppress us (nor do Black women oppress Black men). The European dominant nation creates roles to divide us. It creates roles for the Black man and the Black woman which are antagonistic towards each other and subservient to it. We may subjectively, incorrectly, react to each other and these roles, but neither one of us has the power to oppress each other.

Our fight is not with the Black man, our fight is with the racist, imperialistic, European system of domination.

The European woman has picked a fight with her man as to who will control the only way she sees us, particularly Afrikan women, is as tools to be used for her own ends.

Our primary problem is our nation oppressed by a European nation. Our jobs to organize and be used as tools by the Black Nation to further our national liberation war.

Our job is to move our Sisters to fight for the future of all Afrikan Children the way we fight for our biological children — on all levels of struggle — in all levels of organization.

Prison Notes - con't.

CONT. FROM PAGE 5

concerned with material accumulation, social acceptance on the part of the caucasian, and personal prestige.

The caucasian knowing that he is keeping the masses of African Americans in a condition of semi-slavery allows part of the chosen of the black bourgeoisie into his choice circles so that he can show the world that he is not a racist and trick the masses of African Americans that things are getting better; there are "showcase house niggers". The role of the showcase house nigger is to set the standard of what a "respectable Negro" is and to act as a buffer between the caucasian and the masses of African Americans.

Whenever the massses of African American (field slaves) rebels, the showcase niggers tells them to cool off and have faith in the caucasian. So the element that could train the masses as to how to survive and achieve Black Power is the very element that is opposed to obtaining that goal.

The Black Professional is in a diemna, finding himself separated from his people, and stopped by barriers of racial discrimination; he is caught in the middle. He must either join the ranks of the soul brothers or perish.

But within the ranks of the Black professional is a growing Black Nationalist trend. The leading spokesman for this trend is Dr. Nathan Hare, protege of the late E. Franklin Frazier, author of the "Black Anglo Saxons" and leader of the Black Power Committee which is dedicated to overthrowing Negro colleges and creating Black universities. Dr Hare who is also an advocate of a "Black Blitzburg", says that the present Negro colleges must be overthrown and Black colleges established in their place. The direction Dr. Hare seems to be going is to change the assimulationist minded Negro colleges into Black Power schools creating strong nationalist pride, history and heritage in the one hundred and fifty thousand students that enter Negro colleges every year.

If Dr. Hare and the BlackPower movement succeeds in doing this the result will be changing the present Black middle class into a Black Nationalist intelligenstia or elite. This would make a reality out of Dr. DuBois plans of "Talented Tenth". The nationalist talented tenth is not separated or isolated from the mass but comes from the mass and works for the mass. Most Black college students now come from Black working cllass families.

This elite could serve as an intellectual financial resource for the Black Power Movement. The role of the Black elite would be to rain, teach and organize others in the Black community. They could train the Black community in skills of government, self help and unity.

With the Black working class and a part of the Black middle class united, Black America can design programs for survival and Black Power.

Economic and Political Unity

The two major factors lacking in the Black community is economic and political unity.

For over forty years, Black Nationalist's have been talking about Black Power, unity and supporting Black businesses. One of the main reasons for the failure of the nationalist to support the masses of African Americans into a national self help program since the Garvey movement, has been because they received resistance from the Black bourgeoisie or Negro middle class.

The classic example of Black America's contradiction goes back to the 1920's when Dr. DuBois who was then the leading intellectual for the Black bourgeoisie and the N.A.A.C.P. bitterly opposed the "Back to Africa" Movement of the most honorable Marcus Garvey. Though both men had similar ideas on the international question of Black liberation, they engaged in a bitter conflict over a National solution.

Dr. DuBois had organized a "Pan African" conference as early as 1915 and the conference had similar objectives as Garvey's 1921 World African Convention. Garvey wanted to place most of our energy on the liberation of the motherland while DuBois was more concerned with achieving civil rights in this country.

The debate lasted for approximately five years degenerating eventually to personal insults. DuBois before he died, in self imposed exile in Accra, Ghana, said he realized that he had made a mistake opposing Garvey.

The Black bourgeioisie — have been caught in its own contradictions of attempting to assimilate, or integrate into the mainstream of racist American society and at the same time having to have to appeal to the Black working class for financial survival.

America being a racist society built on a racial caste would not allow the Black middle class to expand business wise and obtain large capital to become major capitalist. It only allowed certain "showcase" house niggers to emerge with financial power this creating the illusion of "you can make it if you try". By the "showcase house niggers" obtaining financial power, helped form the opinion among most of the Black bourgeoisie that if you "tomed" or worked for the man you would get ahead and get some bread. With this philosophy the Black Bourgeoisie became aleinated from the Black working class.

But with the mergence of a new Black middle class, the 1950-60 generation, trained with techincal and professional skills, the Black bourgeoisie found itself trapped in several contradictions. The main contradiction was having an entire generation, trained in whitey's schools, ready to be assimilated; to integrate in all ways into racist America but finding racist America not ready to or willing to accept them. The contradiction of being qualified to have the status of white miidle class caucasians, but still being treated like slaves, was part of the reason behind the sitin movement of 1960 and the freedom rides of 1961, when Black middle class college students took to the streets to bread down the barriers of racial discrimination in public facilities in order to integrate into racist America.

The Black masses never suffered from this illusion, because they have always been under the whip of the oppressor, always are the last hired afhhe first fired, if hired at all; first abused and always misused. As a result of the Black massess seeing racist brutality from souter and northern whites agaist the integrationsit of efforts of the college students, youth; they began again to turn towards Black Nationalsim and seperation as a solution, The Black masses have never felt that the caucasians would reform from their racist ways. They have been victims of racist lynch parties too long to be tricked into believing that: thee never trusted the slavemaster. Now seeing caucasian police brutality beat non-violent women and children in the streets, they were convinced that the only solution, was Black revolution.

The philosophy of Black Nationalsim and seperation was best articulated for years by the late Mavgm X. As a result of the failure of integration and the non-violent efforts of Martin Luther King, the Black masses have now turned to the concept of Black Power, articulated by Stokely Carmicheal and Rap Brown and "using any means necessary" as a solution.

White caucasian America, not willing to see the Blackman gain power, has responded with the cry of white power and are quickly turning to the John Birch Socety, Ku Klux Klan and the Minutemen for solution to keep Black American from gaining Black Power. With Black America moving to gain Black power and White America to stop it from getting power, the U.S. is on the edge of having a second civil war, this time between the Black and white races. The present situation being what it is forces the African American to do some new, creative and independent thinking. Never before has the African American had to deal with a plot of black extermination; therefore he must develop a crash program for survival. Such a program must be one of unity because only by being united will Black America survive a race war. How would such a program be organized.

The first thing that would have to be done is to organize enough black businessmen to financially back the movement and to work with the soul brothers on a cooperative basis. The movement in return would inform the Black community of its' supporters and would ruge Black people to patronize these businessmen. Economic boycotts would be very effective especially if organized on a mass scale. In order to create a economic program to benefit the majority of the Black Nation. Black America could not follow the caucasian's economic system of capitalism but must develop a economic system of his own. Still being a captive nation he msut organize the blackcommunitv on a communal basis making profit or capital benefit the whole, the movement rather than going to and benefiting a select few. This means the Blackman must drop the caucasians' concept of "individualism" and adopt a concept — Black nationalist collectiveness. Nationalism would replace integration individualism, being th new political philosophy; communalism would replace capitalism being the new economic philosophy.

But in order for the African American to learn the meaning of what Dr. DuBois meant when he said"...A system that enslaves you, cannot free you"...Would take much training because the African American has been well whitewashed to follow the caucasian of life.

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE

—Meet The Cast

By NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

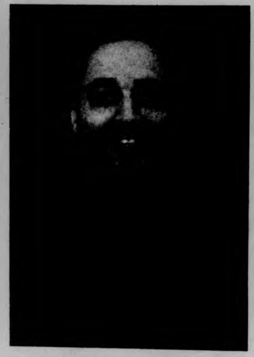
Jaci Jones Is Gwen Hankins

Steven Scott Is George Hankins

Fran Anderson - Director

Thurman W. Stanback

Doraleena Sammons Is Lil Mason



Les Anderson Is Lew Hankins

Beareather Reddy Is Dee-Dee Hankins

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE, a musical play by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord will be presented by the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir on March 15, 16, and 17 in Bowker Auditorium at UMass, Amherst.

Dealing with the struggles of a black New York family during the sixties, the play examines the motivation behind the riots, burning and looting which took place during the sixties, the affects of the Viet Nam war on black families, and the first suggestions of the migration of blacks back to the south.

The play was premiered as a drama at Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, Florida in 1969, and was presented by students at Spelman College in Atlanta in December, 1976. The overriding appeal of the play is the expose of heretofore unpublicized attitudes of the black family toward politics and social institutions and the rhetoric employed by these families during their most intimate moments of coversation. At the request of the choir, playwright Stanback has redesigned the play, incorporating a number of scenes which were not a part of the drama to allow for numbers. While observing the broadway traditions of the musical, new features have been added to the play, the most notable of which is the creation of scenes during which the choir participates not only on stage, but as pit singers, a device employed in the current broadway hit, THE WIZ.

Thurman Stanback, the playwright, holds the PhD in drama from Cornell University and is a professor of theatre at Florida Atlantic University of Boca Raton. In addition to TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE AND GONE, he is the author of the plays THE DELICATE THREAD, and A STILL SMALL VOICE IN THE SILENT ARENA.

The music for the play has been written by Semenya McCord, a well-known singer and composer throughout New England. She holds the Bachelor of Music degree from Knox College in Illinois and has done further study at UMass. She has composed songs for the Voices of New Africa House Choir and Archie Shepp, the saxophonist, with whom whe has recorded as a vocalist. The music of the play is a panorama of Afro-American vocal styles, employing songs in the mode of the blues, gospel, soul and jazz.

The production will be directed by Fran Anderson and choreographed by Melvyn Robinson. Horace Clarence Boyer, the director of the choir, will serve as musical director for the play. The admission fee is $1.50. The box office of Bowker Auditorium will be open from one to 6 p.m. beginning March 7, 1977.

The public is cordially invited to experience the very latest in music and drama in this production.

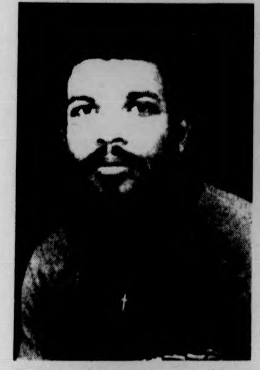
Ophelia Dargan Is Cora Hankins

Rodney Fields Is Benny Hankins

Sandy McLean Is Rev. Coffin

Kelly Wright Is Marian Welles

Semenya McCord



Carlos Anderson Is Matt Hankins

Alene (Trixie) Greto - Public Relations

Michael Cannon Is Tramp Mason

Valerie Stephens Is Emma Pearson

Oppressions of Woman - Oppresses the Country

Woman - the Ultimate Extention

Woman the ultimate extention of the absolute power
Like an over flowingcup with energy of Divine Grace shaping the universe like circular computerized type
Astore house of mind circles
Rise woman know that life comes through you Realize that it is you who carry the life of the world
For such greatness you must be weak to mold the mind of the strong
You most understand that the sad distant look within the vanishing twinkles
of your eyes is the price that must be paid for the blindness of your extention extentions must connect to find the world
A MEETING OF LINES
A MEETING OF MINDS
A MEETING FOR ALL TIMES WOMAN YOU ARE THE SUPREME SPIRIT
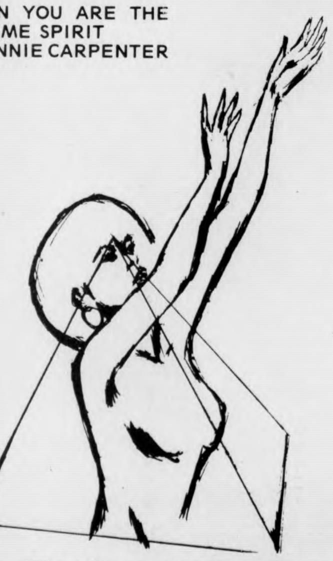
ANNIE CARPENTER



Trails of the Trails

Please come back to us
Why do you stay away so long
Tell us about that distant look
Where did you go
Please stay here with us
I will never go away forever
But you see
There is a dimension beyond that
Which is called three
There is an energy that can go
Go through blockage
There is a place
Where all connections meet
Far beyond the regions of Physical mind
It is real
That the shortest distant
Takes the longest travel
It is true
That space and time
Is like a vacuum
Of fluidlike substance
I have been there before
Many times in that small Infinite space
Where I too became a fluid
And live in a vacuum
Oh, yes
I was in my mother's womb
Space and time
A vacuum of fluid
I lived
I grew
My life source
Was a connection
From my mother to me
Yes
The cord was connected
To my stomach
The center of my energy
My energy source
When my mother's world was confused
I left, I meant I went away
Through my center
And then the big shock
I was born
I was taken out of time within space
Where I was protected and nourished
It was then
When I was expected
To go on my own energy
I was slapped
My life source
Taken away
With shock of my birth
My mind lived
As I went away in search
Of my own vacuum
My own womb
My own universe

Please understand
I live
My mind never did die
It has always returned itself to you

Ohio and the Boardwalk

He lies there in the days
Hot sand and fingers out obscurity.
I smile and wonder if this man is Thinking not of me,
Is he thinking at all? I dream,
Pretending that the earth never Felt this way before,
I start to speak
So does he
We laugh
His more nervous than mine.
Sea gulls perch near from lack of Movement,

Others ballet with lowered heads
On lacey waves,
Warped guest houses ,stare
Shivering from the heat,
The rude shore
Pounds off leggy piers,
The tides chilled grit
Touches our toes.
There are words in His hands.
Blinding rays close my eyes,
Maybe now
His thought made easier to hear,
A gusty shrill
Announces SUN DOWN!
barbara

Mass Struggle - Mass Freedom

Life is precious only when it liberates
Oppression and oppressors — must go
Not tomorrow but yesterday
Malcolm lives
El-Hajj, Sojourner Truth inspires
Struggle has been the only way
"Black people what you'll gonna do?"
The Last Poets shout.
HISTORY

Yes History is nothin' but change
But who will be the better in the years to come
STRUGGLE LIBERATE
Human dignity is obtained only one way

HUMAN RACE
Struggle for change
Real change not chump change
Real change, not penny, nickle, and dime change;
change that individuals fight and kill each other over to satiate the need of their credit card filled holey double knit pockets

Sometimes...you must kill

Panthers strike only when life is threatened
LIBERATION is LIFE
The sunsets...the sun rises time for action
MOVEMENT like the panther when life is threatened
Freedom is here, not in no dream

MASSES STRUGGLE!
ANNIE CARPENTER

Don't Let College Interfere With Your Education

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 105 TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Town approves $930,000 project

By TERESA M. HANAFIN
Collegian Staff

The Amherst Special Town Meeting approved funding last night for a community facilities building to be built in the Boltwood Walk redevelopment area of the town.

Members voted by more than a two-thirds majority to appropriate $930,000 for the construction and furnishing of the building, with $410,000 of that amount to be borrowed on a bond issue.

The article passed despite an amendment introduced by member Stephen P. Puffer which would have reduced the amount to be appropriated by $82,000, a savings which would be realized on the bond.

The amendment would have reduced the amount to be appropriated from $930,000 to $848,000 and the amount of the bond issue from $410,000 to $328,000.

Puffer said the purpose of his proposed amendment was to lower the tax effect of the bond.

It will take 20 years for the bond debt to be paid off, with a decreasing cost to the taxpayer each year. Puffer's amendment would have realized zero cost to the taxpayer sooner than 20 years by cutting $82,000 out of the debt.

The actual cost of the debt, with interest included, is projected at $743,000.

The community facilities building will be located on a site of 28,028 square feet on a short distance south of the Odd Fellows Building and the new housing for the elderly on Kellogg Ave.

Most of the floor area of the proposed site will be located within the old Intermediate School building which will be renovated and brought up to current standards and codes. A new one-story addition will be built on the west side. The architects of the building are Juster Pope Associates of Shelbourne Falls.

The building will contain the Health Center, the Senior Center, the Veteran's Agent and Recreation Director.

The Health Center, to be located on the upper floor, will contain the offices and other facilities of the Board of Health plus several reception and counseling suites for a number of health-related agencies.

The Senior Center will be located on the middle floor where a variety of activity rooms, offices and the Senior Surrey transportation dispatching center will be provided.

The Veteran's Agent and Recreation Director will have offices on the middle floor.

The total cost of the building is estimated to be about $1 million.

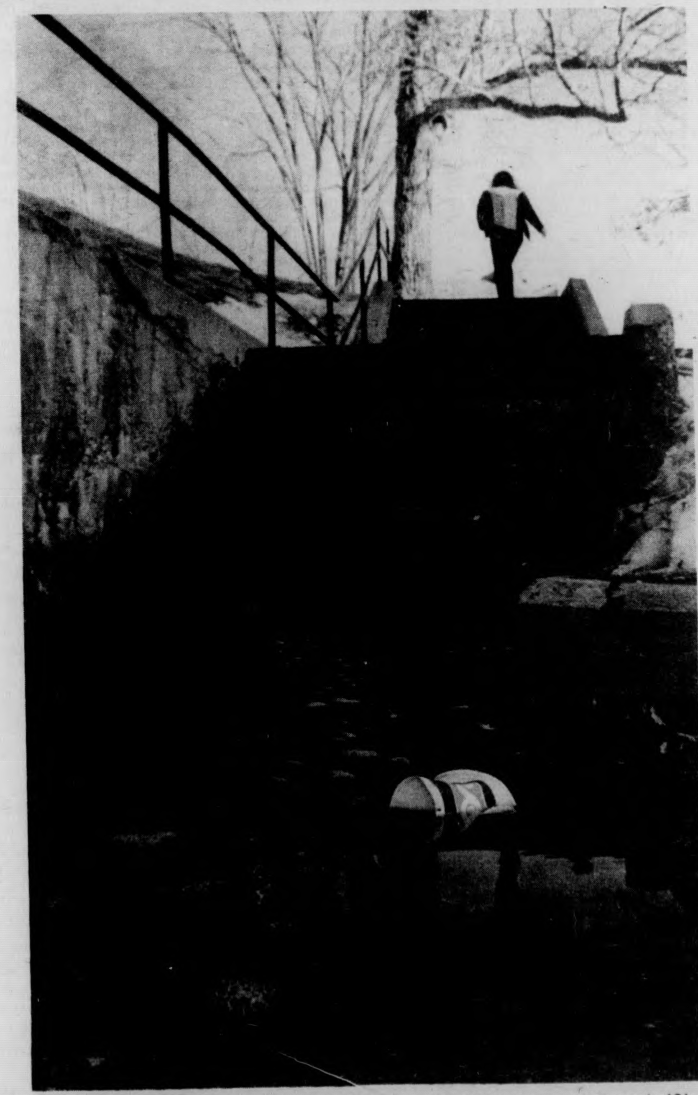
Representatives from the Amherst Finance Committee, the Council on Aging, the Board of Health, the Health Advisory Council, the Recreation Commission and the League of Women Voters all voiced their approval of the article at the meeting.

These representatives later asked for specifics from Puffer when he recommended his $82,000 cut.

Smoke detectors

In the only other item on the warrant, the town meeting also approved the drafting of a letter to the Mass. State Legislature and the governor urging the passage of a bill which would institute smoke detectors in apartment buildings.

The legislation, originally filed last December by Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, would require smoke detectors in apartment complex buildings which contain more than three residential units, regardless of the construction date, state-wide.



UMass student leaves his reflection behind as he climbs toward his goal. (Staff photo by David Olken)

Local Democrats to hold caucus

By EILEEN CUSHING
Collegian Staff

Local Democrats will hold a caucus Wednesday night to discuss issues to be presented to a statewide Democratic Platform Convention in June.

The caucus, one of many occurring locally throughout the state, is the initial stage in a state effort to give town Democratic voters a stronger voice in the party's make-up.

The June Platform Convention will be the final step in a process to solidify the offical Democratic stand on the major issues facing the state. Formulating the issues is what the caucuses are all about.

"These caucuses are there to let the Democrat see what his or her party stands for. We want the caucuses to be as representative of the Democratic vote as possible. It would be almost silly to have no students representing a University town like Amherst," said Jerome Mileur, chairman of the Amherst Democratic Committee.

Wednesday night's caucus will introduce pertinent issues as seen by local Democrats. A list of 30 possible issues has been offered for consideration by the state. Local Democrats may use these issues as well as offer their own in narrowing the list to ten basic issues for discussion.

Mileur noted that in the state guidelines, explosive issues such as abortion, amnesty, and busing have been omitted. He added that these and the pertinent local issue of public education will be added during the caucus.

Once the ten basic important issues have been decided upon, the Democrats will hold another caucus on April 2 to debate the issues and propose an official Party stand to be sent to a State Platform Drafting Committee.

At a third caucus to be held in May, delegates will be picked for the June Platform Convention. Each town or ward will be allowed a certain number of delegates to the convention. Mileur estimates that Amherst will send approximately six delegates.

Mileur emphasized that the caucuses are open to any registered Democratic voters; students are invited and encouraged to attend.

"Education, especially public education will and should be a big issue, locally and statewide". Mileur continued, "We'd like to see the party take a strong stand for public education. It will be up to the elected public officials to file the legislation to implement the stands we take. But it's up to us to come up with solid stands on the issues that will affect us."

The first caucus will begin at 7:30 in the Town Room of the Town Hall tomorrow night with discussion of issues followed by a vote at 10 p.m. for the platform issues.

Polls open today

Twenty-nine days have passed since eight candidacies took out papers for the SGA presidency. Three teams remain. Voting for the elections runs today and tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Students may vote in the following polling places:

SYLVAN AND NORTHEAST area — Worcester Dining Commons

CENTRAL — Franklin Dining Commons

ORCHARD HILL — Dickinson Dormitory

GREEKS AND COMMUTERS — Cape Cod Lounge, SUB

SOUTHWEST — MacKimmie, Patterson, JQA, JA, Washington, Moore, Cance and Pierpont) — Berkshire Dining Commons (Crampton, Prince, Coolidge, Kennedy, Melville, Emerson, Thoreau and James) — Hampshire Dining Commons.

Polling has been moved from the dormitories into centralized areas this year as a convenience both to students and the SGA Governmental Affairs Committee, sponsors of the election.

Ballots will be printed on individual computer printout sheets, making election tampering difficult.

INSIDE

The financing of MassPIRG is under consideration in the Massachusetts House. See Joe Quinlan's story on Page 2.

A man suspected of being an exhibitionist was arraigned yesterday in Northampton Court. See Joe Quinlan's story on Page 3.

WEATHER

Partly cloudy with chance of showers today. Chance of clearing later in the day.

If rainy days and Mondays get you down, then Yesterday would've been a bad day for you (Staff photo by John P. Sideropoulos)

Elections today, tomorrow

By LAWRENCE HIRSHBERG
Collegian Staff

ORCHARD
HILL

OHAG elections for the offices of President, Vice-president, treasurer and secretary will be held March 15 and 16.

Candidates are as follows; President, Mike Maleson and Scott Wieler; Vice-president, Mark Hergenrother; Treasurer, Jeff Cohen and Jeff Dodge; Secretary, Sue Curt and Stacey Ponticello.

In other business, a $200 allocation was made for the initiation of an Orchard Hill Men's Center. The center will include such things as a drop-in center, a resource center, an outreach program and hopefully some colloquiums. The center will be located in 101 Dickinson.

The Orchard Hill-Central Spring Concert will be held on May 1.

Joel Weissman, an SGA presidential candidate, told OHAG representatives that there are "acute problems facing students" at the OHAG meeting, Sunday night.

Weissman cited budget cuts, racism, unionization and the trouble in South Africa as the major problems that he and co-candidate Chuck Pooler would address as SGA presidents.

Also discussed by Weissman was an expansion of the SGA's role into student education on important issues.

Foley-Tyson endorsed

By JANIS FINSTEIN
Collegian Staff

Sylvan Area Government representatives voted to endorse the Foley-Tyson ticket for SGA President, Sunday night with an 8-0 margin.

Six of the representatives chose to abstain, including the president of SAG Timothy Bernard. When questioned on his decision, Bernard said "Sylvan Government is a representative body, representing the whole Sylvan Area because of that, I don't think we have the right to voice our opinions for the whole area."

Vice-president Michael Fix voted in favor of the endorsement because he feels "since Herb Tyson is a freshman and John Foley is a junior, they will have an ongoing interest with the University, as opposed to Hite and Batiste." The SAG vote followed a plea from candidate Herb Tyson for the area's support.

Sylvan 4th annual Big Bad Boogie was held Friday night in the barracks section of the Worcester Dining Commons. Fix termed the Boogie a huge success. The rock and roll of "Orphan Annie" entertained over 600 people.

Paul Wiess, a resident of Cashin Dormitory attended last year's boogie and this year's and in comparison said: "Last year the Big Bad Boogie was more of a Sylvanite affair, but this year, due to the lack of events on campus, more people attended."

A representative from Residential Resources spoke at the meeting last night about the University's new policy of billing for dormitory damages.

The new policy dictates that a copy of the student's bill will now be forwarded to Whitmore. Failure to pay such bills will result in denial by the University of registration, transcripts, and diplomas to students.

A representative from the recycling plant attended the meeting and asked for $25 to pay for the salary of a work study student, who is in charge of Sylvan's recycling of glass and paper. The plant is supplying the necessary equipment to be used including the barrels needed to store the glass and paper. Sylvan voted to allocate the money for this project.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Thomas Crowley

Day Layout	Sue Zoino
Wire Layout	Greg Tarlin
Sports Layout	Fran Sypek
Head Darkroom Tech	David Olken
Photo Staff	Mark Rubin, John Sher
Head Graphics Tech	Dan Schindler, Phil Milstein
Ad Layout	Leith Illinith
Copy Desk	Anne Murphy

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

State ponders Mass PIRG fee checkoff

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

A bill determining future funding for student lobbyist groups, including MassPIRG is now in the hands of the Joint Committee on Education in the State house.

Originally filed by state representatives Andrew H. Card Jr., R-Holbrook, and Andrew S. Natsios, R-Holliston, the bill, number 2337, would "prohibit the assessment of or expenditure of funds through the Massachusetts college system and universities for any legislative agent or organization attempting to influence legislation."

If the bill passes in its present form, the MassPIRG would not be allowed to seek student contributions on the tuition bills of UMass and the other state colleges.

Since sponsoring this legislation, however, Card and Natsios have expressed second thoughts about its original intent and probable consequences.

They both travelled here to UMass on March 3 to hear the students' opinions about the situation. During the informal discussion, Card and Natsios assured everyone that they were not after MassPIRG, but rather the funding methods it employed. In particular, they voiced extreme disapproval with the mandatory funding policy in practice at the state colleges. They left UMass promising to review the bill for a possible compromise.

Following the committee hearing yesterday, Card clarified his views about the bill, saying "I thoroughly oppose the mandatory checkoff system, and would like to see the positive checkoff approach. While I am not very happy with the negative checkoff, I think could learn to live with it."

This "negative checkoff" funding used at UMass means that a $2 contribution is already listed as a separate fee on the tuition bill; if students can do not wish to support PIRG, they can substract the $2 from the bill. For those nonsupportive students subjected to mandatory contributions, in order to receive a refund, they must travel to a campus office and file a disclaimer form. Card's ideal goal, the "positive checkoff" would force the contributing student to take the iniative by adding their gift to the tuition bill.

Representative James G. Collins, D-Amherst, who, as a member of the education committee has been working alongside Card with this bill, voiced satisfaction with the UMass negative checkoff funding. As long as representative majority of the campus' students support this process, he said, then the negative checkoff would be acceptable, since the disagreeing minority could easily subtract the contribution from their tuition bill.

The objection aired by Natios and Card to this negative system was that, due to apathy, many students unaware of PIRG's programs, and possibly against them, have been unknowingly contributing $2 every time they pay their tuition bill.

While Natsios testified for the bill as it stands, Card asked the committee to hold the bill pending compromise with all the parties involved. Card said that his efforts to communicate with the state college trustees have so far not been successful.

Three UMass students appeared before the committee to voice their disapproval of the bill. SGA Trustee Paul M. Cronin, told the committee that not only did he personally support PIRG, but also the SGA. He later told the Collegian of rumors circulating around the state house which hint at dropping the bill if a compromise with the state colleges can be reached.

Card said that he hopes there will be a "legitimate and careful study to change the bill, permitting groups like PIRG to still collect money."

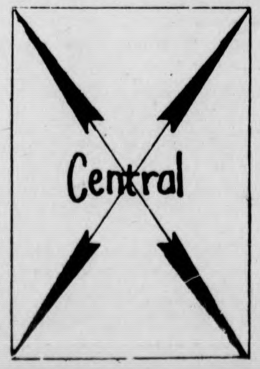
Card added that until PIRG convinces him that no other method except the negative system will sufficiently support it, he will defend his current proposal for a positive checkoff.

"I have not received adequate proof PIRG cannot survive with only the positive checkoff," Card said. He also cited that a subcommittee may be formed "to look into it."

Collins, whom Card called his "liasion with the UMass community," commented that the legislation should not be "a punitive measure" against PIRG, which he said is "overall, a good organization."

Future election discussed

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff



Central Area Council discussed its March 28 council election in an abbreviated session last night.

A brief outline of the CAC budget for fiscal year 1977-78 and two advertisement appropriations rounded out the meeting.

Co-vice president Mark Zinan presided over the meeting since president Janice Perry was sick.

Pointing out that only two people — both, CAC members — have entered the area election, treasure Rob Cannon warned the group might become "elitist" if outsiders are not nominated for CAC seats. He then motioned that he be allowed to spend money at his discretion for a reasonable ad in the Collegian announcing the election. It passed on a 5-4 vote.

Zinan also received the approval of the council to advertise in the Collegian the position of Greenough "Artist in Presidence."

Cannon informed his colleagues that the CAC budget would be submitted to the Student Senate Budget Committee this Thursday night at midnight. With 2004 residents in Central, Cannon is proposing that Central be allocated $20,040.

Co-vice president Andrew Topalian said the Central blood drive is ending this week; Baker is scheduled tonight, while Brett closes the three week effort on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Seeking accessibility

OCHO leaving Munson

By RICHARD E. BARREL
Collegian Staff

The Off Campus Housing Office (OCHO) is discussing a plan for moving from the basement of Munson Hall to the Student Union Commuter Lounge. The move would make OCHO more accessible to students, according to co-coordinator Bob Forrant.

Forrant said in addition to himself and co-coordinator Joanne R. Levinson, seven work-study staff members help students find roommates, places to share, and listings of apartments to rent or sublet. Assistance in landlord-tenant relations is also provided.

Bulletin boards outside the office list housing situations available. In addition, up to date lists of people with housing to rent and people looking for housing are kept in the office, he said. Sources for rental and second-hand furniture, storage, rooming houses, and temporary housing are also available, along with free telephone service for local calls.

Besides helping people find housing OCHO provides counseling in the event of housing problems, and provides information, names of tenants unions, and help interpreting leases. A model lease is also available.

Following the fire last semester at Crown Point apartments, OCHO wrote to area housing authorities and local newspapers pointing out the need for smoke detectors in multiple unit dwellings, Forrant said.

The office is busiest at semester break in January and at the end of the semester. Another peak of activity is July through September with students arriving in the fall.

Forrant emphasized that OCHO also provides services to community people, faculty, and married students. In some cases federal and state housing subsidies have been secured for particularly hard pressed people, he said.

Forrant also said OCHO is planning a summer day-care center for children ages three through seven at Puffton Village. The center will be staffed by students on work-study, he said.

OCHO is funded through Dean Fields office, according to Forrant, and is responsible to the Student Government association, The Graduate Student Senate, and the Commuter Collective.

Suspect arraigned in flasher case

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

A 32-year-old graduate student in sociology has been arraigned at Northampton District Court on three counts of annoying and accosting the opposite sex.

Dennis H. Young, 425 Prince House, will appear in court April 1 to face these charges steming from alleged incidents at the library on Feb. 5, March 1 and March 4.

Captain Robert G. Joyce of the UMass Department of Public Safety said a summons has also been issued for the apparent flasher in the women's locker room at Curry Hicks Cage on March 7. However, Joyce said yesterday authorities have been unable to locate this man, a nonstudent, believed to live in Easthampton.

The alertness and cooperation of witnesses at the Cage facilitated the police investigation and subsequent summons, Joyce said.

Police patrols are being increased at the campus gyms, added Joyce.

Annoying and accosting of the opposite sex falls under Massachusetts laws, chapter 272, section 53. Convicted violators can receive a six month sentence and-or a fine not to exceed $200.

"I'm sick of chemistry!" With midterms upon us, Randy Horne peruses through more literate material in the Science Fiction Library. (Staff photo by Patrick Dobbs)

GSS sets revision time table

By D. PETERSON
Collegian Staff

Revision of the by-laws and the Constitution of the Graduate Student Senate has now been set to a time table for the senator's consideration, announced GSS Vice-president Timothy Austin at the GSS meeting held last night.

Austin reported to the senate that on April 20, there will be a general meeting of graduate students. During this meeting, there will be election of new officers for the senate for the coming school year, and a presentation of Constitutional and by-law amendments to the student body.

On April 27, a second general meeting of graduate students will be held to vote on the amendments.

Although these are general meetings, only senators have a vote concerning the election of officers.

Senator Paul Berger presented a motion to the Senate concerning tobacco smoking on campus and proposed a ban.

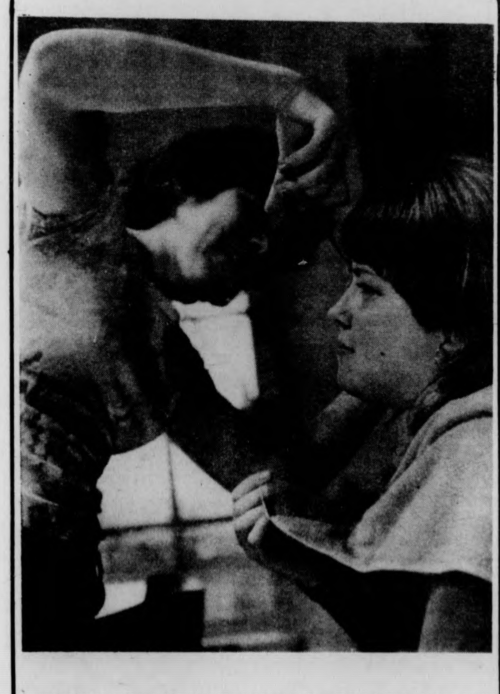
Several senators asked how a general ban could be enforced on campus. Berger said that it would be done by peer pressure.

Secretary of the GSS, Barbara Stack stated, "although the motion reads like a rule, it is serving to influence opinion and consolidate peer pressure."

After much discussion, the following motion was passed. "Be it resolved that (i) tobacco smoking be banned by the administration of the University in classrooms while classes are in session, and in public rooms during public events such as movies, meetings or lectures; (ii) tobacco smoking be restricted to limited areas in Dining Commons and other eating places on campus and (iii) nonsmokers be urged to approach smokers who are in violation of the above conditions and request that they stop."

Senator Sally Rees asked for a motion to be passed that would request the trustees of the University to sell UMass stock holdings in companies that are in South Africa due to the apartheid racist rule of that country. The motion was passed.

The next meeting of the GSS will be held on Monday, March 28, at 7 p.m.



Would you trust your roommate to cut your hair? June Nordstrom trusts Jane Campenella from Van Meter dorm. (Staff photo by Marcia Carlson)

Cut-a-thon out to slice Dystrophy

By PATTI KELLEHER
Collegian Staff

Stylists from The Chopping Block of Amherst are cutting and blow-drying hair today and tomorrow at Hampden Dining Commons to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

Organized by the UMass Panhellenic Council and MDA Youth Chairperson, Suzanne Tansey said the "Cut-a-thon will be held from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The minimum donation is five dollars. Stylists also request that hair be washed prior to arrival at Hampden, since appropriate facilities are not available there.

Asked why the salon is donating their time and effort to the "Cut-a-thon", manager Silvio DePalma said, "It's fun to do it."

"We don't really need the publicity, but we were asked to donate some time to a good cause." He also said that all the salons in the chain usually do some charitable work of this sort during the year.

Ms. Tansey reported that other cut-a-thons in the past have yielded good profits. She said she believes this one at UMass "probably will raise about $1,000."

The money will be given to the Western Mass. chapter of the MDA, who will contribute this to the upgrading of services for patients in Western Mass. Services include the use of orthopedic equipment, a clinic at the Bay State Medical Center in Springfield, and sending children to special camps in the summer.

Some of the hair stylists at Hampden who are giving what would otherwise be approximately a $15 cut are Nicole, Pino, Phil, Bette, and Silvio himself.

Representatives of the Panhellenic Council and The Chopping Block will be presenting the check from the proceeds on the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon.

Clinton prepares for Carter visit

CLINTON, Mass. (UPI) — Barbara Gannon, 48, a waitress; Norman Hannon, owner of a furniture store; and Dave Notartomasr, 17, unemployed, have at least one thing in common: they're all looking forward to Wednesday, the day President Carter comes to town.

In fact, just about everyone in this central Massachusetts town of 13,000 seems to be anxiously awaiting the visit. Green and white signs welcoming Jimmy Carter decorate store windows. Thursday is St. Patrick's Day and Clinton has a 75 per cent Irish or Irish descent population.

Bumper stickers reading, "Where the hell is Clinton? — 'Ask President Carter'," and peanut necklaces already are doing a booming business.

The center of activity is at the Town Hall, a yellow brick, two-story building where Carter Wednesday night will attend a town meeting, a New England tradition begun 339 years ago.

The White House is billing the visit as the first in a series Carter plans around the country as part of his promise to keep in touch with the American people.

Town moderator Eugene Cafarelli said he's not surprised Clinton with its nine per cent unemployment rate was picked for Carter's first stop.

"There are indications here of what's happening throughout the country," said Cafarelli. "I think he'll learn what is the lot in life of the common person in 1977."

About 850 of the town's 13,000 residents were selected by lottery to attend the meeting. "I was so surprised when I found out I was picked to go," said Mrs. Gannon. "All my friends are jealous."

Among the most excited are Edward and Catherine Thompson who live down the street from Town Hall in a large white, three-story home, where Carter will spend the night before departing Thursday.

"I'm just trying to do what any housewife would do when guests are coming — cleaning, dusting, tidying up," said Mrs. Thompson. "Well, maybe I'm a little more nervous because he is the President."

Clinton, situated along the Nashua River, is dotted with pastel-colored, wooden frame homes. Economically it has been deteriorating slowly over the last four years, according to town accountant Harry Gannon.

The biggest employer in town is Colonial Press, a printing firm, which once employed up to about 1,700 persons, Gannon said. "Now I'd say it was down to 600," Gannon said.

"We've cleaned up the place pretty well, don't you think?" said Norman Hannon, owner of a furniture store in the center of town for 10 years.

"There's a few empty stores... Maybe Jimmy will notice," Hannon said.

Notartomasr said he won't be at the meeting, but he said, "I'll probably go over Wednesday night and hang around. Maybe I'll see him.

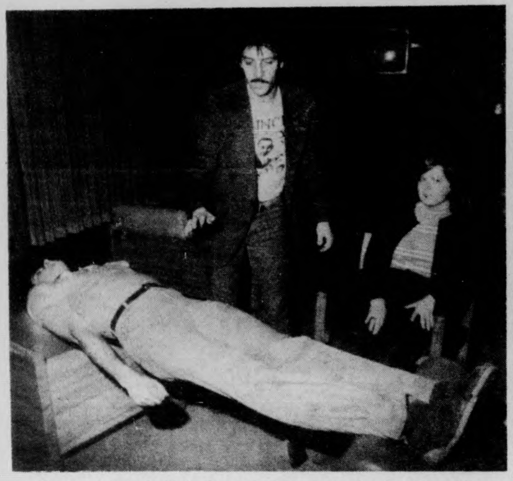
"Hey, maybe I can tell him I need a job," the teenager said.

Hypnotist in Cance

Student puts friends to sleep

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

"Sit and make yourself comfortable in the chair, very good. Now relax the muscles in your legs and become aware of their weight, feel gravity press upon them and into the chair. Relax your mind and the muscles in your neck, let your head slip into a deep comfortable sleep. With every word I say, your mind will slip further and further into a very comfortable deep sleep, further and further, concentrating only on my voice and no other sound...."



Student hypnotist, Ron Coderre, casts his "spell" over David Helman by stiffening the subject's body while in a trance. Gretchen Sohl witnesses the feat. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Ron Coderre, a student hypnotist living in Cance House has just begun to hypnotize four volunteers in a recent demonstration in Kennedy Tower.

Soon, all four will slump in their chairs, eyes closed and faces expressionless.

Soon the four subjects will be regressed back to five years old, see a "funny" movie that no one else in the room will be able to see, gaze through a lidless soup can and be able to "see" everyone else in the room nude and not able to say their own names even though they know them, until Coderre says they are able to.

Coderre, a 21 year old senior financing major, has been putting people "under" for over three years. Following one of his demonstrations, he answered some commonly asked questions about hypnotism.

"I use about six methods to get a person under: focusing on a bright object such as a coin, looking at my two upheld fingers, me focusing on one eye, focusing on a spot in the middle of the subject's forehead, and for people who are frightened or really nervous, having them lie on a bed while I put my hand on their stomach," he said.

Collegian: Is there anything you couldn't make a subject do?

Coderre: Yes, a subject wouldn't be able to do anything that they have never seen before or that goes completely against their morals or conscience.

Collegian: But what if you set up a certain scene for them such as telling them they were going to take a shower and then having them take off all of their clothes?

Coderre: No, because the mind has a third eye that watches over

Coderre: Not being able to wake the subject up, hysterics which have to be overpowered mentally and convulsions if the mind overpowers the subconscious are a few. In order to regain control or to prevent these things from happening in the first place, you must be aware of the danger signals and know when and why they might happen. A guy I knew hypnotized a boy who was deathly afraid of bees. The boy was told that there were bees buzzing around his head and the boy went into hysterics. They finally had to call in a professional hypnotist who was able to bring the boy back, but with much difficulty.

Collegian: Why do subjects forget things, such as their name or events that took place while they were under hypnosis, at the hypnotists suggestion?

Coderre: Because the hypnotist can set up a mental block, keeping the certain thing in the subconscious instead of the conscious. the conscious and the unconscious that oversees everything. A subject might strip down to their underwear, then that third eye would stop them and make them realize what they were doing and they would stop and just stand there.

Collegian: Is it easier to hypnotize a subject once they have been hypnotized before?

Coderre: It is progressively easier to hypnotize a subject and they will go under deeper each time it is done.

Collegian: How long do post-hypnotic suggestions last?

Coderre: Post hypnotic suggestions can last from one hour to months; it depends on the suggestion, the person and the willpower involved.

Collegian: Can you stop people from different habits such as smoking or drinking, or help them diet?

Coderre: Problem drinkers can't be helped because they have a physical dependency to alcohol. Smokers can be given a post-hypnotic suggestion telling them that they hate the taste of cigarettes. That may help them stop for a while to the point where the person's willpower could then take over and keep them from smoking permanently.

Collegian: When you regress someone in age, why do they remember things so well?

Coderre: The reason why things can be remembered so well in age regression is, because the subconscious retains everything it has ever seen, which can be brought to the surface under hypnosis.

Collegian: Can you regress a person to a particular day?

Coderre: Yes.

Collegian: When you regress a person back to a particular age, say five years old, what period of that year are they in?

Coderre: From their birthday to their next one; the whole year.

Collegian: What about reincarnation and hypnosis?

Coderre: I really don't want to believe it, but I have to; I can't deny what I've seen. I don't do any of that because I'm not interested in it.

Collegian: What is the power of hypnosis?

Coderre: It is just a question of one mind over another. The more people I've worked with, the more I've learned and the more mental influence or power projection I've attained.

Collegian: What are the dangers, especially for an amateur who is trying to hypnotize somebody?

Harris to portray Dickinson

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

The hit Broadway production, "The Belle of Amherst," starring Julie Harris as Emily Dickinson — Amherst's first lady — is finally appearing at the Fine Arts Center (FAC), April 7.

UMass has been trying for a year to attract Harris in this stunning performance. According to David Letters, Publicity Director for the FAC, contract problems arose last August, when Amherst College outbid UMass for a fall appearance of the show. Alan Light, FAC hall manager, continued UMass' bid for Harris until she agreed to return this April to the Pioneer Valley.

Letters said the year-long quest for the play reflects FAC's "continuing effort to bring quality entertainment to the students at modest prices."

Tickets, which will be on sale starting March 28, the first Monday after spring break, are $3, $4, and $5 for UMass students.

Since this two and a half hour presentation of America's foremost poetess opened on Broadway in 1975, it has attracted enthusiastic audiences in major cities across the nation.

In Harris's 30 years on the stage, she has played roles ranging from a 12-year-old old tomboy to the White Rabbit in "Alice in Wonderland," and has won four Tony Awards. In this latest endeavor as a literary spinster, Harris was presented the Sarah Siddons Award in Chicago last year for the best female stage performance.

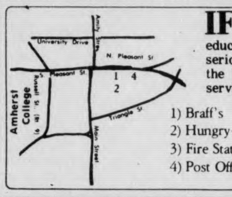
Emily Dickinson, the granddaughter of Amherst College's founding father, led a secretive life. As she grew older, Dickinson wore only white dresses and rarely ventured from her home, which is still preserved on Main Street.

Her 56 years of intense and passionate life were never fully understood or recognized until after her death in 1886, when her nearly 1800 poems, reflecting her hidden emotions, were discovered by her friends.

While alive, Dickinson had published only seven poems.

When she was fifteen, Dickinson wrote in a letter to her friend "I am growing handsome very fast indeed! I expect I shall be the Belle of Amherst when I reach my 17th year."

Julie Harris begins to portray Dickinson at this point. The play centers around Dickinson's homestead, the lonely stage of her life.

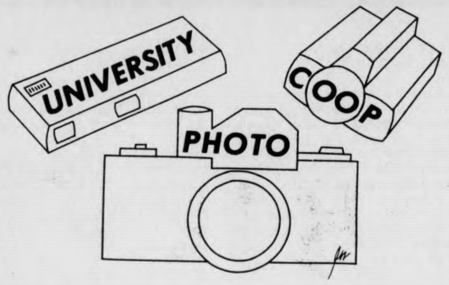


IF you are a serious student or educator, you're probably just as serious about your appearance. For the best in dry cleaning or related services....

1) Braff's
2) Hungry-U
3) Fire Station
4) Post Office

Braff's Royl
Cleaners
103 N. Pleasant Street
256-8288

NOW OPEN



FILMS

PAPER cameras

ON ORDER

DARKROOM SUPPLIES

KODACOLOR 12 exp. $1.13
VERICOLOR 20 exp. $1.67
KODACHROME 64 20 exp. $1.87
SX-70 $5.05 TYPE 108 $4.55

Rm. 409 SUB
MON.-FRI. 9am-4:30 pm

JOIN THE IN GROUP
For '77
SUMMER ART AND SPANISH
In Mexico
Twelve Transferrable Credits
Six Weeks In
SAN MIGUEL DE ALLENDE
Delightful, Historic Art Center
Place of Fiestas, Siestas,
Romance and Culture
Extensive Course Selection
Undergraduate and Graduate Florida University System
Program
June 20 July 29. Contact
Dean, Continuing Education
Florida Atlantic University
Boca Raton, Florida 33431
Tel 305 395 5100 Ext 2391

god doesn't make junk

You have something to share with the people of the rural South and Appalachia — yourself. Find out how you can help, as a Catholic Brother, Sister, or Priest. Your request will be treated confidentially.

☐ I'd like information about opportunities with the Glenmary Missioners

Glenmary Missioners Room 23-32
Box 46404
Cincinnati, Ohio 45246
Name__________
Address__________
City__________
Zip__________
State__________
Age__________

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

Read the Collegian Classifieds

JQA LOWER &
G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT
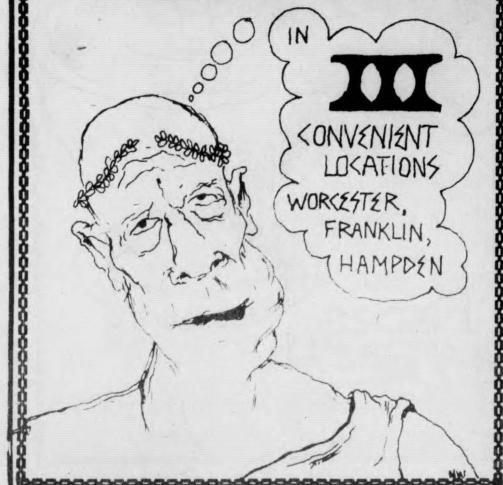
orchestra
LUNA

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 8 PM

UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3

Tickets on sale now at
FAC Box Office & Ticketron

On your way to the Forum
Shop at MUNCHYS



The Transcendental Meditation Program
Introductory Lecture
This Weds Mar 16
7:30 pm
Herter 225
for more info. 549-5335
SIMS a non- profit ed. org.

The Great Pretenders

thursday march 17

St. Pats Day
$1.00 cover

Hatch

Assassination attempt

Gandhi's son escapes

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Sanjay Gandhi, controversial son of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, narrowly escaped assassination yesterday when gunmen fired five shots at his jeep, the national news agency Samachar reported.

Samachar said the incident occurred as the 30-year-old Gandhi ended his campaign for a parliament seat and was returning to his election office in Amethi constituency, about 320 miles southeast of New Delhi.

The agency said three shots hit the jeep and two others went astray. It said one of Gandhi's bodyguards returned the fire.

The agency quoted a report from a district magistrate which said, "Some of the bullets hit the seat and the body of the jeep, but Mr. Gandhi had a miraculous escape."

It was the first reported attempt on Gandhi's life.

Gandhi became one of his mother's closest advisers and a major political power in India after the prime minister imposed a nationwide emergency June 26, 1975.

Gandhi's rise to prominence angered many longtime members of the ruling Congress party as well as others who dubbed him the "Crown Prince." They charged that Mrs. Gandhi, daughter of Jawaharlal Nehru, India's first prime minister, was grooming Sanjay to succeed her.

He also became a prime backer of the intensive family planning program launched after the state of emergency was declared. This made him a target for widespread anger in many parts of northern India over forced sterilizations carried out as part of that program.

Gandhi's only position has been as an appointed official of the Congress party's youth wing. He has campaigned for parliament from what party officials thought was a "safe seat" in the constituency adjoining his mother's.

There has been widespread resentment even in that constituency, Amethi, over compulsory sterilizations. Rioting occurred last year in a city just outside the district to protest forced sterilization of men.

Voting in Amethi will take place Wednesday.

Mrs. Gandhi's non-Communist opponents have made Sanjay Gandhi and his power during the emergency an issue in the national campaign for parliament.

They have derided what they called a government of "one and a half persons" — Mrs. Gandhi and her son — and have tried to capitalize on resentment at his role in the past 20 months.

Many political analysts feel much of Mrs. Gandhi's trouble in the current campaign stems from anger against Sanjay. The three founders of the opposition Congress for Democracy party are united in their dislike of Sanjay and resentment over his treatment of them.

The pro-Moscow Communists, although allied with Mrs. Gandhi through the emergency, opposed Sanjay because of what they considered to be his capitalist views and because of his harsh comments about members of their party.

Leaky tanker drained

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — The Coast Guard yesterday began to empty a Liberian oil tanker which was leaking fuel oil when it sailed into South Portland harbor four days ago after a stormy Atlantic crossing.

The Coast Guard took command of the tanker Anco Elias after its master asked that an order directing the vessel to leave U.S. waters be suspended on the grounds it was not seaworthy.

Cmdr. John Ekman, head of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Portland, said the tanker began leaking a small amount of No. 2 fuel oil shortly after its arrival at the Chevron pier Friday.

The oil was transferred out of the compartment where the leak was thought to be occurring, Ekman said, but more leakage was discovered Sunday morning.

The 550-foot ship then was ordered out of the harbor, but the ship's master and its crew of about 30 asked that it not be forced to return to sea because it was not seaworthy.

The agents for the ship, Peabody and Lane Inc., said the tanker encountered a storm en route from Spain and said "the rolling and pitching in the high seas probably worked a crack in there."

Because of choppy seas, the Coast Guard said it is impossible to determine how much No. 2 fuel oil had seeped into the south harbor area near the Chevron terminal. A double boom was in place to contain the spilled oil, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The Coast Guard spokesman said it could take two or three days to empty the ship's cargo into vessels which were in place alongside the Anco Elias and to allow for a thorough inspection of the damage.

Once the ship is empty, it will be allowed to cruise slowly to a shipyard south of Portland for repairs, the spokesman said.

Search ends for labor leader

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The search for labor leader Al Bramlet, who led a strike last spring which closed most of the hotel-casinos on the Las Vegas Strip, was called off yesterday after a week of scouring the Nevada desert.

Metropolitan Police Lieutenant Walter Butt said police and members of the sheriff's jeep posse found nothing during their seven-day search of the area south and west of Las Vegas. On the strength of an informant who claimed to have seen Bramlet killed and his body dumped in the desert, police searched from Interstate 15 to the Clark County line.

Butt said the search will be resumed if some other information comes up.

Bramlet disappeared from McCarran International Airport Feb. 24 after returning from a business trip to Reno. A Hughes Airwest stewardess told police she recalled seeing him on the flight.

Bramlet, head of the 22,000-member Culinary Workers Local 226, called his daughter after the flight arrived at McCarran and said he would be home in 30 minutes. He never arrived.

Test Prep Services
358 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 549-5136

LSAT
6, 4-Hr. meetings covering cases & principles, practical judgement, evaluation of facts, various logic sections, data comparison, writing ability, new question types.
Meeting times:
Thurs. 1:30-5:30,
6:00-10:00

MCAT
6, 4 Hr. meetings covering biology, chemistry & physics as well as the new MCAT skills analysis question types.
Meeting days and times
Wed., Thurs.
6:00-10:00 p.m.
Sat. classes scheduled for April

TPS' flexible programs permit you to arrange classes around your schedule, not vice versa. Most courses are held continuously throughout the year and all make-up sessions are LIVE. Weekend crash courses scheduled the two weekends prior to each exam. You can always count on a TPS program to meet your needs. Our 24-Hr. courses, plus 11 hrs. of extras lets you take advantage of 35 hours of live instruction with a top-scoring specialist.

Call to reserve a place in our weekly
FREE INTRODUCTORY CLASS
Held every Tues. evening 6:30 to 9:30

News in Brief

Fate of missing GIs questioned

HONOLULU [UPI] — The first official U.S. delegation to visit Vietnam since the 1975 Communist victory conferred with military morgue officials yesterday en route to Hanoi to learn what happened to 2,550 Americans missing in Indochina.

Members of President Carter's five-member commission, led by United Automobile Workers President Leonard Woodcock, said they hoped Vietnam will hand over the remains of at least 12 missing Americans and explaining what happened to many others.

Student rioting condemned

ROME [UPI] — Italy's political parties yesterday condemned the student violence that injured 21 persons in weekend riots.

The universities of Rome and Bologna were closed by the disorders which swept Rome, Bologna and other cities. Fourteen policemen were seriously injured, and one was in critical condition with a bullet in his spine.

Gunman hijacks jet

MADRID, Spain [UPI] — An Italian man armed with a rifle and a pistol hijacked a Spanish jet over the Mediterranean yesterday and ordered it to the Ivory Coast, where he demanded a ransom and freedom for the 3-year-old daughter he said was detained there.

The national news agency Cifra said the three-engine Boeing 727, landed safely in Abidjan, capital of the West African country.

$30 per month not enough

BOSTON [UPI] — About 100 nursing home residents called on members of a legislative committee yesterday to boost monthly personal needs allowances back to the level they were at five years ago.

The nursing home patients told members of the Health Care Committee they could not survive on the $30 a month allowance now provided. Several of the speakers noted the payment was cut back to $30 from $48 several years ago.

More evacuated

KINSHASA, Zaire (UPI) — U.S. spokesperson yesterday reported seven more Americans have been evacuated from the southern battle zone where thousands of troops have invaded cooper-rich Shaba province from neighboring Angola.

'Fraudulent' ads

BOSTON (UPI) — A state senator yesterday asked a legislative panel to endorse his bill banning what he called "fraudulent" political ads purchased with public money by officials like Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

Teen's mother appeals to killer

CINCINNATI (UPI) — In two emotional "open letters", the mother of a 15-year-old girl found murdered two weeks ago appealed yesterday for the murderer to turn himself in and advised youngsters to stay away from drugs.

Mary Farquer of Cincinnati asked the Cincinnati Post to print two letters — one to her daughter's unknown killer and the other to her daughter's friends and other youngsters.

The body of Elaina Marie Bear, 15, was found Feb. 28, in a creek bed near Wilmington, Ohio, north of Cincinnati. Her best friend said she had been involved in drugs. The discovery of Miss Bear's body has touched off an investigation to determine if her death and the murders of eight other young women in the area in the past two years are related.

In an open letter addressed, "To my daughter's murderer," Mrs. Farquer said:

"I have just left the graveside of my daughter Elaina. It was the most heartbreaking and sorrowful thing this family has ever had to do.

ImproVisions
the new T.V. magazine show, will premiere on Tuesday the 15th on the Campus Center Concourse and on Wednesday in the back of the Hatch around 11:30.

We'll meet the roseman at UMASS and find out about Easy Rider, plus stereo tips, some music reviews
and MUCH more

WATER PIPES!

Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Poor Richards
TUESDAY
25c Drafts
$2.00 pitchers
ALL NIGHT

de·moc·ra·cy : a government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly or indirectly through a system of representation usually involving periodically held free elections

TODAY AND TOMORROW VOTE FOR YOUR 10am–8pm

Student Government Association Co-Presidents

Polling Places

Southwest, from Crampton north–Hampshire Dining Commons
Southwest, from Mackimmie south–Berkshire Dining Commons
Sylvan and Northeast–Worcester Dining Commons
Central–Franklin Dining Commons
Orchard Hill–Dickinson Dormitory
Commuters and Greeks–Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union

VOTE ✓

TODAY & TOMORROW

SGA ELECTIONS !

- PRESIDENT
- board of governors
- referendum

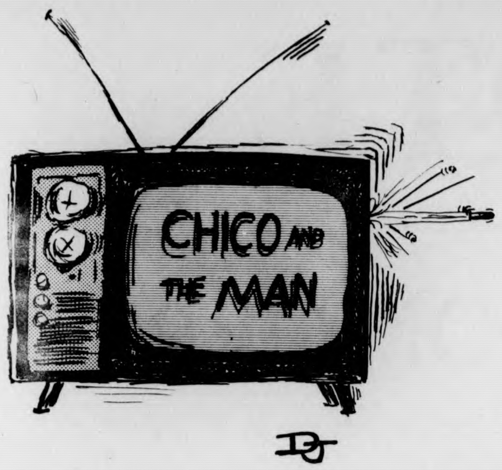
X

10 AM To 8 PM

POLLING PLACES

Southwest, from Crampton north–Hampshire Dining Commons
Southwest, from Mackimmie south–Berkshire Dining Commons
Sylvan and Northeast–Worcester Dining Commons
Central–Franklin Dining Commons
Orchard Hill–Dickinson Dormitory
Commuters and Greeks–Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union



Item: NBC wins this year's "Poor Taste" award for running "Chico and the Man" after Freddy Prinze's suicide. Dick Janssen takes a close second for his commentary on it.

letters

Endorsements

Foley-Tyson

To the Editor:

In the current SGA presidential campaign, a few issues come to the forefront. Since all of the candidates profess to believe in Unionization, more and better student services, affirmative action, and better communications, issues such as the degree of real concern for students, innovative ideas, and knowledge of the budget — which has to be a major concern — must be considered. I feel that in these areas John Foley and Herb Tyson have the knowledge, concern and new ideas that can make things happen for the benefit of students. Therefore, I urge all students to support Herb Tyson and John Foley in the SGA elections this Tuesday and Wednesday. Thank you for your time.

Chris Durkin, Pres.
Southwest Assembly

To the Editor:

My name is Tommy Kerrins and I am Treasurer of the Student Government. I was elected to be responsible for the 1.1 million dollar S.A.T.F. budget.

I would like to take this opportunity to warmly endorse the candidacy of John Foley and Herb Tyson for S.G.A. Co-Presidents. My position affords me the opportunity to observe and work with people involved with Student Government. Herb and John are new on the political horizon, and in my opinion are head and shoulders above the rest of the field in both sincerity and honesty. In a campaign where Student Services and Economic Development are the key issues, John and Herb have displayed experience and a desire to transfer these issues into reality.

Therefore, I would urge you, the Student Body, to come out and vote on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 15 and 16, for Herb and John.

Thomas Kerrins
Treasurer, Student Senate

To the Editor:

At this time we would like to announce our endorsement of John Foley and Herb Tyson for S.G.A. co-presidents.

We foresee the student services that we are involved with, the planning of major events, being vastly improved with the assistance of John and Herb.

Both are extremely involved in the Spring Concert. We would like to stress that John Foley was instrumental in seeing that the concert exist this year. When the concert was in danger John helped to develop a plan where the Senate would sponsor it.

Foley and Tyson are also strong advocates of the recently approved University Program Council.

Programming of major events is something that students actually have control over. With Foley and Tyson elected we would see a sharp increase in both the amount of programs and the quality of the programs. We urge everyone to vote today and tomorrow.

David Kantor
Chairperson, Spring Concert Comm.
Bonnie Levetin
Co-chairperson Program Council
Music Comm.

Hite-Batiste

To the Editor:

We want to take this opportunity to urge every student to vote in the SGA Presidential elections being held today, and to cast their ballots for Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite.

There is absolutely no question in our minds that Pinky and Jon are the only candidates with the qualifications to represent students' interests in the coming year, and we are confident that they will be major forces in improving our lives as students.

There are other candidates in this election, who are sincere in their desire to be president, but they lack the honesty, experience, and vision to handle a multi-million dollar student financial empire.

Please join us in voting for Pinky and Jon. As we've been out campaigning for them, we've found that people really do care about what happens to the University. We know that Pinky and Jon will be working toward the future, and we are happy to endorse them.

Paul Cronin
Jay Martus
SGA Co-Presidents

To the Editor:

Today and tomorrow are election days for President of the Student Government Association. It's easy to be apathetic about student government, since most schools have nothing better than a glorified student council.

But UMass is different. We are pioneers in offering services to students at the lowest possible cost, and for protecting the rights of students in the University and the community.

But it doesn't happen by itself. If we are to maintain our position of leadership in the country, then we need strong, creative leadership in the SGA.

The only candidates who can offer that kind of leadership are Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite. Their qualifications are unmatched, and their vision will carry us through the difficult year ahead.

Too often, elections seem to be nothing more than a choice among evils for an office that has lost its meaning. But not this time. Pinky and Jon will be good presidents by any standard, and they will constantly be on guard to make sure that your money doesn't get lost in the multi-million dollar student financial empire.

Voting is relatively easy this year. Commuters and Greeks vote in the Cape Cod Lounge in the Student Union, people from Orchard Hill vote in Dickinson, and all other on-campus students vote in the dining commons. Take a minute to vote for Pinky and Jon. You'll be paid back for your trouble again and again in the next year.

Robert Levine

Correction

In yesterday's Collegian the letter entitled, "To the Organization of Arab Students," was not written by Jeff Kalish of the Student Organizing Project. Rather, Kalish wrote the letter that followed (Vote for the Student Activites Tax"), not the Speaker of the Student Senate as was printed.

from our perspective

Batiste-Hite

Today and tomorrow, the student body will cast ballots to decide who will be the next SGA President. An exercise in futility? Not necessarily. While the "superfluousness" of student government is often a topic of conversation, three things cannot be denied:

> —the Student Government Association oversees the activities of over 500 Recognized Student Organizations such as WMUA, the Lecture Note Service, and the Collegian, to name just a few;
>
> —the SGA, for all intents and purposes, has exclusive control over more than one million dollars of your money, namely the Student Activities Tax Fund;
>
> —the SGA President is a member of the Board of Trustees and serves as your liaison with the University administration and the State Legislature.

Three major areas of responsibility? Certainly. Then why is the importance of the SGA so often belittled? Why is the SGA so often made to seem mediocre? Clearly the responsibilities of the SGA just outlined attest to its importance. But if it isn't the SGA's responsibilities that belittle its importance, then maybe it's the abilities of the people who carry out those responsibilities. This is why we feel it is important for students to make the right decision today (or tomorrow) when they vote. This is why we endorse the candidacy of Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite.

In a presidential campaign where the issues have been clouded, one qualification must stand out:

Charles Pooler and Joel Weissman have listed their memberships in the Revolutionary Student Brigade as qualifications.

Herb Tyson has been an Undergraduate Student Senator and a member of the Senate Budget Committee, both for one year and a member of the Senate Economic Development Committee.

John Foley has been an Undergraduate Student Senator and a member of the Senate Budget Committee for two years. He has also served as president of the Board of Directors of the Top of the Campus Inc. and a member of the Board of Directors for the UMass Student Federal Credit Union. He has also served as co-chairperson of the Budget Committee.

But we feel Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite have experience unmatched by the other candidates.

Batiste has been a floor counselor for two and a half years; the founder of the Orchard Hill-Central Academic Affairs Committee; active in the Orchard Hill Area Government for three years; and student senator for two terms. She understands the needs of students, the requirements of quality education, and the workings or area and campus-wide student government.

Hite has been Speaker of the Student Senate and a member of the Senate's Budgets Committee; elected to the Amherst Town Meeting twice; and a member of the Amherst Town Democratic Committee and the UMass Democrats. He is familiar with the workings of the SGA, and understands the relationships among the Town of Amherst, the University, the State Legislature, and the students themselves.

The Student Government Association needs honest, experienced leadership. Students have waited too long for leaders like Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite. It's time we gave them a shot at it.

This editorial represents the opinion of a majority of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Further endorsements

The following individuals and-or organizations sent letters of endorsement for the following candidates or referenda:

In favor of the SATF fee hike:

The staff of the Off-Campus Housing Office
William M. Bluestein
SOP Board
Carol Entin
President, Coalition for Environmental Quality and 31 others from SOP, Stockbridge Senate, SCER, LSO, Earthfoods, Gamma Sigma Sigma, People's Market, Commuters Collective, Union Stereo Co-op, RSO Craft Shop, Recycling Project, Student Video Project, United Christian Foundation.

In favor of Batiste-Hite:

Diana Fessenden
Vice President, Southwest Assembly
Thatcher House Council
Bryan Harvey
Communications Director, SGA

---

mark wilding

In memoriam: Albert Sparks

He has departed as did Samson, shorn yet still thrashing about the fray, defiant in defeat, waxing eloquent amid collapse. Head of Baroque Enterprises, he was campus bon-vivant and altruist Albert Sparks, as pleasant a character as Shylock, though somewhat less engaging.

When I first heard of his organization I thought, "Oh, how marvelous! Here was someone who meant to further the arts on campus!" Surely imitators would soon follow with Gothic Enterprises, Medieval Enterprises, and quite possibly early Renaissance Enterprises (my favorite period). But perfidious Albert was peddling a vastly different kind of art. He was in the movies, and instead of Rembrandt we were to have Reems, and rather than gaze at the Mona Lisa we would gulp at Lovelace.

And for a year and a half we did just that, but Dean Field's rejection last Thursday of further Baroque activities, leaves the campus without porn and our man Albert without income.

Personally, I shall miss him. He possessed a dry wit and keen sensitivity. Note his comment to a Collegian reporter last Thursday. Upon viewing fifty women outside the Public Health Building picketing his latest endeavor, "Portraits", he remarked, "If I knew that there was going to be this many broads around, I would have set up some Tampax dispensers." Such glibness should not go unrewarded. Albert, you deserve a closer look at yourself, as does the rest of the campus. Herewith is a brief history of our fond Albert and the campus Delilahs who brought about his demise.

There was one organization in particular that attempted to reveal Albert for what he was. They failed at the time only because they went about their task with garden shears instead of scissors. They called themselves P.I.S.S.E.D., for People Investigating Sparks Suspicious Educational Drives. That's quite a mouthful, even for Linda Lovelace.

Their investigation revealed some interesting facts about Albert. Although enrolled as a student he never registered for courses, thus his class attendance was pretty dismal. Of course he was pretty busy with his RSO group, the distinguished Baroque Enterprises. Now the RSO has a policy that any RSO group can only schedule two film dates in a semester. Albert, seeing rough seas ahead, simply drew up charters for other RSO organizations, bearing such eminent names as Freaks Unlimited and Good Guys. By the time he was finished creating all these babies, he had a dozen film dates.

Last fall, as many of you remember, Albert was to put on a couple of his money-making baubles in the Hampden D.C. in Southwest. The Southwest assembly, spearheaded by P.I.S.S.E.D., plainly did not wish to have Albert skulking about peddling his lifeblood. At this juncture the mistake was made, for instead of voting to ban Albert Sparks from Southwest, they voted rather to ban all pornography, an admirable yet unconstitutional undertaking. They lost their case and the efforts of P.I.S.S.E.D. went down the drain.

This semester however, the tale has a different and far more conclusive ending. You see Albert is no longer a student. Hence the Baroque Enterprises charter has as much legitimacy as a Howard Hughes will.

As a last gasp the indomitable Sparks has promised us a striptease show, but the fire is gone from the dragon, and we are left with the charred beast. I'm sure Albert will go on to better things, for his is a crusty, enduring sort who will make the bucks, and then buffeted by the inexorable winds of moral outrage, move on to fresher grounds.

It is an unenviable lot.

Mark Wilding is a Collegian Columnist.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

more letters

Freedom to oppress?

To the Editor:

It was with great shock and dismay that I read Dick Janssen's cartoon in today's Collegian. While, as Barbara Sizemore pointed out, there are always individuals in every group who do not act in their own apparent interests, e.g. women who are not feminists, this is not a value-free observation. It is one thing for an oppressed group to recognize that some of its members have been so coopted by the dominant culture as to be oblivious of their own reality; it is quite another for an outsider, one of the oppressors, to use the same observation to discredit our struggle.

Janssen has, in this strip, displayed not only poor taste, which is excusible, but terrorism, which is not. The Collegian Editors, in failing to exercise their responsibilities, have violated the anti-sexist, anti-oppression policy of the SGA and the GSS, as well as what they, themselves, profess.

OPPRESSION IS NOT A MATTER OF BAD TASTE.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS IS NOT FREEDOM TO OPPRESS.

Barbara Stack
Grad Student

Baroque: Between the lines

To the Editor:

The decision to ban pornographic film showings on campus was portrayed by the Collegian as an administrative tour-de-force, to the great dismay and anger of the numbers involved in the organization of last Thursday's demonstration decrying sexual exploitation.

Though the administration employed its authority regarding this matter, it is mandatory to recognize that in the past, the university administration has failed to take action against Baroque Enterprises.

It is obvious to the Coalition to Stop Sexual Exploitation on Campus, that student action was both the catalyst and the means for securing the ban on pornography and disenfranchising Baroque Enterprises. Collegian coverage of this event trivialized its gravity by printing inane sexist quips of a Baroque representative, while de-emphasizing the impact of community action.

Michele Wiseman and 50 others of the Coalition

Cleaning up

To the Editor:

I, as many of my peers at the University, was pleased at the sudden change in the weather. It seemed that the warm weather was accompanied by something a little less desirable — LITTER! Large groups of students were seen playing frisbee, studying by the pond, and hanging out at the Campus Center and Student Union. What many did not see in these same areas at the end of the day were the endless amounts of garbage strewn everywhere. We, as students are quick to criticize our elders for the "mess" they are leaving to us. I wonder, are we the generation with a raised consciousness and heightened awareness of our environment? Maybe not. Let's clean up our act.

David S. Pulda

Action on increases

To the Editor:

So now the undergraduate student body is about to go to the polls to decide whether the services it gets are worth an increase of $7 next year. Of course they are. We in the Graduate Senate decided, long before the "fiscal crisis" created by the state Alliance settlement, that we would have to increase our Student Tax by $8 to offer the range of services demanded by the graduate students on campus.

Many groups have already written in, detailing the benefits that would be maintained, after a fashion, if the $7 increase goes through. I don't need to repeat their urgency here.

What I am worried about, though, is that a much larger schedule of fee increases is set to go through the Trustees in a month or sooner, without the slightest whimper of protest from students. This is worse because those of us who are student leaders, who should be worried about a $275 tuition-and-fees increase, are slugging it out over the most useful 3 per cent of the entire package.

And this $275 extra is going for a decrease of services. If the final budget voted isn't close to the UMass request, we're going to see a lot of programs closed up, people, especially our inadequate janitorial staff, fired, and so on.

Those of us from last year remember the fuss stirred up over a $70 rent increase, that we got back to $45. The people who led us then did a really good job.

This year we have a different story. There is a group of SGA leaders called the Coordinating Committee. They have been, making it very clear that even with the $7 fee increase, that services are going to be cut back.

Meanwhile, they have been busily expanding their own staff, while requiring other services to report to them. This staff expansion has been taking place whether or not the $7 is voted for, as of now. So next year, if you find you have to wait six weeks to speak to a lawyer at LSO because the house you had to dig up yourself (without help from the Off Campus Housing Office) is terrible, well, there will be a whole new set of bureaucrats in the SGA Office to listen to your complaints. They weren't there a year ago, but then, they didn't need to be.

The statements and actions of the SGA Presidential tickets have not been encouraging. Batiste-Hite voted for the staff increase, but voted against the $7 in the Senate. Now they say they want quality service for students — but they're likely to get quality services for themselves.

Foley-Tyson are at least honest. They voted for the $7 in the Senate, and seem somewhat aware that this massive fee increase might happen and that they're against it.

Pooler-Weissman are out of it, as far as on-campus issues. Sure, we should worry about South Africa, but really, if no one can afford to go to school here, there's not much point in mobilizing the remnants to worry about what's happening 10,000 miles from here.

I really can't contrast this with statements of any candidates for GSS Presidency, because right now we're not sure of who's going to run. But at the least, we passed a more than adequate tax increase, to make our services better, not just stagnant. Plus, within a year, we will be having elections to determine our own student union. Action after all is better than talk. And more revealing.

Mike Federow
President
Graduate Student Senate

A racist point of view?

To the Editor:

The Nummo News received $17,237 for 1976-77 from the Student Activity Tax Fees. The Student Senate appropriated the sum; the Board of Trustees of UMass gave overall approval. I feel that the Nummo News can be characterized in part as having RACIST and ANTI-SEMITIC editorial content. I raise this question: is it legal to use student levies to contravene the various Civil Rights Acts?

Nummo News published excerpts from a recent broadcast by President Idi Amin in an article entitled: "PATRIOT IDI AMIN DADA." PATRIOT Amin said: " ... The U.S. Government and the American people should not be used as exhaust pipes of the Zionist Israel lorries." This is a perfectly honed Anti-semitic insult. If you cannot understand the significance, read "The Final Solution" or "Treblinka."

PATRIOT Amin: "It seems that any American president who does not support Zionist Israel is gunned down." Is this Hitler warning the German masses about the virulent Jewish pestilence?

I invite the Collegian to reproduce on this page the hangman drawing with bulging Star of David eyes which appeared Feb. 14 on page 5. Jews definitely react to it as hateful Anti-semitism. Why did the staff of Nummo News choose to publish it? For what purpose?

I quote from the article by Akbar Muhammad Ahmed entitled: "The Education of the Black Nationalist Child." "All Black children should be restricted in the watching of TV. The devil is very wise in projecting negative 'Negro' images ... Good and evil for the Black child must be black representing good and white evil and wrong." In the words of certain Black Muslim leaders, the "devil" is the white man. I say, racism can be uttered by a Third World mouth and has been occasionally applauded publicly.

Each article appearing in the Nummo News is solely the opinion of its author and it may be newsworthy. However, the content, titling and arrangement of each issue of Nummo News represents a conscious editorial selection process by the on-campus staff. Why has the Nummo News ceased to publish editorial board credits?

Read the Nummo News thoroughly and critically; then demand that they finance themselves.

Stephen A. Modena

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Seminar on wood presented today

A four-part seminar on wood will be presented today from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Herter 231. The panel will consist of representatives from the American Institute of Timber Construction, American Plywood Association, Southern Forest Products Association and the Southern Pressure Treaters Association. Each speaker's slide presentation will be followed by discussion period.

Open rush tonight at Phi Mu Delta

The brothers of Phi Mu Delta invite all University men to attend an open rush tonight at 9:00. Phi Mu Delta is located in Fraternity-Sorority Park on East Pleasant St. Take the Orchard Hill bus route or call the house at 545-2163-256-9034 for transportation or information. Beer and pizza will be served, come and see what fraternity life has to offer you.

New TV magazine to premiere today

ImproVisions, the new TV magazine, will premiere today on the Campus Center Concourse and on Wednesday in back of the Hatch.

We'll meet the roseman at UMass and find out about Easy Rider, the computerized ride service. We'll see what the check cashing demonstration was about and what the UMass Outing Club is up to. Plus we'll get some stereo tips and some record reviews, and more.

Hillel to present three short films

Three films dealing with various aspects of Jewish artistic expression will be shown tonight in Thompson 104 beginning at 8:00.

The first film, "Ladies and Gentlemen: Mr. Leonard Cohen" is a candid and often humorous profile of the well known Canadian poet.

This concluding event at UMass of the Third Annual Five College Jewish Arts Festival is free and open to all.

Dog Club to hold rabies clinic Wed.

The UMass Dog Club in conjunction with Alpha Zeta will hold a rabies clinic on Wednesday in Grinnel Arena from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. The purpose of this clinic is to provide the rabies vaccination needed to obtain a dog's license.

A table will be set up in the Campus Center Tuesday and Wednesday from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Sign-ups and questions regarding the clinic will be handled then. If you are not able to sign up at the table and wish to bring your dog to the clinic, let us know by sending your name and how many dogs you'll be bringing to 411 Paige Lab by March 18.

Tickets on sale for Russian concert

Tickets are now on sale for the world-famous Osipov Balalaika Orchestra of Russia, which will perform in concert Monday, April 4, at the Fine Arts Center.

Direct from Moscow, the company of 75 under the direction of conductor Victor Dubrovsky features singers and dancers of the celebrated Bolshoi Opera Company and dancers of the Grand Bolshoi Ballet.

The Osipov performance in Amherst is part of a 70 city tour throughout the United States. The Balalaika is the national instrument of Russia. Along with the dancers and singers the audience can experience the "Soul of Russia" in song and dance in a heart-warming, foot-tapping entertainment for which the official orchestra is well known.

TURN TO PAGE 11

Volunteer Summer Program

June 25-August 14, 1977

The program combines a Christian community living experience with volunteer service to the poor. The program is open to single men 18-30. Write or call Philip Giroux, OMI, 100 Cushing Street, Cambridge Ma., 02138. (Tel. 617-868-3740)

STUDENTS!

to take survey at

SHOWCASE CINEMA

Wed. 3-30, 4-12

Eves. 6:45-10:45

Sat. & Sun. 1-5

Call 733-5133

Mrs. Beebe

Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

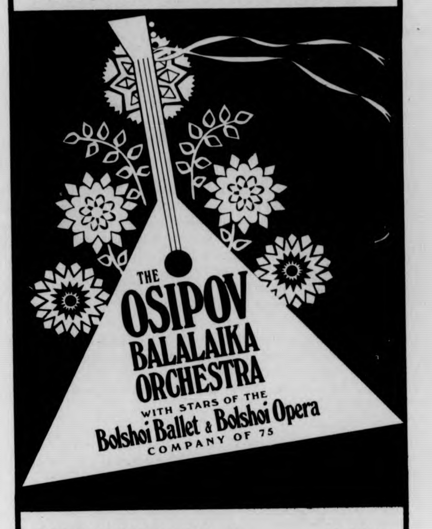
NO FLUKES

DVP is looking for new sources of energy.

Applications for membership are available at C.C. Information Desk and Room 415 S.U. March 1-18.

University of Massachusetts / Amherst

FINE ARTS CENTER PRESENTS



MONDAY, APRIL 4 8 PM

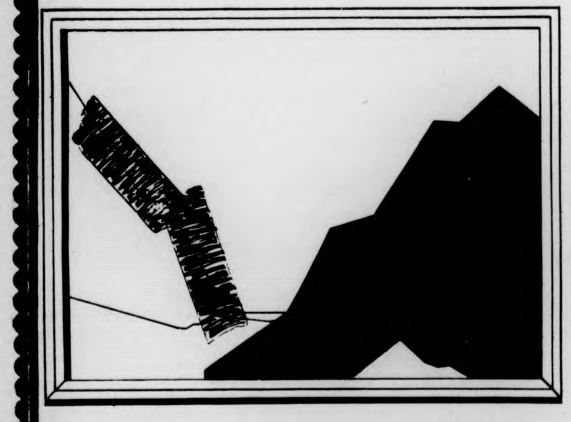
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL

Tickets now on sale. $7, 6, 5. UM-A - $5, 4, 3. Other students and senior citizens $6, 5, 4.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE

........and GONE



A musical play about the struggles of a black New York family in the sixties

by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord

with The Voices of th New Africa House Workshop Choir

Horace C. Boyer, conductor

March 15, 16, 17 1977 at 8 PM

tickets $ 1.50

Bowker Auditorium

Now being sold at

Campus Center Concourse and Bowker Box Office

co-sponsor - Program Council Music

Off I go... to be who I am, doing the things I want to do. Alive and glowing, secure in knowing nothing can stop me now.

For freedom like this, especially during your menstrual period, trust your protection to Tampax tampons. More women use them than all other tampons combined. The slim, smooth, prelubricated container-applicator makes Tampax tampons comfortable to insert. Removal is no problem, either. The withdrawal cord is chain stitched the entire length of the tampon and can't pull off.

Tampax tampons. Helping me be everyday that one special person... me!

The internal protection more women trust

TAMPAX® tampons

MADE ONLY BY TAMPAX INCORPORATED, PALMER, MASS.

CONT. FROM PAGE 10

Women's disco held tonight

The Lesbian Union will sponsor a women's disco at Farley Lodge tonight from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Donation is $1 to benefit the Common Woman Club. BYOB. All women welcome.

Athletic Council to meet at NOPE

The first organizational meeting for the Women's Athletic Council will be tonight at 7:00 in NOPE lounge. The goals of this council are to reach all women participating in physical activities at UMass to have them use their input to benefit the athletic department program.

We hope to help women with any problems they face when participating in intramurals, GPE, PEP, intercollegiate athletics and free play. Locker room security and thefts are one important concern. Membership is open to all those men and women in the University community.

Women's Center presents workshop

The Orchard Hill Women's Center will present a workshop entitled "How You See Yourself," tonight at 9:30 in Field Main Lounge. The workshop will feature the slide show "Women in Advertising" as well as magazines posters, and newspapers dealing with women in various images. A discussion will follow the slide show.

For more information contact Carol Leanord, Field House, or the Women's Center, 5-0077.

Meeting for ATA being held tonight

The Amherst Tenants Association (ATA) will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Amherst Room of the Jones Library on Amity Street.

The agenda includes a discussion of the role of the ATA in the upcoming town elections, support of Town Meeting Warrant Articles, a report on tenants as taxpayers in Amherst, the ATA Newsletter, fundraising and more.

All Amherst tenants are welcome to come and bring ideas or proposals on the elections, rent control, and other tenant-related issues.

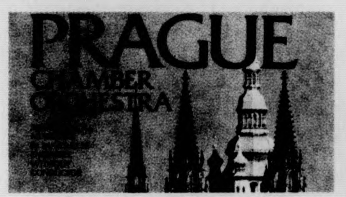
Musical play begins tonight

"Tomorrow Has Been Here and Gone," a musical play by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord, will be presented by the Voices of New Africa House Workshop Choir today through Wednesday in Bowker Auditorium.

The play deals with a black family in New York, and examines the motivations behind the race riots of

TURN TO PAGE 12

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents



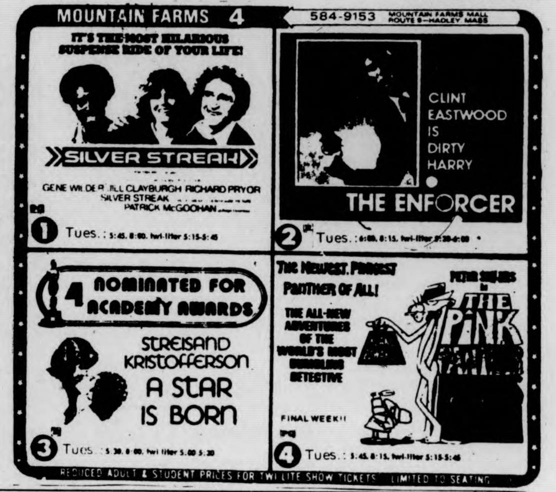
A concerto festival with
Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist

Wed., March 30 8 PM

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations



MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK
PATRICK McGOOHAN
1
Tues.: 5:45, 8:00, twi-lite 5:15-5:45
CLINT EASTWOOD IS DIRTY HARRY
THE ENFORCER
2
Tues.: 6:00, 8:15, twi-lite 5:30-6:00
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
3
Tues.: 5:30, 8:00, twi-lite 5:00-5:30
THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER
FINAL WEEK!!
PG
4
Tues.: 5:45, 8:15, twi-lite 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI LITE SHOW TICKETS LIMITED TO SEATING

SUGAR LOAF-ERS

Ski Club Meeting

WEDS., MARCH 16, 8 pm THOMPSON 104

all persons going to Sugarloaf should attend this meeting for car pool assignments, room assignments, directions and a surprise

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are:

Daily - 40¢ per line

Weekly - 35¢ per line

Monthly - 25¢ per line

(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

Buttons — pin-on type. Several on display or made to order. 50 cents each. Valley Book Shop, Carriage Shops, Amherst.

Camera pkg. Minolta 201 w-55 and 135. Lens, flash, acc. Bob, 549-6138. Many extr.

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

8 track w-FM rad. in car, stereo head phone hk-up. Exc. cond. $50 or best off. Frank 549-1872.

Martin 0016 Guitar, $300; Harmon Kardon amp, Dynaco tuner, $110. Adam, 549-0079.

TEAC tape deck, 3 hr. contin. music. Interested? Call Steve 256-0354 aft. 6 p.m.

Fishing — Mitchell Garcia 206 open spinning — $15. Ted Williams spin rod, $15. Both $25. Kirk, 546-9724.

Tires — 4 Saratoga steel belted A78-13 mounted. Dart rims. Asking $100 or B. O. Kirk, 546-9724.

Nikko TRM 500 sterio amp., excel. cond. $200 new, asking $140. Call Barry 546-9597 or 253-7549.

AUTO FOR SALE

'66 VW. Great car $295. 323-5575.

1968 Volvo 122. Many new parts. Vry good cond. $850. firm. 586-0610 aftr. 5.

'70 Dodge Challenger, 71 eng., 318 conv., 3 spd., new shocks, muffler, AM-FM. Cost. $1050 or BO. Call 6-6738, keep trying.

'67 Chevy Impala, 4 new tires, 2 new snows. Best offer. Call 549-5831 after 6.

'71 Datsun 510, 4 dr., 4 spd. Runs good. 544-6123, radials.

AUTO FOR SALE

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

1971 Datsun 510, 4 dr. Sedan, 25 mpg, AM-FM, 74,000 mil, good condition, very dependable and fun to drive $975. Call 253-2996, 6-8 p.m.

'71 Ford Torino, for sale, excellent cond. $1,200. Call 253-5684.

'69 VW needs work. Good car. $250 253-9692.

'67 Dodge V8, Coronet, auto., gd. eng. Needs brakes, spindle. $200. 268-7331, eves.

Toyota Corolla, '72, Excel. cond., lo. mi., $1300. Call 323-7622 aft. 6 o'clock.

1967 Chevy Impala wagon. Some body rust, engine still great. Call Brian, 546-6001. Asking $150.

Plymouth Fury III, '71, lo. mi., runs well. $875 or B. O. 256-0548.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'71 Kawasaki 350, for sale, excellent cond. $400. Call 253-5684.

'73 Honda CL 350, mint, 5600 miles, 586-2131.

1970 Kawasaki 500-3 cylinder, 2 stroke, black. Very fast and in good running condition. Call 549-1259 or 549-1316. $600 firm.

HELP WANTED

Sylvans Snack Bar "Subway" is hiring a new manager. Pick up applications at "Subway", McNamara Basement. Due 3-16-77.

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

A Riflery Instructor for summer boys camp on Cape. Must be 21 or older. Call 256-0224 after five

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Furn. rm. in fine country home. 247-5527.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Puf. Vil. Apt. sublet May 31 to Aug. 31, 2 bdrm. $200 mo. Call 549-1415, 5-7 p.m.

2 bdrm. Twnhse; w-w, June-Aug. 31; pool - air. Quiet. Sund. 665-3994.

Sublet Avail., 4-1. 1 bdr. in 2 bdr. apt. Call eve. 549-4830.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Own room in Bltn. Coop. $66 mo. 323-4590 Eves. Veg. nosmoke.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Good luck to the 1976-77 UMass Women's Basketball team in the regionals! Chris, Nancy, Cheryl, Ginny, Lu, Gayle, Grace, Julie, Maura, Pooh Bear, Sue, Ozzie, Pam and Lynsie.

Melanie, I just wanted to let you know that you've been doing a great job and a lot of people appreciate it. Have a nice day — TLM.

D. Happy 20th. Sorry it's late. Love, E.

Spider and Dale — It's party time in Daytona — Watch out babes. Kirko.

TRAVEL

Europe via Pan Am 707. Less than ½ economy fare. Call toll-free (6-9 p.m.) 1-800-325-4867 or see your travel agent. 60-day advance payment required. Unitravel Charters.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

WANTED

Needed: Baby food jars. Eves. 253-3868.

Wanted: Housemen for Sorority. Job for next semester. Call 549-0539.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP 67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Notices

ALTERNATIVE HEALING SEMINAR

Next meeting will be Wed. (tomorrow) at 8:30 p.m. Franklin Patterson Hall Lounge, Hampshire College. Topic: rolfing.

ATTENTION COM DIS MAJORS

There will be a meeting tonight in the Resource Center at 7 for all those interested in attending the Convention. Transportation and accommodations will be discussed.

ATTENTION POLOISTS

Finally the meeting you have all been waiting for is tonight at 6. Game and practice schedules to be discussed. Last day to pay dues. See you there.

ALL RESIDENTS OF JQA

We want to thank you for your kindness and concern early Saturday morning; it was greatly appreciated. 10th floor.

BAHA'IS

There will be a meeting of the UMASS Baha'i Club on Thursday at noon in Hills South 335. Please try and make it.

BIBLICAL EXPLORATION

Tonight from 6:45-7:45 in SU 422 for a wide open exploration of Revelation 11, a much abused but also fascinating part of the Bible. Offered by UCF, for the humanizing and liberation of the whole UMASS community.

BREAD & WINE

Tonight from 7:45-8 p.m. in SU 422, a simple, welcoming celebration of the ancient symbols of bread and wine in candle-lit circle for any and all looking for new meanings, depth, forgiveness of self and others, love and joy; or trying to get rid of outworn dogma and rigidity.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

Join us for our meeting tonight, 6-7, CC 909. Learning about the harmony of Divine Mind and its application to the campus.

DO YOU HAVE A CAR?

Would you like to go to West Virginia and canoe and cave and backpack? And have your gas paid for? All during Spring Vacation! Come to the pre-trip meeting tonight at 7 in the Outing Club Office.

FOUND

Gold-rimmed glasses in green case. At FAC bus stop. Call 253-3372.

DOG LOVERS, ANIMAL SCIENCE MAJORS, PRE-VET MEMBERS

There will be a meeting on Wed. at 7 in Stockbridge Rm 311. Our guest speaker will be Dr. Robert Smyth, the topic: Dogs — showing, breeding, etc.

FREE ANTHRO FILMS

4 films on traditional crafts: Basketry of the Popmo; Acorns; (both Ca. Indians); Loon's Necklace and Ollero Yucateco. Free at 8 p.m. tonight in Thompson 102.

HELP WANTED

Enthusiasts needed to help organize "all peoples" dance. Call Linda 6-1411.

PEOPLE WITH NON-JEWISH PARTNERS

Rap session discussing problems and possible solutions. Today at 4:30 in CC 902. All welcome.

IS BEAUTY ONLY SKIN DEEP

Find out at a FREE consultation on skin care and beauty techniques. For an appt. call Lori 6-5468 or J. McLaughlin 6-7107.

LOST

3 notebooks in SUB ladies' room on Fri. Notes are very important. Please call 6-6942.

LOST

Ring left on sink in women's bathroom first floor of the Library. Black enamel with pink and gr. design. Very special — REWARD. 549-3665.

LOST

Brown gym bag on Route 9, Amherst. REWARD. Call 6-1202.

MORTAR BOARD

Important meeting today at 7 p.m. in CC 801. Note change from original schedule. We'll be setting up election procedures for new members. Any questions call Melanie Johnson 5-3500 or 6-1216.

PHILOSOPHY UNDERGRADUATE MEETING

Brief business meeting for all Phil. undergraduates to formulate future plans.

PROGRAM COUNCIL MUSIC COMM

Meets tonight at 7:30 in the SU 415 office. All members please attend. New members welcome.

R.A. POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Chadbourne is currently selecting resident assts. for next yr. Anyone interested in applying please see Bill Harris, Head of Residence. Applications due March 28.

RESOURCES JUDAICA

There will be a meeting today at 4 for all those interested in working on a Jewish alternative newspaper on campus. Room 407 SU. 5-1578 for more info.

SCUBA CLUB

Swim into shape for Spring diving tonight at Curry Hicks pool starting 6 p.m. Bring your gear and check it out.

SEMINAR ON MEDICINE PART 4

Tonight's speaker: Barney Sneidemann, from Legal Studies. Subject: Medico-legal aspects. This is the last chance to register for the colloq. ps: Sorry about last week. Hope it won't happen again.

SKYDIVE!!

Meeting tomorrow night at 9:30 in CC 901. Members and nonmembers welcome.

STAFF POSITIONS AT MOORE HOUSE

Due by March 16. Call 6-4574 for more info.

THREE SHORT FILMS

.... sponsored by Hillel, "Ladies and Gentlemen, Mr. Leonard Cohen," "Atlateh the Goat", and "A Visit with Isaac Stein", three excellent classic films on various aspects of Jewish artistic expression.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The first organizational meeting of the Women's Athletic Council will be held today, at 7 sharp in NOPE Lounge. All are encouraged to attend.

WORKSHOP

O.H. women's center is sponsoring a workshop entitled "How We See Ourselves", featuring a slide show. Women in advertising with a discussion. 9:30 p.m. tonight in Field Main Lounge.

SEMANA LATINOAMERICANA

Tonight the New Africa House Dancers in the SUB at 7 p.m.

CONT. FROM PAGE 11

the sixties.

Admission is $1.50 and tickets will be available at the box office of Bowker Auditorium between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Southern Beef and Noodle Casserole, Liver and Onions; Bisics: Scalloped Noodles and Tomatoes, Boston Baked Soybeans.

DINNER — Spaghetti with Meatballs, Baked Ham with Raisin Sauce, Fruit Salad Plate; Basics: Three Bean Loaf, Baked Fish with Crumb Sauce.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Lazy Golompki; Basics: California Quiche, Grilled Cheese Sandwich.

DINNER — Beef Pot Roast with Jardinere Sauce, Swiss Turkey Sandwich; Basics: Soybean Loaf, Swiss Turkey Sandwich.

Amherst Travel
Consultants, Inc.
"Your travel agent"
South Pleasant Street
Amherst, Mass. 01002
256-6704

APPEARING TONIGHT:
JOHN PAYNE BAND
WED.:
BAILEY BROTHERS BAND
COMING FRI. & SAT.:
JAMES MONTGOMERY
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

BIG A AUTO PARTS

We've got auto parts for foreign cars.

WORLDPARTS
WORLDPARTS
AUTO PARTS FOR IMPORTS

Auto parts for foreign cars — quality-made replacement parts for the most popular foreign cars in town. Worldparts are made by world famous manufacturers such as Maremont . . . Bosch . . . Lange . . . Boge . . . and more than 60 others.

When your foreign car needs repairs, have your garage or service station man call us for Worldparts. Or we can give you the name and address of a foreign car expert near you.

AMERICAN PARTS
Allied Motor Parts
319 Main Street, Amherst
256-8341
SHOP SERVICE AVAILABLE
Hours: 8-5:30 M-F, 8-5 Sat.

rainbow prisms

A fine collection of hand cut strass quality crystal, high lead content and exquisite shapes project color and form when hung in a window. A perfect gift for your home, from $3 to $28.

Faces of Earth
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.
Next to Amherst Post Office

THE DEAN OF BEER'S QUICKIE QUIZ.

Q: A mini-brewery is:
a) Hidden in a basement somewhere in Greektown.
b) The result of trying to make Broken Toe, Idaho, the beer capital of the world.
c) The right way to pretest beer ingredients.
d) Both (a) and (c).

A: (c) If you answered this question (a), you obviously know something I don't.
And you are in a lot of trouble.
Now, as for the correct answer.
Yes, Schlitz actually does have a mini-brewery where they test-brew the ingredients that go into Schlitz. And if they're not right, they never go into Schlitz.
Which is something to remember the next time you're going into your favorite place for a beer.
You know which one.

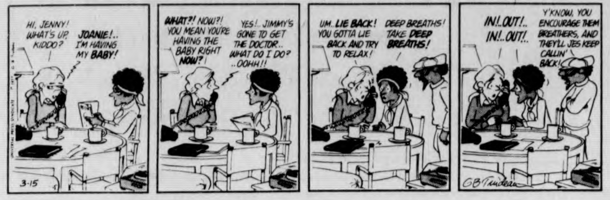
THE DEAN OF BEER

Siglinda Steinfüller
Dean of Beer

THERE'S JUST ONE WORD FOR BEER.
SCHLITZ
AND YOU KNOW IT.

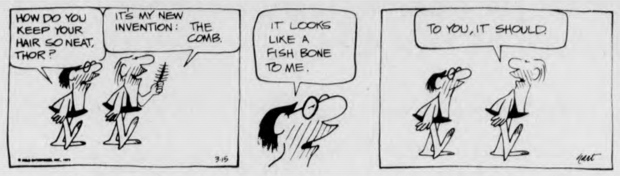
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

Valley
20 S Pleasant St
Call 2566736
M F 10-6 S 10-2



HI, JENNY! WHAT'S UP, KIDDO?
JOANIE!.. I'M HAVING MY BABY!
WHAT?! NOW?! YOU MEAN YOU'RE HAVING THE BABY RIGHT NOW?!
YES!.. JIMMY'S GONE TO GET THE DOCTOR.. WHAT DO I DO? ..OOHH!!
UM.. LIE BACK! YOU GOTTA LIE BACK AND TRY TO RELAX!
DEEP BREATHS! TAKE DEEP BREATHS!
IN!..OUT!.. IN!..OUT!..
Y'KNOW, YOU ENCOURAGE THEM BREATHERS, AND THEY'LL JES KEEP CALLIN' BACK!
3-15
GB Trudeau

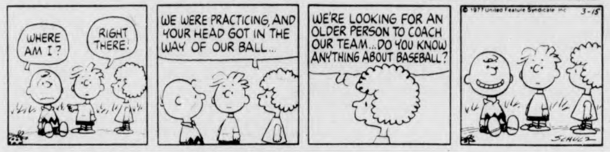
B.C. by Johnny Hart



HOW DO YOU KEEP YOUR HAIR SO NEAT, THOR?
IT'S MY NEW INVENTION: THE COMB.
IT LOOKS LIKE A FISH BONE TO ME.
TO YOU, IT SHOULD.
3-15
hart

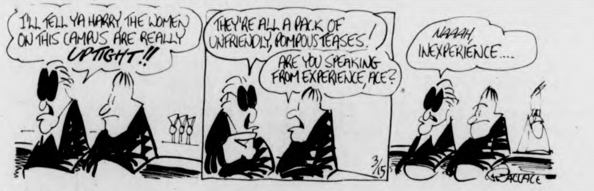
PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



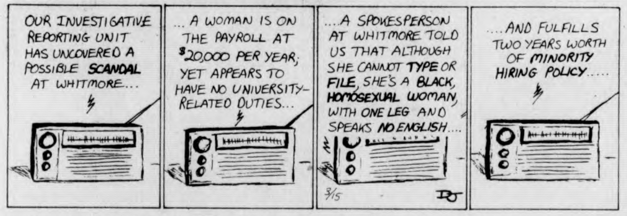
WHERE AM I?
RIGHT THERE!
WE WERE PRACTICING, AND YOUR HEAD GOT IN THE WAY OF OUR BALL...
WE'RE LOOKING FOR AN OLDER PERSON TO COACH OUR TEAM... DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT BASEBALL?
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate Inc
3-15
SCHULZ

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



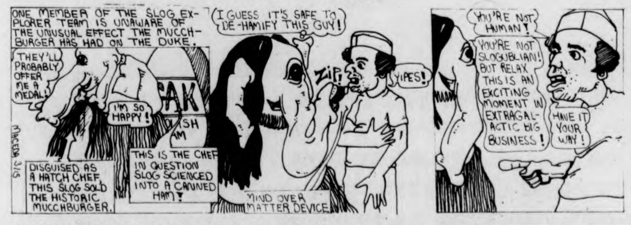
I'LL TELL YA HARRY, THE WOMEN ON THIS CAMPUS ARE REALLY UPTIGHT!!
THEY'RE ALL A PACK OF UNFRIENDLY, POMPOUS TEASES!
ARE YOU SPEAKING FROM EXPERIENCE, ACE?
NAAAH, INEXPERIENCE....
3/15
WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



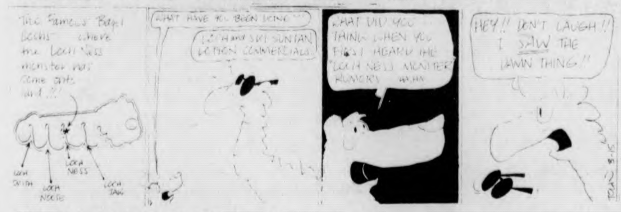
OUR INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING UNIT HAS UNCOVERED A POSSIBLE SCANDAL AT WHITMORE...
...A WOMAN IS ON THE PAYROLL AT $20,000 PER YEAR; YET APPEARS TO HAVE NO UNIVERSITY-RELATED DUTIES...
...A SPOKESPERSON AT WHITMORE TOLD US THAT ALTHOUGH SHE CANNOT TYPE OR FILE, SHE'S A BLACK, HOMOSEXUAL WOMAN, WITH ONE LEG AND SPEAKS NO ENGLISH....
...AND FULFILLS TWO YEARS WORTH OF MINORITY HIRING POLICY.....
3/15
DJ

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



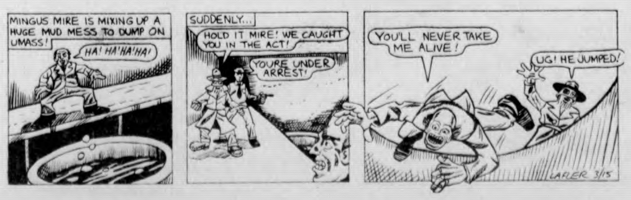
ONE MEMBER OF THE SLOG EXPLORER TEAM IS UNAWARE OF THE UNUSUAL EFFECT THE MUCCHBURGER HAS HAD ON THE DUKE.
THEY'LL PROBABLY OFFER ME A MEDAL!
I'M SO HAPPY!
DISGUISED AS A HATCH CHEF, THIS SLOG SOLD THE HISTORIC MUCCHBURGER.
I GUESS IT'S SAFE TO DE-HAMIFY THIS GUY!
ZIP!
YIPES!
THIS IS THE CHEF IN QUESTION SLOG SCIENCED INTO A CANNED HAM!
MIND OVER MATTER DEVICE
YOU'RE NOT HUMAN!
YOU'RE NOT SLOGUBLIAN! BUT RELAX THIS IS AN EXCITING MOMENT IN EXTRAGALACTIC BIG BUSINESS!
HAVE IT YOUR WAY!
MACEDA 3/15

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



WHAT HAVE YOU BEEN DOING?
LOCH AND SKI SUNTAN LOTION COMMERCIALS
WHAT DID YOU THINK WHEN YOU FIRST HEARD THE "LOCH NESS MONSTER" RUMORS
HEY!! DON'T LAUGH!! I SAW THE DAWN THING!!
LOCH SMITH
LOCH NOOSE
LOCH NESS
LOCH JAW
TOLAN 3-15

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



MINGUS MIRE IS MIXING UP A HUGE MUD MESS TO DUMP ON UMASS!
HA! HA'HA'HA!
SUDDENLY...
HOLD IT MIRE! WE CAUGHT YOU IN THE ACT!
YOU'RE UNDER ARREST!
YOU'LL NEVER TAKE ME ALIVE!
UG! HE JUMPED!
LAFLER 3/15

Local Television

6:30 8 22 30 NEWS
18 SPORTS ONLY
24 STUDIO SEE
27 SUPERMAN "The Last Night"
38 ADAM — 12
57 REBOP

6:55 40 NEWS
7:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS
18 FESTIVAL OF FAITH
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "To Free My Enemy"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
57 IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
7:30 3 CELEBRITY SWEEPSTAKES
8 THE TEN PIN PICK-UP
22 HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
24 CONNECTICUT
30 $100,000 NAME THAT TUNE
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 THE GONG SHOW
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 WHO'S WHO
8 40 HAPPY DAYS "Spunky Come Home"
22 30 HIGHLIGHTS OF RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCLE
24 57 LA BOHEME
27 MOVIE "The Thief"
38 IRONSIDE
56 MOVIE "Exodus" Part II
8:30 8 40 EIGHT IS ENOUGH "Never Try Eating Nectarines Since Juice May Dispense"
32 BOSTON CELTICS BASKETBALL
9:00 3 M-A-S-H
8 40 RICH MAN, POOR MAN
18 NASHVILLE ON THE ROAD
22 30 GODZILLA VS. MEGALON
9:30 3 ONE DAY AT A TIME
8 40 THREE'S COMPANY "A Man About the House"
10:00 3 KOJAK
8 40 WESTSIDE MEDICAL "The Sound of Sunlight"
22 30 THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE ARGO MERCHANT
10:30 27 THE JOE HYDER SHOW
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Catlow"
8 40 TUESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "Isn't It Shocking?"
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:30 18 THE LANGE CUP AT SUN VALLEY
1:00 8 40 NEWS
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:00 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Tuesday, March 15 — Born today, you are a romantic individual who is inclined to look at life through rose-colored glasses. Nor is this a habit leading to results that are all bad. Indeed, your romantic view of the world often saves you from suffering disappointment and even discouragement, for it keeps you from accepting ill consequences, evil intentions, or anything else negative that could keep you from the enjoyment of life.

* * *

Wednesday, March 16

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Too many wrong moves this morning and you are in for a disrupting afternoon. Take care not to overstep the bounds of propriety late in the day.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Please another's basic sensitivites before you attempt to please your own. Make this the day you set new goals for yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Disturbances to your peace of mind come early in the day in the guise of telephone calls. You might do well to "let it ring."

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — If you can be compatible with co-workers newly arrived on the employment scene, this could be a day of genuine gain for you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Avoid the danger inherent in saying too much of the wrong thing at the wrong time. Do yourself a favor; keep silent, at least for the moment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Get away from routine today. If you must see to business as usual, make it quick. Then turn your attention to other, most satisfying things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Be more than a little discriminating when choosing your companions for the day. The wrong choice could change your life — for the worse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Children make the difference today between the dream and the reality. Make certain you know what your choices are before making a selection.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Make sure to take periods of rest and relaxation today. Otherwise, you may find the competition moving ahead fast and furiously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — The more responsive you are to loved ones and the more sensitive you are to their needs, the happier this day will end. Be productive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The exciting relationship you feel developing between you and a new friend should be enough to make this a memorable day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Unhappiness is possible today — but it is not very likely, especially if you are wise enough to follow your own instinct for good.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 The bride ----
5 ---- in the belfry
9 Group of plotters
14 Asian republic
15 Continent
16 Short maxim
17 Japanese ship name
18 Moldings
19 Exercises suffrage
20 Basketballer ----- Baylor
22 Deep thinkers
24 Oozed
26 Unyielding
27 Hematite and bauxite
29 The face: Slang
30 Drag something laboriously
33 Withered Brit.
37 Spanish pineapple
38 Commercial firm
39 Corrode
40 Danger
41 Having necessary skill
42 Go down hill
44 Name on a warrant
45 Policeman: Informal
46 Rajah's wife
47 Show biz awards
49 Meddle foolishly
53 Kind of barometer
57 Go away from
58 Electronic device
59 Short newspaper piece
61 "---- bien!": Excellent
62 Become a member
63 Single: Prefix
64 Anglo-Saxon slave
65 Future crop sources
66 Linemen
67 Sleep

DOWN
1 Multiplied by —
2 Ecclesiastic vestment
3 Flag officer's boat
4 Even balance
5 Flying mammal
6 Dripping wet
7 Beginners: Var.
8 An apostle: 2 words
9 Grotto
10 Enhance 11 Lessen
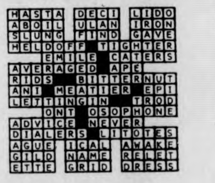
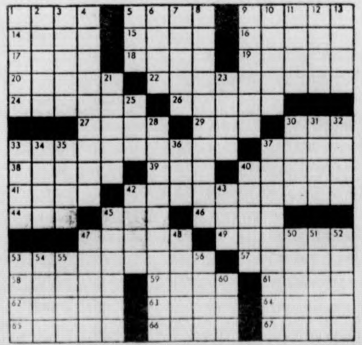
12 Antiquing aid
13 Fewer
21 Tendon
23 Inanimate
25 Scottish river
28 "------ ---- Gal"
30 Italian coin
31 Military group
32 Forceful outburst
33 Herring-like fish
34 Tramp
35 Straightedge
36 Fall behind
37 Boundary of an area
40 ----- code
42 Finished
43 Natural: Abbr.
45 Those on the way up
47 Flowed to and fro
48 Surgical thread
50 Analyze grammar
51 Makes level
52 Position differently
53 Citrus drinks
54 Cable
55 Haul
56 Wrest
60 Months: Abbr.

Monday's Puzzle Solved:





Tennis Racquets Restrung
$7,$8,$9
FAST
EXPERT
GUARANTEED
Be prepared for Spring vacation. Also at low prices: new racquets, balls, and grips.
COME TO:
Coolidge Tower Lobby Rm. 3
Tuesdays, Thursdays 2-5 p.m.
Call 545-3520
SAVE $1.00 until 3-18 on restringing
Sponsored by the Southwest Assembly

the EQUINOX
natural foods restaurant
All Things Must Pass.... Come In And Enjoy The Best In Natural Food Dining During Our Last Few Weeks.
Closing April 2
Sunday Brunch/11:00-2:00
Dinner/4:00-8:00
Tuesday thru Sat./11:30-3:00
Dinner/5:30-9:00
51 N. Pleasant Amherst 256-0240

Bowlers roll on

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

The UMass men's and women's bowling team continued to roll on to its winning ways over the weekend, as the men finished third and the women first in their division in the Tri-State Tournament, held at the Treadway Lanes in West Springfield.

The men finished behind Bryant and Army with a total pinfall of 2642. Bryant, winner of the men's composition, had a total pinfall of 2802, while Army followed with 2713.

Among the members of the UMass men's bowling team that rolled over 200 in one game were: Rich Rosental 203; Roger Norcross 230, Paul Stutzman 225 and Mitch forman had a 210.

Norcross not only rolled the highest single-string total for the Minutemen, but he also rolled the highest series with a 572.

Meanwhile, the UMass women's bowling team edged out Central Connecticut St., 425-2401 to capture first place in the tourney. Karen James and Fran Griffen, who bowled in 210 and 202 respectively, led the Minutewomen, to yet another win.

In the Tri-State League standings, the Minutewomen are in sole possession of first place, way ahead of second-place University of Lowell and third-place Cen. Conn., with 44 out of 50 match points.

As for the UMass men bowlers, they are currently in fourth place in Tri-State League play. The University of Lowell is in first place with 144 match points, followed by Bryant with 129 and Cen. Conn. with 127. UMass follows with 126 points.

Both the UMass women's and men's team have almost two weeks off before their next competition in another Tri-State Tournament to be held at Bryant College on March 26.

As of now, Mike Berard is the only member of the UMass men's team to have qualified for the Nationals, which will be held later this month. Berard qualified by rolling the highest individual single string.

Notice

Practice for Women's Varsity Tennis begins on Monday, March 28, 3:30 at the Boyden lower courts.

Sports calendar

MONDAY'S RESULTS
None

TODAY
MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL — vs. Villanova at Madison Square Garden 7:00

TOMORROW
None

USED BOOK SALE
20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks
Tues, March 15 - Sat, March 19
Valley Book Shop
Carriage Shops Amherst

Are you planning to go to LAW SCHOOL?

Announcing:
Hofstra University School of Law's Second Annual Pre-Law
SUMMER INSTITUTE.

DUE TO THE ENTHUSIASTIC REACTION to its 1st Institute, the School of Law will again offer a "Pre-Law Summer Institute" for five weeks from May 31 to June 30 for weekday sections (Tuesdays, Wednesdays & Thursdays) and from June 4 to July 1 for the Saturday section. The course will be of value to those who have already decided to attend law school and to those who are trying to decide whether they should attend. Taught by the Hofstra Law School faculty, the Institute will assist students in developing analytical skills, familiarity with the use of the law library and writing techniques, all of which are essential for competent performance in law school. The course will be conducted in the same manner as regular law school courses and will include case and statutory analyses and research techniques.

Minimum Requirements for Admission
Applicants must have successfully completed at least two years of college.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND APPLICATIONS, WRITE:
Pre-Law Summer Institute
Hofstra University
School of Law
Hempstead, N.Y. 11550
or Call 516-560-3636

HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY
HEMPSTEAD, NEW YORK 11550

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms

Complete Zerox
Copy Center
141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

BUST OUT FOR THE WEEKEND

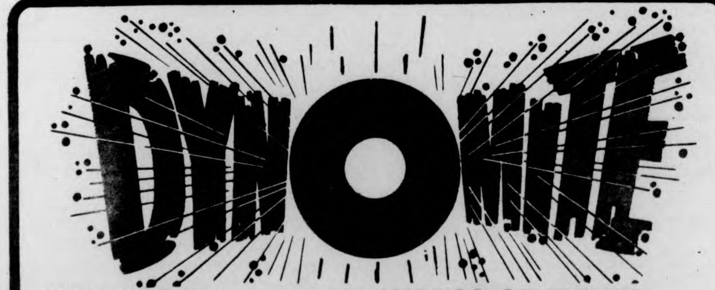
Peter Pan and Continental Trailways offer frequent service to Boston, New York and many other great, get-away-from-it-all places.

PETER PAN BUS LINES & CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

MAKE LIFE SIMPLER FOR YOU.

CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

For Information, Schedules and Prices,
Contact: Campus Center Bus Office
Tel. 545-2006 or 549-6000



ATTENTION ● ● ● ALL UMASS. STUDENTS.

YOUR NEWSPAPER—THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN—IS LOOKING FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK THEY CAN SELL. WE HAVE POSITIONS OPEN FOR THE COMING SEMESTER. THIS IS AN EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY TO EARN EXTRA MONEY AND ACQUIRE GREAT JOB EXPERIENCE.

interested?: Drop this coupon off to Steve Lesser, Ad Manager, at the Collegian office, 113 Campus Center, or call 545-3500.

WHEELS ARE NECESSARY!

I'm interested in becoming a Collegian Ad Rep:
Name:
Address:
Telephone:
Any selling experience?
( ) Yes ( ) No
Do you have a car?
( ) Yes ( ) No

Trojan Hawks shock Greeks

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

Paced by Billy Santos' 11 points and Steve Winston's 10, the Hawks pulled the biggest upset yet in this year's intramural basketball playoffs, knocking off the highly rated Beta Kappa Phi squad, 44-27, in pre-quarterfinal round action last night.

The Hawks ran away with the game in the first half with some hot shooting and forcing the frat-men into numerous turnovers and poor percentage shots. With four minutes gone in the game, the Greek unit had had the ball stolen away four times and had traveled twice as the Hawks tenacious man-to-man defense was working effectively.

The Hawks led 6-0 before BKP got on the board on a Mike Hislop jump shot four and a half minutes after the opening tap. But before you could say supercalifragilistic-expealidoscious backwards, the Hawks had run off a 13-6 spree, to go up 19-8, with three minutes left in the half. Follow this up with a mini-spree of 6-4 and the Hawks held a halftime lead of 25-12.

Now BKP could've rolled over and played dead in the second half, but didn't. Mike Hislop tossed in two quick hoops, Pete Rankowitz got his first field goal, and Dave Lipinskki added a free throw to offset Hawk' Jeff Adams bucket, pulling the frat to within eight points, 27-19, and forcing a Hawk reorganization timeout.

Well, the strategy paid off as BK-P was never to get any closer as the Hawks flipped in three straight unanswered hoops, to pull away, 35-19 with seven minutes remaining. And for all intents and purposes, that was the game.

Immediately following the Hawk-BKP game on the glass-backboarded court, the fifth-seeded Alcoholics were scheduled to do battle with TEP 'A'.

At the outset it seemed to be this would be an easy game for the A's who have already played four playoff games. And it might have been that way had it not been for TEP's Paul Abramowicz. Abramowicz, of UMass baseball fame, hit for seven field goals and was four for four from the free throw line, in leading his team with 18 points. However, he had a shadow in the person of Paul Simms of the Alcoholics, who tossed in 14 points, to lead the A's to a sluggish 47-37 victory, advancing them to the quarterfinal round.

Adding to the A's victory were George Corthouts (9 pts.), Richie Blanks (8 pts.), and Charlie Johnson (6).

Other scores: Pines-44 Express-38; Flyers-53 Squires-24; Wolfpack-43 Bunts-40; Ballhawks-39 Unity 23; Lyons-50 I Pheltsa Thi-38; Schupters-42 Crowd Pleasers-31.

IT PAYS TO BE IN DEMAND.

Air Force ROTC has scholarships, allowances and jobs for selected science and engineering majors.

Air Force ROTC has openings for young men and women majoring in specified science and engineering academic fields. Fields such as Aeronautical, Aerospace, General and Electrical Engineering, Mathematics, Physics and Computer Technology. AFROTC enrollment pays well now and could keep paying off in the future.

Air Force ROTC offers 4-year, 3-year and 2-year scholarships with $100 monthly tax-free allowance during the last two years to non-scholarship students.

Upon graduation you'll receive a commission in the U.S. Air Force and compete for challenging jobs. There'll be numerous opportunities for advanced education in your field, plus you'll have financial security and start your way up the promotion ladder where your ability and ambition are the only limits.

It pays to be in demand, and if you're the type we're looking for, it pays to get the details. No obligations, naturally.

Call MAJOR RICHARDSON
at 545-2437

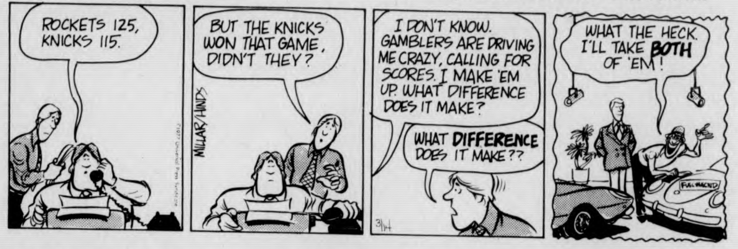
Air Force ROTC
Gateway to a Great Way of Life

Amherst Auto Parts
Used car parts
Junk Car?
We pay $10 and up.
Replace Glass
Buy and Sell Cars
Located ½ mile past the Rusty Scupper on Rt. 9, behind Amherst landfill.
Phone 256-6409

TANK McNAMARA

by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



ROCKETS 125, KNICKS 115.
MILLAR/HINDS
BUT THE KNICKS WON THAT GAME, DIDN'T THEY?
I DON'T KNOW. GAMBLERS ARE DRIVING ME CRAZY, CALLING FOR SCORES. I MAKE 'EM UP. WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE?
WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE??
3/14
WHAT THE HECK. I'LL TAKE BOTH OF 'EM!

Howe's heading somewhere

By FRAN SYPEK
Collegian Staff

HARTFORD — Gordie Howe didn't say much.

Harry Sinden said even less.

Mark Howe didn't say anything at all.

It all adds up to a complicated situation currently going on between the Howe family, the Houston Aeros, Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings. The Howe family wants out of Houston. Boston owns the NHL rights to Mark and Detroit owns the rights to brother Marty. The Howe family, however, wants the two players to remain together on whatever team they end up playing for.

Last week the Boston Globe reported that Mark said he would be in a Bruins uniform by Sunday, March 6. Gordie Howe said that it was strictly a rumor and doesn't know how it got started.

"If we did," the future hall-of-famer said, "it wouldn't be a rumor."

Mark, who was sitting in the visitor's locker room in the Hartford Civic Center after the Aeros March 4th loss to the Whalers, became upset as a group of reporters virtually ignored him and flocked around his father.

"I have nothing to say," he said when pursued by this reporter.

Meanwhile, Gordie explained the problems he was having with the Houston management.

"We were separated considerably when they tried to trade us earlier in the season," he said. "There was a lot of static when people found out that the Howes were the only ones to get paid on the team, but they don't realize that we're getting deferred payments spread out over 12 months instead of over the course of the season."

Howe's Houston Aero teammates last month agreed to forego their pay checks while the financially-troubled franchise worked out its problems. But the Howes said they would not be willing to take any further cuts in salary, so they got paid.

"It's not strictly money," said Gordie. "We'd like a few guarantees among other things."

The Bruins and Red Wings made an agreement last week, allowing the two parties to attempt to sign both Howe sons. Gordie played 25 seasons for Detroit, where he met his wife Colleen and also where his two sons were born and raised. The troubled Red Wings would like nothing better than to bring the Howes back home again.

But the Bruins, who have indicated an unwillingness to part with Mark, will make every effort to prevent that from happening. It's not often that a team can come up with a future superstar, which is what they consider Mark to be. It looks like the Jacob brothers are willing to pay for it, too, so the only holdup is getting the Howes to sign contracts.

"Harry Sinden would like to have the kid (Mark) in the fold, and I can't blame him for that," Gordie said. "He came in with the honest opinion that he'd like to have both kids, but so would Detroit. We still have to do a lot of listening."

Both Gordie and Harry Sinden refused to say exactly what went on during the talks.

"The talks went good," Sinden said in Boston the following evening. "We discussed Marty. It looks like it's all up to Colleen. She's running the show over there."

Mrs. Howe, the matriarchal business manager of the family, describes the Howes as being an "old fashioned family." Along with keeping the boys together, she is also trying to get the best deal possible for them.

"We'd like to stay together as a family," Gordie said. "I won't be playing forever. This should be my last year playing hockey, although I've said that before.

"The boys, along with playing together, would like three things: happiness, security and to be rewarded for their efforts," he adde[illegible]

[illegible] aid he was pleased with [illegible] e talks went.

[illegible] dn't talk too much about [illegible]oney," he said. "We just wanted to get together. The Bruins and Red Wings talked about exchanging rights. I'm excited about the whole operation."

Gordie still didn't rule out the possibility of the Howes moving on to another WHA team. Earlier in the season, it was reported that the Whalers were interested in acquiring the trio.

"I'm still a heavy advocate of the WHA," he said. "It's given a lot of kids the chance to play hockey. If I left it tomorrow, I still wouldn't condemn it."

The date to keep your eyes on is July 1. On that day Mark becomes a free agent, enabling him to sign with any team. If an NHL team, say Detroit signs him, then the Bruins are due compensation.

But don't mention that word to Harry Sinden. He's been in that situation before.

BUS FOR WORCESTER
$2.50 one way
Via Route 9. Every Friday, Saturday & Sunday
Purchase Tickets at Student Union Ticket Office
Also Serving
Belchertown, Ware, Brookfields, Spencer & Leicester
CHARTER A BUS Deluxe Coaches
Tel. 584-6481
WESTERN MASS. BUS LINES

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents

I SOLISTI
DI ZAGREB

The Incomparable
Chamber Orchestra

TUES., MARCH 15 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $5, 4, 3. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "a revision of a clause or section of, or an added provision to, the constitution of a nation or a state."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:
BOB GOLDSMITH

Yesterday's word:
MAJOR

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

AT
THE PUB
TO NIGHT
MICHELOB NIGHT
12oz. MICHELOB BOTTLES 50¢
ROCK & ROLL
and OLDIES
9-1

Minutemen meet Villanova

By BOB HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

After a year's absence, the UMass basketball program returns to what used to be almost an annual excursion to New York City when it takes to the Madison Square Garden floor tonight at 7 p.m. (6:50 WMUA) to face Villanova in the National Invitational Tournament.

But things will be a bit different this time around. First, the Minutemen, by beating Seton Hall last Thursday night at the Springfield Civic Center, are in the quarterfinals for the first time since 1973. And second, the Minutemen will be facing a squad that is not totally unfamiliar to them.

In previous NIT's, UMass has played teams like Jacksonville (1974), Missouri (1973), and North Carolina (1972-73) — strangers from lands unknown. But fellow Eastern Collegiate Basketball League foe Villanova is a team the Minutemen have played once and seen many times this season.

Back in January, UMass traveled to the Palestra in Philadelphia and were blown out by the Wildcats, 81-62. "They outrebounded us, they outran us, but actually they ran up the score late in the game," said UMass coach Jack Leaman yesterday.

Villanova is now 21-9 on the season as a result of beating Old Dominion 71-69 in the NIT opening round. The Wildcats went to the finals of the ECBL tournament in Philadelphia before losing to Duquesne in the championship game.

But in the Duquesne game, the Wildcats were playing with a limping Keith Herron, the team's leading scorer. Herron, an all-ECBL first team selection and an ECBL tournament all-star, leads the Wildcats in scoring with a 19.2 points per game average.

But Herron's sore knee is back in shape now, witnessed by his 22-point performance against Old Dominion. He'll team with brother Larry and John Olive to give the Wildcats a front line as intimidating as any the Minutemen have faced this year.

In the backcourt, 6-4 Whitey Rigsby, 6-2 freshman Rory Sparrow, and floor leader Joe Rogers combine to give the Wildcats a solid, if not outstanding backcourt.

Leaman, in comparing Villanova to Rutgers, another of the ECBL's powers, said "fundamentally they (Villanova) are a better team. They're deeper, they're bigger, although they're not as quick."

Olive was the man who killed the Minutemen the last time around. The 6-8 forward-center, usually a 10 point per game scorer, exploded for 28 against the Minutemen.

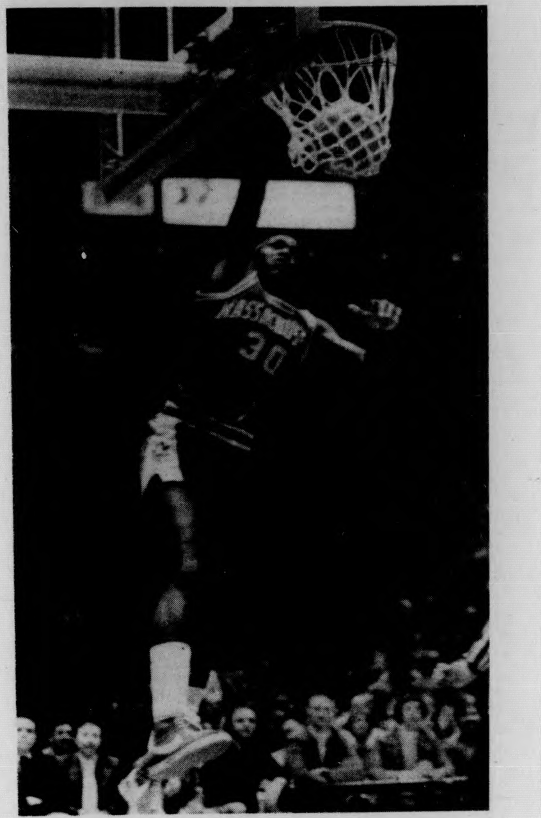
"When we played them the first time they were playing their best basketball of the season," said Leaman. "They didn't look as good at the tournament."

What will the Minutemen have to do to beat the Wildcats?

"We have to play solid basketball," said Leaman. Their zone press hurt us last time, their half-court trap hurt us, and the fast break hurt us. We have to handle those things."

The Minutemen themselves are ready physically, if not mentally, for this one. "We had a poor practice today," said Leaman. "A few of the kids showed up late. But I don't see any logical reason why they won't be ready when they step on the floor tomorrow night."

The UMass-Villanova contest is slated for 7:00, to be followed by the Oregon-St. Bonaventure game at 9:00. The winners of those games will meet in Thursday night's semi-final round.



Mike Pyatt, along with three teammates, will be going home to New York City tonight when the Minutemen battle Villanova in the quarterfinals of the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Skiwomen schuss in 11th

By RICHARD MOORE
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's ski team finished 11th out of 15 schools in the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women National ski meet held last weekend at Stowe, Vermont.

Dartmouth scored 448 points and earned bragging rights as the nation's best college ski team. Utah State was second with 416 points, University of Vermont third with 352 points, University of Maine at Orono fourth with 324 points, and Williams was fifth with 295 points.

The meet was divided into alpine and cross country events, but the Minutewomen competed in only the alpine.

"If we had a cross country team we'd have done a little better," coach Steve Tonelli said.

"The competition was real keen, but our girls skied well and they skied as a team. No one fell or had any real problems," he added.

Ninety skiers competed in Saturday's first alpine event, the giant slalom. Toril Forland of Utah took top honors with a time of 65.62, Sarah McNealus of Middlebury was second at 65.81, and Amy Griffith of Colorado State was third at 66.52.

The top Minutewomen was co-captain Kathy Shinnick, who finished 33rd with a time of 73.08. Nancy Hayden came in 48th at 76.05, and co-captain Kathy Donovan was 53rd at 79.77.

"Some of the skiers on the other teams race in the Can-Am circuit," Tonelli said, "and they were real tough."

"I think we did fine, considering we only practice once a week," he added. Most of the other schools have areas in their back yards and they ski every day."

Utah's Forland swept the alpine events, winning Sundays slalom with a time of 79.64. Griffith and McNealus swapped positions this time, Griffith finishing second at 79.90, and McNealus third at 80.58. For UMass, it was Hayden in 37th at 88.89, Shinnick 42nd at 89.97, and Barbara Reynard 49th at 92.03.

"Forland skied in the last Olympics for Norway," Tonelli said, "so you can imagine how good she was."

Dartmouth (206 points) and Utah (203 points) finished one-two in the alpine events, as they did in the overall meet. Colorado was third, scoring 193 points, University of New Hampshire and University of Vermont tied for fourth with 192 points each.

Boston University, the team the Minutewomen finished second to in the Women's Intercollegiate Ski Conference, was eighth in the alpine with 132 points. UMass scored 91 points to finish eleventh.

With all the warm weather and rain it's hard to believe that the Minutewomen have one more meet before sneakers replace ski boots as their favorite foot wear.

Tuesday and Thursday they will compete in the Canadian-American series at Waterville Valley, in New Hampshire.

"Some of the western teams will be there. I think some of them are planning on leaving the Nationals and going straight to New Hampshire," Tonelli said.

Twenty colleges, 10 Canadian and 10 American, have been invited to the Can-Ams.

"We're pretty well pooped," Tonelli said, "but it's the last race and they should be ready for it."

Sox triumph again behind three HRs

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Andy Merchant drove in Bernie Carbo with a ninth inning sacrifice fly yesterday to give the Boston Red Sox an 8-7 win over the Chicago White Sox.

The win was Boston's third straight in grapefruit league play after losing its first two exhibition games.

Jim York, Chicago's fourth pitcher, walked Carbo to open the bottom of the ninth inning. Carbo went to third on a throwing error and scored on the reserve catcher's fly.

Left-hander Tom House, who relieved Bill Campbell in the ninth after a homer by the White Sox' Wayne Nordhagen, got the victory.

Eric Soderholm and Jim Spencer also homered for Chicago while Jim Rice, Butch Hobson and George Scott hit home runs for Boston.

Wilbur Wood started for Chicago and yielded two first inning runs in his four-inning stint.

Chicago (AL) 020 210 011 — 7 9 4
Boston 200 001 221 — 8 13 3

Wood, Frost (4), Hamilton (7), York (9), and Duncan, Nordhagen (7); Lee, Wright (5), Campbell (7), House (9) and Fisk, Merchant (6). WP-House. LP-York. Hrs-Chicago: Soderholm, Spencer, Nordhagen; Boston: Rice, Scott, Hobson.

Judy Van Handle

Still in love with baseball

Maybe it's because of the sudden change in the weather. Or maybe it's been caused by a basketball saturation point being reached. Or maybe it's just that I'm sick of winter.

But all I know is this: the best sport ever invented, devised, or created is about to begin another season.

Baseball. Yes, that's right. Baseball.

Now, I know that there are those who feel that it is out of touch with the times, that it is outdated and downright boring. But at least for me, there's nothing that quite compares with the national pastime.

And the crazy thing about it is that I told myself that it wouldn't happen this year.

Those damn baseball players, I kept telling myself all winter. What makes them think that they're worth a million, two million, or three million dollars each?

And baseball is just being ruined. The Yankees with their dollar sign lineup. The A's with their Salvation Army specials. The coup de grace was Pete Rose, of all people, being dissatisfied with the Reds. And how about Luis Tiant?

No, I kept telling myself. Baseball and I are through. No more trips to Fenway, no more worrying whether or not the Red Sox bullpen will do its annual imitation of a sieve. No more.

So I ignored it. The proverbial Hot Stove League was just a flickering ember. Who cares if Dave Cash left Philadelphia? Does it matter that Walter Alston won't be back with the Dodgers? And so what if Cecil Cooper was traded?

But then all of a sudden it happened. The Sporting News published its spring training issue. The players started filtering back to camp. Tommy Lasorda was on the cover of Sports Illustrated. And Mark Fidrych packed them in down in Florida.

And just as suddenly I was interested again. It matters that a bulbous George Scott will be at first for the Sox this year. I care that Bill Campbell allowed a game-winning homer in his first appearance with the Sox. I want Yaz to play left. And why are the Sox playing Scrooge with Luis?

Yes, I'll be the first to admit that baseball is a virus within me that will never leave. There is nothing that will ever cure it. I don't want anything to.

Whether it is right on top of the action on a weekday afternoon in Fenway or in the upper deck in Shea Stadium on a Saturday night, there is nothing that quite compares with the thrill of watching a major league game.

Obviously I'm not alone in my thinking. A new attendance record was set last year in the majors.

Why? Let me offer my reasons why baseball is an untouchable sport.

First, the time element. There is nothing in the rule books that states that a game has to end after a certain amount of time has expired. One could last an hour, or go on for five or six.

As Earl Weaver once said, "In this sport, who always have to give the other guy his chance to win. You can't sit on a lead."

A leisurely game, baseball moves along at its own sweet pace.

Second, baseball takes a high amount of skill to play. It has been said that hitting a baseball is the toughest thing in sports to do. I don't know about that, but an athlete has to have everything to play baseball.

Third, it is a sport which centers around personalities. Since players are often viewed through a microscope, individual traits come out. Willie Mays and his basket catch. Fidrych and all of his antics. The Yaz stance. The Johnny Bench throws. Although members of a team, players develop their own styles and habits.

And, at least to my way of thinking, there's nothing to top a day of watching baseball, whether it be a Red Sox or a UMass game

So the games are beginning, and another season is almost upon us.

The best sport in the world is back again.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 106 WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Off the hook:

Sparks - WMUA case disallowed

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

The University Judiciary denied Albert Sparks, head of Baroque Enterprises, the right to sue radio station WMUA because he is not a student matriculated at the University.

Sparks filed the suit following a denial by WMUA to air public service announcements for the movie "Joy of Letting Go" rated X, sponsored by Baroque.

WMUA's managing board has a policy of not making public service announcements that are racist or sexist in nature.

Paul Yanowitch, Student Attorney General, said after WMUA denied Spark's request he brought the case to court claiming it was a denial of equal protection and contended it was a denial of his free speech.

In court, Sparks contended as a radio station operating under FCC regulations, WMUA was free to decide what advertisements it would and would not air.

Richard Gureghian and Harry Quick were advocates for Sparks. Russell Skelton was advocate for WMUA. A full decision on the case will be handed down by the court next week.

Dean Field denies charges by Sparks

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

William F. Field, Dean of Students, denied allegations made by Albert Sparks, head of Baroque Enterprises that cancellation of the X-rated movie "Portraits" was due to pressure from women affiliated with International Women's Week.

Baroque Enterprises is a non-funded RSO group which displays pornographic movies on campus.

In a phone conversation with the Collegian Sunday night, Sparks claimed the reason Field cancelled the movie's showing was completely different from the one reported on Friday's Collegian.

Sparks claimed pressure on Field by International Women's Week representatives caused the cancellation not because he wasn't a student. "It was the quickest thing he could think of," Sparks said.

Sparks said if RSO records were examined, the signature on the scheduling order would be that of Baroque's current chairperson who is a registered student.

In fact, two scheduling orders were filed in the RSO office. One was signed by Sparks and the second by Ian C. Lucy a registered student. The first was negated when it was discovered that Sparks was not a University student.

Field said he had met with Lucy Friday morning and pointed out that Lucy could be the only one involved but would be delighted to have a meeting with all student members of Baroque Enterprises.

"As an RSO group you would invite all the officers and members and I presume that the SGA and Governmental Affairs would want to be there too. An organization involved with presentations, should have public meetings and Baroque's constitution makes it seem that it would do so," Field said.

Field said he personally had not received a single call from anyone connected with International Women's Week about the movie showing. "I didn't even know the movie was being shown, until I received that call from the Public Health Building," Field said.

Sparks is quoted in Friday's Collegian as saying he will bring the case to court in front of the Civil Liberties Union.

Field said he would be delighted to meet with Sparks attorneys. "Let him go to court and make it explicit in writing," Field said.

Public meeting to discuss NW Road report

By JIM SAWYER
Collegian Staff

In a two-hour meeting last night, the Amherst Selectmen chose to call for a public meeting in the near future concerning the report of the Northwest Road Committee; to recommend the adoption of a Security Deposit Trust Account article to the Amherst Town Meeting.

The selectmen also decided to uphold their decision of one year ago on Amherst's Traffic Operations Program to Increase Capacity and Safety (TOPICS), to notify a present arcade licensee that his license is as yet invalid, and to transfer certain Amherst town properties to the University of Massachusetts.

The Selectmen heard the report of the Northwest Road Commitee, chaired by Merle L. Howes. Howes reported the committee had formulated seven points which would avert future traffic problems from the center of town.

Urging that all construction be "minimal in design and construction", the committee recommended to connect Commonwealth Ave. and Route 116 just north of the Physical Plant, to extend Commonwealth Ave. to North Village, to connect Commonwealth Ave. with North Pleasant St. via a road through the Taylor farm, to prohibit a left turn onto Governor's Drive to northbound traffic, to retain access (contrary to University proposals) to the parking north of Skinner Hall from North Pleasant St. to prohibit any further connection between North and East Pleasant Sts, maintaining north-south bus routes, provide directed pedestrian crossings, build a bi-walk on the west side of North Pleasant St. and to construct additional bus turn-outs.

The selectmen proposed a public meeting on the committee's recommendations before any further action is taken.

The Security Deposit Trust Account article which will appear among the articles for the town meeting, will give specific guidelines for the workings of tenants' security deposits within the town.

TOPICS concerns a widening of Route 9 and has been relegated to the list of articles.

A disputed license to operate an arcade at 534 Main St. in Amherst was ordered temporarily suspended, pending either a Superior court decision on the matter, or further action by the licensee, K.C. Enterprises. The selectmen also discussed the need for the licensing procedure to be streamlined without loss of accuracy.

The board also completed the transfer of two parcels of land to the University, the westernmost section in Amherst of Massachusetts Ave., and a parcel bordering it on the south. The land is under the care and maintenance of the University already and was requested officially.

Voter turnout very heavy

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

Voter turnout for the third popular election for Student Government Association president was extremely heavy yesterday with 4000 to 5000 students voting in the first of the two-day voting period.

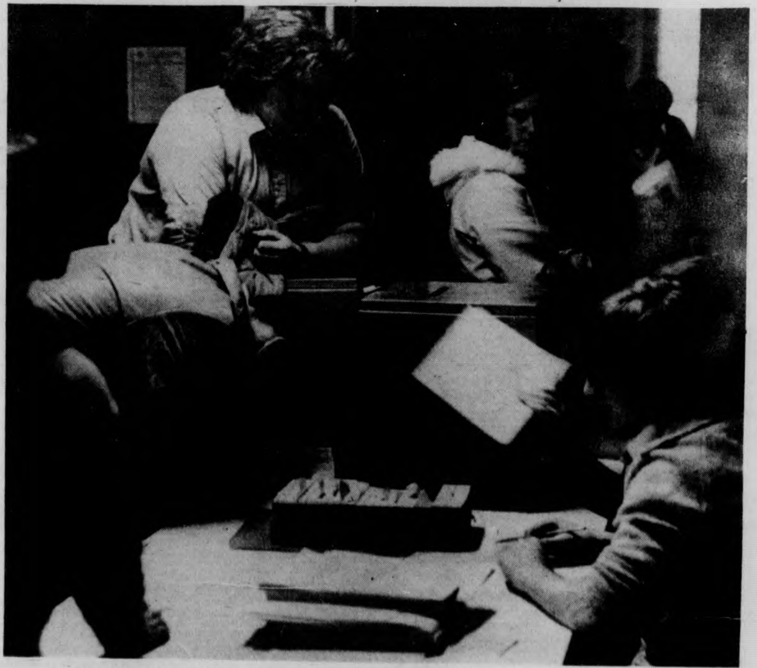
Yesterday's turnout surpassed last year's two-day total of 3232 votes. The turnout was heavy enough for a binding referendum on the proposed $7 increase in the Student Activities Tax Fund.

Neil Chyten, co-coordinator of the senate Governmental Affairs Committee, said the 20 to 25 per cent turnout was "very encouraging." Total undergraduate enrollment this semester is 18,227.

Votes were not tabulated last night and the ballots were locked "in a safe place," said Chyten.

Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Brian DeLima said the high turnout was sparked by the convenient location of the ballot boxes and "excellent candidates."

Polling is being conducted at the four area dining commons, Dickinson House, and the Student Union. Last year polling was conducted at the Student Union only.



The Franklin Dining Commons polls did a brisk business yesterday evening. Today is the last day to vote in the SGA elections. The polls will be open until 8 p.m. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

inside

Clinton residents welcome Jimmy Carter. See Page 6.

The U.S. is sending $1,000,000 in aid to Zaire. Story on Page 8.

World billiard champion to face two UMass students. See Page 3.

The Southwest Assembly voted last night to urge the University to sell its stocks in all companies with South African holdings. See Larry Cohen's story on Page 2.

weather

Beautiful

Greek Council to raise money for epilepsy

By KATHY MOORE
Collegian Staff

Comedian George Gobel has said that by the time he became well-known other celebrities had already taken all of the "best" diseases. Thus, for many years, old George wasn't affiliated with any of the major health causes like heart disease, cancer, or diabetes.

According to Henry Winkler, star of the popular "Happy Days" TV series, George just didn't look carefully enough. Winkler has become the first National Honorary Youth Chairperson for the Epilepsy Foundation of America. This organization will benefit from the Greek Council's Pancake Eat-a-thon being held at the Pub in Amherst, March 31.

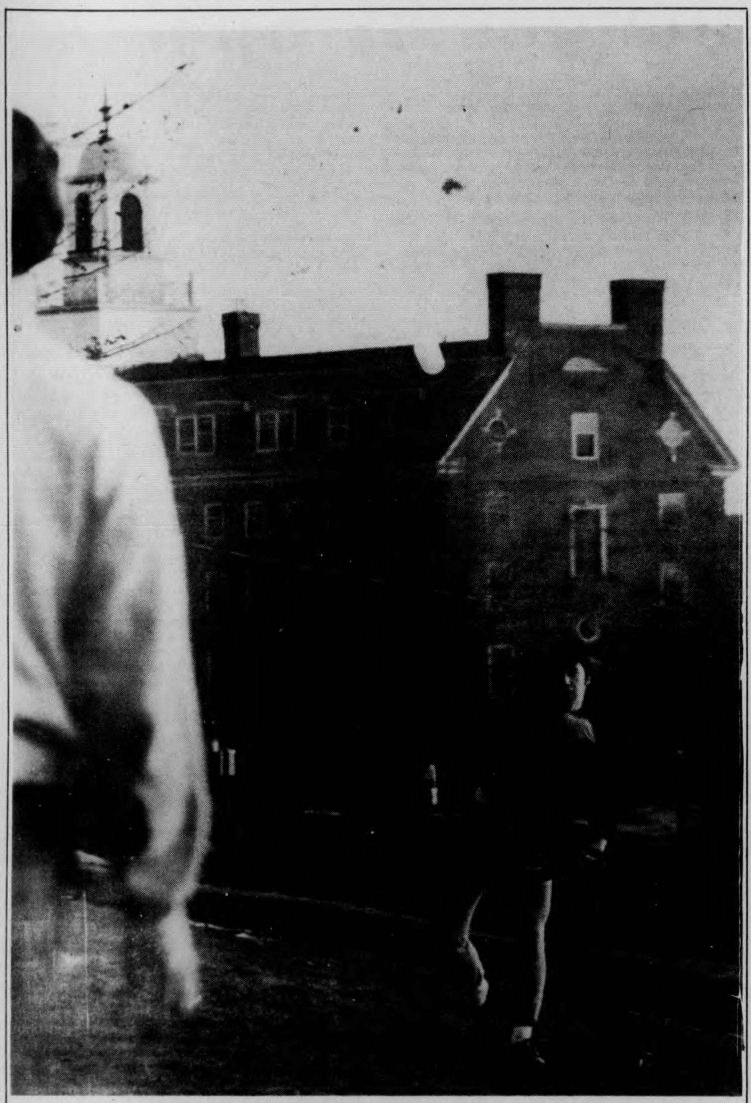
Actually, George Gobel and Henry Winkler, like most major celebrities, are deluged with requests from charitable causes to lend their names for the benefit of humanity. But today more than ever, celebrities are reluctant to be identified with any cause unless it is something they feel is really important and offers them an opportunity for genuine personal involvement and satisfaction.

Why did Winkler, alias "the Fonz" respond to the appeal by the Epilepsy Foundation? "Well," said Winkler, "it's the only major national health problem that has yet to be fully recognized by the public at large. There are a lot of weird ideas that people have about epilepsy; and it's a personal challenge for me to see what I can contribute toward public understanding of this complicated disorder."

The reason the Greek Council is supporting the epilepsy cause is because it is a problem which has many solutions that can be put into effect immediately. One is greater public education. Often the person with epilepsy suffers far more from public attitudes toward the problem than from the disorder itself.

In addition, there are probably many people on campus with epilepsy. Their condition is more than likely controlled with daily medications. According to the Epilepsy Foundation of America, 50 to 60 per cent of all people with epilepsy are able to achieve full control. Another 20 to 30 per cent can achieve partial control, while the remainder are virtually unaffected by medication.

Consequently, there is a need for a wide range of programs and services — from helping people with epilepsy in their battle against discrimination in the job market, to appropriate residential care for the more serious and intractable cases.



Taking advantage of a break in the weather, Brown resident Todd Higgins pitches a softball to teammate Ted Mone, in anticipation of the upcoming intramural softball season. (Staff photo by Dan Smith)

SWA requests sale of stock

By LARRY COHEN
Collegian Staff

The Southwest Assembly (SWA) voted unanimously last night to urge the University to divest itself of stock in all companies which contribute to the current repression in South Africa.

Some of the companies whose stock SWA is asking the University to sell include General Motors, Honeywell Inc., Exxon Corp., Eastman Kodak Co., and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

These companies, said President Chris Durkin, "are there mainly for the cheap labor and raw materials. Their purpose there is to exploit the people and the land, taking as much as possible — in essence, a rape of the people and land."

The University holds $540,559.28 worth of common stock in companies with South African holdings, according to figures listed in the UMass Endowment Fund Account on Jan. 7, 1977.

In other action, $450 was allocated to the French Corridor of Moore House to bring the French Theatre Company of Boston to Bowker Auditorium April 12. Any profits up to $450 will be returned to the Assembly.

The Assembly also voted to allocate $200 to John F. Kennedy (JFK) Upper tower to finance a film series on racism and to establish a Third World Library. The first film, Bill Cosby's "Black History: Lost, Strayed, or Stolen?" will be shown tonight at 8:00 in the 19th floor lounge of JFK. Admission is free.

A Mackimmie House symposium on "Issues in Human Oppression and Social Injustice" was allocated $300 by the SWA. The symposium to be held in mid-April, will consist of panel presentations and discussions concerning human oppression. All papers or documents will be compiled into a journal format and distributed throughout the University.

flasher case on page three was incorrect. The suspect, as specified in the article, was arraigned on counts of annoying and accosting the opposite sex; not charges of indecent exposure as the headline suggests.

But misses record

Doughnut champion eats all but the hole

By GREGG JOHN
Collegian Staff

The uneaten, but not necessarily unwanted doughnuts clearly told the fate of Lloyd Haynes.

Haynes, a senior Urban Education Major and resident of Mackimmie House, attempted to break the Guiness World Record of continuous doughnut eating which currently stands at 37, in Mackimmie lounge last Sunday night.

The challenge, inspired from the record printed on a paper cup, fell short of the goal however, reaching its climax 35 minutes later on the 25th doughnut.

"After the 24th doughnut I just realized I wasn't competitive for the record. Earlier I started slowing down and chewed the doughnuts more but it was no use. After a while they started to get to me."

The record is currently being held by Gary Edwards, a 300 pound California resident who performed the task in 15 minutes. Haynes, who tips the scales at 165, had to use various tactics to make up for his small size.

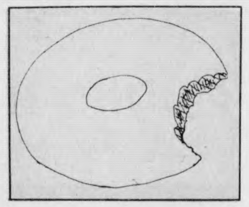
The doughnuts, donated by Bess Eaton of Hadley, were made especially light for the record attempt.

"I wanted them light," explained Haynes. "My game plan was to flatten the air out of each doughnut and eat three at a time. Unfortunately, it was a lot tougher than I expected."

Physical preparation for the event started on the day before. Haynes decided to starve all day Saturday and eat a good breakfast the day of the event. Oddly enough, the breakfast consisted of six doughnuts.

"I had the doughnuts for breakfast to get the taste of them in my system. By Sunday night I was ready to go both physically and mentally."

As the room emptied, the noticeably uncomfortable and pot-bellied Haynes vowed that his incredible love of doughnuts will one day get him the world record.



To the standing-room-only crowd that witnessed the event, it couldn't have been better. With every attacking chomp, smile, and gesture that he gave to the crowd, Haynes' fans would break out in encouraging cheer.

"I thought it was great," one resident said. "Imagine eating 24 doughnuts. It took a lot of guts just to try it."

"I tried for the record because I love doughnuts. Next time I try for it I'll come away with some sense of accomplishment. This time all I got was some satisfaction, and one hell of a stomach ache."

Third World community endorses Foley-Tyson

The New Africa House Steering Committee, which oversees all Third World organizations on campus, yesterday endorsed John Foley and Herb Tyson for Student Government Association (SGA) co-presidents.

The committee consists of representatives from 17 University Third World organizations.

"Foley-Tyson have shown themselves the best prepared to protect student interests and develop student services," according to a statement released by the committee.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor P.A. Milstein

News Desk	Dorothy A. Clark
Day Layout	Debbie Walters
Editorial Layout	Casey Eagle
Sports Layout	Bab Haskell
Head Darkroom Tech	Dan Smith
Photo Staff	John Silletto
Head Graphics Tech	Susan Dvorachek
Copy Desk	Linda Lines
Ad Layout	Ellyn Faber
Wiseass Remark	"Black Flag kills ants and roaches dead"

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

More than just 'e' missing from 'Hot l'

By JAMES F.B. SAWYER
Below the Salt Staff

The University Ensemble Theatre's production of Lanford Wilson's The Hot l Baltimore is a production as full of energy as any of the UET productions have been in the past. Unfortunately, and perhaps due to the direction of William Pullman, most of this production's energy is potential and not kinetic.

In most of the roles, there is room for much, much more, but Pullman seems to have been satisfied with a half-blind assessment of them, making the characters two-dimensional.

Girl, played by Suzanne McCarthy, is a nineteen year old hooker whose concern for others' happiness and perhaps something not quite obvious in her personality, have led her to her present occupation. Her energy, hyperenergy (?) should lend to the motion onstage.

But in McCarthy's case, the energy of this role is translated into decibels, rather than real, tangible energy.

Another problem which I will again attribute to Pullman is McCarthy's eastern Massachusetts dialect. Not that I object to that particular dialect, but from a Girl who supposedly hails from Arizona, "Worcesterese" is not kosher.

Vicki Korisky plays Mrs. Bellotti, an extremely ethnic Italian mother, comes to the Hot l to try to convince the Hot l manager to refrain from evicting her son, an unseen tenant of questionable sanity. Korisky's Mrs. Bellotti suffers the same dialectical problem as Girl. Her Baltimore Italian dialect sound more New York Cityish.

The third and most obvious problem with dialect was Greg Bernet's, Mr. Katz, the manager of the Hot l. Somehow, Pullman did not clarify the nationality of Katz to Bernet. At one time, Katz is portrayed as an aged Tony Curtis from the Bronx, a New York City Jew, and a brogue-ish Scotsman. Except for this mixture of dialects, Bernet plays the mechanical, unfeeling Katz well.

Beside the dialect difficulty, some other problems, still more than likely attributable to the director, keep the lid down on the cast's energy release.

Dorothy Johnson as Millie, an aging former waitress and tenant of the hotel, does not give the impression of the character that a reading of the part will produce. Millie is more than a burned out waitress with a southern dialect. But Johnson's Millie doesn't show this. At one point, Millie is described by Girl as "batty". But since she is played for surface value only, there are virtually no clues, except in a few hollow lines, that she is anything of the kind.

Suzy, played by Elizabeth Alpert who we have from the program is an Equity actress, played the part as a college actress would. Perhaps union demands call for her special note in the program.

Jackie, as played by Lynn Caraganis and Mr. Morse, as played by Francis Pichanick were by far the strongest portrayals in the cast.

Caraganis played Jackie for all the part could give. Her smugness in her dream to farm on her own land was well foiled by her violent rejection of the dashing down of her dream.

Pichanick was laughably impressive as Mr. Morse, the old renter constantly worried about either his health or winning at checkers. His facial expression throughout the performance brought chuckles from the audience, even during his most serious threats toward his checker opponent.

Kip Martin as April Green, a rather seasoned call girl, uses rather seasoned language to communicate the pathetic self-assuredness and remorseless regret eminated by her presence. Though not quite as strong as she could be, Martin still plays April as the median between audience and cast that the part provides. By sitting at the fringes of the action and making salty observations, April brings the audience closer to the play.

By turning away from Suzy when she discovers that Suzy is moving out of the hotel and into an arrangement with a black pimp named Billy Goldhole, April brings along the turning point of the play. The action follows, turning from the lighter comedy of the first two acts to the black comedy and downright sadness of the closing.

The stage action is constant, without a break within each of the three acts. The character of April does much of the tying together.

Scene designer Jeff Fiala has done a strikingly insightful job of constructing the hotel lobby where all of the action occurs. The walls of drab brown have faded areas where portraits formerly hung. The carpeting on the stairs is worn as is the linoleum which covers the rest of the floor. Even the wood of the hotel desk has the appearance of age and wear.

Had more of the stage action matched Fiala's set, the illusion of the audience's sitting in a corner of the lobby would have been complete. But as it stands, the illusion does not quite work.

DC snacks remedy for sweet tooth

By LISA MASSIMIANO
Collegian Staff

Is Boston creme pie your piece of cake? Do trays of stickey honey pecan rolls tantalize your palate? Well, dessert freaks unite! Hide the bathroom scale and put away the tape measure because UMass has a treat for you.

It may surprise some of you to know that fresh baked goods are still available these days. One has only to travel as far as the closest dining common or snack bar on campus to satisfy a stubborn sweet tooth. Here the dessert connoisseur can indulge in a wide variety of palate pleasers, all freshly baked and delivered daily from the UMass Bakery.

Located in the lower level of what was once Hampden Dining Common, the bakery is a maze of giant mixers, ovens, and towers of trays laden with fresh baked bread and cake; the whole kitchen smelling like a fresh baked cookie hot out of the oven.

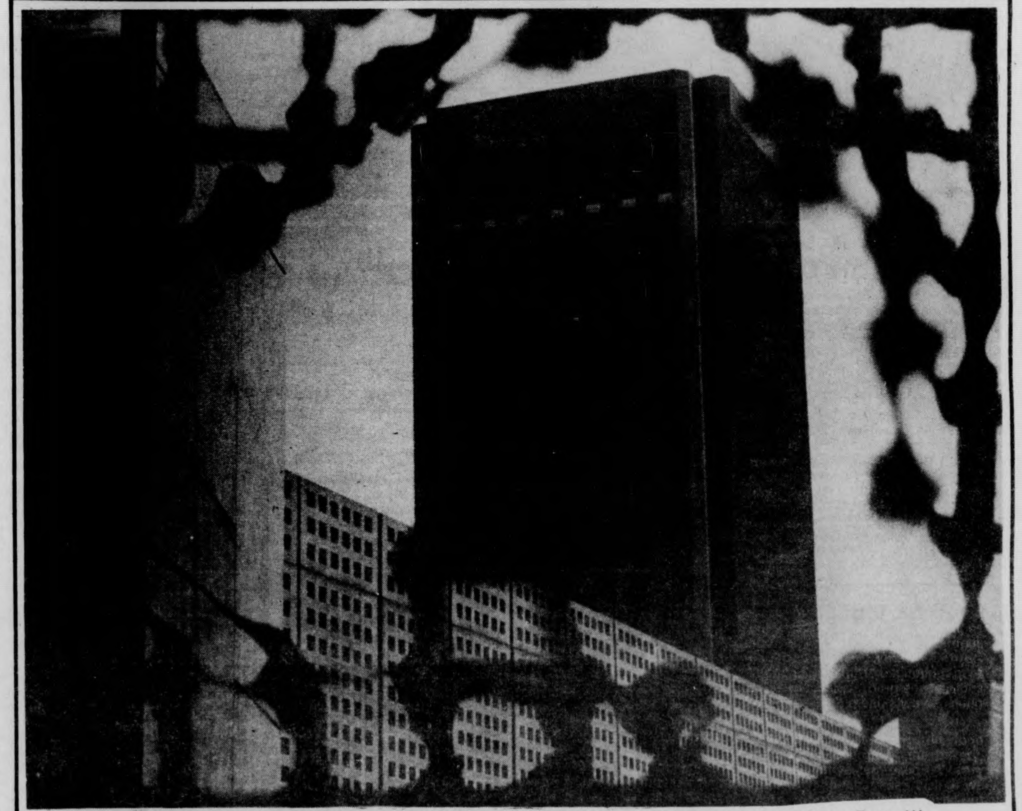
Thirteen bakers work five days a week preparing bread stuffs and desserts for the dining commons and all snack bars on campus except the Newman Center. Working in shifts beginning at 4 a.m., the bakers prepare delicious treats for each meal, always baking one meal ahead.

According to Mike Nuttle, food manager in charge of the bakery, no preservatives are used. "We try to bake things that keep well. If we make too much we freeze it, but making too much isn't the problem, the cardinal sin around here is to run out," he said.

Nuttle said the bakers are happy to produce more food. "When I come in and say to them, 'well we're going to have to make twice as much midnight chocolate cake today', the bakers are thrilled because they feel the students like their product."

Experienced bakers aren't the only ones that turn out delicious creations from the ovens. Students are dipping their fingers into the cookie batter, too. They get involved in all phases of the bakery from greasing sheets to frosting cakes. One student who works in the specialty shop plans on using baking as a second profession when he graduates.

Hundreds of goodies are baked daily by the food services bakery and sent by truck to various food outlets on campus. A typical preparation day for the dining commons alone might include 75 dozen pecan honey buns, 14 sheets of lemon sponge pudding, 23 sheets of Boston creme pie, 70 loaves of Irish soda bread and 65 dozen dinner rolls.



Number 26 in a series of interesting ways to view the UMass library. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

HRTA students look at job prospects

Students in the School of Hotel, Restaurant and Travel Administration (HRTA). will have a chance to find out what awaits them in the "real world" when Career Day takes place today in the Campus Center.

"Providing the bridge between education and its practical application is the aim of Career Day," said June Corriveau, chairperson of Career Day.

Representatives from over 20 companies, including those from hotel chains, fast food restaurants, institutional feeding companies and employment agencies, will participate in the day long event.

"Many hours of preparation and personal contact have gone to insure a successful Career Day," said Corriveau.

"Gearing informal seminars with industry representatives will provide insight into the students' particular field of endeavor within the hospitality industry," she said.

Pool champ in front of eight ball

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

When Irving Crane says "rack 'em up," he isn't alluding to drinks on a bar counter.

Crane, seven time billiard world champion, will be facing UMass students Mark Dallas and Bill Kokernak, during two billiard exhibitions to be held at 3 and 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Crane, a retired Cadillac salesman, began his pool career at age 11. In 1937; he entered the professional ranks, and won his first International Championship title five years later.

The first player to win a World or International Championship tournament after the age of fifty, Crane has won four such titles after age 54.

In June 1966, Crane defeated pocket billiard heavyweight Joe Balsis in the US Open Championship with an unfinished ball run of 150 (balls).

Crane holds many illustrious titles and records, but one of his more prestigious accomplishments occurred in Layton, Utah in 1939 when he ran over 300 balls without a miss, breaking the previously held record of 277 balls. Since that time, Crane has made exhibition runs of 334, 350, and 353 balls.

After winning some 20 major titles, Crane's outstanding career was justly recognized on December 4, 1976, when the Professional Pool Players Association voted him into the pocket billiard "Hall of Fame."

In addition to tournaments and exhibitions, Crane is also noted for his accomplishment as an actor having debuted in a short subject entitled "Cue Men" and later featured in the film "Cue Tricks."

Black Affairs

A closer look at Upward Bound

By ANGELA THOMAS
Asst. Black Affairs Editor

Editor's Note: This past Monday, Black Affairs began a series of articles on the Upward Bound program at UMass. The article included an interview with the administrators of the program. Part two of today's series led me to the town of Holyoke, where I interviewed two students in Upward Bound.

Betty Daniels (l) and Mark Soltys (r), two Upward Bound students interviewed last Wednesday at the Community and Regional Opportunity Program in Holyoke. (Photo courtesy of Wayne Wilson)

The Upward Bound student is a young person with academic potential but because of his or her's economic or social background, the person may be considered as an "academic risk" for a college education. This means that due to a lack of educational preparation and-or underachievement in high school, it is unlikely that the person has even considered enrollment at a college. If admission was gained at a post secondary institution, the probability of successfully pursuing an academic career is lessened without the benefits of a program such as Upward Bound.

On Main Street in Holyoke, Massachusetts, there is organization called the Community & Regional Opportunity Progra. (C&ROP but pronounced crop) Presently in charge of the program is Bob Little. C&ROP is a community organization geared to serve the needs of the community. Some of the services included is a milk program that allows for mothers to receive free milk for their children, although certain requirements have to be met. The program also provides the channels for people to finish their education at a high school, a community college, or university. High school Upward Bound students are frequently at C&ROP discussing problems, progress, or just hanging around while rapping with other Upward Bound students.

"Teachers and students are more friendly with each other. More attention is given to students, and I like attention." — Betty Daniels, Upward Bound student at Holyoke High

The interview presented today is with Betty Daniels and Mark Soltys, two Upward Bound students. Daniels is bridge student in her last year of high school. She has been accepted at Mt. Ida Jr. College in Newton Centre, Massachusetts, where she plans to major in fashion merchandising. Soltys is a non-bridge student in his junior year. He has plans of going to college and "receiving a Ph.D in something." Both are students at Holyoke High. The remainder of todays article is in interview form.

"Teachers are available all the time. Other teachers just teach and make their money, then you don't see them anymore." — Mark Soltys, Upward Bound student at Holyoke High

Q. When were you introduced to the Upward Bound program.

A. Daniels: I have taken college level courses while in high school. In my tenth year at Holyoke High they were taking in students with higher averages than normally admitted. I'm a B student and was told how the program could benefit and further prepare me for college. I was interested, found out more about the program, and was let into it.

Soltys: In my sophomore year, Linda Bettie, a case worker, sat down with me and my family and talked with us about Upward Bound. She told us the background of the program, what I could expect, and how it would prepare me for my last year of high school.

Q. Do you feel the program has benefited you.

A. Daniels: I've met a lot of people and feel that this is good. Especially through Cultural Day, we learn about other people. Being in a program like this one, helps the students because teachers and students are more friendly with each other. The teachers care and give a lot of attention to us, and I like attention. Even if they were sleeping or something, you get the feeling that they would be ready to help you at any time.

Soltys: Upward Bound has helped me in math courses. The teachers are available all the time. Other teachers just teach and make their money, then you don't see them anymore.

Daniels: The program taught me that it is up to me to do the work. In high school teachers always remind you what work is due and when, but in college it isn't always that way.

Q. Have you considered coming to UMass for school.

A. Soltys: UMass has lots of people, and is crowded. I like a smaller school like that of Amherst, but I will probably apply at UMass as well as other schools.

Q. Do you like the idea of the Summer Program.

A. Daniels: It was fun and educational at the same time.

Soltys: I agree, it was fun and educational. With no parents around we were responsible for ourselves, more on our own. I like living with other students.

Q. Any suggestions that you feel may improve the services of the program.

A. Daniels: Teachers should display more discipline for some students. Some students present difficulties in adjusting to not being able to do everything they want.

I'd like to see more courses during the Summer Program such as art. Also English for Spanish students is offered but not Spanish for English students. Also I would like to see more of a variety of history courses offered.

Q. Any words of advice for upcoming future students.

A. Daniels: The work will be hard, if you don't take a stand and decide to do the work required.

Soltys: Students should and will have to develop an attitude for learning.

Food for thought to the Black community

Hair

Baa baa Black sheep have you any wool
yes sir yes sir quite a head full will you straighten it?
curl, dye it or
Bake it?
No! I'll wear it like the master, God, made it

Author unknown

Dedicated by Daryll M. Maston

Thoughts

What lies behind us
And what lies before us
Are tiny matters
Compared to What lies within us

— Ralph Waldo Emerson —

Blacks, whites battle each other

ATLANTA [UPI] — Some of Atlanta's best known white political leaders squared off against two of the top names of the civil rights era Tuesday in a 12-candidate elimination for the congressional seat of U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young.

The hotly contested congressional race, with the prospect of a white candidate — one a Republican — winning for the first time in four years, produced a voter turnout estimated at 35 per cent. That would be about 100,000 votes in the non-partisan primary.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, who succeeded the murdered Martin Luther King Jr. as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and John Lewis, former head of the Voter Education Project, were the best known black contenders.

Atlanta City Council President Wyche Fowler, State Senate Minority Leader Paul Coverdell and attorney Marge Thurman, who took leave as Georgia Democratic Party chairman, were the most prominent whites in the race.

Fulton County elections superintendent Tom Malone said early voter turnout was heaviest in the largely white north side of the 5th congressional district, raising the possibility of two white candidates being thrust into the runoff April 5.

Seven of the 12 candidates in the non-partisan primary are black, so the prospect of splintering the black vote and electing a white congressman to succees Young was a much-debated topic in the brief campaign. About 47 per cent of the district voters are black.

Young won the congressional seat in 1972, defeating Fowler in a Democratic primary, and held it until President Carter tapped him for the United Nations job last January.

Lewis had the endorsement of Young and the King family, touching off complaints from Abernathy and State Reps. Billy McKinney and Henrietta Canty that the "black establishment" was trying to hand-pick Young's successor.

The Rev. Clennon King, who was turned away from President Carter's church in Plains, Socialist Workers Party nominee James Harris, and Alma Johnson, a write-in vice presidential candidate last year, were the other blacks in the race.

Attorney Wyman Lowe, who has entered most recent congressional elections without success, and 83-year-old Henry Belfor, who said he wanted to draw attention to problems of nuclear waste, were the other white candidates running.

Dr. Ralph D. Abernathy is one contender in the hotly contested congressional race in Atlanta, George. (UPI photo)

Black Affairs

Africa - not all jungles, lions and Tarzans

By NASSER EGA
Black Affairs Editor

I'm sick and tired of answering the same dumb questions about Africa. For those of you, who in the near future, want to ask me those questions (so that you can relate to the Tarzan movies you watch), I'll save you the trouble by answering them now.

No! We don't run around the jungle with only a loin cloth on. No! We don't have bones running through our noses. No! We don't slide down or go up giraffe necks; we've also got elevators. And No! Tarzan is not my next-tree neighbor.

Those of you who've been to Africa may think I'm crazy for stating the points I've just stated. but if you've been subjected to what I've been through, I'm sure you'll side with me and even urge me to go on National television to set the record straight.

When I first came to UMass, being the polite, well-mannered person I am (was?), I took the time out to answer all those who were curious about Africa and African traditions. What I noticed about my inquisitive "associates" is a sad story. I won't even mention it. I won't mention the fact that their ideas and concepts of Africa and Africans were created from watching Tarzan movies.

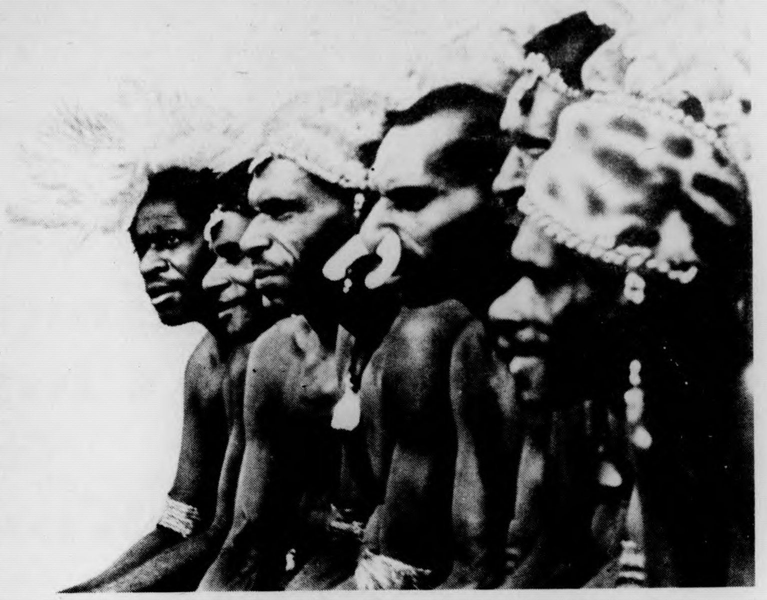
I think that the American public is willing to accept any mangled story of that "Dark" continent. I've tried to understand the question of why they are willing to do so, but to no avail. Granted, the fact that Africa is not exactly the most technologically advanced continent, but it has come a long way (unfortunately we've also got our share of McDonald's and Holiday Inns).

I wish I could describe how ridiculous American tourists look in their Khaki Safari suits and hats with knee high boots (got to protect the legs from snake bites) standing outside the Nairobi Hilton. This hotel is situated on one of the busiest streets where cars are bumper to bumper at any time of the day, and then to see Americans with all their gear on a regular street, in a regular metropolitan city, is downright funny. Sometimes I wondered if they expected to see Tarzan dodging the traffic or a lion waiting for the WALK sign to flash on (yes we have those electronic devices too).

The only way I feel I can give a good impression about Africa, is by telling it in terms American people will understand — the capitalistic terms. Africa has its share of skyscrapers and ghettos. It has Intelligence Agencies that are comparable to the C.I.A. and F.B.I. In most African countries, the rich make up 1 per cent of the population and control 90 per cent of the wealth and the means of production. In other words, we too have our Nelson Rockefellers.

I do hope, by relating in terms Americans can understand, that I've dispelled all those myths about Africa.

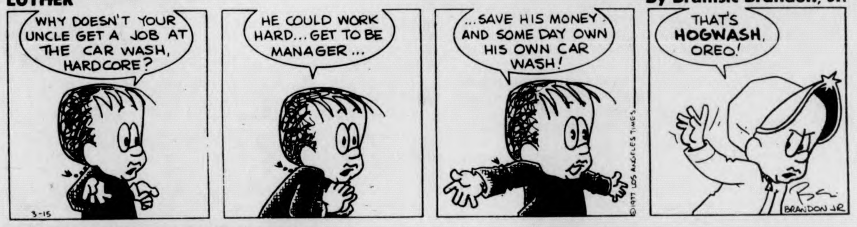
Nasser Ega is a second semester freshman from Kenya, East Africa. He has been in the United States for the past seven months.



This picture is an advertisement in one of America's leading men's magazines. The magazine has done little to help dispel the myth held by American people about non-whites. Here are extracts of the caption which ran under the ad. "Poor Michael. He was just trying to be friendly.

LUTHER

By Brumsic Brandon, Jr.



WHY DOESN'T YOUR UNCLE GET A JOB AT THE CAR WASH, HARDCORE?
3-15
HE COULD WORK HARD... GET TO BE MANAGER...
...SAVE HIS MONEY AND SOME DAY OWN HIS OWN CAR WASH!
©1977 LOS ANGELES TIMES
THAT'S HOGWASH, OREO!
BRANDON JR

Ice Cream Novelities

Now Available on Concourse from 11:00 - 3:00, Monday thru Friday

- Cone
- Fudge Bar
- Twin Pops
- Toffee Krunch
- Ice Cream Bars
- Orange Creme Bars
- Ice Cream Sandwich

CC Food Service

Emergency meeting

An emergency Third World Community meeting will be held today at area Third World Centers.

There is to be an emergency meeting of all Black and Third World students today. It is extremely important that all Third World students attend these meetings this afternoon before eating. The future of the Third World Community is at stake. These meetings are to take no longer than one half-hour apiece.

The times and places of these meetings are as follows:
5:00-5:30 — Orchard Hill-Third World Center
5:30-6:00 — Central-New Africa House
6:00-6:30 — Southwest-Malcolm X Center
6:00-6:30 — Sylvan-Sylvan Cultural Center

There IS a difference!!! Our 38th Year
NEW PREPARE FOR:
MCAT• DAT• LSAT• SAT
GRE • GMAT • OCAT • VAT
Our broad range of programs provides an umbrella of testing know-how that enables us to offer the best preparation available, no matter which course is taken. Over 38 years of experience and success. Small classes. Voluminous home study materials. Courses that are constantly updated. Permanent centers open days, evenings & weekends all year. Complete tape facilities for review of class lessons and for use of supplementary materials. Make-ups for missed lessons at our centers.
ECFMG • FLEX
NAT'L MEDICAL & DENTAL BOARDS
Flexible Programs & Hours
25 HUNTINGTON AVENUE
BOSTON, MASS. 02116
617-261-5150
Outside NY State Only CALL Toll Free 800-221-9840
Centers in Major U.S. Cities and Lugano, Switzerland
Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

CLINTON, Mass.: Edward and Catherine Thompson, selected by the White House to host President Carter on his overnight visit here, got the whole family together in their home to meet members of the press.

Clinton residents welcome Carter

CLINTON, Mass. [UPI] — The exit from the expressway is obscured by construction and barely visible. There is little sign of life along the road which winds through central Massachusetts' rustic countryside.

Then a sign reads: "Entering Clinton, Inc. 1850." A few miles later, a hand-painted sign hanging lopsided from a tree says: "The Kendells Welcome Jimmy Carter."

President Carter tonight will make a historic appearance at Clinton's Town Meeting.

Why Clinton?

"There are indications here of what's happening throughout the country," said Town Moderator Eugene Cafarelli. "I think he'll learn what is the lot in life of the common person in 1977."

Cafarelli, who said the town of 13,000 has been in an uproar since it found out about the visit several weeks ago, said the "lot in life" for many is unemployment.

Clinton, 75 per cent Irish, 75 per cent Democrat and overwhelmingly behind Carter in November's election, is a former textile mill town. It turned to plastics manufacturing many years ago, but the unemployment rate is nearly 9 per cent.

Outside the Town Hall where Carter will address 850 preselected residents is the town green, spartan clean after a united effort by residents last week.

Town meetings, open to all registered voters, have been an integral part of New England's local government since colonial days. The meetings not only provide a forum for debate on issues, but votes taken on financial, administrative and legislative proposals are binding on town officials.

Those attending Clinton's town meeting today were selected by a special lottery last weekend.

A ST. PATRICK'S DAY SPECIAL

$2.00 OFF OUR REGULAR PRICE
on these two T. I. Calculators with green displays!

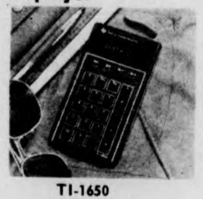
TI-1265
Reg.
Price $11.49



TI-1650
Reg.
Price $24.95

at the calculator store
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
Univ. of Mass.

Carter gets bill to ban Rhodesian chrome imports

Compiled from UPI Wires

The Senate yesterday approved and sent to President Carter a bill repealing the law that allowed the United States to import Rhodesian chrome in defiance of U.N. sanctions.

Completing congressional action on the issue after two days of debate, the Senate approved the repeal legislation by a vote of 66 to 26.

The House passed the same bill Monday to the delight of Carter, who wanted the 1971 Rhodesian import law repealed before he addresses the United Nations Thursday. Further consultation between the House and Senate therefore was unnecessary, and the bill went directly to Carter.

The President was expected to sign it into law before his scheduled U.N. address.

Proponents of the repeal legislation described it as a major foreign policy victory for Carter.

Fashionable
Imported Clothing
for Women

SAVE 30%
to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses

SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular
Women's Clothing at
Ridiculously Low Prices

Faces of Earth

Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

BUS FOR WORCESTER
$2.50 one way
Via Route 9. Every Friday, Saturday & Sunday
Purchase Tickets at Student Union Ticket Office
Also Serving
Belchertown, Ware, Brookfields, Spencer & Leicester
CHARTER A BUS Deluxe Coaches

Tel. 584-6481
WESTERN MASS. BUS LINES

ISRAEL
PROGRAMS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

COLLEGE STUDENT STUDY PROGRAM: At Hayim Greenberg College in Jerusalem for a semester or one year. Curriculum includes Hebrew Language, Literature, Bible, History, Education, Philosophy, Sociology, Talmud. Credits by leading universities in the U.S. Also, tours, cultural and recreational programs. Scholarships available.

UNIVERSITY SEMINARS: 6 weeks of study at Israeli universities. Plus tours, cultural and recreational activities. Up to 11 recognized credits may be earned.

For information and applications call or write:

WZO | WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION
WZO Department of Education & Culture
515 Park Avenue, N.Y.C. 10022
(212) 752-0600 ext. 385/386

Name
Address
City
State Zip

SUMMER JOBS
FOR SOPHOMORES
see page 14 for details

Middle Earth - St. Regis Restaurants present: Lite in the Night
A 10 piece contemporary jazzband featuring: 10 well-known artists
Wednesday March 16 9:00-1:00
Pleasant St., Northhampton
·comfortable seating for over 200·
·fireside lounging·
·No cover·
Libations & edible items till 1:00A.M.

5-1515

By DUKE SIMONEAU
Collegian Staff

This is the fourth in a series of interviews with students working their way through college in some way, shape or form. Collegian reporter Duke Simoneau is checking into some ordinary and unique jobs held down by UMass students.

Rinnnng, rinnng, rinnng.

"Where in hell is that damn information operator?" If you get a constant ring when you dial 5-1515 for a student phone number, the operator is probably helping someone on another line, said student directory operator Susan Moore. The 20 year old Boxford Nursing junior staffs the lines with sophomore Cynthia Cyr Wednesdays from 2-7.

"There are three lines in here that all connect to 5-1515," said Moore. "And there's only two people. That's why it rings and rings and rings. We're on the other lines."

"Especially if someone calls for a few numbers," added Cindy. "Or if the computer breaks down."

At the best time, the operators keypunch a student's last name and first initial into the computer. A mini-TV screen flashes the names and numbers of all students with that name and initial. The operator punches the console for a particular name and gets the student's name, phone, and other outstanding data put in by the Housing Office.

"But it breaks down at least once a night," said Cyr.

Shift supervisor Dorothy Cleveland explained the computer's "malfunctions".

"There's generally a breakdown or an update every night because too many people are drawing from the machine at once or the offices upstairs are adding new information into it."

WHERE'S THE PARTY?
KCT

Without the computer, Moore, Cyr and the other eight women and five men who provide numbers for the lazy or those without books rely on the sheets provided by the various heads of residence. Those sheets give the number of every room and hopefully an accurate accounting of who is in it. If someone changes rooms, and the computer's on a coffee break, there's no way the operators can give you the number.

"People tend to understand when the computer's on the blink," said Susan. "I guess they're used to broken computers by now."

Moore said that she took the job in the Whitmore ground floor office to get a change from working in the Dining Commons.

"Most people are really pleasant, if you try for them," added Cyr. Cyndy and Susan work together as a team, every Wednesday and every fifth weekend.

Both women agreed that the 9:00-2:00 shift on Sundays is easiest. "No-one's up to call us!" laughed Cyr.

"Thursday's the busiest," said Moore. "I guess that's when everyone's planning their partying for the weekend."

Occasionally, someone will call and ask where the best parties are, where you go to vote, and what movies are playing, etc."

"They see 'Student Information' in the book and figure we know all that," said Susan. "If I knew where the best parties were ... "

"They also ask for office phone numbers," said Cyndy. "That's what you dial 'O' for. We only have student numbers, and if a student doesn't report their phone number to the housing office, we just haven't got it."

What is the best thing to do if you keep getting a ring when you call for a number?

"Just hang on," laughed Susan. " 'Cause if you hang up and call back, you may not get through!"

Moon breaks hearts

SAN FRANCISCO [UPI] — Two childhood sweethearts had their marriage plans destroyed by their differing views about the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the prospective bride said yesterday during a court hearing.

The young woman, Janice Kaplan, 24, of Toledo, Ohio, looked longingly at her boyfriend as he told reporters outside the court he used deceptive methods to raise funds while he was a "moonie."

"I'd love to marry him if he returns to the church," Miss Kaplan said of Stephen Lang, 24, also of Toledo, after a judge granted his request to be placed for 60 more days in custody of his parents who had him "deprogrammed" by anti-moonies during 2½ days in a South San Francisco motel room.

"Oh, yes definitely. I want to marry Stephen — we talked about it," she said. But she said her main love is for Moon's Unification Church, "and it is just a matter of choosing greater values."

The lovers' confrontation occurred outside a hearing before Superior Judge S. Lee Vavuris on the petition of five families to gain 30-day custody of their adult "moonie" children to have them deprogrammed by the Freedom of Thought Foundation in Tucson, Ariz.

Miss Kaplan is one of the five young adults from New York, New Jersey, California, Oregon and Ohio opposing the petition on grounds it violates their freedom of speech and religion. Each side claims brainwashing by the other.

The moonies' attorneys charged in court Tuesday that a friend of those involved in the hearing, Lawrence Baer, 26, was "kidnaped" for deprogramming in nearby Sausalito Monday night.

But Sausalito Police Sgt. Bob Glynn said that "although the young man was put into a car against his will we understand it was perfectly legal" because his parents obtained a court custody order.

Lang told reporters that while raising funds for the church: "You tell people anything to get money, whatever you think will open up their wallets. If they're old, you talk about clinics — if they're young, drug treatment."

SEE AND HEAR THE MEMBERS OF THE WEATHER UNDERGROUND SPEAK OUT!

UNDERGROUND
THE DEFINITIVE FILM ON THE REBELLIOUS SIXTIES

A FILM BY
Emile de Antonio
Mary Lampson
Haskell Wexler
WITH MEMBERS OF
THE WEATHER UNDERGROUND
Billy Ayers
Kathy Boudin
Bernardine Dohrn
Jeff Jones
Cathy Wilkerson

"Unique and candid, it may well be one of the most important political documents of the 1970's." — The Boston Globe an rbc films release

TONITE
S.U.B. 7-9-11 $1.00

TURIN, Italy: The estranged wife of Italian hijacker Luciano Porcari is seen here. She has refused to surrender her daughter, Consuela, 6, as demanded by the 37-year-old auto mechanic.

Hijacker lands in Warsaw

Compiled from UPI Wires — The Italian hijacker of a Spanish jetliner landed in Warsaw last night on his way to Moscow under the mistaken impression the Kremlin has no diplomatic links to Spain and may let him go free.

The airborne drama in which Luciano Porcarie ordered the craft to land in Africa, where he picked up one of his daughters and a $140,000 ransom, and then in Italy and Switzerland shaped up as one of the longest hijackings in history.

"If they don't let me see my child there will be a massacre," 37-year-old auto mechanic Luciano Porcari told a friend by radio message. "I don't care if I die."

Porcari's estranged wife, who has custody of their three children, including 6-year-old Consuela, refused to surrender the girl.

Swiss police said Porcari wanted to collect Consuela "and go to an East European country."

The 15 weary passengers and seven crew members still aboard the 727 jet with Porcari and his 3-year-old illegitimate daughter, Margarita, were reported well. Fourteen hostages were freed yesterday during earlier stops in Zurich and Turin.

Margarita's African mother allowed the child to join her father after the hijacked plane touched down in the Ivory Coast capital of Abidjan Monday night. He also collected a ransom of $140,000 there.

Porcari described his desperate desire to see his older daughter during a radio talk with a childhood friend in Turin.

Spain's Iberia airlines said the pilot of the Boeing 727 was refusing to go on from Warsaw because of exhaustion. It said the craft will stay in the Polish capital until a relief pilot is flown in, but that cannot be done before today.

The airlines said the auto mechanic had ordered the pilot to head for Moscow, but landed in Warsaw because the craft did not have enough fuel to make the flight non-stop.

The plane, its tail dirty and blackened after more than 38 hours of stop-and-go flight, touched down in Warsaw at 5:25 p.m. EST after Czechoslovakia refused it permission to refuel in Prague, Iberia said.

The company also said the Czechoslovaks sent up "a squadron of planes" to escort the airliner during its over-flight.

Porcari ordered the crew to fly to Moscow after the Boeing had circled Turin, Italy, in a holding pattern for an hour. Russia gave permission for the airliner to fly over its territory and land in Moscow, Iberia said.

Porcari said that he picked the Soviet capital because "there they have no relations with Spain so they would certainly let me go."

Sport
Coat

100% cotton, made in Yugoslavia,
available in white,
light green, blue,
and yellow.

$9.95
each

Faces of Earth

Next to the Amherst Post Office
9:30-5:30 Mon-Sat

$1 million

U.S. sends aid to Zaire

KINSHASA, Zaire [UPI] — Zaire hinted yesterday that Cuban forces were part of a force invading the former province of Katanga and asked for U.S. help. The United States called the request "justified" and sent $1 million in emergency military aid.

Zaire's government-controlled news agency said the invaders who attacked from Angola last week and captured several towns were "led by other mercenaries from across the Atlantic and supported by a third country for the needs of ideological conquest."

The report did not mention Cuba by name. But an estimated 10,000 Cuban troops remain in Angola from a force of some 14,000 that helped the Marxist faction of Angolan President Agostinho Neto win a bloody civil war and control of the former Portuguese colony last year.

In Washington, the State Department said it could not confirm that Cubans were among the invading force and that the speedy U.S. compliance to Zaire's request for military aid was not necessarily an endorsement of Zaire's claim that the invaders were "mercenaries."

"We have no confirmed, solid evidence that there are Cubans" involved in the invasion force, State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown said. He added, "We have no solid evidence that they (the invaders) have support from Angola."

"The request is justified ... and our information about the situation in Zaire is sufficient for us to make a favorable judgment on the request," Brown said.

A Pentagon spokesman said a DC8 carried fuel, communications equipment, parachutes, back packs and military rations as well as medical supplies. A second chartered plane will leave for Zaire later this week with spare parts for U.S.-made Hercules C130 aircraft used by Zaire's air force.

Brown said the former Belgian Congo had also requested, and received, help from Western European countries. He did not identify them.

The State Department also accounted Tuesday for 90 more Americans in the area, including 82 employees of a construction company, Constructeur Inga-Shaba, a subsidiary of Morrison-Knudsen, a U.S. company from Boise, Idaho. Twenty-six of them, mostly dependents of the construction workers, will be evacuated.

Members of a "National Front for the Liberation of the Congo," organized by former Katanga rebels who fled to the then Portuguese colony of Angola following the fall of the late Moise Tsombe and his Katanga separatist movement, reiterated claims the invasion was an internal uprising.

STYLES BY DEBORAH
ANNIVERSARY SPECIAL
OUR VERY BEST UNIPERM REG $30.00
NOW ONLY $22.50 COMPLETE WITH
CUT & STYLE FOR MEN AND WOMEN.
OUR STYLISTS WILL SHOW YOU HOW
TO PROFESSIONALLY STYLE YOUR
OWN HAIR. STYLE CUT ONLY $5.00
CALL 549-5610 FOR APPT.

CHEQUERS
Wednesday is Mich Nite
Happy Hour never stops!
4→closing

Cheese and Crackers early hot dogs and sauerkraut late

COME AND ENJOY!

St. Patrick's Day Luncheon
March 17

Bluewall
Cafeteria
Special

Corned Beef & Cabbage	1.30
Irish Lamb Stew w/ Dumpling	1.30
O'Brien Potatoes	.25
O'Leary Spinach	.25
Fruited Lime Gelatin	.30
Minted Pear Salad	.50
Killarney Cup Cakes	.25
County Cork Cookies	.20
Shannon Coke	.35

all prices subject to tax

Carter, Senate reject plans for nuclear devices

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The Senate yesterday gave final congressional approval to President Carter's rejection of plans for a fourth nuclear-powered Nimitz class aircraft carrier.

At the same time, members voted to stop conversion of the nuclear-propelled cruiser Long Beach to the AEGIS air defense weapons system.

The twin decisions were contained in legislation, previously approved by the House, which rescinded fiscal 1977 appropriations for the two projects. The bill, passed by voice vote, was sent to the White House.

Specifically, the bill withdrew $371 million for the Long Beach conversion and $81.6 million for the carrier — amounts that had not been obligated.

Both Carter and predecessor Gerald Ford recommended a halt to construction of the big carrier despite objections from Adm. Hyman Rickover, who shepherded development of the nuclear fleet.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, in recommending the fourth carrier be abandoned, said it should not be construed as an end to support of the carrier task force concept.

The committee noted testimony by Defense Secretary Harold Brown that the administration planned to request funds for a smaller, nonnuclear aircraft carrier in fiscal 1979 and a second one in the five-year defense plan.

In its report, the committee urged the Pentagon to move "as rapidly as possible" on the new carrier and on a program for a short-takeoff plane to equip it.

The panel directed the Defense Department to submit a funding request no later than Sept. 1 "to help achieve these new capabilities in the shortest possible time."

The bill contained a total of $664 million in funds rescinded from various government programs.

The legislation approved Carter's request to rescind $143.6 million for military retirement pay; $14.3 million for Air Force procurement; $41.5 million for foreign military credit sales; and $12 million for contributions to international peacekeeping activities.

But the bill rejected withdrawal of $1.5 million for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, $525,000 for the U.S. Travel Service and $6.8 million for Coast Guard retirement pay.

The rescission request for the carrier programs totalled $721 million when submitted by Ford. Carter reduced the amount to $452.6 million because of funds which had been obligated.

SKI CLUB MEETING

TONITE

All people going on the Sugarloaf/Spring Break trip must attend to get room and carpool assignments.

INFO.
Thompson 104
MOVIE
8 p.m. Mar. 16, 1977

PITTSFIELD, Mass. Heading home by the water route is Yvon Boucette of Turner Ave. after massive flooding prevented normal means of transportation. (UPI Telephoto)

Argo captain gets license revoked

NEW YORK [UPI] — The master of the wrecked tanker Argo Merchant, which created the biggest oil spill in the history of the Atlantic Coast, lost his Liberian skipper's license yesterday, officials announced.

The Liberian Maritime Administration revoked the license of the 43-year-old captain, George Papadopoulus, and said he "can no longer serve in that capacity" for Liberia.

Papadopoulus also holds a master's license from his native country, Greece.

Besides the cancellation of Papadopoulus' license, two other Argo Merchant officers — Chief Mate George Ypsilantis, 33, and Second Mate George Dedrinos, 27 — were suspended "without prejudice." The sanction does not preclude a later recommendation for a more severe penalty.

The action by Gerald F.B. Cooper, maritime commissioner of the Republic of Liberia, was based on an interim report and recommendation by his marine board of investigation.

That board, named by Cooper to try to pinpoint the cause of the Dec. 15 disaster in the Nantucket Shoals and to recommend disciplinary action in the case, has been holding hearings in New York City since March 2.

The interim report was not made public, Cooper said, and the board's findings will be withheld until it issues a final report to the commissioner.

SUMMER JOBS
FOR SOPHOMORES
see page 14 for details

de·moc·ra·cy : a government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly or indirectly through a system of representation usually involving periodically held free elections

LAST DAY TODAY VOTE FOR YOUR 10am–8pm

Student Government Association
Co-Presidents

Polling Places
Southwest, from Crampton north–Hampshire Dining Commons
Southwest, from Mackimmie south–Berkshire Dining Commons
Sylvan and Northeast–Worcester Dining Commons
Central–Franklin Dining Commons
Orchard Hill–Dickinson Dormitory
Commuters and Greeks–Cape Cod Lounge, Student Union

Sex discrimination still present in schools

WASHINGTON [UPI] – Nearly two thirds of the nation's schools and colleges have failed to meet legal requirements for banning sex discrimination in classes and activities, the government reported yesterday.

These schools will be given 60 days to assure the government they are complying with the Title IX sex discrimination law or face possible withdrawal of federal aid, said the report by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Since it takes an average of nine months to process fund cutoffs, it is unlikely any will be imposed during the current school year.

HEW published a list of the 6,742 school systems and colleges which have provided legally required statements attesting to their compliance with the 1972 law.

It said 13,576 school districts and colleges either failed to submit the required forms or filed inadequate assurance statements.

Notices will be sent "immediately" to those 11,442 elementary and high school systems and 2,134 colleges and universities, giving them 60 days to file the forms, an HEW spokesman said.

HEW Secretary Joseph Califano said Feb. 17 that all schools receiving federal aid – including almost all public schools and many colleges – would be asked to submit assurance statements by March 15.

"Those that do not comply will face the initiation of legal proceedings leading to termination of federal funds," he said at the time.

HEW said the forms were required as of last September 30, and that since Califano's announcement the government has been receiving about six a day.

In addition to the 6,742 school systems and colleges sending acceptable statements, 3,222 submitted "unacceptable" assurances and there is no record of assurances being received from 10,354, HEW said.

Agnew denies probation violation

BOSTON [UPI] – Spiro Agnew yesterday scoffed at a Miami lawyer's charge the former vice president violated his 1973 probation by acting as an unregistered foreign agent for Arab nations.

The accusation was made against Agnew in a federal court suit brought by attorney Sam Polur.

Agnew, in Boston to publicize a recent novel, termed the charge "ridiculous." He said it was "a personal publicity vehicle" for Polur. He predicted the case would "be thrown out of court."

"I represent no OPEC nations. I represent only American companies," he told an interviewer on the syndicated "Good Day!" television show.

In Atlanta Monday, Agnew said he would "testify personally I never had any kind of connection with Arab nations."

Agnew resigned Oct. 10, 1973, after pleading no contest to income tax charges. The plea climaxed an investigation into charges he accepted kickbacks while governor of Maryland. He was fined and placed on three years of unsupervised probation.

Since his resignation, Agnew has operated an export-import business and has written a novel.

"I have the rest of my life to live," he said Tuesday. "I have rehabilitated my self-esteem and I feel comfortable with myself again.

"I have no desire to talk with Richard Nixon again."

Polur accused Agnew of using an organization called Education for Democracy, Inc. to act as an unregistered foreign agent for Arab nations.

A federal judge has postponed a decision on the request for probation suspension pending the outcome of an appeal now before the U.S. Court of Appeals in Richmond.

Next year you could be on a scholarship.

An Air Force ROTC two-year scholarship pays your tuition and gives you $100 a month allowance. And it picks up the tab for books and lab fees, as well.

After college, you'll receive a commission in the Air Force ... go on to additional, specialized training ... as you get your start as an Air Force officer. There'll be good pay and responsibility, and lots of other benefits ... and a great opportunity to serve your country.

It all starts right here – in college – in the Air Force ROTC.

CALL MAJOR RICHARDSON
at 545-2437
Air Force ROTC

DISCO

★

MACKIMMIE JOE

★ ★

WEDNESDAY
MARCH 16

BLUEWALL

TOMORROW HAS BEEN HERE
........and GONE

A musical play about the struggles of a black New York
family in the sixties

by Thurman W. Stanback and Semenya McCord
with The Voices of th New Africa House Workshop Choir
Horace C. Boyer, conductor

March 15, 16, 17 1977 at 8 PM

tickets $ 1.50

Bowker Auditorium

Now being sold at
Campus Center Concourse and Bowker Box Office

co-sponsor - Program Council Music

J22 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Stop & Shop–Frozen Orange Juice 12 oz. can 19¢ 233
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one can per customer. Frozen

J23 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
1 Gal. Gem Salad Oil 128 ounce can $2.99 234
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one can per customer. Grocery

J21 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Scot Towels Jumbo 140 Count 1 ply Roll 29¢ 239
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one roll per customer. Grocery

J25 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Cheese Food Slices 16 oz. pkg. 89¢ 236
Sun Glory–Individually Wrapped–White or Yellow
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one pkg. per customer. Dairy

J20 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
Fleischmann's Corn Oil Margarine 1 pound package qtr. lb. sticks 39¢ 240
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one pkg. per customer. Dairy

J27 With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase
French Fries Sun Glory 5 lb. bag 79¢ 238
Good thru Sat. Mar. 19. Limit one bag per customer. Frozen

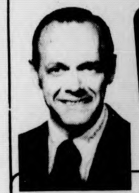
At 'my store' Stop & Shop Brand saves you money

You don't have to wait for a sale to save money on Stop & Shop Brands. There are more than 1200 items under our own labels—priced lower than the nationally advertised brands. Compare the savings on these everyday prices.

Stop & Shop Ketchup 14 oz. Bottle 39¢
Stop & Shop Corn Cream Style or Whole Kernel 4 16 oz. cans $1
Stop & Shop Peas medium 3 for 89¢
Stop & Shop Soup Chicken Noodle 6 10½ oz. cans $1
Stop & Shop 40 oz. btl. Apple Juice 49¢
Stop & Shop Bathroom Tissue 4 roll pk. 69¢
Aqua, Pink, White or Yellow–430 ct. 2 ply Rolls
Gallon Stop & Shop Bleach 128 oz. jug 49¢
Stop & Shop 18 oz. jar Grape Jelly 49¢
Apple Jelly or Orange Marmalade

ONE OF THE STOP & SHOP COMPANIES
Stop & Shop SUPERMARKETS

It's 'my store' to more people.
Because it's the only store with the quality & value of Stop & Shop Brand.



Ray Benjamin
Store Manager–Manchester

I can give you over 1200 good reasons to shop 'my store'.

"Over 1200 of our own Stop & Shop canned goods, household products, frozen foods, deli, dairy, baked goods, health and beauty aids.

Sometimes it takes convincing to get customers in my store to try my Stop & Shop Brand. But once they do, they're sold ... because they find out what I've always known. The quality is there, inside every can, package and bottle. We have a whole team of quality control experts making sure of it. You get this satisfaction guarantee, too: your favorite national brand as a free replacement for any Stop & Shop product you don't like.

Our Stop & Shop Brand is the best quality we can possibly bring you, the kind of dependable quality that has made Stop & Shop 'my store' to more people."

self service deli Help yourself to savings!
Stop & Shop Bacon 1 lb. pkg. 99¢
Sliced–Regular, Maple or Thick
Stop & Shop Hot Dogs 1 lb. pkg. 79¢
Extra Mild Franks or Beef Franks
Cold Cuts Stop & Shop–Bologna, P&P or Spiced Luncheon Loaf 1 lb. pkg. 99¢
Cold Cuts Stop & Shop–Bologna, P&P, or Polish Style Loaf–6 oz. pkg. 45¢
Child Mild Franks 1 lb. pkg. 89¢
Columbia Polish Rings per lb. $1.29
Hebrew National Franks 12 oz. pkg. $1.39 or Hebrew National Knockwurst 12 oz. pkg.

corner deli Sliced fresh to order. Available in stores featuring a corner deli.
Deutschmacher Franks 99¢ lb.
Gem Polish Style Loaf per lb. 99¢
Luncheon Sausage Carando Brand Pressed per lb. $1.59
Cooked Salami Carando Brand White Torrino per lb. $1.49
White American Cheese Land O'Lakes per lb. $1.49
"White Gem" Roasted Turkey Breast 89¢
Sliced Fresh Qtr. pound
Roast Beef Oven Roasted qtr. lb. 89¢
Quality Protected–Our Best Quality
Stop & Shop Meat Loaf per lb. $1.39
Potato Salad Regular or Oil and Vinegar per lb. 49¢
Stop & Shop Ham Salad per lb. $1.69
Stop & Shop Stuffed Peppers per lb. $1.29
Deli Finger Rolls Stop & Shop Package of 12 12 oz. pkg. 59¢

Stop & Shop kitchen Made with quality ingredients.
2 lbs. Greek Style Rice Pudding 99¢ pkg.
Macaroni & Cheese 2 lb. pkg. 99¢
Cheese Lasagna 1 lb. pkg. 89¢
Stop & Shop Parfaits All Flavors 2 13 oz. pkgs. 99¢

seafood Meatless meals ... easy on your budget.
Fresh Cod Fillet $1.69 lb
Fresh Scallops per lb. $2.59
Turbot Fillets Frozen per lb. 99¢
Shrimp Cocktail Taste O Sea 3 4 oz. jars $1.49
Cooked Fish Cakes Stop & Shop–Frozen 1½ lb. pkg. 79¢
Shrimp Stop & Shop Medium Size Peeled and Deveined 20 oz. pkg. $4.69
Fish & Chips Stop & Shop Frozen 2 lb. pkg. $1.69

Stop & Shop "Great Beef"
Stop & Shop GREAT BEEF QUALITY PROTECTED USDA CHOICE
Sirloin Steak $1.29 lb
Shell Beef Loin
We're 'my store' to more people because we're the only store with "Great Beef". Bone-in.
Top Sirloin Steak Rump Steak Boneless–USDA Choice $1.89 lb.

"CONSTANT LEANESS" Only Stop & Shop has the facilities to guarantee it!
26%* Ground Beef 79¢ lb
*Contains not more than 26% fat.–Any size pkg.
20%* Lean Ground Beef Any size pkg. 99¢ lb
*Lean contains not more than 20% fat.
14%* Extra Lean $1.29 lb
*Extra Lean contains not more than 14% fat–Any size pkg.

Shoulder Lamb Chops 99¢ lb
New Zealand–Frozen
Oven Ready Lamb Legs Whole New Zealand Frozen $1.19 lb.

Corned Beef Sale
Mosey's Whole Corned Beef Brisket 89¢ lb
10-12 pounds
Stop & Shop Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut 89¢ lb.
Corned Beef Brisket Stop & Shop–Flat Cut $1.09 lb.
Nepco Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut 99¢ lb. Flat Cut $1.19 lb.
Alpert's Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut $1.09 lb. Flat Cut $1.29 lb.
Mosey's Corned Beef Round $1.29 lb.
Swift's Corned Beef Brisket for oven roasting $1.49 lb.
Stop & Shop Corned Beef Brisket 89¢ lb.
Whole extra trim–7-9 lbs.

produce Everything is good and fresh.
Fresh Calif. Asparagus 79¢ lb.
Red Delicious Apples 3 lb. bag US No. 1–2¼" min. 89¢
Jumbo California Navel Oranges 56 size 8 for $1
Fresh Green Cabbage St. Patrick's Day! 29¢ lb.

bakery We bake over 40 kinds of bread plus luscious pastry.
Stop & Shop–Daisy Donuts 2 11½ oz. pkgs. of 12 $1
Plain or Sugar
Big Daisy Sliced White Bread 3 20 oz. loaves $1
Frankfurt Rolls 3 12 oz. pkgs. of 8 $1
English Muffins Blueberry Flavored or Butter Onion 2 11½ oz. pkgs. of 12 $1
Irish Pound Cake 16 oz. or Fudge Cake–15 oz. 89¢ ea.

dairy You've got all week to shop these fine buys.
Buttermilk or Countrystyle Pillsbury Biscuits or Ballard Oven Ready Biscuits 8 8 oz. pkgs. of 10 $1
Stay N'Shape Yogurt Breakstone Asst. Flavors 3 8 oz. cups 89¢
Bordens Country Store Bar Cheese Sharp or Extra Sharp 8 oz. pkg. 99¢
Hood NuForm Cottage Cheese 16 oz. cup 69¢
Gallon Orange Juice Stop & Shop (plastic gal. jug) from concentrate $1.29 frozen Fix dinner without spending all day cooking.

Half Gallon–Sun Glory Ice Cream ctn. 89¢
Assorted Flavors
Birds Eye Pea or Corn 3 10 oz. pkgs. $1
Senaca Apple or Grape Juice 4 6 oz. cans $1
Aunt Jemima Pancake Batter 16 oz. pkg. 59¢
Regular, Buttermilk or Blueberry
Taste O'Sea Fish N'Chips 16 oz. pkg. 69¢
Gortons Baked Stuffed Scrod 9½ oz. pkg. $1.29
Choclit Covers or Combo Bars $1.09
Stop & Shop–35 oz. pkg.
Yogurt Cake Chock full o' Nuts 16 oz. pkg. $1.19
Mrs. Pauls Fish Parmesian 16 oz. pkg. 75¢
Stop & Shop Meatloaf 24 oz. pkg. $1.59
Macaroni & Cheese Stop & Shop 11 oz. pkg. 39¢
Poly Bag Vegetables Seabrook Blends - American, North Country or Cosmopolitan 18 oz. Bag 59¢ health & beauty aids On sale all week ... why pay more.

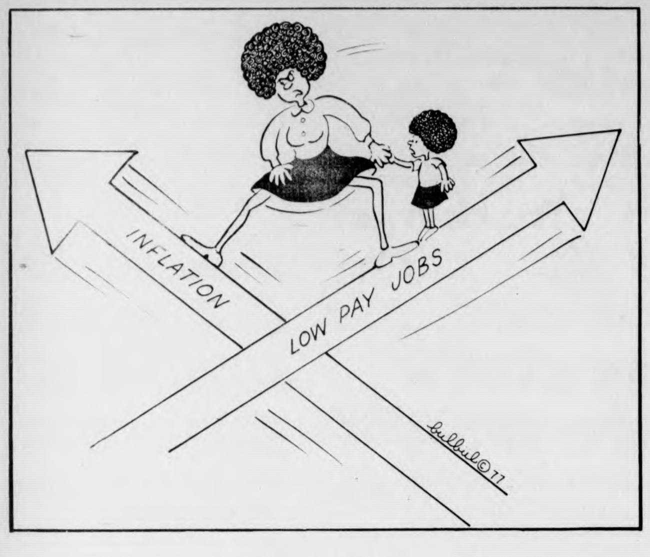
Aim Toothpaste 2 4.6 oz. tubes $1
Trac II Blades 9 ct. pkg. $1.39

EKCOETERNA® Quality-Crafted, heavy-guage radial base.
8 in. open skillet or Frying Pan $4.99 with each $5 purchase
Porcelain on Aluminum Country Garden Cookware

World Famous complete curriculum oriented
Britannica Junior Encyclopaedia $2.99 Vol. 3 Vol. 25 FREE
FREE This Week Vol. 25 with Purchase of Vol. 3

Prices effective Sun. Mar. 12 - Sat. Mar. 19. In fairness to all our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any item except where otherwise noted. Items offered for sale not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. *Copyright 1977 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. All rights reserved.

HADLEY-AMHERST Route 9 at the Hadley-Amherst Line. 8a.m.-10p.m., Mon.-Sat. We redeem your Federal Food Stamps.



letters

Weissman & Pooler: 'Clean campaign'

To the Editor:

The SGA presidential election has generated a lot of publicity and much discussion. Unfortunately most of it centers around dirty tricks, bad faith, and violations of basic ethical principles.

The only slate that has run a clean, above board issues campaign is the Joel Weissman-Chuck Pooler candidacy. While the other candidates were doing legal battle before the student judiciary, Weissman and Pooler were speaking out on the issues. They will fight administrative and legislative attacks on low cost, high quality public education in Massachusetts. While no slate can come out and supported budget cuts, no team except Weissman-Pooler has addressed the issue of making sure that the public higher education system is kept viable.

Weissman and Pooler are also concerned about the quality of life for UMass students. They see the SGA as being a prime force in enriching student cultural life and promoting increased and broadened student services.

Much has been made of "experience" in this campaign. We have seen how that experience has been put to use — in slick, media-hype campaigns. We ARE offered a candidacy in this campaign that has no interest but serving the students. There IS a choice in this campaign. The poster controversy served the convenient purpose of pointing out the mirror like similarity between Hite-Batiste and Foley-Tyson.

Vote for the team that will make a difference. Vote for Joel Weissman and Chuck Pooler.

Lawrence D. Gerzog

letters

Collegian: 'Back-room politics?'

To the Editor:

The Collegian's endorsement of the Batiste-Hite candidacy for the SGA presidency was not only startling, but smacked of the smoke-filled, back room politics that the Collegian and its writers so often accuse the student senate of.

I can recall no medium, be it print or electronic, that has had the gall to produce a political endorsement on the day of an election and still claim to be responsible. The Board of Editors certainly have the right to endorse the candidate of their choice for any office, but it has twisted this right well beyond reason.

Is it not true that the Collegian business manager brought the editorial before the individual members of the board? And is it not true that he has helped the media director for the Batiste-Hite campaign prepare the poster of the Batiste-Hite candidacy? Isn't it also true that the editorial only passed by a five to four vote of the board and that the Editor-in-Chief and the Executive Editor [on whose pages the editorial appeared] disagreed with this particular instance breaking of a 100-year Collegian tradition of not endorsing political candidates for student office?

And why did the Collegian abandon its alleged impartiality to let the Board of Editors voice a preference, when I saw no columnist or commentator offered this privilege?

Then there are the other questions that the editorial raises. It's easy to rattle off a list of committee seats and label them as experience, but the Collegian's editors seem to have been sucked into acceptance of a list of activities without questioning accomplishments. Certainly Batiste-Hite can show numerous committees they have sat on, or organizations that they have belonged to, but they have consistently refused throughout the campaign to list their accomplishments. The experience of Foley-Tyson has always been explained in terms of service to students rather than through a meaningless resume type listing of the Batiste-Hite variety.

The Collegian, typical of its status quo stance, has been easily sucked into endorsing Batiste-Hite because of that campaign's slick Madison Avenue approach which has left most of the important questions unanswered.

To maintain my objectivity in assessing campaigns, I will certainly be much more skeptical of the Collegian in the future. I fear "New England's Largest College Daily" may have become mired in political sleaziness because of a spineless political campaign that is trying to skirt its way into office by avoiding anything that seems like a concrete stance on any issue.

Henry P. Doyle

Janssen's comics are inhumane

To the Editor:

As one who has dedicated much of my life to nurturing humaneness among all races, I consider Mr. Dick Janssen's comic strip, "What Next", inhumane, insensitive and inappropriate. One thing this young man must learn is that the historical relationship between the White male ruling class, White females and racial minorities has been and continues to be without party. Consequently, it is oppressive rather than humorous when a "first class" citizen uses a female or racial minority as the subject of a comic strip which has negative racial and sexual implications.

If Mr. Janssen's point was to satirically treat affirmative action efforts of the University, he again failed. The University recognizes the dearth of minorities and White females within its decision-making ranks. It also recognizes the significant contributions of these groups of people and is dealing with the challenge of increasing their representation on all levels.

I respect Mr. Janssen's right to express himself through comic strips; however, I respect my right as a human being to publicly disapprove of his humor. Having worked closely with several editors-in-chief of the Collegian [Steve Tripoli, Bill Mills, and Ron Arena] I can truthfully say they represent a progressive and humane journalism that will serve to improve race relations on our campus. I suggest that Mr. Janssen develop his sense of satire on the basis of an intelligent understanding of minority feelings and constructive race relations.

O.C. Bobby Daniels
Associate Dean of Students

Correction

In Monday's Collegian the letter entitled, "To the Organization of Arab Students" was written by Jeff Kalish. Tuesday's correction was in error. Jeff Kalish is not connected to the Student Organizing Project.

Non-traditional students give support

To the Editor:

We want to take this opportunity to urge every member of our assembly (10,000 strong) to vote in the SGA presidential elections being held today, and by so doing support Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite.

This team represents to us the only team running for these important offices who has the qualifications and concerns of all students focused on.

They were the only ones interested enough in our population to attend our executive council and present their views and hear and react to ours. For this, we thank them and support them fully.

Executive Council
Non-Traditional Student Assembly
Dee Drake, President
David Baillie, Vice President

'Elect students, not politicians'

To the Editor:

The Collegian Board of Editors has made public its choice for SGA Co-Presidents and in doing so has taken the time to list the experiences the candidates have had which enable them to be the "right choice" for you, the students, to make. I would ask you all to consider the editors last two sentences. "Students have waited too long for leaders like Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite. It's time we gave them a shot at it."

If one has read the editors entire article you would quickly realize that both Jon and Pinky have already "had a shot at it". The editors speak of "new leadership" yet rely on it from old leaders [Nixon also finally got elected President-remember!]. I believe the contradiction is obvious — old leaders when new leaders are needed?

Will Jon Hite resign the Presidency as he resigned when he was Speaker of the Student Senate? Do Jon and Pinky support the SATF increase as they now say — check the Senate Minutes and find out Collegian!

Herb Tyson and John Foley indicate a "new leadership" is coming [if elected]. No, they are not the political elites Jon Hite purports to be, but both promise to be something new and refreshing in an already crowded political scene. Are they qualified? Jimmy Carter did not come from the National political scene yet no one claims he does not have the experience necessary to be a successful President. Do the Collegian editors claim John and Herb do not have the necessary abilities?

Why not have two students elected rather than two politicians for a change and "new Leadership".

Richard M. Baga

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts · Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

richard caplan

Riding the bus

For many of us at the world of UMass there are certain unspeakable "normalities" that occur daily without any conscious recognition on our part. Although there are many situations where these occur, one of the most obvious is while riding the bus. I would, then, like to present some of these unspoken rules to you.

1) Looking at other people — if you are going to look at the other people on the bus, and most of us eventually do, there are certain techniques you should be aware of:

The quick glance — this is merely meeting the eyes of another and then looking quickly away. Heaven forbit that you should make another person aware that you find them attractive and they certainly don't want you to know they're looking back.

The side glance — this is when you don't have the nerve for a quick glance so you look at some inanimate object while catching the person in the corner of your eye.

The stare — this is direct, open and usally obscene (depending on what part of the body you're staring at). There are several response you might expect when using the stare.

The double glance — this occurs when the person notices your stare, looks away and then looks back again.

The single glance — this occurs when the person notices your stare (and possibly the hungry look in your eye), and never looks back.

The black eye — this happens when the person being stared at decides to do some of his or her own communicating.

2) Touching — certain types of touching is allowed on the bus. Some of the allowable touching is:

The hug — this touching isn't bad. It usually happens to two people when they are happy to see each other.

The grab — this happens when only one of the two people is happy to see the other.

The accident — this type of touching occurs when neither person knows the other and somehow their bodies make contact. In this case both people should pull away from each other and pretend it never happened.

The stomp — when one person's foot gets wedged between the floor and another person's foot. This touching is not so good.

3) Talking

To other people — if you must talk on the bus then at least talk loud enough so everyone else can hear you. When you say something you think is funny, look around and see if anyone else is laughing. If so, be encouraged and try to get everyone on the bus laughing. Who knows they might even give you a job as a social director.

To the drivers — some drivers aren't bad people and they like to be talked to, especially when making difficult turns or while driving through a school zone. Try to be as distractive as possible and ask a few stupid questions that they've heard a hundred times before. They love it.

Finally, if you have any questions about the bus schedule or about why no two clocks on campus tell the same time, my roommate Lan will be happy to answer all questions addressed to "Ask the driver" care of this newspaper. He won't know any answers but he doesn't get any mail, so do him a favor.

What did the bus driver say to the insurance salesman? "What's up?" Get it?

Richard Caplan is a Collegian Columnist.

commentary

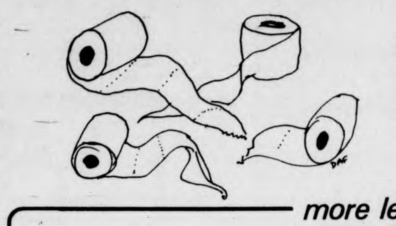
Non-traditional rolls

By STEPHEN KLEIN

If you are among the many students presently occupying the dormitory system on campus, I'm sure you're acutely aware of the necessity and even the enjoyability of bathroom tissue. Perhaps the limited narrowmindedness of some people doesn't allow them to appreciate this truly wonderful resource so readily at our disposal. I find some things hard to believe. The price of this commodity is relatively inexpensive, free in fact, and this adds considerably to the opinion most people hold. They couldn't be further from the truth. Love's free.

Some people have the audacity to say, "its only toilet paper." These people seem to be cursed with a definite lack of imagination. But have you ever stopped to consider the value of one single roll; for in this day and age values are surely far and few between. You pay so little, yet a day doesn't go by that you don't tear off at least a little piece.

Without overlooking its fundamental purpose, (Where would you be without it? I'm presently balancing on the border line of responsible journalism.) Let's look at what some students are doing with their roll. If you are in the lower socio-economic class and cannot afford a Kleenex, a roll of bathroom tissue will work fine for the first 10 to 15 sneezes. After that it gets a bit rough and then the investment of Vaseline greatly outweighs the original price of the unbought Kleenex.



Some thrifty people wrap their gifts in it while others use it in a somewhat wasteful manner. They merely throw it around the room while jumping up and down screaming and yelling and really getting into the mess they've created. It takes approximately six rolls of bathroom tissue to tie someone up. It works just as well as some of the expensive paper towels on the market. It's very useful as a sculpting material. After its wet, it dries out with a beautifully hard smooth finish.

The inside tube is another whole ball game, entirely different, yet so inseparably related. While throwing one roll around, you can shout obscenities through the tube of another. For anyone who smokes, it makes a decent bong. Well, the price is right anyhow.

So don't take that roll of bathroom tissue for granted. The truth is, if some conglomerate like I.T.T. or Bell Telephone bought up the entire world's supply and insisted on charging five bucks a roll, you'd simply have no choice. Either that or you'd be awfully uncomfortable. Besides, the only other thing on this whole campus comparable in price is the Collegian and you don't take that for granted!

Stephen Klein is a Collegian Commentator.

more letters

Sexuality colloq degrading

To the Editor:

I hope that this will serve as a warning to anyone thinking of taking a Human Sexuality Colloq in the NE-Sylvan Area. I completed one such colloq last semester and have just received my credit for this course, but only after a long and tiresome fight with those in charge of the program. I was not denied credit at first, on the grounds that I had not attended the regulated number of hours. (I attended each) but instead, because the instructor construed my behavior in the colloq as disruptive. It is most disturbing to discover that honest feedback to the degrading manner in which the class was constructed was termed as disruptive. What then does an instructor expect when he asks for opinions? It may be instructive to describe briefly what occurred within the classes.

As I understood it, the purpose of the human sexuality colloq was to develop an individual's awareness in this area and to help a person understand his inhibitions; why sexuality is often such an awkward subject for some to discuss. Not only is the colloq supposed to offer knowledge, but general discussion that would serve in effect to open the subject up a bit. If the classes were conducted with this goal in mind, I would not hesitate to recommend them to others. But when the instructor drives people away because the manner in which he leads the group makes them so embarrassed and uncomfortable, then I believe that the purpose has been defeated. Instead of putting the subject in a clear and mature light, this instructor only succeeded in giving it a dirty and unnatural connotation. His language the majority of the time was crude and unnecessary. I realize that sexuality is a different subject to present to a group, but precisely because of this reason, I feel that the instructors must be of a special caliber. The present peer sex counselors should be reevaluated if at all possible, and those teaching Human Sexuality Colloqs should be even more carefully scrutinized. The colloquium program overall seems to be a good idea; there is no reason to let the incompetency of one of the instructors blemish the reputation of the rest.

Rosemary N. Whitney

'Down-home bloodshed in the Mideast'

To the Editor:

I wish to respond to the notorious article which appeared in the Collegian as a commentary entitled "Israeli Terrorism" on March 10.

To begin, they have claimed that the Muslim and Christian holy places have been desecrated. In fact, the opposite is true. The religious rights of all persons are strictly protected by the Israeli government. Nobody knows better the horrors of religious persecution than the Jews. And we could never do the same to others. In fact, prior to 1967, when Old Jerusalem was in Jordanian hands, it was the Jewish holy places that were desecrated. Witness the Jewish Cemetery in Jerusalem that had a road built right through it and the gravestones that were unearthed and those that were used as urinals; and it was the Jewish Quarter that was completely destroyed; and it was the Jewish religious rights that were restricted. Witness the Jews that were denied access for years to the Wailing Wall, the holiest of all Jewish places.

Under Israeli rule, the religious rights of all persons were then, and are still today, strictly protected, and there is absolutely, completely free access to the holy places of all religions.

Another example I have of the Jordanian, i.e. Arab, view of the Jewish aspect of Jerusalem is evidenced by a pre-1967 Jordanian tourist guide with a map of Jerusalem that I have. The Jewish Quarter of the Old City is included only geographically: it is unnamed, no streets are labeled as they are elsewhere and no Jewish holy places are labeled. Also, none of West Jerusalem, also called the New City, is included. It is a strong modern city of over 200,000 inhabitants built by the Israelis as their capital to compliment the ancient beauty of the Old City. On the Jordanian map it is left blank and labled "NO MAN'S LAND." No man's land, indeed!

The "attempted destruction of the Arab character of the city" by the Israelis as claimed, is another fallacy. The Arab Quarter of the city is intact, the Arab "shuk", or open marketplace, thrives with tourists from many lands. Nor has the landscape been "mutilated," as claimed. The Jerusalem landscape is magnificent and will always be so.

I was particularly offended by the reference to "mass arrests, systematic torture" allegedly perpetrated by the Israelis. I resent this as a cheap shot inserted in their article for impact on the readers. How would they explain the Israeli soldiers who had their fingernails ripped off in the Syrian POW camps? Why did the Syrians refuse the Red Cross permission to inspect their POW camps until three months after the cease fire which ended the Yom Kippur War in 1973? The Israelis allowed the Red Cross into their POW camps immediately when requested to do so. They had nothing to hide.

The headline of that article was "Israeli Terrorism", a good eye-catcher, but an unfair phrase. Allow me to discuss the real terrorism, the down-home bloodshed of the Mideast. The following are just a few examples of major terrorist activities against Israel:

May 22, 1970 — Bazooka fire from within Lebanon hits Israeli school bus: 8 children killed, 22 wounded.

Sept. 5, 1972 — 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team slaughtered by Arab terrorist group called "Black September", Munich, Germany.

Dec. 17, 1973 — Arab terrorists and police have a shoot out at Rome Airport: 33 left dead.

April 11, 1974 — Arab terrorists raid an apartment house in the Israeli settlement of Qiryat Shemonah, near the Lebanese border: 18 people massacred, mostly women and children.

May 15, 1974 — Arab terrorists raid a school in Ma'alot, holding 85 children hostage they opened machine gun fire at point blank range on the children: 26 children slaughtered, many young girls found mutilated, their bodies severed in half by machine gun fire.

June 13, 1974 — Kibbutz Shamir, also near the Lebanese border: 3 women gunned down.

June 24, 1974 — Nahariya, also near the Lebanese border, Arab terrorists raid apartment: 4 left dead.

Nov. 13, 1974 — Bet She'an, again near the Lebanese border, Arab terrorists raid another apartment building and execute 4 people, wound 19.

How anyone has the audacity to complain about alleged Israeli terrorism in the wake of these indiscriminate slaughters of innocent people, mostly women and children, is beyond my imagination. This list is by no means complete, I could go on and on. The Arabs have brought the war to the children, an inexcusable move that is wrong, immoral and unethical under any set of circumstances.

In closing my comments, I want to say that I am sure that the student body here at UMass is more intelligent, more aware and not so naive to actually believe what they read in last Thursday's article. This anti-Semitic, anti-Zionist slander has been going on for centures; I am sorry we have on this campus those who wish to perpetuate those fallacies.

Fred J. Shuster
Chairman, Hillel Council

Additional endorsements

The following individuals and-or organizations announce their endorsement of Foley-Tyson:

Malcolm X Center
Third World Women's Center
Nasser Ega, Collegian Black Affairs Editor

Newcombism

To the Editor:

Less radical Feminism and more Martha Newcombism. Newcombism is humanism!

A radical Marthaist
Douglas Nickerson

NEWS IN BRIEF

New operation saves life

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a first-of-a-kind operation, surgeons stopped the circulation of a Rochester, N.Y., school teacher by lowering his temperature to 67 degrees, and removed from his neck a rare blood vessel growth that was slowly killing him.

The 14-hour operation was performed at George Washington University Medical Center March 3 and 4 and was reported yesterday by three of the seven doctors involved.

Dukakis wants higher taxes

BOSTON (UPI) — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis will be proposing legislation to boost state unemployment taxes by nearly 42.3 per cent to comply with federal law, a legisltative committee was told yesterday.

State Division of Employment Security Director John Crosier said the boost in the taxable wage base for unemployment taxes from $4,200 to $6,000 is being prepared and will be filed in the near future.

Striking workers vote on contract

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UPI) — Striking workers at Moore Co., Inc., tool and machine manufacturing plants vote by secret ballot today on the firm's latest contract offer.

About 1,200 workers have been on strike at Moore plants in Springfield and Chicopee since Jan. 14. Another 600 workers have been affected by the walkout.

Taxable income questionable

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Just because Dorothy Middlemiss allegedly embezzled $20,000 doesn't mean she knew she had to report it as taxable income, U.S. District Court Judge Hugh Bownes said yesterday.

Bownes said the prosecution did not present sufficient proof Mrs. Middlemiss of Windham knew of the tax law requiring the reporting of that kind of income.

Transcontinental air fare cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board slashed transcontinental air travel costs nearly in half Tuesday, approving discount fares as low as $227 for adults and $206 for children on round-trip flights between New York and California.

Three airlines said they will start offering the new "Super Saver" discount Thursday, although the first travel using the low-cost tickets cannot take place until late April because tickets must be purchased at least a month in advance.

Women physically abused by mates

HARTFORD, Conn. [UPI] The actual number of physically abused and battered wives in the city is far greater than expected, according to a study sanctioned by the Permanent Commission on the Status of Women.

The study, to be released next week, said of 274 Hartford women surveyed, 45 per cent said they have been kicked, beaten or abused. A total of 29 per cent said they were beaten with weapons or other objects and suffered broken bones. Forty per cent of those responding claimed their children were also beaten.

"There is a high degree of violence," said Betsy Karl, who headed the research group. She said the figures showed abuse was more widespread than had been thought.

"It points out how pervasive it is. I didn't expect it to be this serious," said Mary Eichelman of the Connecticut Women's Political Caucus.

The study was based on a telephone "hot line" system set up in Hartford in January.

Susan Bucknell, executive director of the commission, said she thought the study was just "the tip of the iceberg." "It's a very complicated issue. Women want the practice stopped without hurting their husbands. There is a fear of what will happen to their husbands if they are reported," she said.

Based on this study she said she expected a more comprehensive statewide survey to be undertaken.

Ms. Karl, a lobbyist for the Connecticut Task Force on Abused Women, is pushing for $200,000 in state aid for such women.

Tax bill detrimental to couples

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Senators working on President Carter's tax cut bill expressed concern yesterday that current tax law penalizes married people and encourages cohabitation of single persons.

The Senate Finance Committee postponed until at least today a decision on whether to lessen the "marriage penalty" in the standard deduction. Decisions also may come then on business tax cuts and Carter's proposed $50 per person rebate.

The senators bandied about several ideas on how to make it less profitable for single persons to live together. One idea — quickly laughed down — would have the Internal Revenue Service designate two single people living together as married for tax purposes.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., the committee chairman, said he favored a plan that would give married couples a slightly larger tax cut than either Carter's bill or House-passed legislation.

• EARTH is the registered trademark of Kalsø Systemet, Inc. ©1976 Kalsø Systemet, Inc.

WALK THIS WAY.

style 110 white smooth black smooth brown smooth pumpkin smooth natural smooth earth shoe "for every walk of life"

You can buy an Earth Brand Shoe only at an Earth Shoe Store

The Brandy Wine Corp.
Cambridge, MA.

264 No. Pleasant Street
Amherst 256-8911
Open Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30

Shamrock SALE

Wed. 3/16 & Thurs. 3/17

10% off storewide

clogs sandals shoes
boots

the SHOE BIN • 187 NORTH PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST, MASS.

USED BOOK SALE

20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks

Tues, March 15 - Sat, March 19

Valley Book Shop

Carriage Shops Amherst

WRITE FOR FILMS AND TELEVISION!

- Experienced professionals
- Valuable industry contacts
- Editorial and marketing aid
  - Do not send manuscripts
  - For information, write

SCREEN WRITERS SERVICE
2064 Alameda Padre Serra
Santa Barbara, CA 93103

SUMMER JOB

$500 FOR 6 WEEKS OF OFFICER TRAINING AT FT. KNOX, K.Y.

ROOM, BOARD, UNIFORMS and TRAVEL EXPENSES

NO OBLIGATION

Earn $2000 as a Junior and Senior and employment worth $11,000/yr. after graduation very likely.

Call: CPT LEGG 5-2321

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Open house program plans tea ceremony

This spring, BDIC (Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration) is sponsoring a number of informal afternoon open houses which feature a student presentation of special interest or highlight a particular expertise. The second in the series of afternoon programs will be the Japanese Tea Ceremony, a Zen discipline, an aesthetic experience and a meditation in movement. There will be a demonstration and talk by Daniel R. Kane, BDIC '77.

The Tea Ceremony will take place tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in 416 Goodell. An invitation is extended to all students, faculty and interested members of the college community.

School of Education plans info fair

The School of Education will hold a program Information "Fair" on March 29 to provide those interested in learning more on or entering any of the 18 teacher certification or nonteaching programs offered by the school.

The Fair will be held in the Main Lobby of Hills House, from 12:30-4:00 p.m. It preludes admission to a program for next fall. Interviews for admission to programs will begin April 4.

Credit Union sells traveler's checques

The UMass Student Federal Credit Union would like to remind all UMass students, faculty and employes who are planning to vacation next week that we offer the opportunity to purchase American Express Traveler's Checques. They can be purchased Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Columnist to speak at journalism event

Nicholas Von Hoffman, syndicated columnist, will be luncheon speaker during the "Nuts and Bolts Seminar" for print journalists March 26 on the Campus Center ninth floor.

Sponsored by the Valley Press Club in conjunction with the Journalistic Studies Program here, the day-long event will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Eight sessions with area professionals will highlight the seminar, which will end with a reception at 5:00 p.m.

Professor to lecture on Jewish identity

Prof. Ira Schwartz will meet with Jewish grad students to discuss the question of Jewish identity in a secularist society tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. in Campus Center 901.

Meditation Lecture tonight in Herter

"Unbounded Awareness, Enlightenment, and the Transcendental Meditation Program" will be the subject of discussion of an introductory lecture tonight at 7:30 in Herter Hall 225. The lecture, sponsored by the UMass Students International Meditation Society, will cover recent scientific research that clearly isolates the state of consciousness experienced during the TM technique as a fourth major state of consciousness, different from waking, dreaming and sleeping.

DOLLAR DAYS AT FINAST!

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Kraft Macaroni & Cheese Dinner 4 7¼ oz pkgs $1

Richmond Beef Ravioli 3 15 oz cans $1

Duncan Hines Cake Mixes 2 18½ oz pkgs $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 13-19, 1977. H-717
Finast FN

Vanity Fair Jumbo Towels 2 125 ct rolls $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 13-19, 1977. H-718-TX
Finast FN

BEER & WINE SHOPPE!

Millers Beer	case 24 12 oz cans	5.99
Paul Masson Rose Chablis	magnum	3.69
Sherry Paul Masson Pale Dry, Medium Dry Cream	magnum	3.79
Inglenook Wine	magnum	3.69
Almaden Chablis, Rhine, Sauterne, Nectar Rose	magnum	3.79
Donelli Lambrusco	50 oz	3.59

Diet Delight Peaches	2	16 oz cans	1.00
Diet Delight Fruit Cocktail	2	16 oz cans	1.00
Diet Delight Apricots	2	16 oz cans	1.00
Finast Grape Juice	2	24 oz btls	1.00
Seneca Grape Jelly	2	19 oz jars	1.00
Motts Apple Sauce Natural	2	20 oz jars	1.00
Lipton Cup-O-Soup	2	1½ oz pkgs	1.00
Sardines Pescanova	3	5¼ oz cans	1.00
Tomato Sauce Finast	6	8 oz cans	1.00
Cracker Jacks	3	3 oz pkgs	1.00
Finast Hard Candies	3	7 oz pkgs	1.00
O&C Potato Sticks	6	1½ oz cans	1.00
Tabby Cat Food	4	6½ oz cans	1.00
Bright Eyes Cat Food Carnation	3	12½ oz cans	1.00
Liquid Detergent Richmond	2	32 oz btls	1.00
Woodbury Soap Nature Scent Bath Size	4	4¾ oz bars	1.00

MEAT STREET U.S.A. ... GUARANTEED VALUE!

Fresh or Colonial Smoked Shoulder Arm Picnic (water added) 68¢ lb

Finast Welcomes FOOD STAMP CUSTOMERS

Boneless Beef Roasts Bottom Round or Shoulder USDA CHOICE 1.18 lb

Grapefruit Juice Treesweet Frozen 5 6 oz cans $1

5 lbs or more Fresh Chicken Livers	48¢ lb
Breakfast favorite Finast Sliced Bacon	98¢ lb
(Extra Lean Ground Beef lb 1.18) Fresh Ground Beef 4 lbs or more, lesser amts 88¢	78¢ lb
USDA Choice Boneless Beef Shoulder Steak For London Broil	1.28 lb
Boneless USDA Choice Beef Top Round Roast or Rump Roast	1.48 lb

Top Round For London Broil Beef Boneless	lb 1.68
Top Blade Steak Boneless Beef	lb 1.48
Polish Kielbasa Grote & Weigel	lb 1.58
Colonial Bologna All Meat or Beef	lb 88¢
Polish Kielbasa Colonial	lb 1.18
Smoked Tongue Frierich	lb 1.28
Parks Sausage Little Links	lb 1.58
Sausage Roll Parks, reg or Hot n' Sagey	12 oz pkg 88¢
Italian Sausage Marco Hot or Sweet	lb 1.08
Smoked Butts Frierich	lb 1.38

Seafood Favorite!

Salmon Frozen Red Silver (steaks lb 1.99)	lb 1.79

LARGE ECONOMY PACKS!
Boneless Whole Shoulder of Beef USDA CHOICE Roast, Steaks & Kabobs 1.38 lb
Boneless Whole Bottom Round USDA CHOICE Roast, Steaks & Kabobs 1.48 lb

Fresh American-Whole Lamb Legs Oven Ready	1.38 lb
Lamb Legs Shank-Half Oven Ready	lb 1.48
Sirloin Lamb Chops Fresh American	lb 1.88
Loin Lamb Chops Fresh American	lb 2.78
Fresh Whole 2 to 3 lbs Calves Liver	88¢
Fresh Calves Liver Store Sliced	lb 1.18
Fresh Veal For Stew	lb 1.78
Veal Cutlets Italian Style From the Leg	lb 2.68

Treat your Family to Mr. Deli Values!

Cooked Roast Beef Freshly Sliced To Order 1.99 lb

Virginia Baked Ham	half lb 1.19
Imported Chopped Ham	lb 1.39
Hard Salami B/C	lb 1.79
Italian Hot Ham	half lb 1.29
Sliced Provolone	lb 1.78
Corned Beef Round	half lb 1.39
Salads Potato, Cole Slaw, Macaroni	lb 49¢
Shrimp Salad	half lb 99¢

Finast Frozen Food Values!

Taterboy Shoestring Potatoes Stock-up & Save 3 20 oz pkgs $1

Fruit Pies Orchard Hill Apple, Peach Cherry, Blueberry	4	8 oz pkgs	1.00
Boil in Bag Meat Entrees Finast	4	5 oz pkgs	1.00
Pot Pies Finast Beef, Chicken, Turkey, Mac. & Cheese	4	8 oz pkgs	1.00
Birds Eye Peas or corn	3	10 oz pkgs	1.00
Finast Peas	4	10 oz pkgs	1.00
Chopped Spinach Birds Eye	3	10 oz pkgs	1.00

Sunrise Fresh Dairy Values!

Kraft Parkay Margarine Quarters 2 1 lb pkgs $1

Bordens American Cheese Food Slices		12 oz pkg	1.00
Pillsbury Country Style or Buttermilk Biscuits	10	4½ oz pkgs	1.00
Pillsbury Cinnamon Rolls	2	9½ oz pkgs	1.00

Pride of the Farm Canned Vegetables Mix or Match Assorted Varieties

4 16 oz cans 99¢

25¢ off on (1) half gallon bottle 100% Pure Seald Sweet Grapefruit or Orange Juice at Produce Dept
With this coupon & purchase $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid Mar. 13-19
Finast FN

Fresh Asparagus California 79¢ lb

FIRST O' THE FRESH

Save with Large family Packs!

Calif Navel Large Oranges	18 for 1.69
Indian River White Grapefruit	9 for 1.59
McIntosh US-No 1 2¼" min Apples Crisp-Aire	15 for 1.69

Carrots Fresh California	3 1 lb cellos	89¢
Tangelos Mineolas Calif.	10 for	99¢
Anjou Pears Western	3 lbs	1.00
Apples Golden Delicious Western US No 1 2¼" min	3 lbs	1.00
Fresh Lemons Calif	6 for	49¢

More Meat Street U.S.A. Values!

Cheese Pizza Natalina 7 inch Size	pkg 3 89¢
Cheese Pizza Natalina Do-It-Yourself	28 oz pkg 1.89

Loaf O' White Bread 4 1 lb lvs $1

Fresh from baker street at finast!

Big Round Top White Bread	3 20 oz lvs	1.00
English Muffins	3 pkgs 6	1.00
Plain Donuts	2 pkgs 12	1.00
Junior Pies	4 4 oz pkgs	1.00
Cinnamon Buns	pkg 12	89¢
Party Square St. Patricks	16 oz pkg	1.09
Cupcakes St. Patricks	pkg 9 99¢	pkg 6 85¢

Exciting Offer by Oneida!
Finast Supermarkets are proud to offer these outstanding values. Exquisite Genuine Silver-plated Spoon Rings and Bracelets by Oneida!

Spoon Ring Genuine Silver Plate Retail Value 2.95 99¢ each

Genuine Silver Plate Spoon Bracelet 1.49 each

SOLD AT CHECK-OUT STANDS

Prices effective March 13 thru March 19, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Opportunity available to study in Germany

It is not too late for graduate and undergraduate students to apply to the Freiburg Program for next year, 1977-78. The program is open to UMass graduate students and Five College undergraduates who have competence in German. One need not be a German major to apply. The University of Freiburg offers courses in fine arts and humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences and mathematics. The cost of a year at Freiburg is about the same as a year at UMass, and some scholarship assistance is available for graduate students.

An informational meeting of all persons interested in the Freiburg Program will take place tonight at 7:30 in the History Lounge (6th floor) Herter Hall.

Orchestra Luna appearing at FAC

Orchestra Luna has been signed to play the Fine Arts Center concert hall on April Fool's Day.

The band, which includes four singers and four musicians, is popular in this area. They have broken attendance records at both The Hatch and Sunderland's Rusty Nail in the past few weeks, drawing crowds of dedicated "Lunatics".

The April 1 concert was spurred by Luna's leader Rick Kinscherf's request, made on-stage at The Hatch, to play the 2048-seat auditorium. Sponsored by John Q. Adams Lower and Washington Middle dorms, the show will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the FAC box office and Ticketron and sell for $3, $4 and $5, with reduced rates for students.

If pressed to pigeonhole Orchestra Luna with a musical table, they would be best termed a "theater rock" band. Most of their numbers combine short humorous skits with powerful rock music, some of which is jazz-tinged. Besides their strong local following, they are also a big act in New York, and are favorites at CBGB's, the most important rock club in New York City.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Grilled Cheese Sandwich, Lazy Golompki; Basics: California Quiche, Grilled Cheese Sandwich.

DINNER — Beef Pot Roast with Jardinere Sauce, Swiss Turkey Sandwich; Basics: Soybean Loaf, Swiss Turkey Sandwich.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Cheeseburgers, Fish Cones with Tartar Sauce; Basics: Mixed Beans au Gratin, Fish Cones with Tartar Sauce.

DINNER — SPECIAL ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER: Boiled Corned Beef with Steamed Cabbage Wedges, Roast Chicken with Bread Stuffing; Basics: Roast Chicken with Bread Stuffing, Vegetable Pot Pie.

Auditions scheduled for Southwest play

The Next Stage, the theater in Hampden Dining Commons, announces tryouts for David Rabe's play, "Sticks and Bones," today at City Studio Theater, 25 Main St., Northampton, from 2-5 and 7-10 p.m. There are more auditions tomorrow in Campus Center 905 from 7-10 p.m.

In the play David has just returned from Vietnam. Now blind, he can see his parents and brother for the first time. He can no longer play the family game and ends his life to the relief of his family.

People interested in working on the technical side of the show are more than welcome.

Counseling available for handicapped

Thomas Faulkner of the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission will be available for consultation of 227 Whitmore every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for the rest of the semester, effective March 28. If you have any questions or would like to schedule an appointment, stop by his office or call 5-1967 to speak with Faulkner.

Student teaching openings in Boston

Students at UMass-Amherst have the opportunity to do their student teaching, course work, and other internships at the oldest public high school in the country. English High School, a magnet school of the Boston City School System, is now located in a new building near Fenway Park, and offers its students both alternative and traditional programs.

This program for undergraduate and continuing education students is offered in conjunction with the UMass In-Service Education Program at Boston's English High School, the School of Education, and the Division of Continuing Education at UMass.

Students who are interested in becoming certified on the secondary level through an urban experience or who are interested in doing a practicum in education or counseling should contact Bernadine Freese at UMass, 545-3410, or Philip Stee at English High School, (617) 738-8848. Either person will provide more information and an appointment regarding admission to this program.

Officers elected by Baha'i Club

The Baha'i Club of Umass held elections last week for its new Board of Directors. Chosen were: Linda Giardina, chairperson; Steve Hilliard, treasurer; Tim Nolan, secretary. The group is presently planning a Baha'i conference to be held on the Campus in May. The next general meeting is at noon Thursday in 335 Hills South.

Lecture today on Olympic committee

James E. McHugh, director of operations for the United States Olympic Committee will give a lecture in SBA 120 of Business Administration today at 4 p.m. His topic will be "The United States Olympic Committee: New Horizons." The public is invited to this lecture.

Showcase Cinemas
ROUTE 5
RIVERDALE RD.
West Springfield
733-5131
BARGAIN $2.50 til 2:30
MATINEES WED. SAT. SUN
ROCKY PG United Artists
MGM presents NETWORK R United Artists
PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS THIEVES PG
WALT DISNEY FREAKY FRIDAY G
"BOUND for GLORY" PG United Artists
A STAR IS BORN R
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN' PG
VOYAGE OF THE DAMNED PG
PLEASE CALL THEATRE FOR SCREEN TIMES

STUDENTS!
to take survey at
SHOWCASE CINEMA
Wed. 3-30, 4-12
Eves. 6:45-10:45
Sat. & Sun. 1-5
Call 733-5133
Mrs. Beebe
Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
WED. and THUR. only
Only area showing
at 7:15 and 9:00
If you were SWEPT AWAY by her SEVEN BEAUTIES now you'll be talking about LINA WERTMULLER'S "LET'S TALK ABOUT MEN"
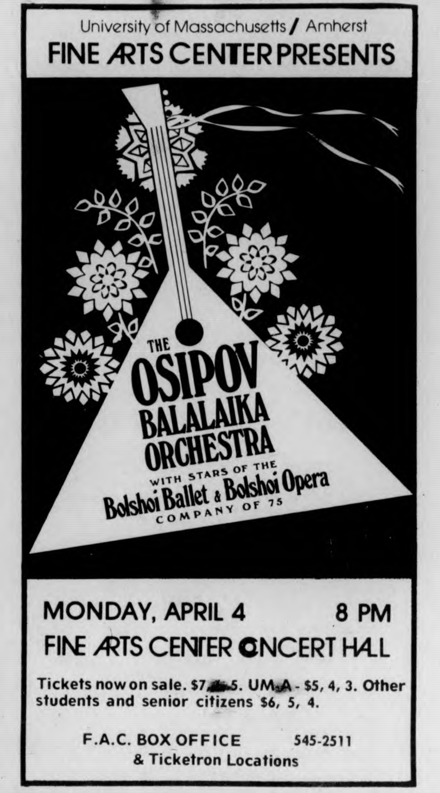
WED. and THUR. only
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

APPEARING TONITE
Bailey Brothers
THURS.
Fat and Clean Living
FRI. & SAT.
James Montgomery
At
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937



University of Massachusetts / Amherst
FINE ARTS CENTER PRESENTS
THE OSIPOV BALALAIKA ORCHESTRA
WITH STARS OF THE Bolshoi Ballet & Bolshoi Opera
COMPANY OF 75
MONDAY, APRIL 4 8 PM
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
Tickets now on sale. $7, 6, 5. UM/A - $5, 4, 3. Other students and senior citizens $6, 5, 4.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
"SILVER STREAK"
PATRICK McGOOHAN
1 PG WED: 5:45, 8:00, TWI-LITER 5:15-5:45
NOT SINCE LOVE STORY...
The true story of Jill Kinmont. The American Olympic ski contender whose tragic fall took everything but her life. And who found the courage to live through the love of one very special man.
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN'
2 PG STARTS FRIDAY
ENDS THUR. 'THE ENFORCER' 6:00 8:15
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
3 R WED: 5:30, 8:00, TWI-LITER 5:00-5:30
The Newest, Pinkest Panther of All!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
BLAKE EDWARDS
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES
Held Over
4 PG WED: 5:45, 8:15, TWI-LITER 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING

NOTICES

ALL POLITICAL SCIENCE MAJORS

There will be a meeting of Pi Sigma Alpha, the Political Science Honors Club on Wed., March 16 at 7 p.m. in Thompson 412. New members are invited, there are no requirements to become a member of the local chapter, other than majoring in political science.

ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN INVITED

To a St. Patrick's Day gong show at Chi Omega Sorority Wed. night. For more info and rides call 545-0162.

ALPHA ZETA

There will be an executive meeting today in Rm 904 of the Campus Center at 6:30 p.m. Originally it was set for Rm 804. Please note the change.

ALTERNATIVE HEALING SEMINAR

Next meeting Wed. March 16. Topic of the evening: Rolfing. 8:30 p.m. Franklin Patterson Hall Lounge, Hampshire College.

AMATEUR RADIO — IT'S FUN

Meeting Thursday night, 8 p.m. in ELAB 109.

ANTHROPOLOGY UNDERGRADS

There will be another enlightening fun-filled meeting of the Antho. undergrads tonight at 7:15 in Machmer E-25. Please be there.

APPLICATION DATE FOR THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Students interested in changing their major to Business Administration must file an application with the SBA Undergraduate Counseling Office no later than Wed., April 6. Application forms are now available in SBA 211.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

No meeting this week (the observatory is closed). Our next meeting will be after vacation.

ATTENTION SENIORS

Any senior interested in working with a group to select Student Commencement Speakers and to plan Senior Day activities, please contact Ruth Green, 545-2334.

ATTENTION ALL PAST AND PRESENT CHADBORNITES

We are doing a spring cleaning of all the storage areas. Please mark all of your property by March 28, or it will be sold at an auction.

BICYCLE CLUB

Important meeting for those interested in the Tennessee and Cape Cod tours during Spring Break. A movie of a past Pennsylvania tour will be shown. Come to 306 Student Union (CEQ Office) at 8 tonight.

BREIRA [ALTERNATIVE]

A group seeking peace in the Mideast, mutual Israeli-Palestinian' recognition and the revitalization of American Jewish life. Meeting tonight 7:30 in SU 407.

BRIDGE PLAYERS

We're playing in the back of the Hatch at 7:15. Come down and join us. Enter by the Commuter Lounge.

COFFEE HOUSE

Attention, Van Meter North is having a coffee house March 31. Anyone interested in performing should call Carolyn, 6-1187 or Mike 6-1116.

BUDDIST MEDITATION

Sitting meditation followed by study and discussion of Buddist psychology with students of Chogyam Trungpa Rinpoche tonight at 7:30 in the Campus Center. For further information call John Gorman at 549-5663.

CAMPUS SCOUTS

There will be a meeting tomorrow in Rm 805 CC at 7 p.m. Any interest in Scouting? Come and see what we're all about!

CASIAC COUNSELORS

There will be a staff meeting for all S.C.O.'s Tues. March 29 at 6:30 p.m.

CHESS

The Chess Club will meet tonight in Rm 805 CC. Anybody who plays chess is welcome.

CONSUMER ECONOMICS MAJORS

Meeting tonight, March 16, 6:30 p.m. Rm 217, Skinner Hall. Discussion of constitution and by-laws, elections and program committee will be heard.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD

Central area elections are to be held on Mon. March 28 in the Chadbourne Seminar Room. Elections are open to all Central Area Residents. Come run if you want to take part in affairs that affect your residential life.

FOOD DAY

Meeting to organize for Food Day, 7:30 p.m. at 53 Salem St., 253-7719.

FUTURE; PAST

Why did the Alchemist rob the beggar? Will Mosquito bite the dust? Who will win the Thirty Years War? Stay tuned to the Strategy Games Club, CC 904-908 from 4-12 tonight for the answers.

JOURNEY: A MYTHICAL MUSICAL

Production meeting for Journey will be held this afternoon at the BDIC Conference room, 416 Goodell Library. Production staff, cast and anyone else interested in working behind the scenes are asked to attend.

JUGGLING TONIGHT

A dreamer imagined himself a juggler (master of time and space). He dreamed and dreamed then left. He should have known that few dreams are as easily attained as the dream of being a juggler. Tonight, first floor, CC.

LOST

Reward for gold signet ring with initials, J.R. Please phone 665-7006 evenings.

LOST

Five strand liquid silver necklace, has great personal value. If found please call 546-8111.

LOST

March 12 denim blazer in Hills South. Call 253-3769.

NEW RA'S FOR GRAYSON

Openings available for Resident Assistants in Grayson House, Orchard Hill. Open house Wed., March 16 at 8 p.m., HR apt. to discuss job descriptions and pick up application. Affirmative action employer.

PARACHUTE CLUB MEETING

Meeting tonight at 9:30 in 901 CC. Everybody welcome.

POETRY READING AT THE BROADSIDE

Cheryl Lyn Kingsley and Henry Lyman will be reading from their poetry at the Broadside Bookshop, 247 Main St., Northampton. Refreshments will be served, 8 p.m.

POETRY AND FICTION READING

Orchard Hill-Central Area Fine Arts Council will host Anne Bookbinder, James Schuler, Brian Turner, Marianne Baruch, tonight in Van Meter North Lounge, 8 p.m. Free admission and refreshments.

ROISTER DOISTER MEETING

There will be a short meeting in the CC, 804-808 tonight at 5:30. All members are urged to attend as important business will be discussed.

SPECTRUM MEETING

Tonight at 5:30, Rm CC 106. For everyone.

STAR TREK LIVES!

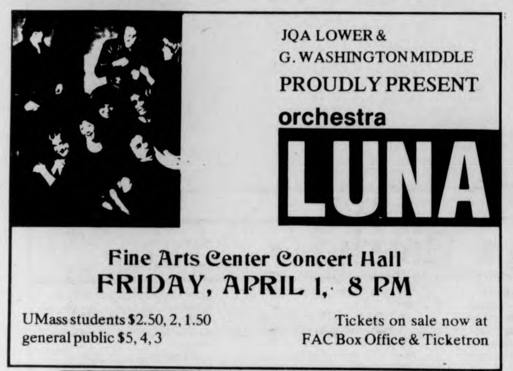
Meeting tonight at 7:30 Rm 803 CC. Come join the fun. New members always welcome.

SEMANA LATINOAMERICANO AHORA

Marzo 16, Elia Enid Cadilla a 7:30 de la noche en Campus Center Auditorium.

TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION PROGRAM

"Unbounded Awareness, Enlightenment and the Transcendental Meditation program" will be the title of a discussion offered by the UMass Students International Meditation Society. Tonight, March 16 at 7:30 p.m. in Herter 225. For more information call 549-5335.



JQA LOWER &
G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT
orchestra LUNA
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 8 PM
UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3
Tickets on sale now at
FAC Box Office & Ticketron

university of massachusetts arts council presents
PRAGUE CHAMBER ORCHESTRA
36 VIRTUOSO MUSICIANS IN MATCHLESS ENSEMBLE WITHOUT CONDUCTOR
A concerto festival with
Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist
Wed., March 30 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

LOCAL COLOR

Kodak scientist speaking at Smith

Gerhard Popp, a scientist at Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, New York, will discuss "The Inside Story of Color Photography" today at 4 p.m. in Wright Hall auditorium at Smith College.

Popp will demonstrate the early experiment that proved that pictures in red, green and blue could be superimposed on one screen to give a representation in color of a subject photographed through red, green and blue filters. He will illustrate his talk with color slides.

He will also discuss the chemistry of modern color photographic processes including the so-called instant processes.

Chapin in concert at Smith College

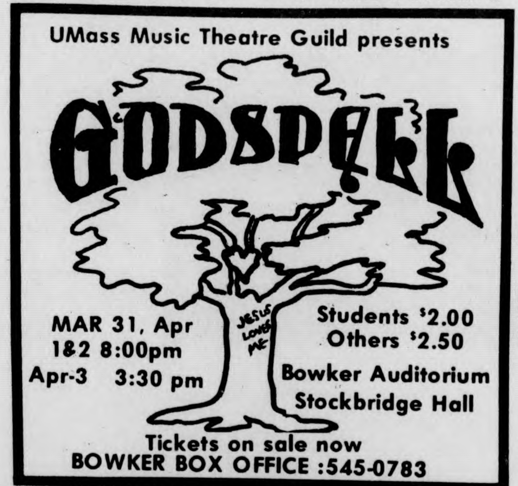
Harry Chapin will appear in concert at Smith College on Thursday, March 31, at 9:30 p.m. in John M. Greene Hall. Tickets are on sale at UMass Ticketron, Faces of Earth in Amherst, Goodbodies in South Hadley, and the Back Room in Northampton.

Lesbian Union dance

The Lesbian Union is sponsoring a dance at Farley Lodge tonight from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Donation is $1 to benefit the Common Woman Club. All women welcome.

Correction

The rabies clinic sponsored by the UMass Dog Club in conjunction with Alpha Zeta will be held April 6 in Grinnel Arena and not today..



UMass Music Theatre Guild presents
GODSPELL
MAR 31, Apr 1&2 8:00pm
Apr-3 3:30 pm
Students $2.00
Others $2.50
Bowker Auditorium
Stockbridge Hall
Tickets on sale now
BOWKER BOX OFFICE :545-0783

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m. and 3:45p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are:

Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

Buttons — pin-on type. Several on display or made to order. 50 cents each. Valley Book Shop, Carriage Shops, Amherst.

Camera pkg. Minolta 201 w-SS and 135. Lens, flash, acc. Bob, 549-6138. Many extr.

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

8 track w-FM rad. in car, stereo head phone hk-up. Exc. cond. $50 or best off. Frank 549-1872.

Martin 0016 Guitar, $300; Harmon Kardon amp, Dynaco tuner, $110. Adam, 549-0079.

TEAC tape deck, 3 hr. contin. music. Interested? Call Steve 256-0354 aft. 6 p.m.

Fishing — Mitchell Garcia 206 open spinning — $15. Ted Williams spin rod, $15. Both $25. Kirk, 546-9724.

Tires — 4 Saratoga steel belted A78-13 mounted. Dart rims. Asking $100 or B. O. Kirk, 546-9724.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

BSR turntable—Fisher spkrs (35 watts). Any rsnble offer. Call 6-4307.

2 tickets available for Beethoven concert, March 26, Carnegie Hall. 546-7098.

AUTO FOR SALE

1968 Volvo 122. Many new parts. Vry good cond. $850, firm. 586-0610 aftr. 5.

'67 Chevy Impala, 4 new tires, 2 new snows. Best offer. Call 549-5831 after 6.

AUTO FOR SALE

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

1971 Datsun 510, 4 dr. Sedan, 25 mpg, AM-FM, 74,000 mil, good condition, very dependable and fun to drive $975. Call 253-2996, 6-8 p.m.

'71 Ford Torino, for sale, excellent cond. $1,200. Call 253-5684.

'69 VW needs work. Good car. $250. 253-9692.

'67 Dodge V8, Coronet, auto., gd. eng. Needs brakes, spindle. $200. 268-7331, eves.

Toyota Corolla, '72. Excel. cond., lo. mi., $1300. Call 323-7622 aft. 6 o'clock.

1967 Chevy Impala wagon. Some body rust, engine still great. Call Brian, 546-6001. Asking $150.

Plymouth Fury III, '71, lo. mi., runs well. $875 or B. O. 256-0548.

For Sale: '72 Vega Yenko Stinger. Modified second engine, new clutch, exhaust, carburetor, alternator, new everything! 4 steel belt ovals, FM stereo. Must pay bills for new new head, valves, rings. Body gd. cond. No rust. $1000 or best offer. Call 546-6720, eves. Keep trying.

'62 Volvo. $150 or best offer. 586-5522.

'66 VW. Great car $295. 323-5575.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'71 Kawasaki 350, for sale, excellent cond. $400. Call 253-5684.

'73 Honda CL 350, mint, 5600 miles, 586-2131.

'72 BSA Victor 500. Best $. 617-544-2744.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Furn. rm. in fine country home. 247-5527.

TO SUBLET

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

Puf. Vil. Apt. sublet May 31 to Aug. 31, 2 bdrm. $200 mo. Call 549-1415, 5-7 p.m.

2 bdrm. Twnhse; w-w, June-Aug. 31; pool - air. Quiet. Sund. 665-3994.

Sublet Avail., 4-1. 1 bdr. in 2 bdr. apt. Call eve. 549-4830.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Own room in Bltn. Coop. $66-mo. 323-4590 Eves. Veg. - nosmoke.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning — 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Spider and Dale — It's party time in Daytona — Watch out babes. Kirko.

Greg, I think you should call Robin Agawam! She's a nice girl.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

A Riflery Instructor for summer boys camp on Cape. Must be 21 or older. Call 256-0224 after five.

Hard working undergrad enrolled in Bot 101B and doing well — I need your help! $5 hr. 546-4866.

LOST

Brown gym bag lost on Rt. 9, Amherst. Reward. Call 546-1202.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark IXB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

WANTED

Needed: Baby food jars. Eves. 253-3868.

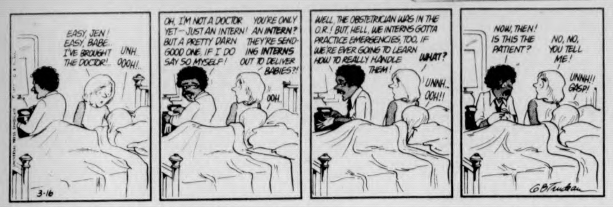
Wanted: Housemen for Sorority. Job for next semester. Call 549-0539.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

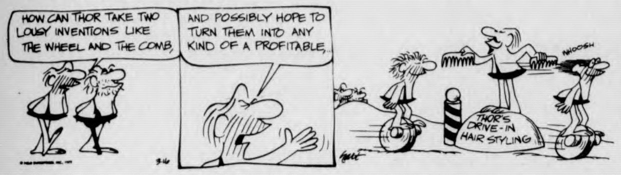
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

Valley
29 S. Pleasant St
call 256-6736
M - F 10-6 S 10-2



EASY, JEN! EASY, BABE.. I'VE BROUGHT THE DOCTOR!..
UNH.. OOOH!..
OH, I'M NOT A DOCTOR YET—JUST AN INTERN! BUT A PRETTY DARN GOOD ONE, IF I DO SAY SO MYSELF!
YOU'RE ONLY AN INTERN? THEY'RE SENDING INTERNS OUT TO DELIVER BABIES?!
OOH..
WELL, THE OBSTETRICIAN WAS IN THE O.R.! BUT, HELL, WE INTERNS GOTTA PRACTICE EMERGENCIES, TOO, IF WE'RE EVER GOING TO LEARN HOW TO REALLY HANDLE THEM!
WHAT?
UNNH.. OOH!!
NOW, THEN! IS THIS THE PATIENT?
NO, NO, YOU TELL ME!
UNNH!! GASP!
3-16
GBTrudeau

B.C. by Johnny Hart



HOW CAN THOR TAKE TWO LOUSY INVENTIONS LIKE THE WHEEL AND THE COMB, AND POSSIBLY HOPE TO TURN THEM INTO ANY KIND OF A PROFITABLE,..
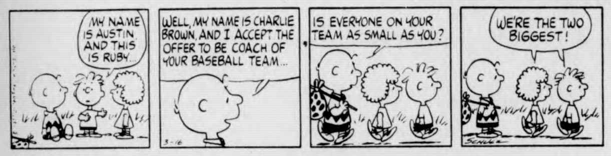
WHOOSH
THOR'S DRIVE-IN HAIR STYLING
3-16
hart

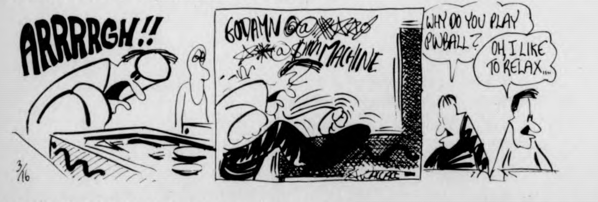
PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549-5610



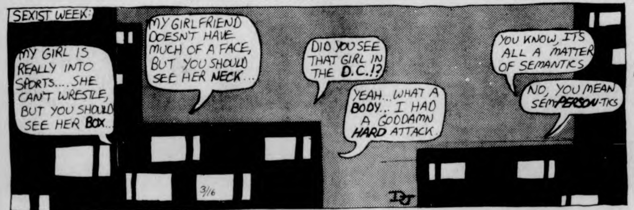
MY NAME IS AUSTIN AND THIS IS RUBY...
WELL, MY NAME IS CHARLIE BROWN, AND I ACCEPT THE OFFER TO BE COACH OF YOUR BASEBALL TEAM...
IS EVERYONE ON YOUR TEAM AS SMALL AS YOU?
WE'RE THE TWO BIGGEST!
3-16
SCHULZ

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



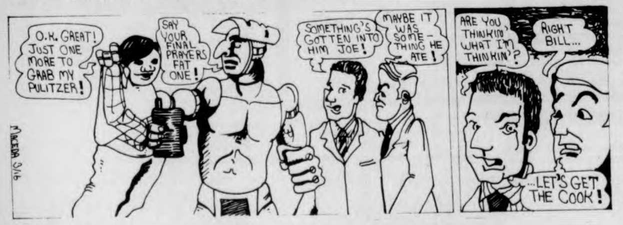
ARRRRGH!!
GODDAMN @ @ MACHINE
WHY DO YOU PLAY PINBALL?
OH, I LIKE TO RELAX....
3/16
WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



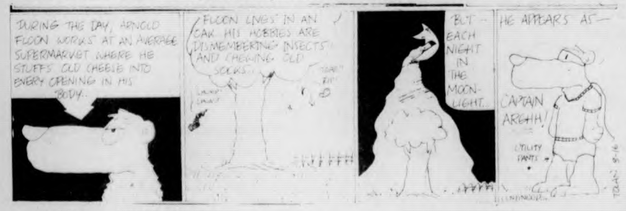
SEXIST WEEK:
MY GIRL IS REALLY INTO SPORTS.... SHE CAN'T WRESTLE, BUT YOU SHOULD SEE HER BOX...
MY GIRLFRIEND DOESN'T HAVE MUCH OF A FACE, BUT YOU SHOULD SEE HER NECK...
DID YOU SEE THAT GIRL IN THE D.C.!?
YEAH... WHAT A BODY... I HAD A GODDAMN HARD ATTACK
YOU KNOW, ITS ALL A MATTER OF SEMANTICS
NO, YOU MEAN SEMPERSON-TICS
3/16
DJ

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



O.K. GREAT! JUST ONE MORE TO GRAB MY PULITZER!
SAY YOUR FINAL PRAYERS FAT ONE!
SOMETHING'S GOTTEN INTO HIM JOE!
MAYBE IT WAS SOME-THING HE ATE!
ARE YOU THINKIN' WHAT I'M THINKIN'?
RIGHT BILL...
...LET'S GET THE COOK!
MACEDA 3/16

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



DURING THE DAY, ARNOLD FLOON WORKS AT AN AVERAGE SUPERMARKET WHERE HE STUFFS OLD CHEESE INTO EVERY OPENING IN HIS BODY..
FLOON LIVES IN AN OAK. HIS HOBBIES ARE DISMEMBERING INSECTS AND CHEWING OLD SOCKS..
BUT EACH NIGHT IN THE MOONLIGHT..
HE APPEARS AS—CAPTAIN ARGHH!
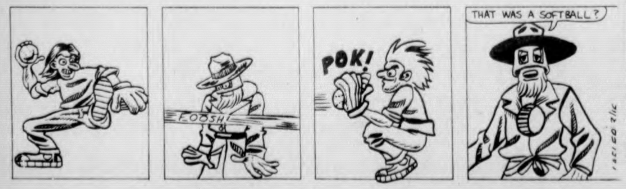
UTILITY PANTS
TOLAN 3-16

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



FOOSH!
POK!
THAT WAS A SOFTBALL?

Local Television

7:30 3 $25,000 PYRAMID
8 BREAK THE BANK
22 THE BIG MONEY TV GAME
24 CONNECTICUT
30 MUTUAL OF OMAHA'S WILD KINGDOM
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 SUPERMAN "The Phantom Ring"
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 THE BODY HUMAN: THE MIRACLE MONTHS
8 40 THE BIONIC WOMAN "The Dijon Caper"
22 30 THE LIFE AND TIMES OF GRIZZLY ADAMS "Adams Ark"
24 57 NOVA "The Gene Engineers"
27 MOVIE "I Dream of Jeannie"
38 IRONSIDE
56 MOVIE "Topaz"
9:00 3 CBS SPECIAL: "The Deadliest Season"
8 40 BARETTA "Carla"
18 WILBURN BROTHERS
22 30 CPO SHARKEY
24 57 GREAT PERFORMANCES — CHILDHOOD "An Only Child by Frank O'Connor"
38 MOVIE
9:30 18 THE PTL CLUB
22 30 NBC MOVIE OF THE WEEK "The Owl and the Pussycat"
10:00 8 40 CHARLIE'S ANGELS "The Consenting Adults"
22 30 TALES OF THE UNEXPECTED "No Way Out"
24 57 SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
10:30 27 BIG MONEY
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
24 BERGMAN BIOGRAPHY
27 MOVIE "Hour of Decision"
38 THE HONEYMOONERS
56 DARK SHADOWS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Grand Prix"
8 40 THE ROOKIES-MYSTERY OF THE WEEK
18 VOICE OF FAITH
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
27 BIG MONEY
38 THE BOLD ONES
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:30 18 THRILLMAKER SPORTS
1:00 22 30 TOMORROW
18 THE 700 CLUB
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:00 8 22 30 40 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Wednesday, March 16—Born today, you are a natural "fixer." Very little escapes your eye in the way of things that need repair, improvement, or refurbishing – and even less escapes your penchant for seeing to it that the fixing up gets done. Seldom do you trust others to do such work for you; wherever you are and in whatever condition, you will take the time and go the distance in order to accomplish it yourself.

* * *

Thursday, March 17

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Take your time selecting an activity for your leisure hours. You could make a mistake measuring your own talent.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — The more active you are in employment affairs, the more apt you are to make gains before day's end. Try to impress higher-ups.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) —A close association with one of influence as well as wealth may come in for some scrutiny today. Don't be ashamed to state your case.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — It may not be apparent until near the end of the day – but this is the time to place all your cards on the table.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Don't miss an opportunity to gain a friend where there was a growing foe. Strive to lie in the bed you made.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) —You should be able to get away from customary routine now. You may be surprised to discover, however, that new chores are also subject to routine.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Unless you are willing to play the game by the rules, you would do well not to play at all. This is a good time for self-discovery.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — New demands upon already depleted cash may make this a difficult day. Don't depend upon another for the help you can give yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Important financial moves must be seen to without further delay. Investigate the possibility of consolidating your debts.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) —An exceptional first meeting where personal attraction is concerned may leave you emotionally exhausted by day's end. Don't go overboard.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) —Guard against hasty decisions. No matter how many times in the past you've made up your mind about the same issues – think things through again.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) —A drastic change ultimately will bring more harm to the household than good. Try to work problems out on a smaller scale.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

- 1 Lateral part
- 5 High cards
- 9 Law and order
- 14 $1. bills
- 15 E. Indian VIP
- 16 Missile
- 17 Housewife's concern
- 18 Get in one's good graces
- 20 Yachting
- 21 Man's nickname
- 22 Submit for payment
- 23 Cut: Suffix
- 25 Field for tilting
- 27 Bring up a child
- 29 Coy
- 30 Are not: Dial.
- 34 Watering place
- 36 Potter's wheel
- 38 Spiro T. -----
- 39 Pentagon's concern: 2 words
- 42 Arctic, for one
- 43 Opera star
- 44 It follows "printemps"
- 45 Marries
- 46 "--- voyage!"
- 47 Inadequate
- 49 Cargo vessel
- 51 Carries
- 54 University
- 58 Egypt, formerly
- 60 Remarkable girl
- 61 Act together
- 63 Inclined to: Suffix
- 64 Copious
- 65 Once more: Dial.
- 66 Placed a golf ball
- 67 Diamond features
- 68 Remain undecided
- 69 Thrall

DOWN

- 1 Carbonated beverages
- 2 Operating: 2 words
- 3 Profaned
- 4 One's whole possessions
- 5 Unproductive
- 6 Arm of the sea
- 7 Noah Webster's forte: 2 words
- 8 Baronet's title
- 9 Heads
- 10 Emerald Isle
- 11 W. Rumanian city
- 12 Pigeon shelter
- 13 Pitcher
- 19 Having interest in opera, etc.
- 24 Commercial establishment
- 26 Pours forth
- 28 Moved rapidly
- 30 Historical epoch
- 31 Rubber products: 2 words
- 32 ---- egg
- 33 Bird's cry
- 34 Winter precip.
- 35 Walk with long steps
- 37 Small drum
- 38 Walking
- 40 Indicated air speed: Abbr.
- 41 Sixth sense: Abbr.
- 46 Indonesian province
- 48 Kind of limestone
- 49 Presages
- 50 Dine at home: 2 words
- 52 Feminine name
- 53 Kind of leather
- 54 Strikebreaker: Informal
- 55 Lens aberration
- 56 Short plane trips
- 57 Shield border: Her
- 59 Remove forcibly
- 62 Sleep briefly

Tuesday's Puzzle Solved:

TOBE BATS CABAL
IRAQ ASIA ADAGE
MARU TORI VOTES
ELGIN PONDERERS
SEEPED STERN
ORES PAN LUG SHRIVELLED PINA
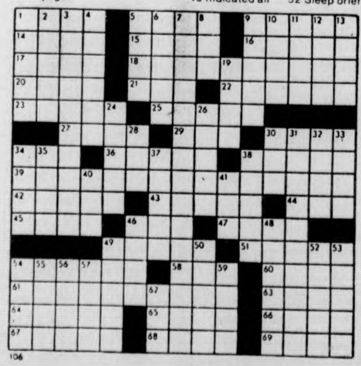
HOUSE EAT PERIL
ABLE DEGENERATE
DOE COP RANI
TONYS TAMPER
ALTIMETER LEAVE
DIODE ITEM TRES
ENTER MONO ESNE
SEEDS ENDS REST



106

Read the Collegian

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means "a structure higher than its diameter."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

NANCY DOANE

Yesterday's word:

AMENDMENT

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

BRUNCH OF CHAMPIONS.

POP!
SNAPPLE!
CRACK!
Schmidt's of Philadelphia
QUALITY SINCE 1860

Bet you can't guess what headline we wanted to use, but can't, because our chicken lawyers claim a certain breakfast cereal trademarked it in 1937?

We weren't even going to suggest that a Schmidt's is especially terrific at the crack of dawn. On cornflakes, it tastes about as good as it sounds.

But suppose you're sleeping late because you did something memorable last night. Like leading the first panty raid in 27 years. Or falling in love. Or both.

Champagne would be overdoing it.
A Schmidt's is appropriate.

C. SCHMIDT & SONS, INC., PHILA., PA.

Mets free Jets to cross the river and join Giants

NEW YORK [UPI] – The New York Mets baseball team formally rejected yesterday an agreement that would have prevented a threatened move of the football Jets to New Jersey.

In a letter to City Hall, Mets' president M. Donald Grant rejected certain conditions of a compromise which was hammered out to allow both teams to share Shea Stadium during the period their respective seasons overlap.

Deputy Mayor Stanley Friedman, who represented the city in talks with the two teams, said city lawyers were studying Grant's letter and withheld direct comment.

However, Friedman said he remained optimistic that the dispute could be resolved. "We certainly have not given up hope that the Jets and Mets can play side-by-side in New York," Friedman said about an hour after the letter arrived.

While Friedman would not specifically discuss the letter, Grant earlier disclosed that the Mets' chief objections concerned the scheduling of three football games before the baseball season ended.

The Mets' president said his team wants to have first choice of playing dates during the overlap period, an agreement from the Jets that they will make "no further demands," and a retention by Mayor Abe Beame of his power to cancel the three football games because of rain.

Grant argued that the written agreement that was sent to him last Friday by Friedman differed in part from a compromise worked out orally last month between the city and the two teams.

City officials disputed this, however. contending that Beame agreed to waive his power of cancellation as part of the original agreement and it was understood the two teams would negotiate the selection of playing dates.

The city, which owns Shea Stadium, brought the two teams together after the Jets threatened to move to the New Jersey Meadowlands Sports Complex because their current contract prohibits them from playing early season games at home while the baseball season remains underway.

The Mets have objected to the football team playing in Shea before the end of the baseball season because of potential damage to the playing turf, particularly when it rains.

Friedman said he expected negotiations would continue after lawyers in the City Corporation counsel's office finished studying the letter, which he said was "written in legalese."

Sources said the letter contained the objections Grant promised it would about game scheduling and cancellations.

Despite this new disagreement over the key elements of the original compromise, Friedman asserted, "the agreement has not fallen apart."

He pointed out that 14 other cities have playing fields shared by football and baseball teams and said he believes such an agreement can be worked out in New York.

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
30 day advance payment required

Sports Calendar

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL – Villanova 81 UMass 71

TODAY
None

TOMORROW
NCAA WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIPS at Norman, Oklahoma

Notices

WOMEN'S TENNIS – Practice begins Monday, March 28, at 3:30 on the Boyden lower courts.

SPORTS STAFF – A reminder that all copy for the upcoming spring sports special is due tomorrow. It is imperative that all stories are in. Any problems, get in touch with Judy.

St. Patrick's Day 1977
11:30 to 3 Lunch Featuring
Corned Beef and Cabbage
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST
3 til 7
Happy Hour
Pub Mugs
25¢ Beers
75¢ Drinks
9 til 1
Double Time
Most Drinks
& Beer 2 for 1
8:30 till 11
Free Hats to everyone
with Doc Sullivan
and Jim Plunkett
and
TWO WAY STREET

The Great Pretenders

thursday march 17
St. Pats Day $1.00 cover
Hatch

SAVE-ON-TIRES, Inc. ROUTE 9, HADLEY 3 Miles from Northampton 3 Miles From Amherst
OPEN MON., TUES., WED. & FRI. 9-5:30, THURS. - 9 TO 8 P.M. SAT. 9 TO 4
FIRESTONE-MICHELIN-LEE-GENERAL-ARMSTRONG
B.F. GOODRICH — PLUS OTHER MAJOR BRANDS
TIRES
CASH 'N-CARRY
Wholesale to the Public
If you need tires — before you buy elsewhere, see our prices that can't be beat!

4 PLY POLYESTER
LEE OF CONSHOHOCKEN TIRES First Quality

SIZE	Sale Price
A78x13	$18.95
B78x13 C78x14	$20.95
E78x14 F78x14	$22.50
G78x14 G78x15	$23.50
H78x14 H78x15	$25.50
L78x15	$28.95

WHITEWALLS ONLY 77¢ MORE
Plus F.E. Tax

40,000 MILE WEAR GUARANTEE
MICHELIN X
FOR AMERICAN CARS
STEEL RADIAL

WHITEWALLS	REPLACES	Reg. Price	Sale Price	FET
165x13	A78x13	59.17	44.38	1.77
175x13	B78x13	62.66	46.99	1.99
175x14	C78x14	66.37	49.78	2.13
185x14	E78x14	71.17	53.38	2.30
195x14	F78x14	75.46	56.59	2.51
205x14	G78x14	81.67	61.25	2.66
215x14	H78x14	88.81	66.61	2.95
205x15	G78x15	86.40	64.80	2.84
215x15	H78x15	91.70	68.78	3.13
225x15	J78x15	95.56	71.67	3.29
230x15	L78x15	109.04	81.78	3.33

DOUBLE STEEL BELTED RADIALS
First Quality
2-Steel-Plus 2-Polyester
• 78 SERIES • WHITEWALLS
Made By ARMSTRONG

BR 78 x13	$29.95 Each plus F.E.T.
DR 78x14 ER 78x14 FR 78x14	$36.95 each plus F.E.T.
GR 78x14 GR 78x15 HR 78x15	$39.95 each plus F.E.T.
LR 78x15	$45.00 each plus F.E.T.

MICHELIN ZX
IMPORTED AND SPORTS CARS
BLACKWALL TUBELESS
STEEL RADIAL

Size	Reg. Price	Sale Price	F.E. Tax
155x12	45.53	34.15	1.39
145x13	41.69	31.27	1.23
155x13	46.60	34.95	1.48
165x13	51.77	38.83	1.61
175-70-13	58.75	44.06	1.72
185-70-13	65.01	48.76	1.95
165x14	56.97	42.73	1.70
175x14	59.82	44.86	2.01
185x14	62.37	46.78	2.24
155x15	54.59	40.94	1.66
165x15	60.45	45.34	1.82
175x15 Wht	82.04	61.53	2.18

FOREIGN CAR RADIALS First Quality
165x13
165x14
165x15
ONE PRICE ANY SIZE $28.95 Plus F.E. Tax

FIBERGLASS BELTED
Made by MAJOR U.S. TIRE MFGR.
SAME QUALITY AS NEW CAR EQUIPMENT
WHITEWALLS
FIBERGLASS BELT
FIBERGLASS BELT
TWO BIAS PLIES OF POLYESTER CORD

A 78 x 13	$22.50 Plus 1.77 Tax
B78x13 C78x13 C78x14	25.95 Plus F.E.T.
E 78x14 F78x14 G78x14 G78x15	28.95 Plus F.E.T.
H78x14 H78x15 J78x15 L78x15	32.95 Plus F.E.T.

REGULAR RECAPS
L78x15-H78x14-C78x13
H78x15-G78x14-A78x13
G78x15-F78x14-560x15
C78x14-E78x14
Your Choice Any Size 14.95 ea. plus F.E.T.
WHITEWALLS ONLY 77¢ MORE

WIDE TRACKS
HI PERFORMANCE - DOUBLE GLASS BELTED "SUPER PROWLER" - RAISED WHITE LETTERS

SIZE	REG. PRICE	SALE PRICE	F.E. TAX	TIRE WIDTH
F60x14	51.19	38.95	2.82	8.25"
G60x14	53.41	39.95	3.07	8.25"
L60x14	60.14	42.95	3.56	10.25"
G60x15	54.30	39.95	3.08	8.25"
L60x15	62.06	45.95	3.70	10.25"
A70x13	40.88	28.95	1.96	6.00"
E70x14	44.06	32.95	2.47	6.75"
F70x14	46.24	34.95	2.61	7.00"
G70x14	47.70	35.95	2.78	7.25"
H70x14	51.33	39.95	3.04	7.25"
G70x15	48.77	36.95	2.84	7.25"
H70x15	51.95	39.95	3.08	7.50"

Tested by "Car and Driver Magazine" As The Highest Scorer Of All The Non-Radials

SAVE-ON-TIRES, INC.
ROUTE 9 HADLEY
Cash and Carry or BankAmericard Master Charge
586-2544
HOURS:
MON. thru FRI. 9 to 5:30
SAT. 9 to 4
THURS. 9 to 8 p.m.
1 MILE WEST ON THE SAME SIDE OF RTE. 9 FROM HADLEY DRIVE-IN THEATRE

College hoopsters arrange Cuba tour

WASHINGTON [UPI] – A group of South Dakota basketball players will be the first American sports team to compete in Cuba since the two nations broke diplomatic relations 16 years ago, the office of Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., said yesterday.

The basketball team will play in Cuba the week starting April 3, with the exact dates still being worked out by Abourezk's office and the Cuban delegation to the United Nations.

The American team will be composed of players from the University of South Dakota and South Dakota State, both members of the North Central Conference. The University of South Dakota had an 11-13 record and South Dakota State was 10-16 this year.

For a time it appeared that a major league baseball team would break the sports barrier.

Cuban premier Fidel Castro recently expressed interest in the New York Yankees playing a Cuban team in Havana. The Yankee management liked the idea, and the state department said it wouldn't mind their playing in Havana this spring.

However, baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn rejected the Yankee proposal, saying he instead favored a team of U.S. All-Stars playing in Cuba next year.

Abourezk's spokesman said the state department agreed in the second week of February to let the South Dakotans compete in Cuba. It was only last week that President Carter announced a lifting of the ban on U.S. travel to Cuba.

The spokesman said Abourezk tried unsuccessfully last year to arrange a similar trip.

Plans call for a charter flight to leave Sioux Falls, S.D., with the team, stop in Washington to pick up additional passengers, and then go to Havana.

Original plans scheduled the visit for March 26-30. Now, the dates will be either April 3-7, April 4-8 or April 5-9.

Although the South Dakotans will be the first American team to compete in Cuba since the break of diplomatic relations, Cubans and Americans have played against each other in international events such as the Olympics.

Cinderella teams in Div II semis

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. [UPI] – The tournament's Cinderella teams will play in the first semifinal game of the NCAA Division II National Basketball Championships Friday night, NCAA officials announced yesterday.

NCAA Division II committee chairman Richard Scharf said Randolph-Maçon College of Ashland, Va., will meet the University of North Alabama Friday night. In the second game of the semifinals later that night, the high-scoring offenses of the University of Tennessee—Chattanooga and Sacred Heart of Bridgeport, Conn., will be matched.

The winners of both games will meet for the National Title Saturday night, while the losers will play for third place.

Randolph-Macon, a school with only 840 students, was unranked in the NCAA's final Division II National Basketball standings, but advanced to the finals with a series of close wins in the Great Lakes Regional playoffs. The Yellow Jackets, who have a 22-7 record this season, are led by 6'6" center Joe Allen, the most valuable player in the Great Lakes tournament.

North Alabama was ranked 11th nationally by the NCAA at the end of the season. The Lions, 23-6, are led by guard Otis Boddie, a native of Florence, Ala., where the school is located.

Sacred Heart, 28-2, was ranked fifth nationally at the end of the season, but advanced to the semifinals with an 85-82 defeat of top ranked Towson State. Four pioneer starters averaged more than 14 points per game as Sacred Heart ran to a 95.6 points per game scoring average.

The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, 25-5, was ranked ninth. The Moccasins were the second place team in last year's National Division II Tourney, losing the championship game to Puget Sound, 83-74. All five of Chattanooga's starters are from Louisville, Ky. Guard William Gordon and forward Wayne Golden each averaged more than 20 points to lead the team to an 89.5 points per game average.

Undergraduate Internship
Want to Teach?
24 credits
a year
Positions open for next year
Teaching 1st year students for Psychology 111
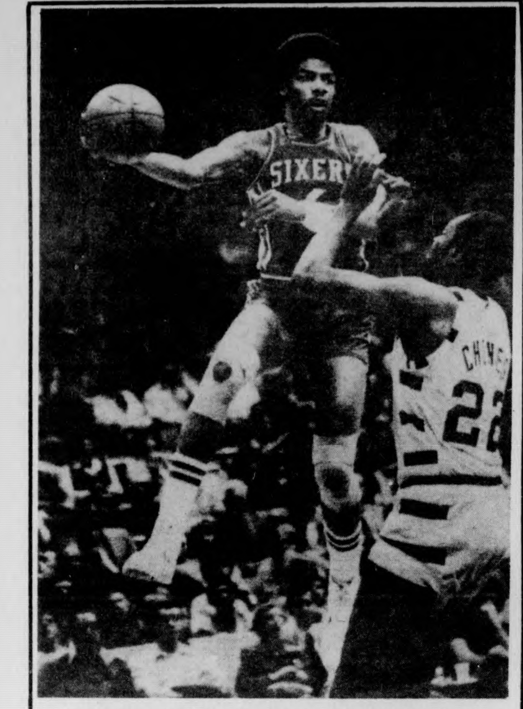
Applications and Program Description Available now —
Rene Carew
209 Berkshire House
Community Development Center



Don't you wish that this man was in a UMass uniform last night instead of a Philadelphia 76'ers? (UPI photo)

★ Intramural hoop

CONT. FROM PAGE 23

The Pines went into a stall. Less than a minute. Oops, a foul on Jeff Shealar sends Finnerty to the line. Sinks 'em both. Schupter Harte gets that one back, but a fast upcourt pass to Joe Harrington leads to an easy layup and a 40-37 Pine lead.

Piner Ed O'Brien fouled Harte, sending him to the line with nine seconds remaining and a chance to pull the Schupters to within one again. But the rim and the ball just couldn't get it together. The Schupters would go down to their first defeat in seven games, and the Pines would remain undefeated for at least one more game with their seventh straight victory.

The Pines next opponent will be the Alcoholics.

A Van Meter based organization, the Alcoholics made the Ballhawks (not to be confused with the Hawks) their tenth victim of the season against one loss.

"I think playing those couple extra games (A's had to play a league tie-breaker just to make the playoffs) helped us," commented player-coach John Kearney. Continuing on, "George Corthouts (A's big man) played great tonite. He kept our offense going, and blocked five shots also".

Fifteen points by Paul Simms didn't hurt the Alcoholics any, either.

The A's were getting two and sometimes three shots at a basket in the first half of the game, which helped them to a seven point halftime lead.

Bird-man is caged

BALTIMORE [UPI] – Pilot Donald Kroner was sentenced to two years in prison Tuesday for crashing his light plane into Memorial Stadium following the Colts-Steelers playoff game last December.

Kroner, 33, was convicted last month of two charges of malicious destruction of property and one charge of reckless flying.

Northern District Court Judge Daniel Friedman could have sentenced Kroner to three years and fined him $2,500 for each of the malicious destruction convictions. The maximum for reckless flying is 90 days and a $500 fine.

Kroner crashed his rented Piper Cherokee into the upper deck just minutes after the Dec. 19 game ended. Kroner and two police officers were injured but no fans were hurt because most had left without waiting for the end of the 40-14 defeat to Pittsburgh.

Kroner's defense was that the plane had engine trouble and he was forced to land in the deck area. Federal investigators said the plane was trouble-free.

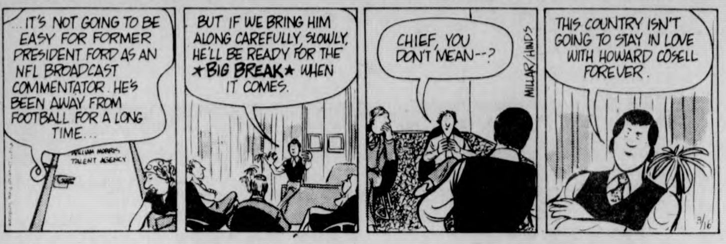
Kroner was sentenced to 90 days last month for littering and reckless flying in another incident in which he flew low over a nearby restaurant owned by former Colt linebacker Bill Pellington and threw out a roll of toilet paper.

LUNCH-N-COPY
AT THE AMHERST DELI
COMPLIMENTARY LUNCH
WITH COPY ORDERS PLACED AT ETC. COPY CORP.
1. COPY ORDER OF $20.00 or more
2. Placed between 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM
3. ANY REGULAR SIZE SANDWICH ON THE MENU COMPLIMENTS OF ETC. COPY CORP.

Regular-Size Sandwich
Balogna	.95
Mortadella	1.00
Liverwurst	.95
Salami	1.15
Genoa Salami	1.65
Imported Swiss	1.25
Imported Ham	1.50
Capicola	1.70
Prosciutto	1.85
Turkey	1.60
Pastrami	1.50
Corned Beef	1.70
Roast Beef	1.75
Tuna	1.50
Alaskan King Crab	1.99

Most Copy Order Completed
While You Have Lunch
CLEAN, CONCISE, CORRECT COPIES
on IBM COPIERS, it looks like your original.
ETC. COPY CORP.
Amherst Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Ma. 01002
549-0566
Call 549-0566 to insure copying up to 12:00 (midnight) Mon.-Sun.
Copy Hours: M-F 9:00-6:00; Sat. 9:00-5:00
Special Hours: Sunday & After Posted Hours

TANK McNAMARA by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



...IT'S NOT GOING TO BE EASY FOR FORMER PRESIDENT FORD AS AN NFL BROADCAST COMMENTATOR. HE'S BEEN AWAY FROM FOOTBALL FOR A LONG TIME...
WILLIAM MORRIS TALENT AGENCY
BUT IF WE BRING HIM ALONG CAREFULLY, SLOWLY, HE'LL BE READY FOR THE ★BIG BREAK★ WHEN IT COMES.
CHIEF, YOU DON'T MEAN--?
MILLAR/HINDS
THIS COUNTRY ISN'T GOING TO STAY IN LOVE WITH HOWARD COSELL FOREVER.
3/16

Utah faces torrid Rebels

PROVO, Utah [UPI] – Utah coach Jerry Pimm says nobody could have beaten sixth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas last weekend. But tomorrow night's NCAA playoff game between the No. 10-ranked Utes and the Rebels is a different game at another site.

"The way Las Vegas played against San Francisco last Saturday, they proved they are one of the best teams in the nation," Pimm said. "I don't think any team could have beaten them at Tucson, Ariz."

Following the Utah-Las Vegas game at the Brigham Young University Marriott Center, will be the matchup between fourth-ranked UCLA and unheralded Idaho State. The two winners play Saturday afternoon in the NCAA Western Regional finals.

"'Las Vegas' style of play is pressure defense," said Pimm. "Their quick tempo has caused havoc for their opponents this season. The thing that really impressed me last Saturday against San Francisco was not the 121 points they scored, but their ability to harass the Dons into 32 turnovers."

Pimm's Utes are accustomed to playing at the near-mile high elevation, and beat the Rebels in Salt Lake City 100-96 last December – one of Las Vegas' two losses during the season.

In that game Buster Matheney scored 32 points and grabbed nine rebounds in leading the Utes, while Jeff Judkins added 21 points and Jeff Jonas 20. Eddie Owens was high in the game with 31 points for the Rebels, while Sam Smith added 26 – but that was about all for Las Vegas.

Judkins is the leading scorer for 22-6 Utah with a 21 point per game average, followed by Matheney at 17, Greg Deane with 15 per game and Jonas 11.

Owens tops Nevada-Las Vegas with a 22 points average, while Smith, Glen Gondrezick and Reggie Theus are all averaging about 15 points per game for the Rebels, who are 26-2.

Idaho State and UCLA, both 24-4, will feature the Bengals' size against UCLA's speed.

ISU is led by 7-foot center Steve Hayes, 6-10 forward Jeff Cook and 6-7 forward Greg Griffin. Hayes scored 29 points against Long Beach State in leading the Bengals into the Provo finals, while Cook added 18 and Griffin 14. The three big men also combined for 42 rebounds.

UPI college player of the year Marques Johnson is the power in the Bruins' game. Johnson is averaging 21 points per game. But, playing with an infected tooth against Louisville last weekend, Johnson had 13 points in the first half, but only four in the second to finish the game with 17 points.

UCLA advanced to Provo with its 87-79 win over 13th-ranked Louisville last Saturday, while host Idaho State downed Long Beach State, 83-72, in Pocatello, Idaho. At Tucson, Ariz., Nevada-Las Vegas whipped No. 2-ranked San Francisco 121-95 and Utah edged St. John's, 72-68.

THE BAGEL DELI
28 PLEASANT ST. (across from the Pleasant St Theatre)
SUN.-WED. 7A.M.-9P.M.
THU-SAT. 7A.M.-2A.M.
Complete sit-down and take-out service

College Drug Store
St. Patrick's Day Special

A MANLY DEODORANT SOAP irish spring

4/$1.00
4 MAIN ST., AMHERST

AMHERST'S FAVORITE SUBMARINE SANDWICH...
THE HUNGRY-U

HEAVYWEIGHT

WE DELIVER
256-0474
256-0473
103
N. PLEASANT ST.
WE ALSO MAKE SOME MIGHTY GOOD PIZZAS
BUY A LARGE COMBINATION
PIZZA GET A SMALL
HEAVY WEIGHT SANDWICH WITH THIS AD

IM's continue with quarterfinals

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

"UMass Minutemen get snubbed again," ...oh, wait a second, that's a lead for a story later in the year.

"The long and winding road, that leads"...to intramural basketball's championship game has been slowly grinding down to an inevitable end. The end will come this Thursday night, the eve of the unofficial beginning of spring break (as if most UMies haven't already started vacationing). But before a team makes it to the finals, it must do one thing first-get by the semifinals; which is the common goal of the four remaining teams in the men's playoffs: the Gorman Pines, Van Meter Alcoholics, the Hawks and last but not least, Pallotta's Wolfpack.

The Alcoholics eliminated the Ballhawks, 37-34, in the quarter-final round while the Pines tripped the Schupters, 42-37. Wolfpack kicked the Lyons 69'ers out via its 41-34 victory, while the Field Flyers were dropped by the Hawks, 42-35.

The Pines, one of the two remaining seeded teams in contention for the campus crown (the Alcoholics being the other) took control of their game with the Schupters early, racing out to a 6-zip lead. It seemed Schupter-shots just wouldn't drop, except to the floor outside of the perimeter of the basketball cylinder.

Chris Harte of the Schupters finally got his team on the scoresheet at the two minute mark of the first period (or half, if you prefer). Gorman's Alex Dobbs got that one right back to put his team up, 8-2.

Then, the night time Boyden version of 'Let's make a Deal' began. The rules are easy to suscribe to: Team A has the ball. Goes down court and shoots. Team B gets the ball, comes down the court and shoots. Now Team A returns down court again, allowing to have the ball stolen away. In gratitude, Team B returns the favor, by eventually tossing the ball out of bounds.

The main objective of the game is to keep the point spread the same. This is the pattern the Schupter-Pine game followed for the next seven minutes before the Schupt-men, unable to close the gap, called a timeout, with Gorman up, 12-6.

Things didn't fair much better for the Schupters following the short break, and at halftime, they returned to the sidelines trailing the Gorman squad by 10, 22-12.

First half statistics showed the Pines hitting on 10 of 17 shots, while the Schuters only hit on 6 of 19 from the floor.

But alas, it is not how much you're down at halftime that counts, but where you're at when the game buzzer sounds.

The Schupters came out flying in the second half to make a game of things. With the help of free throws by Dave Gilman and baseline jumpers by Chris Harte, not to mention the tip in by Jeff Shealar of a missed free throw, the Schupters found themselves down by only a 26-25 score with half of the second half (is this the same as a quarter?) remaining to play.

Gorman's Mark Finnerty hit two free throws, which were followed with a hoop by Schupter Frank Pallone, which was countered with another Finnerty bucket, and then by another Pallone basket (quick, tell me, what's the score?). Anyway, this fast pace action only preceded to keep the Pines up 30-29.

Ah, but the clock was winding down to four minutes.

And then three.

And two.

TURN TO PAGE 22

ST. PATRICK'S DAY
CARDS and DECORATIONS
at
A.J. HASTINGS
newsdealer and stationery
45 S. Pleasant St.

POOR RICHARDS
Wednesday
50¢ for most drinks all night

FAST
ECONOMICAL
& FREQUENT FREQUENT
FREQUENT
FREQUENT
Peter Pan and Continental Trailways offer service to Boston, New York and many other destinations.
Buses leaving for March vacation all week.

Peter Pan
CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

PETER PAN BUS LINES & CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS
MAKE LIFE SIMPLER FOR YOU.
For Information, Schedules and Prices, Contact:
Campus Center Bus Office Tel. 545-2006 or 549-6000

Town an all-star

BOSTON [UPI] – Unstoppable Tony Hanson, the glue of the UConn basketball team, has been named UPI Player of the Year and a member of the Division I All-New England team in balloting by the region's coaches.

Hanson, the only unanimous choice of the 16 Division I coaches and the only player honored for three straight years, was joined on the first squad by Jim Town of UMass, Joe Hassett of Providence and the Holy Cross duo of Chris Potter and Ron Perry.

Hanson, a 6'5" native of Waterbury, Conn., is a spark-plug guard with an easy jumper who led his team in scoring.

In 27 games this season, the senior UConn captain collected 702 points, a 26-points per game average that led New England scorers and rated 11th in the nation.

Hanson was New England's second-leading rebounder behind Town, averaging 10.5 per game.

Town, the only other repeater on the squad, led the Minutemen into the NIT this season by averaging 16 points and 11.6 rebounds per game. The 6'7" senior is from Glens Falls, N.Y.

Hassett, a senior co-captain from Providence, moved up to the first team after being named to UPI's second squad last season. Switching from guard to forward this season, the 6'5" sharpshooter averaged 18.8 points a season and helped the Friars to a 24-5 season.

Potter, the Most Valuable Player in the Colonial Classic and ECAC tournament this season, averaged 18.8 points a game while shooting .527 from the field. The 6'8" junior from Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y., also led the Crusaders in rebounding with a 9.7 average.

Perry, the only freshman on the first two teams, was as impressive in his first season as the buildup promised in pacing Holy Cross to a 23-6 record. He was the nation's leading freshman scorer, with a 23-points per game average, and was the man the Crusaders depended upon to score in crucial situations.

The 6'2" first-year star led the Crusaders in scoring and in free throw percentage.

Heading the second team was Providence junior Bruce "Soup" Campbell, a first-team selection last season. He was joined by Friars' teammate Bob Cooper, a senior co-captain; Fairfield sophomore Joe DeSantis; University of Rhode Island freshman Sly Williams, and Brown senior Brian Saunders.

Hot Bulls beat C's for ninth in last ten

CHICAGO [UPI] – Artis Gilmore scored 28 points, pacing four Chicago Starters with 21 points or better, to lead the Bulls to a 107-96 victory last night over the Boston Celtics, the Bulls' ninth victory in their last 10 games.

Chicago shot 57 per cent during the first half to build up a 61-48 lead. After the intermission, the Bulls continued their hot shooting and mounted an 83-60 lead, their largest of the night.

But Boston stormed back, scoring 10 straight points to cut Chicago's lead to 87-80 with 6:41 remaining. The Bulls then came back with two free throws by Wilbur Holland and then played tight defense preventing the Celtics from getting off a shot in the 24-second limit.

Holland had 23 points, Mickey Johnson scored 22 and Scott May scored 21 for the Bulls. Dave Cowens paced the Celtics with 22 points.

Riders capture top awards

By SUSAN SCANLON
Collegian Staff

Despite the torrential rains Sunday, the UMass Equestrian Team had a most successful day. After two weeks of heavy practice since its last horse show, the team was in fine form.

The horse show was hosted by Springfield College, although held in Connecticut at Fox Run Farm. Two UMass riders claimed top honors; they were Sue Scanlon, who captured the High Point Rider Award and Sandy Most, who took the Reserve Champion ribbon.

Other fine rides came from Robin Ziegler, Whitney Buttrick and Sharon Scraggs. The judge of the show was Julius Mallahoy, who did an outstanding job. Fox Run Farm also supplied a good string of horses.

With the Regional Championships only a month away, many Umass riders qualified at the Springfield meet. Twenty-eight points are needed to qualify for the Regionals. Each ribbon denotes a certain amount of points; for instance, a first place is seven points, a second is five points and so on down to sixth place.

This year the Regionals will be in Sterling, Mass. at Still River Farm; Worcester State is the hosting college. There are two more remaining horse shows before the Regional Championships. The next show will be at Mt. Holyoke College on April 3.

Presently the UMET is in second place for overall team points. Colby-Sawyer still has the lead by 10 points. This past weekend, UMass finished third out of 18 competing colleges.

Coach Sarah Carlson feels that the team has "the spirit and the ability to catch and claim the Regional title. At the Springfield Show, the UMass riders rode exceptionally well. With the warmer weather here, we should be able to keep this up."

COMMUTERS
elections for the Commuter Collective
to be held Wed. & Thurs.
in the Cape Cod Lounge.
The Commuter Collective is the
Commuters Area Gov't.

Sports

Minutemen erased by crafty Wildcats

By BOB HIGGINS
Collegian Staff

NEW YORK — The Herron brothers, Keith and Larry, combined for 36 points to lead Villanova to an 81-71 win over UMass in National Invitational Tournament quarterfinal round action last night at Madison Square Garden.

The UMass loss ends a long, tiring season for the Minutemen, who finish the year with a 20-11 mark. Villanova will face St. Bonaventure in tomorrow night's NIT semi-final round.

Villanova, an intelligent, disciplined team, did nothing flashy, nothing exciting to beat the Minutemen. The Wildcats took their time, built up a modest lead early in the second half, and then patiently sat on that lead as the frustrated Minutemen wore themselves out trying to come back.

"We knew coming into the game that if they get in front of you, you're in trouble," said UMass coach Jack Leaman after the game.

"They get a little lead and then they go into that zone," said UMass center Mark Donoghue. "They're a smart team."

The Wildcats, after a very even first half, grabbed a seven point lead (52-45) five minutes into the second half. With guard Joe Rogers controlling the tempo of the game, Villanova nurtured that lead, patiently waiting for good shots and foul shots, and turned back each UMass comeback attempt.

"They handle the freeze very well," said Leaman. "Rogers is a clever ballplayer, they're an intelligent team, and they shoot very well from the free throw line." Villanova made 83 per cent of its free throws (25 of 30) in the contest.

For the Minutemen, it was a tough loss. "I thought we were ready, I thought we worked hard," said Donoghue. "But I thought we played pretty poorly."

Leaman gave credit to Villanova rather than blaming his players. "They did a great job of shutting off (Mike) Pyatt and Donoghue," said Leaman. Pyatt was held to just four points (one of 11 from the field), while Donoghue scored just seven points.

Meanwhile, the Villanova front line was doing the job both offensively and rebounding. "We got hurt on the boards," said UMass forward Jim Town, who hit for 20 points. "We let them get too many second shots."

The first half was about as even as possible, with neither team going up by more than four. A Pyatt foul in the backcourt on a steal attempt at the halftime buzzer gave Rory Sparrow two foul shots and Villanova a 39-38 edge.

The contest was tied for the last time at 43 with over 18 minutes remaining. Villanova, using a zone defense which rattled the Minutemen, ran off a 9-2 surge to go up by seven, and coasted from there.

The Minutemen still had time to come back, and made a serious attempt to. Down by nine, Town took matters into his own hands, first sinking a 22-foot jumper, then stealing a pass and driving the length of the court to cut it to five (58-53) with 8:41 remaining.

But Sparrow hit a short jumper, Keith Herron followed with a 20-footer, and Larry Herron followed with a three-point play to build a formidable 65-53 bulge with under seven minutes left.

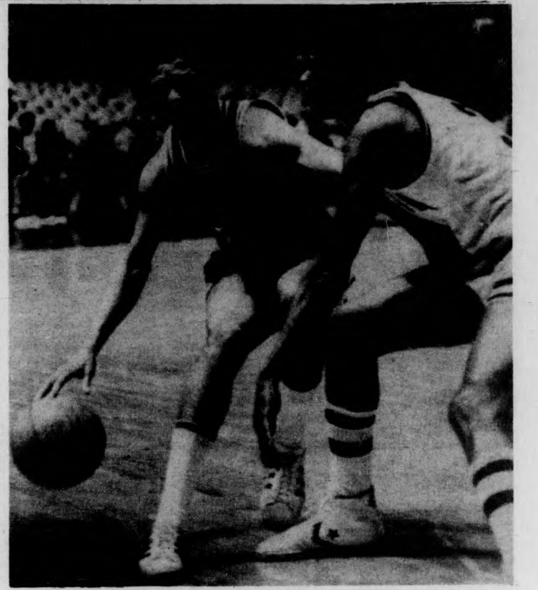
"We played good zone defense, they missed a few shots and I think they got rattled," said Villanova coach Rollie Massimino. "We were a lot more aggressive in the second half."

"I'm proud of the way our kids played tonight," said Leaman. "I don't think that we lost the game. I think Villanova went out and won it."

Town's 20 points tied him with Keith Herron for game-high scoring honors. Derick Claiborne, playing one of his finest games all season, added 17, and Alex Eldridge had 11.

Larry Herron scored 16 for the Wildcats, Sparrow had 11, and forward Reggie Robinson hit for 10 points. Larry also pulled down 11 rebounds to lead in that department.

The teams shot evenly from the floor (46 per cent for UMass, 45 for Villanova), but the foul shots told the difference. While the Wildcats, the country's seventh-leading free throw shooting team, went to the line 30 times, the Minutemen shot just nine for 14 from the line.



UMass' Derick Claiborne (20) is covered closely by Villanova's Rory Sparrow in last night's NIT action at Madison Square Garden. (UPI photo)

MASSACHUSETTS (71) — Pyatt 1 2-3 4, Town 9 2-2 20, Donoghue 3 1-3 7, Claiborne 7 3-3 17, Eldridge 5 1-3 11, Kohlhaas 2 0-0 4, Johnson 2 0-0 4, Dennerlein 1 0-0 2, Morrison 1 0-0 2, MaGuire 0 0-0 0, Steveskey 0 0-0 0. Totals 31 9-14 71.

VILLANOVA (81) — K. Herron 7 6-7 20, L. Herron 7 2-3 16, Olive 3 2-5 8, Rigsby 2 2-2 6, Sparrow 4 3-3 11, Robinson 2 6-6 10, Rogers 2 4-4 8, Underman 1 0-0 2, Caron 0 0-0 0, Lincoln 0 0-0 0, Sock 0 0-0 0, Cowan 0 0-0 0. Totals 28 25-30 81.

Halftime — Villanova 39, Massachusetts 38.

Rebounds elude hoopmen; New York visit cut short

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

"When you get to this stage of basketball, you have to rebound in order to win, and that's a big reason we won," said an elated Villanova guard Joe Rogers.

"We played decent," said a dejected Jim Town. "We just got killed on the boards. If you get the boards, you get the shots, we just didn't get them tonight.

"Villanova just wore us down in the second half," said a saddened Jack Leaman. "When they started to control us on the boards, they started to run and produce a lot of fast break baskets. We did not lose this game. Villanova just beat us."

The Villanova Wildcats, last in the ECBL regular season statistics in rebounding, came out like tigers in the second half, scrambled at every loose ball, and just overpowered UMass on the boards. Villanova outrebounded UMass for a final game tally — 36-30.

Another big reason for the defeat was the poor foul shooting by the Minutemen. Villanova was 83 per cent from the line while UMass shot a dismal 64 per cent from the charity stripe. Villanova went to the free throw line 30 times, connecting on 25 while UMass produced 9-14.

"I had a feeling that we were going to be flat in the second half," said Alex Eldridge who scored 11 points. "Villanova just kept crashing the boards. We should have taken a lot of shots from the top of the key because that was the only spot they were giving us. You got to give a lot of credit to Villanova's guard Rogers. He is a clutch player who knows what he is doing on the court in critical situations."

Eldridge said that Rogers' eight assists to forwards Keith Herron (20) and Larry Herron (16) hurt the Minutemen tremendously.

"Every time we tried to press Villanova, they gave the ball to Rogers who is a good dribbler, a good passer, and someone who knows how to penetrate," said Eldridge.

"Villanova just wore us down ... we did not lose this game. Villanova just beat us." — UMass coach Jack Leaman

A disconsolate Mike Pyatt, 1-11 from the field and only five rebounds, offered no excuses after the game. "I just couldn't get it started," he said.

In the first half, UMass shot as well as they have all year, shooting 56 per cent, but were still outrebounded by Villanova 20-16. Turnovers, a technical foul on Jack Leaman and a last second first half foul on Mike Pyatt, who fouled his defender 80 ft. from the basket, helped to give Villanova the advantage, 39-38, at the end of the first half.

The clubs traded baskets for the first five minutes of the second half when UMass suddenly went cold for two minutes while Villanova started to dominate the boards and run the break. Rogers, John Olive and Whitey Rigsby all hit successive jumpers, giving the Wildcats the lead, 50-45, with 15:22 left in the game.

UMass, with the lineup of Eldridge, Claiborne, Pyatt, Kohlhaas, and George Dennerlein went scoreless for the next minute and a half while Olive and Keith Herron connected from 18 ft. Suddenly it was 58-49 with ten minutes left in the game. Looking back, the game was lost right there.

A revitalized Jim Town returned to the lineup and hit a 22-foot right-side jumper and then hit on a driving layup after he stole the ball, cutting the lead to 60-53 with eight minutes left.

But a 2-1 fast break opportunity was blown by UMass and Villanova slowed down the game for the remaining time, playing a stalled offense to insure the victory.

"If we just had two or three more breaks in the first half we would have been up by four, five or six points," said UMass captain Mark Donoghue.

"When you are up by that many, the whole complexion of the game changes. You can control the game the way you want to, and aren't forced into playing catchup and committing a lot of fouls.

Good teams don't allow their opponents to get back into the game when you're at this stage of the N.I.T. "Villanova showed they were a good, smart team tonight," Donoghue said.

Minuteman guard Alex Eldridge loses his footing during last night's 81-71 loss to Villanova. (UPI photo)

Bonnies top Ducks

NEW YORK [UPI] — Greg Sanders scored a game-high 30 points, including eight during a 12-0 spurt early in the second half Tuesday night, to spark St. Bonaventure to a 76-73 upset victory over Oregon and into the semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

Alabama and Houston, winners Monday night, will meet in tomorrow night's other semifinal game.

Sanders, a 6'-6" forward, broke open a sloppily played game two minutes into the second half when he scored two of his four three-point plays to help the Bonnies extend a 31-30 lead to 43-30 with 15:30 left.

After Oregon, making its third straight NIT appearance, closed to within 47-40, Sanders then keyed an 8-2 burst with six points.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 107 THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1977
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts/ Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Closest ever

Hill, Quad keys

Batiste, Hite win the fight

By JOE MAGLITTA
and STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

Pinky Batiste and Jon A. Hite will assume the duties of Student Government Association (SGA) president April 1.

With 300 ballots remaining, the Batiste-Hite team led the team of John A. Foley and Herb L. Tyson by a tally of 2398-2010, the closest SGA election since popular balloting was instituted in 1975. Twenty-seven per cent of the student body cast ballots over the past two days.

The Chuck F. Pooler - Joel N. Weissman team finished a distant third with 260 votes.

Northeast and Orchard Hill provided the key votes for the Batiste-Hite candidacy. The Quad supported Batiste-Hite 421-123 over the Foley-Tyson duo. The Hill provided a 320-153 difference for the winners.

In the other polling areas, the two teams ran neck and neck. Central voted in favor of Foley-Tyson, 380-344. Southwest leaned towards Batiste-Hite, 788-761. Sylvan went to Foley-Tyson, 181-144. Commuters also voted Foley-Tyson, 391-289. The Greeks supported Batiste-Hite, 91-21.

Total voter turnout was not as large as had been predicted; a total of about 4,287 went to the polls.

Hite said last night from the Batiste-Hite victory party in Grayson, where Batiste is a resident assistant, that "It feels good."

"We went out and talked about the issues and won a difficult campaign. I'm proud we never wavered in our campaign's ethical standards. We were honest," he said.

"A lot of people helped us. I knew it was going to be close all along. We're sure going to keep our promises. I don't make promises I don't keep," said an extremely happy Batiste.

The Hite-Batiste team received 48.8 per cent of the ballots. Foley-Tyson got 41 per cent. This year's turnout of 27 per cent of the student body was 40 per cent over last year's turnout.

John Foley and Herb Tyson were "unavailable for comment" last night, according to members of their campaign who had rented a room on the sixth floor of the Campus Center.

Yesterday the Foley-Tyson team refused to let the Collegian take their picture. Foley said they were upset at the Collegian's Tuesday endorsement of Hite-Batiste. "When we win, we'll give the exclusive story to Black Affairs and Nummo News, because of the help the Third World has given us," said Foley.

Pooler and Weissman, both members of the Revolutionary Student Brigade, traveled to Clinton yesterday with other members of the brigade to "protest President Carter's visit", according to Weissman. Neither candidate was available for comment last night.

Brian DeLima, speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate and member of the Foley-Tyson campaign, said last night "the generally heavy turnout signifies that there is a political awareness on the part of University students. Batiste and Hite need to mobilize this new awareness."

"Places where there was a high turnout of students found that the voting was close. It's too bad that the attention of the student body was not focused on the issues. The Collegian endorsement on election day gave little time for rebuttal," he said.

Current SGA Co-president Jay A. Martus said he was "very gratified" with yesterday's turnout.

"The turnout should make things a great deal easier for Pinky when she goes to the legislature," said Martus.

"One of the most frequent comments heard from the legislators is 'How can you claim to represent the students when such a small percentage turn out for the elections?' They can't say that now. Right now it's a good time for us all to pull together on tuition, fee increases and to examine the effects of the faculty union," he said.

SGA Co-president Paul M. Cronin said "he would miss the office of president, but was looking forward "to eating, sleeping and living like a normal student again."

"There are things we could have done better in our year in office," he said. "The problem comes down to the one-year president's term. It's difficult to establish personal prestige in the legislature in such a short time. I'm confident Pinky can do a fine job in Boston," said Cronin, current student trustee.

Batiste will serve as student trustee, Hite as SGA president.

Gerard F. Rogers, Foley-Tyson media coordinator, said he felt Batiste and Hite would "do a good job" during the next year.

"The only reason why I decided to support one side in the campaign was to keep things equal. Pinky has been my floor counselor in Grayson for almost three years and I have no question she will be an exceptional leader," Rogers said.

The rockiest point in the Batiste-Hite presidential quest occurred on March 12, when a student judiciary tribunal failed to uphold Batiste-Hite allegations that one of their campaign posters had been plagiarized by members of the Foley-Tyson campaign.

At a preliminary hearing last Thursday night, the tribunal granted a temporary injunction on the posters, freezing them until a second hearing could be held on Saturday.

At Satuuday's hearing the tribunal said although there was a great similarity between the texts, the plaintiffs for the Batiste-Hite campaign failed to provide "a preponderance of circumstantial

TURN TO PAGE 2

Jon Hite and Pinky Batiste were elected to fill the SGA's executive spot in the closest Student Government Presidential election ever voted. (Staff photo by Dale Griswold)

SATF increase close to approval

By JOHN MORAN
Collegian Staff

The referendum on the $7 Student Activity Tax Fund (SATF) increase was being favored by students last night at 1:30.

At that time preliminary results showed 1739 "Yes" votes and 1449 "No" votes. 262 ballots had been left blank. These figures included all the ballots registered in Southwest, Orchard Hill, Central and Northeast. Areas yet to be counted were Sylvan, Commuters and the envelope ballots.

Ballots concerning the referendum were counted after those of the presidential election. The final referendum tally was not expected until 4:00 a.m.

The envelope ballots were those cast by students somehow not correctly accounted for in the computerized election materials used in this year's election.

Student Senate Treasurer Thomas Kerrins was pleased with the preliminary results.

"I am confident the students will support the SATF increase," he said.

Senate Speaker Brian J. DeLima was equally confident.

"The students will pass this referendum because it is unquestionably needed," DeLima said.

SGA co-president Jay A. Martus said last night the referendum was worthwhile no matter which side won.

"I think the most important point here is that this is the first time students have been able to participate directly in the legislative process here. In the future, perhaps the student senate should go to the students whenever there is a change in fees," he said.

Co-president elect Jon Hite told the Collegian last night he thought the referendum results showed the campus did want to see the fee increase rather than a cut in student services.

"I don't want to see any fees increased," he said, "because I think students pay enough already. But if one fee has to go up, I would rather it was the SATF because that directly affects the students more than any other fee."

The proposed increase has been the subject of much controversy in the senate in recent weeks. The main proponents of the increase have been senate Treasurer Thomas J. Kerrins, Budgets Committee Co-chairperson Jay S. Milender, and senate Speaker Brian J. DeLima. The increase has been mainly opposed by former Rents and Fees Chairperson Peter D. Graham and other members of the committee.

Graham and others, including SGA President Jay A. Martus, collected more than 4700 signatures in the week after the senate passed the increase to bring the question to a binding referendum. Only 4400, representing 25 per cent of the student population, were needed.

A "yes" vote on yesterday's ballot supported the decision of the senate in raising the SATF by $7. A "no" vote opposed that decision.

When the increase was debated in the senate, it was broken down into two parts for convenience of discussion. The $4 portion of the increase is needed to cover the cost of living raises for full time employes which was mandated by the University Board of Trustees.

The remaining $3 of the increase was added to cover leases from inflation and less SATF money returning from groups to the senate treasury. Last year returning SATF money totaled about $110,000.

inside

Everyone's Irish on St. Patrick's Day. See Mary Ellen Lowney's story on Page 2 if you want to be Irish every day.

Carter met the American people on the grassroots level last night as he attended a town meeting in Clinton, Massachusetts. See Page 5.

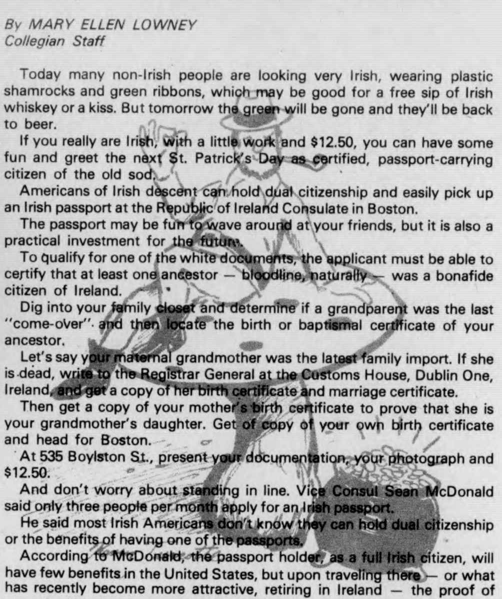
weather

Sunny, breezy and drunk. High in the 50's. Wear your green.

These members of the Mediocre String Band take advantage of the fine weather last week to put on an impromptu concert. (Staff photo by Dale Griswold)

Shamrocks, shillelaghs, or some sod

By MARY ELLEN LOWNEY
Collegian Staff



Today many non-Irish people are looking very Irish, wearing plastic shamrocks and green ribbons, which may be good for a free sip of Irish whiskey or a kiss. But tomorrow the green will be gone and they'll be back to beer.

If you really are Irish, with a little work and $12.50, you can have some fun and greet the next St. Patrick's Day as certified, passport-carrying citizen of the old sod.

Americans of Irish descent can hold dual citizenship and easily pick up an Irish passport at the Republic of Ireland Consulate in Boston.

The passport may be fun to wave around at your friends, but it is also a practical investment for the future.

To qualify for one of the white documents, the applicant must be able to certify that at least one ancestor — bloodline, naturally — was a bonafide citizen of Ireland.

Dig into your family closet and determine if a grandparent was the last "come-over" and then locate the birth or baptismal certificate of your ancestor.

Let's say your maternal grandmother was the latest family import. If she is dead, write to the Registrar General at the Customs House, Dublin One, Ireland, and get a copy of her birth certificate and marriage certificate.

Then get a copy of your mother's birth certificate to prove that she is your grandmother's daughter. Get of copy of your own birth certificate and head for Boston.

At 535 Boylston St., present your documentation, your photograph and $12.50.

And don't worry about standing in line. Vice Consul Sean McDonald said only three people per month apply for an Irish passport.

He said most Irish Americans don't know they can hold dual citizenship or the benefits of having one of the passports.

According to McDonald, the passport holder, as a full Irish citizen, will have few benefits in the United States, but upon traveling there — or what has recently become more attractive, retiring in Ireland — the proof of recently become more attractive, retiring in Ireland — the proof of citizenship allows Americans to buy property, hold jobs, vote and even run for public office — and pay taxes.

McDonald said the U.S. and Ireland have a tax agreement, and people with dual citizenship are taxed bv the nation where they live.

Stockbridge tabs temporary prez

By MARTHA KIMBALL
Collegian Staff

Geoff McDuff was elected Temporary President of the Stockbridge Student Senate and Whitney Buttrick elected Temporary Executive Secretary at the Senate's meeting last night in the Campus Center.

Other business included passing of the senate's budget for next year, and allocation of $100 donation to the Coalition for Alternative Agriculture.

Mike Leonardo, Stockbridge Senate Treasurer, stated the $27,300 Senate budget is based on a Stockbridge student enrollment of 520 reduced from the present 600 students. Leonardo explained, "The proposed increase in the Student Activities Tax Fund (SATF) of the Student Government Association does not affect Stockbridge students. Our fee remains the same; it will not increase."

After Ed Pachico, co-ordinator for the Coalition for Alternative Agriculture and Self Sufficiency, explained the objectives of the coalition the senate voted unanimously to donate $100 for their projects. Many senators proposed that more money be donated, but Leonardo cited the budget could not accommodate a larger sum.

Pachico stated, "Our primary project is reviving the orchard behind Orchard Hill dormitories through pruning and planting trees. We also plan to begin production of a half acre vegetable garden this spring."

The money allocated will fund the purchase of seed and fertilizer.

Other projects include the construction of a methane digester under a $200 grant from the Institute for Man and Environment. The by-products will be used as fertilizer and the energy gained from the methane will power a proposed solar greenhouse. Reopening the Orchard Hill observatory and cutting trails are among other plans.

Pachico stated that Ross Whaley, Dean of the College of Food and Natural Resources, has established a faculty coalition to provide a task force to keep the idea of the student coalition continuing.

The senate unanimously passed a proposal to send a letter of congratulations to the winner of the SGA presidential elections. The senate also passed a proposal that a Stockbridge student hold the position of Senate Reporter and be awarded one graduation credit by the discretion of the Senate Executive Board.

The senate also passed by a 4 vote margin to support the enforcement that smoking be banned by the Administration of the University in classrooms while classes are in session, and in public rooms during public events such as movies or lectures; and smoking be restricted to limited areas in Dining Commons and other eating places on the campus.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Sam Spade

Assistant Issue Editor	Neil Diamond
Music Layout	Lily, Rosemary and the Jack of Hearts
Sports Layout	Baseball Club
High Sticking Tech	"Ace" Bailey
Layout Layout	Irma L[illegible]uce
Cartoon Layout	Poker Allover [illegible] Seven
Collegiate Quarterback Tech	Sonny Sixkiller
"Sea Hunt" Layout	Lloyd Bridges
Prosperous Layout	Pinochle of Success

What you do to Miss Lillian when you have a ten foot pole.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Anthro caucus eyes teaching

By BETH ROSE
Collegian Staff

The Anthropology undergraduate caucus, under the direction of Senior Diane P. Quigley is presently focusing its attention on teaching methods and quality within the department.

The caucus consists of three committees and 35 members.

Along with teaching concerns the caucus is also interested in building student unity in the department, keeping students informed of changes within the major, and dispelling some of the misconceptions about anthropology.

"Some of our major goals," Quigley said, "are to bring students together, and to develop more cohesion in an effort to help each other and the department."

The committees organized to help fulfill these goals are a nesletter committee, resource committee, and a problem solving committee.

The newsletter, a bi-monthly publication is mailed to all on campus majors and is available for others in the office, 215-17 Machmer.

The resource committee's function is to help students learn more about the opportunities and resources available through internships, exchanges, and on campus activities. They also offer a counseling service for students with academic problems.

The third committee, problem solving, does what the name says. They focus on current problems within the department.

"We want the department to keep up with changing needs of students in the area of teaching and careers," Quigley said.

Donald Proulx, department head, is interested in student input and recognizes their interests. "The undergraduates have a strong interest in teaching quality, they are presently involved in helping the faculty to analyze mid-term evaluations in an effort to improve the quality of teaching," he said.

The undergraduate caucus is recognized as an independent group discussing their own interests. Proulx said, "We try not to have any direct influence."

The caucus does have a student representative that meets with the faculty committee, so that everyone is involved, Proulx added.

According to both Quigley and Proulx, anthropology has been a misunderstood major.

"It's more than just rocks and bones," Quigley said, "and we're trying to get people to realize this."

"Its major advantage," Proulx added, "is that it is a field that overlaps just about any discipline...we feel that people are better prepared in anthropology because of the cross culture study we give, people become more tolerant and aware of problems in the world."

Correction

The headline on the flasher case on page three of Tuesday's Collegian was incorrect. The suspect, as specified in the article, was arraigned on counts of annoying and accosting the opposite sex and not charges of indecent exposure as the headline suggests.

Chalk one up for Irving Crane

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

A hushed crowd watched in amazement and disbelief as pocket billiards champion Irving Crane ran one ball after another on the pool table during the first of two exhibitions held in the Student Union Ballroom (SUB) yesterday.

The first exhibition began at 3 p.m. with a match between Crane and Bruce Kokernak, second runner-up in the UMass pocket billiards tournament held last year.

The players competed in a 150 point straight pool game.

Crane played with a style and confidence afforded by years of experience while Paul Lucchiase, president of the Billiard Congress of America, called out the balls and the run for the audience of 300.

After an initial 15 ball run, Crane stepped aside for Kokernak. All eyes turned to the young law school hopeful who would spend periods of time in lounging position during the course of the match, waiting for his distinguished opponent to falter on the table.

Kokernak rallied after four 'no score' calls to deliver an eight ball run with a smile for Crane.

With an occasional pep talk to the cue ball, and pleasant quips for the crowd, Crane ended the match with a final score of 150 to 40.

Crane demonstrated exhibition pool shots for the second half of afternoon's program. "They're all easy when they go in," said Crane as many people jumped to their feet to applaud the seemingly incredible shots.

Questions followed the exhibition and Crane explained various techniques. "Trick shots aren't nearly as hard to execute as long straight shots," Crane said.

When asked if he felt he could still improve his game after 50 years of playing experience, Crane replied, "I have an open mind when I play in a tournament; a player improves by observation, execution is secondary, it's learning to take the right shots that wins the game."

Crane began playing pool at age 11 when his father bought a 'toy' table. "But I showed such a marked ability that my father bought a regulation size table for me." He continued with a smile, "My father knew what he was doing, with a table in our home he would always know where I was, off the streets."

As dusk approached, Crane and Luchiase left for dinner at the Top of the Campus, while Bruce Kokernak returned to the game room of the Student Union.

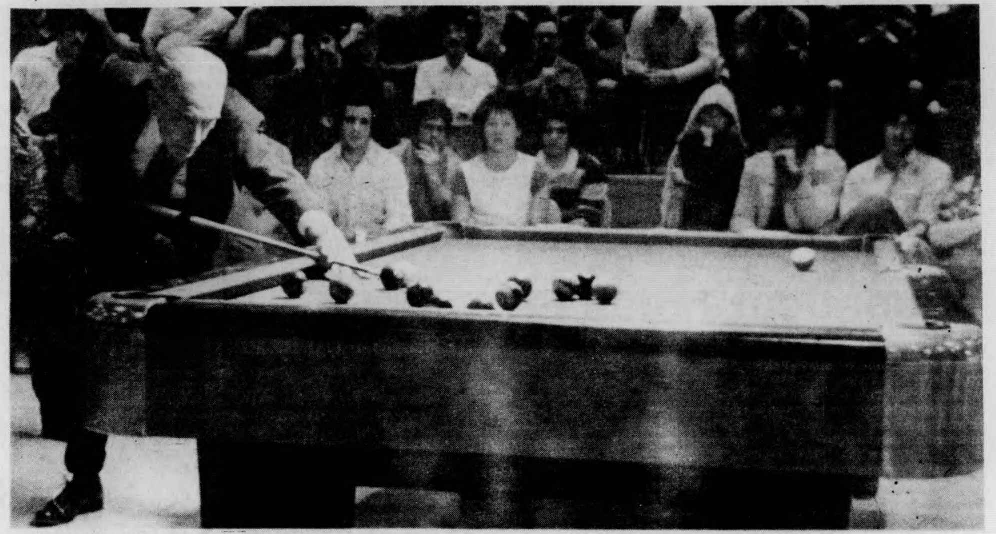
Kokernak admitted to being nervous once he stepped up to the table, "I hit the balls a lot harder than normal."

Kokernak was pleased with his showing on the table, and said he expected to get a score of only 30 or so. A dedicated pool player since childhood, Kokernak explained certain shots become almost natural after years of repetition.

He was very impressed with Crane's demonstration of ability, and sat for a few minutes commenting on the champion's shots and warm personality before departing for class.

At 8 p.m. Crane returned to the SUB where he defeated number one University pool player Mark Dallas with a score of 150 to 18, during an evening exhibition that mirrored the afternoon's format.

The nineteen year old business major appeared far more irritable than Kokernak and snapped, "Don't laugh" to the large crowd as a mid-game score of 98-10 was announced by Luchiase.



Seven time world billiard champ, Irving Crane, shooting pool yesterday in the SUB. (Staff photo by Greg Virgilio)

UM workers get Ways, Means

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

The Senate Ways and Means Committee yesterday approved a deficiency budget which includes $3.1 million to fund negotiated salary increases for UMass employes.

Committee Chairperson James A. Kelly said that under collective bargaining law, the state has an obligation to finance these hikes. Gov. Michael S. Dukakis asked higher education institutions to finance the increases out of already-approved budgets.

Kelly said the governor's proposal "would be in violation of the spirit of collective bargaining."

The governor has said he has $32 million he can use to finance salary increases for state employees for the rest of the current fiscal year, although he has not yet released the monies. After July 1, the agencies would be expected to fund the salary increases under Dukakis' plan.

University trustees have approved five collective bargaining agreements in the past two months with the following groups.

—the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Amherst campus chapter

—the Massachusetts Employees Association and their UMass chapter

—The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Worcester campus chapter

—the Maintenance Trades Council of New England, Boston campus chapter

—the International Brotherhood of Police Officers.

All of the agreements stipulate the governor must approve and transfer sufficient funds to meet the costs of the agreements.

Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery, in a telephone interview last night said the committee's plan is one of the ways to fund the collective bargaining agreements which the governor has not yet funded.

The Ways and Means Committee allocated a total of $8 million to fund negotiated pay hikes at all state higher education institutions, giving the UMass—Amherst campus $2.1 million, the largest single share.

In addition to the $8 million allocation, the package includes $1.5 million for snow and ice control and funds for additional probation officers in several county court systems. The total proposal of $10.9 million is expected to be debated in the senate next week.

Among other schools to receive funding are the University of Lowell at $549,000 and Southeastern Massachusetts University at $388,782.

It is not clear at this time if UMass faculty will be eligible for a share of Dukakis' $32 million, if the governor releases the money.

A February agreement between Dukakis and the UMass trustees stated non-union employees would receive small salary increases. At that time, the faculty had not voted to unionize.

★ Hill, Northeast key for Hite, Batiste evidence." The freeze was taken off both campaigns' posters.

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

On the first day of voting Tuesday the Collegian printed a hotly contested endorsement of the Batiste-Hite campaign. Foley and Tyson attacked the election-day endorsement as the result of political cosiness between the Batiste-Hite campaign and the Collegian.

Within hours of the Collegian endorsement, Foley and Tyson released a leaflet denouncing the move.

Although Southwest has the largest number of voters, 1710, only 30.5 per cent of the area population, showed at the polls. Batiste-Hite carried the area by a slim margin over Foley-Tyson: 788—761. Pooler-Weissman finished a distant third at 104 votes.

Commuter turnout was lowest of all areas, with only 788 of nearly 8000 voters coming to the polls (10 per cent area voters). Foley-Tyson garnered 391 votes; Batiste-Hite trailed with 289 votes; Pooler-Weissman with 64 votes.

The Greek turnout was very low. Out of 120 ballots cast (15 per cent area voters); Batiste-Hite had 92; Foley-Tyson, 21, and Pooler-Weissman, 0.

The Central turnout was high, with 783 votes cast (42.3 per cent). Foley-Tyson carried the area with 380 votes, followed by Batiste-Hite with 344, and Pooler-Weissman with 24.

Northeast proved to be a Batiste-Hite stronghold, with 421 of the area's 565 voters (42.6 per cent area voters) supporting that ticket. Foley-Tyson trailed a distant second with 123 votes, Pooler-Weissman got 12.

Sylvan turnout was disappointingly low, with only 359 voters (27.6 per cent) turning out to vote. Foley-Tyson had 181 votes, Batiste-Hite, 144; Pooler-Weissman 18.

Orchard Hill saw a strong turnout with 527 residents voting, (42.5 per cent area voters). Batiste-Hite had 320 votes; Foley-Tyson, 153 votes; Pooler-Weissman 38 votes.

The Batiste-Hite team emphasized four major issues in its campaign. They promised to improve communications between students, the University and the state legislature, to fight against cuts in the University budget, to maintain and improve student services, and to improve academic standards.

Specifically Batiste-Hite said their tactics will revolve around putting pressure on key Whitmore officials to allot money to improve Whitmore controlled student services such as financial aid and check cashing. They plan to pressure the state legislature on the budget by encouraging letter writing and personal contact with representatives. They also plan to lobby for passage of House Bill H1378, which would authorize a study commission to investigate the possibility of student unionization.

Student arrested in CC rift

By PATTI KELLEHER
Collegian Staff

A disturbance outside the Campus Center on the night of March 15 resulted in the arrest and charging of a UMass student with disorderly conduct.

Department of Public Safety reports state that Peter D. Huston was seated on the hood of a parked police cruiser and had to be instructed to remove himself from the vehicle. The subject resisted and reacted belligerently. The arresting officer determined Huston had been drinking and took him into protective custody.

A calculator, money and change, valued at over $500 were stolen from two cars in Lot 34 on March 16. The break-ins occurred between 2-4 p.m.

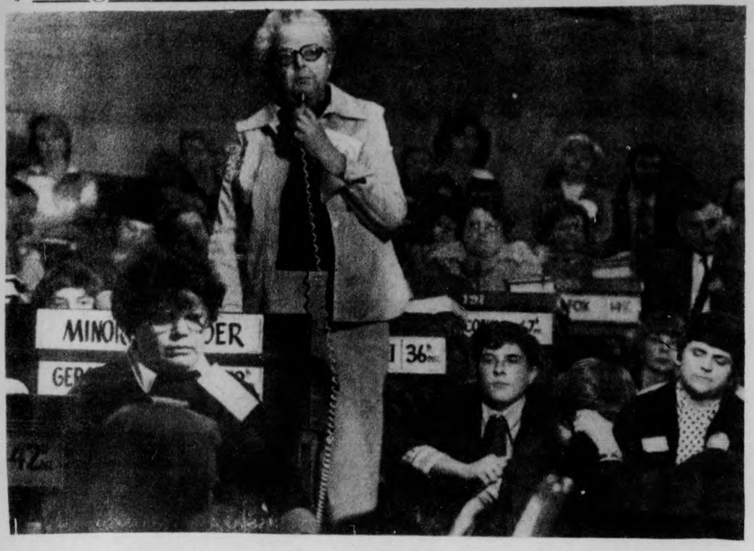
Articles valued at $200 were stolen from a room in Webster dormitory sometime during the night of March 14-15. The room had apparently been locked. There are no suspects at this time.

A similar theft occurred in Moore House in Southwest on March 13. $30 in cash was taken from a room reported to have been locked. The money was taken sometime during the night or the morning of the 14th. There are no suspects in this case.

A vent window was broken on a vehicle parked in Lot 13 during the night of March 14-15. The damage was valued at $30.

Similar damage occurred in an incident in the Campus Center Garage on March 13. A vehicle parked on the second level was broken into at approximately 8:30 p.m. at an estimated damage of $10. No suspects have been found.

On March 10, a bicycle was stolen from Hamlin dormitory. It was valued at $150. The cable-type padlock restraining the bike was snapped and removed. The police have no suspects.



HARTFORD, Conn: Rep. Dorothy C. Goodwin, D-Mansfield, an emeritus associate professor who described herself as an "old-maid" speaks out at a public hearing at the Capitol in Hartford to oppose a bill that would rescind Connecticut's approval of E.R.A. She said she has been in the world of business most of her life and has felt the discrimination. (UPI)

Connecticut holds ERA hearing

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Hundreds of women wanting the Connecticut legislature to rescind its approval of the Equal Rights Amendment had their day but little chance of success at the Capitol yesterday.

Supporters of the ERA, not wanting to take any chances, also bused in supporters and more than 800 persons jammed the building for the hearing on the thorny question.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso and both Democratic and Republican legislative leaders strongly favor the ERA. The hearing was held only because lawmakers favoring the amendment decided the rescind move deserved an airing. But they insisted if the bill makes it out of committee they would vote against on the floor.

Those lawmakers had little to worry about because Sen. Wayne Baker, D-Danbury, who cochairs the Government Administration and Policy Committee, said his panel had killed it once and would do so again.

"Maybe these people can turn the votes around, but I don't think so," Baker said.

For the most part the hundreds of persons massed for the hearing got along fine, with only occasional cheers or boos from the crowd to remarks.

Women on opposite sides of the issues — their positions evident from the buttons and signs they were wearing — talked peacefully with each other.

Gloria Schaffer, the secretary of the state, told lawmakers the ERA was not the threat to family tradition its opponents claimed.

"The ERA is not an assault on the family. Its passage would in no way negate the values of motherhood, nor would it violate constitutional rights to privacy or force women out of the home," she said.

Alleen Stanton of Madison, a leader of the "Stop ERA" group, said the amendment would give the U.S. Supreme Court power to rule on the most basic family issues.

"We don't want the Supreme Court to have that power. We don't like the way they've been ruling. They're way too liberal," she said.

SFC grants 'year of grace'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee voted yesterday to give one year of grace to 1 million Americans hit with a surprise tax increase this year when they discovered the sick pay exclusion had been abolished.

Another 100,000 Americans working overseas also would be given another year before there is a reduction in their special income exclusion.

A Treasury Department official said, however, it is too late to correct the problem by the April 15 filing date even if Congress goes along with the committee quickly. Everyone will have to file separately for a refund, he said.

In a partial victory for President Carter, the committee voted to accept part of his proposed business tax incentives — a 2 per cent increase in the investment tax credit — while preserving a form of the House jobs tax credit which Carter opposed.

Under a plan by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., businesses could choose either the extra investment credit or a credit of 25 per cent of the first $6,250 of wages for new employes.

Astronomers make significant discovery

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Separate teams of astronomers, in a major discovery, have sighted an apparent ring of small satellites circling the far-off planet Uranus, an astronomer said yesterday.

Astronomers for centuries believed that Saturn was the only ringed planet.

"I think this is the most significant discovery in the solar system made by observation from Earth since the discovery of Pluto in 1930," said Dr. Brian Marsden, director of the International Astronomical Union's central telgram bureau.

Marsden said there could be further discoveries about the apparent belt, "now that telescopes know where to look."

The observation was first made from the U.S. space agency's Kuiper Airborne Observatory on a flight southeast of Perth, Australia March 10 by a team led by Dr. James Elliot of Cornell University.

Separate groups of astronomers led by Dr. Robert Millis of the Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., and J.C. Bhattacharyya at Bavalur, India, made similar observations from ground-based telescopes near Perth and in India.

Ellic , observing Uranus pass in front of a star, noted about 10 periodic losses of the star's light, indicating something around Uranus was blocking the view from earth.

Uranus, the seventh planet out from the sun and 1.6 billion miles from Earth, is known to have five moons but scientists said they could not have caused the blackouts.

Marsden said, "I deduced the belt was in fact circular and in the plane of Uranus' equator." He estimated the suspected belt is more than 4,000 miles wide and 11,000-16,000 miles from Uranus's surface.

While Saturn's ring is composed of relatively small objects and "dust," Marsden said, Uranus's ring seems to be made of "relatively large objects, tens of kilometers up to hundreds of kilometers."

"Any analogy that one could draw between uranus and Saturn could tell us a lot about how planets form and evolve," Marsden said. "This has a strong bearing on the way the planets originated."

Marsden said the finding "has made it all the more imperative that NASA send a mission to Uranus."

America's first spacecraft that might explore Uranus are scheduled for launch this summer from Cape Canaveral. The television probes, recently named Voyagers 1 and 2, will pass by Jupiter in 1979, Saturn in 1981 and may fly on to get the first closeup look at Uranus and possibly even Neptune 12 years after launch.

Revision of FDA regulations predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Herbert Ley, former chief of the Food and Drug Administration, prediced yesterday the announced ban on saccharin will result in revision of federal law to allow either that or some other artificial sweetener to remain on the market.

The FDA said it welcomed Ley's comments and "agree with him on the need to re-examine the law that determines how the FDA regulates food safety. The entire Delaney Clause in all its applications is a proper subject for public discussion and debate."

Ley, at a news conference sponsored by the Grocery Manufacturers of America, said Congress probably will revise the Delaney Clause in a matter of months. The clause requires the government to keep any amount whatsoever of any proven cancer-causing substance out of the food supply.

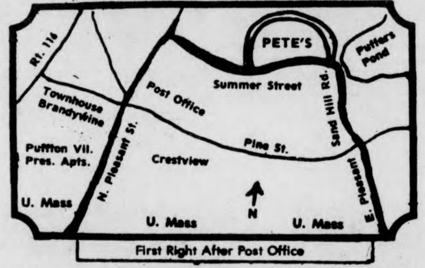
Critics of the provision have argued that detection methods are much more sophisticated than when the law was written, and some small amounts of carcinogens, while detectable, still may be safe.

The FDA announced last Wednesday its intent to ban saccharin from food and drink. But such action cannot be carried out until July at the earliest, after public comment — which already is pouring in.

"I've never seen anything like it," said an FDA spokesman. "The calls range from diabetics and people with weight problems almost plaintively asking what they can do now, all the way to the zealots demanding that they have total freedom to decide what they're going to put in their bodies and the government should get out of their lives."

Ley said the law should be revised to make it reflect the philosophy of the Clean Air Act and the Toxic Substances Control Act, both of which permit certain tolerances for harmful matters in the environment.

PETE'S PACKAGE STORE
144 SUMMER ST., N. AMHERST
Why fight traffic? - Easy Parking
TELEPHONE — 256-6828



Schlitz Bud. Miller $1.75 6 pk.
Irelands Harp Lager Beer $1.99 4 pk.
Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer $4.99 cs. & dp. 12 oz. ret.
PROMPT — FREE DELIVERY
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors.
Open 84 hrs./wk. to serve you!
Monday thru Saturday 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

GET THE LEAD OUT
pencils, pens, or crayons just have the final copy typewritten, doublespaced, at 60 inch margins, and on the desk of Below the Salt by 6:30 PM MONDAY, MARCH 28, 1977 for consideration in our special April FICTION ISSUE PUBLISH OR FOREVER HOLD YOUR PIECE!
Below The Salt
weekly fine arts magazine
113 CAMPUS CENTER
545-3500

Abortions will be discouraged

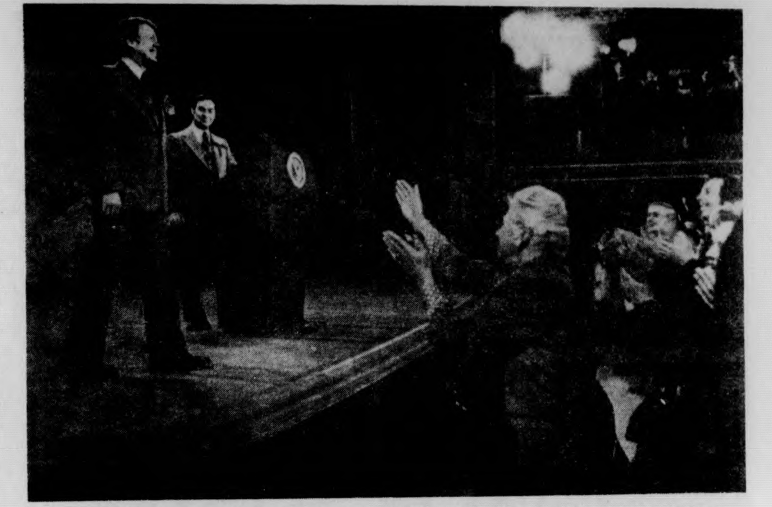
CLINTON, Mass. (UPI) — President Carter said last night he will make sure in his administration, "there is a government attitude to discourage abortion as much as possible" and encourage birth control.

The President told a questioner at town meeting here "I have to abide by the laws of the land as interpreted by the courts" in dealing with the controversial issue.

He was applauded so vigorously for his answer he was prompted to remark, "I think that's the first time I've ever given an answer on abortion and got applauded. I always give the same answer but about half the time," audiences are not so receptive, he said.

Carter said Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare "feels the same way I do against abortions, and I think he has done everything possible within the law to prevent federal funds to be used to pay for abortions."

CLEARANCE SALE
FRYE Bags (6 only) reg. $54.00 SALE $33.00
FRYE Duffle (4 only) Reg. $58.00 SALE $35.00
Leather Caps (8 only) Reg. $15.00 SALE $10.00
Leather Jackets (10 only) Reg. $135.00 SALE $70.00
Sheepskin HAT (1 only Reg. $15.00 SALE $5.00
Sheepskin COAT (1 only) Reg. $375.00 SALE $275.00
FRYE™ BOOTS Reduced! 102 only
Heartfelt Leather
103 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Mass.
New Hours: 10 - 5:30 — Mon. - Sat.



CLINTON, Mass.: Wearing his usual big smile, President Jimmy Carter acknowledges standing ovation from the people of Clinton as he arrived at the town hall to take part in their town meeting. (UPI)

Carter visits Clinton

CLINTON, Mass. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter stopped the show repeatedly at town hall yesterday night by telling cheering, applauding New England townsfolk he'll cut unemployment, force able welfare recipients to work and oppose federal spending for abortion.

Carter's main message to an old fashioned town meeting was that he was here to listen to grassroots America's problems — and the main message of his audience came roaring back in continuous applause, cheers and shouts of "We love you Jimmy!"

The 850 people jammed into the yellow-brick town hall also reacted warmly when he called the creation of the state of Israel "one of the greatest acts of the world's nations" and even when he told a young soldier he can't promise that Ft. Devens, a military facility near Boston, will not be partially closed down.

In fact, it seemed Carter could say or do little wrong for a town obviously thrilled by his presence, and that the 90 minute town meeting appearance would prove as popular a move for the President as his earlier radio phone-in program.

Secret Service spokesmen said security men received "a bomb threat" against the hall while Carter was speaking, but were "not concerned" because the area had been thoroughly checked beforehand.

Thousands lined the streets outside the town hall to cheer him as he drove in for the 7 p.m. town meeting. They applauded him again when he left to spend the evening at the private home of an accountant who worked at a Clinton beer firm.

We need certain college majors to become Air Force lieutenants.
Mechanical and civil engineering major . . . aerospace and aeronautical engineering majors . . . electronics . . . computer science . . . mathematics majors. The Air Force is looking for young men and women with academic majors such as these. If you're majoring in one of these areas, you may be eligible for either the two-year or the four-year Air Force ROTC program. And to help with the college bills, two, three, and four-year scholarships are available. These scholarships pay tuition, textbooks, lab fees, and $100 tax-free dollars a month. The Air Force ROTC program leads to an Air Force commission, an excellent starting salary, challenging work (with some of the finest equipment in the world), promotions, responsibility, graduate education and much more.
Find out today about the benefits of the Air Force ROTC program. It's a great way to serve your country and to help pay for your college education.
Call Major Richardson at 545-2437
Air Force ROTC

the EQUINOX
natural foods restaurant
All Things Must Pass... Come In And Enjoy The Best In Natural Food Dining During Our Last Few Weeks.
Closing April 2
Sunday Brunch/11:00-2:00
Dinner/4:00-8:00
Tuesday thru Sat./11:30-3:00
Dinner/5:30-9:00
51 N. Pleasant Amherst 256-0240

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY
at
POOR RICHARDS
THURSDAY
Beat the Clock
8-9 50¢ 9-10 75¢ 10-11 $1.00
ALL DRINKS

THE F.B.I. DIDN'T WANT YOU TO SEE...
UNDERGROUND
A film by Emile de Antonio
Mary Lampson
and Haskell Wexler
WITH THE WEATHER UNDERGROUND
Billy Ayers
Kathy Boudin
Bernardine Dohrn
Jeff Jones
Cathy Wilkerson
THURSDAY MARCH 17 · SUB 7·9·11 $1.00

spend your
st. patrick's day

thursday
march 17

with the great pretenders

1.00 cover at the hatch

Cuban involvement in Zaire feared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials said yesterday there is good reason to believe Cubans are leading African rebel forces in Zaire even though U.S. intelligence says it has no "hard evidence" of that.

The officials, who declined to be identified for publication, cited the Zaire situation as one indication Havana shows no sign of meeting President Carter's key conditions for resuming fullscale U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said in congressional testimony Wednesday that Cuba now seems "willing to talk" on two smaller-scale issues: territorial fishing rights and renegotiation of the antiskyjacking pact nullified by Premier Fidel Castro.

But the department officials said that while Cuba is willing to discuss these "technical" matters, it shows no sign of changing policy in two areas Carter made preconditions for restoring full diplomatic relations: foreign military involvement and respect for human rights at home.

Vance said U.S. intelligence has found no "hard evidence" to support Zaire's claim that invaders from neighboring Angola are led by Cubans stationed in the Marxist African state. The United States has sent Zaire an estimated $2 million in emergency aid.

Rhodes calls foreign policy 'disaster'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has made a "disaster" out of America's foreign policy and can best fix it by keeping quiet, House Minority Leader John Rhodes said yesterday.

"In two months he's alienated more nations than most presidents do in four years," Rhodes said. "It does add up to a disaster."

The Arizona Republican said Carter's greatest errors have occurred in the Middle East but he also has followed a disastrous path of foreign policy in Latin America and Africa.

"I guess that's just most of the world," Rhodes said.

In Latin America, Rhodes said, Carter "has succeeded in alienating Argentina, Uraguay and Brazil" with his pronouncements on human rights. These countries, he said, "have been American friends for many, many years."

Rhodes said Carter's mistakes on human rights stem "from the way the whole subject was brought up and broached. He took a 'you do this or we'll do that' stand. If some other nation had done that to the United States, I think we'd be very indignant."

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Cheeseburgers, Fish Cones; Basics: Mixed Beans au Gratin, Fish Cones.

DINNER — SPECIAL ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER: Boiled Corned Beef with Steamed Cabbage Wedges, Roast Chicken with Bread Stuffing; Basics: Roast Chicken with Bread Stuffing, Vegetable Pot Pie.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Torpedoes, Tuna Noodle Casserole; Basics: Barley Soybean Casserole, Tuna Noodle Casserole.

DINNER — Salisbury Steak with Sweet and Sour Sauce, Cubed Steak with Sauteed Onions, Fried Fish; Basics: Fried Fish, Fiesta Rice and Cheese.

Draft pardon voted down in House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, by a surprise vote of 220 to 186, went on record yesterday against President Carter's pardon of Vietnam-era draft evaders.

The action came in adopting an amendment to a $27.9 billion supplemental appropriation.

The amendment, introduced by Rep. John Myers, R-Ind., says no funds in the act may be used by the administration to dismiss any pending indictments for violations of the draft law between Aug. 4, 1964, and March 28, 1973.

It also says no funds could be used to terminate investigations of draft evasion during this period or to readmit such draft evaders to the United States.

Carter, on Jan. 21, the day after his inauguration, pardoned all draft evaders during this period except those who committed acts of violence.

"The pardon stands," Myers told UPI after the vote, but he said his amendment — if approved by the Senate — would prevent the administration from spending money to carry it out. For example, he said, the salary of a Justice Department official could not be used to sign a petition to dismiss an indictment.

Myers said the amendment might also prevent the Immigration and Naturalization Service from processing draft evaders back into the country.

Others said the amendment might have no practical effect and be only a test of sentiment. Technically, the vote could be taken over as long as the House is still considering the bill, possibly with a different result.

Paloton

B.R.S.
Bicycle Rejuvination Series (Wheels)
March 22 to April 2

Look for our specials every two weeks all spring! Each special will deal with a specific component area of the bike (wheels, drive trains, seats, accessories, etc.). These are absolutely the best buys in area, and all quantities are limited, so come in early. It's going to be a great year for biking. (This ad must accompany all sales).

	Regular	SALE PRICE
1). Tubes — (all sizes)	2.50	.99 ea.
2.) Tires —
27x1¼ 10 speed Blk wall	4.75	1.99 ea.
27x1¼ 10 speed gumwall	6.00	2.99 ea.
All other sizes, Blk wall	4.50	2.49 ea.
Moto cross "knobbies"	4.50	2.99 ea.
3.) Sew ups —
Hutchinson Super-Sprint (Italy) (min. 2 tires)	13.95	9.00 ea.
Hutchinson Cross TR (Italy) (min. 2 tires)	13.95	10.95 ea.
Clement Veltro (min. 2 tires)	14.00	10.00 ea.
Clement Seta 250 grm. (min. 4 tires)	30.00	23.00 ea.
Hutchinson Krono 200 grm. (min. 4 tires)	18.00	10.00 ea.
4.) High Pressure tires — (wire ons 80 lbs. and up)
IRC Feather Flite 90 lb. (min. 2 tires)	7.00	4.50 ea.
Michlin Elan 90 lb. (min. 2 tires)	8.50	5.00 ea.
IRC Racer 85 lb. (min. 2 tires)	6.50	3.99 ea.
Silver Star 90 lb. (min. 2 tires)	7.00	3.99 ea.
5.) Hubs —
Ten (10) speed standard	14.00	4.99 ea.
Q—R Shimano (min. 2 hubs)	13.50	8.99 ea.
Shimano Dura Ace (min. 2 hubs)	Special	30.00 ea.
Campagnolo N.R. (min. 2 hubs)	Special	39.00 ea.
6.) Rims —
27x1¼ Alloy Touring (min. 2 rims)	10.50	8.00 ea.
Tubulars 700CC Racing Mavic	8.50	4.50 ea.
All sizes steel rims	5.50	3.50
7.) Misc. —
Patch kits	.45	.25
Rim cement	1.10	.60
Rim strips	.45	.30
Spokes — 100 to a box any size - stainless	14.50	9.00

1 E. Pleasant St,
AMHERST
549-6904

15 State St.,
NORTHAMPTON
584-1016

Open 10-6, Fri. 10-9; Open Sat.

THE HEBRIDES

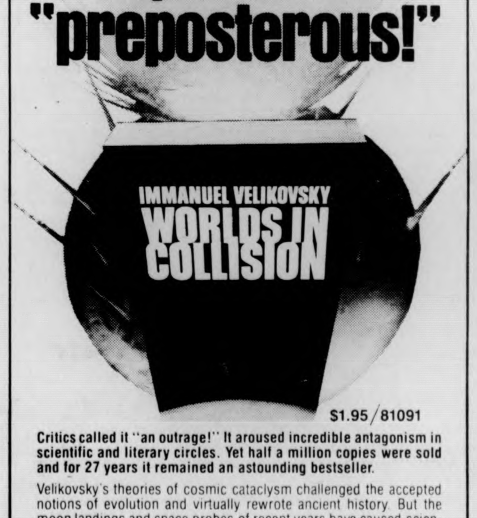
This summer cruise and explore Scotland's remote and lovely islands. Write or phone for brochures for this and other unique tours: i.e., Galapogos Islands, Inca Trek in Peru, Swiss Safari, etc.

OONAGH
CHAMBERS

New England Representative
Hanns Ebensten Travel, Inc.
18 Whiting Farm Road
Branford, Conn. 06405
(203) 488-6433

Associate
Crossroads Travel
Old Lyme, Conn. 06371
(203) 434-5757

Once rejected as "preposterous!"



$1.95/81091

Critics called it "an outrage!" It aroused incredible antagonism in scientific and literary circles. Yet half a million copies were sold and for 27 years it remained an astounding bestseller.

Velikovsky's theories of cosmic cataclysm challenged the accepted notions of evolution and virtually rewrote ancient history. But the moon landings and space probes of recent years have caused scientists to take another look at Velikovsky—today, many of his ideas are accepted as fact. Worlds in Collision was found lying open on Einstein's desk the day he died . . . the cause célèbre once thought to be unbelievable is now seen as ahead of its time.

Worlds in Collision has been unavailable in paperback for years. Now, finally, here it is.

FROM POCKET BOOKS

APPEARING
TONITE
FAT
AND Clean Living

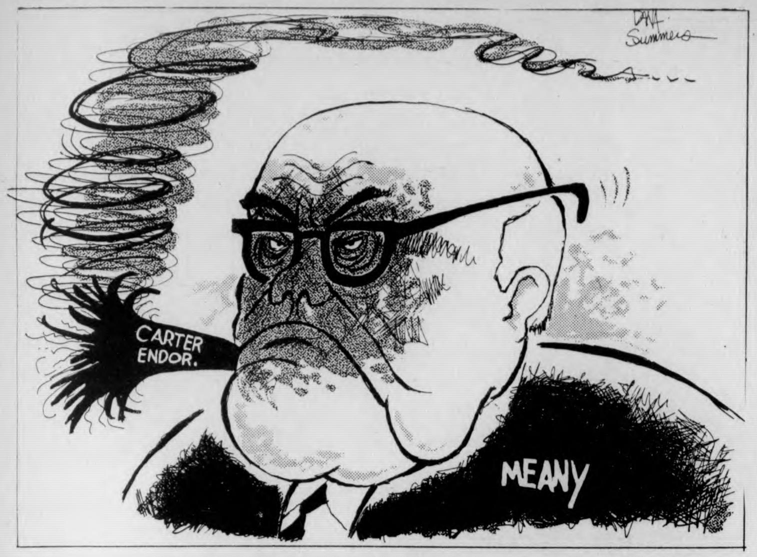
FRI. & SAT.
James Montgomery
At
The rusty nail Inn

Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937



letters

Negligence could spell tragedy

To the Editor:

Many people are aware that there was a fire in room 1007 of John Quincy Adams tower in the early hours of Saturday morning March 12. On information received from John Findley, Southwest Area Management Coordinator and Keith Hoyle, University Fire & Safety Officer, the fire was caused by a bed frame lying on the floor on top of an activated extension cord. The bed frame chafed the cord, resulting in a short circuit, which then resulted in the mattress catching fire.

You may not be aware, however, of a related issue of special urgency. Due to a false fire alarm having been turned in earlier in the evening, the Head of Residence, Mike McKinney had real difficulty in convincing the residents this was "for real" and they should evacuate the dormitory immediately. Mike feels "the absolute automatic response to a fire alarm should be to leave the building immediately. People should not spend valuable evacuation time deliberating the alarm's authenticity." This automatic response will not follow, obviously, if a few misguided individuals consider turning in false fire alarms to be a joke.

This practice must be stopped. The Quincy episode is but another example of the need for residents to be responsible for their actions and for the actions of their guests. This responsibility also should include reporting and testifying against offenders for the safety of all.

Penalties for activating a false alarm of fire, according to Chapter 269, Section 13, of the Massachusetts General Laws, include fines or imprisonment, and in addition, the University Endangering Behavior Act will allow staff to remove students from the University.

Also, according to the Fire & Safety Officer, two of the three Quincy elevators had been damaged earlier in the evening and at the time of the fire only one was operating.

Will people have to die in a dormitory fire disaster before residents realize the seriousness of these destructive and dangerous acts? Ask yourself the next time you feel like taking it out on an elevator or pulling the fire alarm — IS IT WORTH IT?!! Or, if you witness others doing these things, ask yourself where your responsibility lies — to keep silent about the fools endangering your safety, or to yourself and the rest of the population of your dormitory.

David M. Todd, Master-Director
Southwest Residential College

Abuse of freedom?

To the Editor:

With increasing fury, I have read Dick Janssen's "What's Next" in the Daily Collegian the past few weeks. I cannot believe that such a sexist (should I dare say, cartoonist?) has continued to publish his "piece de résistence" in the Collegian.

With the 3-15 publication he has managed not only to offend women, but blacks, gays, non-English speaking people and the handicapped in one frame of his atrocity. He has referred to the above, as a mere quota to fill rather than a step from the blackness of prejustice and misunderstanding. I could also add that the Whitmore Administration might also be justly offended by his remarks, insinuating that they are just "quota fillers" and not an affirmative action employer.

My dismay not only comes from Janssen's cartoon but from the continuance of its publication by Collegian editors. Has past statements of liberalisms in support of oppressed minorities been a token gesture? And when the Collegian's stand comes to a test, they not only falter but appear as an open invitation.

I hope the Collegian will make its stand clear and firm soon. Then I will be able to make a personal judgement of the appeal of the Collegian to the reading public and to make a recommendation as to the Collegian's maintenance or elimination of being truly representative (or not so) of the needs and wants of the UMass student body and the Collegian's general reading public.

As Barbara Stack (another critic of Janssen's, Letters to the Editor 3-15) most aptly put it "OPPRESSION IS NOT A MATTER OF BAD TASTE, FREEDOM OF THE PRESS IS NOT FREEDOM TO OPPRESS". Now, I believe it's up to you, Collegian, "What's Next".

Walter B. Hurd

As the 'sparks' fly...

To the Editor:

An an individual student, I wish to express support for Dean of Students William Field's decisive action in dealing with Mr. Albert Sparks and Baroque Enterprises. I think it is important to note, as Field did in last week's Collegian, that Mr. Sparks is not a student. Field did express willingness to meet with any real student who might be involved with Baroque Enterprises. This is an issue separate from that of pornography itself. Personally, I don't believe any outside person or group should be able to get away with using sham student organizations to rip off campus resources and facilities for their own gain.

Michael Pill

Congratulations, Judy

To the Editor:

Congratulations to Judy Van Handle, a very fine sports columnist. I've been enjoying her fine style of writing all year. But after her baseball article of March 15, which I can relate to totally, I felt my appreciation was overdue. It is amazing she can write about sports so well being a girl I mean [only kidding!]. Keep those articles flowing.

Arnold M. Fischer Jr.

martha newcomb

Tuesday last

The "Ides of March" were upon us Tuesday and, making no allusion to Caesar, it was a day for a pierce through the heart for this writer. On Tuesday, I saw two documentary films on Nazi concentration camps. My experience went beyond the obvious visual and emotional horror to something that's rather hard to describe. It was and is something akin to an irrational and intense curiosity.

Why and how could something like this have happened? These atrocities were perpetrated just a few years before I was born, yet the visions of World War II that I've been handed down are mostly those of glorious MGM; Alan Ladd, Judy Garland and Gene Kelly "Bringing the Boys Back Home" movies. We all played "war" as kids, but we never played "concentration camp".

Tuesday's Globe had an article entitled, "What do young Germans know about Hitler?" The article was taken from 100 essays by children in their last year of grammer school in Germany today on what they heard about Hitler. Most of these essays showed glaring ignorance about their recent history, but worse, many essays revealed that parents toast to him (Hitler), or "the neighbors still wish that he were back".

On Tuesday night I read a study by a social psychologist named Stanley Milgram in the '60s on how the method of extermination in Nazi Germany was implemented. Milgram set out to prove that somehow Germans are different and more willing to bow their will to authority than Americans.

The experiment was set up to be done first here, then taken to Germany for comparison. But he never took it to Germany. He took it no further than Bridgeport, Connecticut. "The first finding, also the most unexpected and disturbing finding, was that we Americans are an obedient people: not blindly obedient, and not blissfully obedient, just obedient. 'I found so much obedience,' says Milgram softly, a little sadly, 'I hardly saw the need of taking the experiment to Germany'."

Milgram's experiment made me wonder about the extent to which, as an individual, I am willing to deny my will and integrity to authority. What hypothetical situations could I dream up that would demand my involvement in an atrocity? It is very scary.

It is so easy in America today to be blissfully ignorant of atrocities occurring internationally or right in our back yards.

It is so easy in America today to be blissfully ignorant of atrocities occurring internationally or right in our back yards. It is not the hands of the authority figures that carry out these deeds, it is people like ourselves that have been only "obedient".

When Francis Gary Powers was being tried by a Soviet military tribunal after his U-2 spy plane was shot down, the presiding judge asked if he had thought about the possibility that his flight might have provoked a war. Powers replied, "The people who sent me should think of these things. My job was to carry out orders. I don't think it was my responsibility to make such decisions."

If humanity is to survive, we must first develop in ourselves an integrity and respect for the rights of others and second defend these by denying the authority figures when they don't display the same integrity and respect.

> No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a > piece of the Continent, a part of the main; if a Clod > be washed away by the Sea, Europe is the less, as > well as if a Promontory were, as well as if a Mannor > of thy friends or of thy own were; any man's > death diminishes me, because I am in> volved in Mankind; And therefore > never send to know for > whom the bell tolls;
> It tolls for thee.
>
> John Donne

Martha Newcomb is a Collegian Columnist.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

william a mills

Dream house

Editor's Note: William A. Mills, a UMass junior, is interning at the Taos Pueblo Day School in Taos, New Mexico. He is a contributing columnist to the Collegian.

TAOS, New Mexico — A deserted, dilapidated villa stands feebly alone on desert terrain about 200 miles southeast of Taos, between Vaughn and Roswell, New Mexico.

It is the only edifice between the two New Mexican cities — cities divided only by 150 miles of sand and brush.

It towers bravely over the cacti, the sagebrush, and the sand dunes. It has withstood countless storms that plague the area annually. The road stretch is often closed because of the dangerous, eye-irritating storms.

Maybe a century ago, explorers made home there. Maybe, at one time, a village thrived there, and this villa is the only sign of past civilization. Maybe it was a Pony Express stopover. Maybe a foreigner to the land, one ignorant of the desert climate, lived there.

In any case, only desert wildlife live there now. The unattached shutters clap during inclement weather. The wind whistles through the paneless windows, and howls through its crannies. Sand collects in its corners.

The floors squeak from strangers' footsteps, the shingles swing like a clock's pendulum.

I love this villa.

Of course, it isn't what most people would consider a dreamhouse. But, ironically, that's exactly what I would call the house. One could dream of what it used to be and, more important, one could dream of what it could be.

I love this villa because of its uniqueness.

It symbolizes non-conformity, individualism, courageousness.

And how many UMass students can claim that they're involved in a program with these kinds of attributes? It seems students today do simply what OSCAR tells them to do. It seems students today attend classes only and do not get involved in student programs.

Yes, UMass has many unique, non-conforming programs available to students.

For instance, the program I am so proud to be a part of manifests this idea.

The New Mexico Cross-Cultural Exchange Program (CCEP) offers students complete freedom from traditional classroom instruction, while, at the same time, requires responsibility and dedication.

This program aims to aid Native American teachers burdened with the task of readying Native American gradeschoolers for public high schools. It aims to provide role models for many Indian children who have little or no incentive to be educated, or more important, to educate.

It aims to expose Massachusetts students to the Native American struggle.

It aims to develop such human qualities as responsibility, respect, dedication, understanding, and loving capacity among the program's students.

It points out the students' strengths and weaknesses more quickly and obviously than any other technique.

It is truly a unique program.

The student who becomes involved in this CCEP program must acknowledge the commitment and the responsibility behind the program's purposes. The pueblos here, as anywhere, can do well without unenthusiastic, selfish, and insensitive students. Consequently, such a program demands tight controls, but, at the same time, keeping fluctual and loose.

By tight controls, I mean that students interested in this program must be well screened. The insensitive, the inconsiderate, and the uncommitted must be culled to save the program from termination.

This program is unique in that it is UMass's only cross-cultural program, and although many colleges have been asked not to return to the pueblos, UMass is continually invited back by the Northern Pueblos Agency.

I'm proud of this program and the people connected with it. I do not want to see it jeopardized by thoughtless Massachusetts students.

Like the old villa, this program has withstood many storms — storms incited by selfish UMass students. Like the old villa, the program has at times, been surrounded by oppressive elements although it has never been penetrated by them. It still lasts.

And just as I consider the old villa dreamhouse, I consider this program my living dream. It is education, it is understanding, and it is love.

What more could a program offer?

Interested students should contact Emma Cappelluzzo at the CCEP office, 252 Hills South before advising week.

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

jan van tol

Remedial illogic

"The American people are like children."

—Richard M. Nixon

Many people mistakenly feel that democracy is a good thing. But they fail to realize the obvious truth that people should only be allowed to vote their preferences when the thing they're voting on doesn't make any difference anyway. As many groups and individuals have pointed out this semester, the People shouldn't be allowed to decide anything that really matters. This is because they're obviously too stupid to know what is in their own interests.

As Barbara Stack, a feminist with a sense of humor, pointed out Tuesday, "there are always individuals in every group who do not act in their own apparent interests". For example, consider women. Ms. Stack comments that if women weren't so stupid, they'd all be feminists. But since so many are not feminists, obviously women are not capable of determining for themselves how they should think about such things as sex, men, andequal opportunity. Feminists should do it for them instead.

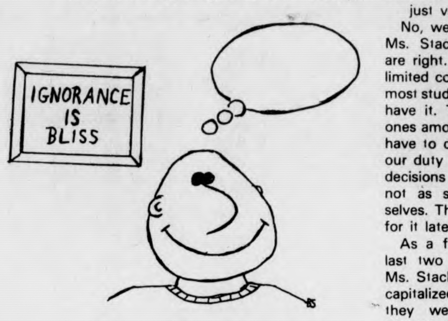
POP QUIZ: Without looking at the answer, draw the correct conclusion from these premises:

1. If a woman is not a feminist, she is not smart. (The Stack Rule)
2. All men are brilliant. (Obvious)
3. Only men or feminists are smart. (Analytic)
4. The Speaker of the Student Senate is neither smart nor a feminist. (Observation)

Therefore: The Speaker of the Senate is a stupid old woman.

Meanwhile, Southwest's long struggle against pornography is another example of the damage that the ignorant masses can do. After the collective wisdom of SW Assembly was pooled, it was decided to ban pornography from the Area. The sparks of salacious sexism seemed to be soused, a handsome tribute to the wisdom of an elite ruling body like SW Assembly.

But then, for some inexplicable reason, the great unwashed masses of Southwest rose up and decided they wanted to choose what films they would view themselves. In just one moment of indiscretion, the work of months was undone. In a mad orgy of self-destruction, the People voted to allow obscenity, filth, and depravity back into SW after it had seemingly been completely eliminated, even from the towers. Honestly, should the People be allowed to decide such weighty matters? Of couse not; they're too stupid.



Even more appalling was the referendum question put this week before the ignorant, illiterate slobs who inhabit this campus. Should the Student Activities Tax Fee be increased by $7? Is that a question fit for students to answer??? How the hell can students be expected to reasonably decide about things like fees? Clearly, it is a question beyond their competence.

Brian DeLima, Speaker of the Senate, and lesser SGA leaders have implied all over campus that students should not and cannot decide on the SATF increase because "they don't have all the facts". (Which facts, of course, is another question.) Besides, the reasoning goes, giving students "the facts" wouldn't help anyway, since some dumb students might misinterpret such facts as paying 24 SGA leaders and friends of leaders salaries during intersession or paying hundreds of dollars to such progressive projects as "Stopping Racism in Cuba". Such misinterpretations would, of course, be unreasonable, but when you deal with students, you have to expect such lack of understanding.

The SOP is smarter. They've realized that the People shouldn't be consulted on something as important as unionization. Of course unionization is in students' interest; it's just that students don't realize it. Why risk such an important endeavor by holding a referendum on unionization when the damn fool student body might just vote against it?

No, we're afraid that Ms. Stack and others are right. Wisdom is a limited commodity, and most students just don't have it. The intelligent ones among us will just have to continue to do our duty and make the decisions for students not as smart as ourselves. They'll thank us for it later.

As a final note, the last two sentences of Ms. Stack's letter were capitalized, so probably they were important. But we think that she may not have noticed one strange conclusion they lead to. So here it is.

1. Oppression is (at least) a matter of bad taste.
2. The Women's Movement is never oppressive.
3. Nothing in bad taste is ever printed in the Collegian.
4. Dick Janssen is printed in the Collegian.
5. Janssen feels that the Women's Movement means Castration.

Therefore; Castration is not in bad taste.

Jan van Tol is a Collegian Columnist.

through the lens

By JONATHAN SHER

QUESTION: What are your plans for spring break?

Kim Whitelaw
Sports Administration

I plan to go to New Jersey to visit some of my friends and then go back to Cape Cod to just enjoy the weather. I plan to do some swimming and hopefully some dunebuggying. I'm just hoping that the weather is nice.

Peter Hendrick
Communication Studies

I think that I am about the only person here not going to Florida. I plan to go home and work most of the week for a painting contractor. I don't think that I will be doing much else. Besides work I plan to just hang loose.

Steven Corman
Casiac

I plan to go home and work for spring break. My job will keep very busy because I plan to work more than full time for a company that my father works for. I also plan to study a lot, even more than I do up here. I don't think that it will be much of a vacation, but I plan to take the first weekend off when I get back.

Thomas Ball
Business

I am going to Washington, D.C. to visit my brother. I'll probably just jam around and get familiar with the city. My brother works part time as a projectionist there so I will probably be seeing a lot of movies. I also plan to hit a few nightclubs while I am there.

Brian Parke
Business Administration

A friend and I plan to head down to Florida for the week. We are going to hit the beaches, maybe a few nightclubs and have a lot of fun!!! I plan to catch a few rays and some needed rest.

As usual, readers are welcome to submit their ideas for future "through the lens" questions.

Notices

APPLICATIONS DUE — R.A.s

Application forms are available for resident asst. for Grayson House, Orchard Hill. They are due on Friday, March 28. Affirmative Action Employer.

ASIAN AMERICANS

There will be a Coordinating Committee meeting for the Conference tonight at 7 p.m. in Herter Hall. Meet by the 1st floor elevator. All Association members better attend. S&R for info call 665-3513.

BICYCLE CLUB

Revisions Committee meeting. All officers please attend. Committee and interested people come to CC 904 at 7 p.m. tonight.

BROWN BAG THEOLOGY

Wide open and far-ranging non-academic rap about your theological questions and searchings in an atmosphere of free inquiry, from 12-1 Friday noon in SU 422.

BUSINESS CLUB [UNDERGRAD]

There will be a meeting today at 4 p.m. in SBA 108. New members welcome! Will relocate afterwards to happy hour.

COIN CLUB

No meeting this week. Next meeting is the Thurs. after vacation so bring your coins to show, trade or sell.

COLLEGE REPUBLICANS

There will be a meeting this evening at 7 in CC 801. Semester plans will be discussed, among other things. All interested are welcome and urged to attend.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

Webster House is having a coffee house on Thurs. March 24. We are looking for performers and anyone else willing to lend a hand. Interested persons call Brenda 6-7143 or Helena 6-7102.

LOST

Precious black oval star-sapphire stone. Fell out of ring setting. Dear sentimental value. Robin 584-5933. REWARD.

LOST

UMass key chain with 3 UMass keys on it. Call 6-4772.

PROF. SELWARTZ SPEAKS TO JEWISH GRADS

The question of Jewish identity in a Secularist Society will be addressed by Pro Ira Schwartz today at 5:30 in CC 901.

NORTHEAST AFFAIRS

N.E. Area Govt. will be having a meeting in Thatcher at 6:30 tonight. Come and see what events are being planned. Share your ideas with us!

POLITICAL FILMS

THE SELLING OF THE PENTAGON and the REBUTTAL TO THE SELLING OF THE PENTAGON will be shown at 6:30 tonight in Field Dorm Main Lounge in Orchard Hill.

STUDENTS OF OBJECTIVISM

Brief meeting tonight at 8:30, CC 908 to discuss RSO business and THE FOUNTAINHEAD movie. Next meeting on Wed., 3-30. For info call Drew Crane 549-0360.

TOYLENDING LIBRARY

Now one on the campus. Berkshire House 207. Hours: Mon-Fri. 9-4. North Village is opened 5:30-8:30 Mon-Wed nights and Saturdays 10:30-1:30. Membership is free w-UMass I.D. New members always welcome!!

UMASS HANG GLIDING CLUB

Tonight at 8:30 in CC 903. There will be a meeting for all members. Afterwards there will be a ground school for all who want to fly. New members welcome.

Amherst Auto Parts
Used car parts
Junk Car?
We pay $10 and up.
Replace Glass
Buy and Sell Cars
Located ½ mile past the Rusty Scupper on Rt. 9, behind Amherst landfill.
Phone 256-6409

CALVIN Theatre
NOW
EVES 7:00-9:00
SAT.-SUN. MAT. 1:30
NOMINATED FOR 2 ACADEMY AWARDS
"THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION"
-PG-
ALAN ARKIN
VANESSA REDGRAVE
NICOL WILLIAMSON
MON.-TUE. DOLLAR NITES

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
WED. and THUR. only
Only area showing
at 7:15 and 9:00
If you were SWEPT AWAY by her SEVEN BEAUTIES now you'll be talking about LINA WERTMULLER'S
"LET'S TALK ABOUT MEN"
WED. and THUR. only
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

Showcase Cinemas
ROUTE 5
RIVERDALE RD.
West Springfield
733-5131
BARGAIN $2.50 til 2:30
MATINEES WED. SAT. SUN
ROCKY
PG United Artists
MGM presents NETWORK
R United Artists
PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS
THIEVES
PG
WALT DISNEY
FREAKY FRIDAY
G
"BOUND for GLORY"
PG United Artists
A STAR IS BORN
R
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN'
PG
VOYAGE OF THE DAMNED
PG
PLEASE CALL THEATRE FOR SCREEN TIMES

STUDENTS!
to take survey at
SHOWCASE CINEMA
Wed. 3-30, 4-12
Eves. 6:45-10:45
Sat. & Sun. 1-5
Call 733-5133
Mrs. Beebe
Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
"SILVER STREAK"
PATRICK McGOOHAN
① PG Thurs.: 5:45, 8:00, Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
NOT SINCE LOVE STORY...
The true story of Jill Kinmont. The American Olympic ski contender whose tragic fall took everything but her life. And who found the courage to live through the love of one very special man.
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN'
② PG STARTS FRIDAY
ENDS THUR. 'THE ENFORCER' 6:00 8:15
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
③ R Thurs.: 5:30, 8:00, Twi-Liter 5:00-5:30
The NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in
BLAKE EDWARDS'
THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES
Held Over
④ PG Thurs.: 5:45, 8:15, Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS...LIMITED TO SEATING

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m. and 3:45p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. The rates are:

Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00-10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

Buttons — pin-on type. Several on display or made to order. 50 cents each. Valley Book Shop. Carriage Shops, Amherst.

Hang glider 18' delt wing. Ex. $495 - 253-2825.

'72 Honda 350 6K Mi. ex. cond. 549-6190.

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Martin 0016 Guitar, $300; Harmon Kardon amp, Dynaco tuner, $110. Adam, 549-0079.

TEAC tape deck, 3 hr. contin. music. Interested? Call Steve 256-0354 aft. 6 p.m.

Fishing — Mitchell Garcia 206 open spinning — $15. Ted Williams spin rod, $15. Both $25. Kirk, 546-9724.

Tires — 4 Saratoga steel belted A78-13 mounted. Dart rims. Asking $100 or B. O. Kirk, 546-9724.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

BSR turntable—Fisher spkrs (35 watts). Any rsnble offer. Call 6-4307.

AUTO FOR SALE

'68 Fiat 124 Sport. Runs and looks great - $900. After 6. Ask for Bob 256-8239.

1974 VW Beetle standard excellent condition $2300 549-0508.

1976 Dodge Van, custom interior, alarm, rustproofed, more, 1-268-7721.

'67 Chevy Impala, 4 new tires, 2 new snows. Best offer. Call 549-5831 after 6.

Toyota Corolla, '72. Excel. cond., lo. mi., $1300. Call 323-7622 aft. 6 o'clock.

AUTO FOR SALE

1964 VW Bug, rebuilt eng. $200 firm. 549-0798.

1971 Datsun 510, 4 dr. Sedan, 25 mpg, AM-FM, 74,000 mil, good condition, very dependable and fun to drive $975. Call 253-2996, 6-8 p.m.

'71 Ford Torino, for sale, excellent cond. $1,200. Call 253-5684.

'69 VW needs work. Good car. $250 - 253-9692.

1967 Chevy Impala wagon. Some body rust, engine still great. Call Brian, 546-6001. Asking $150.

Plymouth Fury III, '71, lo. mi., runs well. $875 or B. O. 256-0548.

For Sale: '72 Vega Yenko Stinger. Modified second engine, new clutch, exhaust, carburetor, alternator, new everything! 4 steel belt ovals, FM stereo. Must pay bills for new new head, valves, rings. Body gd. cond. No rust. $1000 or best offer. Call 546-6720, eves. Keep trying.

'62 Volvo. $150 or best offer. 586-5522.

'66 VW. Great car $295. 323-5575.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'71 Kawasaki 350, for sale, excellent cond. $400. Call 253-5684.

'73 Honda CL 350, mint, 5600 miles, 586-2131.

'72 BSA Victor 500. Best $. 617-544-2744.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Own room in Bltn. Coop. $66-mo. 323-4590 Eves. Veg. - nosmoke.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

Furn. rm. in fine country home. 247-5527.

1 bdrm. in hse. $85 incl. utl. older stud. pref. 253-2409 or see the Roseman on Th.-Fr.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark 1XB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

TO SUBLET

Puf. Vil. Apt. sublet May 31 to Aug. 31, 2 bdrm. $200 mo. Call 549-1415, 5-7 p.m.

2 bdrm. Twnhse; w-w, June-Aug. 31; pool - air. Quiet. Sund. 665-3994.

Sublet Avail., 4-1. 1 bdr. in 2 bdr. apt. Call eve. 549-4830.

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd.,w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

3 bdrm. apt. Puf. Vil. June 1 to Aug. 31. Air cond., pool. Rent neg. Call 549-6624.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Spider and Dale — It's party time in Daytona — Watch out babes. Kirko.

Attention UMass! Julie Ann Upton, who is graduating in June, missed the first class of her UMass career, 3-14-77, 9:05, Asian Internat Studies. Congratulations Julie!

Theresa Ellen: "Sonas na Feile Padraig ort!" with love; Guess who?

To third floor JFK: Time goes so fast life asks so much, no wonder friends get so out of touch. But in our hearts deep, true unseen friendship stays forever green. Always, Scott.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

A Riflery Instructor for summer boys camp on Cape. Must be 21 or older. Call 256-0224 after five.

Hard working undergrad enrolled in Bot 101B and doing well — I need your help! $5 hr. 546-4866.

Sales person wanted. Must have vehicle and camera. Call 586-0824 - Steve.

Driver wanted to drive car from Miami to Amherst. Call 253-9887.

Teachers at all levels - foreign and domestic teachers, Box 1063, Vancouver, Wa. 98660.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

Need to sell your car? Want the best price? Advertise with us: W. Mass. Wheeler Dealer - deals only in cars with circulation of 70,000. Call Pete, 584-2007 for info.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

WANTED

Aluminum tennis racket, Haywood, T-3, Ashe, Comp and Head. 542-2171.

Needed: Baby food jars. Eves. 253-3868.

Wanted: Housemen for Sorority. Job for next semester. Call 549-0539.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

FOR ALL YOUR SPORTS EQUIPMENT . . . .
• Tennis • Swimming • Softball
• Lacrosse • Track • Golf
• Basketball • Baseball • Soccer
FENTON'S
377 Main St. Amherst
253-3973
Athletic Supplies

St. Patrick's Day
at CHEQUERS
Corned Beef & Cabbage Dinner with potatoes, carrots, rye bread & butter served from 11 to 11 $3.00
plus a mug of Irish Coffee — $1
Come & Enjoy Amherst's Finest Saloon

Shamrock SALE
TODAY
10% off storewide clogs sandals shoes
boots
the SHOE-BIN
187 NORTH PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST, MASS.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

ERDA rep. to talk about recent policy

Richard Stevens of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) will discuss emerging ERDA policy directions with UMass faculty April 1. The directions will affect the kind of research proposals ERDA will fund in the future.

Faculty interested in meeting Stevens should call Francis Koster of the Graduate School Energy Office at 5-0666 by Sunday to be scheduled in.

If advance requests are made Stevens can investigate the status of previously submitted proposals, as well as investigate new areas of concern.

Topic workshop for racial understanding

The Center for Racial Understanding cordially invites the Five College community and general public to a Special Topics workshop.

Speakers and topics for the event include, from Communication Studies, Jon S. Crane "Ethnic Images and Television"; Afro-American Studies professors Julius Lester "Mechanics of Racism" and Archie Shepp "Black Music;" and Prof. Ralph Whitehead of the Journalistic Studies Program.

The two-hour workshop will begin March 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the center's office in Moore House, Southwest. An informal session, with refreshments, will follow. Information may be obtained from Peter at 253-2858.

Five college bus schedule revised

In response to requests for late night buses, Five College Routes one and two will run later Wednesday and Thursday nights beginning March 30. This does not mean an extra trip but means a delay before the last round trip to Smith or Mount Holyoke colleges.

The revised schedule is:

Route 1

Lv. CC 10:10; SW-SBA 10:13; AC 10:20; HC 10:30; ar MHC 10:45.

Lv. MHC 11:20; HC 11:35; AC 11:45; CC 11:50; SW-SBA 11:53; AC 12:00 HC 12:10; ar MHC 12:25.

Lv. MHC 12;25; HC 12:40; AC 12:50; CC 12:55

Route 2

Lv. SC 10:00; CC 10:20; SBA-SW 10:23; AC 10:30; ar SC 10:50.

Lv. SC 11:30; CC 11:50; SBA-SW 11:53; AC 12:00; ar SC 12:20.

Lv. SC 12:20; AC 12:40; CC 12:45.

PGA organizational meeting tonight, CC

The People's Gay Alliance (PGA) will meet tonight in Campus Center 811 at 8:00 for an organizational social meeting. Topics on the agenda include funding for the April 4 UMass symposium on Gays and Socialism and organizing workshops for the April 21 Men's Conference.

Following the meeting the film "Consenting Adults," "A View of Homosexuality" will be viewed. Those wishing to attend the New England Gay Conference (Rhode Island College, April 1, 2 and 3) with the PGA contingency may also register at this time.

Index appointments can still be made

Senior portrait appointments can be made today and tomorrow at 3 p.m. Appointments can be made after vacation during the week of March 28 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or come to the 9th floor of the C.C. This will be your last chance to get your picture included in the 1977 INDEX.

LUNCH-N-COPY
AT THE AMHERST DELI
COMPLIMENTARY LUNCH
WITH COPY ORDERS PLACED AT ETC. COPY CORP.
1. COPY ORDER OF $20.00 or more
2. Placed between 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM
3. ANY REGULAR SIZE SANDWICH ON THE MENU COMPLIMENTS OF ETC. COPY CORP.

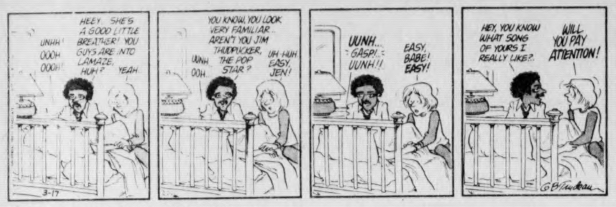
Regular-Size Sandwich
Balogna	.95
Mortadella	1.00
Liverwurst	.95
Salami	1.15
Genoa Salami	1.65
Imported Swiss	1.25
Imported Ham	1.50
Capicola	1.70
Prosciutto	1.85
Turkey	1.60
Pastrami	1.50
Corned Beef	1.70
Roast Beef	1.75
Tuna	1.50
Alaskan King Crab	1.99

Most Copy Order Completed While You Have Lunch
CLEAN, CONCISE, CORRECT COPIES on IBM COPIERS, it looks like your original.
ETC. COPY CORP.
Amherst Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Ma. 01002
549-0566
Call 549-0566 to insure copying up to 12:00 (midnight) Mon.-Sun.
Copy Hours: M-F 9:00-6:00; Sat. 9:00- 5:00
Special Hours: Sunday & After Posted Hours

Vision Showcase
(formerly House of Vision)
Kent Whalen - Licensed Optician
We are Specialists in:
• Fashion Eyewear
• Contact Lenses
• Emergency Replacements
• Free Adjustments Anytime
• We Clean & Polish contact lenses on the premises.
We also carry fashion styles by Diane Von Furstenberg & Oscar Dela Renta
Mt. Farms Mall, Hadley 584-8324

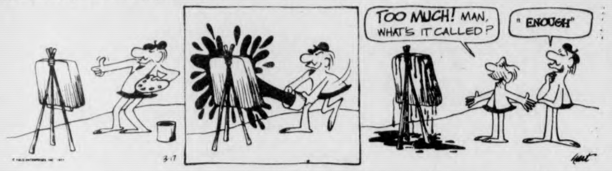
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

29 S. Pleasant St.
call 256-6736
M - F 10-6 S 10-2



UNHH! OOOH OOOH!
HEEY. SHE'S A GOOD LITTLE BREATHER! YOU GUYS ARE INTO LAMAZE, HUH?
YEAH.
3-17
YOU KNOW, YOU LOOK VERY FAMILIAR... AREN'T YOU JIM THUDPUCKER, THE POP STAR?
UNH. OOH...
UH-HUH. EASY, JEN!
UUNH... GASP!... UUNH!!
EASY, BABE! EASY!
HEY, YOU KNOW WHAT SONG OF YOURS I REALLY LIKE?..
WILL YOU PAY ATTENTION!
G.B.Trudeau

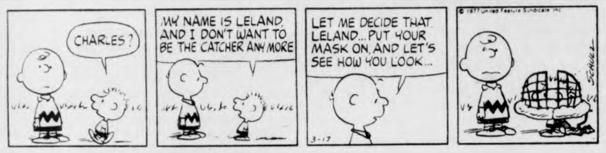
B.C. by Johnny Hart



3-17
TOO MUCH! MAN, WHAT'S IT CALLED?
"ENOUGH"
hart

PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



CHARLES?
MY NAME IS LELAND, AND I DON'T WANT TO BE THE CATCHER ANY MORE LET ME DECIDE THAT. LELAND... PUT YOUR MASK ON, AND LET'S SEE HOW YOU LOOK...
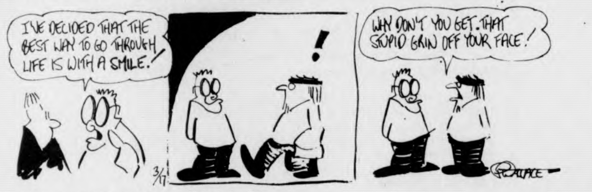
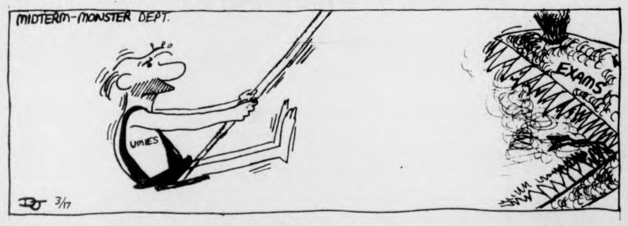
3-17
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate Inc
SCHULZ

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



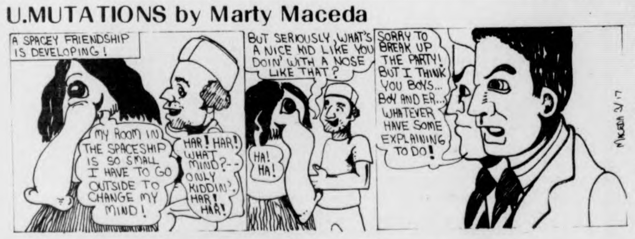
I'VE DECIDED THAT THE BEST WAY TO GO THROUGH LIFE IS WITH A SMILE!
3/17
!
WHY DON'T YOU GET THAT STUPID GRIN OFF YOUR FACE!
WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



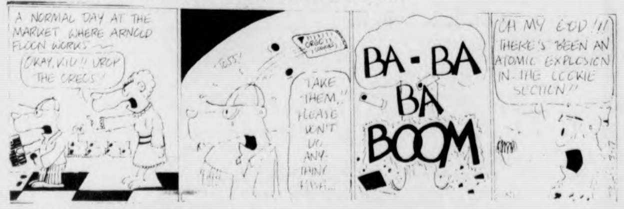
MIDTERM-MONSTER DEPT.
UMIES
EXAMS
DJ 3/17

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



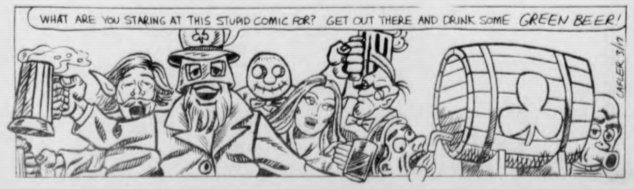
A SPACEY FRIENDSHIP IS DEVELOPING!
MY ROOM IN THE SPACESHIP IS SO SMALL I HAVE TO GO OUTSIDE TO CHANGE MY MIND!
HAR! HAR! WHAT MIND?-- ONLY KIDDIN'. HAR! HAR!
BUT SERIOUSLY, WHAT'S A NICE KID LIKE YOU DOIN' WITH A NOSE LIKE THAT?
HA! HA!
SORRY TO BREAK UP THE PARTY! BUT I THINK YOU BOYS... BOY AND ER... WHATEVER HAVE SOME EXPLAINING TO DO!
MACEDA 3/17

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



A NORMAL DAY AT THE MARKET WHERE ARNOLD FLOON WORKS
OKAY, KID!! DROP THE OREOS
TOSS!
OREO
TAKE THEM! PLEASE DON'T DO ANYTHING RASH...
BA-BA BA BOOM
OH MY GOD!!! THERE'S BEEN AN ATOMIC EXPLOSION IN THE COOKIE SECTION!!
3-17

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



WHAT ARE YOU STARING AT THIS STUPID COMIC FOR? GET OUT THERE AND DRINK SOME GREEN BEER!
LAFLER 3/17

Local Television

7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
18 FESTIVAL OF FAITH
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "Courage of a Conviction"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
57 IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
7:30 3 DOUBLE PLAY
8 THE MUPPET SHOW
22 HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
24 CONNECTICUT
30 CHANNEL 30 SPECIAL EDITION
32 38 BOSTON BRUINS HOCKEY
40 THE GIRL "Counter Proposal"
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 THE WALTONS
8 40 WELCOME BACK KOTTER "Horshack vs. Carvelli"
22 30 NCAA COLLEGE BASKETBALL GAME
24 CONNECTICUT HERITAGE
57 MASTERPIECE THEATRE
8:30 8 40 GEORGE FOREMAN VERSUS JIMMY YOUNG HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT AND ROBERTO DURAN VERSUS JOSUE MARQUEZ WORLD LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP
24 THE FOURTH ESTATE
9:00 3 TEN WHO DARED: "Ronald Amundsen"
18 POP GOES THE COUNTRY
24 57 CLASSIC THEATRE "She Stoops to Conquer"
9:30 18 THE PTL CLUB
10:00 3 BARNABY JONES
22 30 NBC'S BEST SELLER "The Rhinemann Exchange"
27 NEWS
56 LOVE AMERICAN STYLE
10:30 27 THE ELDER AMERICAN
38 MOVIE
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "Second Breath"
56 DARK SHADOWS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Kojak: Cop in a Cage"
8 40 THURSDAY NIGHT SPECIAL "David Hartman ... Gamblers Winners and Losers" 18 LIVING FAITH
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:30 3 CBS MADE FOR TV MOVIE "Killdozer"
1:00 8 40 NEWS
18 THE 700 CLUB
22 30 TOMORROW
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:00 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Thursday, March 17, 1977— Born today, you take a great deal of personal satisfaction out of your own ability to get along with people. You pride yourself on numbering among your friends people from all walks of life, people who often do not get along with each other, yet manage to get along with you very well. You always approach another from the standpoint of a social worker, as it were.

* * *

Friday, March 18

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A serious domestic problem results from an inability to keep from arguing with one against whom you cannot possibly win.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — So long as your attention is turned toward the goals you recently set for yourself and others, joint enterprise should progress.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) —An opportunity for advancement comes your wav early in the day. It is possible to miss out on gains from being busy with trivia elsewhere.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Most important today is faith in yourself. Another's view of the situation may not hold the water you think it does. Make a test.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — A matter of machinery brings you into contact with danger today. Make an effort to keep clear of all risks to life and limb.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Whatever took your attention yesterday should keep right on doing so today. Advancement comes in the wake of near failure early in the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Important changes are in the offing. Take care not to jump the gun where new directions are concerned. Yield another the right of way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Use more care than usual in your engagement in outdoor activities today. Don't delay when it comes to begging another's pardon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — A family affair interferes with evening plans. Nevertheless, you can make gains along the lines of the missed activity. Convey your interest, by telephone.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) —Anger on the employment scene makes it impossible for you to make gains today. Try to make contact with one who has been unavailable to you of late.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) —The meeting of someone new looms large in your anticipation. The real thing should find your faith in yourself fully restored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) —Contrary to the views of friends and relatives, you should have a successful day. You may not win the war, but the battie should end well for you.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

1 Revolting
5 Misinform
9 Located in a city
14 Glandular disease
15 Go wild over
16 Comparative darkness
17 Dressed again
19 Canary's relative
20 Hindu social group
21 Likewise not
23 Bone: Prefix
24 Interpolates
27 Fish catching device
29 Flamboyant
31 Fixation
35 In favor of 37 Cancel
39 ----- du jour: Menu
40 New Testament book
42 God in Greek Mythology
44 Trolley
45 Nearly perpendicular
47 Colonist's "hello" to Indians
49 Bird
50 Walk like a child
52 Most uncivil
54 E. Ind. native maid
56 More bothersome
59 Horned animal
62 Filch
64 Vitreous mineral compound
65 Irritating to the eyes
67 Concurs anew
70 Give thrust to
71 Long narrative
72 Suffix with stem and glass
73 C.D., Gordie and Julia Ward
74 Of an age
75 Malamute's tow

DOWN

1 Stuffed: Cookery
2 Indian, for one
3 Not classified
4 Written speech symbol
5 Before Sat.
6 Propel a boat
7 Heating apparatus
8 Enticed unwisely: 2 words
9 Naval insignia
10 Electrical control
11 Obstructions
12 Passage
13 Hawaiian state bird
18 Alloy-coated steel
22 Ump
25 Pastry item
26 Discolor
28 Police off.
30 Fragrant liquid
32 Not sane
33 Musial or Mikita
34 Half: Prefix
35 Fleet
36 Eight: Prefix
38 Consume avidly: 2 words
41 Soothing drug
43 Protuberance
46 Traverse regularly
48 Flies, gnats, etc.
51 Equilibrium organ
53 Sprinkles
55 Gymnastic device
57 ----- nous Confidentially
58 Demolished Var.
59 Deep flesh wound
60 ---- Rios: Jamaica resort
61 In a rank
63 Endure
66 ---Plaines Ill.
68 Turkish general
69 --- ammoniac

Wednesday's Puzzle Solved

```
SIDE ACES PEACE
ONES RANI ARROW
DUST INGRATIATE
ASEA DAL RENDER SECTS LISTS
 REAR SHY AINT
SPA LATHE AGNEW
NATIONALDEFENSE
OCEAN BASSO ETE
WEDS BON POOR
    BARGE TOTES SCHOOL UAR LULU
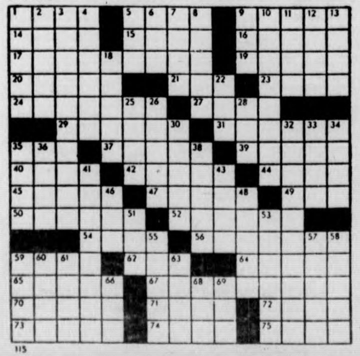
COORDINATE IBLE
AMPLE AGIN TEED
BASES PEND ESNE
```



1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9 10 11 12 13
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33
34 35
36 40
45
50
59
60
65
70
73
115

A Hangover is an Overdose of Alcohol

The only cure is to drink less in a sitting. For safe drinking, a daily upper limit of 3 12-ounce beers or ½ bottle of table wine or 2 to 3 mixed drinks is recommended.

Alcohol Education Project

Room-to-Move and Health Education
549-2671

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere in today's Collegian is a word which means: "Something substituted in place of what is wrong."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

NIEL CAREY

Yesterday's word:

TOWER

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

Now comes Miller time.

© 1976 The Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

Gymwomen hope to gain national tournament invite

While most of the winter teams have finished their seasons, the women gymnasts are still in full swing anticipating an at-large birth in the National Gymnastics Championships to be held on April 1 and 2 at Central Michigan University.

The qualifications for the Nationals are slightly different this season, and there are 16 slots for teams to fill. These spots can be filled in three different ways.

The first nine teams are regional representatives from the nine regions in the country. The teams that win their region and score more than 134 points are sent to the nationals.

The second possibility is to be one of the six at-large teams chosen. These are teams that did not win their region, but scored in the high 140's, such as UMass.

The final slots are to be taken by individual all-around performers who are members of a team that did not qualify.

Since the women's team is in one of the strongest leagues in the country and did not win the title, the Minutewomen can only quality in an at-large berth. The women greatly enhanced their chances of qualifying by scoring a 144.3 in the Easterns. Only Penn State scored higher than the Minutewomen (147.5), so the women will continue practicing for another two weeks.

Stephanie Jones, Ms. Consistency all season, has been pushing hard to clean up her routines. She has been consistently scored in the nine's this season, and her overall average is 9.22.

Captain Jill Heggie, another consistent performer, has also been working hard. She has a 9.25 average in the floor exercises this season, her best event. She also has averaged scores of 9.2 in vaulting and 9.0 on the bars.

Susan Cantwell, the most experienced member of the team, is coming off her best performance of the season. She had an all-around score of 36.45, breaking 9.0 in every event in the Easterns. Cantwell's best event is the balance beam, and when she's 'on' she makes it look easy to perform on the four-inch beam.

The final all-event gymnast is Karen Hemberger. Her best event is the bars, as she has scored in the nine's all season.

Other individuals on the team are continually improving. These include: Diane Laurenson with a season high of 8.95 in the floor exercises and 8.6 in vaulting; Cheryl Morrier, 8.75 on the balance beam and 9.0 in vaulting and all-around performance; Barbara Burmeister, 8.85 in the floor exercises; Jean Anderson, 8.7 on the bars; and Julie Myers, 8.85 in the floor exercises.

Each member has contributed immensely to the team effort. Assistant coach John Calabria said that many comments were made at the Easterns about how UMass scared and surprised a lot of people.

"And we're going to do the same thing in the Nationals if we are given a chance to compete," he said.

The top 12 all-around performers at the Nationals will be chosen for the World University Game Trials. If the Minutewomen go, Jones, Heggie, Cantwell, and Hemberger have a good chance to qualify.

Sports Calendar

TODAY

VARSITY WRESTLING — NCAA Championships at Norman, Oklahoma

INTRAMURALS — Men's Basketball Finals Boyden Gym 5:00

Women's Basketball finals Boyden Gym 5:00

TOMORROW

VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Seton Hall at Univ. of Miami 12:00

VARSITY WRESTLING — NCAA Championship at Norman, Oklahoma

Seagren a superstar for the second time

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — American pole vaulter Bob Seagren, who at one point collapsed from exhaustion after a bicycling event, went on to win the World Superstars Title yesterday for the second time, collecting $37,000 in prize money.

Sweden's 29-year-old pole vaulter Kjell Isaksson placed second and received $24,600, while New Zealand's 38-year-old middle-distance runner Peter Snell came in third to collect $19,000.

Seagren, 30, held the Superstars Title in 1973. In the two-day competition, he racked up 40 points, winning 17 the first day. Wednesday, the Olympian pole vaulter won the half-mile, came in second in the obstacle course, fourth in the bicycle race, fourth in the 100-yard dash and fourth in the rowing.

Because of a mix-up in the biking event, Seagren raced around five laps, rather than the required four. He collapsed from exhaustion, but was revived and continued to participate.

Legalized gambling needed?

By MEL WEBSTER
Collegian Staff

The state of Massachusetts definitely has a financial deficit. A way to erase this deficit besides taxes, is legalized gambling.

Legalized gambling has been pondered over the last few years, but bills to approve it haven't received enough support in the legislature to pass. Betting on pro and college events plus horse racing would be included in legalization.

There are strong points on each side of the argument. The anti-gambling people say that the gambling would hurt the illegal gambling very little. They feel that the regular customers will remain, and won't switch to gambling with the state.

The pro-legalization people argue that legalized gambling will take a great deal of money away from the underworld. They were proven right by the state lottery's numbers game that began in 1976. Underground numbers runners (bookies) that I know said their business had slumped due to the game.

The anti-gambling people feel that legalization will have an effect on the playing of the games as well as on the spectators. They feel that the players will gamble on their own games because it is legal, and that this will affect their performance in these games.

On the spectators' side, the group against legalization foresees the time when the entire crowd will be cheering against the home team because the people have bets against the team. This will make the whole idea of sports a farce because it won't be who wins or loses, but what the point spread in the game is.

The pro-gambling people counter by saying that the players and fans have just as much opportunity to gamble now as they will when gambling is legalized. They also argue that present rules against athletes gambling on their own games will remain in effect when it is legalized, so players will gamble no more than they do now.

Commentary

The anti-gambling people make their strongest point here. They say that people don't gamble now because it is illegal, but that if it is legal, there will be no apprehension. They feel that the average person will gamble even though he can't afford it. This will take money that would be spent on food and household needs.

Those in favor of legalization tend to ignore all the arguments against it and point to Off Track Betting in New York, and the legalized gambling of football in Delaware. Both were successful, and have not caused any scandals of the sort that those who are against legalization fear. They both have also been successful financially.

I favor the legalization of sports gambling despite the arguments against it. I'm sick and tired of paying $1.08 for my dollar hamburger, and $2.10 for my two dollar frisbee.

BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST

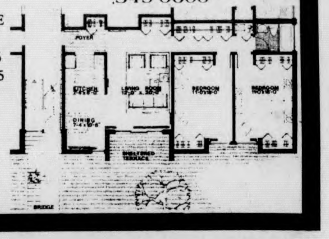
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???

- STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
- RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
- ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.

50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600



PRO-Keds

$2.00 Off any pair
Pro-Keds Sneakers
Now thru March 31
at the
University Store
Campus Center

University of Massachusetts / Amherst
FINE ARTS CENTER PRESENTS

THE OSIPOV
BALALAIKA
ORCHESTRA WITH STARS OF THE Bolshoi Ballet & Bolshoi Opera
COMPANY OF 75

MONDAY, APRIL 4 8 PM
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL
Tickets now on sale. $7, 6, 5. UM-A - $5, 4, 3. Other students and senior citizens $6, 5, 4.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

UNIVERSITY
MASSACHUSETTS

WHEREVER YOU GO
THIS SPRING VACATION . . .
SHOW 'EM WHERE YOU'RE FROM!!
UMASS imprinted sportswear now in stock in all sizes and colors in your favorite styles.
quality sportswear by Champion
The University Store
Campus Center
UMass.
Closed on Sat.

Hockey review

Minutemen's season turns sour

By TOM CROWLEY
Collegian Staff

A ten game scoring slump exemplified a frustrating season for the 1976-77 UMass hockey team. The Minutemen's final record was 8-13-1 overall, 8-11-1 in Division II.

Before semester break, the icemen were 4-3-1 and doing better than last season. Returning from break with a 6-3 win over Boston State, the team went into a slump where it scored only 21 goals in 10 games. Over this stretch of the season, the Minutemen won only two games, a complete turn around from last year when the hockey team won eight of ten games down the stretch.

"As it turned out, it was very frustrating," coach Jack Canniff said about the season. "I know in my heart that we're a better team than our record showed."

Examples of this are the losses to Merrimack and Vermont. The loss to Merrimack, the eventual Division II champion, was not as wide as the 6-2 score, as the Minutemen out shot the visitors. The Icemen held it to only a two goal deficit for some of the early going. The team also severly tested the Catamounts as the Division I power only won by two goals, 4-2, with both the game winner and the insurance tally coming in the third frame. It was a 3-2 game with about a minute left.

These performances were back-to-back but the games surrounding them were debacles offensively. In the game before Merrimack, North Adams State shelled the Minutemen 7-1 as UMass set a North Adams record: the most shots while scoring only one goal. In the tilt after Vermont, the Huskies of Northeastern won 11-1. "We played lousy," Canniff said.

This inconsistency on offense thus led to an inconsistency in the overall team play.

The line of Mike Merchant, Carl Burns, and Frank Snow was the only one to put points on the board consistently. Merchant, the captain, led the team in scoring with 11 goals and 16 assists for 27 points.

Burns was second with nine goals and 14 assists (23 points), while linemate Frank Snow had nine goals and eight assists (17 points).

But after those three, the forwards get lost with the defensemen in terms of scoring. Chris Lamby (7-9-16) and Brian Kitteridge (2-8-10) were fourth and sixth on the team, not a good indication of the offense.

The second line of Bob White - John Peters - Bill White did not produce as much as expected, not even as much as last year. The line was disrupted by injuries to Peters, who missed several games and played hurt whenever he skated.

"Between them they scored ten goals this year. I'll be damned if they can play another year and score that low again," Canniff said exasperatingly.

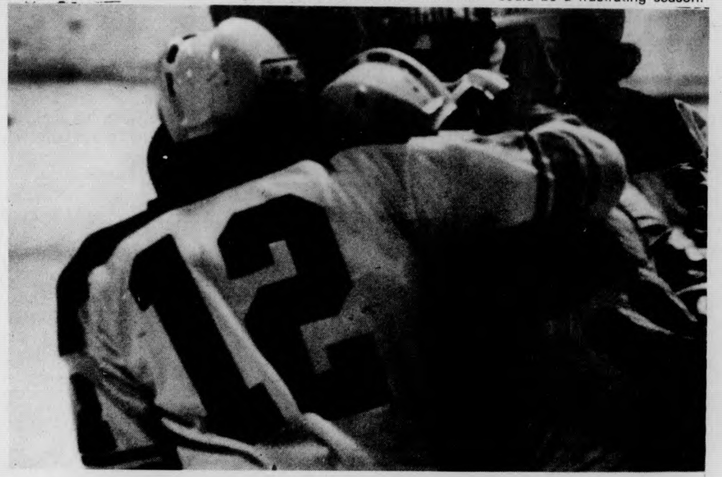
Besides Peters not being at full strength all season, defenseman Bob McCormack missed a few games and Scott McChesney was lost in the second semester due to academic problems.

When the pucksters got deeper into the slump, the forwards tried too hard to overcome their drought of points. "They get more and more frustrated so they try to score more and more so then the defense starts to slip. Pretty soon you get caught with three forwards up tight and the defense breaks down," the coach explained.

The defense and goaltending of the skaters was more than adequate, but as Canniff said, it was the "inability to get as many goals as it needs to win" that was the problem of the team.

Thus, while the offense was the downfall of the team, the defense, and particularly goalie Dana Redmond, was the strength of the team. Next year the squad will still have a strong defense. The team will be returning five defensemen with varsity game experience, but it will be graduating three goalies, Redmond, John Riley and Doug Janik, creating a large and important hole to fill on the squad.

The defense will help the Minutemen through next year, but the frustration at the lack of scoring this year could be a factor next year as well. The dearth of points made for a losing season and if Canniff can't improve it next year, it too could be a frustrating season.



Unfortunately for the Minutemen, this scene wasn't duplicated enough during the season as the icemen finished with a sub-.500 record. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Journeyman faces 'major' job

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — He is the expansion ballplayer, the journeyman minor leaguer who never quite made it to the big time with his previous major league club and after numerous trials was thrown to the fledgling franchise like a piece of half-eaten meat.

Sam Ewing knows the feeling. For seven long seasons, he dutifully toiled in such places as Appleton, Wis., Knoxville, Tenn., Tucson and Des Moines as a promising minor leaguer in the Chicago White Sox' organization. Now, however, at 27, he finds himself contending with a mishmash of fuzzy-cheeked rookies and cast-off veterans for a place with the expansionist Toronto Blue Jays.

"This is my first real chance," admitted Ewing, who despite hitting .351 for Iowa in the American Association last year, was left unprotected by the last-place White Sox. "I was never really given an opportunity to show the White Sox anything even though I never had a bad season in all my years in the minors with them.

"In the first three games in spring training here I got to bag 10 times which was more than I did in seven camps with the White Sox."

Ewing, who seems likely to win a job as the Blue Jays' designated hitter, learned the hard way what happens to a ball player when the parent organization decides he's suddenly no longer a "prospect."

After signing with the White Sox as an outfielder, he was switched to first base, catcher, back to the outfield and even used as a designated hitter. At no time was he ever very sure what direction his career was taking.

Amherst Travel
Consultants, Inc.
"Your travel agent"
South Pleasant Street
Amherst, Mass. 01002
256-6704

You don't have to be Irish to get an o' hair cut.
Collegetown O' Barbers
Open Mon.-Sat., 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.
183 N. Pleasant St. 253-9884

Thurs., March 17
LARRY TOMEI, JR.
Fri. & Sat., March 18 & 19
KID COLT
4 pc. Bluegrass Group
Sun., March 20
PETER BOYNTON
25c Drafts M-F 6-8 p.m.
RAHAR'S
FOOD DRINK LODGING
OPEN 11-1 DAILY • 12-1 SUNDAYS
VISIT OUR GAME ROOM
7 Old South St. • Northampton
ACROSS FROM Peter Pan Bus Terminal

university of massachusetts
arts council
presents

PRAGUE
CHAMBER
ORCHESTRA

A concerto festival with
Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist
Wed., March 30 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

New Spring
Shirts
Coats
&
Pants
Coming in every day
Drop in and have a look
THOMPSON'S
13 N. Pleasant St., Amherst

We have lots of Green
and many other colors on our canvas bags, too!
Purchase any bag - duffle - tote & pocket book and get a free pouch to match!
coupon
Free Pouch
with purchase of canvas bag - till Sat. March 19th coupon
coupon
Kaleidoscope
Handprints
16 Main St.
Amherst
(3rd floor Russell Liquor Building)

Pines defeat A's, Hawks trip Pack; IM finals tonight

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

A supervisor down in the intramural office, Bruce Bresslier, predicted before game time that the Pines would indeed beat the Alcoholics in their semifinal round contest.

"Gorman by five" exclaimed Bresslier just prior to the opening tipoff.

But who would listen to Bresslier? After all, he's only an undergraduate, a sophomore yet.

Well, if Jimmy the Greek and Bresslier can get together, they could rake in the dough, because the Pines did win. Exactly by five too, 41-36, the win advancing them to the championship game versus the Hawks.

The championship game between the Pines and the Hawks, who qualified by defeating the Wolfpack, 38-32, is tonite at 5 p.m., on court two.

The streaking Pines haven't been stopped all season, stretching back ten games when their season opened. Along the way, they've beaten some decent teams like the Players (twice), Express, the Schupters and now the Van Meter squad.

In beating the A's however, they weren't overpoweringly impressive as in past playoff victories. Catching Pub-bound coach Billy Price with the use of Ma Bell's fantastic equipment, (called a phone), he commented on this issue: "I think we were worried too much about their big man (A's George Corthouts). Maybe we should have concentrated on the guy with the headband (Charlie Keilty). Almost everytime he had an open shot, he hit."

The first half stayed relatively close with the Pines holding the lead the whole way through. Surprisingly, the Pines were able to work the ball inside many times. Good passes frequently found their way to John Olthoff who was able to shoot over the 6'7 Corthous several times. Unfortunately for Olthoff, the shots would roll off the rim instead of in, otherwise it might not have been a close game at all.

The Gorman'ers attempted to pull away from the Van Meter five when a Mark Finnerty shot put them up 12-7, eleven minutes into the half. But A's Charles Kielty had other ideas and exhibited a Pistol Pete specialty — the bomb, closing the gap to three.

A crucial play ended the first period of action. An Alex Dobbs hoop put the Pines up 17-13, when Finnerty stole the inbounds pass for an easy layup to complete a four points play, increasing the Pines lead to six. But the 'bomber' Kielty torpedoed in another shot just before the clock ran out making the halftime score 19-15 in favor of the Pines.

The Alcoholics played their best ball in the opening eight minutes in the second half when Paul Simms got hot, and Kielty stayed on target. The V.M.-men grabbed their first lead via a Simms bucket, pushing them ahead 29-27. John Olthoff tied it up before Simms tossed in yet another hoop after grabbing an offensive rebound to vault the Meter-ites into a 31-29 lead.

That lead was short lived however when an Alex Dobb's free throw shot dropped through the netting, completing the tail end of a three point play, making the score 32-31, and the Pines were ahead to stay.

The Pine stall went into effect with 2 minutes remaining on the game clock. Finnerty sank two free throws with 1½ minutes remaining, and the score was 37-33. A layup by Dave Tewhill helped ice it even further, while Ed O'Brien's two free throws with seven seconds, left no doubt as to the victor of the game.

Alex Dobbs led the Pines with 11 points, while Dave Tewhill and Joe Harrington had seven and six points respectively. Ed O'Brien and Mark Finnerty also finished with six points apiece balancing out the team's scoring.

For the Alcoholics, Charlie Kielty has 12 pts. and Paul Simms was right behind him with 11 pts.

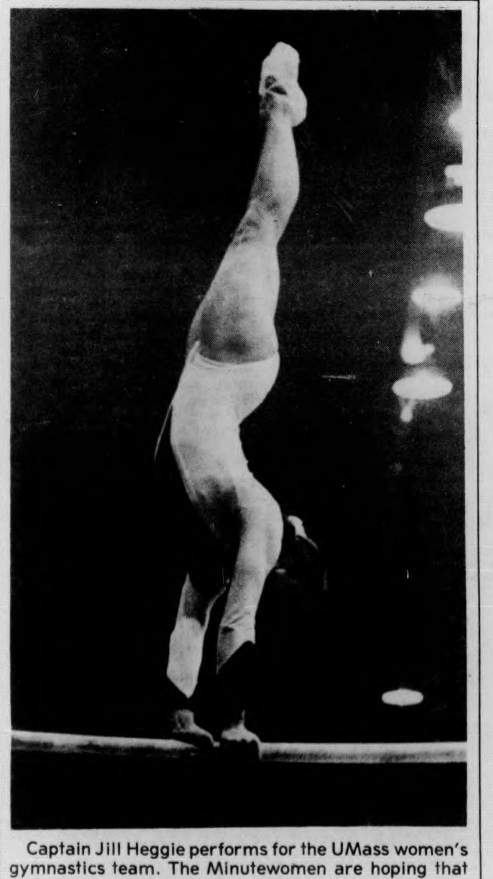
Communications problems in trying to contact Hawk coach Billy Santos make it impossible to tell you much about their game with the Wolfpack.

The game however was close down to the wire, until a last minute streak of 8-3 broke the tie ballgame open, handing the Hawks a shot at the campus crown.

Wolfpack and the Alcoholics will play a consolation game at 5 p.m. to decide third place.

Free throws ... still haven't seen a dunk, and guess I won't get to either ... also being played at 5 p.m. will be the women's basketball championship between the Sows and Olof ... the women's consolation game features the Vikings vs. the Snowflakes also at 5 p.m.

The UMass hockey team's two top scorers, Mike Merchant (9) and Carl Burns (24), ended their collegiate careers this season. See year-ending wrapup, Page 15. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)



Captain Jill Heggie performs for the UMass women's gymnastics team. The Minutewomen are hoping that they will be one of the at-large teams chosen for the national tournament to be held in April. See story, Page 14. (Staff photo by John Sideropoulos)

Collegian Sports

Bill Edelstein

Halftimes are Barely Trivial

One Sunday, as I sat unsuspectingly in front of the NBA Game of the Week, I happened to glance at the television during halftime.

Now, usually I set aside the time between halves for tending to important business such as inspecting the ceiling for signs of scurvy or trying to remember the last time the UMass basketball team had played in a contest in which any kind of championship was at stake. This particular day I had been watching my toenails grow.

Loud cheering had caused me to lift my eyes and I suddenly saw Mendy Rudolph's smiling face as he held up a little card which proclaimed "8.5." I was intrigued. Mere seconds later, I witnessed Garfield Heard go flying toward the basket, spin around twice, click his sneakers together while shouting "there's no place like home," and stuff the ball cleanly through the strings. The crowd roared again while Ray Bolger held up a 9.0.

Brent Musberger then declared Heard the winner of the week's NBA "Slam-Dunk" Competition and sentenced him to return the next week to face Nate Archibald in the quarter-finals.

It didn't hit me right away, but three or four sleepless nights later I realized that I had been watching sheer genius. Not in Heard, who had just been trying to earn a decent living, but in the person who had originated the idea of such a meaningful competition. I had to meet that person, if only to elicit his opinion on the effects of tennis elbow in an industrial society.

I found the man in his CBS office. He was making small talk to a life-size replica of Peter Puck. On his desk was a placard: "Barely Trivial, Halftime and Between-Periods Activities Coordinator."

Excusing himself from the puck, he turned to me. "I'm Barely Trivial, Halftime and Between-Periods Activities Coordinator," he explained.

I introduced myself as a reporter and Trivial smiled broadly.

"It's about time I got some media recognition," he enthused, throwing a crumpled piece of paper into the air and futilely swiping at it with a complimentary Cross pen and pencil set.

"How do you come up with your inspirations?" I asked, trying to hide the awe in my voice.

A long, embarrassing silence followed. Finally, with difficulty, Trivial spoke.

"They sort of flow. I mean, One day I concocted Freddie Football and the NFL wrist-wrestling competition all in the same three-and-a-half hour period."

Just then, Trivial conked the crumpled paper to the back wall of his office. He sped around the room, and showing smart base-running tactics, hook-slid into his desk before the paper could be picked up by stray janitor.

Not even winded, he hopped to his feet and slapped me five.

"I'd been fostering the idea for the current slam-dunk contest for a full year, but it all came to the surface while I was umpiring a Little League baseball game."

"How did a Little League baseball game bring out a brainstorm on basketball?" I asked, bewildered.

"Well, it came about kind of indirectly. I'd decided to dust home plate in the middle of a pitch. When I woke up, they were pouring water on me, and I kept thrashing my arms and legs and screaming, 'no more dunking!'"

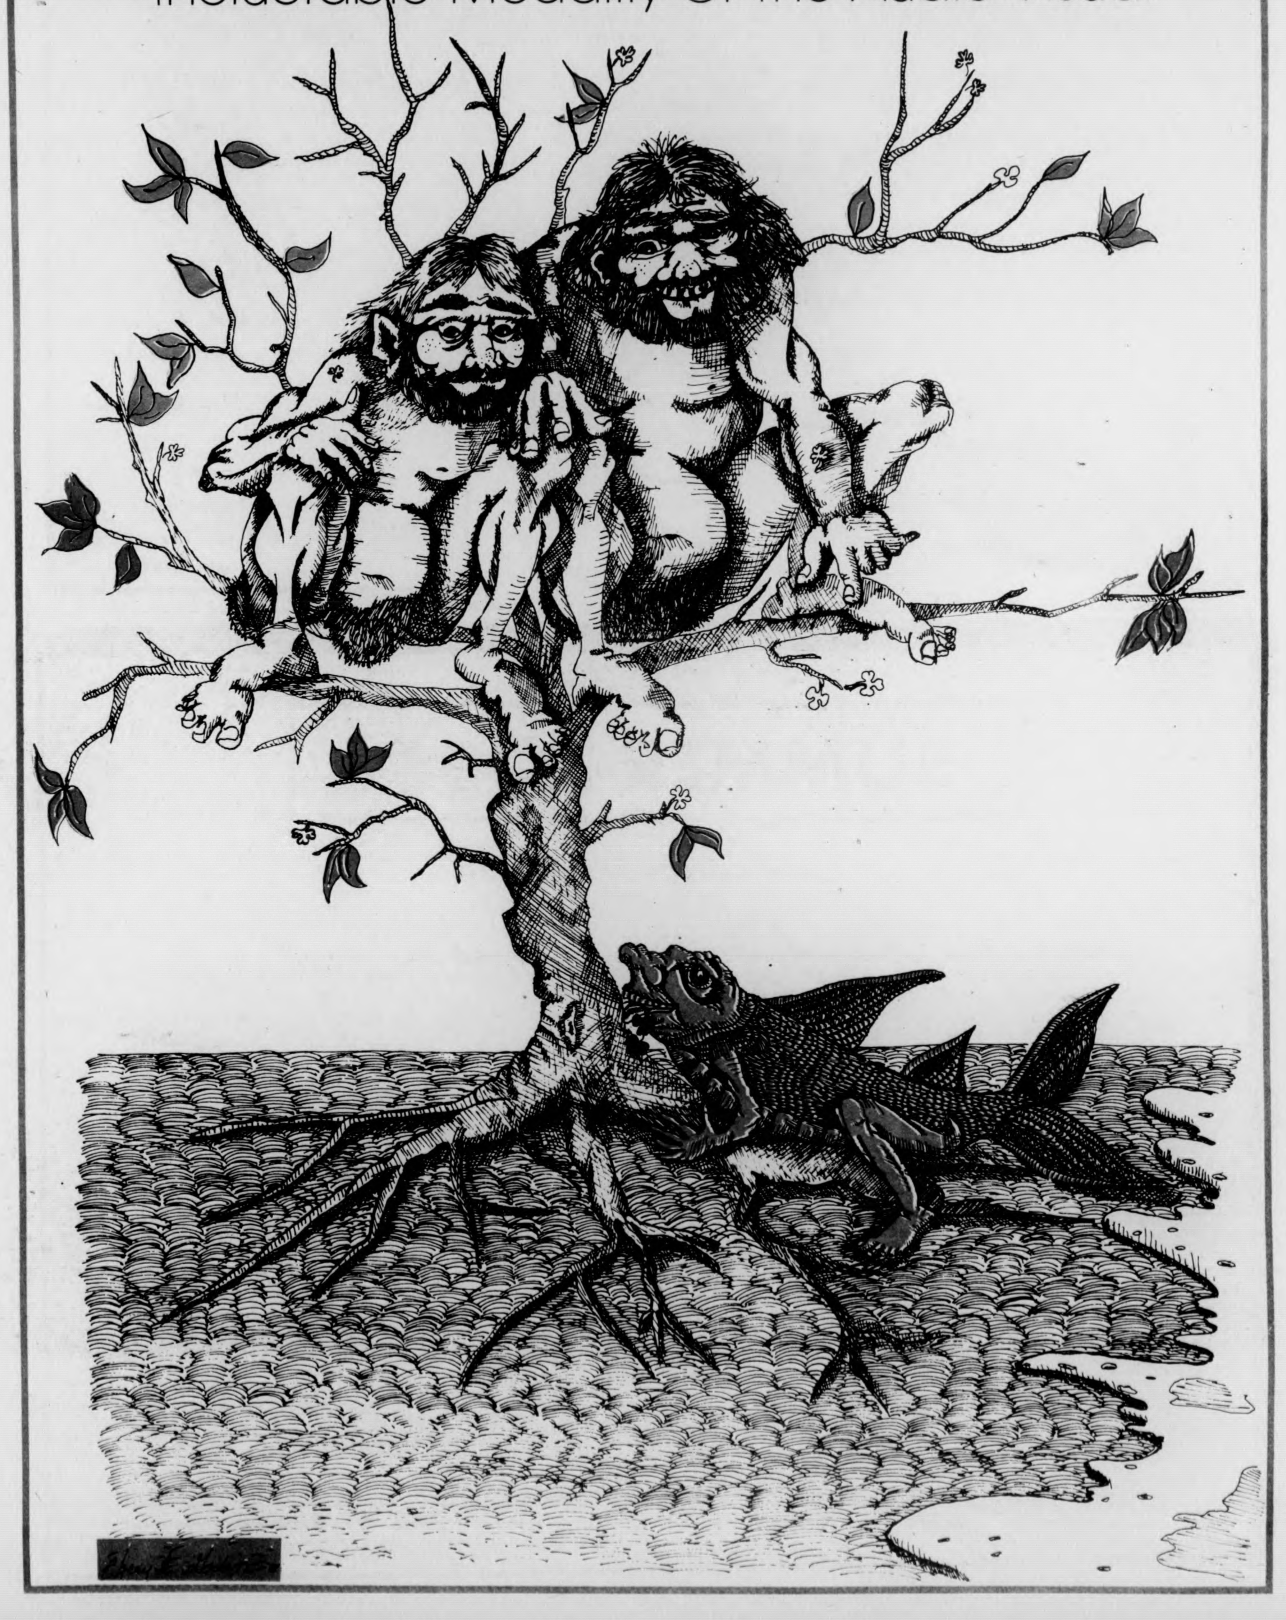
Something must have snapped inside him when he recalled the incident, because he began professing undying love for Bertha Baseball and babbling about the effects of tennis elbow in an industrial society.

I only managed to escape out the door when he had gone to body-check his filing cabinet. Once on the street, I looked back over my shoulder in time to catch Trivial jump out his office window and land, head-first, in a trash compactor.

Even to the end he exuded class. It was a 9.5.

Below The Salt
weekly fine arts magazine
Supplement to the Daily Collegian
Volume V Issue 8 March 17, 1977

Ineluctable Modality Of The Audio-Visual



Poetry

God has learned to tie his shoes today and is out in the backyard showing the cat his new trick as if the cat could care how nice to be five again

Tyla L. Michelove

Favors, I'm afraid to ask,
For favors come with strings.
With string, feet get tangled.
And you don't want to be Tangles with me.
Favors, I don't ask any more.

Deborah Peterson

Rinse

I didn't mind so much that when you left you left your socks behind you in my place trying absurdly to fill an empty space-looking so comfortable too at home for my taste.
It was cycles later when I wanted to wash,
Forgetting you, your dark socks that left a grey tinge upon my whites.

Trish Mastendino

Transchromatobiosis

Life is an optical illusion —
  The image in my mirror
  Dissolves before my eyes
  Like freeze-dried coffee crystals.

Years pass
In a blinding blast of tangled rainbows;
Memories in distorted colours appear
Dangling just ahead of my grasp.
    —I am going—
From black hair and white pants
    —To—
White hair and black pants —Becoming—
The after-image of my own youth.

B. Sesnovich

Below The Salt
weekly fine arts magazine
Volume V
Issue 8
COVER ILLUSTRATION BY CHERYL GODIN

EDITOR
Mark A. Leccese
ASSISTANT EDITOR
Debbie Schafer
ASSISTANT EDITOR
St. Patrick McQuaid
THE SALT MINDS:

THEATRE James F. Sawyer
POETRY John Zieman
DANCE Leila Bruno, Ann Murphy
FOOD Alice E. Horner
MOVIES John Matthew
MUSIC Jack Cahill, Ross Nerenberg, Craig Roche

psssssst......

ZO DI
AC!

SUMMER JOBS

Did you know that College Work-Study can be earned off-campus?

We can place Work-Study students in federal, state, municipal and non-profit agencies almost anywhere in the state. If you are not sure of a summer job or if you earn less than $2.50 per hour during the summer you should apply for summer Work-Study.

You must apply for financial aid in order to be considered for summer Work-Study.

Pick up your applications before you go on vacation.

Financial Aid

243 Whitmore

Art In Motion

Nikolais Dance Theatre

By Leila Bruno

After hearing so much in the past about the brilliance of the Nikolais Dance Theatre I was really excited at the prospect of actually seeing them in performance last weekend. To say that Alwin Nikolais is innovative and decidedly artistic would be an understatement, however as I watched I wondered how the dances would look without the backdrop slides, elaborately designed costumes, numerous props, and incredible lighting effects. A New York critic described a performance as..."a total turn-on, a mind blower. You sit in the theater and you are visually assaulted by the most astonishing images you've ever seen."

At our interview Nikolais remarked that he found a basis for creation in his observations and experiences being recognized and stored in the brain for later use. Through his dances Nikolais tries to bring visually and aurally what couldn't be artistically created in any other form.

Watching a Nikolais performance and making perceptual judgements leaves the interpretation of the dances open to the individual. "The 64-year-old Nikolais who composes the electronic music, designs the costumes and devises the bizarre lighting for his dances, rebels against the introspective world of traditional modern dance", remarked a "Newsweek" critic.

Friday nights program opened with "Temple", a piece which had a rather mesmerizing effect on my senses as I watched an image of robot-like, masked and "unisex" dancers sculpt themselves into designs. Like all of the dances it used an accompaniment of "computer-like" sound and a backdrop of varying slides as well as the de-personalizing flesh-colored masks.

I found "Styx", a new Nikolais work to be the highlight of the program. It dealt with the rites of passage with an intent to make change bearable with the ideas of death and decay as positive processes. In our interview Nikolais described it as "Dealing with the idea of death, not necessarily in a lugobrious sense but death as a welcome experience and a possible joyful occasion." The overall impression resembled an abstract painting set to life with several props like plastic bags and boxes used to illuminate the intent.

To pinpoint the kind of actual dancing in the pieces is rather difficult, for the movements only added to the design of each piece rather than holding a separate entity. There was a high energy level with a momentum that never stopped but for the most part the "dancing" consisted of lifted arms and legs, lying on the floor to create shapes, or plieing en masse with the arms extended rigidly to the sides. At that point I overheard several comments from local dancers nearby who were incredulous at the lack of dancing being done onstage.

"Tower" was a comical, expressionistic piece that had lots of mime and unintelligible vocal sounds incorporated within. Apparently it was based upon people playing roles in different sectors of society. In one section the dancers used flags to denote their respective group with the whole thing culminating by a few smoke bombs being thrown out at its end.

The critically acclaimed "Sanctum" was presented Saturday night with the dancers wearing synthetic stretchy wraps over their painted "uni-tards" (leotards and tights sewn together) which when poked by elbows, heads, or feet disguised the body within. On stage they designed squares and triangles among other shapes which quivered or posed upon the impulses of the music.

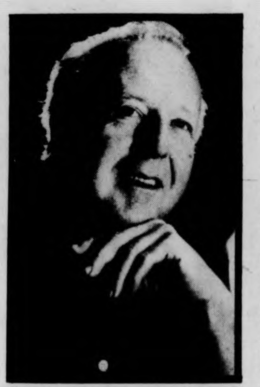
I personally enjoyed the trio from "Vaudeville of the Elements" which featured three women in these unusual coil-skirted costumes which enabled them to move about as if they were on wheels — to collapsing in a heap upon the stage floor.

Two program changes were the presentations of "Noumenon" and "Guigol". The first was a sketch with the company moving among banners suspended from the heavens which confined them from while designing geometric shapes. Here the versatile Susan McDermaid was featured intermittently in front of the others in something that looked like a bit of modern dance.

"Guigol" (Dance of the Dummies) was an entertaining spectacle which was a sketch of "puppets" rebelling against their human overlords. A new Nikolais work, it took a humorous look at contemporary man between distinguishing mannequins in a store window to those outside looking in.

turn to pg. 8

A Talk With Alwin Nikolais



Since its beginnings in 1953 the Nikolais Dance Theatre has toured throughout Europe, and coast-to-coast in the United States in addition to regular New York season. Born in Connecticut, Alwin Nikolais began his artistic career in music and later pursued his interests in acting, directing, designing and lighting for local little theater groups, pageants and special entertainments as the Director of the Hartford Parks Marionette Theater. There he first studied modern dance and became a member of the dance group performing for Jose Limon.

Assuming the roles of sculptor and painter in his perceptions of dance, Nikolais sees its essence in the art of motion — not "movement" — during the interruption of displacement of one thing to another. In its creation, Nikolais said, "If an idea is poor in aesthetic substance, then it will be similarly poor in dance. Describing dance as a motion content in itself without the need to carry on another function or event, being a simple art, it can be brought to earth to things that you do. To be conscious of motion, you must see or feel it. The instrument in a dance motion is the human body in the form of a three-dimensional form of a mobile, capable of taking on thousands of shapes. The body takes on a skill of sculpting by the dancer — who must shape himself correctly to the act."

The ten Nikolais dancers are all shapes and sizes which enhance the effects of his scheme of "designing" different concepts through dance. "Today", said Nikolais, "a dancer must have a feeling of spacial relationships that he builds into shapes and models upon his body — then later passes through and creates architectures. It is possible to use time in different dimensions."

Nikolais incorporates the elements of the theatre into his dances through a creative process which involves the conveyance of an idea by extending the modes of communication. His main inspiration for establishing a company is the compelling urge to create. He describes his dancers as using his ideas for an outlet and participating in a "congruence of spirit".

When asked about the major difficulties in keeping a dance company successful, Nikolais replied that "It is hard to come up with new things, while never letting the values and qualities of a performance drop. You must watch for it carefully, whether you have to perform every night or not you must make each one a desired event rather than a habit — giving it a look of freshness."

Nikolais is the sole choreographer for the company and informed me that the style hasn't changed in outward appearances, and still derives from the same sources. In 1952 he went into an explanation of the male and female sex roles assigned by Victorian morality, hence creating the "unisex" dancer to emphasize the anonymity of the person raised to a higher level of transcendance.

Nikolais believes that originally man moved as a mystical entity "to feel the livingness within himself, when a moment of mystical happenings related to all of things that moved". He related men to the supernatural and saw behavior as automatismic, viewing dance as a participation of life.

A philosophy that is recurrent in several dances is the emphasis on "the effects of the dynamic overlording of mankind and nature, his fight to live and not to "defile himself". A redefinition through a belief in the environment sweeping through you and causing it to be a part of you — your identity mingles within." He sees his visions of dance as a "merging of the arts, which tend to give dance a strong visual emphasis. I use artists, not simply hack dancers, and the work that I create requires a choice of how to do actions. The artist must make an artistic decision about how to make a gesture."

I was curious as to the procedure that Nikolais uses in actually creating a dance. Specifically I asked about the back-drop slides that he has projected against the dancers in every piece. "Many pieces are an abstract expressionism; a communicative process like that of a painting. The slides act as a kind of setting — and more economical if I may say so. Generally I commission a photographer to do them using a new technical invention".

He composes the music after the dance is choreographed, which is played on a synthesizer, having a sound that frequently sounds like it's coming from a computer.

I was interested to hear what Nikolais had to say about the student reaction to art. He replied that "young people should see art and its related forms as a necessity of life, not just a "cultural experience" to enrich their lives. They should incorporate art into themselves in living." He went on to say that "In defining our lines we must define things that surround us and our activities. I don't care what form art may take, it's always a mixed affair."

CHARTER FLIGHTS TO EUROPE AND CALIFORNIA

- London
- Paris
- Amsterdam
- Frankfurt
- Vienna
- Zurich
- Poland
- Hungary
- Ireland
- Greece
- Rome
- Spain
- Geneva
- Hamburg
- Brussels

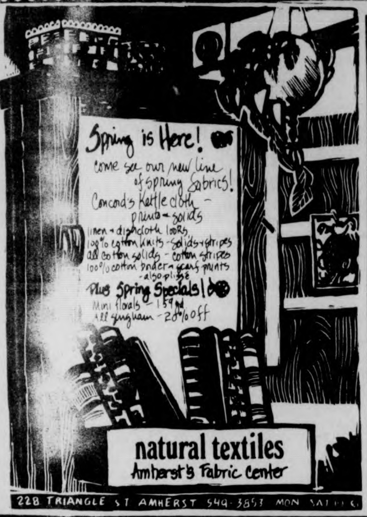
LOW FARES NO MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED

For Further Information Contact:

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER

Campus Center 3rd level

Univ. of Mass. 545-0500



Spring is Here!
come see our new line of spring fabrics!
Concord's Kettle cloth - prints + solids linen + dishcloth looks 100% cotton knits - solids + stripes all cotton solids - cotton stripes
100% cotton border + scarf prints - also plisse
Plus Spring Specials!
Mini florals - 1.59 yd
All gingham - 20% off natural textiles
Amherst's Fabric Center
228 TRIANGLE ST AMHERST 549-3853 MON SAT

Beware of little Sins.

BIG A AUTO PARTS

We've got auto parts for foreign cars.

WORLDPARTS
WORLDPARTS

Auto parts for foreign cars – quality-made replacement parts for the most popular foreign cars in town. Worldparts are made by world famous manufacturers such as Maremont . . . Bosch . . . Lange . . . Boge . . . and more than 60 others.

When your foreign car needs repairs, have your garage or service station man call us for Worldparts. Or we can give you the name and address of a foreign car expert near you.

AMERICAN PARTS

Allied Motor Parts

319 Main Street, Amherst

256-8341

SHOP SERVICE AVAILABLE

Hours: 8-5:30 M-F, 8-5 Sat.

Make Hay while the Sun shines.

dvp

is a non-profit, student-funded, diverse and committed organization...this is a straight forward ad...tomorrow is the last day to submit an application — there is no screening process, rather, a painless orientation —

— JOIN —

Applications available in

S.U. 415 & at C.C. Info. Desk.

Orientation: 1 April 77

(new members must attend — this is the 1st indication of your commitment)

Four Seasons

Package Store

Discount Liquers

RUSSELL ST. HADLEY

at the Mt Farms Mall

Fleischmann's Gin

$8.99

½ Gallon

Sugg. Retail $11.15

Save $2.16

FLEISCHMANN'S
DISTILLED DRY GIN HALF GALLON

Schlitz

$5.69

Case

12 oz. Cans

Donelli Lambrusco

$1.49

Fifth

Rosegarden Liebfraumilch

$1.79

Fifth

Thursday 3/17/77 to Wednesday 3/23/77

We reserve the right to limit quantities

ALL FOR LOVE AND THE WORLD WELL LOST

At Hampshire College

Directed by Peter Haas

By Kevin Turcotte

Okay, for those of you who missed All For Love And The World Well Lost, which played at Hampshire College's Performing Arts Center, from March 10-13, here is a little experiment that might help to recreate the atmosphere of the play:

1. Put on some nice Elizabethan chamber music; some soft harpsichords and cellos perhaps.
2. Sit back and let the subtle rhythms flow; listen to the nuances of the strings. Sink into the music.
3. Now instantly — rip the chamber music off the turntable and slap on some hard-drivin' 50's rock 'n roll; Little Richard, Chuck Berry — anybody with a good raw, street sound.
4. Before the song is over flip on the chamber music again. Ah, softness!
5. Now quickly, switch it back! Loud and full of energy.
6. Switch again, hurry up now!
7. Again, faster.
8. Again...

Conclusion: after about two hours of this, you just might capture the tiniest fractional essence of what All For Love was all about

All For Love, adapted and directed by Peter Haas is nothing more than Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet played off scene for scene with West Side Story. One scene from Romeo and then one scene from West Side Story, just like that little experiment I prescribed.

The idea of combining Romeo and Juliet with a 50's street gang culture was excellent; West Side Story, one of the most popular reworkings of the R&J theme, stands by itself as testament to this. But...the combination of Romeo and Juliet and West Side Story was far less than excellent.

The West Side scenes were far better than the Romeo ones, and this was part of the problem. Every other scene was fairly good and on the average, the intervening scenes weren't — there was a discordant tone to the whole play.

There was one major reason the Romeo scenes fell short — the manner in which the actors delivered the lines. Shakespeare is difficult, the rhyming iambic pentameter lines he used for his nobler characters have to be delivered just right or they sound like doggerel. Unfortunately some of the actors in the Hampshire production accented the rhyme instead of the flow and content of their lines.

This is not to imply the actors were lousy — Beth Sweeney who played Juliet moved like the spirit of love. Her nurse, played by Hilary Chaplain was also good. Benvolio, was acted quite well by Caroline Johnson. But those lines! Aghh!

The actors in the West Side scenes were, for the most part, good. Sharon Breslau as Maria, and Steven Lieb as Tony played the star-crossed lovers with tenderness, innocence and feeling. John Oldach was believably energetic and impulsive as Riff, Tony's best friend who gets murdered by Maria's brother. Evelyn Carrasquillo, who plays Maria's friend Anita, deserves only one word — scratched next to her name in my program — excellent. She turned in the single best performance of the night, acting soft humor to cold rage with equal credibility.

Obviously then, my claims against All For Love are not against the actors (except for those beautiful lines delivered so...so...AGHHHHHH!) but more against the basic concept of the whole experiment.

JESSE AND THE BANDIT QUEEN

By David Freeman

City Studio Theatre

By Ann Grant

Oh God, good theatre is alive in Northampton! As the first offering of their Spring season, David Freeman's Jesse and the Bandit Queen sets a pretty exciting pace for City Studio Theatre.

The play is steeped in the myths of Jesse James and the fabrication of his relationship with the infamous Belle Starr (billed by the Police Gazette as the female Jesse James.) There is no reality for the characters, merely verbal references to setting the truth to print, exposing all else as fiction. But the myths have too strong a hold and both characters are murdered, still trapped within them.

In the series of flashbacks that develop the myth, Belle plays all the characters in Jesse's life, male and female, and Jesse takes the roles of Belle's intimates, including her horse, Venus. Yet each character must choose an identity he or she is comfortable with, even if it means dismissing reality. "I'm Jessie and only I can die like Jesse," Jessie must assert. Ultimately, however, they become each other.

Director Margaret Van Sant made all of these possibly confusing transitions, of both time and character, extremely smooth. By effective use of vertical and horizontal motion, dimming lights and blackouts, as well as minor costume changes, each scene merged into the next with energy, grace and comprehension.

The action begins on a balcony, and moves down from there. This second level, and the noose that hangs from above it, are the basis for the vertical movement within the performance. The use of this split-level stage is not overdone and Ms. Van Sant should be applauded for its success and balance.

One cannot imagine any other actor in the area in the role of Jesse; Roy Faudree is perfect. He is lazy and lustful, he is strong and confused, each as the role demands it. His consistence becomes the play's consistence. At times, mostly in the beginning of the performance, his voice is garbled and the meaning is lost someplace between stage and audience.

And yet, even in his weakest moments, his energy and enthusiasm for the role of Jesse shine through, much like the sunset he and Belle ride off to at the end of each act.

As good as Roy Faudree is, Janice Collett Cuddy is even better. This lovely woman is the most professional actress in the entire valley and we should all be glad that she has found her way to City Studio Theatre. Belle is a most demanding role, she must ooze with sex, roll on the floor with Jesse, only to be extremely masculine, a leader of men, a moment later.

And unlike Jesse, she is almost always active, emotions in a constant excitement. She cannot let her guard down once. Ms. Cuddy is all these things.

If Jesse and the Bandit Queen is an indication of what we can expect from her in the future, then Janice Collett Cuddy can take any role and make it believable. She is versatile and stimulating. But most of all, she is alive!

Jesse and the Bandit Queen will be at City Studio Theatre March 17-20, 24-27, 31-April 3. This is not a performance to be missed. City Studio Theatre is growing all the time, with better programs, better sets. It is exciting to part of that growth. Call 584-3978 for tickets and information.

Art

WOODCUTS BY ELLIOT OFFNER

Twenty-eight sculptures in wood and bronze

Seasongood Gallery

Smith College Museum of Art

Through April 10 Call for hours.

By James McCann

Elliot Offner, a sculptor and art professor at Smith College, is currently exhibiting his sculptures in wood, bronze and marble as well as woodcuts and drawings at the Smith College Museum of Art. The exhibition contains works created between 1965 and 1977 and can be experienced in the Seasongood Gallery of the Museum until April 10.

Each of Offner's sculptures are executed with a high degree of technical craftmanship. Preserved in bronze, his fish reliefs are reminiscent of fossils excavated from the earth's ancient past. The fleshless fish appear as raised skeletal x-rays. The effect of these images contains the vitality of organic life. The dark, earthy green of the bronze combined with scrapes, surface markings and the uneven shape of the entire relief enhances this organic quality.

The sculptor has a nice touch with wood. The rivers of wood grain in themselves are intriguing. His lifesize Bird, 1976, carved in birch, resembles a prehistoric flightless bird. The maple Great Wood Skull, 1973 has a curving shapeliness and being placed vertically has an upward sweeping motion. The surfaces of these wood pieces give a feeling of smoothness and sensuality.

Offner's most recent sculpture is the just completed St. Francis, in cherry, 1977, a lifesize figure modeled in the image of the artist's son. The high seriousness of the facial expression holding in his outstretched hand a plump, funny-looking bird becomes almost comical. His medieval, helmeted heads and interlocking multiheaded busts in marble and bronze are sinister and macabre. His retinal woodcuts are trash. Trees, griffins, a board and a giraffe like the kind of schlock art one may find in a shopping mall. There is a sheep-like quality involved here.

With the possible exception of a few sculptures much of this person's art reflects a repressed imagination; birds that can't fly, spiritless skulls, heads in mental bondage and sterile woodcuts. The morbid imagery of much of the show juxtaposed to medieval figures induces a surrealistic mood in the gallery as whole. It's outward manifestation of the decay of traditional western spirituality. Although the artist handles his materials with virtuosity his art is often repetitious and lacks a free experimentation with materials. It seems the artist here has become so imbued with received ideas of what art is, based on old systems of thought that he's confined in the dead past. I feel that it is up to an artist to think for oneself, break loose from the cultural stereotypes and reinvent the concept of art while at the same time being aware of the chess game of art. Art should mirror the times with ones own art being alive in ones lifetime instead of dwelling on what was perhaps a past subconscious incarnation.

Elliot Offner's motivation to make art seems to have become habitual and fixed. Overall this show is not very inspirational but I urge you to form an independent opinion.

Central

Area

Elections

Elections for President, Vice President and Treasurer of Central Area Council are to be held on Mon., March 28 at 7:15 in the Chadbourne Seminar Room. The election is open to all residents of central area. If you want to take part in affairs that affect you, then come announce your nomination and run for office.

Subsidized by your SGA.

COMMUTERS

elections for the

Commuter Collective

to be held Wed. & Thurs.

in the Cape Cod Lounge.

The Commuter Collective is the Commuters Area Gov't.

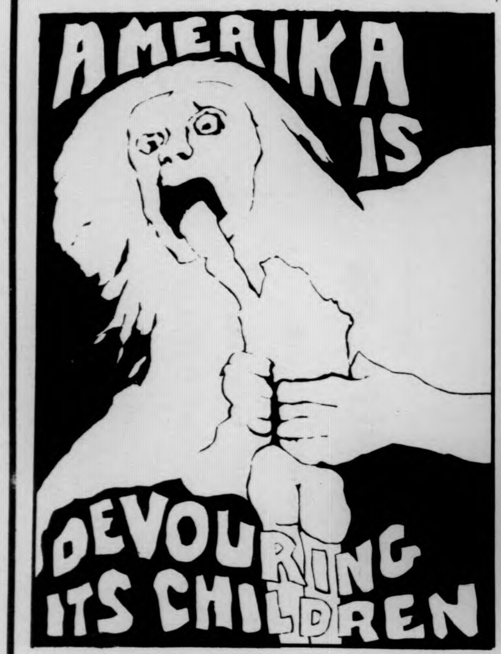
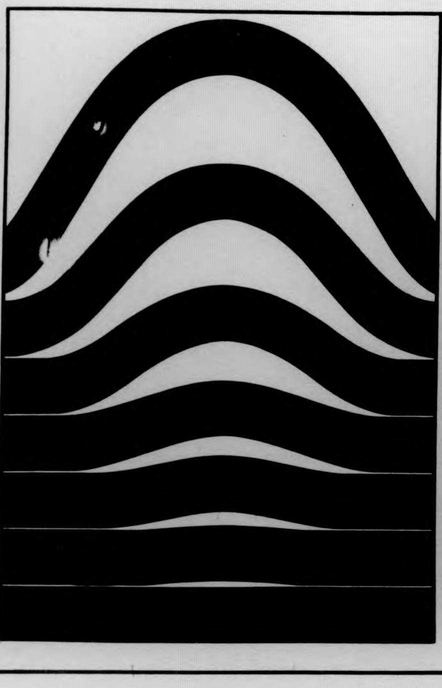
Below The Salt

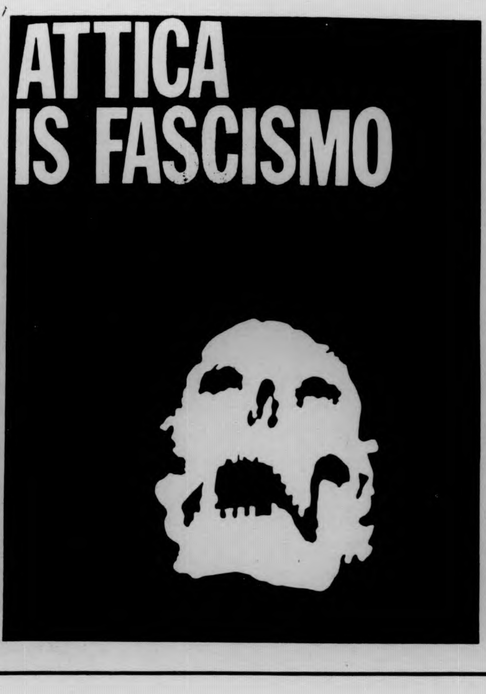
Fiction & Poetry

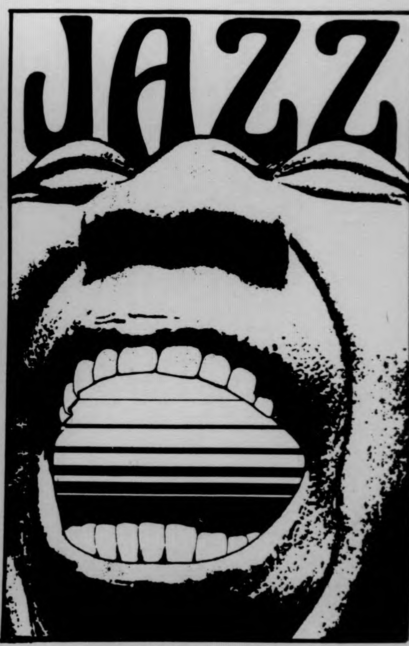
Deadline March 28!

6
NOW SERVING
MEXICAN FOOD!
VILLAGE INN
OPENING SPECIAL
TAMALE DINNER, 2.75
Mexican drinks are doubles (with dinner).
DRAKE
Tel. 253-2548









Subway walls and tenement halls

IMAGES OF AN ERA: THE AMERICAN POSTER 1945-1975
M.I.T. Press
292 pps. $29.95 cloth — $17.95 paper

By Debbie Schafer

Thick spirals of dust sweep through the empty subway station swirling yesterday's headlines and other scraps of refuse along the abandoned corridors. A grinning skeleton laureled in some petals beckons you on to the Oxford Circle Avalon Ballroom. Sept. 16, Sept. 17, Ticket Outlets: San Francisco...further along, the red and the black urge you to unite with your fellow consumers and Boycott Head Lettuce...Uncle Sam, Save a Whale, The Marines, Levi's Saddleman Boots and Jeans...

However we may choose to write our history, we will be judged by what we leave behind. We judge the lifestyle of ancient civilizations by the hieroglyphs left on their walls, in tenements and temples. Likewise, we can learn much about ourselves by looking at what we leave behind, from the commonplace to the sublime.

Consider for a moment the artifacts left by the Ancient Egyptian culture; we may call their hieroglyphs and their statues 'art' and indeed they are, but to the people who created them they were much more. Hieroglyphys on temple walls told the life stories of their gods and rulers; the statues found in tombs were not mere decorations but were the spiritual protectors of the Paroahs buried within. These creations were not 'art for art's sake', rather they were art created for a specific function and purpose.

Art with a purpose, art with ulterior motives — certainly in our media-dominated society posters fall into this category. We tend to overlook the advertising poster when we think of art; it is easy for us to ignore the fact that many 'art masterpieces' were created at the demand of some despot ruler, but less easy for us to forget a poster's purpose which is usually to sell something.

A good way to gain insights into daily American life a few decades ago would be to study the classified ads in the newspapers of the time. They tell us more about popular culture than do the news stories themselves. Take the classified a step further, making it an illustration, and we have not only a piece of popular history but an art form as well.

Images of an Era: The American Poster 1945-1975 is a nicely produced volume which presents the poster in an historical as well as artistic context. It is a book which defies classification since it is an art book and a history book as well; it has appeal for the student of political science-history, the art historian, and the person who wants a glimpse of the changing times. Images of an Era is a collection of the history and the art which is found on the subway walls and tenement halls of these United States.

The book is based on an exhibition arranged under the auspices of the National Collection of Fine Arts at the Smithsonian Institution. The exhibit toured the United States during the bicentennial year and is currently making the rounds in Europe, but the reproductions in the book are so fine that I scarcely regret missing the actual exhibit. The price of the book will make a considerable dent ($29.95 cloth, $17.95 paper) in most student pocketbooks, but it is well worth the investment.

The selections included in Images of an Era cover a wide range from both a chronological and stylistic viewpoint. Included are simple, straightforward posters from the Kennedy and L.B.J. presidential campaign as well as the stylistically unusual items produced by Milton Glazer and the Push Pin Studio of New York. There are several psychedelic art posters from the sixties including the classic Grateful Dead poster. Looking through this collection of works you are likely to see a few posters that hung on your own wall a few years ago, and many more that you may not own but will recognize instantly.

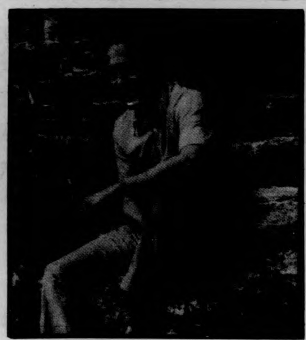
There are obscure posters as well, including silkscreens on computer printout paper by unknown artists. Images of an Era has accomplished the extremely difficult task of presenting a "cross section" of this multi-faceted medium, going from rough silkscreen original to Madison Avenue slick. The subject matter is diverse, from "noble causes" to Broadway plays to Jewish rye bread to "Nixon's the One".

This is indeed the Age of the Poster. Walter Dill Scott (1869-1955) insisted to advertisers that they must"...appeal to ruling interests and motives, the desire to be healthy, to hoard, to possess, to wear smart clothes, to get something for nothing, to be like the more privileged and successful classes."

The poster emerged as the perfect vehicle for these advertisers to play upon the vices of its expanding literate public. It involved the observer, participatory illustration, where the unsuspecting public was forced to play its part in the 45x 30 inch offset lithograph theatres.

The art of the poster has expanded over the years. We tend to look at posters and let them pass out of our thoughts quickly, since we are constantly exposed to them constantly (just walk through any corridor on campus). They warrant a closer look, and Images of an Era provides us with the chance to take that closer look.

We can learn a lot about ourselves by looking at what we leave behind, stuck to our walls and billboards.



FALCONER
By John Cheever
Alfred A. Knopf — New York
211 pgs. — $7.95

By Mark Leccese

America is a society of middle-class failures. Almost by definition, to be amongst the American middle-class is to have failed; the great despair of the American is that he is not rich, not happy, and, most importantly, not satisfied. The much heralded American Dream, like any other aspiration to true happiness and contentment, is self-defeating. By the nature of the society, the middle-class does not get rich or happy, and this seeming failure is frustrating and confusing. The constant, unrelenting change of modern society adds salt to this wound, and the middle-class is left with a deep despair that it can neither understand nor cope with.

The finest writers of our generation are chroniclers of this helpless despair. Both in fiction and non-fiction, names spring readily to mind: Bellow, Mailer, Didion, Updike, and, of course, John Cheever.

Portraits of middle-class and upper-middle-class life and values gone awry are Cheever's forte. He autopsies the dead dreams and shows us the failed heart. His three previous novels and many of his short stories are on this theme.

But with Falconer he has outdone himself. Not only does he delineate his theme with grace, but the quality of the prose, even more so than other Cheever, is magnificent.

The book is eerily elusive and subliminal. There is no plot line to speak of, and the story moves along slowly, effortlessly, almost imperceptibly, and envelopes the reader like a warm fog rolling in off the sea.

Falconer is about a man named Farragut, a university professor and a heroin addict. He has murdered his brother with a fireplace poker, and is sent to Falconer Correctional Facility (which is the latest name in a series of bureaucratic euphemisms: "Above the escutcheon was a declension of the place-names: Falconer Jail 1871, Falconer Reformitory, Falconer Federal Penitentiary, Falconer Correctional Facility, and the last, which had never caught on: Daybreak House.")

The first section of the book, while Farragut makes his adjustment from the outside world to prison, is a terrifying nightmare. He is sent to cellblock F, which is full of criminal characters, all of whom Cheever has made quite delightful (although Cheever will not let you forget they are criminals; when Farragut first arrives, one of the cons asks to look at his watch. Farragut hands it to him, the con pockets it, and Farragut is not able to get it back). The cellblock is presided over by a huge guard, called Tiny, who introduces him to the block. " 'You got cellblock F,' he said. 'F stands for fucks, freaks, fools, fruits, first-timers, fat-asses like me, phantoms, funnies, fanatics, feebies, fences and farts. There's more, but I forget it. The guy who made it up is dead.' "

Farragut's wife comes to see him, and even though he can predict their words of their quarrels, she goes a step farther. " 'You are the biggest mistake I ever made,' she said softly. 'I thought that my life was one hundred per cent frustration, but when you killed your brother I saw that I had underestimated my problems.' "

Farragut slowly adjusts to prison life. He is given a typist's job, falls in with the group on his cellblock, and, like many of the other prisoners, finds a male lover.

Prison is an allegory that writers have often used to show man facing his death, facing nothingness, coming to grips with life. For Farragut, it is a cleansing, both figuratively and literally, since he is on the prison methadone program, gradually easing out of his heroin addiction. "The drug he needed was a distillate of earth, air, water and fire. He was mortal and his addiction was a beautiful illustration of the bounds of his mortality."

As he is cleansed, Farragut's lust for life grows stronger. Unlike the prisoner Mersault in Camus' The Stranger, he cannot live on memories; indeed, prison fades his memories as he changes. "As a prisoner, (he) found his memories of the world to be broken, intermittent and dependent upon chance smells — grass, shoe leather, the odor of piped water in the showers. He possessed some memories, but they were eclipsed and indisposed."

We come to find out, later in the book, the circumstances of the murder of his brother. The brother is a heinous character, who has tried to kill Farragut, it seems, in not so subtle ways, like urging him to take a swim, which Farragut loves, in waters that were shark infested. He tauntingly reminds Farragut that their father did not want Farragut, and brought an abortionist to the house when his mother was pregnant. Farragut can stand no more, and kills his brother. The murder, so wrong in the judiciary system, appears to the reader as the only moral choice; indeed, when Farragut recounts the event, the reader wants to stand up and cheer.

As the book progresses, Farragut's emptyness of despair fills up. The Dream had gone sour for him, but now, distanced from it by prison walls, he begins to make peace with it.

Farragut watches his lover escape. He watches his friend die, on the cot in Farragut's cell, and escapes with the ease of a man stepping onto a cross-town bus by hiding in the dead man's burial sack and being carried out of the prison. Each event, culminating with the escape, brings him closer to an understanding of his world.

Falconer is a story of rebirth. Falconer is also a book by a reborn man. In the eight years since his last novel, Bullet Park. Cheever reportedly drank himself into alcoholism, and suffered a severe heart attack. He has recovered well from both the heart attack and the drinking problem, and in Falconer he so beautifully and vividly makes us feel this elated sense of rebirth.

Cheever, indeed, produced a work of genius. Like any masterpiece, it is brilliant on many levels. The prose strikes you first. It is smooth and terse at once. The characters are rich and well-defined. But, most importantly, its genius lies in the fact that it is a solid whole. One comes away from the book with a single feeling, a vague emotion of exhaltation; Cheever has magnificently dropped some human truth into our laps, and, like a cat, it makes itself quite at home there.

STREET OF CROCODILES
By Bruno Schulz
Penguin Books.

By Lisa Melilli

Bruno Schulz first read Franz Kafka's THE TRIAL after the 1934 publication of his group of short stories, Cinnamon Shops, which has recently been published under the title The Street Of Crocodiles. And that's surprising, because you see, Schulz and Kafka present to their readers a similar philosophy of life expressed in a similar literary style.

Both Schulz and Kafka view life as an overly systematized, agonizing existence where men and women in reality are reduced to a stifled existence. But there Kafka ends and there the beauty power of Schulz begins. The special depth of Schulz's writing, his source and final goal, is that he offers an alternative to this rut of living in the "real world." He offers to his reader the alternative of returning to the imaginative and free state of mind that is a child's.

Most critics of the Street Of Crocodiles have pointed to the blend of the real and the fantastic in Schulz's short stories. But what these critics fail to see is that the real is the everyday flow of events of people's lifes; the fantastic is their flight from this dull reality to the mythic world common to children.

Schulz calls this myth of reality "maturity into childhood." As Jerry Ficowski writes in the introduction to this collective of sixteen short stories, "childhood here is understood as the stage when each sensation is accompanied by an inventive act of the imagination, where reality, not yet systematized by experience, 'submits' to new association, assumes the forms suggested to it, and comes to life fecund with dynamic visions; childhood is a stage when etiological myths are born at every step...From sublime spheres the Schulzian myth sinks to the depths of ordinary existence; or, if you will, what Schulz gives us is the mythological Ascension of the Everyday.

The Street of Crocodiles which Schulz claims is autobiographical, presents to the reader a blend of eerie characters of the small Polish town where he grew up and about his wildly eccentric family — particularly his father. Schulz's father is a maddened shopkeeper who imports rare birds' eggs to hatch in his attic, who believes tailor's dummies should be treated like people, and whose obsessive fear of cockroaches causes him to resemble one. There are uncles and aunts and cousins and his mother who did not love her husband properly and who condemned him to an existence in the periphery of life. There is Adela, the servant girl, who dominates the attention of this dying father and listens and believes his maddened, mythic beliefs.

There are the people of Drogobych who found prosperity when oil struck near the city which destroys the old patriarchal way of life, bringing false values, americanization, and hangs the quaintness of the cinnamon shops on the Street of Crocodiles into something brass, second-rate, questionable. As Schulz says in Street of Crocodiles: "The Street of Crocodiles was a concession of our city to modernity and metropolitan corruption. Obviously, we were unable to afford anything better than a paper imitation, a montage of illustrations cut out from last year's moldering newspapers."

The Street of Crocodiles is the fifth volume in Philip Roth's Writers from the Other Europe series. As Isaac Bashevis Singer has written: "Schulz cannot be easily classified. He can be called a surrealist, a symbolist, an expressionist, a modernist...He wrote sometimes like Kafka, sometimes like Proust, and at times succeeded in reaching depths that neither of them reached."

And I'll add one more description of Schulz as a writer, he was a naturalist, a literary school derived from Darwin's theory that man is an extention of the ape. As a naturalist, Schulz is solely interested in the emotional side of man where ones actions are derived solely from an animal-like instinct and not the reasoning faculties of the mind. In this, Schulz's prose is almost void of dialogue and involves precise description of his character's actions and does not discuss the rationality behind such actions. But Schulz's prose does move, nonetheless, and is filled with vivid images which keep the reader interested.

Schulz is a phenomenon in the sphere of Polish literature. Born in 1892 into a Jewish merchant family, he never left his native Drogobych for very long. For almost twenty years he worked there as a teacher of drawing and handicrafts. He led the life of a recluse and maintained contact with those near to him through letters. The outbreak of World War II found him confined with other Jews in the ghetto of Drogobych and in 1942 when he ventured into the "Aryan" section of the city, was shot and killed by the Gestapo.

Obviously, Schulz has much to say to an American audience. However, if you haven't enjoyed Kafka, Proust, Mann or any of the American naturalistic writers such as Frank Norris or Stephen Crane you won't like Schulz. If you have, then I highly recommend The Streets of Crocodiles. It makes for an easily read collection of short stories stored with much food for thought.

Nikolais

con't from pg. 3

A really funny sequence was the "Mannequins Ball" which conveyed the confusion between "insiders" and "outsiders". The backdrop slides featured a series of bald, blank-faced mannequin heads which blended well with a puppet attached to their costume. Another sequence laced with humor and satire had two grinning dancer-puppets rebel against the overlords. In the end the two conquer all by destroying the others with makeshift bats, only to finally destroy themselves.

The audience reaction to Nikolais varied both nights with a semi-standing ovation Friday to a subdued response on Saturday. There was also a diversity of comments with some thinking Nikolais to be weird and others complaining of the lack of dance, while the majority of the audience evidently enjoyed it. Anyway, like any art form Nikolais is open to individual interpretation and preference, and because of its unconventionality there was more of a discrepancy than in other dance companies. I found both programs to be visually and aurally entertaining as well as thought provoking, and left Nikolais on that note.

HOME
Sweet Home

There's no place like home and we make it easy to get there. Peter Pan and Continental Trailways offer convenient, express service to Boston, New York and many other points.

PETER PAN BUS LINES & CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

Peter Pan
MAKE LIFE SIMPLER FOR YOU.
CONTINENTAL TRAILWAYS

For Information, Schedules and Prices,
Contact: Campus Center Bus Office
Tel. 545-2006 or 549-6000

The Paper Clip Ltd.

SAVE 40%

March Sale

IMPRINT HL IMPRINT AO IMPRINT BC

Rytex Antique Vellum Stationery

100 sheets & envelopes, Only $6.95 regularly $12

The subtle laidmark pattern in this handsome paper dates back to the beginning of papermaking when handmade sheets were placed on latticed racks to dry in the sun. Today, Antique Vellum still bears this handworked touch, refined for use with modern pen or typewriter. Select from luxury shades of white, pale blue or soft grey paper color in princess or monarch size sheets. Choice of imprint styles as shown (HL, AO, BC) in deep blue, dark grey. Gift boxed.

Bonus: 50 extra, unprinted sheets for second pages, $2.00 with order.

May 8th is Mothers' Day!

25 S. Pleasant St., Amherst
"at the lights," downtown
256-8598

Spirit Haus
Liquor Store
Open Daily till 11 p.m.
Amherst Largest Full Service Liquor Store

THIS WEEK'S SPECIALS

Tuborg Gold Beer 12 oz. cans $5.69 a case
Falstaff $5.25 a case
Old Milwaukee Beer 12 oz. cans $5.59 case
COTT Ginger Ale Qts. 2 for 79c
Club Soda Tonic Case of Qts. $4.39
PEPSI 79c 2 qt. bottles $4.39 case of qt.

OVER STOCK WINES
Mateuse $3.29 fifth
Lake Niagara $2.19 fifth
Nectar Rose $2.39 fifth
Paul Masson Sangria $1.29 fifth
Moselblumchen $1.99 fifth
Opici Lambrusco $1.49 fifth
Inglenook $5.99 gal.
Korbel's Pinot Noir Cabenet Sauvignon $2.89 fifth
Growers $3.99 gal.
Riunite Lambrusco $2.29 fifth

Large assortment of kegs.
We have over 90 brands of imported beer
(Mix your own variety six pack)
338 College St. Rt. 9 Amherst 253-5384
Not responsible for typographical errors.

the Hungry U Restaurant

St. Patrick's Day Special

Corned Beef & Cabbage Dinner $1.99
Get a Mug of Beer for 5c with dinner
Harp & Guiness Stout Beer 75¢

Now Serving your Favorite Selection of Cocktails and Alcoholic Beverages

55 University Drive
Amherst, Mass.
549-5713

Open Sun.-Thurs., 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri. & Sat., 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.

PULPLICATIONS
NEW & USED TITLES IN SOFTCOVER

HANDWRITING
By Klara Roman
Pantheon Books
382 pps $4.95

By William Brett Parent

Handwriting, by Klara Roman, is a re-release of a book first published in 1952. After all this time it still remains one of the finest resource books on the science of Graphology.

Handwriting analysis? The science of graphology?

Indeed, handwriting analysis is found at strange corners of the world; circus side shows, computorized in shopping centers, cocktail parties and sophisticated journals in psychology.

True, it is hard to take such a subject seriously when mastery is promised by a fifty cent checkout counter paperback — but really there is much to be said about the science of graphology.

Unconsciously, we are all handwriting analysts. How often have we made character judgements on a friend when handwriting is scrubby and scribbled? Or when a love note is written in large, ornate letters with circular i-dots? Or when a signature flows and flourishes all over the paper? Such analysis is obvious, but the science of graphology is much more complicated; as complicated as the human personality itself.

In fact, Roman is best known for her work in correlating handwriting to child development, and personality growth.

Handwriting is still one of the classics on handwriting analysis in the English language, and if one is to delve into this subject at all, Roman's book should be one of the first read, at least once.

Roman's research is done at a very scholarly level and yet the book is written clearly for the layperson. She shows skill in taking the complex signs of graphic expression and giving not only the "what" but the "whys" for analysis of traits.

Roman is very serious about her work and warns against the misuse of handwriting analysis by a novice. She acknowledges that Graphology is a young science and that the most important discoveries have yet to be made. Until more research is available, Roman says, "we must rest mainly on psychmetrically and experimentally verified observations" in order to build on the science.

Of course, there is a problem presented by the age of the Roman book. Much of the research which has been done in the past twenty years, as well as the changes in handwriting curriculum, have not been properly taken into account.

Nevertheless, Klara Roman's work remains pure and vital to anyone interested in the science, and I repeat, science of graphology.

DANGERS
By Heather McHugh
Poetry — Houghton Mifflin
96 pps $4.50

By E. Patrick McQuaid

Heather McHugh may very well be the only living 17th century poet. Surely Johnson would condemn her first volume, Dangers, for its "witty conceits, far-fetched imagery" and as the editors at Houghton Mifflin have called it, "sinuous wit." Modern opinion holds a place for the Metaphysical however, so keep a watchful eye if you haven't already seen the name of Heather McHugh you surely will soon enough. Her poems have appeared in the pages of the most prestigious publications: Harper's Magazine, The New Yorker, Atlantic Monthly, and Antioch Review where she, incidentally, has taught English. She is now an Assistant Professor of the same at the State University of New York at Binghamton.

Sometimes we may choose our role in life: observer, analyst, experimenter. Whatever, we are warned by McHugh that there is a danger in getting too close in our examination — Beware, you may get involved. But perhaps our flirting with the serious side of things is what keeps us alive. "Live dangerously!" coined Nietzsche is not only the theme but the very style of her work. She calls on a line from Browning's "Bishop Blougram's Apology" to sum up her sentiments: "Our interest's on the dangerous edge of things..."

Let me be more specific: you interest me, Heather McHugh. Through the thick guise of your "anything-up-the ass"-attitude something very positive resonates from these poems. Something worth holding on to; something worth caring about.

From "Sleep, after Ray Charles and Hurricane Report" on page 6:

Life is the mother with murder in her eye, and we are junked and treasured every one regardless.

FROM WOMAN TO WOMAN
By Lucienne Lanson, M.D.
Knopf Publishers
416 pps. $4.95

By Debbie Schafer

This is a lengthy volume written by a woman gynecologist for the enlightenment of other women who are not gynecologists. "...the average woman," writes Dr. Lanson (p. 3), "consulting her gynecologist is as enlightened about the workings of her own body as she is about the intricacies of the second-stage rocket blast-off." It is with this assumption of our ignorance that Lucienne Larson, MD., F.A.C.O.G. sets out to explain the intricate mysteries of female physiology.

This reference work takes the form of question—answer that brings to mind Dr. David Rubin's "Everything you always wanted to know..." series. They range from the simplest facts of anatomy ("What exactly are the privates"?) to other more complex matters of concern to many women. There is a chapter entitled "The Ultimate Choice — Is Sterilization for You?" and the book includes discussion of rape, VD, and other topics that are sources of much anxiety to the uninformed woman.

There is much that can be learned from Woman to Woman, especially for the woman who is afraid to discuss matters with her gynecologist or who has an unsympathetic doctor. It is by no means without worth, yet I have reservations about this book.

Dr. Lanson has cashed in on her womanhood here; it is implied in her book and by its title that since the information within is written by a woman it is somehow worth more than if it had been written by a man. This is true in some cases, as those who have read Our Bodies, Our Selves may agree. But From Woman to Woman is, in general, little more than a clinical reference work. There are hundreds of them on the market, but this one has the title to give it feminist-appeal.

If you are looking for an informative, easy to read reference manual then From Woman to Woman is a wise investment; it covers a wide range of topics. But if you're looking for any sort of political statement concerning women's health care (beyond an unconvincing "I too, prior to attending medical school, felt the same frustration in being unable to communicate properly with my doctor...") then this book is not for you.

ON THE JOB
Fiction About Work
Edited by William O'Rourke
Vintage Books—Random House
356 pps $3.95

By E. Patrick McQuaid

On The Job is the fictional account of Louis (Studs) Terkel's exhausting documentary on America's touchiest taboo and literature's oldest, most sacred theme: work.

Rarely does a collection of contemporary short fiction come along that does not overlap its predecessors throughout. Little can be offered, can be said about the selections that has not already been deliberated upon openly in both previous print and in the classroom. What is good about On The Job is that the particular selections are unique to this volume. It would be extremely unlikely, as editor William O'Rourke points out in his notes, for the reader to encounter these stories in any other anthology.

These are not all "new" stories, but the reader may meet them for the first time and discover what the editor has called "new attitudes." They have all been chosen quite carefully to outline the particular evolution of modern fiction that O'Rourke discusses in his forward. Namely, during this, the reign of media, non-fiction has risen over fiction because it can, in most cases, be trusted; thus there has been a movement in contemporary fiction to take the world at face value and set it to copy. Observation minus analysis. Truth.

On The Job is designed for an academic audience. At a little more than a penny per page it may be a steep sticker for soft cover but for the required reading lists that it is most likely to end up on it is fairly inexpensive as far as textbooks run.

In the same line, Stephen Dixon's (No Relief , reviewed in BTS-March 3) WORK is due for publication in June by Street Fiction Press. It's a novel and promises to be as interesting as his last piece of work.

EMOTIONAL FLOODING: HOW TO GET IN TOUCH WITH YOUR OWN FEELINGS
Editor, Paul Olsen, Ph.D., et al.
Penguin Books
270 pp $2.50

By Patti Rosenberg

Publishers are no dummies; they know what sells and package their products accordingly. Hence the misleading subtitle of this anthology. This is not another "hang-loose-be-up-front" self-help manual by someone whose chief qualifications are a sunny disposition, psych 101, and a basically optimistic approach to life. Rather it is a collection that grew out of the second annual professional conference and workshop of the National Institute for the Psychotherapies. There is plenty of jargon and too much territory; the table of contents alone spews forth "existential-Gestalt therapy," "Implosive therapy," "intense feeling therapy" (intense feeling therapy?!), "sensory hypnoanalysis," "structural integration," "bioenergetic analysis," turn to pg. 10

Art
Painters As Poets

Through March 18th
University Gallery
Fine Arts Center UMass

By Alida Howard

Three members of the Fine Arts faculty, Leonel Gongora, John Grillo, and Wang Hui Ming, will be displaying their individual ideas in poetry and painting throughout tomorrow at the University Gallery located in the Fine Arts Center.

Gongora, a native of Colombia, has been teaching at UMass for more than ten years and has been painting and writing poetry since early childhood. His poems and paintings are independent of one another.

"From Uccellos and Other Battles" is the joint title of a poem and a painting on display. Each is an interpretation of Paolo Uccello's Renaissance painting "The Battle of San Romano". Gongora's painting is of a nude woman on horseback armed for battle. The rider is a haunting pinkish hue while the stallion has a sculptured, wooden quality of appearance. A blue, green, and amber background adds to the soft colour tones of the piece overall. According to Gongora the painting represents, in many aspects, the struggles of women.

"Manifestations of poetry and painting," said Gongora "come from the same impulse."

It is not difficult to imagine Gongora's painting when we view a sampling of his poem by the same title:

The Amazon on the stud —
Holding that fleshy pole —
Considering the strength —
Of that animal's charge —
And opening her loins — On the wet sweaty flanks —
Dreaming of that mane — On her breast...

John Grillo has been teaching all UMass since 1967. He considers himself a painter and considers his poetry as a personal endeavor. He has been painting since 1935, and writing poetry since 1949, though he has done many paintings, he has written relatively few poems.

Grillo's paintings generally do not have any connection with his poetry though he has a few mixed media paintings in the show incorporating poetry done in water colors and crayon. Here he tried to make associations with the colors and the words in the poems.

His other paintings are large and have names like "Pasture in Yellow" and "Purple Haze in Sunshine." These paintings are done in very intense patches of color, predominantly in yellows. Each is a study implied by the title.

When Grillo does write poetry, he says, "Ideas come when walking, observing, but I feel like I'm not there, although I'm looking at reality, I'm not in reality. I seldom sit down and write, rather I write when they come to me, sometimes jotting feelings down as I walk."

All of his poetry is from personal experience. He makes observations of life around him. He is not very active in his poetry, when he is it is mostly written during winter and spring.

Grillo feels much more thorough about his painting. He says he paints everyday and spends as much time as he can doing so. Next year his works will be shown sometime at Grace Borgenict Gallery, 1018 Madison Ave., New York.

From his untitled poem:

The world knocks — At my door
I dare not open — For what or which Mask will I wear. — The one that hardens with wear — Or the one
That dissolves — With tears?

Wang Hui Ming's poetry is his painting, as he said himself, "I am a poet in painting, also at the same time a painter in poetry." He has been at UMass since 1964.

Wang has been painting and writing poetry since his late teens. He started by publishing a weekly paper in China. He did the writing and art work, his friend did the editing; each paper was handwritten.

His works in the show are mainly woodcuts and silk screen, though he has a portfolio of watercolors called, "Summer Notebook." Each of these works incorporate the words of the poems into the designs, with the exception of some of the summer notebook, which are unplanned drawings with bright watercolors. They deal mostly with some aspects of Nature.

His work is done in two dimensions, an influence from his Chinese culture. They have been dedicated to a young friend named Peter Kaplan, who recently committed suicide.

In April on the 21st, Wang has been invited by the Academy of American Poetry to a symposia titled, "Chinese Poetry and the American Image." It will be at the Auditorium of the Guggenheim Museum, Fifth Ave. and East 89th St., N.Y.

I LIVE MY LIFE LIKE THE MIST
The mist wafts on plains,
valleys and meadows,
Gauzes over the hills and everything else. In a few Minutes, it disappears into nothingness. I will live
My life like the mist: — come without a shadow.
Leave without a track.

Emotional Flooding

con't from pg. 9

"re-grief therapy," and "Jungian analysis."

What links all these articles together is a basic rejection of the Freudian mode of psychotherapy in which the emphasis is on opening the unconscious to rational self-inspection. Here various strategies are suggested for bypassing the intellect and forcing the patient to feel, remember, and relive. The editor's introduction acknowledges the historical link between the process of "emotional flooding" and the religious practice of exorcism.

This emphasis on catharsis seems to presume emotional illnesses which are traceable to traumatic events in the past that after being fully experienced can be resolved. This sort of therapy may be appropriate for a patient like one described in "Implosive Therapy" whose "main delusion is that his persecutors have plotted to have the Internal Revenue Service send him to the electric chair. To complicate matters, he also has a sexual deviation involving getting his head defecated on that has lasted for over forty years." Ignored in this scheme of things is the "respectable" psychiatric patient, the chronically depressed, for example, but not overly "weird" patient whose problems are an on-going result of a troubled and troubling society.

SHIRTS
$5.00
Famous Name
Factory Returns and Irregulars
Originally $14-$20.
NOW $5.00
Excellent Condition
Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Fashionable
Imported Clothing
for Women
SAVE 30%
to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses
SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular
Women's Clothing at
Ridiculously Low Prices
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

$7.50
Suede Coke Kits
Vial with attached Spoon
Razor • Mirror • Tooter
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Utopian AuRa

UTOPIA
Ra
(Bearsville)

For those of you who don't know, Utopia used to be Todd Rundgren's Utopia until the release of this album, on which Todd gives equal billing to Roger Powell, John Wilcox, and Kasim Sulton. Powell and Wilcox have been with Todd for a while. Kasim Sulton, who also played on Steve Hillage's latest, replaces former Utopian bassist John Siegler.

The reason the critics jump on Todd so much is that he won't take the predictable path just because that's what they expect of him. His new music with Utopia requires considerable listening before you can obtain the full value. Ra is no exception. Utopia is not making the same music that Todd became famous for circa Something-Anything but then again, why should they be? They are setting new horizons in music for 1977, not 1972.

The only fault I can find with this album lies in the fact that lead vocals are shared by all four Utopians. It is hard for Wilcox, Powell and Sulton to match the competence of one of the finest, most expressive voices in rock music. Despite this, Ra ranks as one of Todd's best efforts. The music is at its most colorful, the songs powerful and moving, and Todd's guitar and Roger Powell's keyboard wizardry incredible.

Side one opens with a tremendous seven minute opus, "Overture-Communion with the Sun", which is one of the finest Utopian tunes ever. "Magic Dragon Theatre" is another shot of the Eastern intrigue that we saw on Initiation. "Jealousy" is a pounding Rundgren rocker which unfortunatley features John Wilcox on vocals. As it is, it's great, but with Todd singing, it would be a classic. "Eternal Love", written by Kasim Sulton and Roger Powell, is a nice mellow song which exhibits Gentle Giant-like harmonizing. "Sunburst Finish", an apocalyptic number which is one of the best on the album, closes out side one.

"Hiroshima", the opener on side two is a real killer (ha ha) which lays bare the abominable deed and bangs the point home with a fearsome instrumental passage. The remainder of the side is filled by an "electrified fairy tale". (Who but Todd would attempt it?) Amazingly it works, as narratives, lyrics, and individual instrumental solo spots for each band member alternate to form an intricate, intense, and carefully planned masterpiece.

Some may say that Rundgren is pretentious, but instead I would call him and all the members of Utopia experimental and very inventive. Despite its few weaknesses and a slight tendency towards over-indulgence, this album is one of the most amazing to be released in some time. Bravo for Todd. (A)

— Tom Aversa

Getting Out The Kinks

THE KINKS
Sleepwalker
(Arista)

With this, their first disc for Arista, Ray Davies and The Kinks have successfully turned back the hands of time. No longer is Davies transfixed by the conceptual notions which culminated in Preservation Acts 1 & 2, Soap Opera, and School boys In Disgrace, discs which, while technically perfect, were greeted by the mass public with little more than a mass yawn. As a consequence, The Kinks return here to their rock 'n' roll roots.

Schematically, Sleepwalker is a non-concept album composed of nine unrelated tunes. Davies continues his tradition of writing about the trials and tribulations of the common man, drawing upon his vast recollection of personal experience, for unlike the majority of today's antisocial rock stars, Ray feels the need for direct contact with the man in the street. His lyrics remain as sharp as ever, clearly justifying his title as "The Charles Dickens of Rock."

Standout selections on Sleepwalker include "Juke Box Music," "Full Moon," "Mr. Big Man," and the title track. Of the remaining five, only one ("Brother") is totally less than satisfactory. I highly recommend Sleepwalker to all fans of contemporary English rock. It rates a "Klassic Kink Komeback" A.

— Ross Nerenberg

LENNY WHITE
Big City
(Nemperor)

On Big City, ex-Return to Forever drummer Lenny White gathers together an impressive group of jazz-rock musicians and comes up with an always listenable and sometimes exciting album.

The album contains enough highlights to make it well worth hearing. The title cut, a White composition, features some energetic interplay between Brian Auger's keyboards and the brassy Tower of Power horn section. On the softer side, "Sweet Dreamer" contains a guest appearance by Herbie Hancock, who thankfully leaves his synthesizers at home and concentrates instead on an expressive grand piano solo. Lenny White has wisely chosen not to fill his album with tedious drum solos, for his considerable talent sounds best in an ensemble situation. The album's only drum solo, "[illegible] Loco," is a one-minute [illegible] percussion piece at the end of side one.

However, the album does have its share of lesser moments. "Rapid Transit" does have some good playing, but it largely amounts to the same sort of listless disco funk which has already been produced by numerous jazz artists who should know better. And the three-part "Enchanted Pool Suite," the album's most ambitious piece, is kept from being totally successful by some rather clumsy orchestrated passages.

As a whole, Big City indicates that Lenny White has enough talent to avoid the pitfalls and produce a totally satisfying album next time around.

— Brett Milano

MUSIC

GEORGE BENSON
IN FLIGHT
(Warner Bros.)

In Flight comes upon the heels of George Benson's phenomenally successful album, Breezin', which recently became the best selling 'jazz' album of all time. Whether or not Mr. Benson's music is truly 'jazz' is debatable but pointless. Music needs no category.

It is, I think, unfortunate that George Benson the vocalist has been 'discovered' for on this album George Benson the guitarist is largely overshadowed. Of the six cuts, Mr. Benson sings on four; on [illegible] vocal. This is not to say that Mr. Benson cannot sing, but rather that he is a far more accomplished guitarist and the guitar, not the voice, should be his primary instrument.

In Flight, like Breezin', contains six cuts, three [illegible] side. The two instrumentals, "The Wind and I" and [illegible] In The Country" a[illegible] Latin-[illegible] Ronn[illegible] Jorje [illegible] on el[illegible]ustic pianos respe[illegible] vocals are more [illegible] seems a [illegible]over from "This Masquerade" with Mr. B[illegible] singing each note. [illegible] Is A Gh[illegible] "Everything Must [illegible] longer piece[illegible] guitar and voice[illegible]ed. "Gonna Love [illegible] is perhaps Mr. Bens[illegible] finest vocal since "That Lucky Old Sun," a cut from the very rare Goodies album. It should also be noted that the rhythm guita[illegible] Upchurch, is as f[illegible] as you could a[illegible]

George Be[illegible] light and ple[illegible] polished, and[illegible] simple. Whether George Benson, because of popular appeal, should be more acclaimed than men like Joe Pass, Jim Hall, and Charlie Byrd, incredible guitarists who remain in virtual obscurity is a difficult question.

However, the fact remains that Mr. Benson plays pleasant, relaxed music, music that almost everyone enjoys. Credit should be given for the product, regardless of the complexity of the work.

Perhaps it is easier merely to say, if you liked Breezin', you'll like In Flight.

—Greg Tarlin

JANIS IAN
Miracle Row
(Columbia)

On her new album, Miracle Row, Janis Ian is again preoccupied with describing loneliness and reactions to it. Unlike Between The Lines, which focused on illusions in a provocative manner, Miracle Row has no special emphasis nor anything particularly interesting to say. Except for an occasional line like: "It does nothing for the soul but tear holes in tomorrow." (Take to the Sky"), her descriptions of self-pity and of the desire "to break out of here" ("Miracle Row") are superficial and not very affecting. Her use of rhyme can drive you up the wall.

Her music isn't bad and the playing and recorded sound are excellent but these good points are overshadowed by her boring vocal style. The vocal melody line of every song is virtually the same. She doesn't even vary her style or her range. It is also surprising that a talented musician like Janis Ian doesn't seem to appreciate the importance of having musical themes that effectively complement her vocals. While the mood of her lyrics and singing is sad, her accompanying musical writing is bland. One wonders whether she isn't doing this to stay middle of the road. I would not recommend buying this album.

Steven Waldman

PABLO CRUISE
A Place In The Sun
(A & M)

Pablo Cruise's major problem is mediocrity. Whether they are this way in order to gain radio airplay or whether this is all Cruise has to offer must remain to be seen on their next album. The three songs most likely to gain radio airtime are; [illegible] Sun", "What [illegible] disco tune, and the Cruise's candidate for the Boz Scaggs sound-alike contest — "Atlanta June". The record suffers from formula songs, lack of direction, and lack of a distinctive character. The lyrics are nothing new or creative, most of them sound as if they just put new music to [illegible] lyrics. Making short appearances at various points in the sounds as if it was added as an afterthought to fill in dead space.

Two songs which deserve mention are "Tonight My Love", which uses a detuned piano for a different texture [illegible] reminiscent of Hall and [illegible] style; and "El Verano", an instrumental which provides a welcome break with a more cohesive sound, some nice piano riffs and a touch of jazz. For those who like particulars, the members of the band are; Cory Lerios-keyboards, Dave Jenkins-guitars, Bud Cockrell-bass, and Stephen Price-drums and percussion. What Cruise has done on this album is not badly done, it is just not likely to capture a lot of ears. But then AM thrives on simplistic and repetitive songs, so perhaps they'll get enough recognition so that they can progress to more original music without fear of being permanently shelved.

—K.F.

So,

JETHRO TULL
Songs From The Wood
(Chrysalis)

Of the few things the Rock Critical Establishment is guilty of, none is more blatant than the murder of Jethro Tull. The story is well known to all who've come to know and love this band; the ignorant and vile attack on A Passion Play affected Ian Anderson in the worst way, so much so that he probably won't recover. But then again he might; Songs From The Wood heralds bright things for the future, even if it is a cautious step forwards.

Wood represents an attempt to change musical styles. While it isn't enough of a change for me, the modifications made are very positive and enlightening ones. The major musical thrust is a fusion of Tull electric chamber music and Steeleye Span, folkrock rhythms and nuances. True to Anderson's genius, the end result is distinctively Tull: an extremely full sound, bright and snappy, with shifting rhythms and time changes. (The "English hairy rock" and smothering orchestrations have gratefully disappeared.)

Songs From The Wood has much to recommend; the title track, "Ring Out, Solstice Bells" and all of Side Two. "Velvet Green" and "The Whistler" are majestic tunes — the lush folk textures are something to behold. The opening barrage of "Pibroch (Cap In Hand)" are very Aqualungish and utilizes some "lifted" classical themes in the course of eight minutes. This tune is somewhat annoying at first because it's true to Tull's image; that is living in the world of Bach and Barnum and Bailey.

Even Jethro Tull as a band is back in evidence. Never have they sounded so alive since the glory years. Anderson has added a sixth member, David Palmer — assisting on keyboards. (Palmer is no stranger — Tull fans will recognize him as a long time arranger for the band) Along with Martin Barre, he has contributed additional material, pointing towards a more democratic Tull. As always, Ian Anderson is consistently excellent. Though I'm disappointed he's banished soprano sax (the instrumental highlight of A Passion Play), the return of mandolin is something I've craved for years.

The only negative aspects of Wood is what has undermined Tull for so long; Anderson's penchant for over-riffing and his spiteful, contemptuous barbs at critic and audience alike. Whether he'll forgive us for the unfair treatment of Passion Play is now up to him. (Few people really know the extent to which the bad press hurt him.) However, he is in danger of losing his most loving fans. We can only put up with this martyr complex for so long; witness the title track — "I am the cross to take your nails."

For live Tull this point is critical and in the end life or death. How long will such utter contempt go unnoticed? In the studio, as displayed by this album, Anderson has controlled himself quite adequately. Songs From The Wood is a fine Tull album and harkens toward a new and productive future.

— David Santos

Hardly room for a headline here!

Thursday, March 17

Gallery Talk — Professor of Art History William L. MacDonald will highlight some of the examples of Roman Art in The Smith College Art Museum at 1:00 p.m.

Film-View the daily life of a soldier in Vietnam in the film 365 Days at 8:00 p.m. in Burnett Gallery, Amherst College.

Lecture — Journalists of the future, learn more about yourself and the field which most intrigues you, hear Editing and Publishing: The Modern Writer and his Documents in Alumni House, Amherst College at 4:00 p.m.

Film — The Commuter Collective will present Underground, a flick about the firey sixties as part of its Progressive Film Series in the S.U.B. at 7, 9, and 11 p.m. for only $1.00.

Art Show — The children of the area elementary schools from ages 5-12 will present examples of their own art work at the Leverett Craftsmen and Artists' center 6 miles north of Amherst off Rt. 63 through March 25.

Art Exhibit — Enjoy the work of three diverse artists, Gongora, Grillo, and Hui-Ming at the University Gallery, F.A.C. in a program entitled Painters as Poets.

Friday, March 18

Folkdancing — Beginners as well as prolific international folkdancers are invited to dance at the Cape Cod Lounge of the Student Union Building from 8:00-midnight.

Painters As Poets — (see Thursday).

Monday, March 28

Student Recital — Enjoy student talent at the Benzanson Recital Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Wednesday, March 30

Music — Listen to the talented Madrigal Singers at the Benzanson Recital Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Better wear out Shoes than Sheets.

At The JOLLY
BULL!
IT'S IRISH
NITE!
Featuring:
- Potato Soup
- Corned Beef & Cabbage
- Vegetables
- Salad Bar
- Irish Coffee

$5.95
plus —
All Irish music by
The Jolly Bull Singers
Thurs., March 17, 6:30 p.m.
Reservations Only
JOLLY BULL
Rte. 9, Hadley
584-2769

Whimsical Spring Arrivals
Victorian Dresses Silk Blouses Flowery Sundresses
Baggy Drawstring Pants/Shorts
Hair Combs/Barrettes
Spray Perfumes/Soaps/Bath Oils
Sachet Pillows
Espadrilles/Clogs
People Shoes from Main-land China love at first sight
549-0700
Carriage Shops, Amherst

St. Patrick's Day
1977
11:30 to 3:00
Lunch Featuring: Corned Beef Cabbage
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST
3 til 7
Happpy Hour
Pub Mugs
25¢ Beers
75¢ Drinks
with Doc Sullivan
and
Jim Plunkett
Free
Hats
to Everyone
9 til 1
Double time
Most Drinks
and Beer
8:30 till 11
2 for 1
and
TWO WAY STREET

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 108 FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1977
Collegian

The annual spring escape from Never-Never Land. (Staff photo by Steve Hershberg)

Students urged to contact reps on CC debt

By SAMUEL P. HASSAN
Collegian Staff

Chairperson of the Campus center Board of Governors Janet A. St. Laurent yesterday urged students to contact their state legislators during spring vacation to voice support for legislation sponsored by Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, which would have the state assume responsibility for the $22 million Campus Center (CC) debt.

Collin's bill, (H.B. 5154), is awaiting final action in the House Education Committee, after which it will be referred to House Ways and Means.

Collins said yesterday that he expects "an overall favorable report," from the Education Committee.

"If it gets through House Ways and Means, it (H.B. 5154) has a very good chance of getting through the House," Collins said.

In voicing a request similar to that of St. Laurent's, SGA President elect Jon Hite said, "If you have some time next week, and are tired of paying off the bonds, by all means go see your representative."

A four person delegation from UMass Amherst presented testimony to the Education Committee on the bill February 28, citing inequity in state funding for campus center complexes in state schools.

In her report to the committee, St. Laurent stated "each of the other student unions located on the campus of a state-owned college or university in Massachusetts is owned by the state and has its debt service paid with state funds."

"While other fee increases cannot be avoided, the legislature has an opportunity to relieve some of the strain placed on students and their parents," the report stated.

Collins said several members of the House Education Committee praised the quality and delivery of testimony presented by the UMass delegation.

Of the $274 increase in student fees being proposed to the Trustees by the Administration, $15 of the increase is for the CC fee.

UMass administrator Kenneth H. Dean attributes the $15 CC fee increase to cost of living increase for CC employes for fiscal year (FY) '77 and (FY) '78.

According to Dean, the cost of living increase approved last fall was retroactive to July 1, 1976, and therefore must be made up in the FY '78 budget.

In her testimony, St. Laurent said the $79 UMass CC fee is one of the highest student union fees in the country.

SATF wins by 435 votes

By JOHN MORAN
Collegian Staff

Final results on the $7 Student activites Tax Fund (SATF) increase referendum showed students approving the increase 2,731-2,296. Ballots blank or disqualified numbered 522.

The results were finally tabulated late yesterday afternoon by SGA Governmental Affairs Committee Co-chairperson Karl Allen. Ballot counters stopped counting Thursday morning at 6:30.

More than 25 per cent of the students voted, so the referendum is binding.

"I'd say the results are statistically insignificant," Allen said. "But in an election, that doesn't matter. It only takes one vote."

Student Senate Speaker Brian J. DeLima said yesterday the results showed clearly the position of students on the issue.

"We attempted to inform the students about the necessity of the increase. I think the vote shows our success in doing so," DeLima said.

The referendum means students will pay $62 for the SATF on next semester's bill. Students had paid $57 for the funding of many student groups and services on campus including such indespensible items as the Collegian.

SGA Co-President Jay A. Martus, an opponent of the increase, said last night if the increase passed the senate would be in excellent financial shape.

"The senate won't have any need for an increase for a long, long time," Martus said.

inside

Collegian reporters Joe Maglitta and Steve Tetreault offer their analyses on the SGA election. See page 3.

Newly elected SGA co-president Jon Hite spoke at the Northeast Area Government meeting last night. See Joe Quinlan's story on page 2.

The Faculty Senate yesterday approved longer semesters. See page 3 for Mary Ellen Lowney's story.

Court rules FCC can't ban seven "filthy words" from the airwaves. See page 8.

weather

The week will not get off to a very hot start. Not even a very warm one.

Hite thanks NEAG for presidential vote

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

Co-president-elect Jon A. Hite dropped by last night's St. Patty's Day Northeast Area Government (NEAG) meeting to thank NEAG for its SGA electoral support and to field questions.

NEAG also dealt with its spring semi-formal, Quad Day, and an outside request for money.

Both Hite and his campaign manager, John Weisse, praised not only the enthusiastic participation displayed by NEAG in this week's SGA presidential election, but also its overwhelming support for the Batiste-Hite ticket. The area gave Hite-Batiste 421 of its 561 votes. Hite later answered questions of the representatives concerning topics from rhetoric requirements to staircase construction on a hill between Lewis and Johnson dorms.

NEAG president Beth Tibbetts announced that the group Landslide will be playing at the NEAG spring semi-formal on April 22 at the Campus Center. She reminded representatives tickets are priced at $5 per person.

Quad Day, tentatively scheduled April 30, will probably feature the Boston based group Ice, said Paul Goldman, of the Quad Day committee. He said dates have to be straightened out before this group is definitely contracted. Other bands playing country-rock, or blue grass, are also being sought to add variety to this day-long event.

Norman Burger, a Leisure Studies Major from Sylvan, petitioned NEAG for financial aid for his proposed New Games Tournament in late spring. He plans to hold this two day program, run by the non-profit New Games Foundation of San Francisco, California, in the area surrounding the Campus Pond. NEAG tabled consideration of a grant pending other financial obligations.

NEAG also noted that elections for NEAG officers will be Thursday, March 31. Deadline for nomination papers is Monday, March 28. Treasurer John Gross added that candidates can use stationery materials belonging to NEAG for their campaign literature.

Youngsters breeze through the spring air yesterday as they glide down Benham St. in Hamden, Conn. on their skate boards. (UPI photo)

News analyses: SGA presidential election

By STEVE TETREAULT
Collegian Staff

In an election where the issues were often cloudy, and in most places similar, the uniqueness of the candidates lay in their personalities. And sometimes the more colorful and controversial persons come out short.

While Jon Hite and Pinky Batiste were cautious and always polite, one could sense their experience in dealing with people. They knew the right words, the right people. They put people at ease. They knew how to handle the press. Not antiseptic, mind you, but near perfect in public relations.

On the other hand, talking with John Foley and Herb Tyson was akin to trying a new amusement park ride. Expect the unexpected.

While Foley's language was always colorful, it was not always printable. Talking with Foley made the reporter aware of his own role. How much of this stuff can one put in the paper without inciting a political riot?

From talking with Foley, one thing was certain: the differences between the Foley-Tyson team and the Batiste-Hite team ran much deeper than liquor co-ops, check cashing, and letter writing campaigns. More than one Foley-Tyson campaign worker said a big reason for the Foley candidacy was Foley's dislike for Hite. "Someone's got to run against Hite," Foley himself said when asked why he was running.

Until he adopted his close-mouthed stance after the Collegian endorsed Batiste-Hite, Foley rarely missed an opportunity to verbally attack Hite in talks with reporters.

On the other hand, Herb Tyson, the freshman, was like an innocent among the lions. Time and time again during the campaign, Tyson seemed amazed at the dirt flying about.

Tyson's political experience did show. For example, the team held 11 p.m. briefing sessions so Tyson could bone up on election issues, especially South Africa, which Pooler-Weissman were including on their platform.

"I'm new to this sort of stuff. I don't know anything about it," Tyson told a Foley-Tyson worker when asked if the Foley-Tyson campaign had plagiarized the Batiste-Hite poster. There were several instances when Foley would insist on doing all the talking when asked sensitive questions about the campaign.

Perhaps Tyson's biggest blunder was in losing his temper during the second SGA debate and turning a question on the proposed liquor co-op into a shouting match between himself and Batiste, with Tyson himself doing the shouting. In a campaign that had seen precious little difference in the candidates platforms, so far, that argument blew the co-op proposal into the headlines and into Batiste-Hite propaganda.

To the team's credit, its ideas were solid, its proposals sincere, its approach refreshing. When speaking off the cuff, Foley could be very convincing that the way to student power is through economic power and co-ops and job banks. Tyson had that disarming innocence. But something happened on the way to victory.

It was a lot of things. The Tyson blunder on the liquor co-op. The poster scandal. Although the Foley-Tyson campaign was cleared, even Foley said the hearings hurt the campaign. "We were way ahead before this, but its a lot closer now," he said Tuesday.

Then the clincher. The Collegian endorsed Batiste-Hite on election day. One could hardly blame the pervading sense of paranoia that hung over the campaign up until election night when the Foley-Tyson campaign workers, locked into room 601 of the Campus Center, refused to talk with the Collegian.

To overcome all those apparent obstacles and win the SGA election would have been a minor Foley-Tyson miracle. Yet they almost did it.

Not victorious, but unique and colorful.

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

In his three years at the University, Jon Hite has been called a lot of things by a lot of people, some good, some bad. Few have questioned his qualifications, or those of co-president elect Pinky Batiste.

When Batiste and Hite take over as SGA co-presidents next month, they, like all previous presidents, will have their work clearly cut out for them. Level funding hangs over the school like the sword of Damocles. Even with $7 Student Activities Tax Fund (SATF) increase, student services are still in danger. There is little unity among students.

The Batiste-Hite presidency should prove to be a logical extension of the Cronin-Martus presidency. They share common philosophies, spheres of influence, and even friends. Paul Cronin and Jay Martus were ever-present, if not always visible, during the course of the campaign. They are personally very close with the new co-presidents. There is little reason to believe this will change after Cronin and Martus leave office on April 1.

One positive result of this alliance could be how state legislators and trustees accept Batiste when she heads for the State House in a few weeks. As student trustee for the University, Batiste is faced with the imposing task of convincing state officials of the seriousness of the fiscal situation at UMass.

"It's difficult to establish personal prestige in the legislature in such a short time (one year). It takes time," said Cronin.

Through all the controversy of who stole who's poster, and what high powered endorsements everyone else was getting, the candidacy of Chuck Pooler and Joel Weissman remained on the outer fringes of it all, like two fat kids warming the bench at the neighborhood pickup games. A semi-serious Weissman remarked after the plagiarized poster incident that "no one even tried to copy our posters." He looked a little bit hurt.

Even though Pooler and Weissman only managed to collect about one-tenth the votes of each of the other candidates, they still emerged as winners in a sense.

Both are members of the Revolutionary Student Brigade, a small but vocal radical group who's most notable feature (up until this campaign) has been an uncanny ability to rub anyone in authority the wrong way.

This week's election has changed that image a bit. Though they didn't receive any support from any of the supposedly "influential" groups on campus, they did manage o bolster the public image of their group immeasurably, with a keen sense of humor, no less.

Theatre review: 'Tomorrow Here and Gone'

"Tomorrow Has Been Here and Gone" played to a near-full house last night at Bowker Auditorium. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

By ANN MURPHY
Collegian Staff

"Tomorrow Has Been Here and Gone" is now gone and a loss to all those who missed this performance.

A musical play, jointly produced by the Departments of Afro-American Studies, Music and Dance and the Black Cultural Center, focused on the life of a black family in Harlem during the 1960's.

Besides the soap-opera stuff such as, wife cheats on husband with his brother, the play did have its touching moments.

The Hankins family lives in a Harlem tenement building which is to be torn down for redevelopment. There is no place for the family to go; father George Hankins is out of work, his married son Matthew is a militant in the "Blackhawks", son Louis has a job but doesn't make enough for the whole family. Matthew married Gwen who was pregnant but miscarried and he has been impotent since. Gwen turns to brother-in-law Louis for a shoulder to cry on and ends up in bed with him. Matthew finds out and beats Gwen and turns against Louis. Matthew then goes out to set buildings on fire to protect the supression of blacks in Harlem and gets shot by a policeman and dies. The Hankins family decides New York is no good for them any more and plans to move to Georgia near Cora Hankins' (George's wife) sister.

The story was entertaining but lagged at some moments when the dialogue never stopped. It was a very long performance which took away from the vivacity of the actors. If not for the sparkling music and songs the play would have been boring.

Fantastic is all I can say for Semenya McCord, writer of the music and lyrics and a member of the local ensemble Sunlight 'N Shade. The gospel-blues-soul songs were enhanced by the strong performances of singers Nathaniel Anderson, Ophelia Dargan, and Carlos Anderson.

The romantic ballads "Something I Needed" and "Don't Ever Doubt It" were belted out with clarity and intense expression by Nathaniel Anderson (Louis Hankins). He has a moving, vibrant voice which was ultimately suited to his role of a sensitive brother.

Carlos Anderson (Matthew Hankins) typified the macho male, muscles and all. He brought off the character's stubborn belligerence well but yelled many of his lines.

Steven Scott (George Hankins) did well with the dialogue and physical posture of a man who has worked hard all his life but had nothing to show for it. He is not much of a singer and his solos should have been cut to save himself the embarrassment.

The battling neighbors Emma and Lil capitalized nitpicking each other. They were the stereotyped neighborhood gossips, having something to say about everybody else's problems.

At first the dialogue was garbled and hard to understand, but after a while their projection improved. I couldn't catch some of the jokes and important lines because of this.

Many things could have been cut or changed to save time. The pace of the play was inconsistent, fast at some points, slow at others. The church scene could have been dropped because the soloist could not be heard over the chorus of the Voices of New Africa House.

The music and songs were the best aspect of the play. The actors did well to create moods of tensions, gaiety, and sorrow but lacked any casualness.

US Labor Party challenges PIRG

By BRAD GOVERMAN
Collegian Staff

The political energies and sharp-tongued rhetoric of the U.S. Labor Party (USLP) have turned toward a formidable adversary — the Public Interest Research Group (PIRG).

Locally, the USLP Springfield chapter has been distributing leaflets that denouce PIRG people as "scroungy," "anti-human" and "incompetent." The leaflet calls for student mobilization to arrange a debate between the two organizations.

"We challenge the PIRG chapters to an actual scientific view of U.S. energy policy," says USLP member John McCarthy.

The following are excerpts from an informal interview with McCarthy and David Peterson, USLP members from Springfield. The interview centers around the debate issue and the controversial political activities of USLP.

McCarthy: We may not officially be a student organization but that has no bearing on whether or not we can challenge PIRG to a debate if they are willing to do that.

Collegian: The spokesperson from the PIRG chapter in Amherst Center left the debate issue open contingent upon your sending them a formal written statement on the USLP's stand on energy policy. If this is the only roadblock in the way of a decision, why haven't you honored their request?

McCarthy: Because we don't want to waste a dollar.

Collegian: What are the basic philosophies of the U.S. Labor Party?

McCarthy: We have the responsibility here of bringing the working people into political formation to insure that Jimmy Carter's policies for shutting down industrial activity in the U.S. is stopped; halted. We know that the only way that is going to get done is on the basis of having the U.S. Congress adopt a policy for expanded research and development to adopt fusion power to get the U.S. into a fusion economy by the late 1980's. That's our target, and on that basis we have to insure that existing technologies for energy are developed and expanded: coal, oil and nuclear fission.

This fight is very important here because at this point, if you take the world political situation, there are major opposition moves now in Europe and the Third World to kick Jimmy Carter in his big fat teeth; diplomatically and economically. The way that is going to be done is by the European governments and others banding around a policy for establishing a new monetary system to replace the one we've got now which is bankrupt; busted.

The word on Wall Street now is whether or not there's going to be a panic in the bond market and other markets because of the obviousness of incompetence of Jimmy Carter's new budget and monetary policies. So the dollar is busted; it's finished; it's good for nothing at this point.

We're working in collaboration with industrialist allies in Europe, with our allies in this country in the labor movements to make sure this monetary system is set up, to make sure fusion research is expanded in the U.S.

Collegian: How does PIRG tie in with all this?

McCarthy: It's very simple. We're not just after PIRG. PIRG is the latest outgrowth of a philosophy and a political organizing drive led by Wall Street that began in 1968 around the idea that the U.S. and the world economy should be a zero-growth economy; industry should be shut down and technology too expensive to be financed by Chase Manhattan, eliminated. The PIRGites are attempting to stop the construction of nuclear fission reactors, calling as well for a 30, 40, 50 per cent reduction in U.S. energy consumption which will destroy the country once and for all and result in a breakdown of the whole world economy.

Collegian: How will this destroy the country?

McCarthy: Industries that exist in this area of the Connecticut River Valley, in New England, and the Midwest depend on a cheap abundant supply of energy that is, in part, currently provided by nuclear fission.

Collegian: How much?

McCarthy: A significant amount. About 10 to 15 per cent of the U.S. economy.

Peterson: It's a little lower than that, but in New England it's around 40 to 50 per cent.

McCarthy: No, in Vermont it's 50 per cent. The point is that it comes down to this: PIRG, Ralph Nader and the Natural Resources Defense Council which is chaired by Lawrence Rockefeller. These people are advocating a policy that will wipe out most of the advanced industries in this country who are dependent on an abundent supply of energy and will prevent us from solving our long range energy which is establishing commercial fusion reactors by the late 1980's.

Collegian: Lyndon LaRouche, leader of your party, predicted that if Jimmy Carter was elected President he would lead us into thermo nuclear war. Do you still see that as a danger?

McCarthy: Yes, and let me explain why. The Carter administration Trilateral Commission, and Lower Manhattan banks and allies are on the verge of losing complete power to a growing force of industrialists and social forces who are attempting to set up a new monetary system. They are attempting to stop this monetary system from being established by provoking confrontation politics—crisis management politics in several areas of the world including the Middle East, and this has the danger of provoking a confrontation.

They assume they can force Europe and the Third World to stay in line with the U.S. dollar and pay off debts to Lower Manhattan banks.

This is a completely insane judgment of reality. The real reality is at the point where the Soviet Union sees the defeat of the anti-Rockefeller, anti-Carter forces. They will undoubtedly move to launch pre-emptive nuclear war against the U.S. That is a strategic conception that the Soviet military has made public. That war-winning commitment has been the basis of Soviet military policy since 1962. (Zbigniew) Brzezinski (national security director and director of the Trilateral Commission), by playing with fire, is provoking hardliners in the Soviet Union into perceiving that the U.S. is a war monger and at the point they will proceed to try and win a nuclear war. This is the only competent judgment of the present international situation.

E.R.D.A. Director tells CONGESS
"FUSION POWER POSSIBLE BY 1980'S"
OUTRAGE AT Carter's Energy F

David Peterson, USLP member, has nuclear fusion on his mind and lets area residents know it during a recent visit to Amherst. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

Collegian: The New York Times, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, and several other publications have published articles which show the USLP to be a violent-oriented group including the use of violence and barbarism to subdue opposition groups and brainwashing their own members. Do you deny these reporters' accusations?

McCarthy: Yah, they're bullshit. Steven Rosenfield, who wrote the article in question in the Washington Post, is a CIA agent. He's a cheap, two-bit slanderer who is a paranoid schitzophrenic.

Collegian: Do you deny ever once being funded by the CIA?

McCarthy: This is bullshit.

Collegian: Under the operation code name of 'Mop-Up' at least 60 assaults were committed on the American Communist Party and the Socialist Workers Party by the trained troops of the USLP. How do you respond to these reports?

McCarthy: The mop-up business was quite simple. The Communist Party was involved since 1968 in organizing for every Office of Economic Opportunity and Ford Foundation project, every scummy little dirty tricks operation against the U.S. labor movement and against the legitimate socialist movement. The Communist party is irrelevant in U.S. politics.

Collegian: Are you admitting that there actually were violent attacks on the Communist party by your group?

McCarthy: No, I'm not admitting that at all.

Peterson: In 1973 the Communist part started mobilizing elements of the black community based on saying that the Labor party was the Ku Klux Klan, etc. We made an evaluation that they were discrediting the Soviets in that they were about to launch a major operation at which point we counter-attacked and there were instances of fights on the Communist party.

Collegian: The Labor Party uses many front names including the Revolutionary Youth Movement, Labor Organizers Defense Fund, International Development Bank, and Nationwide Unemployment League. What is the purpose of using these front names and what are you trying to hide?

McCarthy: We're not going to answer it on those terms. The point is that we've established organizing centers and are organizing to insure we have the right to organize. That is, that we can defend our right to stop the Colntelpro (counter intelligence) tactics that have been launched by the New York Times and by the Justice Dept.'s Edward Levi and now Griffin Bell.

Collegian: Why assume all these different names?

McCarthy: First of all you've got to get the concept correct. The International Development Bank is not a front group. It's a policy statement written by Lyndon LaRouche in 1974 which has been circulated internationally among industrialist bankers, politicians and so on. It's not a front group for anything, it's the name of a policy. The point is that this atmosphere of slander and villification is something you've got to understand how it works."

Collegian: "There is a lot of controversy over where your operational monies come from. The party claims that sales of your newspaper the New Solidarity is the principle source of these monies. My figures show your annual expenses at approximately $1.4 million with an annual deficit of approximately $1.1 million. Who makes up the deficit?

McCarthy: Your figures are wrong. Our figures are filed with the Federal Election Commission. The FEC was involved in a typically gumshoe-type intimidation routine. Currently we have filed a suit with the FEC to release $110,000 in matching funds owed to the LaRouche campaign for primary expenses. The FEC has illegally withheld these funds on the basis of simply acting as a plumbers unit for Jimmy Carter. Look, I'm not going to go into this stuff!

Let me just get into some little juice here. You take Outfront (a UMass student publication). They did a nice little piece with my picture in the paper several months ago with the usual CIA slander. These characters are nothing but pro-fascist hooligans who know nothing about politics in the world level. So let's look at the accusers. They're nothing but a bunch of long-haired hippies who haven't taken a bath in two weeks. They know nothing about the working class, they know nothing about the history of the labor movement in America, and unfortunately they don't understand us. There is a large part of student bodies and a large part of the world which is unfortunately composed of phillistines and they are afraid of the Labor Party.

John McCarthy, from the Springfield chapter of the U.S. Labor Party, outlines his party's stand on U.S. energy policy. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

Collegian: What do you see as the USLP'S most successful accomplishment?

McCarthy: We're now realizing exactly what we've generated over the past two years. We're on the verge of seeing Jimmy Carter getting kicked in the teeth, we're on the verge of seeing impeachment proceedings begin against Jimmy Carter, and we're on the verge of seeing a new monetary system established on the basis of cooperation betwen Europeans, the Third World, and the socialist bloc.

If you read our paper on a regular basis you can't help understanding what we've helped to create. We've played a primarily intellectual vanguard role in providing an understanding among various opposition forces to the Rockefeller program.

Collegian: What is the Rockefeller program?

McCarthy: What it comes down to is a commitment for establishing a zero-growth economy; a commitment to collecting debt payments by instituting programs of genocide in the Third World and shutting down U.S. industry.

Collegian: Why do you think Rockefeller advocates these commitments?

McCarthy: First of all, he's nuts. Second of all, he's a New York banker who is a creditor for this debt and he's got to find some way to keep himself in business and in power.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor P.A. Milstein

Assistant Issue Editor	A. P. Armelin
Day Layout	Debbie Walters
Black Affairs Layout	Renee Mobley
Wire Layout	Roseann Carito
Editorial Layout	Betsy Harkins
Sports Layout	Mike Smolens
Head Darkroom Tech	Chris Bourne
Photo Staff	Steve Hershberg
Ad Layout	Ellyn Faber
Anything Else
Wiseass Remark	Have a decent week.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Black Affairs

Late rationale accepted

By RENEE MOBLEY
Black Affairs Staff

In a budgets committee meeting held yesterday the rationale and budget of the Black Scientist Society was accepted.

The deadline date for all R.S.O. groups to submit a rational was November 24th of last year. Audley Williams, President of the Black Scientist Society explained why their rational was not submitted on time. At that time the society was experiencing internal difficulties. The former president along with several of the other officers had either left the university or had graduated from school. There was a lack of communication between the newly elected officers and the members of the society.

The Society did manage to stay together through these rocky times but because all of its executive officers were new and inexperienced, they did not realize the importance of submitting a rationale nor were they aware of the various procedures that a group must follow in order to receive S.A.T.F. funds.

The final decision made by the budgets committee was a 5 to 2 vote in favor of accepting the scientist's rationale late. The only opposition came from chairperson Jay Milander and budgets committee member Burlee Bubly. Milander said that notices in R.S.O. mailboxes and in the Collegian a week prior to the deadline date should have been sufficient information for all groups. "You don't have anyone to blame," says Milander. "Other new R.S.O. groups submitted their rationales on time. Deadlines are meant to be kept." Milander expressed the opinion that if the budget process was reopened for one group the committee would have to reopen the proceedings for others.

After it was decided to consider the black scientists despite their lateness the committee moved on to the business of accepting the rationale itself.

The Black Scientist Society is a supportive R.S.O. group for Third World students majoring in engineering, medicine, and other science fields. The group provides reinforcement, guidance and job related information. The society also sponsors culturally broadening trips and honorariums.

The suggested budget of the organization was accepted and passed with little or no financial cuts.

Appreciation is extended to Murlee Clemens, Rick Grant and Malo McGraw for attending the meeting and giving their support.

The staff of Black Affairs questions Jon Hite's statement ("I am proud that we never wavered in our campaign's ethical standard. We were honest".) which appeared in yesterday's Collegian.

We feel that biased behavior on the part of the media and administration, along with the use of devious political tactics, played a large part in the Batiste-Hite victory.

Black Affairs congratulates Foley and Tyson for putting up a tough fight in spite of these schemes and behind the scene maneuverings.

A full review of the campaign will appear in Black Affairs on Monday, March 28, 1977.

A closer look at Upward Bound

Today is the last of a three part series on the Upward Bound program at UMass. Two students interviewed for today are George Rossario, and Pearl Lewis. Rossario, is an Upward Bound student enrolled at UMass, and Lewis is a 1975 graduate of Upward Bound and UMass.

By ANGELA THOMAS
Asst. Black Affairs Editor

Rossario is a bilingual, 19 year old sophomore who lives in McKimmie dorm in Southwest. A 1975 Upward Bound graduate of Holyoke High, he is presently a Casiac major. Rossario has an interest in accounting, with hopes of assisting the Hispanic community.

Lewis is an Upward Bound elementary education graduate of UMass from the class of 75. She attended Technical High School in Springfield.

Q. How has Upward Bound helped you?

A. Rossario: I was able to make a smooth transition from high school to college. Upward Bound (UB) gave me the experience to adjust to the college environment. UB also provided counseling and personal help which kept my goals and motivation aimed at succeeding in schools. The support received from Upward Bound firmly influenced me in a positive manner to high personal goals and the belief that I can achieve them.

Lewis: I'm grateful for the opportunity to have met people from different ethnics. Upward Bound brings together many types of people that you may not ordinarily encounter. For example, our present state representative James Collins was my history tutor while I was in Upward Bound.

Q. How was Upward Bounds' summer experience helpful.

A. Rossario: It provided lots of activities like concerts, sports, and other programs that really kept us active and growing. The tutorial component was also extremely helpful. It gave us individualized attention that was vital in improving our academic deficiencies. The summer session also gave me the chance to take two University accredited courses that gave me a taste of what was to be expected in the following four years.

Lewis: I came to Amherst to make up for a course that I had failed during the school year. By the time I enrolled at UMass, I had picked up 12 college credits. The summer program acquainted me with the campus, and I knew what to expect when it came time for registration. Also I knew what type of environment I was coming into.

Q. Do you now have a relationship with the program?

A. Rossario: UB makes periodic checks on my academic progress and makes sure that everything is ok. I also check up on them. I serve as a counselor to other UB students as a supporting agent. I have a Upward Bound friend who recently dropped out of the University. The last time I saw him he was surprised to see that I was still in school and thought he might give it another try. This peer type of support can really be helpful.

Lewis: I frequently visit and keep in touch with Upward Bound and the personnel. You will find this to be true of many university graduates.

Q. Do you have any words of advice as a Upward Bound graduate to present Upward Bound student?

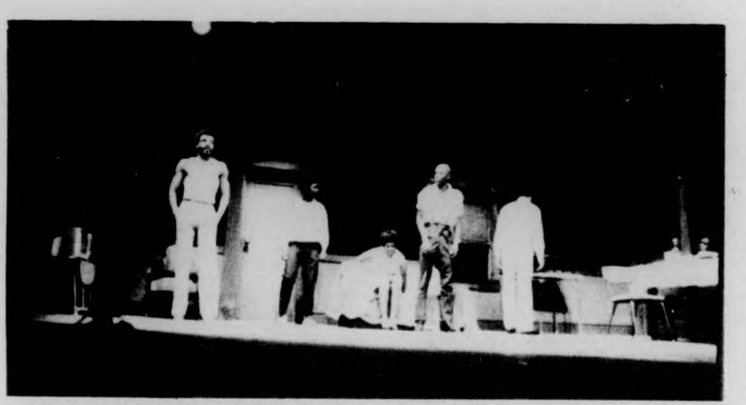
A. Rossario. Don't ever give up hope. There's no question that success isn't easy for minority students. I knew that the odds were against me to succeed at a university and become professional in the Hispanic community. But it can be done.

Lewis: Open your eyes because it is not impossible to do the things you want to do. A person must be willing to give it a try.

George Rossario a Upward Bound graduate and a student at UMass says, "never give up hope" become whatever it is that people what to be.

We agree with the brother (Staff photo by Jon Sher) not pictured is Pearl Lewis.

Tomorrow Has Been Here And Gone



Members, from the play, Tomorrow Has Been Here And Gone, ended their three day performance at Bowker Auditorium last night to an enthusiastic audience. (Staff photo by Kenneth Robinson)

By KATHE SANDLER
Nummo News Services

The musical Tomorrow Has Been And Gone, a play about the struggles of a Harlem family during the sixties, ended its three skit performances at Bowker Auditorium last night to an enthusiastic crowd.

Written by Thurman Stanback, the play was a melodramatic glimpse into the social protest and dynamics of the sixties. It also touched on the lives of tenants in a condemned Harlem tenement searching for new habitation.

The shows' greatest quality perhaps, was its sensitive and finely composed music written by Semenya McCord of Sunlight and Shade.

Under the musical direction of Horace Clarence Boyer, the performers and the Voices of the New Africa choir, sang the noteworthy, "A Little Taste," where a group of elderly stoop dwellers mused about the pleasure of wine. Lef Anderson of Reconstruction, delivered the beautiful "Don't Ever Doubt It" to Jaci Jones as Gwen Hankins, his brothers' wife, in a tender moment which later created chaos.

Standing ovation to Valerie Stevens as Emma, a matroily gin drinker who's forever telling her nosey neighbor, played by Duraleena Sammons to mind her own business.

Director Fran Anderson brought the play to a climatic high when the Hankins family, who the play mainly deals with, prepared to move back down sough to Atlanta, Georgia.

Thoughts:

Have an enjoyable spring break

LUTHER
By Brumsic Brandon, Jr.
YOU HAD TO TELL YOUR CLASS WHAT YOU'D LIKE TO BE?
WHAT DID YOU SAY YOU'D LIKE TO BE?
THE MOON.
OH, HOW STUPID! WHY WOULD YOU WANT TO BE THE MOON, PEE WEE?
AT LEAST I'D BE FULL EVERY TWENTY-EIGHT DAYS, OREO!
©1977 LOS ANGELES TIMES
BRANDON JR.

Appearing
FRI. & SAT.
James Montgomery
At
The rusty nail Inn
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

Faculty Senate adopts revised calendar

By MARY ELLEN LOWNEY
Collegian Staff

The Faculty Senate voted at their meeting yesterday to adopt a revised calendar for academic years 1977-1980, making both fall and spring semesters for the next three years 14 weeks long.

Presently, fall semester is 14 weeks, and spring semester is 13 weeks. Next semester, classes will begin on Thursday, September 1, and the class of '78 will not graduate until May 27, 1978.

Anthony Borton, Chairman of the Space and Calendar Committee, said the revised calendar does "create problems" for students, such as possible interference with summer jobs, but the calendar had to be changed to make all Five College calendars agree.

In other business, a motion was passed to establish a committee to study the Communication Skills Center. The committee will consist of five faculty members, one graduate student, one undergraduate student, and one librarian. It will serve to study the functions and governance of the center and consider its future role at the University.

Terence Burke, Secretary of the Faculty Senate, was chosen to testify at the hearings on the Reorganization of State Public Higher Education.

The Senate voted to make Professor Stephen Michael part of the Committee to Evaluate the President. President Wood, according to Borton, was "not overjoyed" when informed of this committee.

Discussion was held on the parking situation at UMass. Robert L. Woodbury, Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, said since December 15, 1976, 3,000 parking tickets have been issued at UMass, one half of which are meter violations.

Asian group runs contest

The Pacific-Asian Coalition (PAC) is sponsoring an Asian American Student Essay Contest for high school and college students of Asian descent. According to Byron Koh, chairperson of PAC, the object of the contest is to "encourage people to get their heads together about their heritage through communications" and "to utilize the essays to help educate people about Asian Americans.

The New England chapter of PAC is funded by the National Institute of Mental Health, which is interested in research on Asian Americans. It is the organization's goal to foster cohesiveness among Asian Americans in Amherst and the surrounding areas.

The essays are to be written from the authors own perspective, emphasizing his or her own heritage. Participants are urged to be thoughtful, descriptive and specific. Original subjects are welcome although a list of suggested is available from PAC.

Collective elects new members

Nine newly elected members will join regulars at the next meeting of the Executive Committee of the Commuter Collective to be held in room 404 Student Union Wednesday March 30 at 6:30 p.m.

New members were elected by interim elections held Wednesday and Thursday in The Cape Cod Lounge.

Elected for terms which run until fall general elections were David Almeida, Bruce Feldman, Karen Gray, Sue Gray, Stephen Linsky, Carol Lubin, Sherwin Moyston, Regina Poshkus, and Eileen Semon.

UMass may not be the windy city, but it sure blows when walking by the University Library. (Staff photo by David Olken)

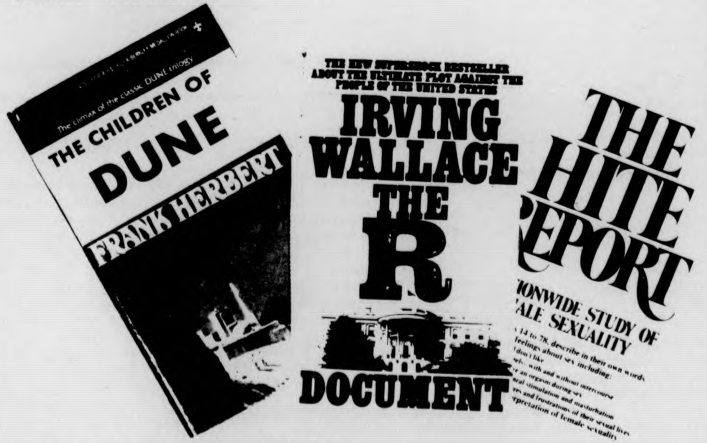
UNIVERSITY STUDY
Interested in earning university credits while exploring a new land in all its aspects? Why not consider a summer, semester, year, or degree program at one of Israel's seven leading universities. Religious studies, humanities, the social sciences and a host of other courses are offered in either English or Hebrew with special emphasis on helping you get a grasp of Israel. Whether it be in Jerusalem, Haifa, Tel Aviv or the Negev, a study program at an Israeli university will give you a new feeling about Israel and yourself as well. Write for a brochure giving information about all the universities and the programs they offer.
Council for Advancement of Study Programs at Israeli Universities,
515 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10022, (212) 751-6070
For information, please send to the above address. 30
Name ______ Age ______
Address ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______
University ______ (USD)

University of massachusetts arts council presents

PRAGUE
CHAMBER
ORCHESTRA

A concerto festival with
Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist
Wed., March 30 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.
F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

this vacation . . .



The climax of the classic DUNE trilogy
THE CHILDREN OF DUNE
FRANK HERBERT
THE NEW SUPERSHOCK BESTSELLER ABOUT THE ULTIMATE PLOT AGAINST THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES
IRVING WALLACE
THE R DOCUMENT
THE HITE REPORT
NATIONWIDE STUDY OF FEMALE SEXUALITY

read the paperbacks you've meant to read all semester.
at "the bookstore"
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
Campus Center

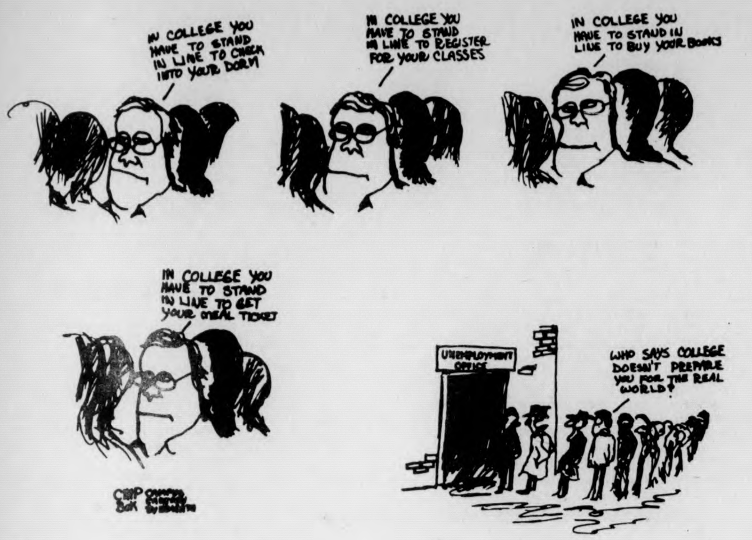
Robert Woods has set a course that poses great danger to the University. The grounds are so flimsy that his real intent can only be to delay negotiations, salary increments, and other essential processes of the University.

What is MSP-MTA doing? We are taking our case directly to the Board of Trustees. What can you do? Sign the petition below, if you haven't already, and we will present the Board of Trustees with the signatures of every faculty and staff member at UMass on April 6th.
++++++
We believe that it is time for President Robert Wood and the Board of Trustees to see the University's compelling interest in starting the collective bargaining process NOW. Refusal to accept the results of the faculty and staff vote for union representation could result in YEARS of delay in salary increments, campus governance arrangements, and other matters essential to the maintenance of a high quality University. To deliberately leave this institution in limbo for 3 to 5 years is to willfully risk its disintegration and demise, and no responsible administration or Trustee should so endanger this vital public resource.

It is, therefore, the responsibility of the Trustees to both the citizens of the Commonwealth and to the University to instruct President Robert Wood and his administration to meet and negotiate with the representatives of the MSP-FSU.

______
(Signature)

Clip and send to Prof. K. Dolbeare, Secretary, MSP, Thompson Hall.



IN COLLEGE YOU HAVE TO STAND IN LINE TO CHECK INTO YOUR DORM
IN COLLEGE YOU HAVE TO STAND IN LINE TO REGISTER FOR YOUR CLASSES
IN COLLEGE YOU HAVE TO STAND IN LINE TO BUY YOUR BOOKS
IN COLLEGE YOU HAVE TO STAND IN LINE TO GET YOUR MEAL TICKET
UNEMPLOYMENT OFFICE WHO SAYS COLLEGE DOESN'T PREPARE YOU FOR THE REAL WORLD?

letters

Butterfield incident: Restraint and judgement

To the Editor:

On March 2 of this year, four residents of Orchard Hill were accused of making racial slurs against some black students from Butterfield. The Collegian duly reported this incident. On March 9, the accused residents were asked to move from Orchard Hill. And on the same day, residents of the Central and Orchard Hill areas received a memo from the heads of residents explaining the grounds for removal from their dormitories. Among the grounds for removal, according to section 1 is : "Physical Assault or any other harrassment of another person." Harrassment is considered to be a verbal and-or written invasion of an individual's rights, be it racial, sexual, or personal in nature.

According to the 15 black students, the four accused residents were in a car that tried to run one of the blacks over. However, the evidence on this is flimsy and all accounts are contradictory. It is fair to say that no real proof can be given of an attempted hit and run; in fact, the idea is absurd. This eliminates the Physical Assault clause for throwing the four out of Orchard Hill.

Apparently, the four whites made remarks about Butterfield that were misconstrued as racial slurs. We fail to see why 15 black students should take offense at the utterances of four students returning from The Pub. They were obviously over-sensitive about the whole matter. Why else would they try to find the four whites? We have a low tolerance for racial or sexual slurs of any kind. There is just no place in our society for them. However, once saying that, we must say that it is unnecessary to take such drastic action over the matter. The four students have been forced to leave the area they think of as a second home. The Orchard Hill Area Government was not even consulted in the decision.

Racial tension runs high on campus, which is regrettable. Racial tension, however, will not be eased unless all groups involved show restraint and judgement. The four Orchard Hill students made a terrible mistake, the 15 students from Butterfield reacted in paranoic fashion and the Heads of Residents grossly overreacted to the entire mess. We hope that better judgement will be used in the future and that the present injustice will be corrected.

Robert Kimble

Equal treatment for gays

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to expose the oppressive situation for gays on this campus. I have been here three semesters and have never seen a letter in this paper about this problem. Why must gays be expected to put up with so much harassment? My first semester here, myself and a group of gay people danced in the blue wall. While we were dancing, we were called the usual names. And on the way to the car we were almost mugged by three males who saw us dancing. Luckily we all got away. We all paid our campus center fee and have a right to dance there. My second semester here I lived in a low-rise in Southwest and was assaulted in the elevator. There were a few other gays that lived there and had similar problems. And it is not unusual to be called a queer at least once a day while walking with friends.

How much garbage will gays put up with until they finally come to their senses? The People's Gay Alliance is very good at sponsoring dances and the like but they remain in the background for the most part and do very little to push for equal treatment of gays on this campus. If gay people don't get together and do something, they will always be regarded as subservient and second class people.

Name withheld by request

Finding no peace in a volunteer army

To the Editor:

I can really not find agreement with James Nollet's editorial of the 11th. As a person who is black I can well comprehend and feel the inequality of the volunteer army. But Mr. Nollet disregards the whole moral question of war itself. In effect he is saying that the killing should be done by a greater segment of the population instead of the economically oppressed.

Death is death. Killing is killing. It is final. It seems absurd to be making decisions on who should pull the trigger. Mr. Nollet implies that it is fairer for everyone to share the responsibility of being in the armed forces. This is like not treating an illness. Instead of finding a "better" way of manning an insitution where one could be called apone to kill or be killed we should look at the problem from a different perspective. We should examine the possibility of creating a world environment where institutions devoted to killing and destruction are not necessary. In a true democracy no one should be forced to do anything he or she doesn't believe in. The lessons of Viet Nam should, if nothing else, show that our country can be wrong and that not all wars it engages in are worth the death and destruction involved. As a Quaker and a pacifist I cannot find peace with the concept that the solution to world peace is to give everyone an equal chance to kill. Voluntary or no.

Norman Farris

melanie johnson

New twists on old tales

This is a modern fairy tale.

Once upon a time, not so very long ago, a man and a woman decided they loved each other. Since they attended different colleges and worked at different jobs in the summers, they didn't spend as much time as they liked together. They subsequently went into debt to the phone company, saw each other on scattered weekends, and wrote letters between classes. Both were intelligent and hard-working; both waited impatiently to graduate and start to work in the mystical "real world".

One night they came home and told their families and friends they wanted to get married at the end of their senior year; furthermore, she would put him through law school, and then they would find a place to live that was conducive to both their careers. Her mother refused to believe that her daughter was getting married and her friends acted even more surprised. "YOU?" they asked. "We thought you were a feminist."

Ah yes, she had apparently fallen by the wayside, never to be redeemed again; she had given into that deadly, stifling institution called marriage. Her friends envisioned her surrounded by children, constantly washing clothes and driving the kids to the dentist. She tried to explain how they would share child-raising and housework; how both their careers were equally important and would receive equal attention. No, she didn't expect it to be easy, but they weren't looking for an easy way; only the way that was best for them.

Sound incredible and unrealistic? Maybe you too are one of the non-believers. But this is 1977, you say; feminists just don't do things like get married; it's hypocritical, it undermines the movement. And look at men, you add; they're all oppressors anyway; you just can't trust them. If you marry, he'll soon have you playing "Suzy Homemaker" while he pursues his career.

Perhaps it does happen that way; but let's give some credit to the individuals involved. Who's to say what will happen? Aren't you unconsciously applying new stereotypes to replace the old ones? Indeed, you apply some of the old ones as well; the dominant male will override the desires of the passive female. Once upon a time it was every woman's dream to be a "happy housewife". Now marriage has become unfashionable.

But maybe it can work. Occasionally two people understand and deal honestly with themselves and each other. They can try to break loose of the stereotypes and roles imposed on them by their education, their families, their friends. With our generation's changing awareness, institutions such as marriage are bound to change. Some predict that it will wither away; others say it will become one of several alternatives. And marriage is not for evevyone; no relationship can be or should be mandated.

When you sneer at liberated women who say they want to marry, not only do you assign stereotypes to women but to men as well. You assume that men cannot question their positions and attitudes. A women's revolution will not accomplish much if men don't also change. And, contrary to popular belief, they are; not uniformly, and not all of them, but it's happening. When we turn our backs and condemn men for being insensitive boors, we only condemn ourselves.

If, when we deal with other persons, we still cannot think of them beyond the traditional roles, we have not come very far after all. Feminism should involve, I hope, a basic faith in the individual, who, having understood the foundations upon which oppression lie, can manage her-his life in a conscious and non-exploitive fashion.

Sheila Rowbatham, author of several feminist books perhaps stated it better. "The relationship of man to woman is like no other relationship of oppressor to oppressed. It is far more delicate, more complex. After all, very often the two love one another. It is a rather gentle tyranny... we cannot imagine our world in which no men exist... consequently, the political emergence of women has to be at once distinct from and in connection to men."

Many of us talk about destroying old relationships between persons, and the institutions that foster oppressive attitudes and behavior. But sooner or later we have to develop new institutions to replace the old; we don't have names to fit the new relationships, since we really don't know what shape they will take. Experimentation and changes have to occur before a new social order can take place.

I'ts easy to criticize; it's easier to give in. Breaking the rules is more difficult and may not work out. But who really knows?

"Fairy tales can come true, it can happen to you
If you're young at heart...."

Melanie Johnson is the irredeemable women's coordinator of the Collegian.

Thank you, Southwest

To the Editor:

On Tuesday night, March 15, the Southwest Assembly gave a unanimous vote of support to the Student Organizing Project in its effort to establish a Campus Communication Network, which will link dorms, the SGA, and the SOP to the issues vital to students.

On behalf of the SOP, I would like to thank the assembly and all the other people from Southwest who have been assisting the Student Organizing Project currently, and in the past.

The structure is developing — within departments and dorms — which will create the basis for realizing the concept of a union of students with collective bargaining rights. Much energy is needed in order to make these mechanisms grow stronger, and to enable them to come together to create a voice of real student power. The SW Assembly has acknowledged the opening of the door in each dorm in the SW area. If you live in Southwest step right on through. The sole commitment is a responsibility for your own growth and development in regards to all aspects of your existence at UMass.

A weekly newsheet will be posted in all the dorms. If you become interested in working towards the achievement of a Student Union you can get in touch with your assembly representative or the SOP office at 426 SUB, or 545-2415.

If you live in one of the other dorm area and are interested in getting the CCH off the ground you can get in contact with SOP and assistance will be provided.

Get involved! There may be more at stake than you realize, and sooner than you think.

Leslie Nary — SOP

— james a nollet

Capitolism and Free Press

The following column is a symposium which will discuss the proposition that A FREE PRESS CAN EXIST ONLY IN A CAPITALIST STATE. The contributors are myself, Phil Milstein of the COLLEGIAN, and Vladimir Ilyich Lenin. Two weeks ago, we asked the Revolutionary Student Brigade to contribute about a 300-word essay to this column, but as they have missed the editorial deadline, we had to run the column without them. We regret the omission and invite them to submit their own commentary in the near future.

PROPOSITION: A FREE PRESS CAN EXIST ONLY IN A CAPITALIST STATE.

James A. Nollet: The proposition is accurate. A Capitalist state recognizes the right of individuals to own private property, and those who do so are said to be "Capitalists". By definition, "ownership" is the ability to direct and control property according to the desires of the owner.

A newspaper and its printing facilities are an example of private property, since at least most newspapers are owned by individuals and not by the government. Since one of the functions of a newspaper is to formulate an editorial philosophy, it stands to reason that someone must control what this philosophy will be. In a system which allows the ownership of private property, this responsibility belongs to the owner.

Since ownership of a press is open to anyone, many different persons of all different political viewpoints are free to own press facilities and to direct their editorial content. To examine a small part of the available spectrum, consider the range of philosophy possible when individuals such as Joseph Medill Patterson (NY Daily News), William Loeb (Manchester Union-Leader), and Dorothy Schiff and Robert Murdoch (successive owners of the NY Post) own newspapers. The former two are, or were (Mr. Patterson is dead.) Very conservative, while the latter two are quite the opposite.

When thousands of owners own thousands of publications, the result is a teeming forest of information and opinion from which any American can freely enrich himself. This is a large reason why our society is so dynamic, self searching, and free.

By contrast and by definition, a socialist state is a state which bans private ownership of all but minor pieces of property in the name of "the people". Only the state may own and control such property as a press, because if it were otherwise, this state would not be "Socialistic", but "Capitalistic". Since we have seen that part of the act of ownership entails formulation of an editorial policy, it is obvious and inevitable that such a state will permit only its views to be published and disseminated.

But a press which may present only one point of view, and not many, cannot be called a free press. Since this is the only mode available to a Socialist state, THE CONCLUSION IS INESCAPABLE THAT A FREE PRESS CANNOT EXIST IN A SOCIALIST STATE.

Phil Milstein: A free press may or may not be able to exist only in a Capitalist state. I for one, am not so sure, although I tend to agree with the statement. One can idealize all one wants, but one can never be sure about such a thing until the previously hypothetical case becomes a reality, and to my knowledge a free press has never yet come to exist, in this society or in any other. And idealizing about which type of society in which one can exist may be fun but it will get you absolutely nowhere, so why even bother?

Vladimir Ilyich (Comrade) Lenin: Why should a government which is doing what it thinks is right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinions calculated to embarrass the government? (1920)

James A. Nollet: In light of the Nixon years, the answer should be obvious.

James A. Nollet is a Collegian Columnist.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

jack cahill

March 18th hangover

Last night I dreamed that I was the heathen giant of Gaelic legend, Finn MacCool, striding the rocky battlefields of Ballyshaorna, laying bloody waste to the Norse hordes with a monstrous curmudgeon. Then the dream changed; I became Flann O'Brien (aka Myles na Gopaleen) and sat smoking Woodbine cigarettes and writing unknown masterpieces in Gaelic as the IRA men around me muttered bitterly into their empty glasses of stout. The dream changed again: I was an immigrant from Sligo lying sick, unspeakably sick, in the third class hold of a North Atlantic tramp steamer as the ship rocked and rocked and rocked and my empty stomach rose and fell, rose and fell, rose and fell and fell....

And I awoke in the clammy, inescapable grip of a March 18th hangover.

OOOOwooooOOhhhhhhh followed by an ugh, a partial retch and another ooooooowwoohhh. There is no name for this disease but a continuous moan and no cure for it but suicide. Which is impossible because you cannot even crawl to the bathroom to get a razor blade and have no strength to pull the trigger of a gun. Instead you wish you had died several years ago to avoid this unending suffering which follows every celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

At times like this, I fervently wish the Irish-American tradition was not so bound up in pubs and singing, dancing and drinking and beer and whiskey. Especially the latter. Tullamore Dew, Old Bushmill's, John Jameson's all serve to make one realize what the Irish Curse is and why so many have taken "the Pledge". Unfortunately I have not and every year I follow the ancient and sacred rituals and sacrifice myself to Swill, god of distilled beverages, hoping that he will throw back enough usable parts for me to begin life once again.

I celebrate March 17th so feverishly because I am from Boston. There, Evacuation Day, which commemorates the evacuation of British ships from Boston harbor falls on the feast of St. Patrick, simultaneously giving the residents a holiday and providing them with an excuse for parades and Bacchanalian behavior. I like to hoot and holler in celebration of my roots, but often the ethnicity of the holiday seems merely coincidental to me. I want to go all wild and joy-crazy with people: as many and as varied as possible. Even in Boston where the racial atmosphere is far from the best, the Poles, the Italians, the Blacks, the Latin Americans, the Serbs, the Armenians and the Pottsylvanians all realize that March 17th represents simply a good day to ignore the rest of the week, to go to parades and spit at your favorite politician, to raise the ceremonial glass with hundreds of others again and again. And again. Not being Irish is the weakest excuse of all for not being a part of the goo gah and hoopla. In the Northeast we have no Mardi Gras, no Oktoberfest, no Carnaval. We need something!

As of this moment, I need immediate transfusions of plasma and grapefruit juice. I need a skull sauna. I need a brand new, teflon coated brainpan and waterbed that is bolted to the floor and 100 cc's of Excedrin, nitrous oxide and codeine all mixed in a bowl of Grape nuts and ....ugggh, forget the Grape Nuts, banish the very thought of food until April sometime.

There are missing chapters in my life's most recent novel and certain paragraphs are just now drifting back to me. For instance, who was that masked man gargling cognac while singing the Marseillaise in dedication to Joseph Lister? Did that Jamaican gentleman with the green natural really know 28 verses to "The Black Velvet Band" or was it my imagination? Where are my clothes? Did I sell my middle name for a round of drafts and if so which one did I sell? The haze never lifts completely and maybe it's better that way. But oh God, this hurts, I am sick and sorry and at the depths and cannot imagine what health was like. An expert on the subject, Jack Kerouac wrote about these terrible dawns:

"Instead of going thru smooth and easy I wake up drunk, sick, disgusted, frightened, in fact terrified by that sad song across the roofs mingling with the lachrymose cries of a Salvation Army meeting on the corner below "Satan is the cause of your alcoholism, Satan is the cause of your immorality, Satan is everywhere working to destroy you unless you repent now" and worse than that the sound of old drunks throwing up in rooms next to mine, the creak of hall steps, the moans everywhere. Including the moan that had awakened me, my own moan in the lumpy bed, a moan caused by a big roaring Whoo Whoo in my head that had shot me out of my pillow like a ghost...."

I am going to talk to God on The Big White Telephone. It is lucky we have a vacation. You may not even be there, I am not sure if I am here anymore. Happy March 17th. Whoo, Whoo.

Jack Cahill is a Collegian Dipsomaniac.

— commentary

No right to censor

By STEVE LESSER

An interesting controversy has been raised lately on campus in relation to some ads that have been running in the Collegian. The latest advertising campaigns for the beer companies include some copy which is decidedly sexist in nature. What the companies seem to believe is that by portraying "sexy-looking" women in their ads the typical college male (or female) will run out and buy their brand. To this critical eye the issue that disturbs me the most is not the fact that the ads are indeed sexist, but the fact that the ad agencies seem to think that the intellectual level of college students is somewhere back in the caveman era where men were men and women better be damned sure of that!

The fact is that we aren't a bunch of idiots and the average college student is aware of the fact that women have been an oppressed group ever since Eve bit into the apple. So why do these companies send us advertising that not only tries to make money by exploiting an oppressed group but also insults our intelligence by appealing to our libidos? The company writers for these agencies still seem to believe that blatant sexual connotations can sell a product. This is the most disturbing point in this whole issue, the fact that we are being treated like dolts, because if you look around you'll notice that these ads don't appear in any other media, only college newspapers.

Over and above this matter of an insult to our intelligence and the fact that the ads are sexist is the title of this article. The point remains: Do we have the right to decide what the college community should see and what it shouldn't see? This is an extremely important point because what is implied in it is the whole issue of freedom of the press. When news stories come in that report distasteful acts naturally they are not suppressed, so why should we suppress advertising just because it insults us?

The more effective way of dealing with the problem would seem to be to let the ads run and if you feel strongly enough about a certain ad to either let the company know directly how you feel or to simply boycott the product in question. In this way the company could be made aware of the fact that their ads are ridiculous in nature. This is not to say that they aren't great examples of an effective ad because they are. Any ad that gets your attention and gets you talking about the product is a good ad. These ads do that but at the same time they turn a lot of people off to the product because the ad insults them. By making the offending companies aware of our feelings we will have done more to advance the cause of erasing sexism than by just burying ads. These ads are running all around the country and are being seen by millions of college students. Which means that UMass is in the forefront of a movement that has not become national in scope yet.

When news stories come in and report distasteful acts naturally they are not suppressed, so why should we suppress advertising just because it insults us?

Should these ads be censored? In the context of what this country stands for the answer is no. They shouldn't be cut anymore than Fanny Hill should have been banned or Lady Chatterly's back in the 1930's. The people in our community have the right to see these ads and decide for themselves whether they are insulting or not. If they are, then measures can be taken to insure against future occurences of the same type of advertisement. By printing these ads we are not endorsing sexism but only the freedom to print an ad which is truthful if not tasteful. We are not going to stop sexism by burying it, but only by making people aware of the factors that contribute to it.

Which brings us back to the whole thesis of this commentary. Do we have the right to censor? If we start cutting out ads because we don't like them, what's going to happen next? Will the few in power at the Collegian have to babysit for the whole community and decide for 20,000 individuals what they should see and what they shouldn't?

I don't think we have the right to be judge and jury. It is up to every individual to decide for his or her own self what is good or bad — what is sexist or racist. Not the Collegian. So what is at issue here is not that the ads are sexist, which most people will agree with, but the fact that we are engaging in a dangerous practice and setting a bad precedent by censoring advertising which is neither deceiving nor deceptive. When it gets to the point that we have to do that it might as well be 1984.

Steve Lesser is a Collegian Commentator.

Carter speaks at United Nations

UNITED NATIONS [UPI] — Condemning "torture" and "deprivation of freedom" around the world, President Carter told the U.N. General Assembly yesterday no nation "can claim that mistreatment of its citizens is solely its own business."

"All the signatories of the U.N. charter have pledged themselves to observe and respect basic human rights," Carter said in his first appearance as president before the United Nations can claim that mistreatment of its citizens is solely its own business. Equally, no member can avoid its responsibilities to review and to speak when torture or unwarranted deprivation of freedom occurs in any part of the world.

The Soviet government has published several angry rebuttals of Carter's previous statements on human rights, and has suggested he might jeopardize detente and progress on arms agreements if he persisted in that line.

Court rules seven 'filthy words' now OK

WASHINGTON [UPI] — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled the Federal Communications Commissions cannot ban seven "filthy words" from the airwaves, even at times when children might be listening.

In a 2-1 decision Wednesday, the court voided a 1973 FCC order as being "overbroad and vague" and a violation of the commission's "duty to avoid censorship." The words describe "sexual or excretory activities and organs."

The FCC ban would apply regardless of "context or however innocent or educational they may be," Judge Edward Tamm said in the majority opinion.

"For instance, the order would prohibit broadcast of Shakespeare's 'The Tempest' or 'Two Gentlemen of Verona,' " Tamm wrote. "Certain passages of the Bible also would be proscribed from broadcast by the order."

"We should continue to trust the broadcaster to exercise judgment, responsibility and sensitivity to the community's needs and tastes," Tamm said. Chief Judge David Bazelon agreed that broadcasting must not be censored, saying:

"As its power continues to grow, preservation of free speech will hinge largely on zealously protecting broadcasting from censorship."

Judge Harold Leventhal argued in a lengthy dissent that a ban applying only to times when children might be listening is not censorship and said children need the protection.

"Even assuming that children's exposure to pornography is as inevitable as pornography itself," Leventhal wrote, "there is protection in disapproval, in the child's knowledge that the pornography that's seen and heard is not approved by parents or society."

The FCC issued the ban after radio station WBAI in New York broadcast a 15-minute monologue by comedian George Carlin entitled "Filthy Words," originally presented on stage, in which the seven words were used repeatedly.

Tamm pointed out the station warned listeners the 15-minute broadcast would contain "sensitive language" and suggested they change stations if they might be offended.

Tamm said the broadcast language "is crude and vulgar by most standards" but not obscene under the latest Supreme Court standards. He also said the FCC did not back up its assumption that without the ban "filthy words will flood the airwaves."

Showcase Cinemas
ROUTE 5
RIVERDALE RD.
West Springfield
733-5131
BARGAIN $2.50 till 2:30
MATINEES WED. SAT. SUN
ROCKY PG United Artists
MGM presents NETWORK R United Artists
PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS THIEVES PG
WALT DISNEY FREAKY FRIDAY G
"BOUND for GLORY" PG United Artists
A STAR IS BORN R
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN' PG
VOYAGE OF THE DAMNED PG
PLEASE CALL THEATRE FOR SCREEN TIMES

STUDENTS!
to take survey at
SHOWCASE CINEMA
Wed. 3-30, 4-12
Eves. 6:45-10:45
Sat. & Sun. 1-5
Call 733-5133
Mrs. Beebe
Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

From Ralph Bakshi, master of animation, comes an epic fantasy in wondrous color.
A vision of the world, 10 million years in the future, where Wizards rule the earth. And the powers of magic prevail over the forces of technology in the final battle for world supremacy.
STARTS WEDNESDAY
20TH CENTURY-FOX PRESENTS A RALPH BAKSHI FILM
WIZARDS
Written, Produced and Directed by RALPH BAKSHI
Music Composed and Conducted by ANDREW BELLING
Produced by Bakshi Productions, Inc.
PG
SHOWCASE CINEMAS 1·2·3·4·5·6·7·8
ROUTE 5, RIVERDALE RD. WEST SPRINGFIELD 24 HR. TEL. 733-5131

Come to our house for the SEDERS
CHABAD HOUSE
Invites you to join us for the Passover Seders.
SAT. NT. April 2 7:30 p.m.
SUN. NT. April 3 7:30 p.m.
30 N. Hadley Rd.
near 5-college bus-stop at Southwest UMass.
$4.00 for one Seder
$7.50 for both Seders
for reservations by March 31.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

'Godspell' tickets on sale at Bowker

Tickets are now on sale at the Bowker Box Office, Stockbridge Hall, for "Godspell", the UMass Music Theatre Guild's spring musical production. It will be presented March 31, April 1 and 2 at 8 p.m., and April 3 at 3:30 p.m. in Bowker Auditorium.

"Godspell" is a modern-day presentation of gospel literature according to St. Matthew; a celebration of the messages and morals of the New Testament. Many of the values and attitudes characteristic of youth today are reflected in the music and staging of the show.

Prices are $2 for students and anyone under 18 and $2.50 for others. Group rates are also available. For information and reservations, call 545-0783.

Pops concert at Hotel Northampton

The Coachlight Room of the Hotel Northampton will resound on Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m., with the music of the Hampshire Choral Society. Under the direction of Carol Gotwals, the group will perform a Pops Concert, "Salut Romanis," featuring the music they will take on tour to Romania next summer. Tickets are now available from choral society members or at the Tripod Camera Shops.

Five College buses to take spring break

The Five College buses will not be running during spring break.

A spokesperson for Five Colleges, Inc. said the last bus will be 5:00 today. The buses will resume schedule Sunday, March 27

NOTICES

FOUND

Gray cape. Call and describe. Also gold aviator glasses in hard case, optometrist's name on inside., 253-7198. Joan.

GREENHOUSE WINNER

Congratulations to Pat Ellis winner of the Stockbridge Fruit and Vegetable Club Greenhouse Raffle.

INTERNATIONAL FOLKDANCING

Folkdancing will be held in the Parish hall behind Grace Church in the center of town tonight. The church is located between the Town Hall and the Lord Jeffrey Inn. Dancing will also be there Friday, March 25. After vacation we will go back to the Cape Cod Lounge in the SU.

LOST

Silver and turquoise cross with a red coral center, very important to me. Reward. Call 367-2753.

LOST

If anyone found a aqua-blue down ski jacket along with a pair of shoes with orange and white stripes, lying outside of G. Washington Town on Friday, please contact Mary Ruth, 432 Cance. These articles are very important to me, as I need them for my spring break. If you want a reward I'll give one.

LOST DOG

Irish setter, white chest, scar on one side. Please call 549-0447. Harvey.

NEEDED: POETRY AND SHORT FICTION

For new Student Creative Writing Magazine. Bring your TYPED manuscripts to Diane Wald, McIntyre House (across from Baker) by April 1.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Torpedoes, Tuna Noodle Casserole; Basics: Barley Soybean Casserole, Tuna Noodle Casserole.

DINNER — Salisbury Steak, Cubed Steak, Fried Fish; Basics: Fried Fish, Fiesta Rice and Cheese.

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR "SILVER STREAK" PATRICK McGOOHAN
① PG Fri.: 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, Twi-Liter 4:00-4:30; Sat.: 2:00, 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, Twi-Liter 4:00-4:30; Sun.: 2:00, 5:45, 8:00, Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45.
NOT SINCE LOVE STORY...
The true story of Jill Kinmont. The American Olympic ski contender whose tragic fall took everything but her life. And who found the courage to live through the love of one very special man.
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN'
② PG Fri.: 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, Twi-Liter 4:15-4:45; Sat.: 2:15, 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, Twi-Liter 4:15-4:45; Sun.: 2:15, 6:00, 8:15, Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00.
4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
③ R Fri.: 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, Twi-Liter 4:00-4:30; Sat.: 2:00, 4:30, 7:00, 9:30, Twi-Liter 4:00-4:30; Sun.: 2:00, 5:30, 8:00, Twi-Liter 5:00-5:30.
The Newest, Pinkest Panther of All!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER STRIKES AGAIN
BLAKE EDWARDS
Held Over
④ PG Fri.: 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, Twi-Liter 4:15-4:45; Sat.: 2:15, 4:45, 7:15, 9:45, Twi-Liter 4:15-4:45; Sun.: 2:15, 5:45, 8:15, Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45.
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS...LIMITED TO SEATING

LUNCH-N-COPY
AT THE AMHERST DELI
COMPLIMENTARY LUNCH
WITH COPY ORDERS PLACED AT ETC. COPY CORP.
1. COPY ORDER OF $20.00 or more
2. Placed between 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM
3. ANY REGULAR SIZE SANDWICH ON THE MENU COMPLIMENTS OF ETC. COPY CORP.

Regular-Size Sandwich
Balogna	.95
Mortadella	1.00
Liverwurst	.95
Salami	1.15
Genoa Salami	1.65
Imported Swiss	1.25
Imported Ham	1.50
Capicola	1.70
Prosciutto	1.85
Turkey	1.60
Pastrami	1.50
Corned Beef	1.70
Roast Beef	1.75
Tuna	1.50
Alaskan King Crab	1.99

Most Copy Order Completed While You Have Lunch
CLEAN, CONCISE, CORRECT COPIES on IBM COPIERS, it looks like your original.
ETC. COPY CORP.
Amherst Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Ma. 01002
549-0566
Call 549-0566 to insure copying up to 12:00 (midnight) Mon.-Sun.
Copy Hours: M-F 9:00-6:00; Sat. 9:00- 5:00
Special Hours: Sunday & After Posted Hours

Everbody's Market Place

CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30a.m. and 3:45p.m. Monday thru Friday. The deadline is 3:45p.m., two days before your ad is to appear.

The rates are:

Daily - 40¢ per line
Weekly - 35¢ per line
Monthly - 25¢ per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE, CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR 'SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM'

FOR SALE

New ski boots. Italian imports, polyurethane with flo-form linings. Most sizes, $35. After ski boots, $25. Call Sue 256-8641 evenings 7:00 - 10:30.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

Buttons — pin-on type. Several on display or made to order. 50 cents each. Valley Book Shop. Carriage Shops. Amherst.

Hang glider 18' delt wing. Ex. $495 253-2825.

'72 Honda 350 6K Mi. ex. cond. 549-6190.

Honda CB 450, rebit, engine, new seat & pipes, make offer. Call Sandy 549-4576.

FOR SALE

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Martin 0016 Guitar, $300; Harmon Kardon amp, Dynaco tuner, $110. Adam, 549-0079.

TEAC tape deck, 3 hr. contin. music. Interested? Call Steve 256-0354 aft. 6 p.m.

Fishing — Mitchell Garcia 206 open spinning — $15. Ted Williams spin rod, $15. Both $25. Kirk, 546-9724.

Tires — 4 Saratoga steel belted A78-13 mounted. Dart rims. Asking $100 or B. O. Kirk, 546-9724.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

6 Poolsize goldfish, cheap 617-544-3362.

AUTO FOR SALE

'68 Fiat 124 Sport. Runs and looks great - $900. After 6. Ask for Bob 256-8239.

1974 VW Beetle standard excellent condition $2300 549-0508.

1976 Dodge Van, custom interior, alarm, rustproofed, more, 1-268-7701

'67 Chevy Impala, 4 new tires, 2 new snows. Best offer. Call 549-5831 after 6.

'74 Monte Carlo Landau for sale. Black on black, ac, am-fm, all power, loaded with extras. Excellent condition. Asking $3750. Call 10 to 9:30, 584-8324.

'68 Dodge Dart, 6 cy., $450-bo. 256-8078.

AUTO FOR SALE

1971 Datsun 510, 4 dr. Sedan, 25 mpg, AM-FM, 74,000 mil, good condition, very dependable and fun to drive $975. Call 253-2996, 6-8 p.m.

'71 Ford Torino, for sale, excellent cond. $1,200. Call 253-5684.

Toyota Corolla, '72. Excel. cond., lo. mi., $1300. Call 323-7622 aft. 6 o'clock.

1967 Chevy Impala wagon. Some body rust, engine still great. Call Brian, 546-6001. Asking $150.

Plymouth Fury III, '71, lo. mi., runs well. $875 or B. O. 256-0548.

'66 VW. Great car $295. 323-5575.

For Sale: '72 Vega Yenko Stinger. Modified second engine, new clutch, exhaust, carburetor, alternator, new everything! 4 steel belt ovals, FM stereo. Must pay bills for new new head, valves, rings. Body gd. cond. No rust. $1000 or best offer. Call 546-6720, eves. Keep trying.

'62 Volvo. $150 or best offer. 586-5522.

1967 & 1968 Chevy Vans, both run, parts interchangeable, sold only as pair, $950. 1974 Datsun pickup, radials, good condition, $1900. 617-544-3592.

SAAB 99 '70 Parts: Engine, body, etc. 584-8601. All day Tu. & Th., eves M. + W.

1971 280SE Mercedes Benz for sale. Mint condition, Michelius, ac, ps, pb, pw, best offer. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Sales person wanted. Must have vehicle and camera. Call 586-0824 - Steve.

Teachers at all levels - foreign and domestic teachers, Box 1063, Vancouver, Wa. 98660.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

1 bdrm. in hse. $85 incl. utl. older stud. pref. 253-2409 or see the Roseman on Th.-Fr.

AUDIO

Crown D-150 Amp., SAE Mark 1XB Pre-Amp equalizer, Dual CS 701 trn. tbl., JBL 100 spkrs., excel. cond. $1250. Call Joe 586-2844 at 6:45 p.m.

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

TO SUBLET

Puf. Vil Apt. sublet May 31 to Aug. 31, 2 bdrm. $200 mo. Call 549-1415, 5-7 p.m.

2 bdrm. Twnhse; w-w, June-Aug. 31; pool - air. Quiet. Sund. 665-3994.

Sublet Avail., 4-1. 1 bdr. in 2 bdr. apt. Call eve. 549-4830.

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

3 bdrm. apt. Puf. Vil. June 1 to Aug. 31. Air cond., pool. Rent neg. Call 549-6624.

PERSONALS

3 bedroom apt. dishwasher, wall-to wall carpeting, air conditioning 10 minutes from campus on UMass bus route. Will sublet months of June, July and August — with option for following semester. Call 256-6205. Cheap!

Spider and Dale — It's party time in Daytona — Watch out babes. Kirko.

Happy Birthday, Art. At 25, you're almost over the hill. But you're tennis game doesn't show it! Neither do your Friday nights. Lots of wishes for many more! Luvtoots.

To the Lady I have the most to learn from: Happy Birthday! More than ¼ century old, but less than one-third of your life, here is to the rest (best) two-thirds! Love, T.

Patti F. — Happy 20th on the 23rd!! Make it a good one!! — C, K, & M!

Welcome back Glen Gordon!!

Happy Six Months of magnetism! Beads.

Jerry Meyer, Here's looking at you. Happy 20th. It looks great on you!

Marjorie — The Conspiracy is afoot watch your every move. The Big Sleeper.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Female to live at the Cape for the summer. Call Kathy 545-0966.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'71 Kawasaki 350, for sale, excellent cond. $400. Call 253-5684.

'73 Honda CL 350, mint, 5600 miles, 586-2131.

'72 BSA Victor 500. Best $. 617-544-2744.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

Theses typed. Call Melanie. 256-6174.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

Need to sell your car? Want the best price? Advertise with us: W. Mass. Wheeler Dealer - deals only in cars with circulation of 70,000. Call Pete, 584-2007 for info.

ENTERTAINMENT

Below the Salt is suffocating; Hot L and especially W. Pullman were very very good!

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

WANTED

Aluminum tennis racket, Haywood. T-3, Ashe, Comp and Head. 542-2171.

Needed: Baby food jars. Eves. 253-3868.

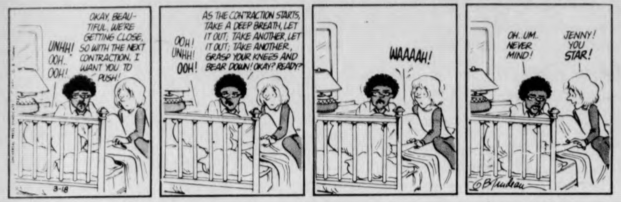
Wanted: Housemen for Sorority. Job for next semester. Call 549-0539.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR-52 $199.95; SR-56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR-40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP-67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549-1316

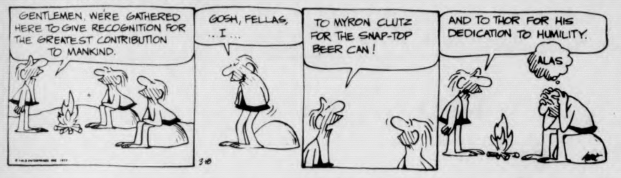
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

Valley Typing
29 S Pleasant St
call 256-6736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



UNHH! OOH.. OOH!
OKAY, BEAUTIFUL, WE'RE GETTING CLOSE, SO WITH THE NEXT CONTRACTION, I WANT YOU TO PUSH!
OOH! UNHH! OOH!
AS THE CONTRACTION STARTS, TAKE A DEEP BREATH, LET IT OUT; TAKE ANOTHER, LET IT OUT; TAKE ANOTHER, GRASP YOUR KNEES AND BEAR DOWN! OKAY? READY?
WAAAAH!
OH..UM.. NEVER MIND!
JENNY! YOU STAR!
3-18
G.B.Trudeau

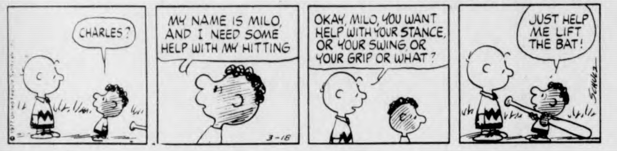
B.C. by Johnny Hart



GENTLEMEN, WE'RE GATHERED HERE TO GIVE RECOGNITION FOR THE GREATEST CONTRIBUTION TO MANKIND.
GOSH, FELLAS, ...I...
TO MYRON CLUTZ FOR THE SNAP-TOP BEER CAN!
AND TO THOR FOR HIS DEDICATION TO HUMILITY.
ALAS
3-18

PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549 5610



CHARLES?
MY NAME IS MILO, AND I NEED SOME HELP WITH MY HITTING OKAY, MILO, YOU WANT HELP WITH YOUR STANCE, OR YOUR SWING OR YOUR GRIP OR WHAT?
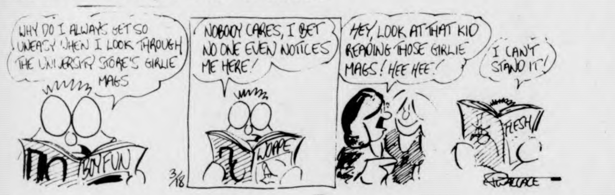
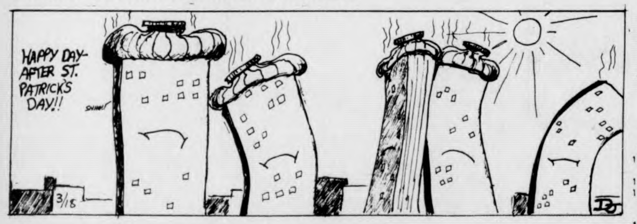
JUST HELP ME LIFT THE BAT!
3-18
SCHULZ

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



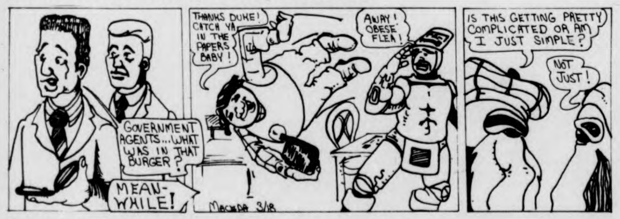
WHY DO I ALWAYS GET SO UNEASY WHEN I LOOK THROUGH THE UNIVERSITY STORE'S GIRLIE MAGS
BOYFUN
NOBODY CARES, I BET NO ONE EVEN NOTICES ME HERE!
WOPPE
HEY, LOOK AT THAT KID READING THOSE GIRLIE MAGS! HEE HEE!
I CAN'T STAND IT!
FLESH
3/18
P.WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



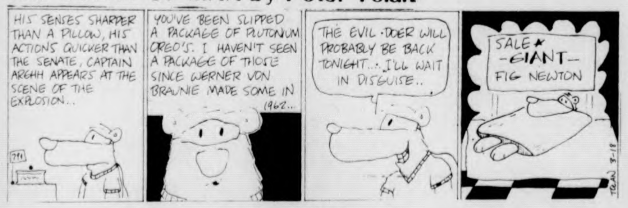
HAPPY DAY-AFTER ST. PATRICK'S DAY!!
3/18
DJ

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



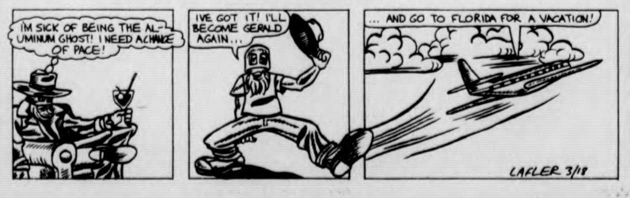
GOVERNMENT AGENTS...WHAT WAS IN THAT BURGER?
MEAN-WHILE!
THANKS DUKE! CATCH YA IN THE PAPERS BABY!
AWAY! OBESE FLEA!
MACEDA 3/18
IS THIS GETTING PRETTY COMPLICATED OR AM I JUST SIMPLE?
NOT JUST!

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



HIS SENSES SHARPER THAN A PILLOW, HIS ACTIONS QUICKER THAN THE SENATE, CAPTAIN ARGHH APPEARS AT THE SCENE OF THE EXPLOSION...
YOU'VE BEEN SLIPPED A PACKAGE OF PLUTONIUM OREO'S. I HAVEN'T SEEN A PACKAGE OF THOSE SINCE WERNER VON BRAUNIE MADE SOME IN 1962...
THE EVIL-DOER WILL PROBABLY BE BACK TONIGHT... I'LL WAIT IN DISGUISE..
SALE ★ -GIANT- FIG NEWTON
TOLAN 3-18

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



I'M SICK OF BEING THE ALUMINUM GHOST! I NEED A CHANGE OF PACE!
I'VE GOT IT! I'LL BECOME GERALD AGAIN...
... AND GO TO FLORIDA FOR A VACATION!
LAFLER 3/18

Local Television

7:30 3 MATCH GAME
8 ACTION NEWSMAKERS
22 ETCETERA
24 CONNECTICUT
30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 THE MUPPET SHOW
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 CBS SPECIAL: "African Queen"
8 40 THE DONNY AND MARIE OSMOND SHOW
22 30 SANFORD AND SON "Fred Sings the Blues"
24 57 WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW
27 MOVIE "Wild, Wild Planet"
38 IRONSIDE
56 THE COMMANDERS
8:30 22 30 CHICO AND THE MAN
24 57 WALL STREET WEEK
9:00 3 THE SONNY AND CHER SHOW
8 40 ABC FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE "The Woman Who Cried Murder"
18 ATHANSON'S FORUM
22 30 THE ROCKFORD FILES "To Protect and Serve" 24 THE ANDERSONVILLE TRIAL
38 MOVIE
56 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL
57 AGRONSKY AT LARGE
9:30 18 THE PTL CLUB
57 AMERICANA
10:00 3 HUNTER
22 30 QUINCY
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
57 PLEASURE AT HER MAJESTY'S

10:30 27 JEANNE PALMER—FINANCE
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "The Wild Blue Wonder"
56 DARK SHADOWS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 FRIDAY SPECTACULAR MOVIE "The Nanny"
8 GREAT EIGHT, LATE NIGHT, FRIGHT FLICK "Dead Man's Eyes"
18 DR. SCOTT ON HEBREW
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
38 FRIDAY LATE MOVIE
40 S.W.A.T. "Strike Force"
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS

12:37 40 DRAGNET
1:00 8 40 NEWS
18 THE 700 CLUB
22 MARATHON MOVIE "The Big Sleep"
30 THE MIDNIGHT SPECIAL
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:30 30 NEWS
3:15 22 MARATHON MOVIE "Nevada Smith"

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Friday, March 18— Born today, you are a person filled with secret hopes and desires. Nor are you particularly anxious to see them all fulfilled, for you find that you are usually happier looking forward to the granting of the wish than to the fact itself, once it has been realized. You have no real knack for seeing into the future; indeed, you find it difficult to see clearly into tomorrow – not because you cannot put two and two together, but because you think along strictly logical lines, though the world does not progress in quite that way.

Saturday, March 19

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) – Take care that the decisions you make today are not unduly affected by your emotions. Try to take the intellectual approach.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) – Routine matters take up most of the day. With evening, however, things begin to pick up. Rely on a good friend for support.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) – A slow day, but one which leads to a gainful evening. Don't expect others to read your mind; tell them what you want in no uncertain terms.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) – A man or woman of influence makes it a point to come to your aid today. You may have to express your thanks indirectly; do so without hesitation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) – Whatever could be harmful must be avoided. This is no time to force the issue of romance; allow matters to develop naturally.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) – Control your emotional responses, especially early in the day when you may be inclined to overreact to events even before they happen.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) – A favorable day for financial affairs. Insist upon your share of profits. Cooperate fully with those who can lead you toward new goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) – Keep in the background of another's activities. If you insist upon taking a front-and-center position you may end in difficulties.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) – Push your own ventures forward today. Although another may ask for special favors, you need not comply. Strive for personal gain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) – A domestic problem looms less large than you expected. Loved ones let you know they are on your side.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) – A question of responsibility may cause difficulties to arise in a parternship. It is important that you mind your manners.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) – Self-confidence helps get Saturday projects off the ground. Younger family members take stock of themselves – and you!

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Turkic language
6 Fish
10 Party for the groom
14 Unmatched
15 Interjection expressing pain
16 Fret
17 State
19 Inactive
20 Money handler
21 Salad ingredients
23 Microbes
25 Lately produced
26 Cereal grass
27 State: Abbr.
29 Congers
31 --- Line: Radar system
33 Motion-picture studio
34 Author ----- Segal
36 Storehouse
40 Feel like ---- man
42 Old World finch
44 Risque
45 Attack on all sides
47 Less common
49 Fool
50 High rock
52 Leaf of a letter
53 Tennis court fixture
54 Dunce ---
57 See ---: Become furious
59 Skin disease
61 Detailed examination
64 Cream of ------
67 Nobody
68 Advancing steadily: 3 words
70 Emendate
71 King or Norman
72 Shun, of old
73 Denomination
74 Uses poor judgment
75 Color

DOWN
1 Diplomacy
2 Wings
3 Turnpike features: 2 words
4 Like a weak old woman
5 Hockey game VIP
6 Part of a city: Abbr.
7 Parent's sister
8 Heir
9 Disgraced
10 Eject from the mouth
11 Of an English royal family
12 Narrow street
13 Water birds
18 Abalone shells
22 Inspired fear
24 More foxy
27 Body fat
28 Companionless
30 Fragment
32 Something that entangles
35 ----- Walker: Can industrialist
37 Jet flight: 2 words
38 Cockney's 'ome
39 Criterion
41 Moist
43 Render invalid
46 Liberal's opponent
48 Changes the title
51 Fix a shoe
54 Walking aids
55 Electron tube plate
56 ----- button
58 Eating place
60 Sober
62 Latvian
63 Asterisk
65 Play division: 2 words
66 Large bird
69 Time periods: Abbr.

Thursday's Puzzle Solved

FOUL FOOL URBAN ACNE RAVE SHADE
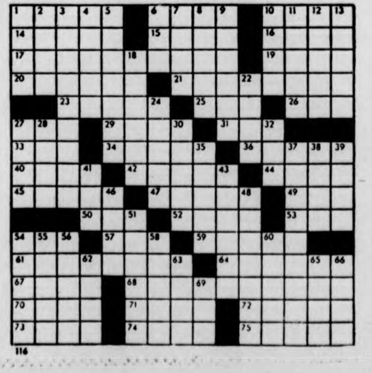
REATTIRED SERIN
CASTE NOR OSTE
INSERTS NETS
ORNATE FETISH
FOR ERASE CARTE
ACTS TITAN TRAM
STEEP NETOP ANI
TODDLE RUDEST
AYAH PESTIER
GOAT ROB TRONA
ACRID REASSENTS
SHOVE SAGA WARE
HOWES ERAL SLED



1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13
14 15 16
17 18 19
20 21 22
23 24 25 26
27 28 29 30 31 32
33 34 35 36 37 38 39
40 41 42 43 44
45 46 47 48 49
50 51 52 53
54 55 56 57 58 59 60
61 62 63 64 65 66
67 68 69
70 71 72
73 74 75
116

READ THE

WHAM
COLLEGIAN

CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere in today's Collegian is a word which means: "Mediums of radio and television transmission."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:

RICK ALLEN

Yesterday's word:

CORRECTION

..CONTEST ...CONTEST..

Gorillas at Hofstra for season opener

By TOM CROWLEY
Collegian Staff

While some lucky UMass students will be soaking up the sun down in Florida next Saturday, the lacrosse team will be hoping it doesn't rain in Long Island. Because, for the last three years when the Minutemen have played at Hofstra, the game was conducted in a downpour.

Again Garber's Gorillas will open the season with Hofstra, Saturday, March 26 at 8:00 p.m. under the lights on Hoftra's astroturf field.

The game opens a season filled with optimism and an upgraded schedule.

Last year the Minutemen lost to the Flying Dutchmen by two goals, 11-9, in a rain storm for the first game of a 10-3 year.

"We've never beaten Hofstra. In the last three years, we've lost by one or two goals, UMass coach Dick Garber said.

But this year the Gorillas are prepared. "We did get some special shoes this year; we share them with football and soccer. Last year when Hofstra scored a goal, I counted seven of our players who had fell down on the play," Garber said.

Because this is the early season, the Flying Dutchmen are an unknown to the Minutemen. The team from Long Island will play Penn tomorrow night and Dartmouth Wednesday when coach Garber will scout them two days before the game.

Garber still has past experience to guide him with the host team. "They play a straight zone on defense which gives a lot of teams trouble, including us. They have a good, strong lacross tradition and they are in the base area of lacrosse. Thus their zone is partly psychological, the myth of the 'Hofstra zone.'

"Their offense is like their defense: a ball control one. They're involved in a lot of one or two goals games either way. They like to lay back and make you come out and play them. They work for the one good shot.

"Their philosophy is that if they're up by two goals with five minutes left, they can beat anybody," Garber said.

This type of game uses physical tactics and Hofstra has the bodies to do it.

"They recruit football-lacrosse types. Sometimes their football players are on the squad. They like to bang you around in a legal way. They play more physical than we do and they do things like that that cause us trouble: control the ball offense and zone defense," the head Gorilla said.

UMass, on the other hand, is the polar opposite of Hofstra. The Minutemen play a man-to-man defense and a fast break, shoot when you get a chance offense. UMass relies on its clever stick handling, hard shooting, and its speed on offense. "We force things to happen," Garber summed up.

Hofstra is strong in the midfield with Bob Culkhe, Perry Riesberg, and Perry Russo returning from last year. John Linker, a sophomore goalie, is returning and is a good one.

But right now the Gorillas are hoping it doesn't rain next Saturday though or the Hofstra zone defense could turn out to be more than a myth.

LINE CHANGES ... Jeff Spooner, Terry Keefe, and Micky Menna are this year's tri-captains ... UMass lost only five players from last year's NCAA playoff team ... Last year Hofstra was ranked sixth in the nation in the early going, but slumped near the end of its season. UMass replaced it at the sixth spot ... The first home game is the Saturday after the Hofstra game against Cornell, the NCAA champion.

Mike Lettera (12) is one of a host of returning veterans on coach Dick Garber's Gorillas. (Staff photo by Rob Carlin)

Kentucky, UNCC advance

LEXINGTON, Ky. [UPI] — Hot-shooting University of North Carolina-Charlotte placed all five of its starters in double figures last night to surprise ninth-ranked Syracuse 81-59 in the semi-final round of the NCAA Mideast Regional.

In the other semi-final matchup, top-ranked Michigan faced 19th-ranked Detroit.

Senior center Cedric "Cornbread" Maxwell led all scorers with 19 points, 14 coming in the first half for the 49ers, who shot 58 per cent from the field. Freshman guard Chad Kinch added 16, Lew Massey 14, Kevin King and M3lvin Watkins scored 13 each.

The Orangemen, which had upset Tennessee in the first round of the tournament managed to shoot only 42 per cent in the first half. Larry Kelley, who scored 22 in the victory against the Vols, was shut out by the tough UNC-Charlotte defense.

The 49ers broke the game open midway in the first half, outscoring Syracuse 14-2 over a five-minute stretch to take a 24-12 lead with 8:00 left in the half.

UNC-Charlotte, which easily solved Syrácuse's full-court press, scored on numerous layups to expand that lead to 38-22 at the half.

With Kinch and King hitting from long range, the 49ers upped their lead to 27 points in the second half.

Dale Shackleford and Marty Byrnes led Syracuse, which ended the season 26-4, with 16 each while freshman center Roosevelt Bouie added 12. Their leading scorer, Jim Williams, managed only four points. UNC-Charlotte is now 2 7-3.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. [UPI] — Truman Claytor exploded for 29 points last night to propel Kentucky to a 93-78 victory over Virginia Military and enter the Eastern NCAA regional championship final.

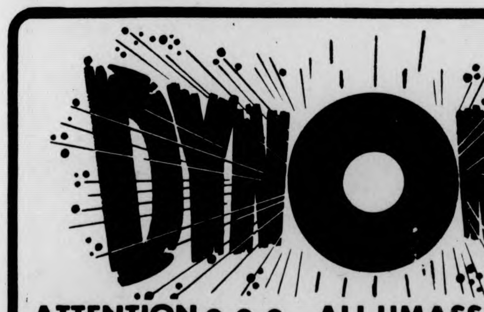
The Toledo, Ohio, sophomore had averaged only 5.8 points per game during the season but by halftime in the opening game of play here, Claytor had already totaled 16 points to help stake the fifth-ranked Wildcats to a three-point margin over the stubborn Keydets.

He added another 13 in the final 20 minut[illegible] Kentucky, now 26-3 ph[illegible] e down VMI and [illegible] ahead.

[illegible] Jack Givens chipped in 28 and Ron Carter was high for VMI with 28 points. Dave Montgomery had 18.

The Keydets bowed out with a season record of 25-4 but made a struggle of it until three minutes into the second half when they knotted the score 49-49. But with Claytor and Givens combining for 10 points in a quick scoring spree, the Southeastern Conference champions ran up a 62-52 advantage and were never troubled thereafter.

Thurs., March 17
LARRY TOMEI, JR.
Fri. & Sat., March 18 & 19
KID COLT
4 pc. Bluegrass Group
Sun., March 20
PETER BOYNTON
25c Drafts M-F 6-8 p.m.
RAHAR'S
FOOD DRINK LODGING
OPEN 11-1 DAILY • 12-1 SUNDAYS
VISIT OUR GAME ROOM
7 Old South St. • Northampton
ACROSS FROM Peter Pan Bus Terminal



ATTENTION • • • ALL UMASS. STUDENTS.
YOUR NEWSPAPER—THE MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN—IS LOOKING FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK THEY CAN SELL. WE HAVE POSITIONS OPEN FOR THE COMING SEMESTER. THIS IS AN EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY TO EARN EXTRA MONEY AND ACQUIRE GREAT JOB EXPERIENCE.
interested?: Drop this coupon off to Steve Lesser, Ad Manager, at the Collegian office, 113 Campus Center, or call 545-3500.
WHEELS ARE NECESSARY!
I'm interested in becoming a Collegian Ad Rep:
Name:
Address:
Telephone:
Any selling experience?
( ) Yes ( ) No
Do you have a car?
( ) Yes ( ) No

Breakfast in the Dorm.... indulge yourself

MUNCHYS
featuring a complete selection of Breakfast Foods

Hawks chop Pines

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

" ... Some gotta win, some gotta lose. Good time Charlie's got the blues ... "

The winner and now champion, the Hawks! In the men's intramural basketball finals, the Hawks grabbed the campus title by dropping the Gorman Pines, 53-47, last night at Boyden.

The win gives the Hawks a final record of 11-0 while the Pines end at 10-1.

The hot shooting Hawks built an eight point lead 10-2, only four minutes in the game on the strength of field goals by Steven Winston (two), Adam Rosin, Jim Barnhart and Bob Burton. The only Pine basket during that spread was Mark Finnerty's baseline jumper. Not wanting to get behind by too many points, the Pines called a timeout.

Barnhart blocked a Joe Harrington shot following the short commercial break. Harrington threw up a hook shot on the rebound and then was fouled by Hawks' Winston. He hit the free throw to make it a three point play leaving the Pines down 10-5.

The Hawks kept trying to pull away. They built leads of 14-5 and 20-13, but the Gorman team wouldn't die, and just kept fighting back.

Alex Dobbs got moving nearing the end of the first half. He scored seven points in the last 1:30 but the Hawks still led at halftime, 23-20.

Shooting statistics showed the Hawks hit on 9 of 20 from the floor, while the Pines were 7 for 24.

Opening the final half of the contest, the Hawks employed an unusual strategy — they went into a stall offense. It didn't last too long (minute) as Chuck Smith drove towards the hoop for an easy layup. Dobbs showed what he thought of the slow-down offense by racing down court to the right of the loop. He stopped, popped, bang! Two points. Still, the Pines were back by three, 25-22.

And then it happened. The Hawks went on a tear to break the game wide open: a Billy Santos shot saw nothing by netting, Barnhart laid in an offensive rebound for a pair of points; Rick Mulcahy hit his first hoop; and when Winston tossed in a short jumpshot, the Hawk-men had an 11 point lead, 32-22.

Gorman had its hands full; time wasn't on its side. As the clock wound down to three remaining minutes. they were down 12, 43-31. Gorman applied full court pressure which helped cut the lead somewhat, but it was too much of a task with too little time. The Hawks easily broke the press as Santos and Barnhart threw in a couple late hoops to keep the Pines out of range.

"We were unheralded, the unheard of team," pointed out Hawk-man Jeff Adams. "Our front line (Winston, Barnhart and Mulcahy) did it all. We showed the so-called spectacular teams what it was all about."

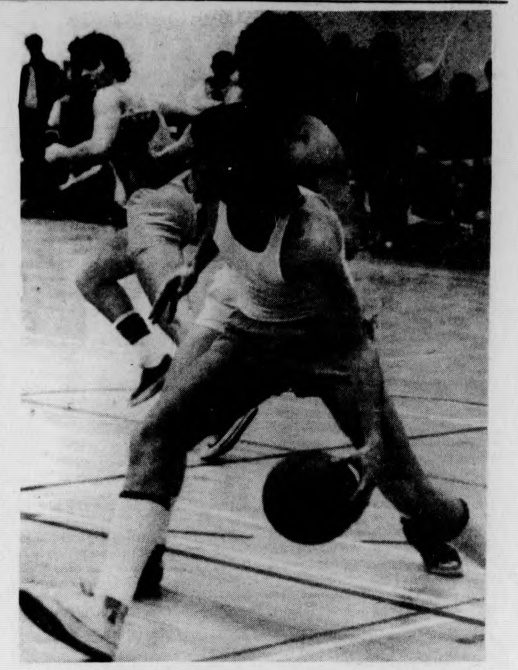
I guess they did, because they're the champs.

Highlights ... Gormaner Ed O'Brien blocked what appeared to be a sure basket by Barnhart late in the contest ... the Hawks hit on 21 of 39 shots from the floor in the game, while the Pines shot 14 of 35 ... would like to take this time to thank Gene Grzywna, an im. supervisor, who helped me with the games statistics ...

Hawks: (53) Santos 5-5-15 pts; Barnhart 6-0-12 pts; Winston 4-4-12; Smith 3-2-8 Mulcahy 1-0-2; Burton 1-0-2; Rosin 1-0-2; Totals: 21-11-53

Pines: (47) Dobbs 8-5-21 pts; Finnerty 2-5-9 pts; O'Brien 1-6-8; Harrington 2-2-6; Olthoff 1-1-3; Totals 14-19-47

Technicals — none ... fouled out-Finnerty ... Referees — Dave Foster and Joel Slovin (decent job guys!)



The Hawks proved too much for the Pines last night as they captured the intramural title. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Collegian Sports

Sows squeeze by; 19-18

By SUSAN FAY
Collegian Staff

It was an appropriate St. Patty's Day victory. The team that wore the green — the Sows — carried the luck of the Irish (and a lot of desire), with them defeated the Olofs, 19-18, last night in Boyden to win the women's intramural basketball championship.

It all came down to two clutch free throws by Allyson Toney with 30 seconds to go in the game. Those points put the Sows (who suspiciously resemble the UMass field hockey team), ahead 19-16 and kept them there despite a super last second basket by the Olof's Donna O'Brien.

The last three minutes of the game were thrilling, if somewhat chaotic, as the two teams exchanged leads. Both teams wanted those championship plaques badly. After Mary Murray of the Sows tallied with one minute left to make it 17-16, the court began to look like a rugby field. At one point, half the players were on the floor diving for the ball. But the Sows came up with both the ball and the game when Toney sunk her free throws.

Although the Sows took the early lead, the Olofs fought back to take a 12-7 halftime edge. The solid defense displayed by the Sows kept the red team from running away with it.

The super-aggressiveness of the Sows in the second half brought them back from their early deficit. Scores by Laura O'Neil, Karen Gipps and Judy Kennedy started the comeback which Murray and Toney finished.

It was obvious from the intense play that both teams wanted to experience the 'thrill of victory' badly, and it's unfortunate that either had to experience the 'agony of defeat.' The Olofs had some fine players in O'Brien, Carol Mastacouris, Dorris Dougherty, and Nancy Rider. But they couldn't withstand the sow onslaught.

"We were all great"! exclaimed an elated Murray after the game. "We used all our players — everybody played." To get to the winner's circle, the Sows had to win three games (including one over the Kennedy "assassins").

After yesterday's game, maybe the Sows should change their name.

The Sows swept past the Olofs last night to capture the women's intramural crown. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne.)

Bruins win

BOSTON [UPI] — Don Marcotte's short backhander with eight minutes to play propelled Boston to a 4-2 win over Buffalo last night and lifted the Bruins into a first-place tie with the Sabres in the NHL Adams Division.

The victory stretched Boston's unbeaten streak to 11 games (9-0-2).

Terry O'Reilly celebrated St. Patrick's Day with the game's first goal and jean Ratelle, playing in his 999th NHL game, netted his 30th goal of the season to give Boston a 2-0 lead after one period.

Fran Sypek

Budget cuts hit hockey hardest

The year was 1972. The UMass hockey team had won the ECAC Division II championship and things looked good for coach Jack Canniff and the UMass hockey team.

But as it turned out, things did not go well for the UMass hockey program. Sure, the Minutemen qualified for the playoffs the following two years, but the puckmen have been spectators during post-season play for the past three years. Instead of going uphill after that championship season, the program did just the opposite.

Why?

"I had the most scholarship money that I've ever had when I recruited that team," said Canniff. "After that the money went steadily downward while the cost of operating a hockey team went up."

That really hurt because it limited the number of good players Canniff could bring in to play hockey at UMass. The whole scholarship situation reached its climax last March when Canniff was told he would not be able to grant athletic scholarships to any hockey players planning on coming to UMass.

"The kids I went after last year just went by the boards," said Canniff dejectedly. "There's no question that it was very discouraging."

So Canniff is faced with the unenviable task of trying to lure good hockey players to this school without giving them any money, while schools like Boston University, Providence, New Hampshire and Vermont approach players with scholarship offers.

"It's a very difficult situation," Canniff said. "I try to interest the players in the things the University has to offer, such as the low-cost factor."

Because of all the cutbacks and because things don't appear to be getting any better, Canniff is not optimistic about the future of UMass hockey.

"There are too many unanswered questions," he said.

What happens if no quality players come to UMass? Will the Minutemen have to take a step down to Division III and, heaven forbid, play teams like Westfield State, Framingham State and Worcester State, while state colleges in North Adams and Salem continue to field successful Division II teams? As it stand now, UMass is the largest ECAC Division II school.

Both Canniff and his assistant, Russ Kidd, say that Division III is not the answer. In fact, Kidd has maintained since 1954 that if UMass took the commitment to bring in good hockey players from Massachusetts alone, it could be a Division I powerhouse. Anyone doubting this can just take a look at rosters of visiting teams coming in to Orr Rink, which are dotted with players from places like Boston, Arlington, Lynn, Needham and soon.

Another factor which hurts program is the lack of a skating rink on campus. The Minutemen are forced to use Amherst College's Orr Rink, a small facility that has a maximum capacity of 2,000.

"If you brought a facility on campus, it alone would help the program," Canniff said. However, there are no plans to build a rink in the immediate future.

Everything seems to be going against Canniff, just as it was 10 years ago when he took over as UMass hockey coach. During that 1967-68 season the hockey team had a dismal record of 5-15. But things got better as the years went on. Each year saw the team's record improve, culminating with the championship of Division II in 1972

Now Canniff is faced with the same situation he found when he first came here. But this time the task will be a little bit harder, because of his limited bargaining power.

If anyone can restore respectability to the UMass hockey program, Jack Canniff can — he's done it before.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 109 MONDAY, MARCH 28, 1977
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA. 01003 (413) 545-3500

Two 747's collide on Canary Island runway

Jet collision kills 550

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Spain [UPI] — A Dutch jet plowed into a packed Pan American jumbo jet on a foggy runway in the Canary Islands yesterday, and the two Boeing 747s erupted in flames. Officials said more than 550 persons were killed in the worst disaster in aviation history.

The national news agency Cifra quoted Santa Cruz airport officials as saying 570 persons died and 49 were injured. It said there were 18 known survivors, none of whom suffered injuries.

There were a reported 655 persons aboard the two planes. In Amsterdam, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines said all 235 passengers and 14 crew aboard the 747 died. All were Dutch citizens.

The Spanish Air Ministry said at least 240 persons were killed and 40 injured on the American plane, which was struck broadside by the Dutch jet. One survivor aboard the Panam 747 — an official of the travel firm that chartered the craft — said it carried 381 passengers and 25 crew members.

Television stations in the islands broadcast a statement at 10 p.m., more than five hours after the collision, quoting provincial Gov. Antonio Oyarzabal as saying he feared there might be 560 dead.

The crash was the biggest disaster in avaiation history. The worst previous tragedy was the crash of a Turkish DC10 near Paris March 3, 1974, that killed 346 people.

King Juan Carlos sent identically worded messages to President Carter and Queen Juliana of Holland, expressing his own and the Spanish people's grief.

Both planes in the collision were on charter flights with nearly full loads of tourists. They had been diverted from their original destination of Las Palmas, 65 miles away, because of a bomb explosion at the airport terminal there — believed the work of a Canary Islands separatist movement.

The collision, which occurred in light ground fog, took place as the two planes were preparing to fly back from Santa Cruz to Las Palmas, following the reopening of the latter town's airport.

The Panam 747 was taxiing toward its takeoff point when it crossed a runway and was hit by the KIM 747, a spokesman for the U.S. airline said.

The airport was immediately closed to all flights after the crash at about 4:40 p.m., 11:40 a.m. EST. All radio and television stations on Tenerife, which lies off the coast of Morocco in the Atlantic Ocean, broadcast appeals to doctors and other medical personnel to report to their hospitals because of the "utmost emergency."

One American survivor, Jim Naik of Cupertino, Calif., who was hurled from the plane by an explosion, said he believed he was the only person aboard the Panam jet who was not seriously injured or killed.

Naik, 37, interviewed at a hospital, said, "I was struggling to get my wife Elsie out with me but she is in the emergency room here now and is hurt very badly."

"The pilot was about to make a turn," Naik said. "Then there was a big impact. Everything started exploding and crumbling down. Within five minutes, the whole plane was in ashes."

Airport sources said the captain of the Panam airliner was among the survivors but did not release his name.

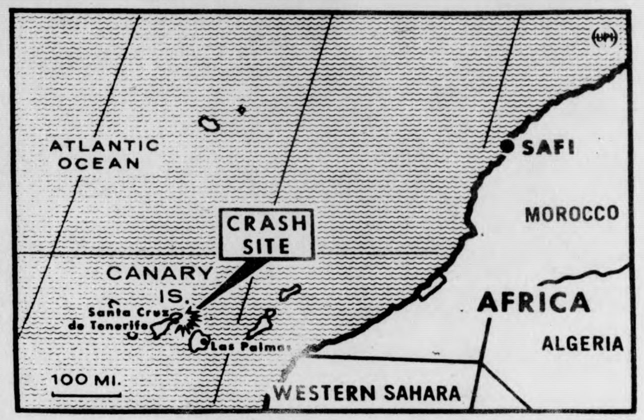
The Americans, who left Los Angeles Saturday, were on their way to a cruise to a number of Mediterranean ports aboard the M.S. Golden Odyssey, which awaited their arrival in Las Palmas.

In Washington, the National Transportation Safety Board dispatched a team of seven experts to the Canary Islands to help Spanish authorities find out why the two huge jets collided.

The State Department announced a group of American diplomats from the U.S. embassy in Madrid flew to the crash site in an attempt to aid survivors and relatives of the victims. A second emergency task force was set up at the Madrid embassy and maintained constant contact with the State Department and Spanish authorities.

Only one 747 passenger plane has ever before crashed since the 225-foot-long jumbo jets were put in commercial service in late 1969. In that incident, a Lufthansa plane crashed on takeoff Nov. 20, 1974, in Nairobi, Kenya, killing 59 of the 157 persons aboard.

Santa Cruz airport has been the scene of several air disasters. The last major crash occurred on Dec. 3, 1972, when a Spanish Convair 990 jet carrying German tourists was caught by sudden cross winds on takeoff, flipped over and crashed, killing all 155 persons aboard.



Von Hoffman denounces journalism techniques

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

Syndicated columnist Nicholas Von Hoffman Saturday told a gathering of New England journalists that current economic reportage is either "outdated", "profoundly misleading" or "incomprehensible" and journalists should "rethink" their methods of presenting economic news.

Accusing journalists of being in "the deep 1950's" in their use of social science ideas in their stories, Von Hofman said journalists often do not reduce the phrases of economic specialists to phrases the average reader or listener can understand.

Von Hoffman gave his speech at day-long conference for print journalists at the Campus Center, sponsored by the Valley Press Club and the UMass Journalism Dept.

Speaking before 150 persons, Von Hoffman said the current affliction of economics-related stories can be found in "the swine flu school of economic reportage, or the school of fictional numbers."

He said the current favorite is the index of leading economic indicators, which he referred to as "mosaic law".

"We don't point out that the index has never been right,"Von Hoffman said, "there are all kinds of numbers that we pervay across the countryside that we have never looked into."

Von Hoffman said journalists have a hard time writing about economics.

"We wish and believe that it is true human beings are for the most part self determined," he said, but we do not have this power of action in economics.

If a journalist believes objective conditions control the economy, he or she comes closer to Marxian thought, he said. To get away from this, journalists make economic reporting a "moral drama" with good guys and bad guys Von Hoffman said.

According to Von Hoffman, "There is a tendency to see conspiracy everywhere."

The word "speculate" is now used in a perjorative sense, he said, but what most journalists cannot seem to realize that in a capitalist economy, speculation is necessary if corporations are going to succeed.

"You cannot hold people accountable for acts which they must do," Von Hoffman said.

"Yes, the oil companies made money, but in our system they're supposed to make money. They're good little boys. You can't say, 'Oh! You made money!' " he said.

Von Hoffman said there is no single government activity where there is more corruption than in zoning, but that this corruption never appears in print.

Newspapers, radio and television journalists tend to shy away from both business and economics reporting he said. As a result, economics reporting is still "primitive" according to Von Hoffman.

inside

Professor Max Wortman resigned from School of Business Administration last week. Wortman's departure adds to a growing list of quality professors who have left the departments of SBA. Chris Bourne reports on Wortman's resignation and the problems that plague SBA on page 2.

Boston fire destroys historical structure. See Page 5.

Colby urges Carter to take advantage of Soviets' eagerness to negotiate SALT situation.

weather

Today is nifties
With highs in the fifties

CLASS OF 1921

Ron McGilvray takes advantage of the fine weather and the Class of 1921 to stop and enjoy his guitar by the Campus Pond. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Norm Jansen, a UMass junior, has an interesting way to get an interesting angle on things. As we roll into the second half of the semester, scenes like this will be occurring more often. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Faculty union amuses Wood

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

UMass President Robert C. Wood said last night he was "amused" at the faculty union's continuing attempt to convince University trustees that their decision to challenge the composition of the union is wrong.

Wood, in a telephone interview, said the faculty group "had ample time" to talk to the trustees before they voted to unionize on Feb. 8 and 9.

The trustees voted at their March meeting to challenge a ruling made last fall by the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission which included department heads, part-time faculty who have been teaching three consecutive semesters, visiting faculty and faculty who do not receive their salaries from state monies. The trustees said they disagreed with the inclusion of these personnel.

Larry S. Roberts, president of the Massachusetts Society of Professors, the group which will represent Amherst campus faculty in collective bargaining, last night said, "The picture is very clear that our side of the case was not presented to the trustees" before their vote.

Roberts, in a telephone interview said his group is continuing their plan of contacting the trustees individually in order to present their side of the case.

The union has been circulating a petition among faculty to be sent to the trustees, urging Wood to "obey the law" and drop the challenge of the union's composition.

The challenge could delay contract negotiations significantly, and according to collective bargaining law, faculty cannot receive salary increases until a contract is ratified. The faculty have been without any increases in three years.

Roberts said some of the trustees his group has tried to talk to said they had received instructions not to talk about the situation, and some said they had not received copies of the labor relations commission's ruling on the union's composition.

Wood said a trustee committee has been formed on collective bargaining and perhaps that accounted for certain trustee's reluctance to talk about the union.

He also said that the commission's ruling was sent out sometime in the fall with a summary of the decision included.

Roberts said he is unsure what the effect of Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery's appointment to acting vice-president in charge of collective bargaining will have, since he has not been able to see Bromery since the election. The union has scheduled a meeting with the Chancellor April 5, he said.

Wood also denied that he refused to see Boston union representatives during the second week of March.

He said the union representatives showed up in his office when he was out to lunch and demanded to see him.

Wood said two of his staff instructed them to make an appointment, but that no appointment was subsequently made.

After the incident, Wood said he spoke to a Boston faculty meeting for an hour and a half, answering questions from the faculty.

TODAY'S STAFF
Issue Editor Peter B. Wallace

Assistant Issue Editor	Betsy Grose
Day Layout	Hilary Sallet
Wire Layout	Roseanne Carito
Photo Staffee	Pat Dobbs
Head Graphics Tech	Dan Schindler
Ad Layout	Albert Calvert

Thought for the day 'Get alienated!'

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus delivery	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$ 9
Newsstand price	$.10
Faculty staff	$.05

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusetts, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst and additional mailing in Ware, Mass. 01082. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Noted attorney speaks at Goodell

By FIFI BALL
Collegian Staff

Mary M. Kaufman, noted civil rights attorney, will speak here at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, March 28, in room 615 Goodell. Her speech will be "Vietnam, Germany, and International Law — A Correlative Discussion."

The speech is sponsored by the Women's Studies Program, the Veteran's Coalition, the Committee Against Poverty, and the Bachelor's Degree with Individual Concentration program (BDIC).

"Her speech should appeal to veterans and Jewish groups, as well as to students of political science, legal studies, international law, labor, economics, and law and ethics," said Joan Stoia of BDIC.

Kaufman was a prosecuting attorney in the case against I.G. Farben at the U.S. War Crimes Trials at Nuremberg, Germany.

She was also a member of the International Commission of Enquiry into U.S. War Crimes in Indo-China in 1972.

Then, in 1972, she became a professor of law at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio. From there she went to Hampshire College where she taught for three years in the School of Social Sciences until last year. She is currently a member of a New York City law firm.

Kaufman was a defense attorney on trial and appellate levels in political cases during the McCarthy period.

After receiving her B.A. in Political Science in 1932 from Brooklyn College, Brooklyn New York, she went on to graduate in 1937 from St. John's University School of Law in New York with an L.B.

She was a member of the Executive Board of the National Lawyers Guild, and vice-president of the New York City Chapter, for many years until 1972.

She was also director of Mass Defense Office of the NYC Chapter from 1968 to the middle of 1971. In that capacity she directed the defense of thousands of persons arrested in the struggle against racism, poverty, and war. She also trained several hundred junior volunteer lawyers who participated in the cases.

Her publications include, Judgement at Nuremberg — An appraisal of its significance on its twentieth century anniversary (1966), Statements, Declarations, and Agreements Leading to the War Crimes Trials at Nuremberg, Germany and Relevant Documents (1966), The Individuals Duty Under the Law of Nuremberg: The Effect of Knowledge on Justiciability, and a chapter entitled "War Crimes and Cold War Conspiracies" in The Relevant Lawyers (1972), edited by Ann Fagan Ginger.

"She's a walking interdisciplinary studies person...said to be dynamic and integrative speaker," said Stoia.

Field shuts down Theta Epsilon Phi

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

Twenty brothers of the UMass chapter of Theta Epsilon Phi (TEP) are currently looking for new homes after their fraternity was closed last week by Dean of Student Affairs, William Field.

This decision was made after Field, the building and health inspectors of both Amherst and the University, and Edward Bowe, director of Greek Affairs, had toured TEP and determined the fraternity could not afford to adequately maintain the North Pleasant St. building any longer.

"Fiscally, it (TEP) was in great difficulty," explained Field in an interview last night.

He described the demise of TEP as a typical occurance for "any fraternity" experiencing a drastic drop in membership. These "cycles" of reorganizing and rebuilding of a fraternity could occur "over the years."

He added TEP's shutdown was not a disciplinary act.

Fraternity President Edward G. Miller said the trouble began March 13 when Amherst police were asked to investigate a party in the fraternity. That Monday town health inspector William Staart "popped in" to check TEP.

Later that week a town building inspector also visited TEP after an Amherst Towing truck driver mistook black smoke from TEP's chimney for a fire.

Although Miller admitted he questioned the co-incidence of a police visit and subsequent surprise inspections, he stated there was "no revenge involved" with this shutdown.

Membership problems arose for TEP last fall when its recruiting practices failed to replace the 25 brothers who had graduated in June, 1976.

Miller said Field was "probably right" to close TEP. The fraternity had planned to shut down in June anyways.

Fear of more damage to the house than usual was possibily warranted, Miller said.

However, the mid-term action has caused "a lot of aggravation" for the brothers, noted Miller. While Field promised "a roof over everyone's head" when he announced his decision, Miller said some of the brothers, especially the freshmen, have experienced difficulties in finding new residences.

Miller said the other 23 houses in the UMass Greek community "have been great" during this sudden relocation.

Miller said the future of a TEP chapter at UMass lies with the national president. Miller is "undecided" what role, if any, he will play if TEP is re-organized at UMass.

Study in New York
this summer.
Columbia University offers over 400 undergraduate courses and professional school courses.

For a bulletin write:Summer session
Columbia University, 102 c
Low, N.Y., N.Y. 10027

LUNCH-N-COPY
AT THE AMHERST DELI
COMPLIMENTARY LUNCH
WITH COPY ORDERS PLACED AT ETC. COPY CORP.
1. COPY ORDER OF $20.00 or more
2. Placed between 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM
3. ANY REGULAR SIZE SANDWICH ON THE MENU COMPLIMENTS OF ETC. COPY CORP.

Regular-Size Sandwich
Balogna	.95
Mortadella	1.00
Liverwurst	.95
Salami	1.15
Genoa Salami	1.65
Imported Swiss	1.25
Imported Ham	1.50
Capicola	1.70
Prosciutto	1.85
Turkey	1.60
Pastrami	1.50
Corned Beef	1.70
Roast Beef	1.75
Tuna	1.50
Alaskan King Crab	1.99

Most Copy Order Completed
While You Have Lunch
CLEAN, CONCISE, CORRECT COPIES
on IBM COPIERS, it looks like your original.
ETC. COPY CORP.
Amherst Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, Ma. 01002
549-0566
Call 549-0566 to insure copying up to 12:00 (midnight) Mon.-Sun.
Copy Hours: M-F 9:00-6:00; Sat. 9:00- 5:00
Special Hours: Sunday & After Posted Hours

Plethora of candidates appear on town ballot

By TERESA M. HANAFIN
Collegian Staff

Voters in Amherst will be greeted by a vast array of candidates on the ballot when they vote April 5 in the town's elections.

Redistricting of the town's precincts is the main cause of the potpourri of candidates. Town meeting, the legislative branch of Amherst town government, is comprised of 240 elected members. A state law enacted this year requires representation by population rather than number of registered voters, so Amherst was redistricted from seven to eight voting districts, necessitating an election to choose new members from the new precincts.

But town meeting is not the only position voters will have to decide on. They will also be faced with choosing a moderator, three selectmen, two school committee members, an elector under Oliver Smith Will, two Jones Library trustees, one member to the Housing Authority, and two members to the Redevelopment Authority.

William F. Field, dean of students at UMass, is unopposed in his bid for re-election to moderator of the town meeting. The term is for one year.

Nancy B. Eddy, current chairperson of the Amherst Board of Selectman, is running for re-election to the board. Eddy, of 127 Mill Lane, will be opposed in a bid for two selectmen positions by Nathaniel Reed of 54 Snell St. and Chauncy T. Simmons of 6 East Amherst Village.

Roger C. Jacque and Kenneth R. Musakowski are vying for the selectmen slot left vacant by the recent resignation of Robert Garvey, who left to assume his new duties as county commissioner. The term is for one year. Jacque, of 575 South Pleasant St., and Musakowski, of 370 Crown Point Apartments, are the survivors of a town caucus held March 1 to narrow the field of candidates for the position.

Other survivors of the caucus are the candidates for two school committee posts of three years each. There are four candidates for two slots — Ralmon Jon Black of 219 East Pleasant St., Betty A. Brace of 167 College St., Nancy M. Gordon of 27 Pease Place, and Casey Clark of 27 Birchoff Lane.

Gordon F. Neylon of 100 Pomeroy Lane is running against Rosemary Sprague of 34 Spring St. for the position of elector under Oliver Smith Will, a term of one year.

Herta Paulsen of 49 Maplewood Drive and H. Hills Skillings of 16 Hills Road are running for two positions as Jones Library Trustees, terms of three years each.

A term of five years as a member of the Amherst Housing Authority is up for grabs between James P. Sullivan of 100 Gray St. and Margaret J. Zube of 320 Pine St.

Two positions on the Redevelopment Authority are open, also — one term of five years and a term of one year. Running for the five-year slot are Stephen D. Puffer, Jr. of 64 Montague St. and Williard T. Weeks of 100 North Prospect St. Rick N. Fitzsimmons of 137 Columbia Drive is unopposed for the one-year term.

Wortman resigns SBA post

By CHRIS BOURNE
Collegian Staff

Prof. Max Wortman resigned his post in the School of Business Administration last week, saying: "In the last four years, I have seen a fine institution move downward toward mediocrity through the budgetary process."

Wortman, who teaches business policies and personal management, will leave at the end of August to teach at Virginia Polytech and State University.

In the last three years the enrollment in the SBA has doubled while the number of faculty has declined, Wortman said.

He also cited unequal pay as another reason for his leaving. "If younger people got raises, I'd still be on the staff. I'm not really all that concerned about what I make," said Wortman.

According to Wortman, the present pay freeze discriminates against older faculty members. "We've got assistant professors who are making $2,000 to $3,000 less than some of their counterparts simply because their counterparts were hired later."

Prof. Arthur Elkins, chairman of the Management Department, said last night, that he doesn't feel that the school is mediocre right now, but that if present trends continue, there could be serious problems in a few years.

Elkins said that Wortman was the second faculty member that SBA had lost this year. "My gut feeling is that several other faculty members are considering leaving," Elkins said.

Wortman said that if present trends continue there will be only 15,000 students here by 1985. Part of the problem has been "the bad press that the University gets," he said. "If I were a parent, I wouldn't want to send my kid here after reading all the stories about how the University is in trouble in the Boston Globe."

Both Wortman and Elkins pointed out that the faculty in the SBA are working very hard. "All of the faculty are on a nine hour load. which is unusual at UMass," said Elkins, "Some of them are working nine, even twelve hours a day in class."

"If this keeps going for another two or three years, then it will definitely affect the quality of education," said Elkins.

Wortman also said that he feels that another $7 million would have to be added to the proposed $68 million budget in order to maintain the quality of the University at its present level.

Asked about the increasing tuition, Wortman said that he felt that if the money came back to the University instead of going into the general fund, the students wouldn't object as much.

"In most other states, any tuition raises go directly back to the university," he said, citing Iowa, Minnesota, and Virginia as examples.

Elkins said that Wortman's departure will be a big loss to the University and that it will be tough to replace him. "There are very few people who specialize in business policies around. We're one of about 12 schools in the country that offer a Ph.D in that area."

Wortman said that he has enjoyed his nine years here. "It has been a really good experience for me and I wouldn't trade it for anything."

He also added that he hopes the faculty here work out the problems, saying that "public higher education is about the only way to go to college if you are from a lower socio-economic group. That's the way I got my education."

With all the frisbee and baseball games in the Spring these horses are probably wondering if their riders will ever give them a piece of the action. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Springtime approaches in the meadow

Clydesdale urges consumers to protest FDA saccharin ban

By D.A. CLARK
Collegian Staff

Fergus Clydesdale, associate professor in the Department of Food and Nutrition asked consumers to write their Congressmen if they are dissatisfied with the federal Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) recent ban of the artificial sweetener saccharin.

"This recent ban on saccharin disturbs me a great deal," Clydesdale said, "because it is the last non-nutritive sweetener on the market. And we have a great many people in our society who will lose a great deal of pleasure in eating, and I'm speaking specifically about people who are diabetic.

"This whole concept of banning is something which I feel very badly about in terms of scaring the consumer," he said. "Consumers are frightened and confused and mistrustful and I can't say that I blame them."

Clydesdale said the consumer will have to understand that any substance — even water — is poisonous if the dosage is large enough.

The tests cited by the FDA in banning saccharin, Clydesdale said, were conducted with dosages equivalent to 800 bottles of diet soda per day for the life time of a human.

"Now at this point it's up to the consumer to decide whether 800 bottles of diet soda per day is an acceptable risk. If that's what it takes to cause a problem, is the consumer willing to take the risk of drinking one or two bottles of diet soda per day for the life time of a human.

"If the consumers decide that the risk is acceptable," he continued, "I wish they would write to their Congressmen and tell them because these laws are made in Congress to ban materials. They are not made by scientists, they are not made by the FDA, and they certainly are not made by academicians..."

Clydesdale called for a cooperative effort between the consumer, scientists, government, and industry to decide at what levels of toxicity a substance should be banned.

"If the consumers disagree with that ban, I wish they would write to their Congressmen and let them know they disagree. Then perhaps we can get some rational basis for judgment," he said.

Sport Coat

100% cotton, made in Yugoslavia, available in white, light green, blue, and yellow.

$9.95 each

Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Bell Telephone may be overcharging 2.2 billion

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Bell Telephone may be overcharging home and business telephone users more than $2.2 billion yearly to finance a war on competition, a Bell competitor said yesterday.

Edwin Spievack, general counsel for the North American Telephone Association, which represents 400 independent telephone equipment manufacturers, said the overcharge averages about $20 a year for every main telephone subscriber in the nation.

His comments came in material prepared for a Senate subcommittee hearing today on legislation aimed at stifling Bell competition.

"Evidence before the FCC — Federal Communications Commission — and several state regulatory bodies shows Bell is so desperate to turn back the tide of competition that it is vastly underpricing much of its equipment to the detriment of its rate payers and stockholders," Spievack said.

He said the most clearcut case of underpricing was uncovered by the New York Public Service Commission where that body found Bell underpricing terminal equipment, such as telephones and switchboards, by $225 million a year.

"Other commissions have found similar evidence and the FCC says the pattern may well be national," Spievack said. "If it is, and all indications are that it is, then the FCC Common Carrier Bureau estimates Bell is suffering a $2.25 billion annual revenue deficit in the terminal equipment market."

He said that was more than half of Bell's annual profit and the equivalent of more than $20 for every main telephone in the country.

Spievack said the point was crucial because of Bell's claim that business services subsidize home telephone subscribers, and that a virtual monopoly is the only way to insure continuance of such a subsidy.

"In reality, it is becoming increasingly clear that the much-heralded subsidy is flowing the other way, from home telephone and other rate payers in the monopoly sector to the competitive sector," Spievack said.

DES daughters propose to sue major drug companies

DETROIT [UPI] — Hearings begin today to determine whether a group of Michigan women can sue major drug companies for alleged exposure to cancer risk because their mothers took the synthetic estrogen drug DES during pregnancy.

The decision in the case will have a nationwide impact. Researchers for the plaintiffs estimate that from 500,000 to 2 million women in the United States used diethylstilbestrol, or DES, during pregnancy in the late 1940s and 1950s.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Roumell will hear arguments from attorneys for 184 Michigan women, each of whom has developed cancer or a vaginal abnormality.

Lawrence Charfoos, attorney for the women, labeled the DES case "the biggest scandal since thalidomide."

"It hasn't gotten the attention and the difference is you can't show a picture of it," he said. "If we could show a photo of what is happening, the whole country would be up in arms."

Charfoos said all of the women in the case underwent surgery for removal of cancerous or precancerous lesions. Some had part or all of their female reproductive organs removed, he said.

The lawsuit charges that the drug industry as a whole shared a joint responsibility for the damage that DES has caused.

Attorneys for the 16 drug companies named in the suit — including Eli Lily and Upjohn — play to ask for dismissal in cases where the women cannot identify the prescription drug or the manufacturer involved in their claim.

DES was widely prescribed between 1947 and 1964 as an aid in preventing miscarriages in pregnant women. In the late 1960s, research discovered that female offspring of women who took the drug were developing abnormal glands in their vaginas and cancer or precancerous lesions of the cervix.

The synthetic hormone was manufactured and sold under its chemical or generic name by many drug companies and was never marketed under a brand name.

The drug also has been used in non-pregnant women to treat breast cancer, suppress lactation and to counter post-menopausal problems. DES is still marketed for those uses.

In the early 1970s, DES was widely used in a "morning after" oral contraceptive and to promote rapid growth and weight gain in beef cattle.

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere in today's Collegian is a word which means: "to distinguish by discerning or exposing differences."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

March 18th winner:

JEFRE CONGELOSI

Yesterday's word:

AIRWAVES

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

JQA LOWER &
G. WASHINGTON MIDDLE PROUDLY PRESENT
orchestra
LUNA

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 8 PM

UMass students $2.50, 2, 1.50
general public $5, 4, 3

Tickets on sale now at
FAC Box Office & Ticketron

From April 1 through June 14, you can fly roundtrip from New York to Luxembourg for only $410.

That's $89 less than the youth fare you'd pay on any other scheduled airline. (From Chicago you pay $458 and save $103.) All you have to do is be under the age of 24.

There are no booking restrictions. And no skimping on meals or service. Because we give you the same service you'd get from other airlines, without the same high costs. So, if you're not flying Icelandic to Europe, you're spending more than you have to.

We'll give you the best deal.

Save $89 on jet fares to Europe and book anytime you want.

Icelandic Airlines, Dept. #CN
630 Fifth Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10020
See your travel agent. Or call toll free: (800) 555-1212.
Please send information on all Icelandic's low-cost fares to Europe.

Name
Address
City State Zip
Fares subject to change and gov't. approval.

Icelandic
Lowest Jet fares to Europe of any scheduled airline.

CHARTER FLIGHTS TO EUROPE AND CALIFORNIA

- London
- Paris
- Amsterdam
- Frankfurt
- Vienna
- Zurich
- Poland
- Hungary
- Ireland
- Greece
- Rome
- Spain
- Geneva
- Hamburg
- Brussels

LOW FARES NO MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED
For Further Information Contact:

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
Campus Center 3rd level
Univ. of Mass. 545-0500

ALIYAH

If you have recently considered making Israel your home or if the idea has been germinating in the back of your mind, contact the Israel Aliyah Center. Learn about special benefits available to new immigrants, as well as facts about employment, professional retraining, education, housing, etc. Ask about financial assistance and special material designed for students. If you are interested in Israel, Israel is interested in you.

Israel Aliyah Center
31 St. James Avenue
Park Square Building
Suite 450
Boston, Mass. 02116
(617) 423-0868

3J

For information, please send to the above address.

Name Age
Address
City State Zip
University
(USD)

VICTORINOX

THE ORIGINAL SWISS ARMY OFFICERS' KNIFE

- LIFETIME GUARANTEE
- STAINLESS STEEL
- THE PERFECT GIFT
- 35 MODELS
- SWISS HAND CRAFTSMANSHIP
- WORLD'S MOST VERSATILE KNIFE
- COMPLETELY RUST-PROOF

Available at great prices . . .
THE UNIVERSITY STORE
campus center
umass.

Colby urges SALT wrap-up; appears Soviets want same

DES MOINES, Iowa [UPI] — The Soviet Union is eager to negotiate a new strategic arms limitation agreement and President Carter should capitalize on that willingness before Soviet leaders revert to a more traditional, hard-line posture, former CIA director William E. Colby said in an interview.

Colby said that Soviet General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev has clearly indicated the desire to limit the proliferation of nuclear weapons. But he said the Carter administration must take immediate steps toward securing that treaty before Brezhnev's influence over Soviet foreign and military policy diminishes.

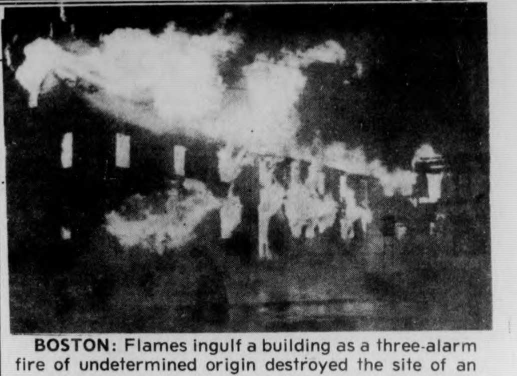
"I think Brezhnev really wants a new agreement and we should take advantage of the fact he's still there," Colby said. "It's hard to tell what would happen once he's out. What you've got is a bird in the hand and several birds in the bush."

Colby's assessment came on the eve of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's trip to Moscow where he will begin talks aimed at improving U.S.-Soviet relations.

The former CIA director rebutted speculation by a number of observers, including former President Ford, that the Soviets have been mounting an aggressive drive toward all — out weapons superiority — estimating the nuclear arsenals of the two super powers are nearly equivalent. Colby said that has forced the Soviets to seriously consider a new, tougher arms control agreement.

"In terms of nuclear weapons, we're essentially equivalent. Both sides have the capacity to destroy the other several times over," Colby said. "The Soviets have great respect for America. They view us as a sleeping giant and they don't want to do anything to stir us. A clear bid for total superiority would really stir us."

A recent analysis of U.S. and Soviet defense spending prepared by the CIA estimates the Soviets are channeling 2½ times more of their resources to strategic nuclear weapons development than is the United States.



BOSTON: Flames ingulf a building as a three-alarm fire of undetermined origin destroyed the site of an experimental 19th century utopia known as the Brook Farm. (UPI)

Boston fire destroys historical structure

BOSTON [UPI] — Brook Farm, site of an experimental Utopia in the last century which led to a book of international fame, was destroyed early yesterday in a three alarm fire of undetermined origin.

Fire officials said the blaze started shortly before 1 a.m. in the vacant building on Baker Street in Boston's West Roxbury section. The fire gutted the unoccupied structure, used in recent years as an orphanage, and caused an estimated $150,000 damage.

Brook Farm included a group of Boston area writers and intellectuals who gathered at the 2½ story building in 1841 and tried to create what they envisioned as an American Utopia.

The group gave up their worldly goods and tried to live off the land and govern themselves. The experiment ended in failure six years later, and was the subject of a book read worldwide.

Later in the 19th century, the Brook Farm building complex was purchased by the Lutheran Church and was converted into an orphanage. The orghanage was closed six years ago.

Fire fighter William Carey said the cause of the blaze was still under investigation. Although several smaller buildings on the old farm complex were untouched by the fire, he said the main building was leveled.

CLIP AND SAVE

Spring's in Sight... Slim down Now!

JOIN
WEIGHT WATCHERS
The Authority.

You'll love the change. New program. Exciting new foods. Easier for you! Men, Women, Teens welcome to join at any meeting. No contracts.

AMHERST — Tuesdays 7 PM
Univ. of Mass. Campus Center Bldg.
AMHERST-HADLEY — Wednesdays 9:30 AM 5 & 7 PM
Howard Johnson's, 401 Russell St. (Rt. 9)
NORTHAMPTON — Wednesdays 9:30 AM & 7 PM
Polish National Association, Pearl Street
NORTHAMPTON — Thursdays 7 PM
Y.M.C.A., Prospect Street

For Information Call:
(413) 786-6611 or write
622 No. Main St., East Longmeadow, Mass. 01028

$7.00 first meeting, then $3.00 weekly. Join now!
LOWER RATES FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Levi's® HEAD~QUARTERS

10% OFF NEXT* PURCHASE! WITH THIS AD...

*Offer Good Thru Sat. 4/2/77

WEAR-HOUSE

201 n. pleasant st./amherst
Fairfield Mall/chicopee

WRITE FOR FILMS AND TELEVISION!

- Experienced professionals
- Valuable industry contacts
- Editorial and marketing aid
- Do not send manuscripts
- For information, write

SCREEN WRITERS SERVICE
2064 Alameda Padre Serra
Santa Barbara, CA 93103

You Can Find Your Future in the Legal Profession

If you are seeking a career opportunity — WSU offers several ways in which you can enter the legal profession. Full-Time Students: Can earn a J.D. Degree and be eligible to take the California State Bar Examination in 2½ or 3 years. Part-Time Students: Can graduate in 3½ or 4 years of study with the same degree as a full-time student by attending class an average of 3 times per week, 3 hours per class. There are schedules to fit many needs — classes are offered days, evenings and weekends. Western State University College of Law has a Whole Person Admissions Policy - applicants are screened for academic background, personal aptitude, general experience, maturity and motivation. Applications are now being accepted for Fall Semester from men and women with two or more years of college credits. To obtain catalog fill out and mail advertisement to either of our two campuses.

Western State University College of Law. Dept. 106

1111 N. State College Blvd.
Fullerton, CA 92631
Phone (714) 993-7600

1333 Front Street
San Diego, CA 92101
Phone (714) 231-0300

(Print)
Name
Street
City State Zip

APPLY NOW FOR FALL SEMESTER. CLASSES START AUGUST 25
Although the cost of professional education continues to spiral, tuition at WSU remains among the most moderate in the nation.

Western State University College of Law

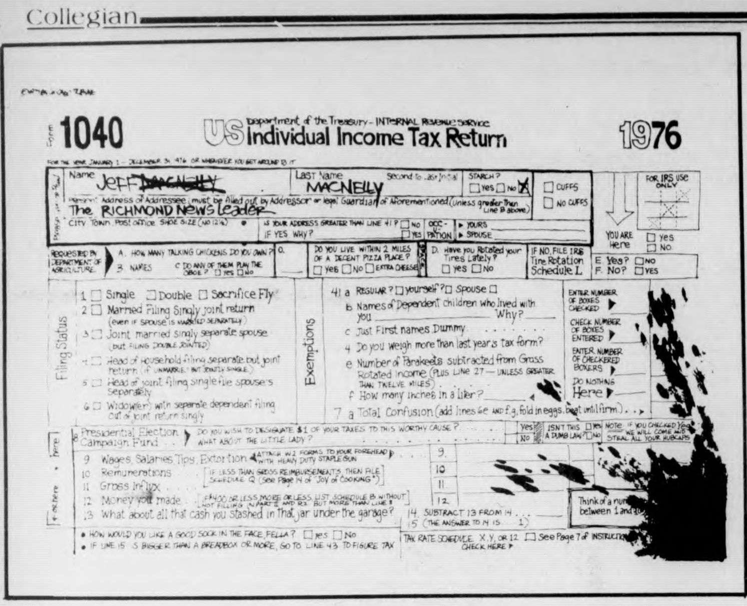
Fully accredited by the State Bar of California and by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges
Students eligible for Federally Insured Student Loans



Form 1040
US Department of the Treasury - INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE
Individual Income Tax Return
1976
FOR THE YEAR JANUARY 1 – DECEMBER 31, 1976 OR WHENEVER YOU GET AROUND TO IT
Name JEFF ~~MACNELLY~~
Last Name MACNELLY
Second to Last Initial STARCH? ☐ Yes ☐ No ☒
☐ CUFFS ☐ NO CUFFS
FOR IRS USE ONLY
Present Address of Addressee (must be filled out by Addressor or legal Guardian of Aforementioned (unless greater than Line B above)
The RICHMOND News Leader
City, Town, Post office SHOE SIZE (NO 12½)
IS YOUR ADDRESS GREATER THAN LINE 41? ☐ NO ☐ YES IF YES WHY?
OCCUPATION ▶ YOURS ▶ SPOUSE
YOU ARE Here ☐ Yes ☐ No
REQUESTED BY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
A. HOW MANY TALKING CHICKENS DO YOU OWN?
B. NAMES
C. DO ANY OF THEM PLAY THE OBOE? ☐ YES ☐ NO
DO YOU LIVE WITHIN 2 MILES OF A DECENT PIZZA PLACE? ☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ EXTRA CHEESE
D. Have you Rotated your Tires Lately? ☐ Yes ☐ No
IF NO, FILE IRS Tire Rotation Schedule L
E. Yes? ☐ NO F. No? ☐ YES
Filing Status
1 ☐ Single ☐ Double ☐ Sacrifice Fly
2 ☐ Married Filing Singly joint return (even if spouse is married separately)
3 ☐ Joint married singly separate spouse (but filing double jointed)
4 ☐ Head of household filing separate but joint return (if unmarried but jointly single)
5 ☐ Head of joint filing single file spouse's separately
6 ☐ Widow(er) with separate dependent filing out of joint return singly
Exemptions
41 a Regular? ☐ yourself? ☐ Spouse ☐
b Names of Dependent children who lived with you Why?
c Just First names Dummy
d Do you weigh more than last year's tax form?
e Number of Parakeets subtracted from Gross Rotated Income (PLUS LINE 27 — UNLESS GREATER THAN TWELVE MILES)
f How many inches in a liter?
7 a Total Confusion (add lines 6e and f, g, fold in eggs, beat until firm)
ENTER NUMBER OF BOXES CHECKED ▶
CHECK NUMBER OF BOXES ENTERED ▶
ENTER NUMBER OF CHECKERED BOXERS ▶
DO NOTHING Here ▶
8 Presidential Election Campaign Fund
DO YOU WISH TO DESIGNATE $1 OF YOUR TAXES TO THIS WORTHY CAUSE? WHAT ABOUT THE LITTLE LADY?
Yes No
ISN'T THIS A DUMB LAW? ☐ Yes ☐ No
NOTE: IF YOU CHECKED Yes WE WILL COME AND STEAL ALL YOUR HUBCAPS
9 Wages, Salaries, Tips, Extortion (ATTACH W-2 FORMS TO YOUR FOREHEAD WITH HEAVY DUTY STAPLE GUN)
10 Remunerations (IF LESS THAN GROSS REIMBURSEMENTS THEN FILE SCHEDULE Q (See Page 14 of "Joy of Cooking"))
11 Gross Influx
12 Money you made (IF $400 OR LESS MORE OR LESS, LIST SCHEDULE B WITHOUT NOT FILLING IN PART II AND R2 BUT MORE THAN LINE 8)
13 What about all that cash you stashed in that jar under the garage?
14. SUBTRACT 13 FROM 14
15 (THE ANSWER TO 14 IS 1)
Think of a number between 1 and 10
• HOW WOULD YOU LIKE A GOOD SOCK IN THE FACE, FELLA? ☐ yes ☐ No
• IF LINE 15 IS BIGGER THAN A BREADBOX OR MORE, GO TO LINE 43 TO FIGURE TAX TAX RATE SCHEDULE X, Y, OR 12 ☐ See Page 7 of INSTRUCTIONS CHECK HERE ▶

letters

Another look at nuclear power

To the Editor:

In reference to John Dowd's recent letter and his misunderstanding of people's opposition to nuclear power plants I would like to mention a few points he has overlooked.

The citizens who oppose the construction of nuclear power plants are not all student activists; the anti-Nuke movement consists of people from many different areas, from communities as well as colleges. It is true that what they are opposing may seem to some to represent progress; I can't deny their right to an opinion. Many people saw the development of drugs such as thalidomide and pesticides like dieldrin and aldrin as representing progress but they were proved wrong too late to avoid tragedy.

It is significant that he mentions capitalism as it's the electric companies' manipulation of our economic system that is hastening construction of nuclear plants in many places where the generating capacity is not presently needed and where no growth in electricity-demand is forecasted. The electric companies receive rate increases in direct proportion to the size of their investment in facilities even if these facilities are not used. Nuclear power plants are much more expensive to build than conventional plants but the companies don't worry about paying for them because they won't have to, we will. They are also more expensive to operate even if the cost of waste disposal is not taken into account. If Mr. Dowd was really concerned about the future he would not advocate putting nuclear wastes into the ocean, whether in cement or any other now-known casing. No safe method of disposing of the radioactive wastes has yet been found. This in itself is enough reason for me to oppose the massive construction efforts of the nuclear power industry.

Water power and electrical power both needed much testing before they became commercially useful and I feel that nuclear power should be given the same chance. However I also feel that it is foolish to call what the industry is doing now testing; they are commercially exploiting a product they know is grossly unsafe. A proponent of nuclear power plants in speaking on television two weeks ago stated that the chance of a major nuclear accident is about 1 in 10,000 for any given year, about twice the chance I have of dying in a car accident. Except that a car accident kills only a few people while a major nuclear accident such as a core meltdown would kill many thousands of lives not to mention the billions of dollars in property damage. What does this chance increase to when in 1990 we have over a thousand nuclear plants in this country as the nuclear industry is planning for us to have?

I am in opposition to nuclear power as it is presently being developed, but I do not feel that this is an admission of defeat as Mr. Dowd seems to believe. Perhaps if the federal government had put some of the almost 2 billion dollars in research grants that it gave to the nuclear industry alone in 1975 towards alternative energy research, we would not now be forced to live with the possibility of a major nuclear catastrophe happening in the near future.

Chris White

Freedom of the press??

To the Editor:

Collegian Columnist James A. Nollet appears to be entirely out of step with truth, facts and reality. Representatives and mouthpieces for the "Establishment" and for any of our giant corporations might continue without end to persuade our citizens of our "freedom", our "free world" and "our free press" ....but a Collegian Columnist??

One wonders whether one should take Mr. Nollet seriously? What then can we do with such outright falsehood, reference to the (quote) statement that: "Ownership of a press is open to anyone" (in our capitalistic society). Obviously ownership of a press, in any meaningful sense, is only open to that class in our society which has so considerable means and power at its disposal. And in over 95 per cent of all cases these means and such power remains entirely reserved for those who are not particularly interested to defend the very needs of the plain people and the working class! Who does not know that all the mass media: the T.V., the Radio and the Press in general are entirely controlled by the upper class and their mouthpieces — including Mr. Nollet?

A further misrepresentation — to say the least — is also the presentation of that alleged "plurality or spectrum" of the different ideas. We are being told that Mr. Loeb of the Manchester Union, a Mr. Patterson of the Daily News or the successive owners of the New York Post present (freedom of our press?!) such wide and entirely different viewpoints. Fundamentally this is not true at all! While there is some considerable difference, the fact remains that all these papers are surely siding with that "free enterprise system" — in total, lock, stock and barrel.

John L. Fisher

An idea beautifully expressed

To the Editor:

Melanie Johnson wrote a beautiful editorial, New Twists on old Tales, March 18th, and I commend her for it. Some five years ago I, then a Collegian editorialist, tried to get that same idea across in a series of editorials. Not only did I take a number of columns to do it, I didn't say it as well.

Alexander Pope said this about Poetry, I'll say it about Melanie's writing, "... what oft is thought but n'er so well expressed."

Tommy Derderian

commentary

Peace for the Middle East

By BRUCE SMITH

Recently Prime Minister Rabin of Israel met with President Carter to discuss hopes and plans for a Middle East peace.

Both Carter and Rabin stated that Israel must have defensible borders in any settlement and these are in no way the cease fire lines that existed before the 1967 war.

Contrary to the current socially accepted view that the Palestinian issue is the heart of the conflict, the real cause of continued conflict and bloodshed is the Muslem intolerence of having a distinctly Jewish state in its de facto hegemony of the Middle East.

As Elie Kedourie, author of Arab Political Memoirs says, "Power is now in the hands of the 'Petroleum Princes'. These fundamentalists are fervent Muslims and would be least willing to aquiese to a sovereign Jewish state established on what they consider Muslim territory."

This is indeed the cause of continued war. The Arabs have cast Israel to be the intransigent racist country that is preventing peace, when in reality it is the Arab nations' refusal to live side by side as equals with Jews. That is the crux of the conflict.

Take a look at the progressive state of Israel and the feudalistic and dictatorial states of the Arab world. In 29 years, under a state of seige since its inception and having to fight in four wars to survive, Israel has accomplished amazing things.

Israel is not a perfect society by any means but no society is. Show me another country in the Middle East that has freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of movement other than Israel. Israel constitutionally guarantees the rights of all political parties, even though some of them are definitely contrary to the national aims of the state. Can this be said of any Arab country? No.

In the Israeli government there are Arab members of the "Knesset", the ruling body of Israel. "Histadrut", the Israeli labor party has a large amount of Arab workers among its ranks.

It is incongrous to think of a Jew in any labor party of any Arab government, much less having a Jew in any kind of governmental position. First of all, there are no labor parties in many Arab countries. The majority of people in our country don't seem to realize that the Arab countries are ruled by a few men, none of whom are ever elected to office. All Arab leaders today have taken over power by coup d'etat or because they are of royal birth. These men are responsible to no electorate. They have policies that are not responsive to the majority of the populace.

In the same way, does the white racist regime in South Africa represent the views of the majority of the people in South Africa? Certainly not.

For peace, true peace, to occur in the middle East, all nations and people must put aside hostility and make a serious effort at living side by side as neighbors. If this could happen, all problems existing today could be worked out to the satisfaction of all involved.

There are much better things to do than to fight and die. One is to live in peace and to make the world we all live in better for our children.

Certainly, the millions of people who rioted throughout Egyptian cities because they didn't have enough money to buy food, would rather lay aside their weapons and cultivate their land instead.

Peace in the Middle East is attainable. Through tolerance and understanding on both sides, peace will come and that troubled area of the world will blossom into a great region. Rich with culture and diversity of life, both Jew and Arab will be able to raise their families in an atmosphere of tranquility and happiness, living side by side as neighbors. Ahlivie.

Bruce Smith is a Collegian Commentator and member of the Jewish News Service.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Gerard F. Rogers, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

bill sundstrom

Retrospective

Oh, yeah — I almost forgot.

The SGA elections were less than two weeks ago.

So that's what all those silly posters were about? Well, don't feel alone if you missed the election. As usual, a solid majority of students didn't vote. The apathy party wasn't quite as powerful this year as it has been, but it still received an overwhelming endorsement for its popular if subtle platform.

But who really did win, after all? Was it Jon and Pinky, or Jim and Shelly? What do they stand for? Does it matter?

Even for those of us who voted, a one-week vacation makes it all the easier to lapse into the normal state of peaceful unconcern. Were they the ones who said they were going to open a packy on campus? No? Dammit, another trip to Four Seasons.

It was a dirty, inane campaign that confirmed the theories that Student Government is a sandbox version of the big time; replete with a scandal and major disagreement over minor issues.

While heated debate surrounded a student-run liquor co-op and a plagiarized poster, someone forgot to ask the candidates exactly how they envisioned the student union everyone seems to think is so necessary, someone forgot to discuss in depth just what the role of the University should be, and everyone managed to ignore the blatant fact that most students couldn't care less about a proposed budget that clearly threatens the quality of education here.

Those issues should have been discussed, if for no other reason than that they are never discussed on such a broad scale during the rest of the year. The blame here lies as much with "the press" as with the candidates — we should have asked the questions that no one else would. Now once again we can fight the uphill battle to generate some student interest in these issues that are of obvious (?) concern to us all.

To their credit, victors Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite are two capable, enthusiastic, and basically decent people. They are also good politicians, which may be the reason they won the election.

Our new co-presidents seem to emphasize the legal aspects of the students' struggle — attacking the traditional power bases with fairly traditional methods: lobbying, letter-writing, and hopefully collective bargaining. I remain a little skeptical. Working within a power structure requires having some political leverage — with what can we threaten Dukakis or the state legislature?

This dilemma can be extended to the bargaining table, should we ever sit at it. Bargaining is a futile endeavor without the threat of some unified action. The faculty can strike, if necessary...can we? Considering the present level of student unity (sic), a successful tuition and classes strike is at best an amusing thought. But I'm sure Jon and Pinky aren't amused. They know far better than I what kind of a spot they are in.

The co-candidates who ran the cleanest campaign were out of the running from the start. Was that because their stands on the issues or abilities were so vastly inferior to those of the other candidates, or was it because they were members of the only group that chose to speak its mind before the governor when he visited campus — a "revolutionary" group?

What candidates Pooler and Weissman overlooked, I think, is that this campus lost its 1960's mentality some time ago. Although rallying students around radical socialism is an admirable idea, it is one that simply won't work here and now. The RSB is quite right, however, that the students must rally around something — the success of all legal efforts hinges on it.

John Foley and Herb Tyson, who received an "honorable mention", suffered from some campaign blunders that reflected their political inexperience more than anything else. A poorly timed Collegian endorsement of the opposition didn't help their cause. Their plan for student-run services is one that will surely survive them because it is both a beneficial and practical idea. Hopefully they will carry on with it despite their loss.

Whether the election results reflect anything truly significant about either the students or the candidates is difficult to say. At least there seems to be a recognition that receiving a higher education has become, like so many other things, a power struggle. No longer are we being funded by benevolent old philanthropists, alumni, or even tuition, for the most part, but rather by a large and stingy bureaucracy. With or without our consent, our position with the administration and the state government is an adversary one.

All of this means we must have more than token power to strike back with. And that necessitates both a legal power base and the threat of unified action to make it viable. Any students who think Batiste and Hite can do it alone are fooling themselves into thinking their vote had some meaning. If the student body remains apathetic, it will remain powerless...and pathetically so.

Bill Sundstrom is Executive Editor of the Collegian.

commentary

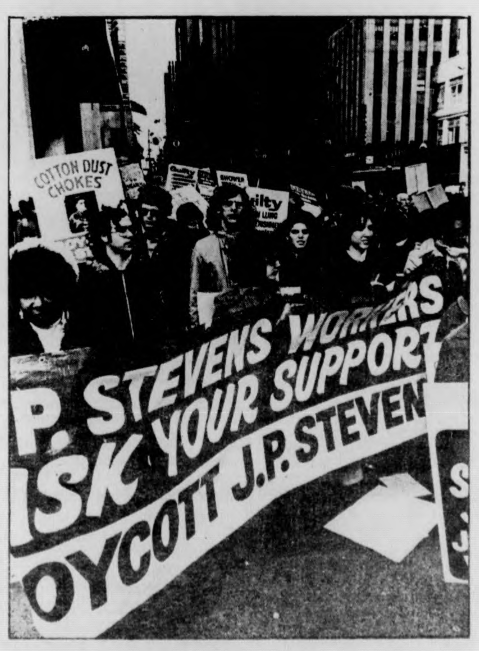
Struggle for Unionization

By GORDON PAVY

Recently on CBS' news program 60 Minutes, a segment was aired about the lives, opinions and attitudes of employees of J.P. Stevens plants in Roanoke Rapids, North Carolina. There are seventeen of Stevens textile mills in Roanoke Rapids.

J.P. Stevens has been named the defendant in more unfair labor practice suits than any other company. They are in a virtually constant state of violation of National Labor Relations Board directives to bargain in good faith with the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union (AFL-CIO). The ACTWU is conducting a nation wide boycott of Stevens' consumer goods. Workers in Roanoke Rapids expressed concern in the 60 Minutes program that the boycott would slow down production and put them out of work. A strong anti-union sentiment exists in the south, and it became apparent in some of the interviews. When an elderly woman was asked why, in view of her ridiculously low wages, she didn't support the union, she replied, "We want to work for our living, they want it given to them." It's funny, because she looked about the same age as and she physically resembled Frances Reese, who from the bitter struggles of miners in her own Harlan County Kentucky wrote the song "Which Side are You on?"

On the program, another worker was interviewed who cut fabric in the mills for 37 years. If he quit work that day he would get $10 a week pension. If he stayed on another ten years, he'd get $16.50. This man was against the union, though he didn't explain why. Another woman explained how she was fired for her union activity and how it took her over four years to get re-instated and get back pay. Stevens' management know what they are doing. They are a renegade industry that refuses to refrain from using union-busting tactics that are both illegal and contemptuous of their workers and consumers. They spend more money paying federal fines and fighting the union than they would have to if they recognized the union and negotiated with them for a fair contract. They are playing off the workers' fear of losing their meager wages and off the anti-union feelings.



COTTON DUST CHOKES
P. STEVENS WORKERS
ASK YOUR SUPPORT
BOYCOTT J.P. STEVENS

"60 Minutes" interviewers always stop about sixty yards this side of a decent question, and they never asked why the anti-union sentiment was so strong. Workers in the South have been cut off from the history of labor struggles in the North as it has industrialized. They don't have the recollection of early unionizing struggles like Frances Reese who still sings her song in union halls today.

J.P. Stevens is the second largest textile manufacturer in the country. The Union is embarked on a massive education and boycott campaign. Some of J.P. Stevens finished products are: Tastemaker and Utica towels and sheets, Forstmann and Utica blankets and Gulistan and Mohawk carpets. These products are sold in area stores. A J.P. Stevens plant that is not textiles, Stevens Elastromeric and Plastic Products Inc., exists in Easthampton.

The threats of losing their jobs and of slowed production rates, are real fears of the workers at J.P. Stevens. The textile industry and especially J.P. Stevens, is fond of shifting production away from mills that attempt to unionize. Sometimes they shut down the plants altogether until the people are impoverished enough to accept exceptionally low wages and poor working conditions which endanger their health with fibers in the air that cause brown lung disease. This is one big reason why the boycott is necessary on a nationwide level. Until Stevens is confronted with the loss of sales on this large scale, it will be able to continue to shift its production without regard for the well-being of their workers and thus, foment anti-union sentiment.

Like the miners and the farmworkers, it will be a long bitter fight for unionization and it will not be without hardship to the textile industry. However, the end result will be a major victory for the workers and their fight for a higher standard of living, and no small step towards unionizing the South.

"They say in Roanoke Rapids, there are no neutrals there.

You'll either be a union maid or a fink for J.P. Stevens.

Which side are you on? Which side are you on?

Which side are you on? Which side are you on?"

Frances Reese

Gordon Pavy is a member of the UMass campus Stevens Boycott Committee.

NOTICES

ALPHA PHI OMEGA MEETING

Alpha Phi Omega will hold its meeting tonight at 7 in Rm. 803 of the Campus Center. Any interested student is welcome!

CEQ MEETING

Tonight at 7 p.m. Thompson 102. Anna Gyorgy will speak and show the film, Nuclear Reaction at Whyl.

"FOREIGN POLICY REPORT"

"Foreign Policy Report" is broadcast every Thurs. at 11 a.m. on WBURFM (90.9). The purpose of the program is to inform Americans about current U.S. foreign affairs. To this end, the program features weekly interviews with prominent individuals dealing with such stimulating topics as detente, the "Third World, multi-national corporations, and human rights.

HELP WANTED

Enthusiasts needed to help organize "tall people's dance. Call Linda 6-1411.

LABOR RELATIONS

The public is invited to attend a discussion today on "New Trends in Labor Relations" presented by Donald Wightman, Sec.-Tres. of Local 369, Utility Workers Union of America. The meeting will be in Rm. 803, CC, from noon to 1 p.m.

LOST

Black checkbook, Monument Federal. Reward. If found call 253-5697. Leave message if not there.

LOST

Wilson tennis racket with cover — need it for my class so please comply if found. Reward. Call 253-5697. If not there, leave number.

LOST

Five strand liquid silver necklace, has great personal value. If found, please call 546-8111 anytime.

WE'RE STILL RUNNING!!

Phonothon '77 has 3 more weeks to go! Come join us at Memorial Hall for free food and beer while calling alumni for financial support. Prizes will be awarded to the top team and top individuals. Drop by Memorial Hall or call Joseph or MaryEllen at 545-2317 for more info.

RENTS & FEES COMMITTEE

Meeting will be held Monday, March 28 at 7 p.m. in Rm. CC.

QA POSITIONS AVAILABLE —

Grayson House. Applications are available for QA positions, FALL, 1977. Please pick them up at Grayson H.R. apt. Due noon Tues., March 29. Affirmative Action Employer.

Anthro. film series continues this Tues.

The theme for this week's presentation in the anthropology dept. film series is "non-human primates." Three films will be shown: "Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees," a shortened version of the National Geographic Society television film on Jane Goodall's surprising research with chimps; "Baboon Behavior," which illustrates the social activities of baboons in the wild in Nairobi National Park; and "Monkeys of Mysore," which examines the social relations within a troop of bonnet macaques. Show time is 8 p.m. tomorrow in Thompson 102, free.

Discussion group on diabetes tonight

There will be a meeting of the Diabetic Learning and Discussion group tonight at 7:00 in the University Health Services Clinic 1 lounge. The topic will be exercise and diabetes. For questions, call 549-2671, Health Ed. Afterwards, swim at NOPE.

Jones Library will be closed today

The Jones Library, Amherst's Town Library, will be closed today for follow-up inventory. The branch libraries at North and South Amherst will be open their usual hours.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Corned Beef, Stuffed Peppers; Basics: Vegetable Stuffed Peppers, Corn and Cheese Pudding.

DINNER — Veal Parmigiana, Baked Fish; Basics: Baked Fish, Lentil Stew.

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Tesori Tomatoes Italian Imported 35 oz can 39¢ With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 27-April 2, 1977 H-734 FN

Scot Towels 140 ct roll 39¢ With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 27-April 2, 1977 H-735 TX FN

Hoods Ice Cream ½ gallon carton 99¢ With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 27-April 2, 1977 H-736 FN

50¢ off one pkg 4 G.E. Light Bulbs With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one. Valid March 27-April 2, 1977 H-733 TX FN

Exciting offer by Oneida! Genuine Silver Plate Spoon Rings 99¢ ea. Exquisite Spoon Rings and Bracelets. Sold at Finast checkout Stands. Spoon Bracelets . . ea 1.49

Freezer Queen Salisbury Steak w/Gravy, Turkey Croquettes, Char Broil Beef Patties, Spaghetti & Meatballs 2-lb pkg 89¢

Mrs. Filberts Margarine Golden Quarters 1-lb pkg 38¢

Finast Fresh Large Eggs doz 79¢

Grocery Values the Finast Way!

Mushrooms Penn Dutch Stems & Pieces . . 2 4 oz cans 89¢
Prince Lasagna . . . . 16 oz pkg 59¢
Appian Way Pizza Mix . 12½ oz pkg 49¢
Beef Ravioli Chef Boy ar-dee . . . . . 2 15 oz cans 89¢
Dinty Moore Beef Stew 40 oz can 1.49
Libbys Tomato Juice . . . qt btl 57¢
Facial Tissues Lady Scott . . . 2 200 ct boxes 1.00
Waldorf Bath Tissues . . 4 roll pkg 79¢
Mop & Glo Floor Cleaner . . . . 32 oz btl 1.29

Finast Frozen Food Values!

Orange Juice Treesweet 16 oz can 59¢

Swanson Dinners . . . . . 11 oz pkg 77¢
Pot Pies Finast Beef, Mac. & Cheese, Chicken or Turkey . 4 8 oz pkgs $1
Fruit Pies Orchard Hill Apple, Peach, Blueberry and Cherry . 4 8 oz pkgs $1
Boil in Bags Meat Entrees Finast Brand . . . . 4 8 oz pkgs $1
Sara Lee Cakes Choc. Cream or Walnut 18 oz pkg 1.69

Sunrise Fresh Dairy Values!

Tropicana Orange Juice ½ gal ctn 79¢
Amer. Cheese Slices Kraft Deluxe 8 oz pkg 69¢
Biscuits Pillsbury Hungry Jack Buttermilk and Butter Tastin . . 3 10 oz pkgs $1
Hoods Yogurt Firm & Fruity . . . . . 4 8 oz ctns $1
Axelrod Sour Cream . . . 16 oz ctn 69¢

Baked fresh the Finast Way!

White Bread Big Round Top Finast Fresh 3 20 oz lvs $1

Finast English Muffins . . 3 pkgs 6 $1
Fresh Rolls Hot Dog & Hamburg . . . . 3 pkgs 8 $1
Plain Donuts Finast Fresh . . . . 2 pkgs 12 $1
Hot Cross Buns . . . . 14 oz pkg 79¢
Bakery Items Available Tuesday thru Saturday only

For Your Health & Beauty!

Crest Toothpaste 10¢ off label . . 5 oz tube 69¢
Short & Sassy Conditioner . . 7 oz btl 1.19
Datril Tablets Extra Strength . . . . . btl 24 69¢

In-Store Bake Shop Features!

Enriched Rolls Home Style . . . . . doz 79¢
Italian Bread . . . . 4 7 oz lvs 1.00
Assorted Cookies Large Old Fashioned . doz 99¢
Available Only in Stores with In-Store Bake Shops

Finast Welcomes FOOD STAMP CUSTOMERS

Fresh Chicken Parts Quarters Breasts (with wings) or Legs (with backs) 49¢ lb. Shake n' Bake for Chicken 4¾ oz pkg 77¢

Assorted Pork Chops End and Center Cuts 1.09 lb. Center Cut Pork Chops 1.39 lb. Finast Applesauce 15 oz jar 35¢

Beef Brisket Fresh Boneless Whole untrimmed Avg. wt. 6-8 lbs 89¢ lb. Trimmed Point Cut lb 1.09. Trimmed Flat Cut lb 1.49

Split or Cut-up 65¢ lb Whole Fresh Fowl 4 to 5 lbs 59¢ lb lesser amounts 59¢ lb Fresh Chicken Livers 5 lb ctn 49¢ lb

Marco Brand lesser amounts 99¢ lb Italian Style Sausage 5 lb box 89¢ lb

Quality Value a Breakfast Favorite Finast Sliced Bacon 1-lb pkg 99¢

Farmers Horseradish . . . 8½ oz jar 59¢ (Great with Fresh Beef Brisket)
Beef Skirt Steak Boneless . . . lb 1.59 (Great with Durkee Mushroom Gravy ¾ oz pkg 31¢)
Franks or Knockwurst American Kosher . . . . 12 oz pkg 1.19
Midget Salami American Kosher . . . 12 oz pkg 1.19
Bologna Oscar Mayer Meat or Beef . . . . 12 oz pkg 1.09
Chef's Pride Breakfast Link Sausage . . . . . . lb 89¢
Natalina Pizza Pepperoni . . . 14 oz pkg 1.29
Gaspar's Linguica or Chourico . lb 1.99

3 Breast Qtrs, 3 Leg Qtrs, 3 Wings, 3 Giblet Paks
Fresh Box-o-Chicken . lb 47¢
Fresh Chicken Pie Mrs. Budd's 36 oz pkg 1.99
Beef Rib Steaks Extra Trim Bone-in lb 1.79
Chuck Steak Boneless Underblade . . lb 1.19
Chuck Pot Roast Boneless lb 1.09

3 Drumsticks, 3 Thighs, 3 Half Breasts
Fresh Best of the Fryer . . lb 67¢
Shoulder Steak or Top Blade Steak Boneless Beef lb 1.49
Boneless Beef Stew . . . . lb 1.19
Fresh Pork Ribs Country Style Loin End . lb 1.09
Pork Loin Roast Boneless . . . lb 1.49

Mr. Deli Favorites!

Cooked Ham Domestic Freshly Sliced to order 1.99 lb

N.Y. Style Pastrami . . . . . lb 1.39
German Bologna . . . . lb 1.29
Amer. Cheese Land O Lakes White or Yellow . . lb 1.39
Hillshire Farms Kielbasa lb 1.39
Italian Hot Ham . . . . half lb 1.39
N.E. Luncheon Loaf Carandos lb 1.69
Imported Swiss Cheese . lb 1.99
Rye Bread or Pumpernickel Golden Hearth . . . . . 1 lb loaf 59¢
Donuts Raised Ring Iced Choc. Vanilla . . . . 6 for 89¢
Cheese Pizza Mr. Deli . . . 12 inch 15 oz pkg 99¢
Available Only in Stores with Mr. Deli Depts

LARGE ECONOMY PACKS!

Whole Cut into Roasts & Chops Pork Loins 1.19 lb

Whole Bnls Cut Into Roasts, Steaks, & Kabobs Shoulder of Beef 1.29 lb

Fresh Turkey Parts!

Drumsticks or Wings . . . . lb 59¢
Turkey Thighs . . . . lb 79¢
Turkey Breasts . . . . lb 1.19

Seafood Favorites!

Peeled & Deveined Shrimp Frozen 2.19 lb

Snow Crab Claws Frozen Alaskan lb 1.69
Flounder Fillet Frozen . . lb 1.69
Rainbow Trout Frozen Idaho . 12 oz pkg 1.59
Tartar Sauce Hellmann's great with fish . . 6 oz jar 45¢

Fresh Hen Turkeys 8 to 14 lbs 58¢ lb. Stove Top Stuffing 12 oz pkg 1.29

FIRST O' THE FRESH "First of the Season"

California Strawberries 69¢ pint. Dessert Shells pkg of 6 49¢. B.E. Cool Whip 9 oz ctn 69¢

Calif. Navel Oranges Large Family Pack 18 for 1.69

"FRESH SALAD BAR"

Romaine Lettuce . . . hd 39¢
Chicory or Escarole Salad Twins . . . 3 lbs 1.00
Green Cabbage . . . . lb 25¢

Delicious Apples Wash. State Golden U.S. No 1 2¼ inch min. 39¢ lb

Zucchini Squash . . . . lb 39¢
Heather Plant Good Luck Plant 4½ inch Pot . . ea 2.49
Coleus Plant Assorted Colors 4½ inch Pot . . . ea 1.99

Make Finast Your Headquarters for Passover Foods!

Imported from Israel Aviv Matzo 5 lb box 2.89

Adlers 24 oz jar Gefilte Fish 99¢

Potato Starch . . . . 12 oz pkg 95¢
Rokeach Macaroons . . . 10 oz tin 89¢
Borscht Mothers, Rokeach and Manischevitz . . . . . . qt jar 59¢
Matzo Ball Mix Croyden House . . . 4½ oz pkg 69¢
Potato Kugel Mix Croyden House . . 6 oz pkg 89¢
Adlers Soups . . . . 32 oz 89¢

$1 off with this coupon on (1) 5 lb box Matzo (Except Aviv) Valid thru April 2 Limit one FN

40¢ off with this coupon on (1) 24 oz Gefilte Fish (Except Adlers) Valid thru April 2 Limit one FN

20¢ off with this coupon on (1) 16 oz Easy-Off Oven Cleaner H-737 TX Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

20¢ off with this coupon on (1) 26 oz Snowy Bleach H-738 TX Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

8¢ off with this coupon on (1) 11 oz Betty Crocker Pie Crust Mix H-739 Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

15¢ off with this coupon on (2) 154 ct Viva Towels H-740 TX Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

25¢ off with this coupon on (1) 1-lb Hills Bros Coffee H-741 Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

30¢ off with this coupon on (1) 1-lb Brim Coffee H-747 Valid Mar. 27-April 2 MFG

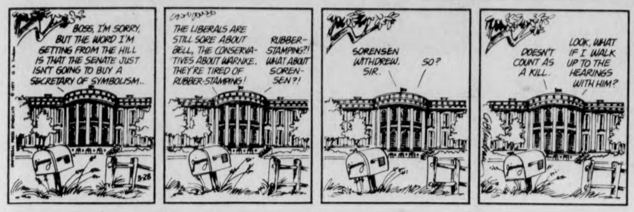
Prices effective March 27 thru April 2, 1977 We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities Not Responsible for Typographical Errors

---

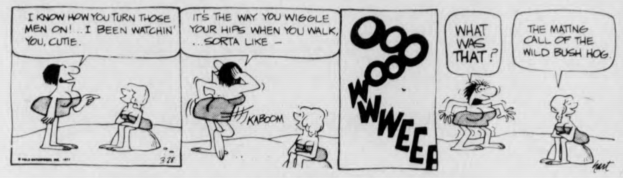
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

Valley
29 S. Pleasant St
call 256-6736
M-F 10-6 S 10-2



BOSS, I'M SORRY, BUT THE WORD I'M GETTING FROM THE HILL IS THAT THE SENATE JUST ISN'T GOING TO BUY A SECRETARY OF SYMBOLISM..
THE LIBERALS ARE STILL SORE ABOUT BELL, THE CONSERVATIVES ABOUT WARNKE. THEY'RE TIRED OF RUBBER-STAMPING!
RUBBER-STAMPING?! WHAT ABOUT SORENSEN?!
SORENSEN WITHDREW, SIR.
SO?
DOESN'T COUNT AS A KILL.
LOOK, WHAT IF I WALK UP TO THE HEARINGS WITH HIM?
3-28

B.C. by Johnny Hart



I KNOW HOW YOU TURN THOSE MEN ON!...I BEEN WATCHIN' YOU, CUTIE.
IT'S THE WAY YOU WIGGLE YOUR HIPS WHEN YOU WALK, ...SORTA LIKE — KABOOM
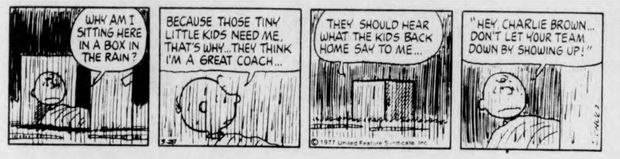
OOOWWWEEP
WHAT WAS THAT?
THE MATING CALL OF THE WILD BUSH HOG.
3-28
hart

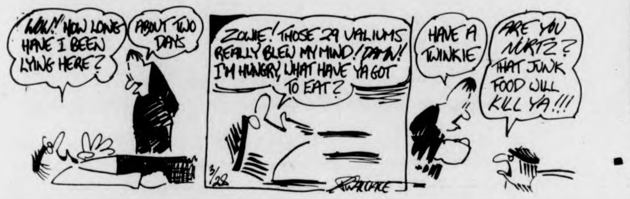
PEANUTS by Charles M. Schulz

STYLES BY DEBORAH
PERSONAL STYLE CUT $5.00
TELE 549-5610



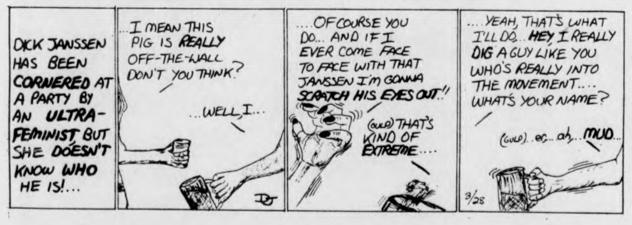
WHY AM I SITTING HERE IN A BOX IN THE RAIN?
BECAUSE THOSE TINY LITTLE KIDS NEED ME, THAT'S WHY...THEY THINK I'M A GREAT COACH...
THEY SHOULD HEAR WHAT THE KIDS BACK HOME SAY TO ME...
"HEY, CHARLIE BROWN... DON'T LET YOUR TEAM DOWN BY SHOWING UP!"
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
3-28

HARRY FIG by Peter Wallace



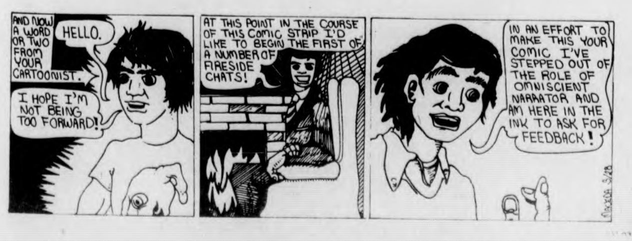
WOW! HOW LONG HAVE I BEEN LYING HERE?
ABOUT TWO DAYS
ZOWIE! THOSE 29 VALIUMS REALLY BLEW MY MIND! DAMN! I'M HUNGRY, WHAT HAVE YA GOT TO EAT?
HAVE A TWINKIE
ARE YOU NURTZ? THAT JUNK FOOD WILL KILL YA!!!
3/28
P. WALLACE

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



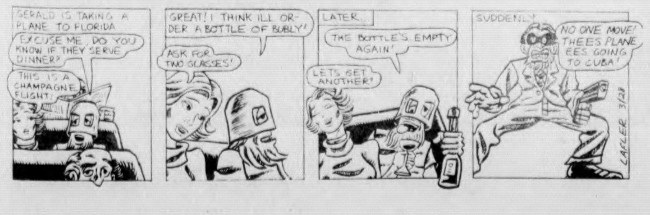
DICK JANSSEN HAS BEEN CORNERED AT A PARTY BY AN ULTRA-FEMINIST BUT SHE DOESN'T KNOW WHO HE IS!...
...I MEAN THIS PIG IS REALLY OFF-THE-WALL DON'T YOU THINK?
...WELL, I...
....OF COURSE YOU DO... AND IF I EVER COME FACE TO FACE WITH THAT JANSSEN I'M GONNA SCRATCH HIS EYES OUT!!
(GULP) THAT'S KIND OF EXTREME....
....YEAH, THAT'S WHAT I'LL DO... HEY, I REALLY DIG A GUY LIKE YOU WHO'S REALLY INTO THE MOVEMENT.... WHAT'S YOUR NAME?
(GULP)..er...ah...MUD...
3/28

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



AND NOW A WORD OR TWO FROM YOUR CARTOONIST.
HELLO.
I HOPE I'M NOT BEING TOO FORWARD!
AT THIS POINT IN THE COURSE OF THIS COMIC STRIP I'D LIKE TO BEGIN THE FIRST OF A NUMBER OF FIRESIDE CHATS!
IN AN EFFORT TO MAKE THIS YOUR COMIC I'VE STEPPED OUT OF THE ROLE OF OMNISCIENT NARRATOR AND AM HERE IN THE INK TO ASK FOR FEEDBACK!
MACEDA 3/28

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



GERALD IS TAKING A PLANE TO FLORIDA
EXCUSE ME, DO YOU KNOW IF THEY SERVE DINNER?
THIS IS A CHAMPAGNE FLIGHT!
GREAT! I THINK ILL ORDER A BOTTLE OF BUBLY!
ASK FOR TWO GLASSES!
LATER...
THE BOTTLE'S EMPTY AGAIN!
LETS GET ANOTHER!
SUDDENLY
NO ONE MOVE! THEES PLANE EES GOING TO CUBA!
LAFLER 3/28

Local Television

7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
18 FESTIVAL OF FAITH
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "The Divided Man"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
38 NHL MONDAY NIGHT HOCKEY
56 STAR TREK
57 AS MAN BEHAVES
7:30 3 THE NEW PRICE IS RIGHT
8 THE GONG SHOW
22 CANDID CAMERA
24 CONNECTICUT
30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
40 POLKA
56 FAMILY AFFAIR
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 THE JEFFERSONS
8 40 THE 49TH ANNUAL ACADEMY AWARDS PRESENTATION
8 40 EIGHT IS ENOUGH
22 30 32 NCAA BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS
24 57 MICROBES AND MEN "In Search of the Magic Bullet"
27 MOVIE "Mutiny"
56 MOVIE "Not as a Stranger"
8:30 18 POP GOES THE COUNTRY
9:00 3 MAUDE
8 40 PERRY COMO'S MUSIC FROM HOLLYWOOD
24 57 THE PALLISERS
9:30 3 ALL'S FAIR
27 YOUTH IN CRISIS
9:45 38 MOVIE "That Tennessee Beat"
10:00 3 CBS NEWS SPECIAL REPORTS "Who's Got a Right to Rhodesia"
22 30 ALI, THE FIGHTER
24 SOUNDSTAGE
27 NEWS
32 NHL HOCKEY GAME
57 WORLD IN ACTION
10:30 27 JOURNEY TO ADVENTURE
57 WOMAN
11:00 3 22 24 30 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "Days Are Numbered"
56 DARK SHADOWS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:15 38 THE BOLD ONES "A Nation of Human Pincushions" Part I
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Kojak: Conspiracy of Fear"
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:00 18 DR. SCOTT ON HEBREWS
12:30 3 MOVIE "To Commit a Murder"
8 40 NEWS, WEATHER
1:00 8 THE ODD COUPLE
22 30 TOMORROW
1:30 3 8 NEWS, WEATHER

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Monday, March 28 — Born today, you are one of those malleable personalities who is easily influenced by surroundings, whether they be in the form of events or merely of presences. The viewpoints of other people are extremely important to you; indeed, you seldom take a step in any direction without first endeavoring to discover what friends, loved ones, even strangers think about it. Should you run into opposition to your intented move, you will immediately backtrack -- not necessarily because you are going to change your mind, but because you wish to rethink the proposals and principles involved. Nor is this in itself a bad idea -- though it would be a better one were it to come initially through you.

You have a number of heroes upon whom you depend for approval. Those contemporaneous with you are approached often for their opinions; those historical in, nature are subjected to serious study by you in order to discover what their opinions would be were they still alive. You find in such support the courage and determination you need to go through with difficult projects or to embark upon perhaps dangerous but certainly fulfilling experiences. The only drawback may be that you will waste precious time in the search for moral support -- time that ought to be given over to preparation for the intended activity.

You surprise other people by the gracious and morally strong way in which you are able to sustain setbacks, even outright failure. Many think of you as not being independent enough to rise from a fall, but they have second thoughts when they see how well you cope with disappointment, never allowing it to deteriorate into discouragement.

* * *

Tuesday, March 29

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Ambition may lead you into regrettable actions today. Make it a point to study the situation on the home front.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Be very careful about details today. Otherwise, you may find that the general situation goes well but individual circumstances fall flat.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You may have more than one opportunity to make a change for the future. Take care, however, not to confuse issues that present themselves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Financial affairs pertaining to joint enterprise may be more confusing that you wish to admit. Take your case to one in authority.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Property matters may make the morning sticky insofar as your personal relationships are concerned. Try to placate in-laws this morning.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Business affairs take a turn for for the worse early in the day. You can turn the trend around, however, if you try.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Make an opportunity for gain if you can't discover one already at hand. Don't try to play to the grandstand; your audience is elsewhere.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Stress creative enterprise. This is a good time to impress upon others the importance of developing their talents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Co-workers may find it difficult to carry out orders today. You can win their approval by finding the way for them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Whatever is connected with real estate should serve you well, especially if financial stresses and strains have been frequent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — People you meet for the first time today should be impressed with your directness. Approach a new problem from its difficult side.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Consult your partner, whether business or domestic, to discover the extent to which you have been committed to mutual endeavor.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS

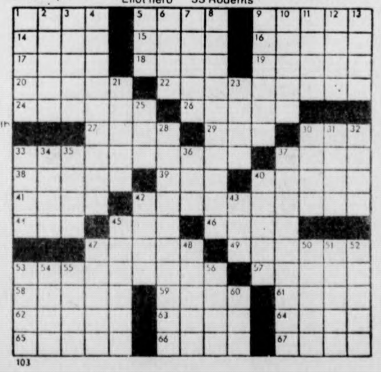
1 African republic
5 Sibilant sound
9 Military training group
14 Assumed function
15 "Take ---- from me"
16 Vegetable
17 Module
18 Luminous ring
19 Poetry
20 Not garish
22 Enormity
24 Three-wheeled auto
26 Begin an activity
27 Cravats
29 --- up and take notice
30 Through
33 Elegance of manners
37 Fawning
38 Money for one
39 Had a meal
40 Hazard
41 Chinese dynasty
42 Perfectly
44 Calendar: abbr.
45 Nation of Europe: Abbr.
46 Fatty tissue
47 Centers of authority
49 Comprehends
53 Radio info: 2 words
57 Fashionable
58 --- -- once: Suddenly
59 Possessive word
61 Cry of revelry
62 Token of honor
63 In addition
64 Bossa ----: Latin-Amer. music
65 Organic compound
66 Fast dance
67 Crushed forcibly

DOWN

1 Part of a loaf
2 Esteem
3 Accused person's defense
4 Discovery of crime
5 Interjection of surprise
6 Oblique type: Abbr.
7 "----- Marner": Eliot hero
8 TV program feature: 2 words
9 Secret
10 Concerning
11 Evil
12 ---- Sea: Antartica inlet
13 Chemical suffixes
21 ----- River: Ontario area
23 Running fashion
25 Caddoan Indian
28 Five-a-day performer
30 Golfers' goals
31 Mr. Jannings
32 Trust confidently
33 Rodents
34 Miss Maxwell
35 Move about rapidly
36 Greek letter
37 Old or New ---------
40 Looks searchingly
42 Exploit
43 Pull with difficulty
45 Higher in quality
47 Disgrace
48 Express approval
50 Aroma
51 Utah city
52 Advantage
53 Abduction
54 Sicknesses
55 Oversupply
56 Ending with inc and int
60 Lamprey

Friday's Puzzle Solved:

TATAR BASS STAG
ALONE OUCH PULE
CALIFORNIA IDLE
TELLER TOMATOES
GERMS NEW RYE
FLA EELS DEW
LOT ERICH DEPOT
ANEW SERIN BLUE
BESET RARER ASS
TOR PAGE NET
CAP RED MANGE
ANALYSIS TARTAR
NANE ONTHEMARCH
EDIT LEAR EVITE
SECT ERRS SEPIA



103

SOCIAL WORKERS

DON'T SACRIFICE YOUR EDUCATION JUST TO GET A JOB

Israel Offers Careers in Social Work. Immediate Positions Open.

The State of Israel has long been a model of successful integration. Drawing its population from every country in the world quite naturally presents myriad social work problems and appreciated, challenging case work.

Two Programs are currently being offered to people with a Hebrew background who would enter the Social Work Profession as a permanent resident of Israel.

I. Orientation Program for M.S.W. Holders

A 7-9-month carefully planned orientation program which includes intensified Hebrew Language study. Interviews will be conducted in March for MSW's who wish to continue their careers as a permanent resident of Israel.

II. Social Work Retraining

Course specially designed for college graduates who did not major in social work. Bar Ilan University program will prepare you for a meaningful career in Israel.

For further information on these programs, contact us immediately. Preliminary interviews will be conducted by Regional Directors.

ISRAEL ALIYAH CENTER

WHAT'S HAPPENING

CRU holds special workshop on Wed.

The Center for Racial Understanding cordially invites the Five College community and general public to a Special Topics workshop.

Speakers and topics for the event include, from Communicatin Studies, Jon. S. Crane "Ethnic Images and Television"; Afro-American Studies professors Julius Lester "Mechanics of Racism" and Archie Shepp "Black Music"; and Prof. Ralph Whitehead of the Journalistic Studies Program.

The two-hour workshop will begin Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the center's office in Moore House, Southwest. An informal session, with refreshments, will follow. Information may be obtained from Peter at 253-2858.

Title IX hearings to be held this week

The Title IX Hearings for the School of Health Sciences have been scheduled as follows:

Today 7:15-9:30 Campus Center 917, Focus: Graduate students — applications, selection, placement, discrimination.

April 4 7:15-9:30 Campus Center 904-908, Focus: Faculty — recruitment, hiring policies, personnel actions, discussion of sexism.

The Student Affairs Title IX Self-Evaluation Committee will hold an open hearing to examine and discuss issues relevant to sex discrimination on campus pertaining to the Student Activities Office tomorrow from noon to 2 p.m. in Campus Center 165.

Title IX is a set of guidelines and criteria established by the U.S. Congress to eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex in any education program or activitiy receiving Federal financial assistance. All students, staff and faculty are urged to attend.

Change in 5 college bus routes 1 and 2

In response to requests for late night buses, Five College Routes one and two will run later Wednesday and Thursday nights beginning Wednesday. This does not mean an extra trip but means a delay before the last round trip to Smith or Mount Holyoke colleges.

The revised schedule is:

Route 1

Lv. CC 10:10; SW-SBA 10:13; AC 10:20; HC 10:30; ar MHC 10:45.

Lv. MHC 11:20; HC 11:35; AC 11:45; CC 11:50; SW-SBA 11:53; AC 12:00; HC 12:10; ar MHC 12:25.

Lv. MHC 12:25; HC 12:40; AC 12:50; CC 12:55.

Route 2

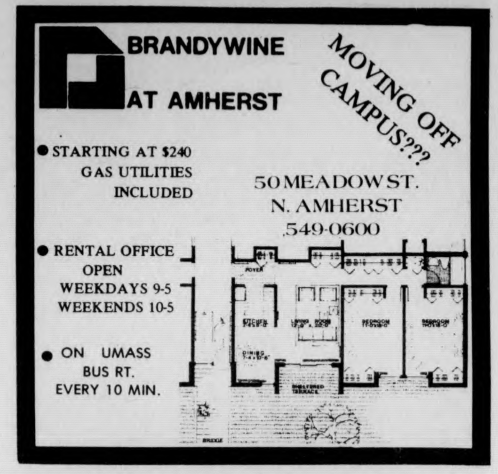
Lv. SC 10:00; CC 10:20; SBA-SW 10:23; AC 10:30; ar SC 10:50.

Lv. SC 11:30; CC 11:50; SBA-SW 11:53; AC 12:00; ar SC 12:20.

Lv. SC 12:20; AC 12:40; CC 12:45.

Local union rep to lecture in C.C.

A lecture on "New Trends in Labor Relations," will be presented by Donald Wightman, secretary-treasurer of local 369, Utility Workers Union of America today from noon to 1:00 in Campus Center 803. He will speak on the impact of changes in grievance arbitration. Sponsored by the Labor Center Student Caucus, the speech will be followed by a discussion. The public is invited.



BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST

MOVING OFF CAMPUS???

● STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED

● RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5

● ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.

50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600
FOYER
KITCHEN
LIVING ROOM BEDROOM
BEDROOM DINING SHELTERED TERRACE
BRIDGE

Want to be a G.O. at Club Mediterranee?

The club is looking for men and women to work in our Caribbean, Mexican and South Pacific Villages as

- HOSTESSES
- SPORTS INSTRUCTORS (tennis, sailing, scuba, yoga, etc.)

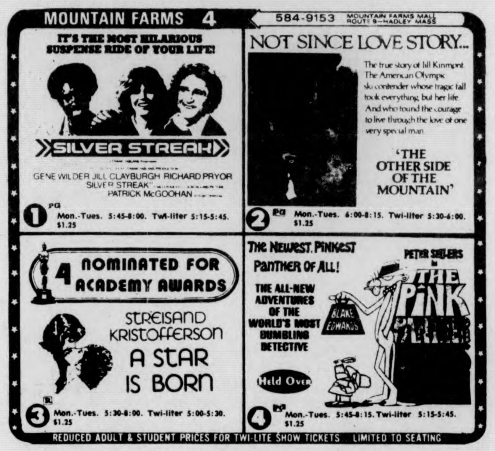
For the 1977 Summer Season
April 25-October 25

Applicants must be single, at least 21 years old, and have a working knowledge of French.

Interviews will be held in New York on April 7 and April 8.

If interested send your résumé immediately to:

CLUB MED.
40 West 57th St.
N.Y., N.Y. 10019
Attention: G. O. Recruitment



MOUNTAIN FARMS 4 584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY MASS

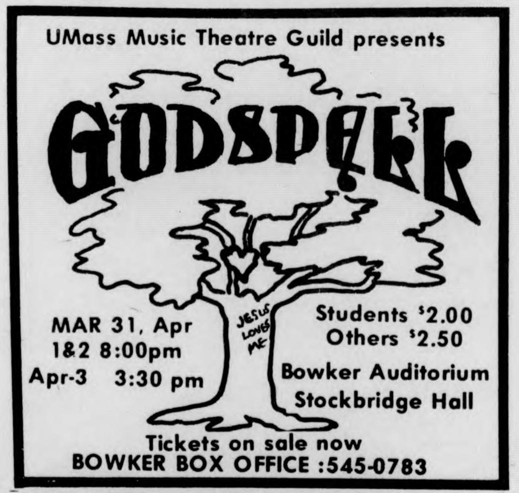
IT'S THE MOST HILARIOUS SUSPENSE RIDE OF YOUR LIFE!
SILVER STREAK
GENE WILDER JILL CLAYBURGH RICHARD PRYOR
SILVER STREAK" PATRICK McGOOHAN
① PG Mon.-Tues. 5:45-8:00. Twi-liter 5:15-5:45. $1.25

NOT SINCE LOVE STORY...
The true story of Jill Kinmont. The American Olympic ski contender whose tragic fall took everything but her life. And who found the courage to live through the love of one very special man.
'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN'
② PG Mon.-Tues. 6:00-8:15. Twi-liter 5:30-6:00. $1.25

4 NOMINATED FOR ACADEMY AWARDS
STREISAND KRISTOFFERSON
A STAR IS BORN
③ R Mon.-Tues. 5:30-8:00. Twi-liter 5:00-5:30. $1.25

THE NEWEST, PINKEST PANTHER OF ALL!
THE ALL-NEW ADVENTURES OF THE WORLD'S MOST BUMBLING DETECTIVE
PETER SELLERS in THE PINK PANTHER
BLAKE EDWARDS
Held Over
④ PG Mon.-Tues. 5:45-8:15. Twi-liter 5:15-5:45. $1.25

REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS LIMITED TO SEATING



UMass Music Theatre Guild presents

GODSPELL

MAR 31, Apr 1&2 8:00pm
Apr-3 3:30 pm

Students $2.00
Others $2.50
Bowker Auditorium
Stockbridge Hall

Tickets on sale now
BOWKER BOX OFFICE :545-0783

Everbody's Market Place
CLASSIFIED ADS

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8 30a m and 3 45p m Monday thru Friday The deadline is 3 45p m. two days before your ad is to appear The rates are
Daily 40' per line
Weekly 35' per line
Monthly 25' per line
(two lines on MDC form approximate one line)

IF YOU CAN'T COME TO THE OFFICE CLIP OUT AND MAIL OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM

FOR SALE

New ski boots Italian import polyurethane with flo form linings Most sizes, $35 After ski boots, $25 Call Sue 256 8641 evenings 7:00 10 30

For Sale: 2 pairs of skis — Head 360's 185 cm., excellent condition, $100.00. Head HRP's 185 cm, Look Nevada bindings, $125.00. Nordica boots, $60.00. Head poles, $15.00. Call 549-2691.

For Sale — Used albums, like new! Big assortment. 75c to $1.50. Call 549-2691.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

TEAC tape deck, 3 hr. contin. music. Interested? Call Steve 256-0354 aft. 6 p.m.

Electric guitar & amp, $150, cassette rec., new, $50; 2 lg. speakers, $75; slide projector, $40. 549 3886. Records for sale, too.

Green suede boots, Wm., 7. $10. Clark nurs. shoes, Wm. 7. 6-7782.

6 Poolsize goldfish, cheap 617 544 3362.

'72 Honda 350 6K Mi. ex. cond. 549 6190.

Hang glider '18' delt wing. Ex. $495 253 2825.

Tag Sale Today — 543 Puffton Village apt.

AUTO FOR SALE

Plymouth Fury III, '71, lo. mi., runs well. $875 or B. O. 256-0548.

Toyota Corolla, '72. Excel. cond., lo. mi., $1300. Call 323-7622 aft. 6 o'clock.

SAAB 99 '70 Parts: Engine, body, etc. 584-8601. All day Tu. & Th., eves M. + W.

1971 280SE Mercedes Benz for sale. Mint condition, Michelius, ac, ps, pb, pw, best offer. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

'67 VW Bus, runs well. Call 253-3592.

'74 Monte Carlo Landau for sale. Black on black, ac, am fm, all power, loaded with extras. Excellent condition. Asking $3750. Call 10 to 9:30, 584-8324.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Sales person wanted. Must have vehicle and camera. Call 586 0824 Steve.

FOR RENT

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 + sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Lizzy F (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie. D.L.

My dearest prince one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF

AUDIO

Quality audio components — over 130 lines available. Call Peter, 665-2920.

PERSONALS

To the Lady I have the most to learn from: Happy Birthday! More than ¼ century old, but less than one third of your life, here is to the rest (best) two thirds! Love, T.

TO SUBLET

3 bdr. Townhouse, ¾ mile to campus — on 2 bus rt. June-Sept. Call 549-4855.

2 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. Jun. 1-Aug. 31. Semi-furnd., w-w, air cond. Call 549-4766.

3 bdrm. apt. Puf. Vil. June 1 to Aug. 31. Air cond., pool. Rent neg. Call 549-6624.

ROOMMATE WANTED

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'72 BSA Victor 500. Best $. 617-544-2744.

ENTERTAINMENT

Oldies to disco Bob the DJ has all limited booking avl. Call Bob 536-6075

WANTED

Aluminum tennis racket, Haywood T 3, Ashe, Comp and Head. 542 2171.

SERVICES

Is your stereo not working? The Audio Servicenter can fix your amplifier, receiver, turntable, tape deck, speakers. Over 3 years of fast service and low rates. 274 North Pleasant St. Call 256-0524 for estimate. Tues.-Sat. 10-5:30.

Sewing & alterations. All kinds. 549-6407.

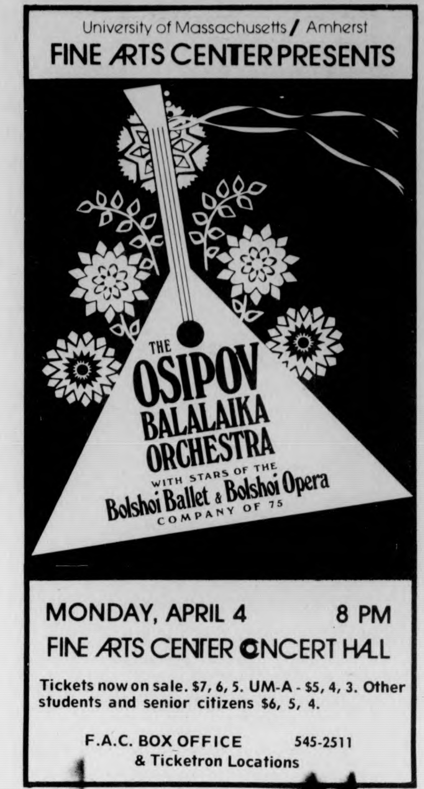
Peace Of Mind — Housesitters. Avail. for summer. Call Simon 549-4280.

Passport and application pictures. Quick service. Will do CPA and portfolio slides. Contact Steven at 546-9653.

Need to sell your car? Want the best price? Advertise with us: W. Mass. Wheeler Dealer deals only in cars with circulation of 70,000. Call Pete, 584-2007 for info.

CALCULATORS

College Calculators has low prices! All T. I. warr by me for 1 yr. SR 52 $199.95; SR 56 $84.95 ($10 rebate off this pr.); SR 40 $34.95, bus anal $34.95 — All HP's avail. HP 67 $389.95. Call and check our PR's. Call Bob Or Linda 549 1316!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!



University of Massachusetts / Amherst
FINE ARTS CENTER PRESENTS

THE OSIPOV BALALAIKA ORCHESTRA
WITH STARS OF THE Bolshoi Ballet & Bolshoi Opera
COMPANY OF 75

MONDAY, APRIL 4 8 PM
FINE ARTS CENTER CONCERT HALL

Tickets now on sale. $7, 6, 5. UM-A - $5, 4, 3. Other students and senior citizens $6, 5, 4.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

Sports Calendar

VACATION RESULTS

VARSITY LACROSSE — Hofstra 10 UMass 8

VARSITY BASEBALL — Seton Hall 4 UMass 3; Bowling Green 2 UMass 1; UMass 6 Bowling Green 4; Miame 5 UMass 3; Southern Illinois 7 UMass 5; Maine 4 UMass 3; UMass 3 Miami 2 (11 inn.); UMass 6 Southern Illinois 5; Maine 7 UMass 5.

TODAY
None

TOMORROW
None

Celtics corral Nets

BOSTON [UPI] — Tom Boswell, Jo Jo White, Dave Cowens and John Havlicek combined for 81 points yesterday to propel the Boston Celtics to a 114-109 victory over the New York Nets. It was New York's eighth straight loss.

With Boston behind, 59-58, early in the second half, Boswell, who had 18 points, tossed in five in a 13-4 Boston burst that put the Celtics ahead to stay, 71-63. New York never got closer than four points thereafter.

Down 33-28 early in the second quarter, the Celtics went on a 16-3 spree, led by Boswell's seven points, to take a 44-36 lead. Boswell, coming in off the bench, had 11 points in the quarter as Boston took a 56-51 halftime lead. New York scored eight of the first 10 points in the second half, but Boston took over as it registered its fifth win in the last six games.

NY Nets (109)

Bassett 5 3-6 13, Bantom 9 13-14 31, Hughes 0 2-2 2, Van Breda Kolff 3 2-2 8, Skinner 10 3-3 23, Hawkins 8 6-7 22, Fox 4 2-2 10, Davis 0 0-0 0. Totals 39 31-36 109.

Boston (114)

Saunders 2 0-0 4, Rowe 2 0-0 4, Cowens 7 7-8 21, White 10 4-5 24, Havlicek 8 2-2 18, Wicks 3 5-8 11, Stacom 5 2-2 12, Kuberski 0 2-2 2, Boswell 7 4-6 18. Total 44 26-33 114.

NY Nets 23 28 24 34 — 109.
Boston 22 34 27 31 — 114
Total fouls — NY Nets 25, Boston 28.
Fouled out — Wicks.

Undergraduate Internship

Want to Teach?

24 credits a year

Positions open for next year

Teaching 1st year students for Psychology 111

Applications and Program Description Available now —

Rene Carew
209 Berkshire House

Community Development Center

Fashionable Imported Clothing for Women

SAVE 30% to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses

SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular Women's Clothing at Ridiculously Low Prices

Faces of Earth

Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

University of massachusetts arts council presents

PRAGUE CHAMBER ORCHESTRA
36 VIRTUOSO MUSICIANS IN MATCHLESS ENSEMBLE WITHOUT CONDUCTOR

A concerto festival with
Hans Richter-Haaser, piano soloist

Wed., March 30 8 PM
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

Tickets now on sale! $7, 6, 5. UM/A students - half price, senior citizens and other students $1 discount.

F.A.C. BOX OFFICE 545-2511
& Ticketron Locations

O'Koren-Tarheel's frosh star

ATLANTA [UPI] — North Carolina's Mike O'Koren is a remarkable freshman, but no one expected him to be able to compete for laughs on stage with witty Marquette Coach Al McGuire.

However, just as he had done at Chapel Hill last October, the 6'7" forward from Jersey City, N.J. stepped right into a starring role at yesterday's press conference for tomorrow night's NCAA National Championship game between North Carolina and Marquette.

Asked if his game-high 31 points in the tar heels semifinal victory over Nevada-Las Vegas were the most of his brief college career, he leaned down to the microphone and said, "So far... yea."

O'Koren, a lean and quick forward, looks as if North Carolina Coach Dean Smith has placed a custom-made order with God.

In his first season with the Tar Heels, O'Koren has connected on 57 per cent of his shots from the floor to average 13.5 points a game also getting 6.5 rebounds a game.

When told McGuire had said the NCAA Tournament is like a tidal wave overwhelming the players, O'Koren said, "This time last year I was playing for the New Jersey High School Championship and now it's for the National Championship. I feel like I've been on the Titanic."

Although North Carolina's late season luck has been like the Titanic's, the Tar Heels have proved indomitable survivors, thanks in great measure to O'Koren.

When various injuries struck North Carolina's Olympic trio of Tom Lagarde, Phil Ford and Walter Davis late in the season, O'Koren assumed an even more prominent role in the Tar Heels' offense.

Marquette's Jim Boylan, who plays in the shadow of the Warriors' Butch Lee and Bo Ellis, also comes from Jersey City and O'Koren was asked if the M[illegible] guard also was [illegible] on the Jersey [illegible]s.

"No, he's the first one picked all the time," O'Koren said.

Asked if he was second, he innocently replied, "No, I'm fifth."

That brought a big laugh and he was asked who the other three were.

Looking around nervously, O'Koren said, "guys you never heard of."

"But they're good, I swear," he added, almost pleading with reporters to believe him. Then he turned to Smith, who looked interested, and said, "But they're too old."

It was a performance even an old master like McGuire had to appreciate.

Notices

WOMEN'S TENNIS — Practice begins today at 3:30 p.m. on the Boyden Lower Courts.

Sox win in big way

ORLANDO, Fla. [UPI] — Second baseman Denny Doyle cracked out three hits, including two doubles, and knocked in four runs yesterday to lead an 18-hit attack that carried the Boston Red Sox to a 10-3 exhibition victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Designated hitter Jim Rice and third baseman Butch Hobson hit home runs for Boston.

Gorillas bumped by Hofstra, 10-8

By BEN CASWELL
Collegian Staff

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Staying close was just not enough for the UMass lacrosse team Saturday night as it lost its 1977 season opener, 10-8, to the Flying Dutchmen of Hofstra University.

"Four years in a row," was the brief but poignant comment the always smiling, but visibly shaken UMass coach Dick Garber had as he left the scene of his team's fourth season opener loss in as many tries to the Long Island school.

Hofstra University was led in this year's encounter by the crisp ball-handling and overall hustle of junior midfielder Kevin Huff and the steady scoring prowess of its second leading scorer, Rich Stoecker. A remarkable fill-in performance was turned in by freshman goaltender Bill Keck, who replaced junior starter Bob Linker at 4:22 of the second period after Linker suffered a badly sprained knee resulting from a collision with UMass attackman Kevin Patterson.

A combination of some lucky breaks in the Flying Dutchmen's favor along with UMass' inability to move the ball effectively on the Hofstra zone defense contributed to the victors jumping off to an early 3-0 lead before six minutes had elapsed in the game.

Midfielder Joe Taylor opened the game's scoring with an assist from Gary Burton when he pounced on a loose ball in front of UMass goalie Don Goldstein, who had just made a sharp save. Besides the movement problem on offense UMass' defense also had some problems clearing the ball from in front of its net in the early goings.

Taylor's score came at 1:17. Less than a minute and a half later, at 2:50, Kevin Huff scored unassisted on a hard low shot which beat UMass' Goldstein to his stick-side (left).

The epitome of proof that Garber's Gorillas were not moving the way they should came at 5:59 of the first period when Hofstra goalie Bob Linker carried the ball all the way downfield unchecked, and beat an unsuspecting Goldstein with a 30-foot bounce shot which brought the entire Hofstra bench on the field to congratulate Linker on his very rare achievement for a goaltender.

UMass finally registered its first goal of the new season when attackman Jeff Spooner pinpointed a pass from behind the Hofstra net to midfielder Vinnie LaBello, who found the range from about 20-feet in front of Linker at 8:11.

Rich Stoecker then put Hofstra up by three again with a Burton repeat on the assist at 9:45. In this case Goldstein made back-to-back point-blank saves before Stoecker finally put the ball past him.

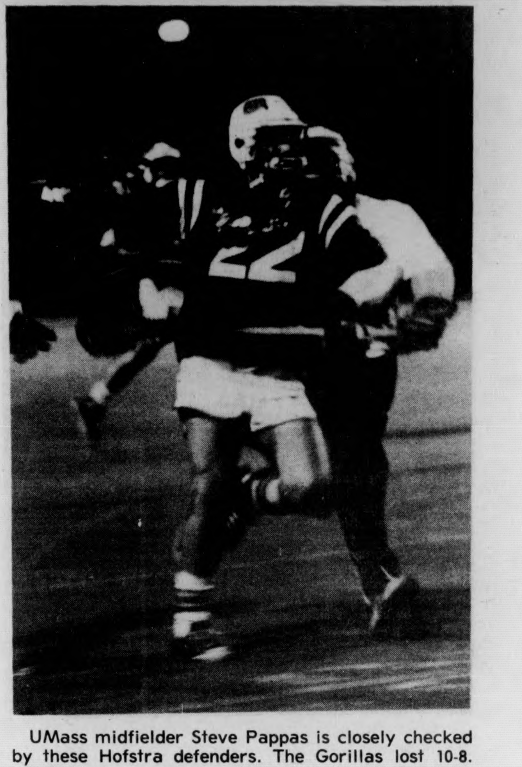
Kevin Patterson closed out the quarter's scoring, and as it turned out, the scoring for the half at 11:13 of the first period for UMass in a man-up situation. He muscled his way in tight from the right of the Hofstra net after taking another behind-the-net feed from Spooner.

A rash of turnovers plagued the play of the second period as both teams seemed to have much trouble picking up loose balls and committed nine turnovers each. When Linker went down writhing at 4:22 it appeared Hofstra might suffer a letdown.

But Keck responded quite admirably, coming up with a few key saves in the second period and a stickful more in the second half. Keck finished the game with 14 saves while Goldstein was a bit busier, registering 22 saves.

UMass never quite evened things with the Flying Dutchmen although the Gorillas came quite close. With five minutes left in the third period, UMass closed the score to 6-5 before Hofstra's Huff and Stoecker boosted their team's lead to 8-5 at the period's close.

The brightest spot in an otherwise fairly dull night for Garber's Gorillas was the play of attackman Micky Menna in the second half. Menna seemed to take the sagging UMass offense in to his own stick and hands as he scored coming around the net, from out in front of the net in close, and on a quick rebound pick-up after a Steve Pappas winger from 35-feet. UMass once again starts out its season with an 0-1 record. The chance to even that slate will come this Saturday when last season's national champions, Cornell University, take on the Gorillas on the field behind Boyden. Game time is 2:00 p.m.



UMass midfielder Steve Pappas is closely checked by these Hofstra defenders. The Gorillas lost 10-8. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Collegian Sports

Women gymnasts picked for Nationals

By LAURA BASSETT
Collegian Staff

While most UMies were off enjoying the warm beaches of the Southlands or merely tolerating one of the infrequent visits home, members of the women's gymnastics team were busy working towards the National Gymnastic Championships which are to be held this weekend at Central Michigan University. The Minutewomen received notice that they had been selected for one of the at-large positions last Sunday and have been practicing all week in preparation.

Besides the excitement over the at-large position, the team has since been seeded among the top five which illustrates UMass' threat at the nationals. The gymwomen finished third in the Eastern Regionals back in mid-March behind Clarion and Penn State.

Clarion qualified automatically for Nationals by winning the region and has been given the top ranking at the Nationals. Penn State was also awarded an at-large berth and was seeded third. Rounding out the top five were two California schools, Cal State at Fullerton and USC.

UMass had a strong 7-2 season with losses only to Clarion and Penn State by small margins marring it. Junior Stephanie Jones and sophomore Jill Heggie were named to the All-East team for their performances during the Eastern Regionals and have been consistent performers for the squad all season.

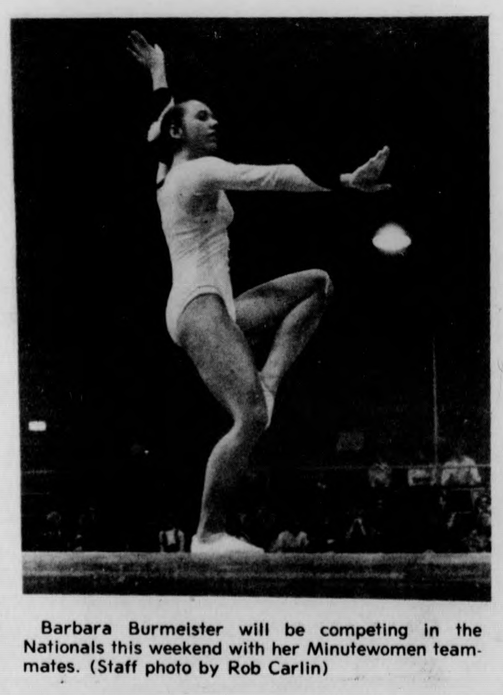
Junior Susan Cantwell had her best performance of the season at the Easterns and is expected to continue working strongly right through the Nationals. Cantwell was instrumental in UMass' seventh place finish in last year's Nationals.

The vacation week practice was slightly marred by the injury to Karen Hemberger. She suffered a sprained ankle earlier in the season and was bothered by it throughout the year. The sprain was placed in a cast in efforts to fully rest it and her participation in the nationals is questionable. She may recover enough to work three of the events but is definitely out for the all-around competition according to coach Virginia Evans.

Cheryl Morrier is likely to get the fourth all-around position as she filled in for Hemberger earlier in the season. Hemberger's injury places more pressure on the other gymnasts but shouldn't jeopardize the team's chances of a strong performance.

Sophomores Jean Anderson, Diane Laurenson, Julie Myers and Barbara Burmeister will be completing the event rosters as they did all season.

The top 12 all-around finishers at the Nationals will qualify for the World University Games to be held later this year. With strong performances, Jones, Heggie and Cantwell could easily qualify for these positions. Jones finished fifth at the Easterns while Cantwell and Heggie finished seventh and eighth respectively.



Barbara Burmeister will be competing in the Nationals this weekend with her Minutewomen teammates. (Staff photo by Rob Carlin)

Diamondmen dismal, but pitchers impress

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

It might sound as if the nine-game road trip to Miami over spring break was a disaster for the 3-6 UMass baseball team. But to the contrary, coach Dick Bergquist's squad made quite a respectable showing by beating nationally rated Miami and Southern Illinois, 3-2 and 6-5 respectively.

In fact, each game was decided by either one or two runs indicating to Bergquist that "UMass can compete with any team in New England."

UMass began the road trip by losing to Seton Hall, 4-3. Bergquist's nine then split with Bowling Green, losing the first game, 21-, but rebounding with its first win of the season, 6-4, in the night cap.

In the next three games, UMass fell victim to Miami, 5-3, Southern Illinois, 7-5, and Maine, 4-3, before pulling its two major upsets over Miami and Southern Illinois.

The Minutemen concluded their schedule down South on a disappointing note with a 7-5 defeat to the number one team in New England last year — Maine.

"I am really happy that we beat Miami and Illinois which were nationally caliber baseball teams," Bergquist said. "I was hoping for a 4-6 road trip but the only disappointing thing I can say is that we lost to Maine twice."

Bergquist was truly impressed with his pitchers as senior Jeff Reardon and junior Tom Nigro made the all tournament team. Reardon, according to Bergquist, "took the bats out of the hitters' hands" in his three outings while Nigro pitched 11 innings in the 3-2 victory over Miami, ranked tenth in the nation.

"Our overall pitching was excellent. I can see a very strong rotation being set up with Reardon, Nigro, Jerry Erb and possibly freshman Doug Weienc representing a strong front four with two strong lefthanders, Dave Twehill and Chris Kirby, coming out of the bullpen.

While pitching was the most promising aspect of the trip, the team needs more consistent hitting. The Minutemen had an average of .223 while its opponents hit .199.

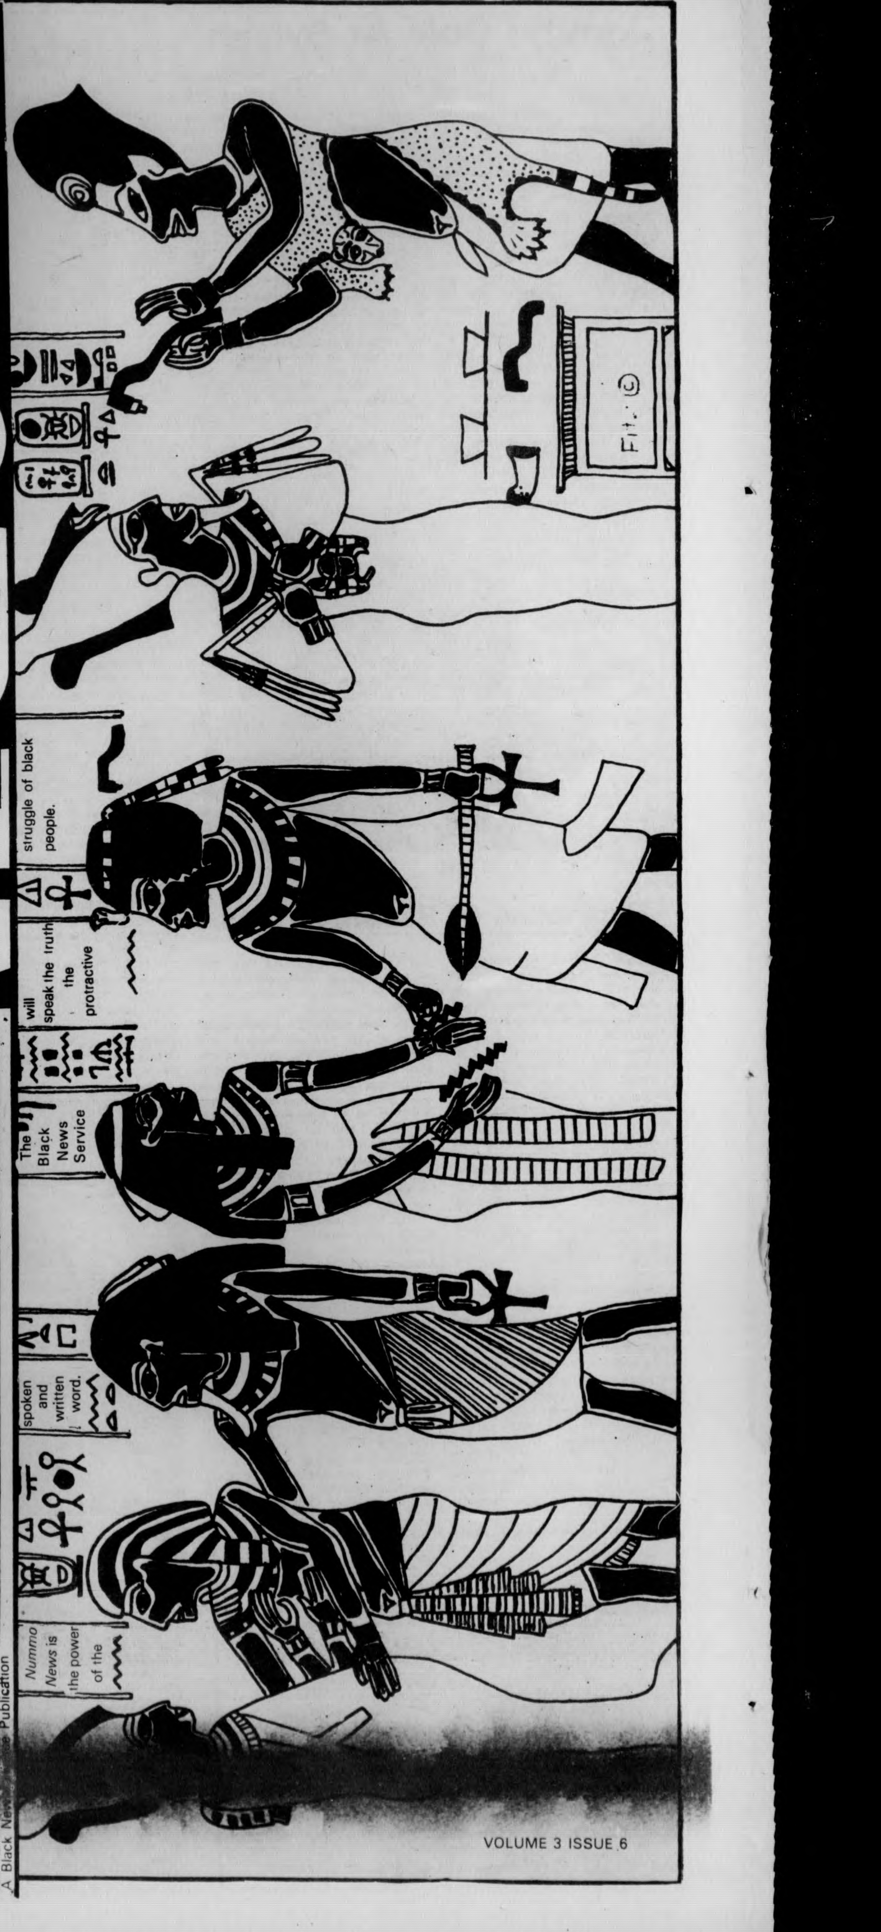
Senior center fielder Paul Abramowicz was the team leader offensively with an average of .273 while sophomore outfielder Bob Alves followed with .257 and second baseman Ed Skribiski followed at .256.

"We are not going to hit a lot of home runs this year or be known as a power team. We are a type of team that will scratch for one run at a time and rely on bunting, hit and run, speed, and defense in order to win," noted Bergquist.

UMass will again take to the road this weekend as it enters the Corsair Tournament at SE Mass. University. Its opponents will be SE Mass, UNH, and Northeastern.

BREAK THE CHAIN OF OPPRESSION THROUGH UNITY

Nummo News



The Black News Service will speak the truth the protractive struggle of black people.
Nummo News is the power of the spoken and written word.

A Black News Service Publication
VOLUME 3 ISSUE 6

Jonetta Cole At Sylvan

by Vukani Magubane

On Monday (March 7), in celebration of International Women's Week, the Sylvan Cultural Society presented Professor Johnetta Cole. She spoke on what it means to be a black woman in America from the perspective of Billie Holiday's life. According to Professor Cole, "Billie Holiday was the single greatest improvisor of music in the voice". Billie Holiday cannot be categorized, stereotyped as the "Blues Woman". No single category can contain all of her music.

The distortion of the life of Billie Holiday's life is an example of a long history of "no truths and half truths" that have been created by American society when dealing with black women. The mythical image of the black women as an emasculating, domineering matriarch who runs her mate out is very much ingrained in the minds of many people. The reasons for these myths and labels is that labels are an important. means of manipulation and control. One is apt to blame the victim instead of the exploiter.

Billie Holiday's singing mirrored not only her experiences but the experiences of black women in general. The exploitation of her music is a reflection of the exploitation of black women in America. Her incredible art never received the credit it deserved from American society. Billie Holiday and countless other black women in America are examples that "those who work in America are rarely those who enjoy its profits". Billie Holiday was a source of pride, resistance and dignity. She stood with pride (title she carries Lady Day an example), as she resisted the racist capitalist system to become a great singer. The same pride resistance and dignity is found in black women as they struggle for the survival of their people.

JOHNETTA COLE AT SYLVAN:

Elimination Of Racism In Cuba

A cultural-educational three-day program on "The Elimination of Racism in Cuba and its Significance For Peoples Living in the United States" will take place the evenings of March 30 through April 1, 1977 (Wednesday, Thursday, Friday) at the Hampden Student Center, Southwest Residential College at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. The activities will start at 7:30 p.m. each night. This event is jointly sponsored and coordinated by eight community and student groups in the Amherst area. The program is a concrete expression of our commitment to understanding, analyzing and combatting racism.

The prorgram will open Wednesday, March 30 at 7:30 p.m. with Poetry and Music Workshops. The Poetry Workshop will engage people in addressing such issues as the role of poetry within movements for social change. The Music Workshop will focus primarily on Cuban music — its history and its present-day role and international significance. Both workshops are designed to encourage active-creative participation by all attending.

On Thursday, March 31, beginning at 7:30 p.m. the Cuban film, "The Other Francisco" will be shown. This is an historical-documentary movie about slavery and racism. It presents two differing historical interpretations of the life and times of a Cuban slave, Francisco.

The final evening's program, to begin at 7:30 p.m. on April 1, will include a dramatic presentation addressing racism and anti-racist struggle, music and a panel-forum with three speakers. The speakers will present an historical overview of racism and its elimination in Cuba, as well as a discussion of what significance this might have for people in the United States and for efforts at combatting racism in our own country.

The scheduled participants include: Johnnetta Cole, John Howard, Irma MacClaurin, Jorge Medina, Andrew Salkey, Valerie Stephens, and Dara Thorpe.

Programs with details concerning the schedule and program participants will be available beginning March 16 at the following locations: The Commuter Collective office, Student Union Building — UMass., and in Southwest Residential College at MacKimmie Humanity House, Hampden Student Center, Malcolm X Center, and Southwest Womens Center. Programs may also be obtained by writing to the Western Massachusetts Venceremos Brigade, P.O. Box 415, North Amherst, Massachusetts.

THE ELIMINATION OF RACISM IN CUBA: AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE FOR U.S. PEOPLES

★MARCH 30 - APRIL 1
HAMPDEN STUDENT CENTER SOUTHWEST
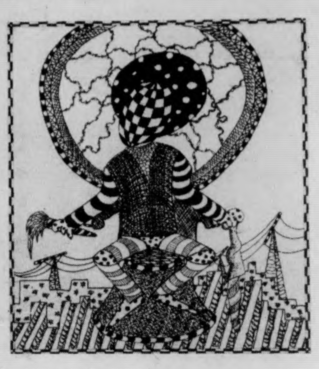
U.MASS - AMHERST
7:30 (each night)

Sponsors	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
ANTI-RACIST EDUCATION PROJECT COMMUTER COLLECTIVE MACKIMMIE HUMANITY HOUSE MALCOLM X CENTER POVERTY COMMITTEE SOUTHWEST ASSEMBLY [illegible] VENCEREMOS BRIGADE	POETRY & MUSIC WORKSHOPS: IRMA McCLAURIN ANDREW SALKEY JORGE MEDINA	CUBAN FILM: "EL OTRO FANCISCO" "THE OTHER FRANCISCO"	PANEL/FORUM: DRAMATIC PRESENTATION MUSIC SPEAKERS: VALERIE STEPHENS JOHNNETTA COLE JOHN HOWARD DARA THORPE

FITZ: Graphic Designer For Nummo News



FITZ
Graphic designer for Nummo News

Fitz adds new meaning to the word "growth". He puts everything that is perceptible to his eyes and translatable from his mind down on paper, and here the spirit of his drawings and paintings seem to force critics to take a look at themselves.

As a hard-edge graphic image painter, sculptor, photographer, carpenter and inventor. He is not new to the gallery circuit. In the sixties and early seventies Fitz was doing Black Revolutionary paintings, a social commentary on the Black man's feelings. Much of his work reflects his experience as a graphic designer. His work is characteristic of precision in his hard-edge graphic images. His paintings and prints are simple and their message, universal.

The uniqueness of Fitz creations, the bright hues, the flat, sharp shapes, is the explosive rhythm they take on when colors conflict with each other and seem to over power the viewer both mentally and physically. A good example of this is "conflict in ice cream" it shows two black images of children in our city who are struggling to live in unity Conflict in ice cream can see their community.

Fitz's work almost all untitled and unsigned (on the front) speaks out clearly, directly and powerfully on its own.

He has worked with community organizations, bringing his work to people who have been left out of the arts. He has murals for the Dunbar Community center and a mural for the Girls Club, in Springfield, Mass. Fitz also has done Murals for C.O.R.E. and the Inner City Exchange.

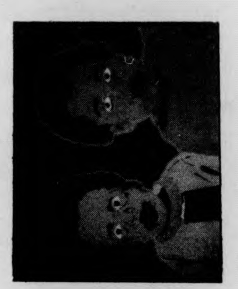
Using his art as a means of therapy, he worked as an art tutor for the Mansfield training center, in Manchester, Connecticut. He was also an Artist in Residence for the Somers Department of Corrections, Somers, Connecticut.

He has shown in; the University of Connecticut, Storrs, Connecticut; Air and Water Gallery, Willimantic, Conn.; Studio Museum of. Harlem, New York, N.Y.; University of Mass. Orchard Hill Third World Center, Dickinson House, Black History Week, Amherst, Mass; Manchester Community College Stairwell Gallery, Manchester, Conn.; Hartford Youth Center Studio Workshop, Hartford, Conn.; Fred D. Wish school Through Young Black Eyes, Hartford, Conn.; Wooden Ships Gallery, Hartford, Conn.; and many more, as I said before he is not new to the gallery circuit.

Fitz is also a member of the "Connecticut Alliance of Black and Hispanic Visual Artists, and The National Conference on the Arts.

Presently Fitz is directing a Orchard Hill-Central area Mural painting program.

On May 8-22, Fitz will be having an art opening at the N'FaFa Gallery in Northampton, Mass., 35 West St. The title of the show is "17 Prints in Checkism". Fitz will have another show in the Fall, October 77 at Herter Gallery, UMass campus.



conflict in ice cream

Panel Discussion On The Personal And Political Perspectives Of 3rd World Women

Madonna Gilbert

A forum was held Tuesday (March 8) on the personal and political perspectives of third-world on feminism. The speakers included Helen Rodriguez speaking from the perspective of Puerto Rican women, Helen Steward on Black Women, Mo donna Gilbert on Native American women and Kathy Huang on the views of Asian women. Third world women not only have to deal with sexism but also with racism. Third world women face a class position.

From the stand-point of Puerto Rican women the question of feminism has to be discussed "within context of colonialism" according to Helen Rodriguez. "There can be no liberation without national liberation". Black women face the same kind of problem Freedom and equality have to be looked at from the standpoint of black people, not just black women. For the Chinese women the major problem is also the problem of race. The struggle cannot be differentiated between Asian men and women". The native American women faces a unique situation in that Indians don't live in the main world where a feminist movement is necessary. The traditional culture of American Indians is not male dominated. The idea of male dominance came with the Federal Bureau of Indian affairs. It is agreed that the women's movement has to recognize the unique situations faced by 3rd world women. They not only have to deal with sexism but also with racism. Liberation for them not only includes the liberation of them as women, but it includes the liberation of their people.

Helen Rodriguez

Red Cross. The Good Neighbor.

Ethiopian Student Report

As you very well know from recent reports on the media, the Ethiopian military junta spearheaded by the notorious fascist, Colonel Mengestu Haile Mariam has intensified its repression and mass genocide against workers, peasants, women, students, progressive soldiers and all democratic forces who stood for the freedom to organize, participate in government and a return to civilian rule. The repression was particularly intensified against suspected members and sympathizers of The Ethiopian Peoples Revolutionary Party (EPRP), an underground party which, ever since, the military seized the state power has been rallying for the establishment of a popular provisional government with mass participation, agitate for a peaceful solution to the lingering but bloody war in Eritrea, and advocate for the reorganization of the resources of the country to combat the widespread famine and poverty.

As a result of this rule of terror and total indifference to the widespread famine, many workers, peasants, students and other sector of the population were forced to go underground or abandon their homes and live in refugee camps in neighboring countries. Hundreds of thousands of Ethiopian and Eritreans live in destitution in The has been in the fore front in exposing this most despicable genocide and violation of human rights. Forums, teachins, fund raising evenings, demonstrations, etc. were conducted throughout the country in an attempt to expose Sudan and many more in Kenya and Djibouti (French Afar and Issa).

The Ethiopian Students Association in North America and The Ethiopian Women Study Group in North America as part and parcel of the World Wide Federation of Ethiopian Students and put pressure on the fascist junta and its major arms and economic supporter, the United States Imperialism.

As part of this nation wide campaign, the Connecticut-Amherst chapter of Ethiopian Students Union in North America is planning to organize a political fund raising night in May 7, 1977. We appreciate all progressive and humanitarian organizations of the Valley area to help us in making this evening of a just cause a success. We will particularly appreciate cooperation in areas of;

i — contribution of cash or in kind for the preparation of the fund raising night or to be directed to the victims through our World Wide Federation Human Rights Commission. This contribution coultake the form of money for making fliers, posters, renting films, inviting speaker, buying food for the fund raising dinner, etc.

ii — Help organizing, advertising and selling tickets for the evening.

iii — Give solidarity messages and express your detest for the military government's reign of terror.

iv — Organize group discussion on this area in particular and Africa and the Third World in general.

We look forward to your reply and conformation of your solidarity to the just causes of the Ethiopian People.

Issues In Human Oppression And Social Injustice

MacKimmie Humanity House has been for several years concerned and commited to bringing about an awareness and solutions for combating human oppression and social injustice. I.e.: racism, sexism, gay oppression, etc.

This year, MacKimmie Humanity House is sponsoring an academic symposium projected for mid-April. The conference is entitled: "Issues in Human Oppression and Social injustice: 1977 - A Symposium".

The following topics will be included in the symposium:

International Women's Movements; Liberation Movements; Third World Current Status; Anti-Imperialist Movements; Education in a Socialist Country; Economics and Politics of Racism; Prisons and Big Business; Marxism and Humanism; Future of Puerto Ricans; Chicanos Update; Issues in Bilingual Education (politics of...)

The symposium will consist of two consecutive days for panel presentations and discussions. We will have at least eight presentations spanned over the two days. All papers or documents will be collected at the end of the symposium and compiled into a journal format.

Panel Content:

We intend to develop a professional type academic effort revolving around the general themes of human oppression and social injustice.

Guidelines for documents:

1. Must adhere to general themes of combating human oppression and social injustice.
2. No more than ten pages, double spaced.
3. Provide list of resources.

Symposium Goals:

1. To establish a forum to "update" and document issues in human oppression and social injustice.
2. To generate proposals, directions, and solutions....

For more information:

Call "symposium headquarters" (617) 546-9776 or write: 214 MacKimmie Southwest Residential College, University of Mass., Amherst 01003.

Research Of Nerve Gas Resumed

WASHINGTON, March 20 [UPI] — The Pentagon is working to improve its ability to wage war with nerve gas.

The Navy is spending $1.5 million this year to resume research on a bomb with the code name "Big Eye," that would spread the gas over a square mile. The Army is spending $2.7 million to continue research on an artillery shell that would mix two harmless chemicals in flight to form nerve gas.

Work on the bomb was canceled in 1969, the year the United States ended its germ warfare program and one year after an incident in which nerve gas drifted 30 miles from a test site and killed 6,000 sheep in Utah. The Army later decided to phase out its Chemical Corps, which, in addition to developing weapons, studied defenses against gas.

The Army now has reversed that decision. The reason it cites is a growth in the Soviet Union's chemical warfare capability, although both nations have signed a treaty renouncing its initial use

"We underestimated the threat and it got us in trouble," a chemical warfare expert said. "We woke up in 1975 and decided it was a bad story. The Soviets were pushing their capability. Our training wasn't being done and our soldiers weren't capable of surviving in chemical warfare."

The major thrust of this year's program, accounting for $147 million out of a total of $186 million, is defensive. Priority has been given to the development of clothing that would protect American troops from Soviet nerve gas. American units do not now have such equipment.

Officials say that production of a "binary" shell that would mix chemicals to produce nerve gas would increase the safety of the nation's stockpile of chemical weapons, which is stored at depots in the United States.

Stabbing in Northampton

By the Sunday News Collective

